OBITUARY.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN R. DOWER, MOUNTAIN VIEW, DUNGARVAN. PASSING OF A GREAT MAN.

With sincere regret we announce the death of Mr. John R. Dower, which took place at his residence, Mountain View, Dungarvan, on Sunday morning. He had been in failing health for some time past and bore his last illness with true Christian fortitude. He was constantly attended by his life-long friend, Dr. J. C. Hackett, who did all that was possible for him. He passed away calmly and peacefully fortified by the rites of Holy Church.

His death caused the deepest regret on all sides. No man was more widely known and respected than he, not only for his own endearing qualities and goodness of heart, but also because he was the embodiment of the traditions of the Dower family, so long and honourably connected with the industrial life of the town.

He was son of the late Mr. John R. Dower, who in his day controlled Dungarvan Brewery, and was also a considerable landed proprietor and property owner as well as a county Magistrate. At that time Dower's Brewery was one of the largest in the country and gave extensive employment, and its products were in great demand. He was also Chairman for a long term of years of the old Town Commissioners, and was instrumental in having many works carried out which were of considerable public benefit.

Educated at Clongowood College, Salinas, where he had a brilliant record as a student of high intellectual capacity. Mr. Dower returned to Dungarvan, and while yet in the early twenties he was elected to the responsible position of Clerk of the Dungarvan Union on the 3rd November, 1857. He brought to the discharge of the duties of his office a sound judgment and a wise discretion, which marked him out as an official of uncommon ability. And during his almost lifelong connection with the administration of public affairs he stood out by himself as the embodiment of dignity and courtesy, who in times of storm as in moments of calm guided his board with a masterly hand. In all matters of Local Government, Poor Law and public finance he was an expert, and never once did his judgment err in the interpretation of the numerous Acts of Parliament and Orders in Council which came under his jurisdiction from time to time. The auditor's reports of those days bear eloquent testimony to the manner in which he conducted the destinies of the Board of Guardians, and not once was a surcharge made for which he could be held even partly responsible. In 1899 the Rural Councils came into operation, and he was appointed Clerk to that body, and from their institution until the abolition of the Rural Councils in 1925 he conducted the business of the council with the same conscientious ability as characterized everything to which he set his hand.

Under the Amalgamation Scheme of 1922 the Board of Guardians ceased to exist, while in 1925 the Rural Councils were abolished, and Mr. Dower having completed 38 years of efficient public service, retired on a well-merited pension. During his long public career Mr. Dower was brought into contact with more than one generation of public representatives, but one and all coincided in the view that he stood alone as a high-class official, who touched nothing that he did not adorn. He was the same to all men, whether at the meetings of the old Guardians composed of landlords and ex-officio members or those of the farmers and labourers of modern days, his courtesy and urbanity were unfeigned. With him there was no distinction of class. He was above it and beyond it. To him all men were the same, and often when tempers ran riot and words were strong and sulphurous at his meetings he threw oil on the troubled waters and restored harmony among the warring elements by the judicious use of that masterly tact for which he was known. On his retirement a few years ago eloquent tributes were paid to his public worth, but no tribute could be expressed in words to fully convey the esteem in which he was held by all who were brought into contact with him, and who regretted that circumstances should deprive the county of his wise counsel and shrewd judgment. Socially he was a great favourite. Possessed of a keen wit with a great appreciation of a "bon mot," he was a charming conversationalist, and could point a moral or adorn a tale in a most delightful way. His knowledge of human nature was great, while his topographical information was unbounded so far as his native town and county were concerned.

An admirer of every form of manly sport; a sound constitutional Irishman; a fervent Catholic; a kind-hearted neighbour, and a true and generous friend, the late Mr. Dower was an outstanding man, who in his day acted his part honourably, fearlessly and well, and who leaves behind him an inspiration of what nobility of purpose can achieve. He is gone in his 64th year and the town is the poorer by his loss. He stood forth as the scion of our old aristocratic stock—aristocratic in birth, breeding and in education—who always conducted himself in a manner of otium cum dignitate that made contact with him a something to be remembered. A great and good man, a friend of the people, and a hater of sham and make-believe, his death is deeply deplored. He was married to Miss Lily Longan, daughter of Mr. Robert T. Longan, and a member of one of our best families.

To his bereaved wife and the members of his family deep sympathy is extended in their bereavement. R.I.P.

On Monday evening the remains were removed from Mountain View to the Parish Church and were followed by an imposing cortege representative of all classes. Behind the bier walked His Lordship Most Rev. Dr. Hackett, Dr. J. C. Hackett, and the nephews and relatives of the deceased. At the church gates the remains were met by Rev. P. F. McGrath, C.C. His Lordship the Bishop recited the prayers for the dead. On Tuesday morning there was solemn Requiem Office and High Mass for the repose of his soul. The celebrant was Very Rev. H. M. Evans, C.S.Sp., Kilmage, Dublin; deacon, Rev. R. Walsh, O.S.A.; sub-deacon, Rev. P. Ahearne, Carriglea; master of ceremonies, Rev. P. F. McGrath, C.C. In the choir were—Very Rev. Canon Whelan, P.P., Cappoquin; Very Rev. H. Gleason, P.P., Aglish; Rev. L. Egan, C.C.; Rev. M. F. Hearne, C.C.; Very Rev. W. J. Walsh, P.P., Abbeyside; Rev. J. Phelan, C.C., do.; Very Rev. J. Foley, P.P., Kilgobinet; Rev. J. Lynch, C.C., do.; Rev. J. Condon, O.S.A.; Rev. P. Donegan, O.S.A., and Rev. Fr. Hackett.

Subsequently the interment took place in the adjoining family burial ground in the presence of a very large gathering of the family, relatives and friends of the deceased, many of whom came long distances to pay a last tribute to his memory. A large number of beautiful wreaths were placed on his grave, viz.:—"From Lily"; "To the best of brothers with love, sorrow and deepest regret, Josie and Ursula"; "In fond and loving memory of dearest uncle, from his ever grateful and affectionate nephews, Charlie, Willie and Jack"; "In loving remembrance, from his old friend"; "With heartfelt sorrow, from May, Kathleen, Pidge and Bernadette"; "From Hugh"; "From Jack and Mollie"; "With deepest sympathy, from R. T., Gusie and Paddy."

Resolved that the interment should be in the presence of a very large gathering of the family, relatives and friends of the deceased, many of whom came long distances to pay a last tribute to his memory. A large number of beautiful wreaths were placed on his grave, including the following:—"With love and deepest regret, from his loving wife, Alice"; "In loving remembrance, from Tom and Mattie"; "In loving memory, from Nicholas and Annie"; "In loving remembrance, from Jack and Katie"; "With sincere regret, from some of his old friends at the Literary Club"; "With deep sympathy, from the Commercial Staff"; "In affectionate remembrance, from Stephen and Katie Hanney."

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT. We wish to direct the attention of our readers to the important advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue from the well-known firm of J. O'Keefe and Co., Motor Agents and Engineers, Cappoquin, announcing that they have secured the exclusive local agencies for the season 1929 for the famous Chrysler, Morris Crowley, Citroen, Reynaul, and Singer Motor Cars, all the latest models of which can be supplied immediately, and at prices to suit everybody. This enterprising firm has just supplied to Mrs. R. H. Keane, Portwilliam a beautiful 1929 Chrysler Model 65, six cylinder Saloon car, which is the first of its kind seen in this district, and which for finish, luxury, comfort and smooth running, has won the admiration and excited the envy of all motoring enthusiasts who have seen it. Similar models of this excellent make of car, as well as all other cars for which they are agents, can be delivered immediately by the firm in question, who guarantee the same good service and satisfaction in the execution of all future orders which have characterised them in the past, and made their firm so justly popular with all their patrons for many years.

REFERENCE ORDER GRANTED. At the Cappoquin District Court, before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.P., Inspector Murphy (Acting Superintendent) applied for Reference Orders in respect of the licenses held by Miss Mary Cahill, Main street, Cappoquin; Mr. A. Walsh, do., and Mr. John Cotter, Adlish. Mr. A. Carroll, solr., Fermoy, for the two first-named publicans, and Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, for Mr. Cotter, Aglish. Supt. O'Connor, Cappoquin, said the population of the licensing area was 6,572, with 96 public-houses, or one for every 182 persons. Supt. Harrigan stated he frequently visited Cahill's public-house since 15th September, and saw no drink there of any description and only empty bottles. He asked to see the stock book, and the publican said she usually kept 10 dozen of stout upstairs. Witness asked to see it, but the publican refused until she had seen her solicitor. There was no stock there, added witness, and the house was in a bad state of repair. The shelves were filthy and full of dust, and there was dust on the empty bottles. Miss Cahill was middle-aged, living alone. Cross-examined—The shop is a small one. There was no stock there. The premises would want a coat of paint. She refused to hand over the permit book. Mr. Carroll said he was not going to contend his client was doing a big trade, but he asked the sergeant were not there public houses in the town which did a lesser trade than Miss Cahill, and also he (Mr. Carroll) would ask was not there a publican there holding two licenses, and one of these premises was only open on fair days. Supt. Harrigan replied that he was not aware of any other publican doing less business than Miss Cahill or that any publican in town held two licenses, as stated by Mr. Carroll. Mr. Carroll mentioned the name of Mrs. Dunne. Supt. O'Connor said that was not correct, as Mrs. Dunne only held one license. The Court Registrar, at the request of the Justice, perused the License Register, and said one license was held by Mrs. Annie Dunne and the other by Mrs. Bridget O'Keefe. Mr. Carroll said these ladies were sisters and resided in the same house, and one premises were only open on fair days. Supt. O'Connor stated O'Keefe's premises were open every evening, and on market days and fair days, and he saw people going in there. He never saw anyone going into Cahill's and he never was in the premises. Cross-examined—He knew Miss Geary's and saw people enter there. There was one country public-house near Mount Mellary, in his sub-district. He only had an idea of Modloga public-houses. He was 12 months in Cappoquin. The Justice asked was there opposition in the other two cases. Mr. Carroll said he would strenuously oppose the case of Mr. Walsh. Mr. O'Gorman, in the case of Cotter, said he would offer opposition also. The Justice said he would grant the Reference Order in the case of Mary Cahill, and the other two cases he would dismiss without prejudice. Exemption Orders were granted to open the licensed premises on fair days at 7 a.m. to Mrs. Dunne, Mrs. O'Keefe, Mrs. Morrissey, Mrs. A. Wall, and Messrs. J. V. Conway, Michael Mason, J. Donovan, etc. Mr. Coffey was granted an occasional licence for Lismore Show on 2nd October—hours 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. The publicans' licenses were all signed, no objection being offered.

