DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL

Meeting held on Friday last. Mr. J. Butler, chairman, presided. Also present—Messrs. T. McCarthy, J. F. Moloney, M. J. Keane, C. Lawn, J. Hackett, M. Griffin, D. Foley, W. O'Donnell and T. Power.

Expenditure. The pay sheet for the week, which was passed, amounted to £35 2s. 9d.

Cooney's Lough. The Chairman said that accompanied by the Borough Surveyor and Sanitary Sub-Officer he visited Cooney's Lough and he was of opinion that it must be piped. It was a thing that must be done eventually, and the question is can we do it now or will it be put off for some future time?

Mr. Keane agreed with the Chairman and said provided we had sufficient funds it should be done. The Borough Surveyor said to put down a 6-inch sewer pipe with one sewer trap and a flap on the outside to prevent the tide coming in would probably cost about £40.

Mr. Keane—To put the matter in order I propose that the Borough Surveyor be instructed to carry out the work.

Mr. Hackett seconded. Mr. O'Donnell—it should have been done years ago.

Mr. Keane—it would have saved this council a lot of money.

The resolution was passed.

Main Street Rolling. Chairman—In connection with the rolling of the Main street, the County Surveyor wants to know if the amount of money expended by the Urban Council on the preparation of the sewers was to come out of the grant for rolling.

Mr. Keane—About how much was expended?

Borough Surveyor—Roughly £80.

Mr. Keane—Would it be well for the council to take half from the funds and half from the grant?

The Borough Surveyor said he was speaking to the County Surveyor about the matter, and he (Borough Surveyor) was of opinion that if the sewers were paid for out of the town's improvement account it would allow the rolling to be done much farther.

Mr. Keane asked if they paid £40 out of the grant would there be a possibility that Friary and Emmet street could be done?

Chairman—I suggest that as all the machinery, etc., is on the job, that Mr. Bowen be allowed to spend the full amount of the grant, and that the sewers be paid for out of the current account. Then if there is a balance of the grant it can be put against the sewers.

The council agreed to expend the full amount.

Fair Lane. Mr. Hackett asked that a few men be sent to Fair lane to pull weeds, etc., before the procession.

The Borough Surveyor said he had a few men there, but had to take them off when the rolling started on the Main street. They were to make a good job of Fair lane now as it was to be rolled in.

Mr. Griffin referred to the treatment meted out to Abbeyside, and said nine loads of stone is all that was put out there last year.

After a short discussion the Chairman promised that Abbeyside would be attended to.

Acting Clerk. Mr. M. O'Meara, Acting Clerk, was appointed for a further period of one month pending the resumption of duty by the Clerk.

Notice of Motion. Mr. Keane handed in notice of motion to be considered at a future meeting—"That the Abbeyside Park be made available for a public Tennis Court."

Dungarvan Station. Mr. Keane drew attention to the bad lighting system at the Dungarvan railway station, and said that the council should request the Railway Co. to connect up with the Shannon Scheme, as at present owing to the insufficient light it was a danger to carters, etc. He then proposed the following resolution:—"That the attention of the General Manager of the G.S. Railway Co. be drawn to the system of lighting at the Dungarvan Station, and that this council request the Railway Co. to provide for the electric system before the coming winter."

Mr. Lawn seconded the resolution, which was passed.

Excursion Train. On the proposition of Mr. Griffin, seconded by Mr. O'Donnell, a resolution was passed asking the G.S. Railway Co. to run excursion trains to Dungarvan on Sunday evening as in former years.

Increase Sanctioned. A letter was read from the Ministry sanctioning the increase of salary to Dr. McCarthy, M.O.H., from £16 to £36.

Report of Borough Surveyor. The Borough Surveyor reported that in accordance with orders he inspected the Abbeyside Strand and the staking of same as suggested with labour would cost £25. The work would not keep in the shingle.

Mr. Griffin said he did not agree at all with the report. The members of the council are to visit the strand to see for themselves.

Men's Bathing Place. The Borough Surveyor reported the probable cost of repairing breakwater, etc., at the men's bathing place was £4. It was ordered to get the work done.

School Meals. The Minister for Local Government wrote forwarding a copy of the report of Dr. McCormack, Medical Inspector, on the operation of the above scheme in the Dungarvan urban area. The report stated—For the year ended 31st March, 1930, 16,000 meals were served. This showed a great increase on the previous year when the number served was 2,450. The scheme operates in five schools in Dungarvan. The rates contribute £90 a year. The townspeople quite recently contributed £60 voluntarily. This amount has been collected each year by means of Whist Drives, etc., and is of course, a great help. Preparation and serving of the meals is done by voluntary helpers. The only expense in this line is the payment of 5s. a week to the girl who delivers the milk. The meal consists of bread, butter and milk or where it is preferred cocoa made up milk. Meals are served from 1st October to about middle of April.

Superannuation. With reference to the application of Mr. Patk. Mulcahy, ex-Town Clerk, for superannuation, a letter on behalf of Mr. Mulcahy was read from Mr. A. R. Farrell, solr., stating that as some Statutory Authority must be placed before the council showing that the council has power to grant a pension. The letter referred the council to Section 44 of the Local Government Act, 1925, which provides in Sub-Section 2 that "a local body shall with the consent of the Minister grant to a pensionable officer in their employment who has at least 10 years' service, and (a) who is removed from his office for a cause other than misconduct or incapacity, or (b) whose office is abolished, or (c) whose position has, in the opinion of the Minister, been materially altered to his detriment owing to changes in the condition of his employment made without reasonable cause, and who resigns his office with the consent of the Minister, an annual allowance for his life not greater than two-thirds of his yearly salary and emoluments." In his opinion, Mr. Farrell stated, Mr. Mulcahy's case falls within the purview of this sub-section, and he asked the council to consider the sub-section. If they decide that his client is not entitled to a pension under it, he would like to know the reason they so decide.

Chairman—We referred this matter to Mr. Williams and he put these sections before us. We had it sent on to the Department, and their reply was that those sections do not entitle Mr. Mulcahy to superannuation.

The Clerk was directed to reply to Mr. Farrell regarding the matter, and to elucidate the views expressed by Mr. Keane with regard to Clause C of the Act and the matter leading up to Mr. Mulcahy's retirement.

Mr. Keane referred to Clause C, and said he thought Mr. Mulcahy's case would come under it. This matter arose by the Minister at the time making an order that Jurors' Lists were not to be made up by Clerks of Councils. Then another Minister came along and counteracted that order. Mr. Mulcahy, in my mind, has a perfect claim and is quite entitled to superannuation.

Mr. Keane—We referred this matter to Mr. Williams and he put these sections before us. We had it sent on to the Department, and their reply was that those sections do not entitle Mr. Mulcahy to superannuation.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

PROGRESS OF THE MISSION.

The three weeks' mission which was opened here on last Sunday week is remarkably successful in every respect. During the first week the attendances both at the morning Masses and lectures and the evening devotions and sermons reached record dimensions, the fine weather being availed of by the people from the most remote parts of this extensive parish to show their devotion and fealty to the old faith in the most edifying and exemplary manner not only from the town and parish, but also from the adjoining parishes of Modeligo, Affane and Ballinacoola, large numbers attend each night, and the generous response made since the start to the exhortations of the Redemptorist preachers, Fathers Sproule and McDonnell, must have elated their hearts and made them feel proud and gratified at the devotion shown by the faithful from near and far.

OPENING OF LAWN TENNIS SEASON.

The local Lawn Tennis Club has been successfully revived for the season, and the beautiful grounds in the Sportsfield were formally opened for the first games at 3 o'clock last Sunday afternoon. The Club is in charge of an energetic committee of tennis enthusiasts, comprising Messrs. J. V. Conway, M. J. Sargent, J. Lincoln, E. Casey, W. J. Baldwin and L. D. Dunne, and under their efficient management a most successful season is assured. After the close of the mission on Sunday week, 29th inst., a fresh impetus will be given to the game, and after a couple of weeks' practice the members of the Club will be glad to arrange Home and Home Tournaments with other Clubs.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

This town had the honour of a brief visit from a distinguished Churchman recently in the person of the Right Rev. Monsignor Brett, the zealous and saintly pastor of the extensive and important parish of Buffalo, New York. Mons. Brett was born in New York of Irish parents, who belong to the district of Newcastle, near Clonmel, and paid his first visit to Ireland a couple of years ago when he called to see some of his relatives. On that occasion he also visited Mr. R. J. Collender, N.T., Cappoquin, some of whose relatives he had met in America, and on the occasion of his second trip to Ireland a few weeks ago he also called to see Mr. Collender and some other friends whom he had made here when he first came to Cappoquin. He also visited Mount Mellery and other places of interest.

INTERESTING AUSTRALIAN VISITORS.

Two interesting visitors from Australia, who are natives of Cappoquin, have just arrived for a holiday after an absence of nearly 30 years in the Antipodes. They are Mrs. B. Neale and Mrs. M. Beresford (sisters), both being daughters of Mrs. B. Regan, Mass lane, and sisters of Messrs. John and Thomas Regan, Cappoquin. They left Cappoquin as young girls about 28 years ago for Australia, and in due course both got happily married there and now live in Mackay, North Queensland. Their many old friends in their native town were delighted to see them looking so strong and healthy after such a lengthy absence, and they in turn were equally delighted to find their mother and brothers all in good health, and to see the old town looking just the same as when they left it so long ago.

DEATH OF A CISTERCIAN BROTHER.

We deeply regret to announce the death of Brother Malachi Keane, which occurred recently in the Cistercian Monastery, Mount St. Bernard, Coalville, Leicester, which is a branch house of Mount Mellery. Brother Keane was a native of this parish, being son of the late Mr. Thomas Keane and of Mrs. Keane, Mellery, Cappoquin, and was nephew of Mrs. J. McGrath, Boherberay. He received his education in Mount Mellery and joined the Order in Leicestershire only about four years ago, and his early death is now deeply mourned by the members of the community there, as well as by a large circle of relatives and friends in the Mellery and Cappoquin districts. May his soul rest in peace. It will be of local interest to recall that for many years the Superior of Mount St. Bernard's Monastery at Coalville was the Rev. Father Louis Carew, a saintly and distinguished Cappoquin priest, who was brother of Mrs. Ellen Brennan, Main street, and one of the most brilliant members of the Cistercian Order at Mount Mellery. He was still Superior there when his death took place in the Bon Secour Home in Cork some years ago, after which the Rev. Father Celsus O'Connell, who had been Prior in Mount Mellery for years, was appointed Superior of the Coalville Monastery. Last year the membership of this Monastery attained for the first time since its establishment sufficient strength to entitle it to have a Lord Abbot, the same as Mount Mellery, and Father Celsus was then raised from Superior to the more exalted position of Lord Abbot, which he still fills with the greatest ability and distinction. Only quite recently Right Rev. Dom Maurus O'Phelan, O.Cist., Lord Abbot, Mount Mellery, and Right Rev. Dom Celsus O'Connell, O.Cist., Lord Abbot, Mount St. Bernard, Coalville, left for America for an important visit to the Cistercian Monastery in Dubuque, over which the late Father Louis Carew had ably presided as Superior for many years before being appointed as Superior over the Monastery at Coalville.

