

DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

The weekly meeting of the above was held in the Town Hall on Friday last. Mr. M. Brennock, chairman, presided. Also present were—Messrs. J. F. Moloney, M. Clancy, Wm. O'Donnell, Jas. Hackett, Jas. McEvoy, J. Butler, Mce. Griffin, T. Power, B. Dee, T. McCarthy, M. J. Keane and J. Curran.

Expenditure. The pay sheets for the week were as follows:—General account, £9 8s.; grant, £56 15s.

The Clerk said they were awaiting the final instalment of the grant, and they had not enough money in that account to pay the men this week.

Sewers. A discussion took place regarding a sewer which was passing by the door of Mr. Hackett's houses at Blackpool and was causing a nuisance.

The matter was referred to the S.S.O. to deal with.

Mr. Griffin said there was another sewer opposite Mr. Gerald Crotty's, Abbeyside, and it was in the same condition.

Mr. Power said the County Council broke that when they were rolling the road, and the foreman (Mr. Brown) promised to repair it, but it was not done since. He said the County Council should be asked to repair it.

The S.S.O., in answer to a Member, said he was of opinion it was a private sewer and belonged to Mr. Crotty himself. He thought it was Mr. Crotty should repair it.

Chairman—Our duty is to see that it isn't causing a nuisance, and if it is we must get that nuisance abated by whoever is responsible.

Mr. Power—The County Council are responsible for the road and it should be their duty to do it.

Chairman—The law in these sewer cases is very technical. You might have to see Mr. Williams before you could know that.

Mr. Power—He was often seen on less important matters.

Mr. Butler said the Chairman had stated the case very clearly. It was only our duty to see that a nuisance does not exist.

The council referred the matter to Mr. Walsh, S.S.O., and instructed him to serve notice on the owner.

Removing Shingle. The following letter was read from the Ministry of Industry and Commerce:—"I am directed by the Minister for Industry and Commerce to state that an application has been received from Mr. J. F. Moloney, Priory House, Dungarvan, for the making of an Order under Section 14 of the Harbours Act, 1814, to prohibit the removal of any shingle or ballast from the shores or banks of the sea from a point commencing at the Causeway Railway Crossing at Abbeyside and extending by the Parish of Abbeyside to the railway line at Skeharinge. The application is at present under the consideration of the Department, and before coming to a final decision in the matter the Department would be glad to be favoured with any views which your council may wish to offer in the matter."

Mr. Keane—I suggest we inform the Department that we approve of the matter, as it is only a safeguard for our own property. It will be a protection for the sea wall.

Mr. Butler—I suggest we ask the Department what the order would entail before we approve or otherwise.

Chairman—It gives Mr. Moloney power to prevent anyone removing shingle.

Mr. Griffin asked if the order would interfere with a person who wanted to put up shelters, etc., there?

Chairman—That is a different matter.

Mr. Moloney, in reply to Mr. O'Donnell, said all the land owners there wanted the order.

Mr. O'Donnell—I have that order made regarding my own place.

Mr. Clancy said they were all agreed as regards the taking of the shingle; that should be stopped. He wanted to know if it would interfere, say, if we want to make a bathing place there?

Mr. Moloney—It is only the usual order such as apply at Clonea at present. Some such order was wanted as you could see sand and gravel coming up to your own works from the foreshore there.

Mr. Butler—All I want to see is the order. It would have my whole-hearted support as regards the removal of sand.

Mr. Keane—Have not this council time out of number asked the S.S.O. to prosecute these taking it?

Mr. Clancy—I would ask the council to agree with Mr. Butler's suggestion. No member will object to stopping the removal of sand if that is all in the order.

Mr. Butler's suggestion was then agreed to.

School Meals. The following letter was read:—"With reference to your letter of the 4th inst. relative to the School Meals Scheme in Dungarvan Urban District, I am directed by the Minister for L.G. and Public Health to point out that substantial economies have resulted from obtaining by means of contracts or through the Central Purchasing System the commodities required in connection with school meals, and I am to request that the matter may be considered by the School Meals Committee in the urban district."

Mr. O'Donnell—Is the committee in being at all now? Clerk—Yes, but they did not function during the summer months.

Chairman—We should appoint a small committee.

Mr. Keane—Did the old committee go out of office after the election?

Chairman—Not if they are satisfied to stay on.

Destruction to Bathing Boxes. The Park Caretaker reported that four of the bathing boxes were broken on last Wednesday night.

Chairman—Were the Guards notified? S.S.O.—Yes.

Mr. Keane said the council should not allow such a thing to happen. Such conduct should not be tolerated.

Mr. Curran—How will you prevent it? How will the delinquents be caught?

Mr. Keane—We can urge the Guards and help them in every way to catch them. He thought if the S.S.O. had an electric torch it would be a great aid to him in trying to catch the delinquents.

The council decided to supply the S.S.O. with a torch.

Light at Abbeyside. Mr. Power asked if any further steps were taken regarding the erection of the light at King street.

S.S.O.—The lamp on the Square was not lighting with two nights and I am of opinion it could be done without cost.

Mr. Keane—I think so, too.

Chairman—I would not think so. Mr. Walsh drew my attention to it last night.

Mr. Butler—Had he to draw your attention to it before you noticed it was out? (Laughter.) I thought it could very easily be done without.

Mr. Keane—Was there a more powerful lamp put on the weigh-house?

S.S.O.—No; that was not changed.

Mr. Keane—If a more powerful lamp was put on the weigh-house it could easily be spared.

Chairman—Is the light out to-night? S.S.O.—Yes.

Chairman—We can all see it so.

Mr. Power—It will not cost so very much.

Chairman—Only £5 10s.

Mr. Power—What is the good of coming here when orders made were not carried out? They were promised that stones would be put out on the Abbeyside road some time ago, but they didn't see them there yet.

Mr. Keane—There is a lot in what Mr. Power says.

Chairman—We are going away from the light question.

Mr. Butler—We can see if the light can be spared on the Square to-night.

Mr. Power—Yes. We will see it to-night and it will come up again this night week and then it will take another week to put up. If an accident occur there the council should be prepared to pay.

Mr. Curran proposed that the council erect the pole and let the company wire it and put up a light.

Mr. Clancy—At a cost of £9 10s.

Mr. Curran—That is not much when there are hundreds flying around.

Mr. O'Donnell—I will vote for that when Mr. Curran is getting so liberal.

Chairman—Any amendment to Mr. Curran's proposition?

Mr. Butler—I believe the Square can do without that light, and I propose that it be transferred to Abbeyside.

Abbeyside Footpath. On the suggestion of Mr. Griffin, the council decided to issue tenders for the footpath at Abbeyside.

Oilcoat. An application for an oilcoat from Thos. Egan, scavenger, was granted.

The Quay. Mr. Butler asked if there was any report from the Harbour-master?

Harbour-master—No, not to-night.

Mr. Butler asked what about the cleaning of the berths—would it require to be done?

Mr. Keane asked was there any demand from the shipping merchants to have it done? When it was being done before it cost too much and there was so little work done that we stopped it.

Harbour-master—When we were doing it before the owners of the "Cargan" and "Lady Belle" were very interested in the work.

Mr. Moloney—I suggest writing to those interested for their opinion.

Clerk—There is not enough money in the harbour account to do anything at present. The harbour account owe the general account £190 for lighting, etc. There is also two half-yearly instalments to be paid on the loan of £1,500. The half-yearly instalment is £50 with interest about £30. Then there is law costs to Mr. Williams approximately £70, and the balance of an account to Mr. John Crotty, Square. At present there was only £50 odd in the harbour account.

the Harbour-master that it is required.

Chairman—We should pay off some of our debts first. Where is the use in going spending money when we have not enough to pay the men to-night?

Mr. Keane said if they could transfer that £190 to the general account it would put the Main street, which is a proper disgrace, in order now.

Mr. Griffin—My point is why isn't this harbour put forward for development under this scheme?

Chairman—It would be very good if it could be managed.

Mitchel Street Scheme. Chairman—Regarding the Mitchel street scheme, he would like to know if the council intended to take any action.

Mr. Keane—I would like to hear the Borough Surveyor first.

Borough Surveyor—I have nothing to say. The meeting with so much rock in the cut is the cause of the trouble.

Mr. Power—How long more will the Dungarvan Urban Council be on the rocks?

Borough Surveyor—They are on the rocks with 50 years.

Mr. Keane—But we should get some estimate.

Borough Surveyor—I would give a correct estimate if we had clay only to deal with. We had rain the other night and it cost the council £10 as the bank slipped in.

Mr. Moloney—How much of the work is done?

Borough Surveyor—There are four sections out of eight done.

Chairman—Is the half of it done? Borough Surveyor—Not exactly half. He would like the members of the council to see it.

Chairman—The Borough Surveyor may be right. I think the council should ask the Department to send down an engineer and let him see for himself why it could not be finished within the estimate.

Mr. O'Donnell—That is a good idea. If we could get a further grant.

Mr. Clancy said nothing could be done unless to drop some other scheme.

Several Members opposed dropping any scheme.

Mr. Butler—Let the Chairman draw up a resolution on this point.

The Chairman then proposed, and Mr. O'Donnell seconded, the following resolution, which was passed unanimously:—"That in view of the big difficulty met with by the Borough Surveyor in excavations of rock for Mitchel St. sewer, we respectfully request an increased grant to cover the extra expenditure incurred. That we would deem it a favour if the Department would send down their engineer to see for himself the position of the work, the matter being very urgent."

Mr. Keane—We should send up a statement of how we stand and urge them to send down a man at once.

The Clerk was directed to send up a statement to the Department.

Flooring. A discussion took place on the order made at last meeting re the flooring of Mr. Thornton's house at Abbeyside.

