Kilmacthomas News

CARRIAG AN AIRPRINN.
 As a point situated on the outskirts of Woodlouse demense and not far from Durrrow railway station stands one of those silent reminders of the Penal Days. Facing Durrrow Glen, through which flows the river Tay, this mass rock appears at the verge of a declivity, where now the badger, fox and rabbit have made their lairs. Like so many similar spots throughout the country, local tradition has invested many and thrilling stories with its history. It is more than probable that much of its story is founded on fact. Making all due allowance for the national tendency to exaggerate, there is no doubt but that in those distant far-off days many hair-breadth escapes were the frequent experience of the worshippers who steadily assembled round the celebrant, upon whose head, like that of the ferocious wolf, a price was laid. These scattered sanctuaries should be properly protected by the people of today. Their histories should not be allowed to die out. It would indeed be an ill day for our beloved Motherland when all that those out-of-the-way Mass altars are emblematic of should be forgotten.

OBITUARY.
 The death occurred on a recent date of a worthy member of a family long established in this part of the Decies in the person of Mr. Thos. Power, Brennan, Kilmacthomas. High-minded, frank and generous, the late Mr. Power was a general favourite, and, in the fullness of his years, he passed peacefully and resignedly away into his eternal reward fully fortified by the last consoling ministrations of the Holy Catholic Church, of which he was always a faithful and devoted associate. Much public sympathy is extended to his bereaved relatives. May he rest in peace.

FINE FIGURES FOR COLT.
 Last week Mr. John Walsh, Hotel, Kilmacthomas, purchased a 4-year-old untrained colt in South Kilkenny for the handsome sum of £150.

A LONG-LOST TIMEPIECE.
 Some few issues ago we applied our readers with particulars of the finding of a presentation watch in a fence on a farmstead at Stradbally. The timepiece had been lost for a period of upwards of 35 years. It was presented by a number of American admirers of a local gentleman (since deceased), who played a prominent part in the Land League movement, and who was one of the leading figures in the public eye of Waterford county during the memorable period of the Plan of Campaign. The chronometer has now undergone a thorough overhauling; it is in perfect "going" order, and appears none the worse of the many seasons it had "weathered" out-of-doors and "out-of-pocket."

G.A.A.
 Large crowds of canman enthusiasts were attracted to Ballyduff Sportsfield last Sunday when the junior hurling semi-final of East Waterford was disposed of. The weatherman behaved beautifully—his mood mirrored "a summer's joy born of autumnal hour." The swart on which the set-to was staged was laid out to the proverbial veins of "styliality." Portlaw and Erin's Own (Waterford) were the contending combinations, and Mr. Michael Doyle (of the City Commercial Club) held a "whistling brief" to "legalize" the proceedings. Play was not thirty seconds in motion when a Portlaw participant was ordered off for striking an opposing player with his hurley. The city set piled up 2 goals and 2 points in the initial moiety; while Portlaw's sheet at the interval was both "goal-less" and "point-less." The latter "knocked" up a bit over the closing period, and at the seal of the full-time breath 2 goals 3 points were placed to their credit, but Erin's Own had improved their position further in the meantime to the tune of 3 goals, making their full total 5 goals, 2 points. In the opinion of many experienced onlookers, Portlaw could have won had they played "more of the ball and less of the men"—thiginn thu?

"PROFESSOR TIM."
 Our friends of the Durrrow Amateur Dramatic Club are presenting the above-named sparkling 3-act comedy (by George Shand—the well-known Dublin dramatist) in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on this (Friday) evening, commencing at 8 o'clock sharp. The play is full of laughter and love, and inclines not oppressively in any shape or form. Your scribe has already seen the Durrrow players performing a production of this particular piece, and I have not the slightest hesitation in stating that these talented artistes—both individually and collectively—portrayed the respective parts allotted them in a manner most interesting and agreeable, and most faithful to nature in every respect. Intending patrons can rest assured of their having a truly enjoyable couple of hours' amusement in store for them this evening. A concert card, itemed by Irish dance and vocal numbers, will constitute a really capital "addendum" to "Professor Tim." Now, then! Old Boro's Hall sends forth this call: "Come one—come all!" Vide advt. appearing in this issue.

BRIEFLETS.
 Kilmacthomas live and dead weight pig market on Wednesday was again largely supplied, and the quality of bacon on offer was of the finest type. Top current figures framed all exchanges effected.
 By direction of the County Joint Technical Instruction Committee, afternoon and evening classes in Cookery and Dressmaking are at present being conducted by Miss E. O'Neill, County Instructress, at the old National School, Stradbally. The classes, which will be continued until the 18th prox., are being attended by the

Reducing the Numbers of Licensed Houses.

APPLICATIONS AT COURT.
 The first applications to the District Court Justices for a reduction in the number of licensed houses were made this week in the County Sligo, but after hearing the evidence for and against, the applications were refused.
 In each case the Superintendent of the Guards applied to have the license abolished on the grounds:—
 (1) That there was not a sufficient volume of business done on the premises;
 (2) Their state of repair;
 (3) The difficulty of supervision by the Guards the licensed premises being three miles from a police station;
 (4) That the premises were on an open road, and that the Guards could be seen approaching in the event of a raid.

Mrs. Carden said the licensed premises were her only means of livelihood, and that she had 12 children to support. She also stated that on account of her having a licensed premises the Land Commission refused to give her land, and that if she surrendered the license she would get no land.
 Mr. H. G. Burke, solr., who appeared for her, said a licence in an agricultural district should be the last to be attacked. If the application were granted, it would be next to prohibition, which was a thing that was never contemplated by the framers of the Act.

Mr. Flattery, D.J., said, as far as he understood, any order he would make on a prima facie case made out by the State would have to be set forward by act of reference to the Circuit Court Judge, who would decide if the license should be abolished and would, if he so decided, fix compensation at a subsequent hearing. A peculiar part of the Act was that there was no right of appeal from any recommendation he (District Justice) made. In this case he did not think that the State had made out a prima facie case, and he refused the application.

In an application to abolish the license held by John Keaveney, the objections put forward by the State were of a similar character, and in addition it was stated that the premises were not properly conducted.
 Supt. Giennan said there were three convictions against the licensee.
 Mr. Corr, for Mr. Keaveney, said the licensee was in existence for 77 years, and there had never been a conviction against it up to 1923. The license was Keaveney's only means of existence. He had land, but it was a bad year for farmers.

Mr. Keaveney made a strong appeal to the District Justice not to confiscate his license.
 Mr. H. Kaddy, Ballina, said Mr. Keaveney was doing more business than many licensed houses against which no applications were made.
 The District Justice refused the application, but warned Keaveney to be careful in future as to how he conducted his house.
 A similar application in the case of Thomas Harte was based on the ground that the volume of business was not sufficient to warrant its existence.
 Mrs. Harte said she had five children to support, and her husband was in America. She carried on no business except a bar.
 The application was refused.

ALLEGED ILLEGAL PURCHASE OF TROUT.

At Carrick-on-Suir District Court Mr. McCabe, D.J., dismissed a case in which Patrick Troy and John Burns of Waterford were charged with having purchased trout from a person not licensed to deal in trout.
 Inspector Rigney of the Fishery Conservators Department deposed that when defendants were asked by him where they bought the trout they stated they bought them from a woman in Carrick-on-Suir whose name they did not know. There is only one woman in Carrick-on-Suir licensed to sell trout and the trout were not bought from her.
 The Justice dismissing the case said there was no prima facie evidence before him to show that the trout were purchased illegally. He would have to hear such evidence as that Court could not be turned into an arbitration office or place of inquiry. The fact that the marks on the gills of the trout went to show that they had been illegally caught had nothing to do with proving that Troy and Burns had bought the trout from an unlicensed dealer.

young ladies of the parish in appreciable numbers.
 Newtown Gaelic Football Club voted sympathy to Mr. James Hearne (Secretary, East Waterford Divisional Board) on his recent bereavement—occasioned by the death of his sister, which sad event occurred at her residence, 95 Doyle Street, Waterford, on last Sunday week.
 The annual meeting of the Kilmacthomas Beagle Club will be held at the Courthouse on the 13th inst. at 7.30 p.m. All members and intending members are requested to attend, as matters of an important nature, pertaining to the sport, will be "courting" discussion.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES RYAN, KNOCKALISHEN, BALLYMACARRERY.

We regret to record the death of Mr. James Ryan, Knockalishen, brother of our esteemed townsman, Mr. P. F. Ryan, Main street, which took place at the Cottage Hospital, Dungarvan, on the 28th ult. following a brief illness. The deceased, who was only 50 years of age, was a large and practical farmer, and his demise at an early age is deeply regretted, and his bereaved wife and young family have the deepest sympathy extended to them. The funeral took place on the 30th ult. from the Parish Church, Dungarvan, to the family burial ground at Killoogin, and was one of the largest and most representative seen for a long time, testifying to the esteem in which the deceased was held. The chief mourners were—Mrs. Ryan (wife); Patrick, William, Edmund and James (sons); Kitty, Eileen and Eridie (daughters); P. F. Ryan, Dungarvan; Thos. Ryan, Dublin, and Jas. Ryan (brothers); Mrs. J. Wall, Shanballyanne (sister); John Wall (brother-in-law); Mrs. P. F. Ryan (sister-in-law); Mrs. Kieley, Graignagour; W. and E. Ryan, Crowhill; Thomas and Mrs. Phealar, Mrs. E. Ryan, Touragh; Patk. Ryan, R. and Mrs. McCarthy, Knockavannia; John and Mrs. McCarthy, Ballinock; T. and Mrs. McCarthy, Ballyhaney; T. and Mrs. Burke, Clash; M. Butler, Conglatheskin; M. Crotty, Castlereagh; Mary Crotty, do.; Michael O'Ryan, Co. C.; Katie, Ellie, James and Thomas Ryan, Miss K. Power, Dungarvan, and Mr. C. Sheehan, do. (cousins and relatives). The last prayers at the graveside were recited by Rev. D. Sheehan, C.C., Four-Mile-Water. R.I.P.

DEATH OF MOTHER ALOYSIUS WALSH, CONVENT OF MERCY, STRADBALLY.

The Community of the Mercy Convent, Stradbally, have suffered a severe loss by the death of Mother Aloysius Walsh, which occurred on Monday last. The late Mother Aloysius had reached a ripe age, and celebrated her Golden Jubilee as a nun quite recently. She was sister of the late Father Matt Walsh, P.P., Aghish, and of the late Michael Walsh, Graigue, Stradbally. A general favourite with everybody, her loss will be sorely felt. On Wednesday Requiem Office and High Mass were celebrated for the repose of her soul. His Lordship Most Rev. Dr. Hackett presided and 20 priests were present. Subsequently the interment took place in the presence of a large gathering of the friends and relatives of the deceased. R.I.P.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN TOBIN, KILLINEEN, DUNGARVAN.

On Sunday last Mr. John Tobin, Killineen, passed to his eternal reward fortified by the rites of Holy Church. He had reached the venerable age of 92 years and was hale and hearty with the full use of his faculties to the last. He was an honest, God-fearing, hard-working man, who was esteemed by all who knew him. His death removes a familiar landmark from his native district. On Monday evening his remains were removed to the Parish Church, Gartrane, and were followed by a large and representative cortege. On Tuesday after Requiem Mass for the repose of his soul the interment took place in the adjoining graveyard. R.I.P.