THE ROWING CLUB.

Cappoquin Rowing Club will be represented by a second senior four at New Ross Regatta on next Wednesday, 25th inst., and on the following day the same crew will represent the "Dark Blues" at Waterford Regatta. Practice for these two important events has had to be considerably restricted during the past fortnight on account of the Mission, as only short spurts on the river were possible owing to the crew having to finish their practice before the Mission started each night.

The crew appears to be in good condition for the two strenuous trials before them, and we feel confident that they will spare no effort to worthily uphold the honour and reputation of the C.R.C.

PRICE OF PIGS.

The price of pigs is on the downward grade, this week's top figure at the Cappoquin Bacon Factory being only 76s. per cwt., dead weight, a decrease of 2s. on last week's prices. We are glad to be able to state that supplies are showing a marked improvement in the local factory, and it is probable that the present staff of workmen will have to be considerably augmented on an early date.

CYCLING ACCIDENTS IN CAPPOQUIN.

Last Sunday night was a night of some remarkable cycling sensations in Cappoquin when some unheeded "stunts" were unconsciously carried out by a lady and gentleman rider, respectively, whose performances were only excelled by the daring performances of the two young ladies in the "Track of Death" item in Duffy's Circus recently.

The first sensation was provided in Lower Main street soon after the Mission ceremonies had concluded, and when a dense crowd ("dense" in the physical, but not the mental sense) was proceeding on its way home, almost opposite the residence of the Rev. J. Croft, C.C. A young lady, whose name could not be ascertained, came speeding down the incline at this point on her bicycle, but whether the sight of the crowd in front gave her "stage fright" or not we cannot say, but at all events she lost control of her bicycle and dashed blindly into the mass of humanity in front of her. Fortunately the first she collided with was a big, beefy specimen of manhood, but so great was the impact that she literally "cannoned" off him and flew into the arms of a big burly farmer who, with true Irish gallantry and chivalry, closely held her in his brawny arms, so that she was practically suspended in mid-air, instead of being allowed to crash to the ground, as would, undoubtedly, have been her fate if so many persons had not been wedged together at the moment.

The second cycling "stunt" came off about an hour later when a young man named John Horan, better known as "Jack Gallagher," was riding down Castle street towards Cook street on a lady's bicycle on which he cut a most ungraceful figure. Coming down Castle street at a speed which should make Kay Don blush for shame, he shot between two women who were enjoying the usual "social" chat in the middle of the street, and although there was a space of only a yard or two between them, Horan cut so clean between the pair that the only damage done was that one of the women was almost shorn of her shawl. He had scarcely emerged from this exploit when he ran into a man named Patk. Kiely, who, with a friend, was standing near the milestone at the corner of the Railway Hotel, and catching Kiely on the right arm, the latter and Horan were immediately hors de combat. Bad though this may have been, it was lucky for Horan that he was stopped by Kiely, as had he gone on as he was going, with the bicycle completely out of control, he should have dashed against an electric lighting pole a few yards further on, or, failing this, he would have gone right against the spiked iron railings which surround Mr. J. J. Barron's fine premises known as Harrington's Hotel. Kiely escaped with a bruised and twisted right arm and hand, while Horan received a severe shaking, but was later able to cycle to his place of work in Modeligo, looking like a modern Napoleon, for "fresh worlds to conquer."

Kilmacthomas News.

HAY CUTTING. The clatter of the mowing machines now sounds uppermost under the shadows of the Comeragh hills. The crop is said to be an exceptionally good one and a reminder that we are now fast nearing the longest day of the year.

WEDDING BELLS.

At Stradballi Parish Church on the 11th inst. Miss Ellie Larkin, of Kilmeaden (latterly residing at Fahafeelagh, Kilmacthomas) was married to Mr. William O'Reilly, Fahafeelagh. Miss K. Larkin, Ballyduff (sister of the bride) was the bridesmaid, and Mr. Michael Torpey, Garrunturton, Kilmacthomas, was best man. Rev. W. Burke, C.C., Stradhally, was the officiating clergyman. We join with their many friends in wishing the happy couple all they would wish for themselves in their new sphere.

THE MISSING POSTMAN.

Our report (published in this column last week) of the Bishop's visit to Stradballi-Ballylonee Parish and of His Lordship's remarkable references to the now half-year-old enigma of the vanished local rural postman, Laurence Griffin, was the first account of the proceedings given by any newspaper, and we have been made the recipients of several congratulatory letters. We are deeply grateful to our correspondents for their kindly appreciation of our efforts in the matter. We have learned with pleasure that the Bishop's touching appeal to the people of Stradhally has not fallen on deaf ears, and there is every good hope of an early fulfilment of the dark cloud leaning upon Stradhally over the past six months.

CONGRATULATIONS.

On behalf of the Gaels of Kilmacthomas and district we offer warmest congratulations to one and all of the minor hurling fifteen who did duty for the Decies against the sturdy set of striplings representing the County of Clonmel on Sunday last when both groups opposed in the second round of the year's Munster Championship. Our boys were worthy winners of a fast and finely-fought fray. We note with pardonable pride that Master Michael Morrissey, second son of our deservedly-popular fellow-townsmen, Mr. Pat Morrissey (County Irate Inspector), contributed largely to Waterford's win. By all accounts the West Waterford gorseons constituted the "sheet-anchor" of the victorious unit on the occasion. Here's hoping the Provincial title will pass to Portlargo's pit-pat pack!

By the way, it will not be out of place to say right here and now, "More luck to you, Pax!" to the genial Secretary of the County Executive, G.A.A., whose "cry" on the toss of a coin at the Munster Council meeting last week-end won Fraher's Field (from Cork Athletic Grounds and Clonmel Sportsfield) as the venue for the forthcoming Waterford-Tipperary senior hurling clash, and Waterford-Kerry junior football tie. Both contests are second round Munster championship fixtures (1930) and will be decided on the 13th prox. Permit us to add—Dungarvan should be "up and doing" now in the way of making adequate preparation for the reception of surely one and twenty thousand invading Gaels on said date.

A GRIEVANCE.

Local sea trippers and tourists to our midst are complaining of the present "rough fruit" state of the Kilmacthomas-Bonmahon road, over which a considerable volume of traffic streams daily. An application of chips and tar at the earliest possible opportunity would cause a welcome improvement. Unless the surface is so treated the cost of repairing it by-and-by will be bound to total a big figure. It is to be hoped we will not have to again refer to this subject.

KILROSSANTY MISSION.

The Mission opened in the Parish Church, Kilrossanty, on Sunday last by Fathers Henry and O'Dwyer, of the Vincentian Order, is being splendidly supported by the faithful of the district. Both clergymen are powerful preachers, and their daily discourses are attentively listened to by very large congregations. The many reverently approaching the altar rails during the morning Masses presents a spectacle truly most edifying. Next week the Missioners will continue their good work at Pews Church.

THE "RALEIGH RALLY."

Hugh entries have been received for the first annual cycle races at Kilmacthomas on to-morrow (Sunday) and keen struggles for supremacy in each of the six events programmed are assured. Be there to enjoy this monster athletic event of the month.—(Adv.) All arrangements in connection with to-morrow's card are in competent hands. At least 15 competitors will

TO-MORROW'S PROCESSION IN DUNGARVAN.

To-morrow (Sunday), June 22nd, will add another to the already long list of noted occasions on which the fine people of the grand old Catholic town of Dungarvan have proved their undying love for the Faith of Our Fathers. It will be the occasion of the annual Corpus Christi Procession, when thousands will walk through the streets in processional array to pay public homage to the Blessed Sacrament.

Last year the procession was held in connection with the Catholic Emancipation Celebrations, and the size of the vast assembly at the Benediction on the Square and at the Parish Church Gates was a marvel to behold. This year we are sure the numbers present will be even larger, for His Lordship Most Rev. Dr. Hackett, our own beloved Bishop, will solemnly consecrate the town to the Sacred Heart after Benediction on the Square.

The decorations of the houses and the streets will be on a lavish scale, and with a continuation of the present glorious summer weather, Sunday's procession will be such as to gladden the hearts of all who love their holy faith and this old land, which ever has been the one bright spot of never-fading Catholic fervour.

Our zealous parish clergy, assisted by an energetic committee, have the arrangements completed, so that this great public display of homage to the Blessed Sacrament should bring untold blessings on our town and parish and on all who participate in it.

All school children will assemble in Mitchell street; head on to Fair lane, Children of Mary will assemble in Emmet Street, Women's Confraternity in St. Mary street, Boys' Club and Men's Confraternity in the Churchyard.

All processions must be in their respective places at 2.30 o'clock sharp, so that the procession can start at 3 o'clock precisely.

The order of the procession will be as follows:—Crossbearer; Children of Presentation Convent; Children of Mercy Convent; Christian Brothers' Boys; Children of Mary; Dungarvan Brass and Reed Band; Choir; Mercy House Girls; Women's Confraternity; Boys' Club; Men's Confraternity, Dungarvan and Abbeyside; Members of Urban Council; Cross-bearer; Altar Boys; Clergy and Canopy.

The route of the procession will be the same as last year with Benediction on the Square and at the Church Gates. Immediately after Benediction on the Square His Lordship Most Rev. Dr. Hackett will consecrate the town to the Sacred Heart.

LISMORE NOTES.

PLUCKY ACT AT LISMORE BOY SAVED FROM BLACKWATER RIVER.