Mr. O'Gorman, in the case of Cotter, said he would offer opposition also. The Justice said he would grant the Reference Order in the case of Mary Cahill, and the other two cases he would dismiss without prejudice. Exemption Orders were granted to open the licensed premises on fair days at 7 a.m. to Mrs. Dunne, Mrs. O'Keefe, Mrs. Morrissey, Mrs. A. Wall, and Messrs. J. V. Conway, Michael Mason, J. Donovan, etc. Mr. Coffey was granted an occasional licence for Lismore Show on 2nd October—hours 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. The publicans' licenses were all signed, no objection being offered.

At the Cappoquin District Court, before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.P., Inspector Murphy (Acting Superintendent) applied for Reference Orders in respect of the licenses held by Miss Mary Cahill, Main street, Cappoquin; Mr. A. Walsh, do., and Mr. John Cotter, Adlish. Mr. A. Carroll, solr., Fermoy, for the two first-named publicans, and Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, for Mr. Cotter, Aglish. Supt. O'Connor, Cappoquin, said the population of the licensing area was 6,572, with 96 public-houses, or one for every 182 persons. Supt. Harrigan stated he frequently visited Cahill's public-house since 15th September, and saw no drink there of any description and only empty bottles. He asked to see the stock book, and the publican said she usually kept 10 dozen of stout upstairs. Witness asked to see it, but the publican refused until she had seen her solicitor. There was no stock there, added witness, and the house was in a bad state of repair. The shelves were filthy and full of dust, and there was dust on the empty bottles. Miss Cahill was middle-aged, living alone. Cross-examined—The shop is a small one. There was no stock there. The premises would want a coat of paint. She refused to hand over the permit book. Mr. Carroll said he was not going to contend his client was doing a big trade, but he asked the sergeant were not there public houses in the town which did a lesser trade than Miss Cahill, and also he (Mr. Carroll) would ask was not there a publican there holding two licenses, and one of these premises was only open on fair days. Supt. Harrigan replied that he was not aware of any other publican doing less business than Miss Cahill or that any publican in town held two licenses, as stated by Mr. Carroll. Mr. Carroll mentioned the name of Mrs. Dunne. Supt. O'Connor said that was not correct, as Mrs. Dunne only held one license. The Court Registrar, at the request of the Justice, perused the License Register, and said one license was held by Mrs. Annie Dunne and the other by Mrs. Bridget O'Keefe. Mr. Carroll said these ladies were sisters and resided in the same house, and one premises were only open on fair days. Supt. O'Connor stated O'Keefe's premises were open every evening, and on market days and fair days, and he saw people going in there. He never saw anyone going into Cahill's and he never was in the premises. Cross-examined—He knew Miss Geary's and saw people enter there. There was one country public-house near Mount Mellary, in his sub-district. He only had an idea of Modloga public-houses. He was 12 months in Cappoquin. The Justice asked was there opposition in the other two cases. Mr. Carroll said he would strenuously oppose the case of Mr. Walsh. Mr. O'Gorman, in the case of Cotter, said he would offer opposition also. The Justice said he would grant the Reference Order in the case of Mary Cahill, and the other two cases he would dismiss without prejudice. FIANNA FAIL.

MEETING IN DUNGARVAN.

ADDRESSES BY MESSRS. S. LEMAS, T.D.; P. J. LITTLE, T.D., AND J. GOULDING, T.D.

On Sunday last a largely attended meeting under the auspices of Fianna Fail was held in the Square, Dungarvan. Mr. M. Cogan, M.P.S.I., presided and read a telegram from Mr. Hugo Flynn, T.D., Cork, stating he was sick and unable to attend.

Mr. Egan, Organiser, in the course of an interesting address, said the object of the meeting was to give the people some information about what was going on as they got very little truth in the daily Press, and also by giving them the truth to win their support for the Fianna Fail Party. The progress made in recent years would not lead them to believe that the conditions under which they were living were about to improve so long as those who administered their affairs remained in office. Until Fianna Fail had the majority in the Dail they could not carry to completion their national policy, but in the meantime they could profit by the mistakes that were made in the past and see they were not made in the future. Fianna Fail was a strong national organisation, and every man and woman who believed that Ireland was a separate national entity able to direct its own internal affairs without any interference from outside, and that the country could support three times its present population, and that their industries should have some kind of protection should be in its ranks. Everyone who had an Irish Ireland outlook should help the National Party to achieve its aims and objects. By building up a National Party run in the interests of the people they would have a virile national organisation capable of taking control of the destinies of the country. To a great extent the people were fed up with politics. Griffith wrote: "Patriotism is the basis of good politics." Their national affairs should be administered in the interests of the country as a whole, and their economic affairs on the principle that the produce of the country is the property of the people. Since Cosgrave and Co. took over control the people have had very little consideration. There was no man or woman present but was worse off than before the present Government came into power, and with the exception of those who are paid servants of the State, few families can say that they have not become poorer since the Treaty was signed. The only way to end that was to give the Fianna Fail Party control and give them the opportunity to change the things that really matter. What was happening at present was only an indication of what would happen in the future, and if things went on as they have for the past five years, in five years hence there will be nothing left in this country for the men and women who remain here. If the present Government are permitted to continue in office in place of things improving from the point of view of the ratepayer and the taxpayer, the only possible outlook is complete bankruptcy and control by the British Government. Let the people give expression to the faith that is in them and come to the help of Fianna Fail to bring about the change which they were all anxious to see should be made. It was up to them to tackle the question now and prepare for the next fight and ensure that they would have a National Government that would make this country what it should be—a separate national and economic entity (hear, hear).

SPEECH OF MR. LEMASS, T.D.

Mr. Sean Lemass, T.D., next addressed the meeting. He said it was only those who knew the facts that could realise the extent to which the lying and misrepresentation was conducted, and that in spite of that campaign less than 12 months ago half a million came out and voted for the National Party and their policy. They would read in the Press that every member of the Free State Cabinet was a superhuman being destined by Providence to turn this country into a land of milk and honey, and that the members of Fianna Fail were half-witted and fit for a Mental Home for the rest of their lives. They read nothing in the Press about the essential differences that divided their people. They will not tell you that those differences are so great that the parties divided like two armies marching in opposite directions and every day widens the difference between them. In International affairs Cumann Na nGaedheal stands for subservience to England—as Cosgrave described it for strengthening the sympathetic bond that binds us to the British Empire. It means the subordination of Irish interests to the interests of an outside power. In National affairs it stands for partition and the division of this nation into two separate States. In economic affairs it stands for a policy of drift and leaves things to develop as the blind forces of chance direct them.

Diametrically opposed to that they had Fianna Fail. They stood for freedom as they held it was useless to hope for the solution of their problems until the nation was really free. They did not make that discovery themselves. Every good Irishman whose name was written in the history of their country, every man from Wolfe found out that truth. As Wolfe Tone said: "Until we break the connection with England there is no hope for the Irish Nation." They, too, believed in that, and those who talked about reviving industry and developing agriculture could not succeed while the blighting effect of England's influence was in the country. In national affairs they stood for unity. This country was too small to be able to support two separate Government machines. There are two Governor-Generals to support two Governments, two armies and two Civil Services, and you have to pay them by direct or indirect taxation. Unity was possible and could be achieved if a serious attempt were made. It could not come while the Unionists of the North hold sway. It must come from the controlling authority of the State, and at present they will not make any effort. It was up to them as serious citizens to change that authority and substitute some other. In economic affairs Fianna Fail believed in a self-reliant and self-supporting Ireland. You will be told that Cumann Na nGaedheal stands for a bread and butter policy, and you are asked to support that policy. Since Cumann Na nGaedheal came into power in 1923 and put their bread and butter policy into operation, 1,000,000 woolen mills have been closed down in the country, and those whose money was invested in the mills do not think much of the bread and butter policy. Those engaged in that industry have been for the past two years asking the Free State Government to impose a tariff on imported woolen cloth, but though the application for the tariff was made in October, 1923, the travelling circus, as the Tariff Commission is called, has done nothing yet. They went to the Scotch Woolen Mills to investigate, but not to the Irish mills, and as a result of the policy of drift 14 woolen mills are now derelict. Eleven saw mills are closed down and the workers are enjoying the benefits of the bread and butter policy. Last season they asked for an order prohibiting the export of raw Irish timber to England but nothing was done. Eleven flour mills have closed down. The owners applied for a tariff, but they were refused. The Commissioners visited several big flour mills in England and two small flour mills in Ireland, and they held a tariff was not advisable. That is the bread and butter policy of Cumann Na nGaedheal. They were told if a tariff were put on flour, the flour may be increased 1s. per sack, and as the average man eats a sack of flour in a year, that would only mean an extra shilling to keep the flour mills going. They were now gone, and they had to depend for their flour on English flour mills. And when the Irish mills were closed down would the English flour mills supply them with flour at a loss as they were doing? They would make up for their losses of the last two years, and in place of paying 1s. a sack more they would be paying dearly for having a bread and butter policy in operation. Eight hosiery factories, five breweries, four distilleries, two bacon-curing factories and several other industries that existed in 1923 are all closed down. In addition there are 100,000 unemployed in the Free State, while 250,000 have emigrated in the last four years.

They were told this was an agricultural country and they had a very clever Minister of Agriculture, who was bringing prosperity to the farmers. During the last four years 1,000,000 acres of land under tillage in 1923 went back to grass. Though they had more than half the population of the State engaged in agriculture, they produced less per man than any country in Europe, which showed that those engaged in agriculture in this country must be living on the barest level. Those who were backing that policy were on the wrong track. They could not build up their industries while the financial affairs of the country were controlled by Jews in London. During the last four years their population declined by 222,000. The decline was larger than during the famine of 1847. These figures were taken from the statistics issued by the Free State since the Census was taken in 1926. In such circumstances no one could be satisfied with the situation as it exists. If they went to seek out the cause of all that they would find it in the words he had previously quoted: "Until we break the connection with England . . . You will not be satisfied that Ireland is moving on the road that leads to prosperity."