ROCKWELL STUDENT'S BRILLIANT SUCCESS.

Last year it was our pleasing duty to chronicle the outstanding success of a Rockwell student in the person of Michael Walsh, of Ballylongford, Co. Kerry, who got several high places in Ireland in different subjects, together with first place in the Kerry County Council Scholarship Competition. This year his record has been equalled, if not surpassed, by that of another Rockwell student—John Bernard Meagher, son of Mr. Edward Meagher, of Clonmel.

Master Meagher has had a brilliant scholastic career. When only a little more than 14 years of age, he got one of the first Intermediate Scholarships (1926), together with first place in Ireland (with full marks) in Latin. At the Leaving Certificate Examination this year, though not more than 16 years of age, he repeats his previous successes, scoring 99½ per cent. in Latin, 89 per cent. in Greek, and securing almost equally high percentages in English, History and Geography. His success in classics is all the more remarkable when we consider the difficulty of the Honours papers in the Final Examination, together with the high standard of classical education in the Irish Seminaries. Master Meagher is entered for the Tipperary County Council Scholarship Competition, where he is expected to get first place, and he will also acquit himself with honour at the Entrance Examination to University College, Dublin, in October. Several of Master Meagher's classmates did almost equally well at the Leaving Certificate Examination, one of them—Gerald McInerney, Bray, Co. Wicklow, setting 5th place in Ireland in Latin; 4th place in Geography, and 5th in French. All honour to these young students who have achieved such success so early in life.

DEATH OF MISS HELENA C. FOLEY, LISMORE.

With Mr. and Mrs. John Foley, Main street, Lismore, we offer our sincerest sympathy in the great loss that has befallen them by the death of their eldest daughter, Helena Christina, aged 41½ years, which sad event took place at the Cottage Hospital, Dungarvan, after a remarkably brief illness.
 The deceased was about as usual with her companions on Sunday week, 26th August, and on Monday morning complained of an inward pain when her parents immediately secured medical advice, and on Wednesday by directions of her medical adviser she was removed to Dungarvan Hospital for treatment. Information received at Lismore on Thursday and Friday concerning the patient were of a most hopeful character, but, alas, she was not for this world, and the end came on Saturday morning to the great surprise of all, and when the sad news reached Lismore over the phone to the parents, widespread sympathy was extended on all sides with Mr. and Mrs. Foley. Mr. John Foley, wine and spirit merchant, Main street, father of the child, is one of the most popular business men in the town, and in his bereavement has the sympathy of numerous friends in West Waterford.
 The remains of deceased were removed by motor hearse on Saturday evening from Dungarvan to St. Carthage's Church, Lismore, where they lay overnight on Saturday and Sunday. Large crowds went to meet the funeral to Dungarvan, and accompany it into Lismore town. For a child it was perhaps the largest funeral cortege seen pass through the town of Lismore. The pupils of the Presentation Convent Schools dressed in black with sashes of white marched in front of the coffin three deep. They went down the road a good distance to meet the remains of their darling companion and showed respect to the departed. It was a sad procession as it wended its way through Lismore town.
 Arriving at the Cathedral the remains were received by Very Rev. W. P. Canon Burke, P.P., V.F., and Rev. James Walsh, C.C., and Rev. W. A. Curtin, C.C., Maidstone. On Sunday and Monday mornings Masses were celebrated for the repose of the soul of the departed, and at 4 p.m. on Monday the interment took place at St. Carthage's Cemetery in the presence of a large assembly, all classes and creeds being present to pay respect to as quiet and gentle a child as there was in the neighbourhood. Rev. James Walsh, C.C., recited the final prayers at the graveside. The grave was simply covered with wreaths. The chief mourners were—Mr. and Mrs. Foley (parents); Miss Rockett, James and Richard Rockett, and Miss O'Reilly (Kilmacow); Michael and Mrs. Condon, Thomas and Patk. Foley (Cappoquin), relatives, etc.

A long list of telegrams and letters of sympathy have been received by the parents.
PRESIDENT COSGRAVE'S OPTIMISM.
 Speaking in Cork on Wednesday night, President Cosgrave declared that the progress made within the past six years, having regard to the difficulties, had probably no parallel. He said agriculture had benefited by the various enactments; industrial activity had expanded, and their finances were on a sound basis. In addition there was a reduction in taxation and the provision of the necessary services.
 If progress has been made in these parts had not been privy to it in the matter of industrial revival, for never since the tide first came into Dungarvan has unemployment been so rife and the prospects so dreary facing the long winter. Our people are ready and willing to work, but work is scarce and money is scarce still.

NEW MONEY.

Next week the new currency notes come into circulation and replace the Treasury notes and Bank notes which have done duty for long.

TROUBLE IN CO. WATERFORD POST OFFICE.

At Carrick-on-Suir District Court before Mr. McCabe, D.J., Nicholas Stack, postman, Rathgormack, Co. Waterford, summoned Patrick Harris, son of the Postmistress there, for abusive and threatening language.
 Complainant stated defendant tried to strike him with a hammer, after having failed to strike him with his fist. Defendant is a blacksmith and he alleged that complainant was endeavouring to induce people to leave his forge. The Justice dismissed the case and advised the men to have sense and live in peace.

Housebreaking in Cappoquin

YOUTH CHARGED WITH LARCENY OF SHOES.
 Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L., at Cappoquin District Court.
 Supt. O'Connor, Cappoquin, summoned a young boy named Anthony Ahearne, Boolakiely, Cappoquin, that he did between July 29th and August 10th break into and enter the dwelling house of Owen Long, Camphire, and steal, take and carry away two pairs of shoes value 25s.
 Mr. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, defended.
 Sergt. Hartigan stated that Mrs. Long made a statement to him on the 13th August that during her absence in Lismore Hospital her house was broken into, and two pairs of shoes—one a tan pair value £1, and the other a black pair value 4s.—were taken. Witness had suspicion on the defendant (Anthony Ahearne), and on the 17th August he questioned defendant about them, and he denied all knowledge of them. Witness, who was in uniform, asked defendant to accompany him, and he cautioned him, and when down the road defendant said: "I'll tell the truth about the shoes; the tan pair are at the house, and I wore them one day, and the black pair are placed on the roadside," and defendant brought witness and got the black pair out of the channel. Defendant also admitted leaving the tan pair outside the door of Owen Long's at 7 a.m. That was on the 17th August, and on 18th August witness arrested the accused, and he made no statement.
 Cross-examined—There was only a staple in the door, which could be easily drawn. Defendant lived in the neighbourhood.
 Mr. O'Gorman, at the outset, said they pleaded guilty to the larceny of the shoes. This door was on a staple, and defendant had been frequently in the house.
 Anastasia Long and her husband, Owen, Long, also gave evidence, after which the District Justice said he would not treat the case as burglary. There was not evidence enough to do so. Having regard to the circumstances, and the character of the defendant, he would give him the benefit of the Probation of Offenders Act. He bound defendant and his father in the sum of £5, to appear within three years for sentence if required. He awarded 20s. compensation to Owen Long, the owner of the shoes, and also made an order that the shoes be returned to Long.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN CASSERLEY, CRINAUGHTANE, CAPPOQUIN.

The death of Mr. John Casserley, ex-Sergt., R.I.C., which occurred on Friday week at his residence, Crinaughtane Lower, two miles from Cappoquin, has caused regret amongst a wide circle of relatives and friends.
 Deceased retired from the R.I.C. with the rank of Sergt. over 20 years ago, having completed 28 years' service in that Force. A native of County Meath, he served for varying periods in Waterford City, Ballinacult, Villierstown, and Cappoquin, and it was while in the latter Station that he married a lady from Ballynoe, Miss Walsh, who had been for a long number of years the efficient Teacher in charge of the National School at Mount Mellery.
 Following his marriage he was transferred to Wexford, where he finished his service soon afterwards, and with his wife came back to reside in Cappoquin. During his long connection with the R.I.C. he had always proved himself an efficient and honourable policeman and was held in the highest respect in the various districts in which he had served. About 20 years ago he purchased from Mr. John Vaughan a farm just outside the town of Cappoquin and since then he had proved a most successful farmer. Of a quiet and unobtrusive disposition he was always kindly, generous and obliging, and he enjoyed the respect and esteem of all who knew him. During his illness he was attended by Dr. W. White, Cappoquin, and the Rev. J. Dwan, C.C., Modeligo, and his end came calmly and peacefully. After Requiem Masses for the repose of his soul, the funeral took place to Affane chapel yard and proved a remarkable tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased. The remains were received by the Rev. L. Ormond, P.P., Modeligo who read the final prayers at the graveside. The chief mourners were—Mrs. Casserley (widow); Miss May Casserley (daughter); Michael Walsh, Ballynoe, (brother-in-law); John and Mrs. Sweeney, Tourin; Michael, Maurice and Edward Sweeney, do.; Misses May and "Babe" Sweeney, do.;

Cappoquin Rowing Club.

ANOTHER BIG DAY'S SPORT.
 We briefly announced a few weeks ago that following the successful Regatta held under the auspices of the Rowing Club in Cappoquin on August 1st, another big day's aquatic sport was to be held early in September, and confirmation of this will be found in the official advertisement which appears elsewhere in this issue from the Rowing Club. In this advertisement the welcome announcement is made by the progressive members at present in charge of this popular Club that, an interesting series of Scratch Races will be held on next Tuesday, 11th inst., when another great day's sport is promised for the townspeople and the public at large. A most varied and carefully-selected programme has been arranged for the occasion, comprising races for 4-oar and 8-oar outriggers, and as most of the crews which did duty for Cappoquin at the various Southern regattas this year have continued in strict training, some close and exciting races should be the inevitable result. In addition to the outrigger races, some valuable prizes are also offered for punt and pleasure-boat races, swimming races, and all the other events that go to constitute a most enjoyable and attractive aquatic programme, so that ample amusement will be provided for every taste, and, granted fine weather, there should be a record attendance of spectators present to witness some of the most varied and interesting sport seen for many years amid the unrivalled scenic charms of the "Irish Rhine" at Cappoquin. A particular interesting feature of the day's programme will be the ceremony of "christening" the new 8-oar outrigger boat, purchased by the Rowing Club this year at a cost of nearly £150 which will be performed by Mrs. Ion Villiers-Stuart, Dromana, wife of the Captain of the Club, and which promises to be an unusually brilliant and attractive event. On that night still other important events will be witnessed when the valuable medals and vellum scrolls, won by the Cappoquin under-age four for second place in all Ireland at the recent Tailteann Regatta in Cork, will be formally presented to the winners, viz.—W. J. Gullinane (bow); John Curran (2); L. D. Dunne (3); W. Cahill (stk.); with J. Lacy (cox), so that the entire programme simply bristles with interesting events from start to finish.
 On Tuesday night one of these grand dances, for which the Cappoquin Rowing Club has now become famous will be held in the spacious Boathouse Hall, commencing at 9.30 p.m., when all the latest and best dance music will be supplied by one of Co. Waterford's leading orchestras. All such dances held in recent years under the auspices of the Rowing Club have been remarkable for the perfect and orderly manner in which they have been conducted, and for the general excellence of the arrangements made for the comfort and enjoyment of all, so that with similar arrangements on this occasion, sparkling music, a beautifully-polished dancing floor, which is second to none in Munster, and elaborate catering arrangements at moderate charges, Tuesday night's dance should eclipse any of the brilliant social functions held in this popular and up-to-date hall in recent years.