The Clerk was directed to get quotations for red deal and pitch pine.

Acknowledgments. The following letters of thanks were read from Mrs. J. R. Dover and Mr. J. A. Cartwright, respectively:—"I wish to thank you sincerely for your kind expression of sympathy in my recent sad bereavement."

Please accept my sincere thanks for your more than kind message of sympathy on the death of my uncle.

INTERESTING BILLIARDS MATCH. Mr. Broderick, of Youghal, a well-known modern exponent of the game of billiards, and our veteran cueist, Mr. E. Keohan, "crossed sticks" in a very interesting match at the National and Commercial Club Rooms, St. Mary's street, on Friday night last.

The Club was packed with many lovers of the game, who followed the progress of the match with absorbing interest.

Early in the game Mr. Broderick manifested that he deserves the reputation he holds in his native town as a keen manipulator of the "ivories," whilst Mr. Keohan, not playing perhaps with his usual confidence, clearly demonstrated that his modus operandi of the game was not a lost art.

After a few visits to the table the "Grand Old Man" seemed to have the measure of his younger opponent, which resulted in better control of the balls and keener accuracy of striking.

As a practical lesson on strategy and safety tactics, no finer exhibition has been given in the town for some time. Mr. Broderick appeared non-plussed at the absolute safety of the "jeu" that presented itself to him on several occasions, and it is no exaggeration to state that an Inman or a Newman would find themselves somewhat bewildered under similar circumstances.

Mr. Broderick's play was spectacular at times, but I venture to say that the unceasing and relentless tenacity of Mr. Keohan is a factor which should commend itself not alone to his worthy opponent, but to the "pick-up" of learning's crumb" from the billiard table. Mr. Keohan won by 50 points in a 200 game. The following quotation seems apposite: His style of play was as remarkable as his power of execution. He had no affectation, no trifling. He did not throw away the game to show off an attitude, or try an experiment. He was a fine sensible player, who did what he could."

Waterford County Board of Public Health.

CAPPOQUIN WATER SUPPLY. COTTAGE RENTS.

The monthly meeting of the above was held on Saturday in the Court-house, Dungarvan. Mr. Patk. O'Gorman, chairman, presided. Also present were—Messrs. G. J. Greene, J. O'Donnell, D. Heskin, M. Brennock, M. Curran and Wm. Stack.

Cappoquin Water Supply. Mr. Brennock drew attention to the shortage of water at Mass lane, Cappoquin, and asked if the engineer had sent a report of his recent inspection accompanied by the members of the board.

Secretary—Yes, there is a report from Mr. Spreadboro' in which he states—(1) There is an accumulation of silt in the storage tank, which should be removed. (2) A pair of fine screens to be inserted at the head works. (3) The trees around the weir to be removed to prevent decaying leaves getting into the reservoir. (4) That the pipe in Mass lane be taken up and inspected. He also reported that there was a stop-cock in the avenue to Cappoquin House of which the caretaker knew nothing and where you can cut off the supply to the town while the tanks at Cappoquin House are filling. Those tanks hold about 6,000 gallons.

Mr. Brennock—The pipe in Mass lane should be taken up as it must be corroded, and if necessary to put in a new pipe.

This matter was referred to the engineer to examine the pipe, and if it was in a bad condition to replace it with a new pipe. The remainder of the report was adjourned to next meeting.

Labourers' Cottages. Mr. O'Gorman, solicitor to the board, appeared before the meeting and answered questions from the members regarding the law governing the tenancy of cottages under the Labourers Act.

Mr. Greene called attention to the scarcity of cottages for genuine labourers and said he knew one case where a man was tenant of a cottage. He had three sons married and the three of them with their wives were all living with their father in the one cottage. There was a cottage at Ballynacorra held by a woman named Walsh, who had about six acres of land. This woman, he understood, was a housekeeper and did not live in the cottage. He understood there was not a fire lighted there for years. He also knew another cottage at Billa, the tenant of which had about three acres of land.

Mr. O'Gorman, Solr.—Those people are not entitled to be tenants, and according to the Act the board can terminate the tenancy by giving one week's notice in writing.

Mr. Greene—I propose that the tenancies of those two cottages be terminated. There were too many young men with wives who had no house to live in. Those parties are acting in a kind of dog-in-the-manger manner.

Chairman—I will second the proposition.

The proposition was passed.

Mr. Greene asked would the midwife for that district be eligible as a tenant. She was very badly off for a house.

Mr. Curran—That is a most deserving case.

Mr. O'Gorman—No. She could not be a tenant under the Act.

Mr. Brennock drew attention to the case of a woman who was a tenant of a cottage. She got married and transferred the cottage to her husband. Her husband deserted her three years ago. That woman was still in the cottage with her two children, and he thought the board should transfer the cottage to her again. He proposed that the tenancy be taken from that man and given to his wife.

Mr. Curran seconded the proposition, which was passed.

Analyst's Report. The report of the analyst on the water sent from the Ardmore supply was read, and stated it was fit for human use. The sample sent from the Curragh pump, Ardmore, was contaminated and unfit for human use.

The Secretary stated that on receipt of the report he sent out notices re the Curragh pump.

Cottage Rents. Arising out of a list of arrears of cottage rents read by the Secretary, the board made an order to have proceedings taken to terminate the tenancies unless the arrears are paid off forthwith.

Travelling Expenses. An application was read from Mr. Spreadboro', engineer, asking the board to allow him travelling expenses and giving a summary of the size of his area and the amount of mileage.

Mr. Greene—What is his salary at present? Secretary—£200.

Mr. Greene—This will require notice of motion. I will hand in notice of motion. That does not say I am in favour of it, but the matter can be discussed.

Mr. Heskin—We all know Mr. Spreadboro' have a very large area and had a lot of arrears of work when he was appointed.

Chairman—You would not require notice of motion to grant travelling allowance. You can grant them subject to sanction of the Department.

Mr. Heskin—I would like to know

SUNDAY SERVICE—Dungarvan Dept. 11.30 a.m. and 9.30 p.m.

Please cut out and keep for reference.

what Mr. Spreadboro' would think fair?

Chairman—If Mr. Spreadboro' must have a car every day he is out it would mean a very big amount. He has £200 a year, but any little boy in an office would have that amount.

In answer to Mr. Heskin, Mr. Spreadboro' said his travelling expenses averaged £8 a month.

Mr. Heskin—I will move that he get £7 a month travelling expenses. Mr. Greene seconded.

The proposition was then passed subject to the sanction of the Department.

Compensation. A letter was read from Mr. Cahill, Tramway, asking compensation for damage done to his house and loss of time by the flooding of his house from a burst water pipe, the water overflowing through the wall.

Chairman—Isn't he a member of the committee there and had he got the power to have the leak repaired at once?

The application was refused.

Water Supply. An application was read from the residents of Knockenpower, Ring, asking the board to run a pipe from a well in Mrs. O'Brien's land to the village—a distance of about 150 yards.

Mr. Curran—These parties are prepared to pay a substantial rate if they get this done. The well is only about 150 yards away.

Chairman—That is not very far to go for water.

Mr. Curran—But they have no right of way there.

Mr. Heskin—Then would we have a right of way?

Mr. Curran—It could be got.

Secretary—That would mean preparing a scheme.

Mr. Curran—What would that cost? Chairman—A few hundred pounds. There are people in my district who have to go half a mile and a mile for water.

No action was taken on the matter.

Tallow Flooding. A letter was read from the Rev. Mr. Camber, Rector, Tallow, stating that the parties had given permission to enter their land for the purpose of cleaning the bed of the stream at Tallow so as to prevent any further flooding. He also complained of the delay in having the work started.

Ballynacourty Water Extension. The tender of Mr. Wm. Power, Mary street, Dungarvan, for the sum of £18 7s. 6d. was accepted for the above extension. The engineer's estimate was £25.

MOTOR CYCLE SAMARITAN.

On Saturday evening last as Wm. McLean, Elizabeth Terrace, Albert road, Cork, was motor cycling from Dungarvan to Youghal, he passed a man lying on the road near the Grange Creamery. Fearing that he had been the victim of an accident, Mr. McLean turned back to inquire, but the man was unable to give any explanation beyond pointing to his stomach, on which on examination he found the marks of an old wound, from the effects of which he had collapsed. McLean procured assistance from a neighbouring cottage and tried to get a car to bring him to town, but failed. There was therefore nothing for it but to put him into the side-car, prop him up as well as possible, and drive him to the Cottage Hospital at Youghal.

When he recovered consciousness he gave his name as James Everett and said that he had been on the road from Tralee to Dublin, when he was taken bad. He afterwards sufficiently recovered to leave the hospital. Were it not for McLean's kind and prompt assistance the consequences might have been very serious.

WATERFORD COUNTY HOSPITAL.

COMPLAINT OF INSUFFICIENT MEDICAL STAFF.

The extraordinary fact of one doctor being in charge of 175 patients at Waterford County Hospital was revealed in a discussion which took place at Waterford County Hospital Committee meeting.

The question was raised by Alderman Wm. Jones, who said that in his time as member of the old Board of Guardians two doctors, both very able men, were employed in the institution. Since the passing of the amalgamation scheme the Local Government, for some reason or another, thought it wise to appoint only one doctor at a double salary for the hospital. That was not right, humane or proper. He could not understand why any public department should sanction such an arrangement, especially since the old Local Government Board would not do so. He did not see how one doctor could cover such an enormous amount of work. It was most essential they should have two doctors.

The Chairman (Mrs. White) said the question of appointing two doctors had already been put before the Department, but meantime the Public Health Bill had come before the Dail. That Bill had not yet been passed and the Committee's request had been deferred pending re-arrangement of the entire hospital scheme.