Walking by the bank of the river Blackwater with a lady friend below Lismore bridge at 8.30 p.m. on Monday Mrs. Jolly wife of Mr. Cyril F. Jolly, hairdresser, Main street, Lismore, noticed that a young boy bathing in the river was in difficulties and immediately raised the alarm as the boy disappeared from view for the second time. Fortunately Tommy Landers, of Church street, a boy of 15 years, observed Mrs. Jolly and ran to her assistance, and pluckily divested himself of his coat only and plunged into the water and caught the boy named Francis Allen, of Ballyrafter, by the hair of the head and pulled him to the bank safely. Assistance and affection came then to his aid, and after some minutes the boy was able to get home after a strange experience, while Landers with shirt and clothing, boots and stockings wet, travelled home amid the plaudits of his comrades for his plucky action in rescuing a companion. From particulars to hand it was gleaned that in this portion of the river Blackwater known locally as "Laffan's Hole" nearly all the youth of the district bathe, but an old log overhanging a deep portion of the river further towards Cappoquin side, and from off this piece of timber young Allen accidentally slipped. He was in a semi-unconscious state when removed from the water, and together with his friends are now thought a lesson of the dangers of the river at this point. The action of the boy Landers is most commendable and is worthy of the attention of the Carnegie Trust Committee or some other heroic Society.

ON LEAVE.

Mr. R. Chestnutt, stationmaster, Lismore, is presently enjoying holidays, and Mr. J. Crowley, of the relief clerical staff, is in charge of the station in the meantime. Mr. Crowley is well and popularly known in West Waterford area, as he was for years attached to the clerical staff at Dungarvan.

GOLF.

At Clones Golf Course on Sunday in a competition between Dungarvan and Clonmel Golf Clubs the former won by 18 matches to 10.

participate in each race. The ladies' race has attracted a surprisingly large number of "fair" entrants from parish far and near. The chief item—the big "Raleigh Rally"—will be the tit-bit of the day. Kilmacthomas business folks have left nothing undone to satisfactorily cater for the invading hundreds. Full details of the meeting will grace our next number.

Youghal Urban Council.

MIXED BATHING QUESTION.

Present—Messrs. J. R. Smyth, P.C., chairman; T. Harrington, Mrs. S. Hurley, Capt. Dunne, D. Dennehy, E. P. Lynch, T. Beausang, W. J. Broderick, M. D. Broderick, D. J. Linehan, J. Whelan, P. J. McMahon, P.C.; Joseph Power, A. J. Fowkes, E. Clancy, P. J. O'Gorman, P.C.

Rail Fares.

A letter was received from the Traffic Manager, Great Southern Railways, stating that some slight alteration had been made in Youghal fares. However, similar amendments would operate on the other sections shortly, so that Youghal would not be placed at any disadvantage. He assured them of the company's desire to develop traffic as far as possible to the various watering places served, but it was found absolutely necessary to make some slight increases in the fares.

Bus Between Strand and Town.

A letter was received from the Irish Omnibus Co., Ltd., stating that they wished to obtain a hackney license for a 20-seater bus to ply between Youghal Station and town, also a license for a driver and conductor, and they applied for the necessary forms and instructions.

Mr. Beausang said it would be unfair to the local javeys to grant that application. He proposed that it be refused.

Mr. Harrington said they ought grant it. The car would supply a much-needed facility.

Councillors arriving during the discussion, the Clerk had to read the letter for them until finally

Mr. Harrington—Sing it, Mr. Clerk, and we'll join the chorus (laughter). I propose the application be granted.

Mr. Clancy seconded Mr. Beausang, and Mrs. Hurley and Mr. Power seconded Mr. Harrington.

Mrs. Hurley said a service between the Strand and town would be a great convenience, and she believed it would do no harm to the local drivers.

On a poll only Messrs. Beausang, Clancy and Lynch voted against, and the application was accordingly granted.

Meat and Milk.

Dr. Condy, County M.O.H., forwarded report of the meat inspections for the past month, which was satisfactory, there being no complaints.

Mr. J. J. Walsh, M.R.C.V.S., submitted tests of 11 samples of milk, all of which proved clean and good. There was a great improvement on previous tests.

Mr. Fowkes said that everybody concerned—the milk vendors and the Inspector—deserved the best thanks for their efforts in bringing that important article of food to its present high standard.

Mr. O'Gorman said Youghal would compare favourably with any place as regards its milk and meat supplies.

Book by Late Dr. C. Ronayne.

The Clerk said that Col. Ronayne had presented the council with a copy of his late Father's book, "History of the Earls of Desmond and Earl of Cork and Sir Walter Raleigh in Munster."

Mr. McMahon proposed that they present it to the Chairman.

The Chairman said it should be left there for any councillor to read.

Mr. Harrington noted the Colonel might see his way to send each member a copy.

The Chairman said they were grateful to the Colonel (hear, hear).

Carnegie Free Library.

There were two applications for the position of caretaker and librarian of the Carnegie Free Library—Mrs. Power, widow of the late holder of the position, and Thos. Kiely, Carey's lane, Youghal.

On the proposition of Mr. W. J. Broderick, seconded by several, Mrs. Power was unanimously appointed.

Acknowledgments.

The following letter was read: "Nelson House, Youghal, 11/6/30. Dear Sir—On behalf of the other members of the family and myself, I thank the council very sincerely for their kind resolution of sympathy upon the death of my dear husband, R.P.E. The eloquent and moving tributes paid to his memory by the proposer and seconder of the resolution and other councillors have deeply touched us, and it is a matter of much consolation to us to know and feel that he was held in such high esteem and regard by the members of the body with which he had been associated so long.

"Accept also my thanks for your own kind expression of sympathy—Yours faithfully, Mary J. Hodnett."

Letters of a similar character were also read from Mrs. M. Cunningham, Muckridge, and Mrs. M. A. Power, Carnegie Free Library.

Tenement Houses and Housing.

Mrs. Hurley asked could not something be done to compel landlords of tenements in which numbers of large families lived to put in sanitary arrangements and water. The circumstances under which those poor people existed were exceedingly cruel and conducive to immorality—much more so than mixed bathing or late amusements.

Mr. Lynch said the authorities were so engaged looking after the cattle and the slaughter-houses (laughter) that they had no time to look after men, women and children and their miserable surroundings.

Mrs. Hurley said the council ought take some steps to build houses and enable the poor with their families to get out of their squalid dwellings as was being done elsewhere.

Mr. M. Broderick said the council were helpless in the matter as the Government would not allow them build cheap houses that would meet the want of the poor workingman. The people would have to stay in their slums so long as the Government insisted on their building a class of house beyond the reach of the poor man. Inspectors could write reports about tuberculosis and other diseases as often as he chose, but until the powers that be allowed and helped them to erect cheap, plain houses to let at 3s. or 4s. weekly, they could expect no improvement.

Chairman—What you want principally is plenty of water and light. The size and style of the house is a minor matter.

Mr. McMahon—The Government are in a hobble about the people or us while they have their fine jobs (laughter).

Mixed Bathing.

The Clerk said the next business was the consideration of Canon O'Donoghue's complaints and suggestions regarding mixed bathing and bathing facilities.

The Chairman read the bathing by-laws, which, he said, were in existence for the past 20 years. One clause divided the beach into separate parts for males and females. Proper apparel was required, and no boys over 10 should bathe with ladies.

Mr. Harrington—They don't say anything about boys over 21 (laughter).

Capt. Dunne proposed that the by-laws be put in force.

Clerk—They are already in force.

Mrs. Hurley said while agreeing with the Canon that they should allow no indecency, she didn't agree with him that people living on the front Strand if properly clad should not bathe together opposite their houses. Their respectable visitors should be facilitated. Why condemn all the people for the indecency of the few, who, perhaps, didn't know better? She had been there 10 years and she had never seen any indecency yet. "Blessed are they who believe and don't see" (laughter).

Mr. Dennehy said he had lived ten years on the Strand, and he also thought an exception ought be made in favour of those permanently residing there, if they left their houses decently clad, having only to cross the road to get to the beach.

Mr. McMahon—Would it not be in order to propose an amendment? Let us have something regular.

Mrs. Hurley—I propose an amendment.

Clerk—What is the amendment?

Mrs. Hurley—That the people who dress and undress in their houses on the front Strand and are properly appared be allowed bathe in the morning.

Mr. Dennehy seconded.

Mr. W. J. Broderick said he understood that what the Canon objected to was people leaving their houses clad only in bathing attire. He had no objection to those using an overcoat over their bathing costume.

Mr. Linehan—That is so.

Mr. McMahon—He is objecting to mixed bathing on the front Strand as far as I know. Those by-laws stand in their entirety.

Clerk—They do.

Mr. McMahon—If I am in order—there is an amendment proposed. I think the amendment ought be whether the by-laws are to stand or not. Am I right?

Clerk—There is no occasion for this amendment—are you going to enforce or repeal them?

Chairman—Are you to adhere to what you have here?

Capt. Dunne—I propose it.

Mr. Lynch—Have we any report for years back of anything wrong happening there?

Chairman—Not that I am aware of?

Clerk—No, sir.

Mr. Lynch asked what occasion was therefor all the talk when everything was carried on A1?

Mr. Linehan—Were there not complaints from the P.P.?

Mr. Lynch—People who had complaints to make ought come before the council.

Mr. Harrington said the Canon didn't say he objected to mixed bathing, but he did protest against people going along in public in scant attire. On the moral point of view they would support him, but some people seemed to lose sight of the fact that they were living in the 20th century.

Mr. McMahon—The by-laws are against mixed bathing.

Mr. Harrington—To a certain extent.

Mr. McMahon said that matter should be dealt with finally—he was not talking about Canon O'Donoghue or Canon Harrington (laughter). There was a proposition and an amendment. The first thing was—were they to have the by-laws or not?

Chairman—Are you going to adhere to them?

Mr. Lynch said that subject of mixed bathing was before the council some 12 months ago. As well as he could recollect, it was Mr. McMahon who proposed and argued very strongly that it should be allowed (laughter). Why that complete turn about?

Mr. McMahon—I am only asking about the by-laws. If I did a certain thing 12 months ago I'll do what I like to-night (laughter).

Mr. W. J. Broderick didn't see the necessity for any irritation. The by-laws were there and they gave the council power to take action if any improper conduct was brought to their notice. The amendment implied an alteration of the by-laws and that could not be effected without certain necessary formalities.

Mrs. Hurley—Let things go on as they are, but insist on bathers being decently clad.

Capt. Dunne said they didn't follow him. He wanted the by-laws enforced by putting an Inspector on.

Mrs. Hurley said the people could bathe if they came out decently clad.

Mr. McMahon—No mixed bathing. I will ask the Clerk—is there anything in those by-laws permitting mixed bathing? Clerk—No.