A GENERAL'S TON OF COAL.

At Carrick-on-Suir District Court in a case in which Messrs. Walsh and Sons, coal merchants, Carrick-on-Suir, sued General Blaque, who lives at Cregg House, near town, for £3 10s. the price of a ton of coal delivered to the defendant, the Justice gave a decree for £2 15s. Defendant's case was that the coal which was supplied during the coal strike was bad and could not be used. He ordered two tons of coal and was supplied with a ton of coal and a ton of slack.
 Plaintiff stated he offered to take the coal back from General Blaque, but the latter would not allow him to do so. The coal was German coal and was all of the same quality.

Dungarvan Urban Council.

CARTERS' WAGES.

The weekly meeting of the above was held on Friday night last, Mr. M. Brennock, Chairman presiding. The other members present were—Messrs. M. J. Keane, T. Power, D. Foley, B. Dee, T. McCarthy, Jas. Hackett, J. Butler, M. Clancy, J. Curran, J. F. Moloney, Maurice Griffin and Wm. O'Donnell.

MINUTES OF LAST MEETING.

Mr. Butler objected to the signing of the minutes of the previous meeting owing to the order made regarding the rate of wages paid to carters when working under previous grants to the Council. Mr. Butler said that the decision of the Board at the last meeting was that the Clerk was to look up the correspondence in relation to previous grants to ascertain how the rate of wages for carters was fixed under these grants at 12s. per day, whereas the minute read that the Board decided to have the L.G.B. written to regarding the rate of pay for carters. Mr. Keane—This arose out of a letter from the L.G.B. read at the last meeting when we were divided in our opinion as to its meaning. My opinion is that we did decide to ask the L.G.B. for their views on the matter. Mr. Moloney—I was of the same opinion. Clerk—I was absent on the last night, but I am certain that only for there was some order re writing to the L.G.B. my son would not have taken a note of it.

The Clerk then read the letter received from the L.G.B. in answer to the Council's letter, which stated that there was no fixed scale of wages for horse work, but as the Council had accepted a tender for horse work at 9s. per day, payment would be regulated at that rate. Mr. Keane—How were the wages brought down from 16s. or 14s. a day to 12s. on the last grants. There must have been something that made us do it.

Mr. Keane—Perhaps the B.S. reduced the carters' wages on the same scale as the men. B.S.—I do not remember doing anything like that.

Mr. Clancy—We have a right to fix our own rate of wages regardless of the L.G.B. Mr. Power—My opinion is the minute is correct. Mr. Clancy—At present there is great depression among the workers and it is not fair for us to take advantage of that depression and advertise for tenders for horse work at a wage per day. Chairman—I do not think there is any injustice.

Mr. Clancy—The resolution was sprung here at a small meeting. Chairman—I disagree, as the proposal was in contemplation for a fortnight.

Mr. Clancy—To lower wages in the way done by the Council is unchristian. Chairman—We gave people the right to fix their own rate of pay. Mr. Clancy—I have never known any council or board to invite tenders at a wage per day. Chairman—The question is are the minutes going to be signed? Mr. Griffin—The whole thing arose out of a resolution handed in by me at last meeting.

After some lively exchanges, several members speaking at the same time, the Chairman called for a vote on whether the minutes would be signed. The result was as follows:—For—Messrs. Moloney, Power, Keane, Curran, Foley and Chairman (6). Against—Messrs. Clancy, Butler, Hackett, Griffin, O'Donnell and McCarthy (6).

The Chairman then gave his casting vote for, and the minutes were signed. Chairman—Now to settle matters is the wish of the Council that the Clerk look up the correspondence of previous grants.

Mr. Butler—That is all was asked for this night week. The Clerk was then instructed to look up the matter for next meeting.

WATERFORD FAIR.

The September fair was of very small dimensions. All classes were very scarce. There was a marked improvement in the trade for nice roan heifers for dairy purposes and for cross-Channel trade and all lots shown were readily sold to exporters. Beef was very scarce, but the best quality of well-finished cattle realised fully 94d. per lb. to 10d. per lb.; secondary sorts from 8d. to 84d. per lb. The best heifer cows made about 7d. per lb.; best 3-year-old bullocks fetched from £20 to £23; other sorts from £17 to £19 for short beef. Best 2-year-olds were from £15 to £16, and secondary sorts from £12 to £13 10s.; year-and-a-half roan heifers in some instances made up to £15 each; other inferior sorts were practically neglected; best yearlings brought in from £12 to £13 each, and other sorts from £8 to £9; springers were in good demand, and the top price was £25 and down to £22; secondary sorts from £16 to £18; inferior sorts from £11 to £14. The bull trade has got a big set back, and the quotations indicate a reduction of fully £3 over last day, and but the best quality bulls full of flesh and suitable for beef purposes were sold readily. The best quality prime bull fetched about 30s. per cwt. live weight. The supply of sheep and lambs was very small, and any shown were bought by local butchers and realised good prices. The pig business was dull owing to the high cost of feeding stuffs.

Mr. Clancy—I have never known any council or board to invite tenders at a wage per day. Chairman—The question is are the minutes going to be signed? Mr. Griffin—The whole thing arose out of a resolution handed in by me at last meeting.

After some lively exchanges, several members speaking at the same time, the Chairman called for a vote on whether the minutes would be signed. The result was as follows:—For—Messrs. Moloney, Power, Keane, Curran, Foley and Chairman (6). Against—Messrs. Clancy, Butler, Hackett, Griffin, O'Donnell and McCarthy (6).

The Chairman then gave his casting vote for, and the minutes were signed. Chairman—Now to settle matters is the wish of the Council that the Clerk look up the correspondence of previous grants.

Mr. Butler—That is all was asked for this night week. The Clerk was then instructed to look up the matter for next meeting.

NOTICE OF MOTION RULED OUT BY CHAIRMAN.

Mr. Clancy said there was a notice of motion, standing in his name and he asked permission to move it, as he said the procedure adopted was wrong. Chairman—The procedure was not wrong and if you write to the L.G.B. and prove to me I am wrong I am ready to leave this chair. If the rate of pay is £1 you cannot reduce it by 1s in the grant.

Mr. Clancy—I am not speaking of the grant at all. I am objecting to the reducing of wages by tenders. We have a man working for us and it is unfair that he should be treated in this way. I don't care who gets the work. The man that has it is deserving of it and a good worker and I would like to see his services continued. It is not fair for us to harp on the depression among the workers. The resolution letting the work by contract was passed at a small meeting and I want that recorded.

Mr. Butler seconded the motion and said he agreed with all Mr. Clancy said for two reasons. One is: I don't agree that a resolution of such importance should be passed without all members being notified. If members who were absent knew that the resolution was coming off they would be present to vote against it. The other reason is I think this Council should have backbone enough to fix wages whether they are great or small without having to invite tenders. Chairman—We are allowing the men to determine what they could work for.

Mr. Butler—I object to that, and as I said this Council should have backbone enough to fix their own rate. I have been in public life a good many years and I have never seen a standard of wages fixed on the same lines as that resolution fixed them.

Mr. Curran—We got this grant after a great deal of trouble. Mr. Clancy—We are not dealing with the grant.

Mr. Curran—We let the men fix their own wages. We invited tenders to keep down extraordinary prices. Mr. Clancy—Did you ever see this Council receive tenders for a wage per day?

Mr. Curran—I didn't. There was no necessity for it. Mr. Keane—It has been said that the procedure here is wrong. Some members absent themselves from meetings and I do not think it right that they should come along afterwards and try to scrap every resolution passed in their absence. As regards the procedure, at the beginning of the year the Council found themselves in desperate straits, and had to use every means to try and get on their feet.

Mr. Clancy—Where is your motion to raise salaries? Mr. Keane—It will come along in due course; it is in the interest of public health.

Mr. McCarthy—Good wages are also in the interest of public health. How is a man going to feed 10 or 11 children and keep a horse on 9s. per day? You must look after the children or public health will suffer.

Mr. O'Donnell—Mr. Keane commented on members being absent. There is no excuse needed for that. The agenda did not state all the business.

Mr. McCarthy—Mr. Curran spoke about the man. I don't want to sack any man, but it is the principle I want to see carried out regardless of any man. It has gone out that a certain section here wanted to sack the man. I want to state now that that is false.

Mr. Clancy then read his motion, which was that the resolution passed employing carters at a wage per day, and all other orders regarding wages be rescinded. Before you put that motion, Mr. Chairman, I would like to say—

Chairman—How do you know I am going to put the motion? Mr. Clancy—Are you going to put it? Chairman—No, I cannot. A tender has been accepted for horse work, and on that account putting the motion would break a contract.

Mr. Griffin—Was the procedure adopted in inviting those tenders legal? Clerk—I cannot answer that. Mr. Griffin—Then you will have to seek legal advice.

Mr. Butler—You refuse to put the motion? Chairman—A tender was accepted and I cannot. Mr. Clancy—All right.

Mr. O'Donnell—For how long is the tender? Chairman—12 months. Mr. Griffin—There was no time specified.

Mr. Clancy—In Saecula Saeculorum, it is very funny. Chairman—I said 12 months. Mr. Moloney—I think the Chairman is wrong. There is no time.

Chairman—I accept your correction. Mr. Butler—I last for ever. Chairman—I said 12 months and I stick to it.

Mr. Clancy—There is no specified time; therefore there is no contract. Chairman—Let the Council try and upset the contract and see what happens. I defy the law to do it.

Mr. Butler—There is not even permanent work guaranteed. Where does the 12 months come in? Chairman—I take it that all contracts here are for 12 months.

Mr. Clancy—This is an unchristian way of reducing wages. Chairman—I will not be bullied into any other altitude.

Mr. Clancy—It is you are bullying us. Chairman—I want to bully no man. We are going back now to what we discussed 14 hours ago. The matter then ended.

CHAPEL LANE.

Mr. O'Donnell asked the Borough Surveyor if any of the orders made at the last meeting re repairing the roadway at the quay were carried out? Borough Surveyor—No. We were not in a position to do the work this week.

Mr. O'Donnell—I would like to get Chapel lane included in that. It is in a bad state, and there is at least one hole there which is very dangerous. The council decided to have the repairs carried out.

CHAPEL LANE FLOODING.

Mr. Clancy called attention to the flooding of Mitchell street after rain since it was rolled. He said the place was continually flooded and the overflow went down the centre of Chapel lane doing damage to the roadway. He said it was an easy matter to put right as one gully trap at the top of Chapel lane would bring the water down the water channel instead of the road.

Borough Surveyor—I will see the County Surveyor on the matter.