Ald. Jones—How long ago is that? Chairman—I think it is 3 years ago.

Ald. Jones—That is not fair to the public, who are paying for the poor, who cannot complain. I think it is only right we should enter a strong protest. He put the blame on the present Local Government Department. If the Department had told them they were acting from an economic point of view he could understand their attitude had they retained one doctor at one salary, but they were paying the present doctor two salaries. The present doctor was most painstaking and efficient, but he could not cater for such a large number of patients.

Councillor Connolly said when they brought pressure to bear on the Department in connection with this question they were informed that until the auxiliary home would be set up in Waterford there would be no change in the medical or nursing staff. He did not see how the committee could get over that. He suggested that the Department be urged to expedite the setting up of the auxiliary home, as was set out in the Poor Law Commission report.

Ald. Jones—Surely you don't approve setting up an auxiliary home in preference to the appointment of a second doctor? Are you satisfied to wait until the home is set up before you get another doctor? I don't think you are.

Councillor Connolly said he always favoured the setting up of the auxiliary home, and it was their duty to press on the Department to set it up immediately, and so get rid of the whole difficulty.

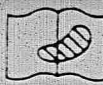

Ald. Jones—I am of opinion that a second doctor is more essential than your auxiliary home.

It was decided that the matter be referred to the County Board of Public Assistance for immediate action.

HOCKEY.

We notice that Lismore Mixed Hockey Club have made a start at practice, and the ladies have outnumbered the gentlemen. Mr. V. Noonan is captain of the "Men's XI," and it would be well if he could get his team into action early. Unless eight teams enter we will not have a Bolster Cup contest this season, and the final for last year's Cup Competition is arranged for December 26th at Lismore.

JOTTINGS FROM THE LOG OF A YOUGHAL MAN.

By L. R.

In the Bay of Bengal.

Tuesday—This afternoon when leaning over the side of the ship chatting to Lord H— he said: "What part of Scotland do you come from?" There was nothing in the conversation which lead up to this, and I was taken aback by his query, as, hitherto, I have not been mistaken for Scotch—but I was even more taken aback by his reply when I told him I was not Scotch, but Irish. He said: "Oh, they're all the same." All the same! I like that!
I cannot say I know the Scotch very well, but from what I hear, "flawlessness" does not appear to be a strong point with them. Many stories point to this. Here are just a couple I heard recently: An Aberdeen butcher wanted a blind to keep the sun from his meat, so he put a collecting box on his counter and wrote on it, "For the blind." Of course the charitable quickly filled the box.
A Scot when crossing the street dropped a sixpenny bit. He spent more than two hours looking for it, and then went off and had his dinner. After dinner he returned to renew the search—but during his absence workmen had come and were digging up the road to repair a gas pipe. He stood watching them digging for ten minutes or so and then said: "Never mind, boys; I'll do without it."

But what do you think of the Scotchman who went out in his back yard on Christmas Eve and fired a revolver—and then went in and told his little children Santa Claus had just been shot dead?
Irish and Scotch—all the same!
But talking of Peers—I regret to say all our passengers are not members of the aristocracy. The fact is we carry a very "mixed bag."
Here's just a sample or two—Last voyage we embarked at Calcutta one T—, a passenger for London. His father was a Jew who made bags of money in the East End of London. At length, worn out by hard work, he died. And the son is now living a life of ease and luxury on the fortune the old man made. He is a handsome man of powerful build, about 45 years of age, with unmistakable, but not aggressively, Jewish features. But no amount of good looks nor fine physique could atone for his manner and ways, and he soon became unpopular amongst the other passengers. He was always boasting and "bucking" about all he had done, and all he could do, and especially about his many victories as an amateur boxer. Moreover, he had an eye out for the fair sex, and soon spotted a young lady for his attentions. She was a "Ward in Chancery," touring the world with a lady companion, and like T—, she, too, had bags of money. She was a charming girl, but had one failing—was fairly common amongst young ladies years ago, but now seems to be replaced by hockey; that is, she was fond of "airing" her voice. She was remarkably tall, with long, thin legs, slightly knock-kneed like a canary's; just the sort you'd imagine should sing beautifully—still she had no voice to speak of.

However, her efforts at singing were not sufficient to put off T—, and he pressed his attentions on her. But, though she snubbed him several times, her snubs were to him no more than water on a duck's back—but just then his attentions were attracted in another direction. At Colombo an American and his wife joined us. He was young and of very tall, athletic build. His clothes were of typical American cut; he had a typical American cut lower jaw, and in fact was in every way typically American. His wife was a great contrast. Of rather petite, antipon build, she had the most wonderful pair of soft scintillating eyes imaginable, partly concealed behind long curving lashes of liquid lustre, refined manners and English accent. They sat at my table in the saloon. There was scarcely a meal at which he did not somehow or other twist the conversation into "How we won the war." (That is, of course, how the Americans won it.)
Surrounded as he was by English, needless to say, they were furious, especially one lady who sat opposite him. At night she usually dressed in a black evening dress; she would get white with rage when the Yank would start off, and all the more so, as he always seemed so absolutely unperturbed. Her black dress contrasting prettily with the palor of her face, and the red patches on her lips where she bit them in vexation.

In the meantime T— had turned his attentions from the "Ward in Chancery" to the pretty wife of the Yank. Though the description "bumptious boulder" would I think best describe T—, still I think his flirtations were of the innocent variety. That is, he simply wanted to tell pretty ladies about all the great things he had done in his lifetime, and about all the chaps he had knocked out in the Ring—how some of them were still flinping round with poultices to their jaws, and tell them—well, you know the sort of stuff young ladies so readily absorb, and soon come to regard you as their "dream-man."

But the Yank was leaving nothing to chance, and he told T— more than once, in an offensive way, in the presence of others, he was not to sit with his wife.

A more truculent-looking chap than the Yank it would be hard to meet—so much so 9 men out of 10 would steer clear after such plain warnings. But not so T—

One evening after dinner he was sitting alongside the lady about the middle of the hurricane deck when the husband passed along, and without stopping made some remark. T— got up and followed and overtook him just outside the smoke room door. The foregoing preliminaries I did not see nor hear as I was in the smoke room. But we heard the angry words outside the smoke room door, quickly followed by a scuffle. We all jumped up immediately and ran to the door, but so great was the crush we jammed and could not get out for some time. When we did get out we saw the two rolling in the scuppers in "rough and tumble" deadly combat, with the Yank on top. Ladies were shrieking. Standing over the two was the lady in black; she had a small deck chair, and holding it by a leg in each hand, she was belabouring the Yank with it for all she was worth. We thought she would kill him. She was not saying a word—but it was easy to picture what she was muttering to herself: "Revenge is sweet! I'll teach you who won the war!"
When we separated them and got them up they presented a sorry spectacle, with their dress-shirts and collars torn open and smeared with blood. Poor T—'s head was in a horrible condition—bruised, battered and barked, and it looked even worse next day. Moreover, he felt his appearance acutely, because, after all his "bucking," he was, of course, the one who should have come out unscathed—whereas, mirabile dictu! the Yank had nothing to show, or rather, he had his marks, too. But they were not thrust before one like those of T—

Needless to say the incident caused much excitement, and provided fuel for subsequent gossip—but there was no "taking sides," nor "backing," nor sympathy with one or the other, as both were thoroughly unpopular before the fight took place. But, curiously enough, it was the poor lady in black who came worst out of it, as all the ladies were down on her for the part she took—so much so that several "cut" her.

Next morning the captain had the two heroes up before him. He told them briefly and dryly he was not going to investigate the matter, and told them if there was a repetition he would not investigate it, but would put them both "in irons" immediately, and put the ship into Aden or Port Sudan, whichever was nearest, and land them.

A few days after this the Yank came running to the captain, and asked him to come down to his cabin. The captain asked what for, but the Yank said he'd like he came and saw for himself. On the captain going down he saw a suit case burst open and the contents strewn around.

The Yank said it had been done in less than 10 minutes he was away and over 400 dollars taken.
But somehow the captain was a trifle suspicious. Still the Yank had a thoroughly plausible and satisfying way of saying things. One reason why he was suspicious was because there was already a rumour going round that the Yank was "down and out." It was known he had come aboard with about £30 in his pocket; and no doubt he was calculating on doubling this amount by gambling—but the opposite happened, and he lost it all on board. Besides this, he owed a bar account of about £12 in the smoke room. So it would seem it was just about time he had a robbery in his cabin. But as I said he had the gift of the gab, and swore he'd do this and that, and he kicked up quite a shind over his "loss"; still when asked he would not cast suspicion on anybody—not even his cabin steward.

He now asked the captain to wireless his New York bank for money. As the cost of such a "wire" would be about £3, the captain hesitated. But the Yank said if he did not do so he could not possibly settle his bar account. So the captain sent the wireless. No sooner had he done so than the Yank went amongst the passengers "telling them the wire had been sent.
The "cheap" cunning of the chap is now obvious: First, he has the captain in a dilemma in that he does not want to send an expensive wire—yet he knows if he does not, the bar account will not be settled. Then, having got the captain to send the wire, he immediately goes amongst the passengers before there is time for an answer to be received, and speciously tells how the captain has just sent off a wireless costing £3 for money to be wired to Port Said—and then promptly and bluntly asks for a pound or two to go on with until the money arrives, and as an inducement promises to stand a lunch ashore at Port Said. The object of the passengers being told about the expensive wire is, of course, to establish confidence—as they would infer the captain would not go to such expense unless he was satisfied he was dealing with a man of substance. He actually came to my cabin, and having spun his yarn, bluntly asked for £3—but there was "nothing doing." However, he collected a few pounds amongst the passengers in a short time—so short, indeed, that he had just raked it in before the reply came from the bank "no account." He was furious at this, and said it was quite true he had no account with the headquarters of the bank, but it was the duty of the bank to refer to their branch at Cincinnati. A wireless was then sent direct to Cincinnati, but to this no reply at all was received. Another £3 gone bang!