Mr. McMahon—Anyone indulging in mixed bathing can be prosecuted, no matter how clad.

Mrs. Hurley—But they can go across the Ferry to Monaree or just beyond the district boundary, outside the council's jurisdiction and bathe and dress anyway they like. It is ridiculous.

Mr. W. J. Broderick said all that discussion in the world would not solve the question. They had their by-laws; let them deal with each case that came before them.

Chairman—We adhere to the by-laws.

Mr. M. Broderick said the caretakers ought be asked to be more vigilant in seeing that nothing improper took place.

Mrs. Hurley—I'd like to know clearly if the residents on the front Strand can't go bathing in front of their own houses.

Mr. McMahon—I want to make it clear that if our Inspector reports any persons for mixed bathing, no matter what relation or how dressed, the council was bound by the by-laws to prosecute. There will be no invidious distinctions.

Mr. Clancy said there were some objectionable scenes last Sunday, not on the part of residents, but of people coming down for the day. There was a big stretch of Strand, several miles long, with thousands of people straggling along. What about the bathing boxes and shelters—could not people be compelled to use them?

The Chairman said they were giving all the facilities they could. They were not a Scarborough or Blackpool or Brighton; they were only a small place with a small city behind them. They had provided 64 canvas shelters last year, but many people would not avail of them. They had also erected a wooden shelter, but it was both abused by some people and damaged by weather. All they could do after all that discussion was to adhere to their by-laws.

Mr. Clancy agreed with the Chairman. If they could prevent people undressing on the Strand it would be something to the good.

Mr. Harrington said some people thought it too much to pay for the use of the shelters and others cut the canvas, he didn't know how many times.

Mr. Fowkes said that those who refused to use the shelters and undressed on the Strand in view of the public should be prosecuted.

Mr. M. Broderick moved that they put 64 canvas shelters again on commission and that on Wednesdays and Sundays an additional Inspector be appointed to patrol the Strand.

Capt. Dunne—You would then have three.

Mr. Broderick said with thousands of people on that long stretch of beach one or two would not be sufficient.

Mr. Broderick's proposition was adopted unanimously.

Mr. W. J. Broderick—There is no amendment to the by-laws.

Mrs. Hurley—I am not finished. I propose that respectable people on the front Strand, properly clad, be allowed bathe there.

Clerk—There is no objection provided the men confine themselves to their own place.

Mr. McMahon—Let it be settled once and for all.

Mr. W. J. Broderick said they could not alter the by-laws in the summary manner suggested.

The Chairman thought it would be better to just adhere to the by-laws and have no proposition or amendment. There were more ways of choking a dog than by giving him butter (laughter).

The Clerk said there was some complaint due to the town. For years past they had hundreds of thousands of visitors and no official complaint of anything indecent.

Mr. McMahon—Because there was no official in charge. I have been shocked myself at times and it was rather hard to shock me (laughter).

The subject then dropped.

Strand Amusements.

In connection with Canon O'Donoghue's suggestion regarding the closing of amusements on the Strand at 11 o'clock, the Clerk read a letter from Mr. Barker to the effect that the statement that his place had been kept open long after 12 o'clock was not correct. He had always closed between 11.15 and 11.30. He was prepared to do his best to comply with the council's wishes.

Mr. Dennehy said he had never heard of any misconduct traceable to the Strand amusements—the proprietors were always very careful. But there was another aspect of the matter. Many people came to recuperate and rest and they could not do that if there were noises at a late hour.

POTATO BLIGHT.

The presence of blight on potatoes has been reported from Co. Waterford. This early outbreak should serve as a warning to potato growers of the need for spraying their crops before the disease appears.

The potato crop generally is a month later than last season, making all the greater the necessity to protect the crop from blight.

Farmers should spray their crops without loss of time, especially in southern and western counties. Growers are often reluctant to spray backward crops, but it should be remembered that a backward crop is liable to attack from blight as a more forward crop.

For the first spraying of backward crops some growers favour a half-practised, and spraying is hurriedly and 5 lbs. washing soda to 40 gallons of water; but it is of the utmost importance that the full-strength mixture should be used in every case for the first spraying of forward crops and for the second and third sprayings of all crops.

In many districts, especially where the hiring of spraying machines is practised, and spraying is hurriedly performed, a wrong method of mixing the materials has become common, viz., putting powdered bluestone and powdered washing soda into the spraying barrel together and applying immediately the spray thus prepared. Experience has shown that a mixture so prepared has practically no effect in preventing blight. The bluestone should be placed in a canvas bag and hung in the barrel of water until it is completely dissolved. The washing soda should be dissolved in a separate vessel, poured into the barrel, and the contents then thoroughly stirred.

Full information on this subject will be found in Leaflet No. 14, "Potato Blight and its Prevention," which can be had, post free, on application to the Department of Agriculture, Dublin, C. 17.

Land Annuities.

The Irish Land Commission had a number of defaulting annuitants decreed.

Insurance Commissioners v. Michael Cronin.

The Irish Insurance Commissioners had Michael Joseph Cronin, Carrigmore, Gonna, sued for £1 6d. under Section 28, Sub-Section 1 of the National Health Insurance Act, 1929, in respect to contributions for an employee named Wm. Flaherty.

Mr. D. Casey, State Solicitor, Mitchelstown, appeared for complainants and the defendant did not appear and was not professionally represented.

Mr. Casey said he had a letter from the defendant that morning enclosing £2 in settlement, and asking him (Mr. Casey) to have the case settled by telegram, but the latter could not have that done in the time at his disposal as witnesses had to be considered. The defendant also desired that his name would not appear in the Press, but, said Mr. Casey, that is the very thing the Insurance Commissioners want to deter others.

Denis O'Leary, Inspector National Health Insurance, gave evidence in the case, and the costs of court were stated to be 11s.

The Justice gave the decree sought against the defendant.

Ejectment.

The Lismore Estates Company sought an ejectment decree against John P. O'Neill for a house of which he was tenant, situated at West street, Tallow.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE ACT. GIRL SENT TO INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L., D.J. Supt. Mooney, Cappoquin, summoned Wm. Collins, Knocknamuck, under the School Attendance Act in respect of two of his children, aged 12 years and 8 months and 8 years and 9 months, respectively, named Bridget and Thos. Collins.

The children had been pupils at Glencairn National School, and the parents had been previously fined for failure in the attendance of the children at school, and at the last court the mother (Mrs. Collins) was severely cautioned by the Justice for her neglect in not having the children at school.

Guard O'Connell, Ballyduff, gave evidence in the cases, and stated that the children went around the country absolutely wild and did not attend school.

Mrs. Collins, mother of the children, appeared and was examined by the Justice.

After hearing evidence fully the Justice decided in sending the girl to St. Joseph's Industrial School at Mallow, and cautioned the mother to send the boy to Tallow School or otherwise he also would be sent away to an Industrial School from her. Continuing, the Justice said it was the first case of its kind that came under his notice, and he intended keeping an eye on this child and would be at Mallow later on and would call at the Industrial School to inquire about the child. He fined defendant 1s. in each of the two cases, and there was affection really by the parents in this case, and he should do something.

Miscellaneous.

Guard Egan summoned James McLigan, John Dunne and John Allen with breaches of the Lighting Act, and fines of 2s. 6d. were imposed in each case.

David Cullinane, Joseph Pierce, Cornelius Quinn, John Murray and John McGrath and Daniel Callaghan were also summoned for similar offences, and in some cases cautions were administered, while in others fines of 1s. were levied.

JOTTINGS FROM THE LOG OF A YOUGHAL MAN.

By L. R.

I think it is safe to say there is no place in the world where the change from tropical conditions to temperate-zone conditions can be so sudden and marked as on the Suez Canal "run." Up the land-locked Red Sea and Gulf of Suez it is generally sweltering day and night—and yet a complete and permanent change to "home" climate may be run into in the space of 24 hours or so.

One result of this change is seen in the way it often brings out the latent fever in the native crew. Already several of the soft Chittagong lascars are down with it, but only one or two of the hardy Pathan "ogwallas" (firemen) have succumbed. Generally speaking, I think mention of these races, or, indeed, any Indian races, does not convey much to those who have not actually lived in India. Unless one has lived there, one has little conception of the many and various tribes of India, and how "caste" divides them into sects and classes which make them almost as foreign to one another, as we are to them. And not only this, but often greatly affects their various callings. For instance, the "ogwallas" are drawn from the Pathans and Bengalees, whilst the lascars come from Chittagong and Malabar. On board ship there is no intercourse or mingling between these—except occasionally when they indulge in deadly racial fights.

The differences and divisions apply to many other callings. Take, for instance, that of personal servants: There are quite a number of "castes" and races to select from—and also several unsuited as servants. A good Mohammedan is probably the best servant one can have. When he is not saying his prayers he is employed tidying, brushing and polishing his master's things or waiting at table. He is absolutely honest and trustworthy, and always most respectful in manner. A great contrast to the Mohammedan is the Ghoorkha—yet Ghoorkhas also make excellent servants. The Mohammedan tall, thin, bearded, austere, never smiles, let alone laughs: The Ghoorkha, short, thick set, clean shaven, chubbily-faced, always smiling, and bursting into laughter at the least thing. He works like a trojan and is as strong as a horse. His failing is, he cannot always be relied on to know the difference between "mine and thine." Madrasses are not to be recommended as servants, as they are a nambypamby sort of people, lacking in push and go—though personally I had once a very good Madrassa.

Of all the races and castes to choose from, there is only one, which all qualified to express an opinion, definitely warn against—that is the Pathan. These are the men who make such excellent "ogwallas"—the tall people from the Punjab, with the wild, lawless blood of the Afghan coursing in their veins. At one time or another I have had experience of most kinds of servants—I've even had a Pathan.

It was my fate when in India to travel about a lot, and travelling is undoubtedly a great bore for a servant point of view, as the average Indian is by nature a stay-at-home, and so, one can never be quite sure when he is going to "let you down," and refuse to go. It is here one scores with a Ghoorkha. A Ghoorkha will accompany you up and down India with a light heart, indifferent as to whether he spends the night on a "charpoi" or on a railway platform, making himself snug amidst the baggage. He is splendid to look after one's luggage; he brings "chotahazree" (little breakfast) to the carriage at dawn; and whenever the train stops at a station, comes and stands outside the carriage in case he's wanted.