Mr. O'Donnell—That is no use. It is only putting the matter back. The Clerk was directed to write to the County Surveyor with a view to having the matter set right.

DUMPING GROUNDS.

Mr. Griffin asked why the order made to clean the dumping ground at Abbeyside was not carried out, and said it was not done soon anyone could not get near it.

Mr. Power said anyone from the town dumping stuff should level it themselves and not be putting the council to the expense of cleaning it.

Mr. Griffin—I am on the spot and I can say that with the exception of about three loads the rest was dumped by the Urban Council.

Mr. Power—I saw people from town dumping stuff there for a week. Mr. McCarthy—An order was made six months ago to put up notices at the Cat's Lough and at Abbeyside. He would like to know if it was carried out.

Clerk—There were notices put up at the Cat's Lough. Mr. Keane—We should find a remedy for preventing indiscriminate dumping. It is costing the Council a big sum every year when we should use the money for other purposes.

Chairman—I suggest that notices be put up there and if anyone is caught proceedings be taken. Mr. Clancy—Two years ago I proposed such a resolution, but it was no use. It should be stopped and not have the Council paying for it.

Chairman—How are you going to stop it? Mr. Clancy—If it was my duty I would very soon have the offenders in court.

Mr. Keane—Are we bound to provide these dumping grounds? Chairman—No. Mr. Keane—If the place was railed in and a gate put there, then anyone wanting to dump the stuff could come for the key to some responsible officer of the council.

Mr. Clancy—Mr. Keane's suggestion is a good one. Chairman—Then you would have it dumped everywhere.

Mr. Butler—Mr. Griffin asked a definite question. When will the order be carried out or whose duty is it? Chairman—It is a matter for the Borough Surveyor.

Borough Surveyor—It is not my work. Chairman—What about you, Mr. Walsh? SS. S. O.—It is not my duty.

Chairman—There are no use spending time on these matters when there is no one responsible. Mr. Butler—Mr. Hackett suggests that we have another official—the harbour-master would be responsible? Laughter.

Borough Surveyor—It is not engineering work. Chairman—There is no use coming here and finding one official blame another. I propose that we ask the L.G.B. to define the duties of each official.

Borough Surveyor—I agree with that proposal. Chairman—Another matter is that dealing with the valves at Shandon the other day a man was sent out to do them and he had to go out again. If they were done right on the first day there would be no need for a second visit.

Borough Surveyor—The Chairman suggested that I should go out with the men on all occasions. Chairman—Yes, where the valves are concerned.

Borough Surveyor—If you ask the Department if I should go out with a water key to turn a valve they would smile. Chairman—Perhaps we would smile, too.

Borough Surveyor—You would include the City Engineer of Cork or Dublin going round with the men.

THE WEIGHBRIDGE.

A letter was read from Mr. Williams, solr. to the Council, re the weighbridge. The letter stated that as all essential proofs were not forthcoming, he would advise that litigation be avoided. He also stated that he had written the L.G.B. laying the whole matter before them, and suggesting that a deputation from the Council should go with him to Mr. Bowen and try to settle the matter amicably.

Mr. Keane—That was my suggestion from the first. After some further discussion the Council decided to wait for the L.G. Board's answer to Mr. Williams' letter before doing anything further.

WEIGHING PIGS.

The Council decided to invite tenders for a railing for the weighbridge for the purpose of weighing pigs.

ABBEYSIDE FOOTPATH.

The estimate of the Borough Surveyor for the re-surfacing of a footpath at Abbeyside in concrete was £54.

RESIGNED.

A letter was read from Mr. T. J. Power, Mary street, resigning membership of the Council and Technical Committee. The resignation was accepted.

CONSTABLE ARRESTED IN BED.

A Constable in the Cardiff Police Force was arrested while in bed on a serious charge.

DEATH OF VENERABLE ARCH-DEACON SHEEHY, P.P., D.D., V.F., CARRICK-ONSUIR.

The death occurred quite suddenly on Friday evening last of Venerable Archdeacon Sheehy, P.P., D.D., V.F., Carrick-on-Suir. The news of the Venerable Archdeacon's death caused a painful sensation and deep sorrow in Carrick and throughout the diocese. Deceased had not been in good health for some time past, but up to the time of his death he was engaged in his parochial duties. The late Archdeacon Sheehy was born 74 years ago in Ballyporeen Parish, Co. Tipperary. After a brilliant career at Maynooth he was ordained in 1878, and soon afterwards was appointed Professor at St. John's College, Waterford, where he became President while still a young priest. As Professor and President at the College he was noted for his scholarship, capable and painstaking teaching, kindness, tact and administrative ability. About 25 years ago the late Most Rev. Dr. Sheehan appointed him P.P. at Arrahman and a member of the Diocesan Chapter. On the death of Canon Delaney in 1916 Canon Sheehy was appointed his successor as P.P. at Carrick-on-Suir, and later on the death of Archdeacon Flynn he was raised to the dignity of Archdeacon of the Diocesan Chapter by Most Rev. Dr. Hackett, who was a Dean and Professor under the late Archdeacon at St. John's College, Waterford.

The mortuary chapel and the magnificent decorations at St. Nicholas's Church, Carrick-on-Suir are lasting monuments to the zeal and energy of the late Archdeacon during his 12 years as P.P. of Carrick. Up to a few years ago he acted as Chairman of South Tipperary Technical Instruction Committee, and he took a keen interest in every aspect of educational work at Carrick and throughout the county. He was greatly loved and esteemed by the people of Carrick Parish. The immense crowds that visited the Parochial House all day Saturday and up to the removal of the remains on Sunday afternoon testified to the deep sorrow evoked in the parish by the Archdeacon's death.

The scene at the removal of the remains on Sunday afternoon to St. Nicholas's Church was very moving. There was an immense cortege in which nearly 2,000 persons marched and filled the church and joined fervently in the prayers offered for the repose of the soul of the late Archdeacon. The priests present recited the Office for the Dead.

His Lordship the Bishop was the celebrant of the High Mass. Right Rev. Monsignor Walsh, P.P., D.D., V.G., was Arch-priest. The Deacons at the Throne were Very Rev. Canon Byrne, President St. John's College, and Very Rev. Canon Prendergast, P.P., Ballybricken. The chanters were Rev. M. Crotty, A.M., Cathedral, and Rev. M. Walsh, P.P., Ballybooby.

Deacon at High Mass, Rev. David Power, solicitor, Rev. Nicholas Power, master of ceremonies at the Throne, Rev. Martin Dowley at High Mass, Rev. Wm. O'Connell, P.P., Over 80 priests attended.

The remains were interred near the entrance to the sacristy close to the east wall of the Church the late Archdeacon did so much to beautify and loved so dearly.

His Lordship pronounced the final absolution. The church was filled to the doors during the office and High Mass.

MRS. KELLOGG IN TEARS.

Mr. Frank B. Kellogg, United States Secretary of State, and Mrs. Kellogg left Dublin aboard the light cruiser Detroit after a five days' stay at the United States Legation in Phoenix Park as the guests of Mr. F. Sterling, the United States Minister to the Irish Free State.

There was a touching scene as Mrs. Kellogg, who was carrying a big bouquet of carnations, bade good-bye to Mrs. Cosgrave, wife of the Free State President. The tears streamed down her cheeks as she said "I am sorry, indeed, to leave your beautiful country and your hospitable people."

Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg were seen off at the cruiser, which was moored at the Alexandra basin, by the Reception Committee, headed by Mr. Cosgrave, Mr. McGilligan, Minister for Industry and Commerce; General O'Duffy, Chief of the Civic Guard; and General Hogan, Chief of Staff of the Free State Army.

A trumpeter aboard the cruiser announced their arrival at the wharf side, and as they walked up the gangway a military guard of honour presented arms, while the Free State Army Band played the "Star-spangled Banner."

In the Detroit a guard of Marines saluted Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg as they stepped aboard. The ship's band then played the American National Anthem and the "Soldiers' Song."

Before their departure Mr. Kellogg asked the reporters to express the gratitude of himself and Mrs. Kellogg to the Irish people for their wonderful reception and hospitable treatment. The Irish Free State he declared, would have a big part to play in the future of the nations.

Youghal Regatta.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL.

Youghal People's Regatta on Wednesday, 30th August, was a really unqualified success from every point of view, weather, sport, attendance, etc. When the suggestion was first made that this favourite old fixture should be revived all the wisecracks and pessimists shook their hoary heads and prophesied failure, but the go-ahead committee, under the able and energetic guidance of the recently elected Chairman of the Urban Council, put their shoulders to the wheel and faced all obstacles with a firm determination to overcome them. And the result more than justified their healthy optimism. As regards that very important factor, the weather, the day was simply ideal for the function. The previous few days were wretched; there were a few light showers on the day itself, but the evening made up for it. In addition to a brilliant sun, there was a spanking sailing breeze that furnished some most enjoyable contests between the yachts and sailing yaws. The various events were run off in good time under the direction of Messrs. C. P. Carroll, harbourmaster (judge and handicapper); T. Field (starter); T. Murphy, U.D.C.; W. O'Brien, J. Foley, Lifeboat Coxswain, etc. As the evening wore on the attendance increased till all the waterside was crowded with spectators—since 3,000 arriving by train, while a record number of motors and buses came from all parts of the surrounding counties. To crown the day the famous No. 2 Army Band, under the conductorship of Lieut. A. Duff, Mus.B., B.A., T.C.D., rendered choice programmes of music, both in The Mall enclosure and the Green Park, every item being warmly and deservedly applauded. The programme was as follows:—March, "Pomp and Circumstance" (Elgar); overture, "Oberon" (Weber); "Two Spanish Dances" (Moshowski); selection, "The Meistersingers" (Wagner); rhapsody, "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 1" (Liszt); "Molly on the Shore" (Grainger); overture, "Barber of Seville" (Rossini); march, "The Green Flag" (Brase); march, "Tannhauser March" (Wagner); overture, "Mignon" (Thomas); "Invitation to Waltz" (Weber); selection, "The Flying Dutchman" (Wagner); rhapsody, "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2" (Liszt); "Albumbblatt" (Wagner); overture, "Der Freischutz" (Weber); march, "A Nation Once Again" (Brase); The National Anthem.

Details.

Sailing Race, Salmon Yaws, from Knockadoon across May, 5 miles.—P. Shanahan, 1; R. Shanahan, 2. Three finished. The three boats which finished were all manned by the brothers Shanahan.

Local Yachts and Centre-board Sailing Boats (handicap). Three times around Harbour course: distance 3 miles. After a splendid start and well-contested race the result was—D. Murphy (Sea Hawk), 1; W. Browne (Forget-me-not), 2. Six started, five finished.

Salmon Yaws, Sailing, confined to Youghal Harbour. Twice round harbour course; 3 1/2 miles.—W. Lynch, 1; J. Brennan, 2.

Junior Gig Race (Youghal Harbour).—This was a race for four-oared gigs. After an exciting struggle the boat of which J. Ryan was cox won by half a length. E. Sullivan was cox of the second. Two competed.

Salmon Yaws (sailing) open—3 1/2 miles course—Five yaws took part.—R. Shanahan, 1; P. Shanahan, 2. Won by fifty yards.