The robbery stunt, of course, fizzled out—and eventually he was put ashore at Port Said.

We subsequently heard that (although his none too savoury record on board ship had accompanied him ashore) he succeeded in "doing" people, and in a short time was expelled from Port Said as an "undesirable." On the voyage to New York he made things hum on board ship, and as a result arrived in that port "in irons."

For sheer effrontery, "bounce" and bluntness, I should think he would be hard to beat. Not that bluntness is a disadvantage in America—on the contrary, they seem rather to pride themselves on it. It is well known the way the Americans twist, and are sarcastic at the way the English ask indirect questions, and "beat about the bush" when they want to find out anything, instead of coming directly to the point.

The following story is an example of American terseness and method: During the war a young American officer at a dinner party in England was asked by his hostess to take a young lady in to dinner. In characteristic fashion he wanted to find out quickly who and what she was and all about her; so, no sooner was he introduced than he said: "Are you married?" She blushed and modestly replied: "Oh, I'm a widow." American officer: "Au—grass or sod?"

IN CROTTY'S COUNTRY.

And is it here the outlaw bold
Oft hid in days gone by,
When human bloodhounds on his track
Came on with vengeful cry.

Is this the famous Crotty's Rock,
Oft which I oft heard tell
When olden legends long ago
Around me cast a spell.

My father (Heaven rest his soul)
Was versed in ancient lore,
And would recount the daring deeds
Of Crotty o'er and o'er.

I was a child of phantasy,
And listened with delight
When stories of the dreamy past
Made glad the winter night.

And Crotty was my hero bold,
Our local Robin Hood,
Who held by virtue of his might
Domain o'er plain and wood.

His valour and bright chivalry
Bound my young heart in thrall,
And for a wronged and injured man
Would pity's tears down fall.

And when I gaze upon the spot
With which his name is twined,
Fond memories of my father's tales
Come hovering in my mind.

I see the rock from which he leaped
When harried by the chase,
And bore the maiden of his heart
Within his strong embrace.

I see the cave in which he lurked
When wearied and depressed,
And pray that his wild warping soul
Found peace and quiet rest.

What romance and deep mystery
Surround the outlaw's name,
How legend upon legend grows
To noise abroad his fame!

And Crotty, who has long since passed
Beyond the mystic river,
Lives in the peasants' homely tales,
And thus shall live for ever.

"MORVEN."

SUBSTANTIAL BEQUESTS TO CHARITIES.

Local charitable institutions benefit to a considerable extent under the will of the late James Joseph Power, of the Royal Marine Hotel, Dun Laoghaire, retired bank manager. The deceased was a member of the well-known Power Bros. family, who conducted an extensive drapery firm on the site now occupied by the Waterford Cinema. He left £3,000 to his Lordship, Most Rev. Dr. Hackett, for the alleviation of the poor, the promotion of education, and the advancement of religion in the diocese, at the sole discretion of his Lordship. To the Master of the Holy Ghost Hospital, £1,000; Sisters of Charity, £500; Little Sisters of the Poor, £500; St. Vincent de Paul Society, £500; Magdalen Asylum, £500; to the Mater Misericordiae, Jervis street Hospital, St. Vincent's Hospital, for the Dying, St. Joseph's Hospital, for the Dying, St. Joseph's Deaf and Dumb Institute, Dublin Council St. Vincent de Paul, Magdalen Asylum, Drumcondra; St. Brigid's Orphanage, Dublin; Society for the Propagation of the Faith, and the reconstruction of Rathmines Church, £1,000 each, in addition to numerous bequests of £500 each to various Irish schools and charities.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION. MEETING OF YOUGHAL COMMITTEE.

At the first meeting for the session of the Youghal Technical Instruction Committee there attended—Very Rev. Canon O'Donoghue, P.P.; Rev. V. W. Darling, M.A., Rector; Messrs. P. J. McMahon, P.C., U.D.C.; P. Kenneally, Vice-Chairman U.D.C.; T. Harrington, U.D.C., and T. Beausang, U.D.C.; Mr. E. Ryall, Head Master, was also present.

Mr. Kenneally said he had much pleasure in proposing the re-election of Canon O'Donoghue as chairman. Rev. M. Darling seconded.
On the proposition of Mr. McMahon, seconded by Mr. Harrington, Rev. M. Darling was unanimously re-elected vice-chairman.

A letter was read from Rev. Brother McKenna, Superior, Christian Schools, apologising for his inability to attend the Committee meeting on Thursday.

It was therefore unanimously decided to hold the meeting in future on the second Wednesday of each month.

The Head Master read a letter from the County Committee to the effect that, in order to prevent indiscriminate enrolment in the commercial classes, intending students should be examined by the instructor as to their ability to avail of the instruction given.

A report was read on the attendance and progress in the various classes during the past session, which was declared satisfactory.

The Very Rev. Chairman referred to the need and advisability of having a class in cookery established.

The Head Master said there were some difficulties in the way owing to the want of teachers and suitable accommodation, but the want would be supplied in the near future.

A letter was read from the Hon. Secretary of the Endowed Schools intimating that they were making a grant of £5 as prizes—£1 for the best student in each of the five classes working.

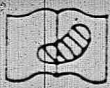

The Head Master pointed out that there were more than five classes now working, there being first, second, third and fourth years' students in some of the classes, and it would be very difficult to allocate the prizes in the circumstances.

After some discussion it was decided to adjourn the matter to a future meeting.

Mr. Harrington proposed that they record the name of Miss Mary Walsh as assistant to the art teacher. Miss Walsh had acted in that capacity with satisfaction for many years, and had always displayed a keen interest in the progress of the pupils.

This was seconded by Mr. Kenneally and passed unanimously.

G. A. A.

KERRY v. WATERFORD.

SOLE LEATHER.

Waterford opened their National League engagements at Tralee on Sunday when they opposed Kerry (holders). Kerry held a strong selection, and although victory for the homesters was anticipated, Waterford put a stiff fight. Waterford had to substitute for some of their original selection, who cried off at the sixteenth hour, and in view of this their performance was all the more creditable. The attendance was small. Details:
Waterford won the toss and elected to play with a fairly strong wind. Kerry attacked per Shelly, but an over resulted. Landers received the kick-out and sent into the Waterford goal-mouth, but Spratt effected a good clearance. Play was transferred to the other end, where after a spirited attack in which Kennedy and Fitzgerald were conspicuous, ended in the half going wide. Following another attack by Waterford, Walsh cleared and sent out to Shelly, who passed to Landers. Ryan (Waterford) saved a dangerous position in fine style. Play was again transferred to the other end, and after being repulsed several times Parsons received and sent over the first point of the match. A series of 50s. to Waterford ended in the leather going wide. Shortly after Shelly received from Swinney and sent over the equaliser. Kerry returned the kick-out, but a fine defence in which Sanford, O'Donnell and Walsh were conspicuous came on again for Shelly to raise the green flag with a shot that gave the Waterford goal no chance. Play was now of a pace and take nature, and the half-time whistle saw Kerry leading.

YOUGHAL YOUNG MAN'S SUCCESS.

In these columns recently we announced the success of Mr. R. Webster in passing his final Medical Examination. This week there is another success of an ex-pupil of the Christian Brothers, Mr. Stephen Ahern, who secured 8th place in Ireland in the recent Customs and Excise Examinations held in Dublin. He did a splendid course in the old Intermediate Examinations, and some time ago was successful in passing the Junior Executive, and now this new success makes us all proud of him, especially his old teachers, the Brothers, and all his own school chums.

LOCAL GAEIL DEPARTS. A special meeting of the Dungarvan Hurling and Football Club was held on Monday night. The meeting was called to mark the departure of Mr. Michl. Clancy, a prominent member of the Club, for America. Mr. P. Whelan, President, was in the chair, and a good attendance of members were present. The Chairman made touching references to Mr. Clancy, and said that it was hard to think that good young men found it necessary to leave their country, which was much the power by their loss. Continuing, he said that in the departure of Mr. Clancy the Dungarvan Club suffered a great material loss, but he always played hard matches and was a fighting factor in upholding the honour of the "Blues." The Club, remarked the Chairman, would find it very difficult to replace Mr. Clancy, but he would urge those remaining to stick to their guns and keep the Club in the high place where Mr. Clancy had helped to put it. In conclusion he wished Mr. Clancy every success in the new land. Several other members spoke in suitable terms, and in reply Mr. Clancy said he was very sorry to have to leave the old country and the old Club. He would carry on playing the game in America, and hoped that at some future time he would be able to return home and once again take the field with the old crowd. To terminate the proceedings the Senior Football and Junior Hurling County Championship Medals which were won by Dungarvan in 1927 were distributed, and the meeting dispersed after singing in chorus "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

STILL THEY GO. Every week numbers of our best and heftiest boys and girls steer away for America to get that chance in life of which there is no hope at home. The old land will, if the present exodus continues, become soon a land of children and old people and physically incapable. What a pity a native Government is unable to bring us prosperity.

HOUSEWIFERY AND COOKERY CLASSES. Miss Dowley having completed the short Course at Ballinroad, will re-open the above-named Classes at Dungarvan Technical School on Monday, 22nd inst. Classes will be held daily from 4 to 6 and 7.30 to 9.30 p.m.

LISMORE OFFICIAL. Mr. Shaun O'Daly, South Mall, Lismore, was arrested on a warrant by Sergt. Rochford on Tuesday last and charged at a special court by Inspector Murphy with the alleged embezzlement of monies entrusted to him. After formal evidence being given defendant was remanded in custody to the Youghal District Court.