Fianna Fail was a Republican Party. They wanted to establish a Republican Government in a united Ireland, as they believed the prosperity of their people depended on it, and they believed it could be done, for no power could stop the onward march of a united people determined to get to its goal. Their own duty as citizens pointed in the same direction. The Free State paid its President £2,500 a year. Germany with 69 million people paid President Hindenburg £500 a year. Italy paid Mussolini £400 a year, and it had 40 million people. American had 100,000,000 people and the President was only paid the equivalent of £5,000. In Ireland they had two Presidents. The Prime Minister in Belfast had £3,000, but he voted himself an extra £2,000, and now he had £5,000. The Free State had a Governor-General costing £30,000 a year. Out of his salary they could pay half the Presidents of the world and have something to spare. They were famous for their generosity, but with such salaries the ship of State was going down fast, and unless a halt was called they would find themselves in the bog of bankruptcy. There was not a single Free State Minister appointed to his office because of his knowledge of the work he would have to do.

In the case of the Post Office there was a loss of half a million pounds, while in the case of the Ministry of Fisheries £20,000 was spent on salaries and £7,000 on the development of the fisheries, while £14,000 allocated to fishing was left in the bank at the end of the year. Now it was proposed to appoint the Minister of Fisheries as Minister of the Gaeltacht as well. They had 12,000 officials, not counting female typists or Civic Guards. The speaker next dealt with the referendum and initiative, both of which were abolished by the Government, and now it was proposed to abolish election to the Senate by the people. Hitherto they elected members to the Dail and the Senate, but they would never do so again, as the Senate would in future be elected without appeal to the people. The Senate costs the State £80,000 a year to maintain, and he had yet to discover one useful purpose it served. It had the right to stop hasty legislation, but the Senate never tried to stop it. They could abolish the Senate and save the £80,000 a year and use it to give employment to some of the 100,000 who wanted work. In conclusion he asked his hearers to remember that a bread and butter policy did not lead to independence and that to reach national prosperity they should in the words of Wolfe Tone break the connection with England before they could build up a prosperous Ireland (applause).

MR. LITTLE, T.D.

Mr. P. J. Little, T.D., next spoke and paid a tribute to the memory of the late Mr. Ed. Mansfield, Lismore, who had been a tower of strength to their movement. He was expressing the feelings of Mr. De Valera as well as his own in honouring his name as a great patriot and one who worked well for his country. It was a miracle that Ireland was even in the position it was with the present Government in Power. They could not in a day or two undo the work done by these men. They should prevent the life blood going out of the country through emigration and unemployment, and to do that they should develop the industries of the country through protection, and keep financial control of the country through a State Bank, and not be at the mercy of Jews in London. They should attend to the small farmers especially. Mr. Cosgrave has adopted the Coise method and said the country was around the corner and everything was improving. Shopkeepers as well as farmers were feeling the pinch. When a trader gets goods he must sell them to the people who come into his shop, and if they have not the money to buy they must go down in the general welter of bankruptcy. These people are beginning to realise that the policy of the Government is bad as they want the country built up and made prosperous. As to the Fianna Fail Party they made no false promises when entering the Dail. They were not in power, and no one could expect them to do miracles. He dealt with the National Press now being established of which Mr. De Valera would be Director, and said it was badly wanted to serve Irish interests in the exigencies of the present situation. £100,000 was subscribed in the U.S.A. and already £80,000 was subscribed at home. Any person wishing to take shares in the new Press could get the necessary forms at the Munster and Leinster Bank up to the 30th Oct. They hoped to start it early in the new year. If the people were to be saved the present Government should be cleared out of office, and they could do that by building up a great National Party in the country (hear, hear).

MR. GOULDING, T.D.

Mr. Goulding, T.D., said it was only right that the people should have some account of their stewardship since they were elected. By merely attending public meetings the national problem could not be solved. The great danger was that the country would slip into the hands of professional politicians, while the people go dog-racing, playing rugby, etc. That would be a bad thing, and to counteract it they should all join Fianna Fail. He was sorry to see no Dungarvan man on the platform. That was the bitter truth, and it showed things were not well with the country.

Dealing with the Catholic Boy Scout movement, he said it was a very good thing, but would it not be a better thing for these boys to have the inspiration of Mitchell, Pearse and Brugha than the inspiration of Elizabeth and Henry VIII. Were Catholic boys to be brought up in the inspiration of the Black and Tans and to be taught to forget Mitchell and Pearse? The boys of to-day will be the men of to-morrow. Patriotism, Christianity and common sense are the one thing. They are all working for the good of the whole people, which is the real test of patriotism. If they pursued a form of self-interest they would injure themselves. He took the Catholic Boy Scouts as a case in point, as he thought there was an endeavour made to take the minds of the boys away from their own country. The present Government had failed to bring prosperity to Ireland, and if they wished to change them the people should do it, and the way to do that was by joining the Party which was trying to lift the country out of the mud (applause). The meeting then concluded.

Rockwell College, Cashel

INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATIONS. BRILLIANT ACADEMIC SUCCESS.

"For the second year in succession, Rockwell gives a brilliant lead, in the domain of intellectual achievement, to all the Schools and Colleges in Ireland."

This is an educational experts summing up of the results of the Intermediate Examinations which were published a week or two ago. It is not a question of being merely amongst the first. She occupies a position of pre-eminence amongst all the colleges that entered pupils for the public examination. Whether we consider the number of individual successes, or that of Honour Certificates, or the list of the successful Scholarship winners, we see that Rockwell stands apart—having in each domain more than double the number of any boarding college in the country. And that it is not merely the chosen few who are catered for in Rockwell, is evident from the fact that she was able to present far more students for the examinations than Colleges who had more than twice her number on their school rolls.

For the Leaving Certificate Rockwell presented 45 students, twelve of those passed—seven with honours. Even the three students that failed passed successfully in four honour papers, sufficient proof that they were well up to the standard of the examination. The successful students were credited with the following high places:—3rd place in Ireland in Latin (397 words marks out of a possible total of 400), 4th and 5th place in Ireland in French (4th and 5th place in Ireland in Geography, 5th places in Ireland in Latin and Commerce, 7th place in Ireland in Greek. In addition, three Rockwell students were awarded the following County Council Scholarships on the result of the Leaving Certificate Examination:—Tipperary (S.R.) Co. Council, 1st place J. B. Meagher, Clonmel; Kilkenny Co. Council, 1st place, Patrick Joyce, Freshford, Co. Kilkenny; Dublin Municipal Scholarship, 7th place, John Fitzgerald McInerney, Tipperary (S.R.), John English, Knockraffon, Cahir.

The results of the National University Entrance Examinations have not yet been published.

The Intermediate Certificate students of Rockwell did even more brilliantly. Of the 48 presented 60 passed a pass percentage of 90— that for all Ireland being but 68. Thirty-one of the 60 passed with honours. They succeeded also in winning the following high places in different subjects:—1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 6th places in Ireland in Greek, 3rd and 6th places in Ireland in Latin, 7th place in Ireland in Commerce, 10th place in Ireland in both Irish and French.

It was a Rockwell Student, Patrick C. Bresnahan, son of the one-time famous athlete, J. J. Bresnahan, now Principal in Castletown Coyne's (N.S., Charleville) who headed the list of successful scholarship winners in Ireland; to be closely followed by another Rockwell student (Joseph D. O'Brien, of Donebat, Co. Dublin). Eight scholarships in all (including the two Burke memorial Prizes) were carried off by these young students. No other college in Ireland got more than three.

But it is not in the domain of Intermediate Education alone that this year's Rockwell students shone. Several of them passed the Easter Scholarship test very successfully, while no fewer than eleven (not including the eight winners of Intermediate Scholarships) were awarded Pupil-Teacher Scholarships. This is a record of which any school may well be proud of, and clearly proves that Rockwell is maintaining the high standard of intellectual excellence for which she has been consistently famous since first she entered pupils for public examinations. There are at present over 330 students in the lecture halls of the famous Munster College.

Blackwater Fish Conservators

At the usual monthly meeting of the No. 4 or Lismore Board of Fish Conservators held at Tallow on Thursday there attended—Messrs. E. A. Rice, solr., vice-chairman, presiding; Capt. P. Dunne, Wm. O'Brien, T. McCarthy, Gervase Power and Carey Joyce.

Fines Reduced. A letter was read from the Department of Fisheries stating that the Department had been informed by the Department of Justice that in the case of James Mangan and others, who were convicted at Youghal District Court for a breach of the Fishery Laws and fined in the sum of £1 each and costs, it had been decided to reduce the penalties imposed to 10s. each and costs.

The Elections. The Secretary said that was the final meeting of that Board, and it was necessary to make arrangements for the election of the new Board next month.

The Chairman said they had very many more voters around Fermoy than Banteer, and their convenience should be considered.

Capt. Dunne—Why should we disfranchise Banteer? The Chairman said it was for the meeting to decide the most convenient place.

Capt. Dunne said in the old days the elections were held at Mallow and Youghal.

The Clerk said there were over 280 licenses in Fermoy district.

The Chairman said that Mallow would not suit Fermoy, where they had 280 licenses. In Mallow probably there were 70 to 80 at the outside. It would be a greater injustice to ask the workmen around Fermoy to go to Mallow than it would be to ask the Mallow men to come to Fermoy.

The Chairman said on the last occasion there were strained relations between the anglers of these two towns. That year it was altogether different; they were very friendly.

Capt. Dunne—I propose that we have voting centres in Mallow and Youghal as in years gone by.

The Chairman thought that proposition would require notice of motion.

Capt. Dunne said they were asked to appoint centres for the elections.

Mr. O'Brien said Fermoy was more central.

Mr. Power said where the most licenses were was most central.

Mr. McCarthy said it was a hardship on the Banteer men to have to go to Fermoy. He thought they should get a turn about.

The Chairman said Lismore was 20 miles from Fermoy, and Fermoy 20 miles from Mallow. He thought it would be a greater hardship to bring the Lismore people to Mallow, over 40 miles, than to bring the Banteer people to Fermoy.

Mr. McCarthy said they should do something for the poor Banteer men.

Chairman—What about the poor Fermoy men—many of them workmen?

Mr. Carey Joyce disagreed with Captain Dunne. Fermoy was undoubtedly more central.

Mr. McCarthy seconded Captain Dunne's proposition owing to the long journey involved.

The Chairman proposed that the election be held at Fermoy as last year.

On a poll there voted for the amendment—Messrs. O'Brien, Carey Joyce, Power and the Chairman—4.

Against—Capt. Dunne and Mr. McCarthy—2.