Perhaps it may be interesting to relate my experience of the Pathan as a servant. I travelled up to Ferozepore in the Punjab with an ordinary Hindu servant—not a Pathan. Shortly after arrival there he came to me with a story that his aunt, or, I am not sure, was it his uncle was unwell, and he had to go home. Once they start the game the sooner got rid of the better. I was at that time living in a bungalow with two officers of the 1st Dorset Regiment. As most of my readers will not, I think, be familiar with life "up country" in India, a short description of it will not be out of place.

Life "up country" is quite different from that in the large cities like Bombay and Calcutta. In these cities thousands of "white men" (mostly English and Scotch) spend several years, and many of them their whole lives, employed as managers, assistants, etc., in the great Eastern business houses. But, except for the heat, and the crowds of natives about, there is no great difference between life in these cities and say Dublin or London. They live in splendid hotels and boarding houses, replete with all modern conveniences; and the whole atmosphere is that of a well-organised, up-to-date city.

On the other hand, life "up country" is much more primitive: whilst military methods take the place of civic atmosphere. There are, in fact, two parts to every town or city—there is the native quarter, characterised by its teaming population, narrow streets, awful pot-hole roads, and appalling stenches; and then there is the "Cantonment," where the military, Civil Servants and other "white" people live.

The "Cantonment" is always a finely laid out, spacious place. There are generally two broad main roads running parallel to one another with short roads here and there connecting them. In between, and flanking the main roads are the bungalows. Nearly all the bungalows have only a ground floor, and the number of rooms varies from about 4 to 12, with, say, 7 or 8 in a fair-sized bungalow. The rents vary correspondingly—a small one being about 24 rupees a month (32s.) and a large one 80 to 100. (These are pre-war charges—I believe rents are now much increased).

Each bungalow is situated near the centre of its own plot of land called a "compound." Some occupants make heroic efforts to cultivate their compounds—but it is an uphill job against a gruelling sun, and so, in the majority of cases they present a "weary waste, expanding to the skies." Still, custom has it that all "sahibs" should keep a "molee" (gardener), and though he does little or nothing to cultivate the large compound, still he does get a few flower beds and pots to grow in the immediate vicinity of the bungalow. The pots usually grow less.

Right at the back of the compound and farthest from the bungalow are the quarters for the servants. Though the mud huts they live in are tiny, the total population in each compound is that of a fair-sized village. For example, say there are four officers sharing a bungalow. Each will have his personal servants, and in addition there will be servants shared by all. One's personal servants will be a "kutmugar" and "bearer"; also a "choera" (small boy); and two "punkha-wallas." For each horse kept there will be a "syce" (many kept two or three horses). So that personal servants, amount to 6 to 9 each. Then the "shared" servants will be: "dhoobie" (washerman), "molee" (gardener) and "chowkidar" (night watchman), and "matre" (sweeper). As each and all of the above are sure to be blessed with a large family, one can easily tot up what the "village" will amount to.

The Cantonment is run by the "Cantonment Magistrate," who is a senior military officer specially selected for the job. One would imagine the military would own the whole Cantonment—but almost the opposite is the case. The military always own the barracks in which soldiers are quartered, and in a few large stations such as Meerut and Secunderabad, they own quarters for officers. But in the great majority of stations quarters are not provided for officers, but they have to make their own arrangements and "double up" with one another in bungalows. These Cantonment bungalows are owned almost altogether by wealthy natives; but they cannot charge what they like for them, as the rent is fixed by the Cantonment Magistrate.

On all sides bungalows are surrounded by broad, well-shaded verandahs, on which one's beds are usually put by the servants at dusk. Not infrequently beds are brought up on the flat roofs—though this is not always safe, as one will be badly caught should a dust storm or tropical shower suddenly come on.

The "Cantonment Bazaar" provides for the requirements of the inhabitants. It is a place set apart where there are several provision and other shops run by natives. Amongst these are the furniture stores. Officials of the Indian Civil Service and such like people who spend their lives in India usually own their own furniture—but not so the military. One of the first things a military man does on arrival at a station is to make a B-line for the furniture store where he hires things. As well as I can remember it used be five rupees a month for 20 articles. Or perhaps he may take over the furniture of somebody departing.

Such is a brief outline of bungalow life "up country"—but I must now get back to where my servant's aunt was taken ill shortly after my arrival at Ferozepore.

A few days after the disconcerting announcement I was dining on a "guest night" at the 15th Bengal Lancers Mess. Chatting after dinner, I asked if anybody could recommend a servant as I wanted one. We then had a discussion on servants in general, during which several officers of the regiment said there was nothing to beat a good Pathan—though they all agreed he should not be taken unless on strong and reliable recommendation.

A few days after this I was lying on an easy-chair on my verandah. Nearby was my bull-terrier and terrier "Pick," stretched at full length, their tongues hanging out, eyes closed, and sides panting in the sweltering heat. The movements of the punkha overhead had become slower and slower until finally I was being lulled to sleep by the snores of the punkha-walla. Suddenly I got a rude awakening by "Pick" springing up and barking furiously. A splendid specimen of a young swarthy Pathan was approaching across the compound. Clicking his heels he came to a halt, and giving a military salute handed me a note. The note was from one of the officers of the Bengal Lancers strongly recommending the bearer as a servant. Judging by appearance, he was just the class of chap I would not have at any price—still mindful of the recent discussion, and being recommended from such a source, I decided to give him a trial, and I was afterwards right glad I did as he turned out an excellent fellow.

Perhaps I might make a short digression here to refer to my terrier "Pick." He was the little dog afterwards well known in Youghal. Somehow the Youghal youths never took kindly to the name "Pick," and so they christened him the more euphemistic name of "scad-eye." Well it was in Ferozepore he acquired his "scad-eye." One of the officers in the bungalow had a big powerful Irish terrier, for whom "Pick," of course, was no match, but as he could never funk any dog, no matter how big, we had a busy time trying to keep them apart. During one deadly encounter poor "Pick" had his eye bitten through and completely lost it.

Some time after I got my Pathan I got a transfer to Barrackpore, and was very pleased when he said he would accompany me. The day before we were due to start, our "Mollie" died suddenly. Sudden deaths amongst natives are common enough, but even so, the police must make investigation, so they came to the compound, and after fussing about a bit, went away. Next night I was seated in the carriage, and the train about to start, when a jemadar police officer came to me and said they wanted to arrest the Pathan in connection with the death of the "Mollie." This was a great blow, as travelling in India without a servant is awful, and next to impossible. So I asked him to show his warrant. He said he had only just got the order, and had not time to get a warrant. Whereupon I immediately adopted the "strong man" attitude, and said they would not touch him without a warrant. Of course I was only bluffing, but the bluffing succeeded, and after an altercation, during which the train was delayed, they allowed him to travel. But they had evidently telegraphed about him, because all along down the line, wherever the train stopped, a policeman came and inquired about the Pathan. I felt sure a warrant would be issued, and in due course he would be brought back from Barrackpore—but I never heard anything more.

Shortly after arrival at Barrackpore I noticed our hero getting slack and careless in his work, and quite a contrast to what he had been. As remonstrance had not the desired effect, I fined him—but even this did not improve matters. He was evidently "banking" on the fact that as I had brought him such a long distance, I would not go to the expense of paying his fare back, and could not turn him adrift if he did not mend I would not pay his fare, but would sack him—and eventually I sacked him. Having done so I felt in a funk, as the thought of a stealthy Pathan stalking about haunted me; and though I took the precaution of sleeping with a loaded revolver under my pillow, it was poor comfort, as of course the Pathan glories in knifing one as you sleep.

A few days after sacking him I was once again reclining on the verandah on an easy chair when once again our hero advanced across the compound, clicking his heels he saluted and handed me a note. It was from a Colonel's wife. She said her husband had been ordered to Poona, and they were in a fix, as none of their servants would accompany them. She said the Pathan had come along and offered to go, and that, though she was willing to take almost anybody, she hesitated to take him, as he had no "chit" from me. What had I to say about him?

I told her exactly my experience of him—how I had found him an ideal servant in the Punjab, but he had completely changed on arrival at Barrackpore, etc. Anyway, to my relief she took him with her, so I was able to put away my revolver and sleep in peace once again.

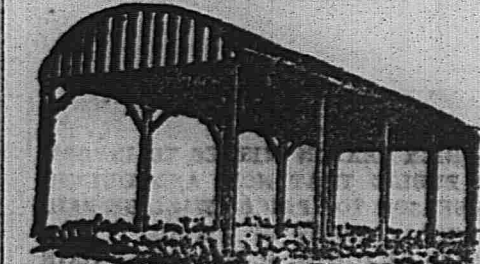

About a year after this I accompanied the 93rd Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders to Poona. Instead of going the usual route, across country by train, we embarked at Calcutta on the s.s. "Hardinge" of the Royal Indian Marine, and had a pleasant voyage around to Bombay and thence by train to Poona. I was of course curious to find out about the Pathan, so I promptly looked up my friends. The good lady told me the lad was a perfect treasure for a month—then, one fine night he disappeared, with most of her jewellery. He took over 2,000 rupees worth and had never been caught.

Naturally this set me thinking. In the first place I felt pleased I had told her exactly how I found him. One likes to be generous in giving a "character," and in addition I had the added incentive of that by giving a good one, I would be getting rid of one I would be very anxious to see out of Barrackpore. As it was, I had no reason to reproach myself when she told me of her loss.

In the second place, thinking over various little incidents which occurred when he was my servant, and putting two and two together, I have not now the smallest doubt but that he poisoned the "Molee" at Ferozepore. I can see my precaution of having the revolver under my pillow was well warranted—though in practice it would have been of small avail against such a cunning rascal.

Motto—have nothing to do with Pathans. (To be Continued).

COTTAGE RENT COLLECTOR DISMISSED.

The monthly meeting of the above was held in the Courthouse, Dungarvan, on Saturday. Mr. Patk. O'Gorman, chairman, presided. Also present were—Messrs. G. J. Greene, J. O'Donnell, D. Heskin, J. Kiersey, Wm. Stack, P. J. Fox, M. Curran, Mee. Keane and M. F. Walsh.

Holidays.

The Secretary was granted one month's holidays.

Financial Statement.

The monthly financial statement showed a credit balance of £3,171 12s. 10d., which was considered satisfactory.

Ring Water Supply.

The board decided to advertise for contractors in connection with the extension of the water supply to Ring.

Tallow Water Supply.

Arising out of a list of names of persons who had refused to pay water rate in the Tallow area, a short discussion took place.