LISMORE PIG PRICES. Fat pigs at the live weight market on Wednesday were 50s. per cwt., which was a decrease in the price paid weeks previously.

CAMOGIE. Lismore Camogie team added another win to their list of successes by the defeat of the Aghlish team on Sunday afternoon on the home grounds.

RE-PLAYS. Two great hurling re-plays will be brought off at the Gaelic Field, Dungarvan, on Sunday next. Tallow and Four-Mile-Water will try conclusions for the second time for the Junior Championship of West Waterford; while Dungarvan and Tallow meet for the final of West Waterford (Senior). Two great games should be the outcome. First match at 2.30 p.m.

CANCELLED. The Dungarvan Legion Fancy Dress Dance advertised previously to take place on November 7th is now definitely cancelled. The sale of Flanders Poppies will take place on November 10th.

CONCERT IN BALLINROAD. A concert in aid of the Ballinroad Fife and Drum Band will be held in Ballinroad School on Sunday night, October 28th. Admission 1s.

POTATOES. A. Moloney and Sons, Ltd. are now taking delivery at their Stores, Dungarvan, of the varieties suitable for export, viz.—Arran Consul, Up-to-Dates, King Edwards and Kerr's Pink.

YOUGHAL NOTES.

CHRISTIAN BROTHERS' SOCIAL. At a preliminary meeting of Past Pupils and friends of the Christian Brothers, which was held in the Town Hall, Youghal, on Monday night, it was decided to organise a Social, to be held in the Ballroom on Tuesday night, 13th November, with the object of helping the good Brothers to liquidate the heavy debt they have incurred by providing the boys of their schools with a fine new playground. A local Gold Medal Tournament was started some time ago with the same laudable object in view, but through one unavoidable cause or other only one match was held, and coming off at the heel of the season, the financial results, though fairly satisfactory, were not of much consequence. The last Social held some 12 months ago proved a splendid success, and the organisers were enabled to hand over a substantial sum in aid of the good work. It may be safely anticipated that that success will be repeated next month, for there is no second opinion amongst the people of Youghal as regards the heavy debt the youth of the town are under to the good Brothers for the care and skill devoted to their training and education. Again and again we have had the pleasure of recording the brilliant successes of Youghal boys, the foundations of which were well laid in the Christian Bros' Schools, Youghal.

A SLIGHT EXAGGERATION. A few days ago a rumour went round in the early morning to the effect that a local resident had been willed a big sum of money by an old friend of her father's who died some time ago in some part of Canada. When the writer just heard the yarn the amount was fixed at 30,000 dollars or somewhere about £6,000. On questioning the accuracy of the story the answer was that it was quite true—it came from so and so. Soon afterwards the lovely tale was repeated, with the difference that it had risen to £7,000, only to be followed by another version, which gave the amount as £7,500. The story was given with such persistence that inquiries were set on foot in various likely quarters, and it finally became evident that there was some foundation for the tale, but all the time the amount stated seemed to be on the incredible side. Turn where one would, the sole subject on the tapis was this extraordinary story of an extraordinary windfall. At long last a cutting from a Canadian paper giving the terms of the will in question was unearthed, and therein it was stated in cold print that the amount bequeathed to so and so amounted to 250 dollars—a matter of some £50. There was a touching story behind the whole matter. Many years ago the deceased gentleman while staying at Youghal became friendly with the resident's father, and although a very long period elapsed, he gave tangible proof of the steadfastness of a good old friendship by remembering his old pal when preparing to put up his will.

VILLIERSTOWN FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT.

Two of the finest football matches yet witnessed in connection with the above Junior Football Tournament were played in the Gaelic Field at Villierstown on Sunday when the two first games in the second round of the tournament were decided. Ballinroad team, which had the honour of winning the first game in the tournament by decisively beating a sturdy team from Ring some months ago, was now drawn against the Clashmore team which beat Stradbally over a month ago by the substantial score of 6 goals 4 points to 2 points. On strict "form," therefore, both teams were pretty evenly matched, but a large section of local sportsmen, nevertheless, held a strong opinion that Clashmore should win by a pretty substantial margin, and this even without being called on to seriously extend themselves. A great surprise was accordingly sprung on the Clashmore supporters on Sunday by the remarkable form displayed by the Ballinroad men, who played a magnificent game throughout, and gave Clashmore the hardest match of their lives, and it was the general consensus of opinion that the latter team was lucky to snatch the verdict by the narrow margin of 1 point after one of the most thrilling and exciting games played in the tournament so far.

In the second game Ballyduff Upper was pitted against the strong Kilgobinet team which defeated Villierstown by 2 points a month previously, and another great game resulted. It will be remembered that Ballyduff had been awarded a "walk-over" a fortnight previously owing to the failure of Kilrossanty to turn up, when they played a friendly match against a "scratch" team from Villierstown and showed remarkably good "form," so that it was generally expected the Kilgobinet men would have their work fully cut out for them on Sunday, and this actually proved to be the case, as the Ballyduff men proved faster and more scientific in every phase of the game, and although Kilgobinet put up a plucky fight and played a fast and determined game to the end, they had eventually to strike their colours to a better team as Ballyduff won in very meritorious style by 1 goal 2 points to 1 for Kilgobinet, the latter, however, having no reason to be ashamed of the result.

Unfortunately the weather conditions proved most unfavourable on Sunday, as a continuous downpour from early morning until well after mid-day made the field heavy and greasy, so that slips and falls were rather frequent, the ground in front of the two goals being coated with greasy, slimy mud which made any kind of a firm foothold well-nigh impossible. The weather improved somewhat towards the afternoon, but a few heavy showers fell occasionally, and it was a great tribute to the sporting spirit of the people in the locality to see such a large crowd of spectators present. The field arrangements were admirably carried out as usual, and the best of order was maintained by the members of the Tournament Committee, who deserve great credit for the strictly fair and impartial manner in which they have treated all teams competing in the tournament. Details:—

CLASHMORE v. BALLINROAD.
 Both sides set to work in vigorous style from the throw-in of the ball, and it soon became apparent that the spectators were to be treated to an unusually fast and brilliant game. Up and down the field the leather travelled with great rapidity, Clashmore looking dangerous on a few occasions, only to be quickly driven back by their opponents, who, in turn, made several determined attacks and severely tested the Clashmore back division, which proved remarkably sound. Clashmore at length drew "first blood" with a point, but their lead was short-lived, as Ballinroad responded with an equalising point a few minutes later. Some extremely fast and scientific play followed in midfield, and a dangerous offensive by Ballinroad was well held up by the Clashmore backs, who were being severely tested now. They at length effected a welcome clearance, and taking the ball right into their opponents' territory, an exciting tussle followed owing to the grand defensive work of the Ballinroad backs. Several of their attacks having been successfully repulsed, Clashmore again came along with one of their characteristic rushes and were rewarded with a goal, which put their supporters in high spirits. Following up the kick-out, Ballinroad next became the aggressors, and a brilliant display of play by their forwards brought them a beautiful goal, thus equalising the score for the second time amid great excitement. The half-time whistle went soon afterwards leaving both sides level on the score:—
 Clashmore—1 goal 1 point.
 Ballinroad—1 goal 1 point.

The second half of the play was a repetition of the first, both sides putting in some strenuous work, both in attack and defence, and the play throughout was something worth counting a long journey to witness. Clashmore at length got a goal, only to be followed by a similar score for Ballinroad soon afterwards, and it seemed as if Ballinroad was determined not to allow their opponents to enjoy the lead for any length of time at any stage of the game. Clashmore now redoubled their efforts, and despite a sturdy defence succeeded in adding a point, but Ballinroad was making gallant efforts to again make the equalising score when the full-time whistle went, leaving Clashmore the winners of a hard-fought and brilliant game on the score:—

 Clashmore—2 goals 2 points.
 Ballinroad—2 goals 1 point.

The teams were as follows:—
 Clashmore—J. Coughlan, J. Guiry, Declan Barron, Joe Murphy, Michael Murphy, Jas. Murray, Michl. Troy, Patk. O'Brien, Ed. White, Jas. Keever, J. Lenane, Patk. Hallahan, Ml. Ryan, J. McCarthy and Michael McCarthy.
 Ballinroad—T. Fitzgerald, T. Kennedy, T. Crotty, J. Carlton, J. Bumber, J. Crotty, P. Moloney, P. Conway, D. Connor, M. Connor, Jas. Power, Lar Condon, A. Kiely, Michl. O'Brien and Michl. Carlton.

BALLYDUFF v. KILGOBINET.
 Ballyduff, playing towards the river end, got the best of the opening exchanges, and bringing play down to their opponents' territory, kept up a strong offensive for some time in the course of which the Kilgobinet back line put in some very clever defensive work. Several attempts were made to effect a clearance, but Ballyduff could not be shaken off until they opened the scoring with a point, which was beautifully kicked by J. Quirke. Kilgobinet next worked up the field and were looking dangerous for some time, but the Ballyduff backs were fully alive to the situation, and Kilgobinet had to be content with a wide. After the kick-out Ballyduff again became aggressive and brought the ball down in dangerous proximity to Kilgobinet's posts, where a flying kick for a goal by Quirke struck the left goal-post and went wide. The kick-out was promptly returned, and Ballyduff kept up a sustained attack for some time, but owing to the splendid defence encountered, only a couple of "overs" resulted. Kilgobinet at last effected a good clearance, and breaking through Ballyduff's attacking lines brought play right up to the latter's stronghold, where a few dangerous rushes for a major score were well held up by Frank Daly (goalkeeper) and the Ballyduff backs, who were playing a fine defensive game. Kilgobinet renewed the attack again and again, their forwards showing great dash and perseverance, but they encountered a stone-wall defence, and they had to be content with a couple of "overs." Ballyduff next made a strong rush down the field, but all their efforts to score were cleverly frustrated, the Kilgobinet "backs" being several times applauded for their faultless defensive work. Ballyduff, however, continued to have the better of the play, and although Kilgobinet broke through a few times, they were unable to raise a flag, and the half-time whistle found Ballyduff leading on the score:—
 Ballyduff—1 point.
 Kilgobinet—Nil.