Gig Race.—Open to junior fishermen.—Run in heats.—Final, M. Buttmer, 1st; B. Buttmer, 2nd.

Blackwater Cots, 2-oared.—W. Ahern, 1; P. McGrath, 2. Three competed, but the third boat gave up before half the course had been covered. Ahern's boat led all the way and won easily.

Salmon Yaws (Rowing), confined to Youghal Harbour—Senior Crews—M. Colbert, 1; T. Moylan, 2. Three competed.

Yacht Punts—M. Murphy and T. McGrath dead-heated for first place. Four competed.

Salmon Yaws (Rowing), confined to Youghal Harbour—Junior Crews—M. Buttmer, 1; B. Buttmer, 2; J. Sweeney, 3.

Motor Boats, outboard engine—J. Smith, 1; T. Murray, 2; R. J. Flavin, 3. Three competed.

Motor Boats, inboard engines.—Handicap, over five rounds of the course.—Major Arbuthnot's "Jane Shore," 1; Mr. J. Smith's "Rose Aug," 2. Six boats took part. The winner was last to start, but gradually reduced the handicap, and won well.

Two-oared Pleasure Boats (confined to harbour and river).—T. McGrath, 1; E. Clancy, 2. Five competed.

Senior Gig Race (confined to Youghal Rowing Club).—T. McGrath, 1; G. Ryan, 2.

Swimming Race, 100 yards (local).—F. Barry, 1; S. O'Sullivan, 2. Duck Hunt.—W. Tormey, Cork, 1. Seven entered.

Tub Race.—W. Twomey, 1. Two competed.

THE FIREWORKS.

The fireworks in themselves deserve special mention. They were held in the Green Park, than which it would be difficult to find a more suitable or beautiful venue. The grounds and the surroundings were artistically illuminated by electric lights of elaborate designs. Over the entrance from the main road was a tasteful design of the Arms of Youghal. A large-sized harp ornamented the approach to the promenade, while all around were electric stars, vari-coloured electric bulbs, etc. At 8 o'clock the band started the programme, which was much enjoyed by the big crowd that had assembled, the bandstand being especially illuminated for the occasion. In addition all the surrounding points of vantage were occupied by thousands, who thereby "dodged" the small admission fee. Even the opposite hills on the County Waterford shore were crowded with a large number of spectators. The night was delightfully fine with a pale moon lending additional beauty to the scene. At 9.30 the first rocket was let off, and from that to the finale there was a constant succession of wonderfully executed pyrotechnic displays, which elicited repeated applause from those assembled. The generally expressed opinion of the visitors present was that the Youghal fireworks was one of the best local displays they had ever witnessed. One very striking piece was a "Naval Battle," which certainly deserved the warm reception it was accorded. Another striking feature of the fireworks was the remarkable echo from the adjoining hill of Knockaverry, which resembled a big military cannonading. In fitting up the electric appliances the committee had the able assistance of Mr. S. Nolan, South Mall, Cork, while the designs of the Youghal Arms, Irish harp, etc., were the work of Mr. W. Aher.

A most enjoyable day was wound up by the official Regatta Dance in the Town Hall, which was a record success.

STATE INSURANCE FOR CATTLE.

A panel system among stock owners for insuring against disease in their animals was mentioned as a possible development of public health policy at the annual Congress of the National Veterinary Medical Association at Newcastle-on-Tyne.

"We can hardly say that we have a coherent veterinary public service organisation in Britain," said Mr. H. T. Matthews of the Liverpool Veterinary Department. "At present we are unable to predict in what direction public health policy will develop as it must. There would possibly be a system of national insurance for certain diseases with perhaps insurance for certain diseases with perhaps a panel system. State encouragement as against State restriction may be stressed, but whatever the direction of the rate of change we in the veterinary profession ought to be the moving spirits. A plan conceived by us would be based on knowledge and should receive respectful consideration by stock owners and the State."

Deprecating what he called the triangular duel between veterinary officer, medical officer, and sanitary inspector, Mr. Matthews said that it was difficult to determine where the duties of the different public health officers began and ended. Friction between the three sections was sordid and bad for public health.

In obtaining purity in milk and meat no one had the same interest, singleness of purpose, and access to the origin of the products as had the veterinary officer. If it were determined to invest authority in the hands of one individual it was difficult to see that any technical official had better claims than the veterinary surgeon. He believed that if they were given authority to handle the existing machinery that dealt with milk and meat they could eliminate much wastage and friction, extract more efficiency, and gain the essential goodwill of the trades concerned.

"Milk is the subject of much legislation of little effect," he said. "Meat is examined, sometimes properly, sometimes by a plumber, and sometimes not at all. Markets are centres of disease distribution and discomforts to beasts, and the transport of animals, despite legislation, is little more than primitive."

"There is a list of diseases over which no kind of control is exercised. The cost of these diseases goes on year by year, and the distress is borne by the animal and the owner between them. These diseases must cause enormous wastage, much of which is preventable."

"It is immoral to look on calmly while a farmer buys £50 worth of cow and £200 worth of damage at the same time."

Referring to the friction which sometimes exists between the medical officer and the veterinary officer, Mr. J. McAllan, of Aberdeen, said that the medical profession was beginning to realise that medical officers of health could not do everything. In any field of public health work they should all work in the closest co-operation, and they should surmount any narrowness of outlook which divided the professions.

Irish Ireland News

RINCE NO JAZZ.

Some months ago Father Loran O Muireadhaigh read a very important paper at the Maynooth Union dealing with foreign dances, games and literature. He said that had example in relation to dances was set by political organisations, Civil Servants, Catholic Societies, Colleges, and even by priests themselves. He believed that faith and nationality could not live together with such dances.

The Irish Hierarchy have stated that Irish dances must be given their proper places in schools under their control.

The dancing season is now coming in and we hope that this jazz dancing will not be encouraged by any Irish Society, social, political, or religious. As Father O Muireadhaigh said, bad dances, bad fashions and bad customs are part of the foreign culture, and any person who assists any part assists the whole.

Last winter there was a good increase in the number of Irish dances and a decline in the number of jazz affairs in Dublin. This year we hope for greater respective increases and declines all over the country. The disease of jazz is not confined to any class or party. Jazz has its devotees in every political camp, and every social grade, but it will be noticed that the jazz fans are not the most respected members of their class or party.

In asking the Irish people to do only Irish dances we are not asking them to do any penance. Irish dancing, in addition to being clean and healthy is picturesque to look at and interesting to dance. The argument that it is heavy is ridiculous, and could only be advanced by physical degenerates. Irish dancing was practised by our ancestors for hundreds and hundreds of years, and to say that it is too vigorous for us is to say that we are physically unfit. Our recent history—with all its faults—has proved that we are not a C.3. nation. Irish dancing, says the Irish Bishops, "does not make degenerates."

All our religious and political societies must make an effort during the coming winter to foster Irish dances, and to do away with jazz.

CLUIHNI GALLDA.

Foreign games are not by any means as unhealthy as foreign dances, but foreign games create a foreign atmosphere, and while the struggle for supremacy is going on between our own Gaelic culture and foreignism, we cannot afford the luxury of propagating anything foreign. As in dancing, we are not asking anyone to give up something good for something inferior. Irish games, hurling, Gaelic football and Camogie, are better than the foreign brands of games. Hurling and football need no boosting; they are at present enjoying great popularity, but camogie has not been taken up by the callini as it ought to be. The foreign equivalent to camogie is hockey. Hockey is very insipid beside camogie, but it is more popular in our girls' colleges. Why? Swank, an eadh? It is very hard to believe that our callini are so silly as to prefer an inferior game, because the bat used is more finished than a camog. If this is the reason—or one of the reasons—it is a difficultly scone got over. Some of our enterprising sports outfitters should put a nicely rounded, highly polished camog on the market and see its effect.

DROCH-SHAMPLA.

Undoubtedly our big colleges are greatly to blame for fostering foreign games. Rugby football is the favourite college game. The Rugby people in Ireland are not anxious to make their game common. They want to keep it very select. Plebians are not wanted in Rugby circles, and this seclusion appeals to our growing snobocracy. Soccer is played by people of common red blood, and there is a vigorous association propagating it. Soccer as a game is quite good, but as an industry we in Ireland could never hope to compete with England. Soccer is well looked after in our daily Press and in addition has a few special papers to propagate it, and a new one has been added to the list lately in Dublin, one of the promoters of which is a well-known Republican and ex-Sinn Fein T.D. Herein lies our weakness. We are being continually let down by politicians and others who talk loudly on platforms about Irish nationality and culture, but in private these people support foreignism in every form.

They do not realise as Thackeray said, that it is not the dying for a cause that is so hard, but living up to it. The fight between Gaelic culture and foreignism will not be fought on the battlefield, but in the classroom and playground. The class-rooms are now in our own hands, and the results are satisfactory, but the playground is still largely under the influence of the foreign-minded. The English have a very nice superstition that Waterloo was won on the cricket pitch at Eton. That is that the spirit of the English cricket pitch overthrew the great Napoleon. It is true of our own country that Ireland's fighting men trained on the hurling and football fields. It is true also that a few followers of the non-Gaelic games in Dublin did join the National ranks in time of danger, but they were remarkably few. Practically every man in Ireland's army

RELIGION A DANGER—IN RUSSIA

"A new alarm is being sounded against the religious revival in Soviet Russia, which, in spite of the war declared recently against all Churches, is continuing. This time the danger
has been located in the Coalfields, where a new enemy has made his appearance—an enemy with a cross and with prayers." In these words the "Izvestiya" announces the organisation of a new war against religion in all working class districts in Russia.

JUNIOR MUNSTER FINALS IN DUNGARVAN.

On Sunday week, September 16th, Kerry and Waterford will meet in the Munster Junior Football Final at Dungarvan, while on the same occasion Tipperary and Waterford meet in the final of Junior Hurling. Knowing the high standing of the visitors both in football and hurling, and that the difference between the junior and senior displays is very often negligible, it will readily be understood what a treat is in store for the thousands who will make the Gaelic Field their rendezvous on the 16th inst. The Waterford teams are at the top of their form, and having won their way by sheer merit into the finals, it is confidently expected they will put paid to the accounts of Kerry and Tipperary, or if not that they will give them a really good fight. Special trains in connection with the event are running from all parts of Kerry and Tipperary for the accommodation of the thousands who will travel that day.

In other centres of Munster and Leinster it is the custom for visiting championship teams to be received with music and have municipal honours extended to them by the local authorities. And we would commend the Urban Council and the Band Committee to consider the feasibility of giving a fit and due reception to the teams that will represent counties whose fame stands so high as Kerry in football and Tipperary in hurling. In thus honouring the visitors they would be doing an act which would have the unanimous approval of our people in toto.

SATISFACTORY RATE COLLECTION.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Finance Committee of the Town Council it was reported that 11 rate collectors out of 12 had lodged one-third of the first moiety of the rates on the 31st August, and the members considered that was a very satisfactory state of the collection.

HURLING AT DUNGARVAN.