The proposition was therefore lost. It was decided to hold the elections at Fermoy on October 18th and at Youghal on October 20th.

Hatcheries. A letter was read from the Department of Fisheries intimating that permission had been given to the Duke of Devonshire to remove young fish from the hatchery.

Capt. Dunne—What supervision have we over the hatchery? Secretary—The Lismore hatchery? Capt. Dunne—Yes. Secretary—We have no supervision over it.

Capt. Dunne—Why not we have it? Secretary—They give us the benefit of the fish they rear.

Capt. Dunne—How do we know that? Mr. McCarthy—Does this Board subscribe anything to the hatchery? Secretary—No. It is subsidised by the Government. We must apply for permission ourselves in connection with the Banteer hatchery.

The Chairman said there was no need. Fermoy Weir. A letter was read from Mr. J. J. Bowen, Fermoy, stating that Mr. Cooke Collis would not object to the proposed works at Fermoy Weir, but there must be no erosion or flooding or other injury as a result of those works.

Capt. Dunne—Refer the letter to your solicitor. This was agreed to.

Banteer and Mallow Hatcheries. The Secretary reported that he had the Banteer hatchery in excellent order and repair. A lot of damage had been done to it by raids during the troubled times. Now he had it in such a condition that it could be kept in order at a minimum cost.

The meeting expressed their satisfaction with the report.

Financial Position. Captain Dunne asked what was their financial position?

The Clerk said after making payments amounting to over £300 that day, they would have nearly £700 to credit to carry them over the next few months.

Capt. Dunne said they should take all possible steps to protect the river, especially during the spawning season. If the Board protected the river and spawning beds at that time they would have plenty of fish later on.

The Chairman said the money was there and they were in a position to protect the river adequately.

The Inspector said the prosecutions last season were abnormal and the amount received in fines was a record. He had never seen anything like it.

The Chairman said as that was the last meeting of that Board they could not do much until the new Board met.

Secretary—You are much better off financially now than you were at this period last year.

The Board's Solicitor. At the conclusion of the ordinary business Mr. Barry Sullivan asked permission to address the meeting.

Chairman—Certainly. Mr. Sullivan said he understood that certain statements had been made at the two last meetings of the Board regarding the manner in which he had discharged his duties as solicitor to the Board.

He did not wish to introduce any acrimony or personalities into the matter, but would merely confine himself to actual facts. The first was in regard to a complaint that he didn't pursue an appeal in a case heard at Kanturk.

The Chairman said he had never heard of any complaint in respect of that particular case.

Mr. Sullivan having given his reasons for not going on with the appeal, said the next complaint was that he didn't proceed with a prosecution in respect of an offence alleged to have been committed on the river Bride.

It seemed a curious coincidence that two of the defendants in that case were also involved in a recent case which had been dismissed. A recent letter from his colleague, Mr. J. L. Keane, would give them some idea of the difficulties solicitors had to contend with owing to the infirmities and imperfections of recent legislation.

Having examined closely the reports supplied him, he was perfectly satisfied it would be useless to proceed. (Mr. Sullivan entered at length into the details of the matter). As regards the collection of arrears of rates, he decided in the best interest of the Board, instead of adopting drastic measures, to take such steps as would cause the least irritation, and at the same time to collect the money in, and he submitted the results justified his method of action.

The Chairman said Mr. Barry Sullivan's statement cleared the air very satisfactorily. It was only fair that he should have had an opportunity of giving those explanations.

Capt. Dunne said he was always in favour of leaving questions of prosecutions in the hands of their solicitors, and they could rest satisfied that both Mr. Barry Sullivan and Mr. Keane would protect their rights to the best of their ability.

The Chairman said that when reports were sifted legally they sometimes took a different complexion—that was his experience.

Mr. Barry Sullivan thanked the Board for their patient hearing, and the meeting adjourned.

Co-option. The Clerk stated that they had a co-option to make owing to the vacancy caused in the Central Ward by the resignation of Mr. Power.

Mr. Keane—I propose that Mr. John Foley, Main street, be co-opted. He is an old member, and during his time here acted very well. I would also like to say that a person from the Central Ward should be appointed.

Chairman—I will second Mr. Keane. Mr. Foley during his time here was a very good man and showed good attendance.

Mr. Foley proposed, and Mr. Griffin seconded, that Mr. James McEvoy, Abbeyside, be co-opted.

A vote was taken and resulted:—For McEvoy—Messrs. Clancy, Butler, Hackett, Griffin, Foley, McCarthy—6.

For Foley—Messrs. Moloney, Curran, Power, Keane, Chairman—5.

Mr. O'Donnell did not vote. Mr. McEvoy was declared elected. Chairman—The Central Ward hardly got fair play that time.

Dumping Rubbish. A long discussion took place on the way dumping was carried out at the rubbish depots, and members showed dissatisfaction that the council should Twelve applications were submitted to Carrick-on-Suir Urban Council for the position of Park caretaker at £1 a week and a cottage. Patrick Rockett was appointed by 6 votes to 4 for Thos. Walsh. John Culliton was appointed Town Hall caretaker at £1 a month and rooms.

DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

The weekly meeting of the above was held in the Town Hall on Friday night. Mr. M. Brennock, chairman, presided. Also present were—Messrs. J. F. Moloney, Wm. O'Donnell, Michael Clancy, J. Butler, Jas. Hackett, Mce. Griffin, D. Foley, T. Power, M. J. Keane, J. Curran and T. McCarthy.

Sanitary. Dr. McCarthy, M.O. appeared before the meeting in connection with the unsanitary state of piggeries in the town. He stated that with few exceptions the piggeries in the town were a serious menace to the public health.

This was caused by insufficient drainage. He would ask the council to adopt bye-laws which would make it impossible for people to keep pigs without having proper conditions.

He had no objection to the keeping of pigs if they were kept under proper conditions. The adoption of bye-laws would do great good for public health and would give the S.S.O. and himself more scope in dealing with the matter.

Mr. Butler—We have heard the M.O. and we must take a serious view of the matter: I think if the M.O. and the S.S.O. suggested some bye-laws to us it would meet the situation.

Mr. Keane—I think we should feel very grateful to the M.O. for coming here to-night in the interests of public health. I know the matter is a very thorny problem to deal with, but we must safeguard public health.

Chairman—We can adopt bye-laws which would inflict the least individual hardship.

It was agreed that the M.O. and S.S.O. put bye-laws before the council, and in the meanwhile the Clerk to write to other towns with a view to getting information regarding their method of dealing with the matter.

Water to County Home. Mr. Curran asked if the County Home water supply was being paid for and how much of the grant was set aside for improvements to the supply there.

Mr. Butler—There is £200 available here or in Dublin. That money will do the work; it is all we can do.

Borough Surveyor—We had the work done in Draper's Field well within the estimate. In Mitchell street we met with rock, and in consequence progress is much slower. I am afraid it will cost more than estimated.

Mr. Curran—I have been asked by a large ratepayer to raise the question of the County Home water supply.

Mr. Butler—The County Home are getting a water supply at present, but it is not sufficient.

Mr. Keane—All the members are anxious that the County Home have a good water supply.

Mr. Butler—When will the work of laying the main be started? Borough Surveyor—In about ten days.

Mr. Butler—I understand that it is intended to build a big laundry at the County Home, and before they spend any money on it they want to see what the water supply will be like.

Mr. Curran—You will not get your £70 from the County Home.

Chairman—Who says so? Mr. Curran—I do.

Chairman—You are asking them not to pay for it.

Mr. Butler—They paid last year. Clerk—They paid a half-year's instalment.

Mr. Moloney—I would like to know what the extra cost of Mitchell street will be? Borough Surveyor—I haven't the remotest idea. We did not anticipate meeting with rock there, otherwise it would be done well within the estimate.

Mr. O'Donnell—No doubt it is a tough job.

Mr. Butler—It is important it be finished as soon as possible.

Mr. Clancy spoke regarding Draper's Field and urged that the council should get finished with it and concentrate on Mitchell street.

It was decided to serve notice on all residents who had not connected with the new sewer to do so before a week or else the place would be closed.

Weight-bridge. The Borough Surveyor was instructed to put a trap inside the weight-bridge in order to stop escaping sewer gas.

Footpath. A letter was read from Miss Queally calling the council's attention to the condition of the footpath outside her house in Emmett street.

Chairman—Well, what order will you make on it? Mr. Curran—That would not cost very much.

Chairman—What do you say, Mr. Clerk? Clerk—We have no money for it now.

Mr. Curran—But you will have plenty in a fortnight's time. Clerk—We will have plenty if we need not pay for all the things which are estimated for.

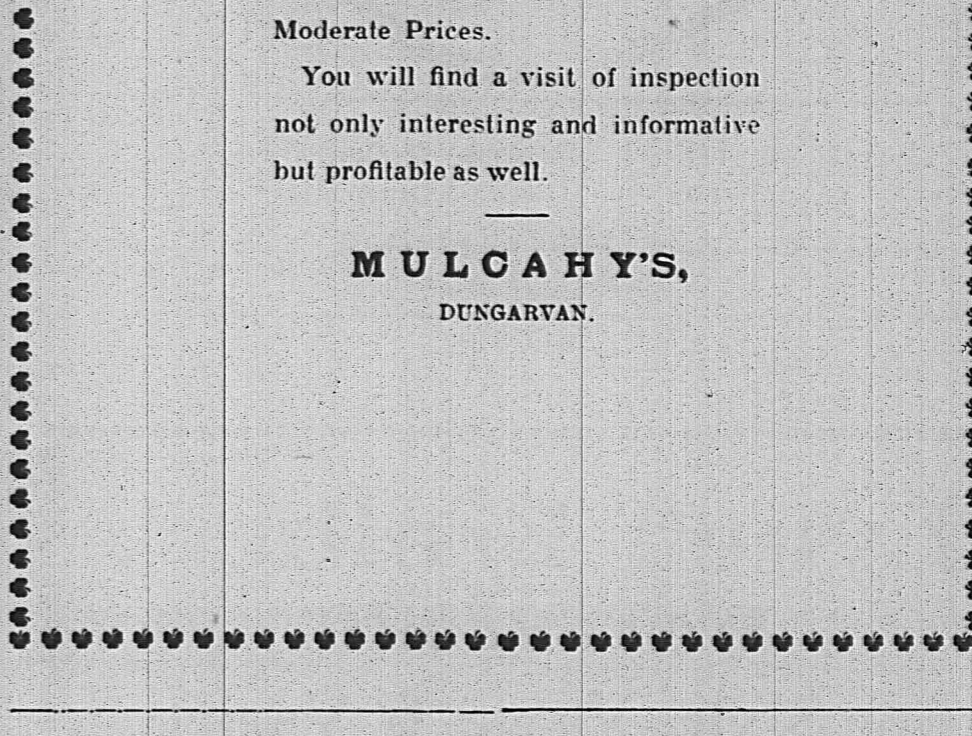

Mr. O'Donnell—We would all like to do the work, but as it is not included in the estimate we can do nothing. The matter was adjourned.