The Secretary, in reply to a member, said that the supply from that point of view was not satisfactory.

The board made an order to have the water cut off at the main unless the arrears were paid up.

Tramore Water.

Arising out of the minutes of the Tramore Public Health Committee a short discussion took place on the suggestion of the committee that no change be made in the water charges, but that water meters be installed in certain premises where large supplies were being used.

The board stated they did not approve of the meter system, and referred the matter back again to the Tramore Committee for further consideration.

Labourers' Cottage.

A man named Murphy made application to the board for the tenancy of a labourer's cottage at Villierstown. The matter was adjourned for one month.

Drumroe Water Supply.

Mr. Walsh drew attention to the condition of the above supply, and said the residents had to go to Cappoquin or Lismore for water. He asked that the engineer be requested to go and inspect the pump.

The engineer was directed to inspect and report.

Cappoquin Supply.

Mr. Walsh also drew attention to the Cappoquin supply and said one day of last week there was no water in Cappoquin.

No Tenant.

There was no applicant for the tenancy of the labourers' cottage vacant at Kilbeg, Tallow.

Mr. Heskin said two or three prospective tenants called on him in connection with the cottage.

The matter was adjourned until next meeting.

New Houses.

Permission was granted to Messrs. Hamilton, contractors, to connect with the water main at Tramore in connection with the building of new houses. The board guaranteed 75 per cent. of the cost of the extension provided at least four houses were built, the extension to be the property of the board.

Curragh Water Supply.

Mr. Spreadboro, engineer, reported that he had traced and examined the source of the proposed water supply at Curragh, Ardmore, and was satisfied that it would give a good supply. His estimate for a tank to be erected was £150.

Ballinacorney Supply.

The engineer also reported that the pipes in the above supply were all scoured and that the water was now free from contamination and safe for drinking purposes.

Collector Dismissed.

A letter was read from Mr. John Power, rent collector, Clonmel No. 2, offering an explanation which was sought for by the board as to why arrears of rent were allowed to accrue on the cottage occupied by John Brazil.

The board did not consider the explanation satisfactory.

Secretary—There is a letter from the Minister for Local Government and Public Health calling the board's attention to the issuing of unofficial receipts recently, and the Minister considers that the board should dispense with his services. They also drew attention to his suspension in 1926 for the issue of an unofficial receipt.

On the proposition of Mr. Greene, seconded by the Chairman, a resolution was passed that the services of Mr. Power be dispensed with.

The board decided to advertise for a collector for next meeting on the same terms.

Dunmore East Water Supply.

The following tenders were received for a supplemental water supply to Dunmore East, viz.:—Wm. Power, Waterford, £1,065 4s.; Rd. Nolan, £1,595; Jas. Elliskson, £1,511 8s. 2d. The estimate of the engineer was £1,050. Wm. Power's tender was accepted.

Sinking Pump.

For the sinking of an artesian pump at Russellstown School, the following tenders were read:—Thos. Kiely, Ballinacorney, through clay, 27s. 6d. per foot and through rock, 29s. 6d. per foot. Artesian Well Boring Co., Kilmeady, Co. Limerick, through clay, 7s. 6d. per foot; through rock, 23s. 6d. per foot. Irish Boring Co., Dublin, for first 20 feet, 8s. 6d. per foot, and 14s. per foot afterwards. Lacy Bros., Clonmel, £1 per foot for first 20 feet, and 30s. per foot afterwards.

The tender of the Irish Boring Co., Dublin, was accepted.

Stradbally Cottage.

A man named Colbert appeared before the meeting and made application for the tenancy of the cottage in the Stradbally area, which was until recently occupied by a man named Jas. Fitzgerald, who had gone from the district.

The board decided to take proceedings to recover the cottage from Fitzgerald and to give Colbert the tenancy.

DEATH OF VERY REV. JAMES LYNCH, INCHINDRISLA, DUNGARVAN.

We regret to announce the death of the Very Rev. James Lynch, P.P., Wrey's Bush, New Zealand, which occurred at Vincent's Hospital, Dublin, on Tuesday night. Fr. Lynch arrived home in his native Inchindrisla five weeks ago on a six months' holiday from his pastoral duties at Wrey's Bush, New Zealand. He was apparently in perfect health and looked hale and hearty after his arrival, but a few weeks ago he found it necessary to consult his medical adviser, and going to Dublin for treatment he grew worse, and passed away on Tuesday night to the great grief of his family and his countless friends.

Father James Lynch was sprung from a most respected local family, and was son of the late Mr. John J. Lynch, Inchindrisla, Dungarvan. He was brother of Rev. John Lynch, Greystones, Dublin, and formerly of the New Zealand Mission, and of Rev. Ed. Lynch, New Zealand, and of Patrick, Walter and Michael Lynch, Inchindrisla. He was educated at St. Augustine's Seminary, Dungarvan, and was ordained at Carlow College in 1889 for the New Zealand Mission. "Neath the Southern Cross he has laboured for 41 years in the Lord's Vineyard, and no more zealous or devoted priest ever ministered to his flock than did Father Lynch to his parishioners away down South. By them he was adored. For their spiritual and temporal welfare he laboured late and early, and the schools and churches he built are a monument to his zeal.

A distinguished-looking cleric of magnificent build—he stood over 6ft. in height—he had the heart of a child, and his smiling countenance and beaming Irish eyes made him beloved of all. His unexpected death in his far away parish of Wrey's Bush.

Prior to leaving on a six months' holiday in his native land, he was farewelled by the pupils of the schools in his parish. The lambs of his flock have ever been the most precious charge of their zealous master, and countless are the kindnesses they have received at his hands. It was by his generosity that St. Patrick's Day, 1930, was rendered a red-letter day in the lives of the children of the schools, and for many a year they will recall the sumptuous treat provided for them by their kind Father. The Wrey's Bush entertainment took place on March 26th, after which a tiny lad came forward and said: "Here, Father," and presented Fr. Lynch with a pocket book and a pair of kid gloves. Songs, recitations and step dances followed. After the chorus "Farewell" was sung, Fr. Lynch, almost overpowered with emotion, thanked the children for their gifts and for their sweet and touching entertainment. He trusted he would soon be amongst them once more, and bade them not farewell, but "Au Revoir." He thanked them for their promise of prayers, and said when he would arrive in the Land of Saints he would ask for them the one thing that was necessary, and that was they should become holy and make their own land also a land of saints. At Nightcaps School on March 27th he was also entertained by the children and given gifts. At the conclusion of the concert Fr. Lynch saw to the distribution of sweets, which were much appreciated by the children and after a fervent "God bless you," departed, leaving behind him grateful young hearts which promised to have a great welcome for him when he returned to them. But alas! God has otherwise decreed.

On Thursday the remains were conveyed by motor from Dublin to the Parish Church, Kilgobinet, where on this (Friday) morning there will be Requiem Office and High Mass for the repose of his soul. The interment will take place in the adjoining burial ground subsequently. R.I.P.

DEATH.

GOOD—At O'Connell street, Dungarvan, Minnie, wife of Peter Good, late of Skibbereen, on Thursday, 12th June, 1930. Interred in Caheragh Churchyard, Co. Cork, on Saturday, 14th June. For ever with the Lord. Deeply regretted by her sorrowing family.

Local Happenings.

SALARIES INCREASED.

At the meeting of County Board of Public Assistance on Wednesday the salaries of the nurses attached to the Lismore Hospital were increased. Undoubtedly the nurses have very onerous duties to perform, and they are entitled to due remuneration for their services. The pity of it is that the money is so scarce and the times so bad that ratepayers cannot afford very much. With pig prices dropping daily; milk at 4d. per gallon; eggs at 8d. per dozen; fresh butter, 10 1/2d. a lb.; the turnip crop a failure; oats stunted and hay short, the farmer cannot afford much luxury, and it is due to him that until such time as he can make ends meet with some degree of certainty, all increases should be suspended. Depression is not local in any sense; it is world wide, and the danger is that with over-production in every country, there may be no money at all left with us very soon.

MUSICAL SUCCESSES.

At the recent Leinster School of Music Examinations held at the Mercy Convent, two highly successful candidates were Master F. M. J. Geary, who secured first-class honours, Middle Grade, 1st year, and Master Paul Hyland, who secured 1st class honours, Junior Grade, 2nd year. Both pupils are students in St. Augustin's Seminary, and were presented for examination by Mrs. K. Keohan, A.L.C.M.

HOLIDAYS.

The Secretary was granted one month's holidays, which he will arrange to take so as to cause no inconvenience to the board.

DRAWING RELIEF.

Mr. Phelan, Superintendent Assistance Officer, reported that a woman named Mrs. Houlihan, Bakehouse lane, Waterford, was drawing Home Assistance on account of the alleged desertion of her husband. From inquiries made it is known that during portion of that time she was in receipt of £4 per month from her husband.

BOARDING-OUT CHILDREN.

The board were unanimous in allowing proceedings to be taken against the woman, holding that it was hard enough to give Home Assistance in deserving cases.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

The annual meeting of the County Council for the election of Chairman, etc., will be held in Dungarvan on Tuesday next.

July 13th will be a great day of which more anon.

DUNGARVAN SHOW.

Exhibitors are requested to send in their entries at once and so avoid the usual big rush at the finish. No time should be lost as the event will certainly be a record one. Entry forms, etc., can be had from the Secretary.

HAPPY DAIL!

The Dail adjourned this week for five months and will meet next in November. What a pity we all cannot be members of the Dail and enjoy such a thorough holiday on full pay. Then, indeed, would life be worth living.

FIRE AT STRADBALLY.

On Wednesday morning a fire was discovered at Cove Cottage, Stradbally, occupied by Mrs. Phelan. The fire was at once apprised and aided by the neighbours, all the available water possible was thrown on the thatched roof, and after some time the flames were got under control, and eventually extinguished. Except that the roof was badly damaged, the interior of the house did not suffer.

DUNGARVAN H. AND F. CLUB.

All members of the senior and junior football teams are requested to attend at the Gaelic Field each night during the next three weeks to assist in training footballers for the inter-county match with Kerry on July 13th. The committee expect every available member to do his best to attend with tags, as they intend to play at least three matches per week.

A BEAUTIFUL MONUMENT.

During the past few days a beautiful monument has been erected at Lismore Cemetery over the graves of the late John and Kate Croity, Main street. The work, which has been carried out by Messrs. Molloy and Sons, Sculptors, Dungarvan, has been much admired by all who saw it.

STRANGLY GARDENS AND CASTLE.