On Sunday last at Dungarvan a most interesting hurling match was witnessed by a large assembly between Dungarvan and Tallow in the senior final of the West Division. Tallow brought to the field a really good team, well trained, and showing plenty dash, while Dungarvan fifteen were also in the pink. The result of their meeting was a thrilling hour's hurling in which each side showed up to the best advantage. In the first half Tallow led by 3 goals and 2 points to 2 goals and 1 point for the home team. On the turn-over Tallow fought hard to maintain their lead and succeeded in adding a goal to their score, while Dungarvan added 2 goals and 1 point, leaving the result a drawn game of 4 goals 2 points each. Mr. Phil O'Donnell had charge of the whistle and gave every satisfaction. The replay between these two teams will be something to look forward to.

SENIOR FOOTBALL FINAL—EAST DIVISION.

A large gathering at the Gaelic Field (Waterford) on Sunday witnessed a splendid game between O'Rourkes (Waterford) and Rathgormack in the final of the Eastern Division senior football championship. Rathgormack, playing with the breeze in the first half, scored a goal and two points, and at the interval O'Rourkes had still a clean sheet. Early in the second half however, O'Connell opened the account and O'Rourkes with a smart point, and Cullen added a brace of goals giving O'Rourkes the lead. Brown scored the third goal, and McAllister finished up with two goals. The final scores were:—O'Rourkes, 4-3; Rathgormack, 1-2.

DUNGARVAN TECHNICAL SCHOOL.

To-day we publish in our columns the successes obtained by the pupils of the Dungarvan Technical School at the examinations held by the Royal Society of Arts and the Department of Education. All the students presented passed with distinction, many winning high honours in subjects like Typewriting, Bookkeeping and Shorthand and Commercial Correspondence, for which the standard required is very high and competition very keen. The results testify to the excellent teaching given at the Technical School and the application of the students at the Day Commerce Classes. These classes resume work on Monday next, 10th inst., and we hope that the attendance will be very large and in keeping with the high standard of teaching imparted at all the classes. The Evening Technical Classes will resume work on the 17th September, and will include special classes for artisans and others in such subjects as Carpentry, Joinery and General Building Construction. An important feature of this course is the instruction given in Scale Drawing and Geometry as applied to problems in construction. Every young man should have a sound knowledge of the principles of his trade, and that can only be had by attending Technical Classes. At the Dungarvan Technical School our young people have every opportunity to make themselves proficient in their Trades, and nothing is more vital in this age. Mr. Lanigan, the able and capable Principal of the Schools, will be only too happy to give all the required information to intending students re classes and courses. Every boy and girl must needs benefit tremendously by attending these classes. We hope to hear of a rush to the school to secure the advantages which await all students.

ON THE TRACK.

Dungarvan dogs are still running strong. Last week Mr. Dunne's Dixie Frank and Mr. Connors' (Curraheen) Arab Steed won their races, while on Wednesday night Mr. Dunne's Fawneen and Mr. Brennan's Melleray Belle were each second in their heats for the Directors' Cup.

A New King in Europe.
ZOGU I. OF ALBANIA.
CROWNED IN HIS ABSENCE.

The territory known in Europe as Albania has had a lively time in recent years. Under the heading of the rights of small nations to mind their own business without being interfered with by their more powerful neighbours, the independence of Albania was guaranteed by the Big Powers after the European War concluded, and the people then set about devising what sort of a Government would best suit their interests and their business. Having threshed out every sort of a proposal for some years, it was agreed three years ago that an Independent Republic would be the real thing the inhabitants required, and a brand new Constitution was drawn up and submitted to the people and was duly ratified. The next business was to elect a President for the Republic and this was duly done by the appointment of Ahmed Zogu for a period of seven years. That arrangement did not last long. Zogu is a Mussulman, and his appointment angered the vast Catholic and Christian population of Albania, and matters became so hot that the President has been unable to leave his house except on three or four occasions for the past few years, as 20,000 Christians have sworn to shoot the President on sight anywhere they see him and at any hour of the day or night. Their wrath has been increased tenfold now when he has abolished the Republic and reverted the country to a Constitutional Monarchy with himself as King, thus destroying any hope the Christian population had of securing the reins of Government.

On Saturday week Ahmed Zogu was to be crowned King of Albania at Tirana, the Capital City, but so great was the reign of terror prevailing that he was unable to be present at his own Coronation lest any one of the 20,000 sworn to shoot him should be knocking around. He was then crowned in his absence, and now as Zogu I. of Albania he is a prisoner in his palace and so has plenty of time to ponder over what Shakespeare wrote:

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

But the fun does not end there. Having become King he wants a Queen so that his Royal Palace may be properly furnished, and for his Queen he wants a Royal Princess of the pure blood. He has according to the foreign "News Agencies" started match-making with the King of Italy for his daughter, the Princess Giovanni, but as already King Boris of Bulgaria and two or three German Princes want this charming lady, Zogu is going to have a bit of a job before he gets her to his big house in Tirana. Judging by the latest developments in this interesting episode, it looks as if there will be dirty work at the crossroads in Bulgaria, Albania and other parts of the Balkans if any of these Kings or Princes succeed in gaining the hand and heart of the pretty Princess Giovanni.

Here is what the "Daily News" Foreign Affairs Correspondent thinks of the whole question:—Behind the proclamation of Ahmed Zogu, as King of the Albanians, lies a "Ruritarian" romance, in which two kings, Ahmed Bey Zogu and Boris of Bulgaria, figure as suitors for the hand of Princess Giovanni of Italy.

But in Zogu's sudden rise to kingship, the neighbouring kingdom of Jugo-Slavia scents Italian influences, and Ruritarian gives place to the stern realities of Balkan intrigue, with the figure of Mussolini in the background, and the pretty young Princess as a puppet.

The Jugo-Slav Minister has left Albania, and will not return. Mussolini must now handle the delicate situation of deciding between the claims of Zogu—a Mohammedan monarch, whose title, "King of the Albanians," is already an offence to Belgrade—and those of King Boris, who can claim precedence both in kingship and in his offers for the hand of the Princess. Princess Giovanni, the third daughter of the King and Queen of Italy, is in her 21st year. She is a pretty dark-haired girl, whose hand has been sought in marriage by more than one European Prince. It was rumoured two years ago that her betrothal to King Boris of Bulgaria might be expected, and last year it was reported that Princes of the Royal Houses of Hohenzollern, Wittelsbach and Hapsburg were anxious for an alliance with the Princess. Mussolini was then believed to favour the "Fascist" Archduke Albrecht of Hapsburg, as an Italian Queen in Hungary would ensure Italian predominance there against France, Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia.

Men may come and men may go, but the old order still remains. Anybody who has read the history of Ireland in the days of old will at once see an exact parallel in the above story with doings in their own land in the days when Ireland could boast of an Ard Righ and several minor Kings, Princes and Chieftains. It was a story of intrigue, love and war all the time, with brave men ready to cut each others throats for the hand and heart of a nice girl. For instance, had it not been for the beauty, charm and attractive grace of Deirdre, "the child of sorrow," King Conor MacNessa might have lived in peace in Armagh surrounded by his unbeaten Red Branch Knights. But when the sons of Usna came along and one of them, a hefty boy called Naosis, fell in love with Deirdre and stole her away to Alba, the wrath of the King knew no bounds, as Conor wanted her for himself. War followed as a consequence, and the Fate of the Children of Usna became one of the three sorrows of Ireland, while the cruel manner in which they were put to death led to the break-up of the Red Branch Knights. And even though Conor MacNessa killed the sons of Usna so that he would have no opposition in his love for Deirdre, he did not succeed, for she still loved the noble boy who won her girlish heart and pined away in consequence. In a pathetic lamentation she weeps for their fate and says:

"The lions of the hill are gone
And I am left alone, alone;
Dig my grave both wide and deep,
Sick I am and feign in sleep."

And again she sings:

"Sweet companions, you were never
Harsh to me, your sister ever;
Woods and wilds and pleasant valleys
Were to you just like a palace."

The net result was that she pined away in sorrow and died singing the praises of Naosis and his brothers of the noble house of Usna, for without her own big boy Naosis she refused to live on this earth. The world may get old with the flow of the years, but youth and love will for ever go hand in hand.

Youghal District Court.

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.

Guard Roche charged John McLoughlin with obstructing the public thoroughfare.

From the evidence it appeared that defendant parked his motor car on the east side of the street, all the other cars being being at the west side, before Mass on Sunday, leaving just room for a car to pass slowly between.

A letter was handed in from the Urban Council request the Guards to take up such cases.

Defendant said he was at his right side of the road and there were 14 cars at the wrong side opposite.

Defendant, replying to the court, said that there were other places in the Main street he could have put up, but he had arranged with his passengers to be at that place.

The Guard said the understanding was that all cars should line up at the off side.

The Justice said he was satisfied there was an obstruction on that occasion by the defendant. He pulled up on the side of the street opposite the other cars, not leaving sufficient room for other cars to pass safely between. The local authority had power under the Towns' Improvement Act to regulate the traffic, and they had asked the Guard to put the regulation into force. In the circumstances he would let the defendant off with a caution.

Supt. Muldoon, Middleton, charged Michael O'Connell, 17 Patrick's Quay, Cork, with overcrowding a bus on the 11th ult.

Guard Downes deposed that on the day in question he stopped up the bus on its return journey from Ardmore. There were 41 passengers aboard, while the seating capacity was displayed as 20. The conductor said the evening turned very wet and he didn't like to leave people behind.

Justice—If the seating capacity was only 20 and there were 41 in the bus, how were they accommodated?

It being his first offence defendant was fined 2s. 6d.

Sergt. Corrigan charged Kate Purcell, a tramp, with wandering, residing in the open and being unable to give a satisfactory account of herself.

Complainant said defendant sat outside the barracks at 11 o'clock on the previous night saying she had nowhere to go to. She had been knocking around some days and complaints were made that she had been impudent.

Justice—Did she give any account of herself or had she any means?

Defendant—I was begging, sir.

Complainant—She had a basket with some foodstuffs and a bottle of stout (laughter).

Defendant said she came for the regatta. She would be badly treated in Cork. She would tell him all about Cork.

Justice—Don't tell me anything about Cork (laughter).

Superintendent—You were well-treated since you came here?

Defendant—Yes, I was, your Honor (laughter). They gave me a lodging and my breakfast. They were very kind to me (laughter).

Replying to the Court, defendant said her husband died in Cork Hospital two years ago. She made a living by travelling from place to place. She was going to Dungarvan, where she had a brother and a married sister.

Justice—Is there anything known about this woman before?

The Sergeant said she was here 12 months ago, but she took care to avoid the Guards.

Defendant—You could not blame me for that. No one likes to get into trouble (laughter).

Justice—I will send you back to Cork for a month.

Defendant—Thank God, I will go to Belfast and live there (laughter).

Bathing Scene at Tramore.
TWO MEN RESCUED FROM A WATERY GRAVE.

The big crowds at Tramore on Sunday evening witnessed the terrific struggle of two well-known men for their lives and the brave and successful efforts of volunteers to save them.