Colour of Buoys. Mr. Power handed in a proposition re the colour of No. 110 buoy, which was painted black instead of red, as it is a starboard hand buoy and is a danger to strange boats, even Arklow boats, as they come inside it run the risk of going aground.

Light at Abbeyside. Mr. Griffin handed in a proposition asking that an electric light be put at King street, Abbeyside, instead of the oil lamp, which was proposed.

Mr. Power said there was no necessity for that as the electric light was going to be put there. He was years living in Abbeyside and he never heard of the necessity for a light there until he got on the council himself and brought it forward.

Mr. Griffin's proposition was passed. Condolence. The following vote of condolence was proposed by the Chairman, seconded by Mr. Butler, and passed in silence:—"We, the members of the Dungarvan Urban Council, tender to the widow and relatives of the late Jas. Draper, Commercial Hotel, our deep sympathy in their bereavement, and as a mark of respect to his memory we adjourn this meeting."

YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.)

LICENSING CASE.

Supt. Muldoon charged Mr. R. Broderick with a breach of the Licensing Act, at 12.20 a.m., on 9th September. Mr. William R. Hodnet, defended. Broderick deposed that when passing the premises at the time in question, he heard talking in the kitchen. He knocked and entered. There were two men inside, one belonging to the town, the other was a stranger to him. The licensee said one had been invited in by him, and the other was a particular friend of the family, who frequently came in for supper.

Witness said: "Are you aware you can't supply a friend unless in certain parts of the house during prohibited hours?"

Defendant replied: "I admit I am done." The licensee said he stood the invited guest a drink, but the friend had none. The kitchen led off the bar. Witness saw people being served with drink there before.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hodnet, witness said he often inspected the place and found people being served in the Kitchen about four times.

To the Court: Is the kitchen far from the bar? No. There is a door leading from the bar to the kitchen.

To Mr. Hodnet: You don't know it is the ordinary living-room of the house? No. Is not this the place where lodgers in the house sit? I believe so. Do you know there had been some sitting there that night?

The licensee's sister told me so. Did she invite you to go up stairs and see for yourself? Yes. Why did you not tell us that?

Justice:—He can only tell the Court what he is asked.

To the Supt.—I think she told me there were some persons staying in the house drinking in the kitchen before the defendant came in.

Mr. Hodnet said his case was that the two men were invited guests, and he would prove that the kitchen was the living-room of the house.

Miss Frances Murphy, barmaid, deposed that there had been four men staying in the house having a drink in the kitchen before the others came in. When Mr. Broderick and his guest came in she went and opened the bar and brought them a drink, locking the bar after and putting the key in a drawer in the kitchen table. There was no payment made as it was Mr. Broderick called for the drink. His friend came in after for a bit of a supper, as usual, but he had no drink. There was a glass with a little stout standing on the stove, but it belonged to one of the lodgers who had gone to bed.

Cross-examined by the Supt.—What about Mr. Broderick's remark—"I am done now"? Yes, I heard it.

Is it usual for people to leave drink after them? Yes. They must be very bad topers?

Mr. Hodnet said they were not natives, and the explanation was there were such things as "heel taps" elsewhere.

Replying to the Court, witness said that Mr. Broderick's friend was not in very long. He came in very frequently for supper.

Mr. Broderick licensee, deposed that he had invited the guest in. The other was a particular friend of his. Witness stood a drink to his guest. His friend had none, and there had been no payment. The bar was locked except while Miss Murphy was getting the drink for himself and his guest. His friend had no drink.

Cross-examined by the Supt.—You say the kitchen is your living room? Yes. And that you don't sell drink generally there? That is right. You seem to be very generous as far as inviting guests is concerned. No. On two previous occasions here you—

Mr. Hodnet—I object.

The Justice—I won't take that. Corroborative evidence having been given by Miss Broderick and other witnesses, a legal argument took place.

The Justice said he would deal with the case on the facts. He would like to say that Guard Broderick had given his evidence with absolute fairness as he had always done and gone so far as to take the word of the publican's sister that everything upstairs was all right. There could be no better evidence of his fairness than that. It was suspicious to find those two men there in that kitchen, which might be used as a taproom at that hour on Sunday morning. The case was very suspicious. That was the third case of the kind to come before him recently, and it was most disappointing in view of the generous concessions granted to public houses during the season. He had a duty, which he regarded seriously, to perform and his credibility should not be stretched by too often told tales of a similar nature. Having said so much, he hoped all concerned would take a warning. He dismissed all the cases.

ANOTHER REMAND.

Michael Hart, Monahan, was again brought up on remand, charged with causing bodily harm to Declan Lynch.

Mr. T. K. Keane, learned Serjt. O'Shea, Ardmore, applied for a further adjournment for a week. Mr. Keane didn't object.

The application was granted.

ABOLITION OF LICENCES.

Supt. Muldoon applied for a Reference Order in the case of Mrs. Nora Mahony, Grattan Street.

Mr. T. K. Keane appeared for the publican.

The Supt. In this case I am informed there is no objection to the Reference Order, therefore, I think it not necessary to go into evidence.

The Justice: I will have some evidence.

Serjt. Corrigan deposed that the premises were opposite the barracks. During the past 12 years the business was practically nothing. Up to a certain time a good business was done there.

Replying to the Court, the Supt. said that the population of the whole licensing area was 12,000. There were 45 public houses or one to every 143 persons.

The Justice:—What about town?

The Supt.—The population of the town was 5,746, with 56 public houses or one to 120.

The Justice said he would make the reference.

Supt. Muldoon applied for a reference against Cornelius Dowling, Tallow Street.

Mr. Keane said in this case Mr. Dowling was executor for O'Donoghue and the place was being sold by the Court.

The Justice said it would be very awkward to deal with the case when it was the subject of a suit.

Mr. Keane said the Registrar asked him to say that it would be to the benefit of the creditors if there could be a free sale.

The application was refused. A similar application by Mr. Keane on behalf of Richard Rohan, for a confirmation of a transfer of the licence lately held by Mrs. Kirby, South Main Street, was also granted.

BRILLIANT UNIVERSITY ACHIEVEMENT. MR. PATRICK WHELAN WINS HIS M.A.

We are happy to record that at the recent examination in the National University of Ireland, Mr. Patrick Whelan, B.A., formerly of Coomonsker N.S., and who is a Kilmacraha man, had the distinction of winning his M.A. Degree with First-Class Honours in Celtic Studies, Old Middle and Modern Irish by Disputation and Examination. His Dissertation was entitled: "Mathematics in the Primary Schools." This achievement was all the more brilliant when it is remembered that Mr. Whelan has charge of a large boys' school in Bandon, and while reading his difficult course as an extern private student, he had to do his day's work also. Dungarvan and the Deise is proud of Mr. Whelan, who has long since proved how great is his intellectual ability, but regrets that his brilliant educational services should be lost to his native county. His numerous friends hope that due recognition will be given to Mr. Whelan's worth by the Educational Authorities of the State for no man is more qualified for the highest office than this distinguished Dungarvan young man, who has once again proved his superiority before the highest scholarly tribunal in the land. To Mr. Patrick Whelan, M.A., all honour and success.

DEPARTURE OF INVALIDS FOR LOURDES.

On Monday eight invalids left Waterford—five from the city and three from Dungarvan—for Dublin to join the National Pilgrimage to Lourdes. A big gathering of friends saw the pilgrims off at Dungarvan and also at Waterford. They left in the heat of spirits and buoyed up with fervency of deep faith in the mission they were undertaking. Sister Camillas, of the Nursing Order of St. John of God, was in charge of the invalids. Among the clergy who went were: Very Rev. Canon Premiergast, P.P., Carrick; Very Rev. P. Murphy, P.P., Clashmore; Very Rev. P. Cusack, P.P., Powerstown, and Rev. E. Hallinan, C.C., St. John's.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR IN DUNGARVAN.

On Wednesday evening His Highness Sir Saïdj Taimur Bin Faisal Bin Turkie, the Sultan of Muscat and Oman, Arabia, arrived in Dungarvan by motor, and having looked round the Square, inquired the way to Tramore where he proceeded accompanied by his friends—Col. O'Reilly, representing the Free State Government; Sir J. Theobald, A.D.C. to His Highness; and Messrs. Bertram Thomas, O.B.E., and Ernest Beare, O.B.E., of the British Hospitality Committee. His Highness, who looked mighty cheerful and happy in his Oriental robes, had the Free State flag and the Arabian flag flying from his motor and seemed to be enjoying his visit.

For all particulars see advt. elsewhere in this issue.

FIRE OUTBREAK.

On Monday morning an outbreak of fire was discovered in the corner of the flour store at the Shandon Dairy premises. The discovery was made by parties coming from a dance. The Fire Brigade was summoned and volunteers were early on the scene. The fire was extinguished in a short space of time. An old motor in the store was destroyed.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

The members of the Touraneena and Four-Mile-Water C.T.A. intend holding their annual dance at the Hall, Halfway House, on Sunday, November 4th. Full particulars later.—T. Flynn and M. Desmond, Hon. Secs.

NEW PASTORS.

Very Rev. W. J. Walsh, P.P., Abbeyside, has been appointed to the pastoral charge of Ballybricken. During his time in Abbeyside Fr. Walsh won the admiration and esteem of his parishioners, and carries with him to his new charge the prayers and best wishes of all who knew his priestly worth and appreciated his wise counsel in all things—spiritual and temporal. Very Rev. M. C. Crotty, Adm., Cathedral, has been appointed P.P. Abbeyside. Fr. Crotty is a Lismore man and one of the best known priests of the Diocese, having acted as Bishop's Secretary for many years. In his new parish of Abbeyside he will find the good, pious, honest people a pleasure to work for.

HARPER BROTHERS. 48, The Quay, WATERFORD.