The Gardens and Houses at Stranally Castle and Gurteen were open to visitors on Sunday last in aid of the Jubilee Nurses' Fund, and there was a large attendance at each place.

DELUGE AND LIGHTNING.

On Wednesday in various parts of Ireland there was much thunder and lightning, followed by heavy rains. A big lot of damage was done. In this county no rain fell that day. On Wednesday the famous Ascot race meeting was washed out after the first race. A bookmaker was killed on the course with lightning and two others injured. The ladies' finery was reduced to rags, and they had to get from the course knee deep in water and mud.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT IN DUNGARVAN.

In a very interesting Billiard Tournament in the National Club Rooms, Dungarvan, on Sunday between six players of the Legion Club, Limerick, and six local players, Limerick men to the number of 38 travelled by bus and had a very pleasant time here. Dungarvan won the six games, viz.—E. Keohan, 200; J. Hackett, expert cueist, Legion Club, 161; T. B. Boyle, 200; W. Fitzgerald (L.), 197; J. C. Keohan, 200; J. Glynn, 135; T. Butler, 200; L. Simma, 129; M. Fuge, 200; G. Fitzgerald, 169; D. Phelan, 100; M. Roche, 82. Mr. Keohan in a felicitous speech thanked the visitors for coming amongst them, and A. Glynn replied and said if ever they came to Limerick they would be glad to receive them.

MATCHES AT YOUGHAL.

On Sunday Youghal was the venue for two football games—one an inter-county friendly and a Hurling League fixture. The attendance was small when the first game between Sarsfields and Youghal in the final of the East Cork Minor Football Championship was set under the way, but rapidly grew before the conclusion. The hour fixed—2 p.m.—was a bit early. Sarsfields were successful in capturing the championship after a good game. The game which followed between Tralee (Co. Kerry) and Youghal (Co. Cork) was a splendid exhibition, and the result, a draw, was a fitting end to the play. Youghal early on took the lead, but Tralee soon equalised. The home-sters went ahead again, and after a great tussle the teams drew level once more. The League fixture between Youghal and Dungourney was a fast-scoring game. Excitement was intense during the course of the game; it was a sterling match, some thrilling passages occurring. Youghal were winners with a comfortable margin. Mr. S. Moynihan, Middleton Football Club, had charge of the opening game. Mr. J. Beckett, member of County Board, refereed the inter-county challenge, and Mr. J. Donnelly, Ballymacoda H.C., held the whistle in the hurling match. It was shortly after the appointed hour when Mr. Moynihan set the Minors under way.

SARSFIELDS v. YOUGHAL.

Sarsfields won the toss and played with the advantage of a slight breeze. Youghal had the better of the opening exchanges, getting close into the square, but the goalie cleared nicely. Youghal returned again, but the backs cleared, an following up, sent over at the other end. Following the kick-out Sarsfields secured possession and shot a point. Youghal invaded and were pressing hard for a score, but the ball was transferred to other end and another minor recorded. A free to Youghal relieved for the moment, but Sarsfields again attacked, and after some time Youghal brought play into visitors' territory, but the goalie again saved. A 50 to Sarsfield was well delivered and saved at the expense of a free, which was sent wide. Soon after another 50 was likewise saved, and a free to Youghal eased the situation. Youghal made repeated attacks, but to no avail. Sarsfields recorded two overs in succession, and as a result of a fity notched a point, leaving the score at half-time:—

SARSFIELDS—3 points.
YOUGHAL—Nil.

On resumption Sarsfields took possession, and getting close in, sent in a fast shot, but the goalie cleared for the time being. Returning again Sarsfields shot wide. The visitors had the advantage now, and pressing hard increased their score with a major, despite a stubborn resistance. Soon after a break away by the home-sters looked like a score, but a great opportunity went a-begging. Though Youghal tried hard to score they were unsuccessful, and their opponents did not supplement their register. When the full period arrived the score was:—

SARSFIELDS—1 goal 3 points.
YOUGHAL—Nil.

The teams were:—
Sarsfields—J. Hirihiy, M. J. Walsh, M. Lewis, C. Lewis, D. Hogan, W. Beckett, E. O'Callaghan, G. Delaney, M. Murphy, G. Foley, R. Driscoll, M. Coleman, C. Lutterall, B. Bowman, M. Brennan.

Youghal—J. Forrest, J. Long, J. Hanon, P. Aherne, J. Foley, A. Monahan, T. Sheehan, B. Mulcahy, D. Meehan, G. Murphy, T. Murphy, J. Walsh, T. Griffin, M. Walsh, T. Sexton.

TRALEE v. YOUGHAL.

Youghal won on the spin of the coin and played towards the town goal. Making rapid headway the home-sters were first to send wide. This they followed with another. Keeping on the pressure Youghal were awarded a free close in and shot a point. A clever dash by the home forwards resulted in similar score. Play was not in progress five minutes when Youghal had three points to their credit. Tralee were beginning to settle down and some lovely football ensued. The visitors started a passing movement and made a lot of ground when a long drive saw them on the defensive again and Youghal sent over the bar. A free to Tralee was well placed and the goalie saved, but the opposing forwards pounced on the ball and shot a great goal. In the next moment Tralee drew level with a minor. The game was very fast and Youghal had hard luck soon after just missing the objective. One of the visitors was temporarily injured, and on resuming the home-sters again took the lead with a point, and further increased this with a major. Shortly after the Tralee full-back had to leave the field, and on being replaced the game again started at a great pace. Lively wing play followed, and Tralee got the advantage of the exchanges sending the ball into the square, where, as a result of a melee they captured a goal. A point separated their registers, and at the interval the score stood:—

YOUGHAL—1 goal 5 points.
TRALEE—2 goals 1 point.

Tralee were combining well from the resumption, and a quick get away saw the Youghal goal in jeopardy. A timely clearance transferred play to centre-field. Another determined effort by the Kerry representatives brought the scores level again. Both sides strove hard to obtain the lead, and a hard and clever bout took place. Great enthusiasm prevailed when Youghal again went ahead with a well-earned minor score. Tralee took the offensive and gave the opposing back division a gruelling time, bombarding them with hard shots, but they stood up well. A clever passing movement by Tralee wound up in a minor, and they again returned for a similar score. Only one point divided the teams, and Youghal fought hard to retain their lead. Play travelled up and down the field, and both defences were in turn subjected to fierce onslaughts. Amid applause and just before the final whistle went Tralee succeeded in obtaining the equalising point, leaving the score:—

YOUGHAL—2 goals 5 points.
TRALEE—2 goals 5 points.

HURLING.

DUNGOURNEY v. YOUGHAL.

The home-sters again won the toss and played against the slight breeze in the initial period. Youghal took possession and opened the scoring with a point. Some give and take exchanges took place before both teams settled down, and the hurling which followed was a treat to watch. Youghal flashed through a goal. Their forwards were playing with great precision, and they gave a splendid display. The visitors were again defending and a lengthy drive rebounding off the crossbar was doubled in for another goal. A brilliant bout of play ensued, which was held up through an injury to a Youghal man. Resuming Dungourney invaded and raised the green flag. Youghal replied with a similar score. Both sides scored in turn, Youghal adding a few goals, leaving the half-time result:—

YOUGHAL—4 goals 2 points.
DUNGOURNEY—2 goals.

In the concluding period Youghal had well the measure of their opponents, and taking advantage of scoring opportunities, added goal after goal. The final result by no means gives an accurate picture of the game. The home defence was hard put to it to keep out the fast attacks of Dungourney. Long driving was a feature of the game, and enthusiasm was high as the game proceeded. The final whistle gave the home-sters victory with a comfortable margin, the score being:—

YOUGHAL—10 goals 5 points.
DUNGOURNEY—5 goals 3 points.

The teams were:—
Youghal—C. Griffin, J. Whelan, G. Walsh, J. Connors, C. McLoughlin, T. Mahony, D. Holland, T. Crowley, D. Coakley, T. Swaine, T. Griffin, C. Donoghue, J. Donoghue, T. Donoghue, J. O'Keefe.
Dungourney—B. Moore (capt.), P. Ahern, P. Stack, M. O'Keefe, J. O'Keefe, M. Dinneen, J. Mulcahy, W. O'Mahony, P. Noonan, T. Clue, J. O'Keefe, J. Ahern, J. Ahern, C. Callaghan, J. Merrigan.

SUCCESS OF WATERFORD MINORS IN HURLING.

TIPPERARY WIN McGRATH CUP.

At Clonmel on Sunday before a good attendance Tipperary and Limerick met in the final round of the McGrath Cup, presented by Mr. Pat McGrath, the general Secretary of the Munster Council, and after a strenuous game Tipperary won by 5-7 to 0-3. In minor hurling Waterford met Limerick and gave a great display, their clever defence and sound front line being well worth looking at. They won a well-deserved victory by 4-2 to 2-4.

The game opened with some smart exchanges, Waterford getting a seventy. The free was a poor effort, but Waterford pressed for an over, after which Limerick changed to the other end for a wide. A hard challenge was then set up by Limerick, who had to retire, and Waterford, getting most of the open play, strongly forced an entry. Egan cleared, but the clearance was not of much account, for Waterford, securing possession, Mahony found the Limerick net with a smashing shot. Attacking from the delivery, Waterford again looked dangerous and a rather good defence was beaten by Mahony, who fended the second goal for the Urbs Intacta. Limerick were very prominent in the next stage, their forwards maintaining a great offensive against a splendid defence. A nice piece of play saw Donoghue cross the bar for Limerick's first score—a point. Another attack was set up by Limerick and a goal rushed. At this stage one of the Waterford side had to retire owing to an accident. The game was resumed with Limerick being beaten almost in the Waterford goal-mouth. After much activity in all departments, Limerick sent over, and Waterford carried back without avail. A seventy to Limerick was taken by Mackey, but nothing resulted against a sound defence. Two players who were figuring prominently on the Limerick side were sons of the famous "Tyler" Mackey. A couple of visits made to Limerick's ground having been unproductive, Limerick had a few overs before they broke through for a point, to which Waterford replied with a goal, Mahony to Good. The interval was reached with the score standing:

WATERFORD—3 goals.
LIMERICK—1 goal 2 points.