The rescued men were Joseph Kennedy, of Figlish, Carrick-on-Suir, and Laurence Kiely, of Ballyneale. Together they went in to bathe, at about 3.30, when the tide was on the turn to full, and many were out bathing at the time. Kiely, it appears, got beyond his depth, and, as is a common occurrence, got nervous. He appealed to his friend Kennedy to aid him, and the latter responded. Soon the position of both men became extremely precarious. They were some distance away from the other bathers, and were apparently being carried further out by the backwash of the tide. Fortunately, however, their critical position was noticed on the beach, though for some time it was not suspected that they were in imminent danger. Kennedy was making a great effort to return and carry his friend with him, but was not making headway. The attention of some bathing men was drawn to their perilous position. Luckily no time was lost in procuring a life boat, which was manned by Joseph Whelan, Peter street, Tramore, and as he proceeded out he was joined by a bather named Mahony, stated to be from Kill. As the boat left and the position of the drowning men was realised, several of the bathers in the water were anxious to join in the rescue party, and one or two, it is learned, did so. The unfortunate two men had by this time drifted well out. Kiely was assisted by Kennedy, who was fast losing his strength and appeared to be in no better position than his friend. Only in the nick of time did the boat reach both men, and they were completely exhausted and had each gone down twice. So urgent was assistance needed that Whelan jumped fully clothed into the water and seized the first of the two men whom he could grapple. Meanwhile the crowd on the shore shouted their admiration to the rescuers. One of the unfortunate two was dragged into the boat, and Whelan, having gripped the other, held on until both were safe aboard. Attention was immediately directed to the men, who appeared at first sight to be beyond aid. Those in the boat did what they could to restore breathing. As the boat returned the shouts of those assembled on the beach were wafted across the water to encourage them on their precarious mission. On reaching the shore a crowd of willing helpers lent their aid. Three young ladies named O'Neill, Dunphy and Reidy, together with Sergt. McNamara and Guard O'Rourke, applied the methods of artificial respiration for nearly two hours, when, to the deep satisfaction and joy of the onlookers, it was evident that no life was lost, and gradually both men were restored to consciousness. They were conveyed with all haste to Kelly's Hotel, where they were attended by Dr. Dunlea, Cork, and Rev. Fr. O'Brien, C.C., Tramore.

COUNTY WATERFORD ASSAULT CASE.

Michael Harty, farmer, Montra, was brought up in custody on remand at Youghal District Court on Friday (before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.) charged with causing actual bodily harm to Declan Lynch, naval pensioner.

Supt. O'Shea, Dungarvan, prosecuted, and Mr. J. L. Keane, solr., Youghal, defended.

The Superintendent said since the last day there appeared to have been no change in the injured man's condition. The doctor could not say whether the man would recover or whether his life was out of danger; he would not say much either way. In the circumstances he applied for a further remand.

Sergt. O'Shea, Ardmore, deposed that from what he had ascertained the injured man was not yet out of danger. Mr. Keane said he had no objection to a remand provided the accused man was let out on bail. The facts showed that it was a little squabble between two friends with the unfortunate result that Lynch had met with injuries which no one could have foreseen. There had been no intent to do anything more than to give a push as he would be able to prove. Assuming that Harty had struck him on the forehead as the injured man swore, surely it was not a case in which the accused should be kept in custody in the circumstances. It would be within his Worship's recollection that a case in which a man named Lee was before the court, and afterwards before the Superior Court. In that case the man was proved to have fired a stone in a row, and instead of meeting the target intended it struck his own sister and killed her. The decision in that case was that the accused was let out with a suspensory sentence of six months. If the court had that case in view the present case was infinitely less serious. It might happen to anyone.

Supt. O'Shea said he would not object to a suspensory bail.

Accused was then remanded on bail himself in £200 and two sureties of £100 each, which were forthcoming.

Youghal Urban Council.

Present—Messrs. J. R. Smyth, P.C., chairman; P. Kenneally, vice-chairman; Joe Power, Capt. Dunne, D. Dennehy, T. Harrington, D. J. Lincan, J. Kennedy, M. D. Broderick, P. J. O'Gorman, P.C.

It was decided to notify the Civic Guards that in certain cases under the 13th Section of the Towns' Improvement Act they were at liberty to cite the Urban Council or their Clerk as complainants.

Mr. Power said he thought they ought take notice of the good work done by the Civic Guards and the able manner in which they had carried out their often difficult duties during the season, especially on Sunday's with the large influx of visitors. Everything passed off in the best manner possible. He therefore proposed a vote of thanks to them, to be formally conveyed by their Clerk.

Captain Dunne seconded. The Guards well deserved it.

Mr. Dennehy said he could cordially support the proposition, the only reason he had for not doing so was that he had seen many exhibitions of fireworks and he could safely say that the display on the Green Park on Regatta night would take some beating, and the effects were greatly enhanced by the splendid performance of the No. 2 Army Band and elaborate electric illuminations all over the park. He should make particular reference to the Chairman of the Committee, who was also their Chairman, and to the officials who so ably assisted him. On behalf of the townspeople he proposed a vote of thanks to the Committee.

Mr. Kenneally said, as representatives of the townspeople they ought congratulate the Regatta Committee on the signal success of their efforts on Wednesday. Every item was carried out perfectly, leaving no cause for complaint. He had seen many exhibitions of fireworks and he could safely say that the display on the Green Park on Regatta night would take some beating, and the effects were greatly enhanced by the splendid performance of the No. 2 Army Band and elaborate electric illuminations all over the park. He should make particular reference to the Chairman of the Committee, who was also their Chairman, and to the officials who so ably assisted him. On behalf of the townspeople he proposed a vote of thanks to the Committee.

Mr. Dennehy, in seconding, endorsed the proposer's remarks. He had experience of such functions all over the Cork and Kerry coasts, often held under distinguished naval and military auspices, but he believed he had seen none to equal yesterday's highly successful event. The only growl he had heard of was from the car drivers regarding the bus plying between the Strand and the town. They seemed to blame the Council on some unfounded information. "Dubhairt bean lion go dubhairt bean lion." It would be well to clear the point up.

The Town Clerk said it was ridiculous to hold the Council responsible in the matter. The had no control whatever over buses.

Mr. Kenneally said that matter had cropped up before and the car owners had been informed of the facts of the situation.

The Chairman on behalf of the Regatta and Fireworks Committee thanked the speakers for their kind remarks. Every member of the Committee went whole-heartedly into the initiative with the result that they realized the greatest success ever achieved locally. The weather was ideal and all the events were gone through in really sportsmanlike fashion, with the result that everybody works their numerous visitors expressed themselves surprised and delighted, as was evident by the frequent applause. The Committee were deeply indebted to Messrs. Nolan, South Mall, Cork, for the skill and care they devoted to the fusing up of the electrical illuminations. The success achieved only showed what could be done by solid and united efforts, and they confidently looked forward to do even better next year (hear, hear).

Blackwater Fish Conservators

At the usual monthly meeting of the No. 4 or Lismore Board of Fish Conservators held at Tallow there attended—Messrs. J. Kennedy, chairman, E. A. Rice, solr., vice-chairman; J. Kent, T. McCarthy, Gervase Power, R. G. Annesley, H. J. Lucas, Capt. P. Dunne, T. Strafford, Carey Joyce, T. Murphy, Wm. O'Brien.

Messrs. T. Drohan, Secretary and Inspector, and W. Buckley, Assistant Inspector, were also in attendance.

Board's Solicitor.

Notice was given to consider the following:—Bank Place, Mallow, 25/7/28. Dear Sir—I regret that I can't comply with the resolution of the Board requiring the institution of legal proceedings within one week from the receipt of the Inspector's report of an alleged offence.

"Compliance with that resolution would involve an admission by me that the decision of the Inspector on a question of law is final and binding. As I am not prepared to make any such admission, I must ask you to employ heretofore some person in my stead—ours faithfully—Barry Sullivan."

The Chairman, replying to Captain Dunne, said the matter arose out of a resolution passed at a previous meeting.

Mr. Rice said it was he proposed the resolution in question.

The Secretary read the resolution passed at the June meeting to the effect that in the case of an alleged breach of the Fishery Laws.

Mr. Rice said he didn't care to have to propose resolutions of that kind, but when they saw frequent prosecutions in the salt water and none in the fresh waters, it didn't seem satisfactory—in one particular case a license was let drop. Mr. Sullivan's explanation didn't agree with that given by Mr. Buckley. If a man was caught poaching at Careysville and no prosecution was brought for three months—that was a difficult thing to follow. It was immaterial to him whether fishery prosecutions were brought or not, but people came to him asking why so and so was not prosecuted. He had received letters from the Duke of Devonshire and Lord Hartington asking to know if the men caught poaching at Careysville were prosecuted or not, and if not, why not? He was not in a position to give any explanation. The matter was reported to the solicitor in the usual course. Therefore he thought it advisable to propose that resolution.

Capt. Dunne—Is there any explanation why they were not prosecuted? Mr. Rice said he thought it most unjust that persons caught breaking the fishery laws in the salt water portion of the river should be prosecuted, while those detected in the fresh water reaches should be let go free. That was his way of looking at it.

Mr. Annesley said that at the meeting referred to there was a long discussion in a specific case brought before them, in which a prosecution had been pending for months. That was how that proposal originated.

Mr. Kent said he was always of the opinion that even if the case was not clear, it would be well to institute a prosecution, as it would probably have the effect of deterring people from breaches of the fishery laws.

Capt. Dunne—It is always brought before the Board and we give instructions. Why should we blame anyone if we shelved the thing?

Mr. Rice—We did not shelve the thing. Messrs. Annesley and Lucas agreed with Mr. Rice.

Capt. Dunne—Can you mention any case that Mr. Sullivan neglected?

Mr. McCarthy—There might be circumstances over which the solicitor had no control.

Mr. Rice said there was one case which was put off for one reason or another, and then let drop altogether.

Capt. Dunne said it was very hard to condemn a solicitor—it was dangerous play to touch them (laughter). He might have been acting for the best interests of the Board. They wanted prosecutions, but the solicitor must have good reason for taking action.

Mr. Rice said there was one case some time ago in which a man was caught gaffing fish in the early hours of the morning. Mr. Sullivan said he could not get a conviction. That was the reason Mr. Buckley gave his version of the affair. Two bailiffs observed two men—one up a tree and the other on the bank. The man up the tree was pointing to something in the river and the other man went to that spot and took out a fish and brought it ashore. He then came back and took out another. The bailiffs captured the two men and brought them to the spot where the fish were hidden. Those were the facts on which Mr. Sullivan made up his mind.

The Secretary said he believed the men were licensed anglers.

Mr. Rice said that didn't give them the right to gaff fish in that manner.

Capt. Dunne—Was that case brought before the Board?

Mr. Rice—You would leave it to a man's own common sense.

Capt. Dunne—Did we order a prosecution?

Mr. Rice—It came in Mr. Buckley's report in the usual way.

Mr. Buckley said he understood that Mr. Sullivan was engaged at Dublin and elsewhere. Ultimately he found it was too late to issue a summons as six months had elapsed.

Mr. Lucas—Postpone the matter for the new Board. Mr. Rice—Mr. Keane could carry on. What is the necessity for two solicitors?