On changing over Ballyduff seemed to play with renewed vigour, and the game had not been long in progress when Quirke registered the second point for his side by a well-judged kick from a difficult angle. A shot for a goal by Ballyduff a few minutes later was beautifully saved from the mouth of the goal by the Kilgobinet custodian, who had to repeat the operation very soon afterwards. Ballyduff were now having the best of matters, and several attempts to score were gamely nullified by the Kilgobinet backs. Play was at length taken to midfield, but Ballyduff were soon again swarming round Kilgobinet's posts, only to be driven back time and again. Kilgobinet at length broke through, and by a clever bit of play worked the ball down the field, but they were well held up for a time. At length a shot for a goal had to be sent over by the Kilgobinet goalkeeper, but the resultant 50 yards' free went wide, and another over followed in quick succession. Kilgobinet next got a "free" in midfield, which was quickly returned, but they again came along with a vigorous attack, when a fine shot for a goal missed the Ballyduff net by a narrow margin. A grand bit of passing along the left wing next brought Ballyduff right up to their opponents' territory, where a clever goal was scored by Murtagh, who played a brilliant forward game right through. Ballyduff next sent over, and later what seemed an inevitable goal for Ballyduff was missed when Paddy Daly got possession of the ball right in front of the net, but slipped on the greasy ground when in the act of kicking it, the ball going wide. Kilgobinet made great efforts from this stage to reduce their opponents' lead, but to no purpose, and Ballyduff were making a determined rush up the field when the long whistle went, leaving Ballyduff the winners on the score:—
 Ballyduff—1 goal 2 points.
 Kilgobinet—Nil.

The following were the teams:—
 Ballyduff—Ml. Pierce (capt.), Joseph Pierce, John Fleming, Jas. Corcoran, L. Flynn, Ed. Fleming, Ed. Tobin, D. Kenneally, Jas. Quirke, Wm. Fahy, Ml. Healy, Paddy Daly, Francis Murtagh, Anthony Harris and Frank Daly (goal).
 Kilgobinet—Lee. Boland, Thos. Bowe, John Bowe, Wm. Ryan, Michl. Whelan, Michl. Power, Jas. Tobin, T. O'neally, T. Kennedy, J. Walsh, M. Walsh, John Corcoran, John O'Brien, Mee. Fennell and John Hickey.
 Mr. P. Moloney, Aghlish, was the referee.

PUBLIC OFFICERS
COLLECTION OF MONEY.

The Secretary, L.G.D., has written as follows to the Waterford County Council:—
 I am directed by the Minister for Local Government and Public Health to state that he has had under consideration the general question of the control of officers entrusted with the collection of public revenue. The cases of default which have arisen have given rise to considerable anxiety and the circumstances disclosed indicate a necessity for the adoption generally of effective measures to secure the prompt collection and immediate lodgment of all monies collected as well as the accurate and careful checking of the accounts of the Collectors at frequent intervals.

Rate collectors have, in many cases, been in the habit of lodging public funds to their own accounts and then transferring such sums by way of personal cheques to the Local Authority to close their warrants. Apart from the loss of the immediate benefit of the revenue by the Local Authority, the procedure enabled certain defaulting Rate Collectors to convert substantial sums to their own use. This practice must be discontinued, and Collectors must understand definitely that any public monies received by them should be lodged without delay in the nearest branch of the Bank keeping the account of the Local Authority. It may be in some cases that a branch of the County Council's Bank is not within easy distance, and that for this reason a Collector may have been in the habit of lodging rate monies to his own account in a local Bank. In such circumstances he should arrange with his Banker to receive such monies for transfer to the credit of the Local Authority at their Bank. If necessary the general circumstances should be explained to the Manager of the Bank acting as Treasurer to the Local Authority with the object of arranging through him for the receipt in outlying localities of Rate Monies in Branch Banks for transference through them to the Local Authority's account and the issue of a usual lodgment docket to the Collector as a voucher for the money so lodged.

The arrangements for checking Collector's accounts have not in all cases proved satisfactory. A mere perfunctory reconciliation of the cash lodged with the total of the counterfoils of the receipts ascertained to have been issued since the previous checking will not be sufficient. A complete scrutiny should be made at each checking to insure that no receipts are missing since last previous checking which are not covered by cash lodged. An intelligent check will have cognisance of the periodic progress of the collection while scrutiny of the unissued receipts might enable a wide awake Inspector to form an opinion as to whether there is a likelihood of any of the ratepayers concerned having paid their rates without receiving the official receipt. It is realised that an Inspector will find difficulty in detecting the overholding of monies by a Collector where the receipt remains unissued and every effort should be made to ensure that ratepayers will insist on getting the official receipts without delay. A Press notice warning ratepayers of the importance of this and of the consequences which may follow their failure to do so might be inserted if the Council considers such publications to be necessary. The Demand Notes might contain a notice that payments by cheque, money order or postal order should be crossed and made in favour of the Local Authority. When issuing receipts for rates paid in this manner the collectors would do well to record on the receipts and counterfoil that the payment was made by cheque or otherwise. The receipt should be issued without delay. If it is not convenient to deliver the receipt personally it should be posted immediately. If an unopened envelope be used, postage would suffice.

The requirements of the Public Bodies Order in regard to check should be stringently observed. There should be close co-operation between the Inspector entrusted with the checking of the Collector's accounts and the County Secretary particularly in regard to the issue of form 60 to ratepayers whose rates appear to remain at times when it might reasonably be expected that the sums due should have been lodged. The Inspector should pay due regard to the promptness with which the Demand Notes are issued and the subsequent periodic progress of the collection. Any dilatoriness should be specially reported and Collectors should understand that regular and progressive lodgments of rates will be expected from the dates they receive their warrants until closed.

A feature of the cases of default which have come to notice has been the delay in swearing informations against the officers concerned owing to the hesitation on the part of superior officers to take such course without the express authority of the Local Authority. The Minister does not consider it necessary to stress the consequences which have ensued from this procedure, but takes this opportunity of requesting the Council to adopt, at their next meeting, a resolution empowering and directing their County Secretary to make an information against any collector who may fail to lodge monies collected on behalf of the Council to their credit. In the past it has been observed that on occasions Local Authorities have received cheques from rate collectors purporting to account for rate monies received by them which on presentation have been dishonoured. The unauthorised nature of the practice of lodging rate monies to a Collector's private account has already been adverted to and the Minister would regard a transaction of this nature as a clear indication that the money in question had been wrongfully converted to the Collector's use. Once a County Secretary is satisfied that a Collector has misappropriated money he should immediately swear the necessary information to secure the apprehension of the offender. It would be well that the County Secretary should also be authorised to suspend from duty any Collector whose conduct proves unsatisfactory.

Cases have been observed where the sureties of defaulting officers have proved to be worthless, and the Minister desires that the Council should, where personal sureties are to be accepted, firstly satisfy themselves by Banker's references that such sureties are of sufficient substance for the undertakings guaranteed. Rate Collectors should be required to furnish adequate Bonds for the due and faithful discharge of their duties. A copy of this circular should be issued to each Rate Collector for his guidance and strict compliance with the requirements outlined. The Secretary of the Board of Health should also be supplied with a copy of the application of the principles to Rent Collectors and other officials in the employment of the Board.

NOTICE TO BEET GROWERS.

Recognising that growers have met with difficulty owing to the late harvest season this year, we have endeavoured to facilitate them to the utmost by deferring deliveries of beet until Monday, October 22nd, 1928. We trust that, upon their part, growers will reciprocate by forwarding the full quantity ordered upon that date or subsequently according to the instructions of their leading agent.

Growers will be advised not to postpone lifting their beet until the last few days before delivery when the weather may turn out unfavourable for work on the land. Beet may be pulled in advance and stored in clamps for a fortnight or so, at a place convenient for loading into carts or lorries. The clamps should not exceed 4 or 5 feet in height, and should be covered with a layer of straw or beet tops, sufficient to protect the roots against frost or sun, and allowing for sufficient aeration. Heating in the heap should be avoided, and the roots should be properly topped. By pulling in advance, whenever favourable weather conditions are at hand, a good deal of hardships experienced in the fields during wet days may be avoided and the roots will be subject to less soil taint.

On the whole, prospects for the beet crop are better than last year. There is still room, however, for improvement in the cultivation of the crop. In most areas plants are left too thick, and the spacing is very irregular. All beet should be gapped before being singled; the crop will then be properly spaced, and it will be easier to keep the land clean. Singling in the majority of cases is delayed too long. In short, the crop should be better attended to in the early stages of its growth. In the slies the whole secret of successful beet growing. Early sowing also when condition permits would increase the yield. To this effect the land, wherever possible, should be ploughed before winter, and ploughed again or grubbed early in spring, as soon as soil and weather conditions will allow—the earlier the better.

Sworn Statement
Of Astounding Cure

Facts sworn on oath before Mr. O. Davies, the Pontypridd solicitor prove the astounding cure of Mr. J. Seldon, of 115, Bonvilston Road, Pontypridd.

"Constant sitting at my work brought on piles," Mr. Seldon explained. "I was first troubled 17 years ago. Night and day I felt I was never to a decision and had practically given up hope of a cure.