Limerick opened the second half with some spirited exchanges, but the opposing backs held their territory well. A seventy to Waterford having been neutralised, play remained in Limerick quarters, where the play was forced in full strength, but without effect. A tough tussle gave Waterford a seventy for Byrne to run up a point. After a stiff encounter at centre the advantages went to Limerick, who were sent back to midfield again, from which Waterford attacked for Donoghue to intercept a well-placed ball and put up a point. Limerick, though hurling well, went in too much for overhead play, and lost a couple of chances. In the next stage Limerick's net had a narrow shave, but Egan proved himself a very capable defender. Both sides were now having frequent visits to the rival territories with a series of wides. A change in the run of the play soon came when Limerick were given a seventy. The shot was taken by Mackey, accurately centred and forced through the Waterford net. Waterford gave a fine display in the next challenge, which produced a minor and a similar score over their opponents. After some loose play Waterford were awarded a free close in for Pinkers to lower the Limerick net. To this Limerick responded with two overs, and an interesting match closed with Waterford's success on the score:

WATERFORD—4 goals 2 points.
LIMERICK—2 goals 4 points.

Waterford—P. Griffin, P. Hodgins, L. Byrne, P. Keogh, D. Wyse, J. Griffin, J. Whelan, E. Pinker, J. Ryan, J. McCarthy, D. Gardie, D. O'Mahony, M. Murphy, D. Ryan, M. Morrissey.
Referee—Mr. J. Leahy, Tipperary.

Youghal District Court.

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.

Unlicensed Dogs.
Guard McGinn charged B. Revins with having an unlicensed dog three years old. The license had since been taken out. Fined 5s.
The same complainant charged John Dunlea with a like offence and he was also fined 5s.

No Lights.
Guard Mulooly charged Richard Neligan with cycling without a light. Fined 2s.
For using an unlighted vehicle, at the suit of the same complainant, Michael Long was fined 3s.

Defaultly Annuitants.
A number of civil bills for annuities by the Land Commission were disposed of. Mr. T. K. Keane, solr. (for Mr. Ryan, State Solicitor, Dungarvan) for plaintiffs.

Cruelty to Animals.
Stephen McCarthy, Carrigtwohill, was charged with cruelty to animals. Inspector O'Brien prosecuted.

Guard Pottrell said that on fair day he found 29 store pigs and three calves in a laggy belonging to defendant. The pigs were scattered on the floor and the calves standing on top of them, there being no room for them. McCarthy said the calves were put in by a farmer without his knowledge. Witness pointed out that some of the pigs were lying on top of others. The pigs were in a bad condition—steam coming from them and they were gasping for breath. The 100y was 5ft. x 5ft. 9ins. x 2ft. 6ins.
Inspector Watchhorn, N.S.P.C.C., corroborated the Guard's evidence.
The Justice said the excuse given by defendant was a very lame one. It appeared he had been previously fined 20s. and costs for a like offence. He would now be fined 40s. and costs.

Wandering Animals.
Sergt. Lupton charged William McCarthy, Burgess, with allowing a horse wander on the main road at Burgess.

Replying to the Court, the Sergeant said it was a dangerous place for wandering animals, being on the main road from Cork to Youghal.
The Justice said he would put a stop to the offence by heavy penalties in future. Fined 2s.

Alleged Abduction.
Vincent Cronin, Cross street, was charged with the abduction of Mary J. Connors, aged 17 years 8 months.

Inspector O'Brien prosecuted and Mr. T. K. Keane, solr., defended.
On the application of the Inspector, the accused was remanded for one week on bail.

Drunk.
Sergt. Eddie, Ballymacoda, charged John O'Mara, fisherman, with being drunk on the public road.
The Justice said he remembered that name being on the books before.
He was fined 2s. 6d.

School Attendance Case.
Guard Downes charged Jeremiah Twomey with the non-attendance of his child at school.

Complainant said the child was 6 years 4 months and had been absent without excuse 28 days out of 41.
The Justice, in fining defendant 2/6, which would be increased for any future offence, said he would like to state for the benefit of parents, that at another court recently he had sent a child to an Industrial School.

Dungarvan Co-operative Creamery Company v. Burke.
This was an application for an instalment order on foot of a decree for £3 17s. 9d.

Mr. Wm. R. Hodnett, solr., for plaintiffs.
Mr. Maher, manager of the plaintiff company, having given evidence, said they were prepared to accept anything. Defendant was a farmer at Adrigole. He took in razziers.

Justice—What do you suggest?

Witness said they would take 10s. a quarter.

Mr. Hodnett said the plaintiffs felt if they allowed defendant get away with it would lead to a lot of trouble. Justice—Small debts in one sense are more important than large ones—they are much more numerous.

An order was made for the payment of 10s. per month.

In a similar application against Mr. Curran, Ballylangdon (Mr. Hodnett for plaintiffs), Mr. Maher said the debt was £3 17s. 7d. Defendant had his farm let to another farmer in whose employment he was.

A like order was made, Mr. Maher stating that if there was any hardship involved they would extend the time for payment.

In a like application on behalf of the Land Commission against Ed. Murray, Coolbeggan, publican, etc., Mr. T. K. Keane, solr. (for Mr. Ryan, State Solicitor, Dungarvan) appeared for plaintiffs.

Examined by Mr. Keane, defendant said at the present time a public-house in the country was a "dead letter." He sold on an average four dozen of stout per week, for which he paid 4s. 9d. per dozen, selling it for 6s. He had one cow, aged 2½ years. She was in calf, worth perhaps £8 to £10. His land was largely mountain and waste. He had a large family—7 or 8 children, and a brother and an invalid sister living with him. He met a lot of reverses and a lot of bad customers in the troubled times. He has lost his horse and could not work his farm. His wife had another farm nearby. She paid her rent. If he put up his place he might not get £150 for it. His wife and brother had a claim on his farm. There were six half-yearly instalments due amounting to £9 9s. 6d. The license was about £5 7s. 6d.

After a very protracted hearing, the Justice made an order for the payment of 10s. monthly.

Defendant—That takes it out of the children's mouths. Before God, I am not scheming. It is a case of being purely run down.

Justice—What do you say you could pay?

Defendant—I'd try to pay 5s. a month, and before long I might be able to pay the whole lot.

The Justice said that would take some four years to pay. The order stood.

Net Forfeited.
Sergt. Eddie, Ballymacoda, applied for the forfeiture of a net found fishing illegally.

Evidence having been given to the effect that the net—192 yards long—was found fixed to the rocks at Barry's Cove and weighted outside.

The Justice made an order for its forfeiture and sale, the proceeds to be applied as penalties.

A WILD GIRL SENT FOR TRIAL AT LISMORE.

At Lismore District Court, before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L., D.J., Superintendent Wm. Mooney, Cappoquin, charged a young girl of the domestic servant class named Helena Wren, of Glencairn, in custody charged that she did steal, take and carry away the sum of 14s., a girl's coat, value £2 2s., and a dress value 40s., all the property of Miss Nellie Heafy, of New street, Lismore, on 23rd May. The defendant, who had been arrested at Dublin the previous day, was not professionally represented and was present in custody.

The first witness examined was Mrs. Margaret Heafy, New street, Lismore, who stated that she lived with her husband and daughter Nellie. On 21st May the accused, Lena Wren, was staying with witness, who was aunt to accused. She often stayed with them from time to time. On 23rd May Nellie left the house about 7.30 a.m., and her husband left it at 7.45 a.m., and witness went out about 8 a.m., and left the accused in the house alone. Witness came back about 11.30 a.m. and the accused was not in the house. It was empty and the door was not locked. The three of them slept together the previous night. At about 12 o'clock her daughter came home, and it was she that missed the money, 12s., I think. She also missed a dress produced, which she now identified. Witness concluded her deposition by stating: "I don't want anything done to this girl."

The accused asked no questions of witness. Nellie Heafy deposed she left the house at 7.30 a.m. on the 23rd May and the accused was then in bed. Witness returned to the house about 12 noon, and ten minutes later she noticed the drawer opened and found 14s. of her money was missing. About one o'clock she found that her coat and dress—a voile dance dress (produced) and her coat now worn by the accused and value £2 2s. The dress was worth 10s. and she gave no one authority to take these articles. Witness did not know accused was leaving their house that morning. Accused hung down her head and asked no questions. Guard Drew, Lismore, gave evidence of arresting accused at the Bridewell, Dublin, that morning on the charge mentioned, and giving her the usual legal caution. She admitted taking the coat and frock, but said it was only 11s., not 14s. Accused declined to ask the witness anything.

The Justice, after reading the depositions, and informing accused she had the option of going before judge and jury or be tried by himself if she so desired, the accused said: "I am guilty, sir. It was only 11s." The Superintendent informed the Justice at this juncture that the accused had been in a reformatory at Limerick for three years for placing stones on the railway track, and while in the reformatory she was sentenced to three months' imprisonment for insubordination by District Justice Flood. The father of the girl told his Worship that accused would be 18 years in August next and her mother was dead and he was unable to get any good of her. The Justice, having considered the matter, said accused ill-requited the hospitality she received, and he (Justice) now committed her to prison to await trial at the next Circuit Court. He did so under the Criminal Justice Administration Act, 1914.

CRICKET IN LISMORE.

On Sunday afternoon, 15th June, on the grounds of the Lismore Hockey Club, an interesting cricket match took place between New Street Selected and Mr. J. C. Heelan's XI. The afternoon was beautifully fine and a fair attendance occupied the seating accommodation in the hockey enclosure. New street won the toss and decided to field. Messrs. J. C. Heelan and J. Barry opened the innings for their side to the howling of Messrs. C. Crowley and J. Collins. Runs came at a rapid pace until J. Barry was caught out by C. Crowley. Heelan was then joined by J. Ryan, and a lively exhibition of cricket was witnessed until Heelan was cleaned bowled by C. Crowley. Ryan continued to bat steadily and contributed a useful 49 for his side and the highest score in match until he was cleverly caught out by Mr. Keyes. A series of disasters followed, several going out for 0. R. Russell then joined Albert Mills, and this pair made a splendid stand, Russell contributing 14 runs, whilst Albert Mills carried out his bat for 8 runs. The innings closed for 68.

New street Selected now opened their innings with Messrs. Joe Collins and M. Keyes to the bowling of Messrs. J. C. Heelan and J. Barry, and it might be said that the New street batsmen were never comfortable at the wickets to the bowling of Messrs. J. Barry and Heelan. The best of the New street batsmen seemed unable to master the bowling, and were always in difficulties. The fielding of Heelan's XI. was far superior to that of their opponents, Mr. H. Foley being decidedly useful in this respect. New street innings came to a close for 44 after an interesting afternoon's play.