Capt. Dunne said he would leave nothing to the new Board that they ought deal with themselves. Mr. Sullivan was a long time acting as solicitor for them. He might have some grounds for his action. He suggested that they ask him to reconsider his resignation and carry on as usual. If there was any neglect on his part they could take the necessary steps.

Mr. McCarthy said one solicitor for the whole river would make it very inconvenient for the upper reaches.

After further discussion, Capt. Dunne proposed that they ask Mr. Sullivan to reconsider his resignation, and that they expected him to proceed in all cases with as little delay as possible.

This was seconded by Mr. Murphy and passed unanimously.

Election of Conservators.

The Secretary brought before the meeting the question of the forthcoming election, and some discussion on matters of detail in connection therewith took place.

Mr. Rice referred to the last election at Fermoy, where there was a lot of speaking, which he thought out of place in view of the fact that it was open voting.

Mr. Lucas was of opinion that it should not be carried out by open voting, nor all he names put up for everyone to see.

The Secretary said it was fixed by Statute and they could not alter it now.

Where Are the Peal?

Mr. Murphy asked could anyone explain the great decrease year by year in the number of peal or young salmon. In the previous season there were some 600 caught in and around Youghal. Last season he believed there was not 60 all told. It was very strange.

The Secretary said he thought the very young fish went farther out to sea after food and did not come back till they were good-sized fish. His predecessor was totally opposed to the killing of peal.

Mr. Murphy said at the present rate of decrease there would not be a peal at all caught soon.

The Secretary said they would be more valuable as full-grown salmon.

Fines Confirmed.

A letter was read from the Minister for Fisheries stating that the Department had been informed by the Department of Justice that in the case of John and Robert McGrath, who were convicted at Cappoquin District Court on the 23/6/27 for a breach of the Fish Laws and fined in the sum of £21 each, it had been decided that the law must take its course.

Mr. McCarthy—That fine is too severe altogether. A fine of £21 on a poor man meant that he would have to go to jail.

Capt. Dunne said it was too bad to send a poor man to jail.

Mr. McCarthy—Men in the upper reaches get away much lighter for bigger offences.

Mr. Rice—Getting away without any prosecutions at all.

Mr. Murphy—I suppose this Board can do nothing in the matter now.

Chairman—We are finished with it now. We can't do anything.

Mr. McCarthy said the Board could have taken action when the matter was before them at a previous meeting.

Tarred Roads and Salmon.

The following letters were read:—"County Offices, Dungarvan, 18/8/28. Dear Sir—I am in receipt of yours of the 14th inst. I have issued instructions to our gangers to see that none of the tarred road scrapings are thrown into the river Blackwater in future. At Cappoquin Bridge, where you complain of, the road here is a very long time tarred and the scrapings would not be likely to do any injury to the fish.—Yours faithfully—J. Bowen, B.E., County Surveyor."

"County Offices, Dungarvan, 17/8/28. Dear Sir—Yours of the 12/6/28 together with resolution has been referred to me by the County Council of Waterford. I immediately got into touch with the makers of the tar and a thorough investigation was made by one of the ablest authorities on this subject, Mr. W. A. Butterfield. This gentleman carried out a very thorough examination and I send you herewith copy of his report (given in our columns last week). This report proves conclusively that no injury could have come to the fish through our road works. I would ask you to give this matter the widest publicity.—Yours faithfully—J. Bowen, B.E., County Surveyor."

Mr. Annesley—Who is Mr. Butterfield?

The Secretary said he was a well-known engineer.

Mr. Annesley—Is he interested in tar as against bitumen?

Secretary—He says he has no interest in it.

Mr. Annesley said they had passed that resolution asking the County Council to use bitumen instead of tar, as it had been proved in other places that tar was injurious to the fish.

Owing to the outbreak of farunculosis they thought it advisable to take every step possible to protect the fish. He took it that they would adhere to that resolution, and he suggested that they mark the communications "read."

Mr. Lucas said his son saw 12 fish dead in the river between Fermoy and Clondulane.

Capt. Dunne said tar should not be used on any roads.

Mr. Kent said the report referred to sewage, but they could not blame the sewage. When the military were at Fermoy the population was double and there was no complaints of disease among the fish.

Mr. Lucas The sewage had nothing to do with it.

Mr. Rice—In any case the fish are dying and we must do everything possible to save them.

Mr. Annesley said at low tide one day last May the water at one place looked as if a barrel of oil had been thrown in off the shore.

Mr. Lucas said he had seen tar coming out of the Gas Works at Fermoy.

Mr. Annesley said bitumen was a natural product and harmless, while tar was produced from coal and dangerous. They should adhere to their resolution.

Mr. Rice said it was ridiculous to say that there was as much tar used in 1926/27 as in 1928. There was no such thing as a tarred road between Fermoy and Cork in 1926/27.

Mr. Annesley said that the first coat of tar went into the ground, but a share of the second coat remained on the surface and ran off.

Capt. Dunne said that in the neighbourhood of Youghal Bridge the wheels of the cars sank a couple of inches into the tar, some of which flowed into their river.

Mr. Rice said the tar used up the oxygen in the water that fed the fry and then they died of starvation. As regards the sewage, they always had that, and formerly to a much greater extent and still the fish flourished. Now they were dying. It was decided to mark the letter "read."

Fermoy Weir.

A letter was received from the Department of Fisheries regarding suggested improvements in the neighbourhood of the weir at Fermoy to facilitate the passage of the salmon up the river. Plans of the proposed alterations were also enclosed.

The Secretary said as regards the wall that was proposed, a similar structure had been erected there some years ago, but it had to be taken down as it was alleged that it caused damage to the adjoining embankment.

After considerable discussion it was decided to apply to the owner of the land adjoining for permission to erect the wall, and subsequently to communicate with the Department on the question of cost, contribution, etc.

THE SANDS OF CLONEA.

In the bright days of childhood I often have strayed By path and by wildwood, by deep flowery glade; But the happiest moments accorded to me Were the days that I spent on the sands of Clonea.

I wandered and sported the long summer-day Till shadows of evening fell sombre and grey; Then home I would saunter across the green lea With a fond parting glance at the sands of Clonea.

No rude sounds of revelry there could be heard But the murmur of ocean and cry of a bird; No babel of voices in wild careless glee Disturbed the sweet silence of tranquil Clonea.

And oft I would gaze o'er the ocean's blue rim To see on its bosom, though distant and dim, Some tall stately barque gliding over the sea. As I calmly reclined on the sands of Clonea.

Well, years have passed over in sorrow and joy, The raptures that cheer and the cares that annoy; And I come after tossing on life's troubled sea To loiter again by the sands of Clonea.

A wanderer, an outcast I long may have been, Fer from my loved land and each dear native scene, But the dark days of exile forgotten will be When again I revisit the sands of Clonea.

Oh, life it is lonely and cares grip the heart, And from dearest friends we are oft forced to part; But the charms of nature, delightful and free, May always be found on the sands of Clonea.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

HURLING IN AGLISH.

Cappoquin hurling team visited Aghish on last Sunday where they played a friendly game with Dromore Juniors in the presence of a fairly large crowd of spectators. Considering that the Cappoquin players have had no field for practice during the season, they, nevertheless, put up a very stiff fight against the better-trained Dromore team, and at half-time the latter were leading by four goals to two goals. Cappoquin added two goals in the second half, while Dromore scored a goal and a point, and the end of a very fast and interesting game found Dromore the winners on the score of 5 goals 1 point, to 4 goals for Cappoquin. Mr. J. McCarthy, Cappoquin, refereed the match.

VILLIERSTOWN TOURNAMENT.

Two important matches in connection with the Villierstown Football Tournament will be played in the well-laid-out grounds of the Villierstown Club on Sunday, 9th inst. The first match at 3.30 is between Kilgobinet and Villierstown, so that a fast and scientific display of high-class football is assured between these first-class teams who are both at the top of their form. Clashmore juniors will line up against Stradbally juniors at 4.45 p.m., and these sturdy teams need no introduction to the public, as they are well known to be two of the best junior combinations in the County at present. The promoters of the Villierstown Tournament had very hard luck on the opening day of the event a few Sundays ago, when Ballinrosl defeated Ring by two points in a frenzied downpour of rain, and before a small crowd of spectators, but with fine weather on Sunday next the splendid programme provided should attract a huge attendance from all parts of West Waterford.

WANTED—A POUND.

Our readers must not infer from this heading that the writer is in financial straits, as the object of this paragraph is to call attention to the great necessity for a public pound in Cappoquin at present. Animals of all descriptions can be found wandering about most of our public roads every night and day, to the great danger of motorists, cyclists and all members of the travelling public, but owing to the absence of an official pound, in the town the Civic Guards are practically powerless in the matter, and so the nuisance remains unabated up to the present. In response to an advertisement by the County Council we understand that three tenders were received some time ago from certain persons in Cappoquin having suitable premises to let or sell for the purpose of a pound but the selection of the most suitable premises was left in the hand of the County Surveyor. In the interests of the safety of the people who have to use our roads and highways a night time, we trust the matter will now receive immediate attention.

CAPPOQUIN TENNIS CLUB.

Cappoquin Tennis Club were engaged on Thursday, August 30th, in a match against the Glengall Tennis Club, Cahir, on the grounds of the Cappoquin Town Park Tennis Club, which were capitally laid out. The afternoon was gloriously fine, and the large gathering present had quite a pleasant experience and were treated to a display of tennis worth travelling a distance to see. The various matches were worked through in splendid fashion, and there were no matches to prolong the afternoon's play. This year's tournaments provided some excellent struggles, and the standard of play was very good. So far the Cappoquin team has done very well, having played Clogheen, Fermoy, Dungarvan and Cahir, they won two and have drawn two, thus leaving them unbeaten, which is a splendid record for a club only established a few years. The visitors were entertained by the lady members of the Cappoquin Club in the Tennis Pavilion, after which they proceeded to Clonea, where a very enjoyable night's dancing was held, as owing to the death of an old and respected townsman the dance could not be held in the Pavilion.

Result of Tournament—Cappoquin beat Cahir. The teams were comprised of the following ladies and gentlemen: Cahir—Mrs. Burke, Misses Law, Hayes, O'Donnell, Cooke, A. O'Donnell, N. O'Donnell and Conway; Messrs. A. Conway, R. Irwin, M. Sheehan, C. Dennehy, G. Kenny, J. Burke, G. Irwin and W. Cahill. Cappoquin—Mrs. Conway, Mrs. Gardiner, Mrs. Crowe, Misses J. Fanning, A. Mansfield, M. Mansfield, M. Fraher and M. Ahearne; Dr. T. White, Messrs. L. D. Dunne, C. Mansfield, R. Flynn, S. Hick, T. Lincoln, P. J. Gardiner and M. Flavin.

FACE PAINTS, 5,400 YEARS' OLD.

Mr. C. L. Woolley, lecturing on the excavations at Ur before the International Congress of Orientalists at Oxford, said he found the tomb of a Queen who had a pot of face paints beside her, a draughts board and men counters for paying forfeits, and dice to decide the first move. He dated these signs as B.C. 3,500, and thought they were the first of their kind.