"One day I was advised to try Zam-Buk and bought a box of the balm. I had never experienced anything like the cooling and soothing relief Zam-Buk brought. As I continued with the treatment the bleeding ceased, swelling went down, and the piles had completely vanished. I've never had a sign of the piles since."

For Ulcers, Bad Legs, Sores, Gonorrhoea, Hemorrhoids, Scalds, Bruises, Sprains, Rashes, etc., Zam-Buk is also unequalled. 1/3 or 2/- box.

THE LATEST AMERICAN PLAN WITH COWS.

USES MUSIC TO SWEETEN MILK

An American paper says:—A phase made famous in the United States by extensive advertising over a period of years is "Milk from contented cows." It has been the subject of satire, as well as serious discussion and scientific comment. At any rate, a great industrial corporation is satisfied that cows kept contented by good barns, excellent pasturage and other devices, are better milk producers than ordinary cows. German dairymen, with typical Teutonic literalness, decided to cash in on this American dairying experiment. They wished, in fact, to make their German cows even more contented than the American cows. How could they do it? They could not hope to improve on the barns or pasturages, on the care of the cows by the trained hired men, on their medical supervision by experts. They could give their German cows everything the American cows got, but they wanted to give them something more.

They provided their dairies with phonographs, which they placed near the cow when milking time came around. They turned on the music just before milking time, and allowed it to continue during the process. They sedulously kept records, before and after the musical phase of German dairying life. They found that it paid to provide the cows with music. They gave 10 p.c. more milk than they used to in the days before the serenading feature was started. The scientific dairymen even went so far as to experiment with the sort of music the cows preferred. They found out that loud band music and American jazz did not appeal so much to the cows as did violin solos, string quartettes, and soft symphonic music.

DOG'S PADE WORN AWAY.

Henry Walker, carrier, Doncaster, was fined £1 at Gainsborough for cruelty to a dog, whose footpads were worn away by running behind Walker's cart, to which it was tied. The dog had to be shot.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL

Present—Messrs. J. R. Smyth, P.C., chairman, P. Kennelly, vice-chairman, Mrs. S. Hurley, Capt. P. Dunne, E. Clancy, E. P. Lynch, D. J. Linehan, T. Murrphy, J. Hennessy, T. Harrington, J. Power, P. J. McMahon, P.C., M. J. Fleming.

Order of Business. The minutes having been read and signed.

The Chairman said he would like to remind the members of the board that before they proceeded to raise or discuss any other question they should carry out the ordinary business, and the first item to be dealt with should be the cheque for wages, etc.

On the proposition of Mr. Beausang, seconded by Mr. Power, a cheque for £53 19s. 4d., week's wages, etc., was passed.

Coursing Club. An application was read from the Youghal Coursing Club for the use of the Green Room to hold committee meetings and for the ball-room to hold practice dances in aid of the funds.

Mr. Harrington proposed the granting of the application.

The Chairman said they could not bind themselves over months.

Mrs. Hurley asked was it fair to interfere with the Strand Palace dances.

The Chairman said they had no control over them. That was merely a question of giving the Hall.

Mr. Hennessy said if the Coursing Club got concessions he would ask the same for the G.A.A.

The Chairman said it would be creating a bad precedent to grant any concessions.

Mr. Lynch said they would not ask any concessions, but that they had to start newly without funds.

Chairman—That is a delicate way to start anything.

Mr. Lynch—You started the regatta in that way.

Chairman—Yes, without a bob (laughter).

Mrs. Hurley said they ought not fix nights to interfere with the Strand Palace dances.

After some further discussion the application was granted on the usual conditions, from week to week.

Presentation for Bravery.

At this stage Mr. William Collins, Cork lane, appeared before the council.

The Chairman said it was his pleasing privilege to present their fellow-townsmen Mr. William Collins, Cork lane, with the parchment of the oval Humane Society for having on the 8th July last gone to the rescue of a boy in imminent danger of drowning and for having gallantly saved his life. The very best congratulations of that board should be extended to their friend, Wm. Collins, and in doing so he only voiced the feelings of the whole community (hear, hear). There was nothing more humane or inspiring than the alleviation of human suffering except the saving of life at the risk of one's own. He therefore had great pleasure in presenting that parchment to their brave fellow-townsmen and in congratulating him on his brave act, in his own behalf, and on that of his colleagues and fellow-townsmen.

Mr. Hennessy suggested that the matter be brought under the notice of the trustees of the Carnegie Hero Fund.

Mr. Harrington said he had known Wm. Collins for a long time. It was by no means the first occasion on which he had gone to a comrade's rescue.

Mr. Kennelly endorsed the remarks made. Most greatly enhanced the bravery of Mr. Collins' act was that at the time he was suffering from rheumatic pains. His action was more than creditable (hear, hear).

The Town Clerk said it gave him great pleasure to associate himself with what had been said. They all congratulated Mr. Collins on his heroic achievement.

Mr. Collins having suitably replied, the Chairman presented him with the parchment.

Recent Rescue.

Mr. Dennehy called attention to the recent rescue from drowning at the Strand. In addition to the parties already mentioned in connection with the matter, Mrs. Lanigan and Miss Farrell assisted in the rescue of Miss O'Keefe, who had got into difficulties. The ladies kept her over water and called to Mr. Atkins, who quickly ran to the scene, followed by young Roche. To his knowledge young Mr. Atkins had rendered assistance on two previous occasions to bathers in danger.

The Chairman said if that case were put forward they would want five parchments. He thought they ought not proceed farther with it.

Mrs. Hurley—What about the other man who helped?

Mr. Clancy said there was also another lady mentioned.

Chairman—The whole parish will soon be brought into it.

The Town Clerk said the first report was partly contradicted by the second.

Mr. Harrington—It was a "Comedy of Errors."

The council decided to take no action in the matter.

Sea Defence Works. The following letter was read—

"Dublin, 8/10/28. Dear Sir—With reference to your letter of the 21/10/27, regarding the proposition of the cost of maintenance of the Protection

Works at Youghal, hitherto contributed by the Irish Free State Department of Defence, I beg to say that the Cork County Council have paid their portion of the proportion of 1/12th referred to, up to the 31/12 last, and I have, therefore, to request that you will be good enough to again bring before your council the matter of their contributing the remaining portion falling to them to bear. If your council can kindly see their way to contribute this small additional amount towards the maintenance of the Protection Works, in which they are so much interested, it will enable the cost to be divided in the following proportions: G.S. Railways, 5s. 10c.; Cork County Council, 3s. 10d.; Youghal Urban Council, 2s. 10d. The additional proportions, for which I should be obliged if you would kindly let me have an early remittance, amount as under from 15/6/26—the date from which the Department of Defence ceased to contribute—to the 30/3 last. Period, 15-6-26 to 30-6-26, 1s. 11d.; half-year ending 31-12-26, £6 10s. 3d.; half-year ending 31-12-27, £2 14s. 7d.; half-year ending 30-6-28, 18s. 5d.; total, £11 3s. 2d.—faithfully—H. S. Coe, Secretary."

The Ferry Boat.

A letter was read from Mr. Michael Aherne, Ferry lessee, stating that he had seen by a report in the Press that the council were considering the running of a ferry boat next year. If they decided to do so he would sell them the present boat at a reasonable price.

The Clerk said he had a letter from the Bergius Co., Glasgow, stating that they were prepared to regard the £58 formerly deposited by the council as payment on account if a new boat were ordered.

Capt. Dunne—Could not a boat be built in our own harbour?

Mr. Lynch objected to putting money on the rates.

Mr. Kennelly said they would get the money back tenfold.

Mr. Lynch doubled if it would be got back even tenfold.

The Chairman said the boat would pay for herself in a couple of years.

After a long discussion on details of prices, the Clerk was directed to procure further information from the Bergius Co., and also to invite further tenders.

Proposed Horse Fair.

Letters from Fernoy, Tallo and Middleton having been read, it was decided to hold two Horse Fairs at Youghal annually—on the first Monday in May and the second Tuesday in September.

Mr. Kennelly said they would have to get the Fair Field in order.

Mr. Power—What about the sea's there?

Capt. Dunne—I don't like those flippancy remarks.

Suggested Pig Fair.

Mr. Fleming suggested the holding of a Pig Fair.

Chairman—Have we not a Pig Fair every month?

One Councillor said they had a Pig Fair without the pigs.

Mr. Lynch said it had been tried some time ago and had proved a proper failure.

Mr. Fleming said there was no reason why it should not be tried again.

Mr. Lynch said the pigs were sent to Cappoquin and elsewhere before Youghal.

Mr. Murphy—Why not try again?

Mr. Hennessy—We have a Pig Fair every Tuesday and Wednesday.

The matter was finally adjourned for further inquiries.

Ballyquirk Aerodrome.

The Town Clerk said the question of the extension of commercial air service had been largely before the public of late in the Press and the various public bodies had recommended sites for aerodromes. In the vicinity of Killeagh, at Ballyquirk, there was a partially constructed aerodrome upon which there had been expended in one contract alone £250,000. On the site had been erected a water tower and numerous buildings, and it included hundreds of acres of a perfectly level run. He suggested that they should bring the matter to the attention of the proper quarter.

The Chairman said in connection with the proposed cross-Channel and Transatlantic Air Service, he thought that if anything were to be done, advantage ought to be taken of the aerodrome at Ballyquirk, near Killeagh, upon which a sum of about £350,000 had been spent by the British Government. The site had been selected by competent British engineers, buildings had been erected, a water service and sewerage laid down, a railway siding linked up with the G.S. system, and a hanger partly constructed. It seemed rather strange to be hunting around looking for a site in view of these facts, and therefore it was their duty to call attention to these matters.

Mr. Murphy—Who is going to start this?

The Chairman said several were talking and writing about it. The next generation would travel and partly live in the air.