Waterford Co. Committee of Agriculture.

NEXT YEAR'S SCHEMES.

MARKETING OF EGGS.

IMPORTANT SUGGESTION.

Mr. Thomas Flynn, V.C., presided at the monthly meeting of the above committee. There were also present—Messrs. John Kiersey, Chairman, County Council; P. B. Sheridan, G. J. Greene, Co. C.; John O'Donnell, Co. C.; P. R. Power, Graigavalla; John Curran and F. C. Dennehy.

Late Mr. James Draper. Mr. John O'Donnell moved—That we, the Waterford County Committee of Agriculture, beg to tender to Mrs. Draper, our esteemed secretary, Mr. John O'Dwyer, and the family and relatives of the late Mr. James Draper, Commercial Hotel, Dungarvan, our deepest sympathy in the great loss they have sustained by his early death, and that this meeting do adjourn as a token of respect to his memory when the business of adopting the annual schemes is completed.

Mr. John Curran seconded and said he was very sorry the occasion had arisen to do so. The late Mr. Draper was a most esteemed young man with great ability and intelligence and belonged to the good old stock of the town.

Mr. O'Keeffe, on behalf of the staff, begged to be associated with the resolution, and said they all deeply sympathised with Mr. O'Dwyer on the occasion. In Mr. Draper they had lost a personal friend.

Mr. Kiersey, in joining in the vote of sympathy, said the Draper family were well known and highly respected not only in their native town and county, but far beyond it.

Mr. Whelan, Department's Inspector, desired to be associated with the resolution of sympathy. The Chairman then put the resolution, which was passed in silence, all the members standing.

Mr. O'Dwyer, on behalf of the Draper family and on his own behalf, returned thanks to the members for their kind expressions of sympathy. Next Year's Schemes. Mr. Whelan, Inspector, said he would give them an idea of how their finances stood. The amount which they estimated was available for the next financial year was £4,243, which was slightly less than last year's sum. For instruction in agriculture no change was suggested and the amount was fixed at £600. For Winter Agricultural Classes £30 was set aside, and £344 for Horticulture and Beekeeping. For instruction in Poultry-keeping and Butter-making £330 was allocated. In the Poultry Station Scheme they were providing for 24 Hen and Duck Stations at £7 each, and also for four Goose Stations at a premium of £2, which was now the maximum allowed. £30 was allocated to provide houses for new Poultry Stations and £29 10s. for the purchase of pedigree male birds. They were also providing four Turkey Egg Stations from which sittings would be sold at 1s. per egg, three to constitute a sitting. The total under that scheme would be £345 as against £322 last year.

Nominations to Mares. £200 was allocated for Nominations to Mares, two-thirds of the nominations to be for farmers under £50 valuation.

Bull Premiums. £700 was allocated for cattle premiums; £148 for swine premiums; £50 as subsidies to Shows; £10 for an Educational Exhibit at Shows, and £35 for prizes in connection with the Show and Sale of registered dairy bulls, etc., at Waterford. £40 was allocated for two Agricultural Scholarships tenable at one of the Department's farms, and £80 for equipment and training of Supervisors under the Cow-Testing Schemes, as also £20 for renewals of cow-testing equipment. £75 was set aside for the provision of premiums for black-faced rams, and £70 for the provision of trees under the Shelter Belt Scheme. £15 was allocated for fruit trees, and £16 for small fruit plots.

Potato Scheme. Mr. Whelan said that Mr. O'Keeffe was anxious to encourage potato growing, and he suggested that the committee give two sets of prizes of £3 (1st), £5 (2nd), £4 (3rd) and £3 (4th) for the heaviest yields of potatoes of the main crop varieties suitable for export, and £5 prize for the best crop of the King Edward Variety. If the committee agreed to the allocation of £25 for the development of potato growing in the county it would meet the case. Chairman—How do we stand in finances after the total allocation? Mr. Whelan—The amount provisionally allocated is £3,613, which would leave you with a small amount on hand. Last year 90 nominations were given to mares, but for the coming year the number has been increased to 100.

Premium Bulls.

Mr. Greene—What are the rules that govern the holders of premium bulls? Secretary—There are two classes—those bought on behalf of Cow-Testing Associations and those bought by farmers who get premiums. The first year bulls must serve 30 cows each and not more than three cows, the property of any particular person, and in the second year they must serve 40 cows.

Mr. Greene—Is a man bound to advertise his bull? Secretary—Posters are issued to him. Mr. Greene—Is there any fee prescribed for the bull? Secretary—Yes, 2s. 6d. up to £50 and 5s. from £50 valuation to £150.

Mr. Greene—Why should these bulls be charged for at 10s. service fee? I have never seen those bulls advertised at 2s. 6d. Mr. Kiersey—I saw them advertised in the "Observer". Mr. Greene—How many is the maximum number of cows each farmer can send to such a bull? Secretary—Three. The owner's own cows are debared for premium purposes.

Mr. Greene—These rules are not adhered to. I know that 10s. is charged. Secretary—If you bring under my notice any case where 10s. is charged outside a Cow-Testing Association before 30 cows are served I will deal with it.

Mr. Power—What are the rules governing bulls belonging to Cow-Testing Associations? Secretary—It is left to the Cow-Testing Associations to fix the fee. Mr. O'Donnell—And the members have first preference and they can refuse any man who is not a member of a Cow-Testing Association.

Mr. Kiersey—Would it be possible that parties who bought these premium bulls did not know they were bound not to exceed more than 2s. 6d. fee from farmers under £50 valuation and 5s. from farmers over £50.

Secretary—There are definite instructions issued. Chairman—Is not every owner of a premium bull supplied with a form? Secretary—Yes.

Mr. O'Keeffe said for the past few years the vast majority of the bulls purchased were for Cow-Testing Associations. The number of premium bulls outside those bought for Cow-Testing Associations was very few.

Mr. Kiersey thought the amendment should come in at the other end. The man who pays £100 to £150 for a premium bull has only to get 30 half-crowns—it is not very encouraging for him to buy such a bull. He thought the figure should be changed.

Mr. Greene—If you have a rule either adhere to it or scrap it. Chairman—Do you refer to beef bulls or dairy bulls? Mr. Greene said he referred to both. The Secretary said out of 50 premium bulls in the county there were only six outside Cow-Testing Associations.

Chairman—Then it is not worth minding. Answering the Chairman, the Secretary said they got a special grant of £326 last year for bulls, but they were unable to use it.

Mr. Whelan—The special fund was to supplement the funds of the County Committee, and it was given on the distinct understanding that the allocation made by this committee should not be reduced.

As to the £10 allocated for a Department exhibit at Shows, the Chairman said it would be a great educational value. Mr. O'Keeffe said there were two sides to the case, and the view of the staff was that it was no credit to the Department or the committee or staff to stage an educational exhibit in a marquee, and Show Committees should give proper facilities for staging the exhibit, and if that were done they would stage an exhibit that would be a credit to all concerned. When an educational exhibit was not properly staged they were better without it.

Chairman—If you got the facilities would £10 be enough? Mr. O'Keeffe—it would do. Mr. Dennehy suggested that they allocate £20 for the purpose and give £10 to the Show Committees on condition they spent it on the staging of the exhibits. Mr. O'Keeffe—it is very difficult to stage them where you have not a permanent building.

Sheep Scheme. With regard to the turning down of the Border-Leicester Sheep Breeding Scheme by the Department, Mr. Whelan said the reason it was turned down was there were no sheep sales in this county. Mr. Kiersey—You have a Boar Scheme and we have no sale. Mr. O'Donnell—You must first get the sheep before you can have a sale.

Mr. Kiersey said it would be a good thing to improve the lowland sheep by introducing Border-Leicester rams. Mr. O'Keeffe said if the mountain sheep scheme was capable of further development it should be developed along the lines of getting in some ewes. In reply to Mr. Greene, Mr. Kiersey said some of the Scotch rams were well treated, but then when brought over here they were turned out on the mountain. Secretary—Those who got the rams last year applied for them again this year. Chairman—They were all very pleased with them. Mr. O'Keeffe—The chief criticism is they are not as fruitful as they should be the first year, but that is due to the way they are treated. Rams in pretty forward condition are turned out on the mountains.

Potato Scheme. Mr. O'Keeffe—My idea in suggesting a Prize Scheme is that a good deal of interest is being taken in the cultivation of potatoes for export at present, and as our methods of cultivation could be improved, the way to bring about that improvement would be to get men to produce the maximum yield. A few years ago a similar scheme had great results and excellent crops were produced.

Mr. Greene suggested that Mr. O'Keeffe deliver a series of lectures on the varieties of potatoes required in the English markets. There was no market in this country for potatoes except for feeding.

Mr. O'Keeffe—if there were 10,000 tons of potatoes for export in County Waterford we could buy them at competitive prices. You could not sell a ton or half a ton. You want organised selling. A cargo of potatoes is being shipped on Monday from here to the Bristol Channel. This year we have not been experimenting, but we know where we are now.

Mr. Sheridan said the Prize Scheme would be the way to encourage the scheme. Mr. Greene suggested that the prizes be allocated to produce the varieties that suit the English market. Kerr's Pink would not do.

Mr. Sheridan—The varieties required are already grown in the county. Mr. O'Keeffe said 100 tons of King Edward's would be shipped from Dungarvan on Monday. Arrangements have been made to open depots for the purchase of potatoes in Clonmel, Waterford and Carrick for export. If the arrangements are not completed they are well under weigh. The Prize Scheme for potatoes was approved of.

The committee also decided to drop the recommendation that all premium bulls pure-bred in the county should have passed the tuberculin test.

Mr. Sheridan said the breeders were grumbling against it as there was a danger of the animals not passing. Mr. Whelan said several counties had rejected it also as they held it restricted the sales to those who had passed the test.

The price of Poultry Station Eggs was fixed at 2s. 6d. per sitting for December and January, and 2s. for the rest of the season. On the motion of Mr. Kiersey, seconded by Mr. John O'Donnell, the agricultural schemes for the county for the coming year were adopted.

Marketing of Eggs. Mr. Greene raised the question of the marketing of eggs, and said in Co. Kilkenny it had been most successfully done, and they could do the same. It was the Poultry Instructress organised it.

Mr. Whelan—The people formed an organisation and got the Instructor to help them. Mr. Greene—Someone must be got to start it. Miss Mullins said the best way to do it was through the Co-operative Creameries.