Mr. Power—You must not forget that Cove is the home of the T.D.'s (laughter).

The Chairman said it would seem strange if the heavy expenditure in the Ballyquirk Aerodrome were allowed go waste.

Mr. Harrington suggested that they get into communication with the interested parties.

This was finally decided on.

LISMORE NOTES.

SYMPATHY.

With Messrs. James and Wm. Ahearne, two of our most respected townsmen, we offer our sincere sympathy this week, occasioned by the death of their brother, Mr. John Ahearne, Tintur, Cappoquin, which took place on Sunday night last at the old homestead after a tedious illness, which was borne with true Christian patience and perfect resignation. The end came peacefully and fully fortified by the rites of Holy Church. Deceased was an upright, honourable and prosperous farmer, who paid close attention to his business, and made many friends in West Waterford. He was father of Rev. P. A. Ahearne, C.C., Chaplain Carriglea Convent, and was an ardent Catholic. His remains were removed to Cappoquin Parish Church on Monday evening, and after Office and Requiem High Mass the funeral took place at the New Cemetery, Dromroe, and was of large proportions. Lismore and Cappoquin districts being strongly represented, which was a fitting tribute of respect to the memory of a good neighbour and father.

£500 FINE.

At Lismore District Court, before Mr. M. J. O'Dwyer, Acting D.J. for Mr. Farrell, D.J., on holidays, Mr. Henry Eastwood, bookmaker, Lismore, was fined £500, mitigated to £125, with a further recommendation for reduction on memorial, for failure to send in within 14 days betting slips as stipulated in the Betting Regulations. Mr. E. A. Ryan, solr., for the State. Defendant was not professionally represented. Mr. Briscoe, Dublin, gave evidence in the case.

CARRICK-ON-SUIR DISTRICT COURT.

Before Mr. F. J. McCabe, D.J. The Justice imposed a fine of £1 on the Piltown Co-operative Creamery for having weights that were 1 1/2 drams light in one case and 1/2 an ounce in another case.

The defence was that the weights had in previous years been tested at Piltown. This year the manager was ordered to take the weights to Carrick-on-Suir. He had endeavoured to get the testing and stamping done at Piltown, and meanwhile the Inspector (Sergeant Doran) called at the creamery.

The Justice said he was quite satisfied that no injustice was intended to the public, but the regulations re the testing of weights should be complied with.

John Bergin, who said he was in the reserve of the National Army and belonging to Athy, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment for breaking into the house of Patk. Carroll, near Granemockler, and stolen therefrom £2 in notes, 2s. in silver, and a razor.

Supt. Fitzgerald said defendant is at present serving a term of two months' imprisonment for stealing money and clothes at Freshford, Co. Kilkenny, and has pending against him a charge of larceny of a bicycle.

In reply to the Justice, defendant said he had been looking for work since he left the National Army and could not get any.

The Justice said he was sorry to see the defendant becoming a jail bird, and he hoped he would endeavour to reform when he finishes the present term of imprisonment.

Michl. Shea was fined £2 on three charges: (1) Driving a motor car to the danger of the public. (2) Refusing to stop when told to do so by a Civic Guard. (3) Driving without a license.

Defendant said when he heard the order to stop he thought it was one of the lads from the village pretending to be a Guard.

Michl. Hanlon, a bus driver, was fined £2 for driving at 26 miles an hour through Piltown village.

Council's Houses.

Mr. H. Spearborough, C.E., Town Surveyor, submitted a report on the dampness that occurred at some of the council's houses at Parnapica, and made certain recommendations to remedy the complaint.

Mr. Hennessy—What about the cost? Mr. Lynch—You can't expect people to live in and pay rent for houses that require repairs.

Mr. Kennelly suggested that the council appoint a committee to visit and examine the houses and report to the council.

This was decided on.

YOUGHAL MARKET HOUSE. OPEN LETTER TO COUNCIL.

Sir—It is a good many years ago now since the old Town Commissioners, the predecessors of the present-day Urban Council, raised a big loan for the purpose of building a Market House to shelter the poor women who retailed potatoes to the public on the Market Square, which they had previously to do in the open, exposed to all kinds of weather. The Market House fulfilled the purpose for which it was intended for a considerable time, but that business has died out long since. As the house was closed up idle, the Town Commissioners at last let it to a few traders and the rent received helped to pay for the repairs and to make some slight return for the original cost.

The previous council decided, for reasons best known to themselves, to get rid of the tenants, so as to devote the building to the use of the public, thereby sacrificing about £10 a year, or a penny in the £ on the rates. Unfortunately the place has not been made use of as was expected, and it is now once again closed up and idle. The ratepayers will have to foot the cost of keeping it in repair or let it go derelict, and all the money spent on its erection and upkeep go for naught.

The present council, who seem to be a live and up-to-date body, might see their way to again consider the question of re-letting the building and thereby relieve the rates, and save the original amount spent on the building.

THE ROUND TOWER OF ARDMORE.

By Bertram Poole in the "Cork Examiner."

High on a hill, visible for miles around, stands the stately round tower of Ardmore, Co. Waterford. It differs from every round tower in Ireland in having three stone rings around it. The object of these rings is unknown, but local legend has it that the tower was built in four days, and that each ring marks the termination of a day's work. The tower is 97 feet high, and is considered one of the finest in Ireland. Its conical top was knocked down by lightning within recent times, but the fallen stones have been replaced. Wooden stairs, and platforms have been erected inside the tower to enable the visitor to inspect the interior. No stone steps exist in any of the Irish round towers. It is more than likely that all of them were originally fitted with stairs and platforms. There must have been some means of ascent, but only stone could survive the ravages of time.

OBJECT OF ROUND TOWERS.

Even now the object for which these round towers were built is more or less a matter of surmise. We know, or think we know, but proof beyond dispute is at the moment impossible. Eminent professors have made enemies of other equally eminent professors, through each of them asserting that his theory, and his theory only, is the correct one.

THE BELFRY THEORY.

Some professors state positively that the towers were built for use as belfries. They cannot prove that hanging the bells worked by ropes were in use at the time, or that the construction of the towers was suitable for their use, so they say the lower, and ring a hand-bell. Perhaps they did—the Irish name of these towers "cloch-theach," a bell-house, certainly suggests it, but little wonder that other professors quarrel with them for stating so positively that men built these wonderful towers, averaging 100 feet in height, simply to ring a small hand-bell from a top window, and for no other purpose.

THE PAGAN TEMPLE THEORY.

Others say that these towers were pagan temples, and that the early church builders deliberately selected these sites to build their churches. In support of this theory, there is the undoubted fact that old churches were often built in the immediate vicinity of pagan remains. A fine dolmen (cromlech), for example, forms part of the boundary wall of an old church at Knockeen, near Waterford. The early missionaries, with infinite tact, interfered as little as possible with the ancient customs and observances of the people. Instead, they endeavoured to give them an added Christian significance.

The introduction of Christianity into Ireland was more the nature of a peaceful penetration than an invasion. Instead of destroying the objects of earlier veneration, when possible they preserved them, and made use of them for Christian purposes. And because they did so, Christianity spread all the more quickly throughout the length and breadth of Ireland, and became all the more deeply rooted in the hearts of the people. We see from this that if any of these round towers had been pagan temples, in all probability they would have been taken over and used for Christian purposes.

PLACES OF REFUGE.

Another theory is that they were built as places of refuge from the battle raids of the Norsemen. The entrance to the towers is in most cases about ten feet above the ground level. The refugees could ascend by means of a ladder, and draw the ladder up after them. They would then be safe, high up in the tower, until the raid was over. They could not hope to sustain a prolonged siege, of course, nor to resist a determined attack; but the usual number of Norsemen who took part in one of these raids was probably small. Their object was to get as much plunder as possible, without undue trouble or delay, so if one object of attack offered any serious difficulty, they simply left it and moved on to the next.

THE NORSEMEN.

The Norsemen, or Danes, as they are often less correctly called, were Scandinavian adventurers, who had established themselves at various points along the Irish coast, and built towns for themselves. Cork, Limerick, Waterford and Youghal were among their strongholds. From time to time they appear to have lived on semi-peaceful terms with their outside neighbours; but, needless to say, raids and counter-raids were frequent.

After their great defeat at Clontarf in 1014 they did not leave the country, but their spirit was broken. They settled down quietly in their cities, intermarried, and so gradually became a submerged portion of the great Irish nation.

DEATH OF MRS. J. HARNEY, ANNESTOWN.

We regret to place on record the death, following an illness of some months' duration, of Mrs. Johanna Harney, Annewstown, which sad event happened on Thursday week. Throughout her long and useful career the late Mrs. Harney had enjoyed deserved popularity with the people of these parts, and her demise is acutely mourned by a wide circle of friends. She was mother of Messrs. Pat, and Richd. Harney and Miss B. Harney, Annewstown; Mr. John Harney, Dunhill, and Mr. Nicholas Harney, Ballyduff. After the celebration of Solemn Requiem Office and High Mass for the eternal welfare of her soul at Dunhill Parish Church on last Saturday morning the burial took place in the adjoining graveyard. There was a very large and representative attendance of the general public at the obsequies. May she rest in peace.

WHICH THEORY IS RIGHT?

Quite likely the round towers were often used as watch towers, although many of them are badly situated for the purpose. That they were often used as places of refuge, or for ringing bells, no one can doubt. The trouble is that each propounder of a theory becomes so obsessed with his idea that he cannot admit the possibility of the towers having had more than one use. Each thinks he has said the last word on a subject that even yet has not been fully investigated.

But, let them talk as they will, the round towers of old Ireland are things of beauty, as characteristic of the country as the harp or the shamrock, or the pigs that they are going to put on our new coinage.