Mr. Kiersey—I think Colonel O'Shea had something to do with the Kilkenny Scheme. Answering the Chairman, Miss Mullins said it would be a very good thing if developed. The difficulty was to get the people together.

Chairman—The only thing you can do would be to get hold of a few energetic ladies in the county. The marketing is all right, but the organisation at home is the thing. Mr. Dennehy—I think it should be done through the creameries. You can always get a market if you can guarantee the eggs are fresh, and the right way to guarantee the eggs fresh is to send them every day to the creamery.

Chairman—And even then you would not have them fresh. The best thing to do would be to form a company and have shares issued. Mr. Kiersey—It is only the creameries could take it on and make it a success.

Mr. O'Keeffe said in Knockmeal they were very successful that way. Miss Mullins—The trouble is to get the hens to lay the eggs. The Chairman, on behalf of the committee, thanked Mr. Whelan for the able manner in which he dealt with the schemes and for the trouble he had taken in the matter, and hoped he would be with them fit and well next year.

Mr. Whelan suitably replied.

YOUGHAL BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.

WAS IT SUICIDE?

The Youghal Catholic Young Men's Society have procured from Orme Bros. a beautiful silver shield, which will be put up for competition between Cobb, Cappouin, Middleton, Donegan, Mitchelstown and Youghal Societies. The draw has not yet been announced, but everything points to some very fine contests taking place between the different clubs. The shield has for some time past been on view in Mrs. J. O'Gorman's window, South Main street, and has been very much admired for its excellent workmanship. The opening round of the tournament is fixed for October 12th.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL.

Present—Messrs. J. R. Smyth, P.C., chairman; P. Kenneally, vice-chairman; J. Power, Mrs. S. Hurley, D. Dennehy, Capt. P. Dunne, E. P. Lynch, A. J. Fowkes, E. Clancy, P. J. McMahon, P.C.; D. J. Linehan, P. J. O'Gorman, P.C.; M. J. Fleming.

Horse Dies.
Mr. J. J. Walsh, M.R.C.V.S., reported that the council's roan mare died from acute colic last Monday.

Mr. Power—That will save Mr. Kenneally getting rid of her (laughter).
Mrs. Hurley—Was the horse treated properly?

The Chairman said she received the usual treatment. Was it a case of "coming events cast their shadows before?" (Laughter.) She was 12 years old.

Mr. O'Gorman—The good die young (laughter).

Scavenging by Contract.

Mr. Kenneally—Why not put up this scavenging by contract?
Chairman—There is a good deal to be said for it.

Mr. Kenneally—I propose that we do so.

Mr. McMahon—That should be by notice of motion.

Mrs. Hurley asked what about getting a motor lorry.

The Chairman said seeing that the main roads were in the hands of the County Council and that there would be no stone-breaking, he didn't think a motor lorry would pay. The matter was worth considering.

Mrs. Hurley—Would not two men do the work of the town?

Chairman—Two men would attend the lorry. We will consider it.

Mr. Kenneally then handed in notice of motion.

The Town Clerk said that question presented difficulties which the council apparently didn't see. As Local Authority they must, whether they liked it or not, continue the public health work, and must maintain a staff for the work. The question arose whether that staff would not be able to do the scavenging work as well.

Green Park Caretaker.

A letter was read from the Green Park caretaker asking the council to reconsider his position. He didn't want to shirk work, but he was engaged at the Strand lamps up to 12.15 a.m., which he suggested was unreasonable.

The Chairman said he didn't think they could go back on their decision to have him look after the Strand lighting until the automatic lamps on order arrived.

Mr. O'Gorman asked, in view of the fact that they would probably have the electric light in Youghal within 12 months, was it not strange to be installing automatic lamps?

The Chairman said they were in the air regarding the electric light. He didn't know when or how it would be in.

Replying to the Chairman, the Clerk said they could not be compelled to take in the electric light.

The council decided to adhere to their original decision on the matter.

School Meals.

A letter was read from the L.G.D. regarding certain details of the Poor Children's School Meals.

Chairman—They will soon want to know what we had for breakfast (laughter).

Central Purchase Scheme.

Mr. McMahon suggested that they invite tenders for the supply of cocoa.

Clerk—They make you buy in their Central Purchase Scheme.

Mr. O'Gorman said on a former occasion the council refused to comply with an order of the L.G. on the ground that local ratepayers should get the benefit of any money to be spent. He was opposed as strongly as ever to being compelled to purchase from a Central Scheme (hear, hear). When the council wanted money for any purpose it was not to Dublin they turned, but to the shopkeepers of Youghal. There was a lot of talk about Cork running Dublin. The real fact was that Dublin wanted to run Cork and the rest of the country (hear, hear).

The Town Clerk said they could be liable to a surcharge for any difference between the central and local prices.

Mr. O'Gorman said if the local traders came anything near the stipulated price in the list he would be in favour of giving them the preference.

Clerk—If there was only a penny difference you would be surcharged.

Chairman—They want to "Dublinize" everything.

Mrs. Hurley—Could we not refuse?

Chairman—No. This is an Act of Parliament. We are absolutely tied down.

Mr. Kenneally agreed with the other speakers but what could they do?

Chairman—We fought it out some years ago.

Haig's Legion Appeal.

A circular letter was read from Admiral Jellicoe appealing for the council's help in connection with Earl Haig's British Legion appeal.

Mr. McMahon—No politics.

The Clerk said that members could act as they pleased individually.

Chairman—Anyone who wishes to take part in the movement can do so.

Boula Head Works.

The Waterworks Visiting Committee, including Messrs. Clancy, Power, Harrington, McMahon, Chairman and the Town Clerk reported that they had found the Head Works at Boula in a very satisfactory condition. The caretaker was to be complimented on the way he looked after the place.

Mr. McMahon, as a member of the Committee, said he was pleasantly surprised at the condition of the Head Works. The filter-beds, tanks, etc., were all that could be desired. He certainly desired the thanks of the board.

Chairman—What made it all the better was that it was a surprise visit. He didn't know that we were going out.

Collection of Rates Etc.

Mrs. Hurley said she would give notice to move that all rates and taxes, gas bills and harbour dues, be collected through that office, as was being done most successfully in Kerry.

The Clerk said the business was done in Kerry under Act of Parliament. They could not break the collector's bonds, and therefore that motion could not be accepted. The offices were pensionable, and they could not abolish them in that manner. If there was a sinister object behind them that motion to deprive men of their positions it was a very serious matter.

Mrs. Hurley—A pension is not as much as a salary.

Chairman—The notice of motion you put forward is complete out of order.

The Clerk said a former board had reduced the collector's poundage during the troubled times. The collector appealed to the L.G.D. and that council were now called on to pay back the amount deducted.

Mr. Kenneally said the collector had his warrant for the coming 12 months and nothing could be done at that stage in the manner suggested.

The Chairman said a matter of that kind required careful consideration.

Mrs. Hurley—If you pension any man it would be cheaper.

Chairman—You can't do it.

Mr. O'Gorman asked why get rid of their officers if they were giving satisfaction. He had no hesitation in saying that they had a staff of officials second to none (hear, hear). It was only fair that tribute should be paid them. They had experience of what happened before when the council interfered with an official and they were lucky to get out of it so well.

Mrs. Hurley—If you can save the ratepayers £500 or £600 why not do it?

Mr. O'Gorman—There is no possible chance of doing so. You are bound by Act of Parliament and by written agreement. You have as much chance of breaking Nelson's Pillar (laughter).

Clerk—Suppose it were possible to carry out Mrs. Hurley's suggestion I would demand the same payment for collection and I would be justified in the demand.

Mrs. Hurley—Suppose you got another man to help you?

Clerk—You can get another instead of me if you like.

Chairman—The matter is ended. Go on with the business.

The Clerk said such a notice of motion was not feasible unless they got a special Act of Parliament, and that council could not pay for even one clause of an Act, not to mind an Act. The matter then dropped.

Amateur Inspectors.

Arising out of a discussion on sanitary matters.

The Chairman said the Town of Youghal compared favourably with any town he knew for cleanliness and sanitation.

Mr. Dennehy said it was ridiculous for members of the council to go around poking their noses into holes and corners searching for smells and turning themselves into amateur inspectors of Public Nuisances (laughter). They had a competent sanitary staff, and if they did not do their duty the council had the remedy in their own hands.

The Chairman said it was sheer waste of time to be trotting out at board-meetings every little complaint, real or imaginary. Those matters could be easily dealt with between meetings by the sanitary officials, the Clerk and himself.

Milk From Rural Districts.

Mr. Dennehy said he intended handing in notice of motion regarding the supervision of milk coming into town from the rural districts. As they could have seen by the proceedings of the recent Health Congress, that was a question of vital importance and should be seen to without delay.

The Chairman agreed with Mr. Dennehy as to the importance of the milk question, but they had no power over the rural areas.

The Clerk said that was a question for the Board of Public Health. The Guards could take samples of milk coming in and institute proceedings where necessary. Otherwise it should be referred to Mr. Egan, Secretary of the Board.

Noisy Roads.

Mr. Power called attention to the great noise caused by passing carts outside the Christian Brothers' Schools and also the Courthouse. It interfered seriously with the work in both institutions.

It was decided to direct the Town Superintendent to lay a coat of breeze and tar on the Square opposite the Courthouse and in Strand street outside the schools.

Dungarvan Amateur Dramatic Class.

SUCCESSFUL PERFORMANCE AT CAPPAGH.

On Sunday, 16th Sept., the members of the Dungarvan Amateur Dramatic Class gave a most finished and successful performance of that ever-green Irish drama, "Robert Emmet," in the New Hall of the recently-formed Social and Sports Club, at Cappagh, which attracted an enormous attendance, the spacious building being packed to overflowing with a most respectable and enthusiastic audience whose frequent bursts of applause showed how they appreciated the high-class performance of this really talented class.

The occasion may be said to mark the formal opening of the New Hall at Cappagh, and incidentally to give the people of the locality some idea of what a great want has been supplied by the opening of some suitable place of entertainment in their midst. The gentlemen responsible for this enterprise deserve great credit for their efforts to brighten the lives of the people of Cappagh and the surrounding districts, because previous to this there was no place available for any form of indoor sport or recreation during the long and dreary winter nights, and when the present Hall has been renovated and brought thoroughly up-to-date, then Cappagh will be one of the best equipped districts in this respect to be found in any part of West Waterford.

The members of the Dungarvan Dramatic Class had already won such a high name for themselves as amateur performers of the first water, that the people fully expected a brilliant performance on Sunday night week, and in this they were not disappointed, as the perfect manner in which the play was staged and presented left no room for adverse criticism from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

The scenery and general stage fittings were perfect in every detail, while all the uniforms and dresses of the various performers were in keeping with the dark and evil days surrounding the period of the patriotic, but ill-starred Robert Emmet in his brave but fruitless efforts to burst the shackles of English tyranny and oppression and win freedom for his native land.

The title role of "Robert Emmet" was ably filled by Mr. Peter McGrath, who looked every inch an Irish soldier and patriot, and whose acting right through his difficult part was marked with great dignity and power. Both as a patriot and lover he was equally impressive and effective, but it was by his masterly delivery of the famous speech from the dock that he showed himself to be an artist of rare talent and ability. The touching and difficult role of "Sarah Curran," Emmet's broken-hearted sweetheart, was filled with wonderful grace and beauty by Miss K. Hackett, her acting in the prison scene, when she visited Emmet to take her last farewell on the eve of his execution, being remarkably realistic and pathetic. Mr. T. Parsons as "Darby O'Gaff" and Miss M. McCarthy as "Judy O'Doherty," proved an irresistible pair or mirth makers and helped greatly to lighten the gloom which should otherwise have prevailed the drama right through. Mr. W. Sandford made a most effective Sergeant Topfall, and both in his acting and singing proved himself a most versatile artist who fully deserved the rounds of applause which he received.

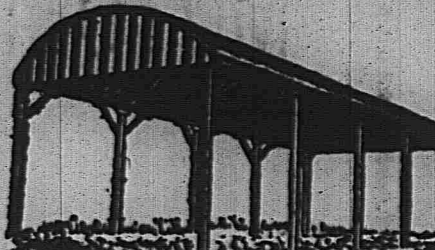

He was ably supported by Messrs. J. Hackett and J. Hayes as English soldiers of the period, both of whom also proved successful. The heavy and unpopular part of Kerman, the traitor, was ably taken by Mr. Thomas McCarthy, his betrayal of Emmet to the English soldiers being a particularly fine piece of acting. Mr. John Whelan, as "Corporal Thomas," and Messrs. John Kiely and E. Altridge, as the "United Irishmen," were also very successful, while Mr. Patrick Cullinane, as "Dowdall," Emmet's loyal and devoted friend, won many rounds of applause for the faithful and noble manner in which he stood by his ill-fated leader to the end. Mr. Michael Mullins in the sinister role of "Lord Norbury," was particularly effective during the trial scene, especially in his caustic interruptions of Emmet's speech from the dock, and the passing of the dread sentence of death.

All the minor parts were equally well sustained, and taken on the whole the performance was a great all-round success, and reflected much credit on the undoubted talent possessed by all the members of the Dungarvan Amateur Dramatic Class.

During various intervals songs were contributed by members of the Class. Mr. John Kiely (son of Mr. Eddie Kiely) scoring a great hit by his singing (in character) of Harry Lauder's famous song, "We Parted on the Shore," for which he was loudly cheered. Mr. William Standford's flexible tenor voice was also heard at its best in several popular songs which won for him rounds of applause, while all the other contributors were equally well received.

We noticed with regret, however, that one song, which would have been particularly appropriate to the drama, was omitted by the various singers, inadvertently, no doubt, we refer to Thomas Moore's plaintive melody, "She is Far from the Land," which was specially written round the lives of Robert Emmet and Sarah Curran, and we hope the Class will arrange to have this included in future, as nothing more beautiful or touching has ever been written.

Kilmacthomas News

Prior to her departure to the U.S.A., on a recent date, Miss Mary Ellen Crotty (elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crotty, Leamybrien) was made the recipient of a handsome presentation from her colleagues of the local Ladies' Cycling Club. Miss Crotty is a young lady of considerable charm, whose light and cheery manner had made her a warm favourite with all who knew her hereabouts. We join with the numerous friends in wishing her every good luck, success and happiness in the land of her adoption.

WEDDING AT STRADBALLY.

On Wednesday week, at Stradbally parish church, the wedding was solemnised with Nuptial Mass, of Guard James Barry, of the Kilmacthomas Gardi Station, to Miss Josephine Connors, daughter of Mrs. Connors, Garahalese, Kilmacthomas. The happy ceremony was performed by Very Rev. John Lennon, P.P., Stradbally, assisted by Rev. Wm. Burke, C.C., do. Guard David Barry, Dungarvan, was best man, and the bride was attended by her sister, Miss B. Connors. Both the bride and bridegroom are general favourites in these parts. We heartily wish them many years of conjugal bliss.

OBITUARY.

The death occurred on Thursday week, at her residence at Ballynabogue, Kilmacthomas, of Mrs. O'Brien, relict of the late Mr. Patrick O'Brien. The deceased lady, who had gained the fine old age of 85 years, had been in indifferent health for some time prior to the end; and she breathed her last fully fortified by the final consoling ministrations of the Mother Church, of which she was always a devoted daughter. The possessor of many sterling traits of character, ever hospitable and charitable, she was held in the highest esteem by all whose pleasure it was to have known her. Much sympathy will be felt with her daughter, Mrs. O'Rourke, Seafield, as well as with her universally popular nephew, Mr. John Walsh, Ballynabogue, and the other relatives in their sad bereavement. On the afternoon of Friday of last week the remains were removed to Ballylancan Parish Church, and were accompanied by an extremely large cortege. Requiem High Mass was celebrated for the welfare of her soul on the following morning. Rev. William Burke, C.C., Stradbally, was celebrant of the Mass, and the other priests in attendance were: Very Rev. John Lennon, P.P., Stradbally; Very Rev. William Keogh, P.P., Killossanty; Rev. H. O'Brien, C.C., Fews, and Rev. T. O'Shea, C.C., Stradbally. The interment subsequently took place in the adjoining graveyard, in the presence of a large gathering of mourners and friends. May she rest in peace.

LAST SUNDAY'S G.A.A. GAMES.

At Kill venue, Newtown and Gaultier met in the semi-final East Waterford Division—football, junior grade. A thrilling tussle terminated in favour of the Gaultier group by the narrowest possible margin. The final scores were: Gaultier, 23; Newtown, 22. A large crowd witnessed the contest. The winners will next engage with Kill, in the County penultimate, 1928.

Kilmacthomas, 92; Mahon Bridge, 0. This was the result of a re-play challenge between the minor hurling fifteens of the districts named. The Mahon Bridge gorseons are new to the game as yet, but by sticking assiduously to their sticks, and taking part in as many matches as they can, they will speedily become ripened in experience and prove themselves a team to be reckoned with ere many more moons will have burned out. We are pleased to note that Rev. H. O'Brien, C.C., Fews is actively interesting himself in the noble work of fostering the national pastime in his area.

Erin's Own senior and junior caman sets won over O'Rourke's and Windgag, respectively, at the City sportsfield. The champions had it purty easy in their bout; but their second string just happened to notch a point victory over the Windgag lads after a great battle.

FIRE.

An outbreak of fire (the origination of which is unknown) reduced to ashes a rick of rushes in the haggard of Mr. John Crotty, Leamybrien, on Sunday last. Mr. Crotty, and his family were returning from the late Mass at Killossanty, when they noticed dense volumes of smoke issuing from the haggard, which is adjacent to the dwelling-house and out-offices. Assistance was immediately forthcoming, and thanks to the prompt action of Sergt. Cully and Guards Park and Murray, of the local station, assisted by Mr. John Driscoll and other civilians, the fire was prevented from spreading to the buildings, and causing damage of a more serious and extensive nature than, happily, was enacted. Only for the splendid services rendered by the helpers who rushed to the scene, Mr. Crotty's hayshed and its valuable contents would of a certainty have been destroyed.

KILMACTHOMAS PIG MARKET.

This market was again well supplied this week, 141 pigs being weighed and paid for. Mr. E. Hill, buying for H. Denny and Son, Waterford, weighed and paid for 71 pigs. The Irish

YOUGHAL NOTES.

MATRIMONY.

The interesting subject of matrimony has been very much on the local tapis for the past week. It was set on foot by the fact that a well-known local tradesman—a widower—took it into his head to alter his condition once again. There was nothing very extraordinary about this movement on his part, except that from the gossiper's point of view he had got somewhat beyond his prime. Forthwith they started to marry all and sundry, a good many of them preaching what they feared to practise. One cynic went as far to say of them that it was largely a case of "sour grapes." Another expressed the opinion that their friend had set a good example to many of the other lonely old widowers in the neighbourhood, and put to shame the numerous young bachelors, who for a long time have been shivering on the brink, afraid to make the plunge from financial or other selfish reasons. Let us hope that the example set by our friend will have a widely wholesome effect in bringing those waverers to the scratch.

RUGBY.

The local Club, which was started last season, is again getting things under way for the new season. Although a young Club in every way, the progress made last year was very promising, and it appears as if it will forge further ahead as this season passes. They are quite a new team, but a team of the right sort, possessing plenty of enthusiasm and the will to do their best. The weekly practices are well attended, which shows the liking of the Club last year was not like one of those famous "South Sea Bubbles," which have been prevalent enough in different forms in the past. The first game takes place shortly when Middleton will oppose them in a friendly. We wish them success in this and every contest they will engage in.

TECHNICAL CLASSES.

The local evening Technical Classes made a start this week with a very satisfactory opening. A large number of students registered for the coming Session in all the classes—some of them being already over-registered—and it looks as if a record will be easily reached. Next week when the days will be shortened by the putting back of the clock a whole hour, in addition to the natural cutting, and the nights begin to lengthen and become cold or wet and dreary, it will prove a highly comfortable and profitable way to put down a few hours improving one's knowledge in various practical and useful branches of knowledge. Those of our youth who wish and will to prepare themselves fully for the future battle of life cannot do better than "join up" the Technical Classes right on the spot, remembering that the proverb "delays are dangerous" applies in a striking manner in the matter.

CATTLE STEALING.

Two arrests were made this week in connection with the disappearance of seven head of cattle, the property of farmers in the adjoining district of West Waterford. On Friday evening Wm. O'Brien, North Main street, was brought before Mr. P. J. O'Gorman, P.C. charged with stealing them. On the following evening Ed. O'Brien, Strancally, Co. Waterford, was brought in by the Civic Guards charged with conspiring with W. O'Brien in the larceny. They were both remanded in custody to next District Court.
