Mission in Dungarvan.

CLOSING CEREMONIES.

ELOQUENT DISCOURSE BY VERY REV. FR. CLEARY, C.S.S.R.

On Sunday last the three weeks Mission conducted in Dungarvan Parish, by Rev. Fathers Boyle, Cleary, and Regan, of the Redemptorist Order was brought to a close. During its course the spacious Church was night and morning thronged with the faithful and the numbers who approached the Altar on Sunday morning last exceeded all previous records. It was a Mission which must needs have conferred innumerable blessings on the people, and on the town, and which must have brought joy to the excellent priests of the Parish, who, labour so unceasingly for the spiritual and temporal welfare of the people committed to their care.

Closing Ceremonies.

On Sunday evening at 3 o'clock, the Mission closed for the women with the usual ceremonies, the sermon on the occasion being preached by Fr. Boyle, to an immense congregation. In the evening at 8 o'clock it closed for the men. Long before the hour every available seat in the Church was filled and when Father Regan entered the Pulpit to recite the rosary it can safely be said not a man or boy in the Parish was missing.

Eloquent Sermon.

Taking for his Text "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a Crown" (words taken from the Book of the Apocalypse, 2nd. chapter 10th, verse), the Very Rev. Father Cleary, said:—As I stand before you to-night at the close of this most successful Mission and as I return sincere and heartfelt thanks to the Almighty God for the blessings which He had bestowed on us during the past 3 weeks, there creeps into my mind a feeling of doubt and uneasiness. All you who have made the Mission have made it well and if there were some who were careless they have now made their peace with God. You have made a great step forward in the way of holiness, but you have not yet reached the end of the journey. Perhaps for many of you there is still a long and dangerous road to be travelled before you find yourselves safe within the Gates of the Heavenly Father. You have made this Mission with earnestness and sincerity and it is well, but consider and ponder well that though you have made it well, your soul is not yet safe. In the days gone by there were many Missions held and men went to confession and received Holy Communion and made promises and took pledges, but in a year or 5 years or 20 years they passed away and were condemned to eternal damnation. They were not faithful to the end and it is the end that counts. Are not the Sacred Scriptures filled with examples of men who went on serving God for a long time but who did not go on serving Him to the end of their days. It is necessary to remember that the Mission is not enough. Perseverance to the very end of your life is absolutely essential. When this Mission began three weeks ago there were perhaps men in the Parish who had forgotten some of the points of our Holy Religion. Life is short and death comes swift and sudden to us all. They had forgotten that those who died in mortal sin are lost for ever. Perhaps they had forgotten that the drunkard sometimes dies in his drink. The Mission may have brought home some of those points, but remember the world is not changed by a Mission for when you go forth in the world to-morrow you have to face the same dangers and temptations again. The man who was a drunkard up to last week is not a sober man yet, as he has to prove himself sober and drive the habit of sin from his soul. The man in the habit of impurity may be now in a state of grace, but he is not a pure man if he indulges in improper discourse or keeps dangerous company. The dangers of sin are still with us. Our enemies are the world, the flesh and the Devil. But powerful as are our enemies we have friends ten thousand times more powerful, we have the Church; the Sacraments and our Guardian Angel to guide us and the Little Flower, St. Philomena, St. Patrick and St. Joseph to pray to, and you have the Almighty God who made you and who is more anxious to save you than you are to save yourself.

There are three things you must do if you wish to persevere and be faithful. The first and most important means is to avoid the dangerous occasions of sin for it was a greater miracle of God to go into a dangerous occasion of sin and not fall than for the same man to raise the dead to life. The reading of bad books and papers is also an occasion of sin as also drink when taken by a person who cannot carry it. Such man must give it up or risk the destruction of his soul. The man who indulges in company keeping is in mortal sin continually. He exhorted his hearers to pray all times that they may not enter into temptation. The third means was to receive Holy Communion often and by so doing they would remain free from mortal sin. Heaven.

They should always remember that—

"This world is all a fleeting show,
To man's illusion given;
The smiles of joy, the tears of woe,
Deceitful shine, deceitful flow.
There's nothing true but Heaven."

Avoid the dangers of sin; receive the Sacraments regularly; be faithful to your Sociality—be a genuine and sincere member and pray to the Blessed Virgin continually. The man who prays perseveringly to the Blessed Virgin will never lose his soul.

Concluding an eloquent discourse, the Rev. Preacher said:—I beg to thank you in the name of God for the manner in which you have made the Mission. It was a great success. He thanked them for the way they made the Mission. Their General Communion that morning was a great act of faith and devotion. He wished to thank in an especial manner the priests of the Parish. Blessed is the Parish in which God sends good priests and in my name and that of my brother Missioners I thank them with all my heart. It is a source of regret that Canon Furlong cannot be amongst us. We pray that God will grant him the same resignation in the future as in the past four years with a glorious reward hereafter. He thanked all who contributed to the success of the Mission—the sacristan, the Organist, the Collectors and all who gave help in every way, even by giving good advice to others.

"I thank you all and trust the Almighty God will reward you not merely now but hereafter" concluded Fr. Cleary.

Baptismal vows were then renewed, after which Rev. P. J. McGrath, C.C., gave Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. With the singing of appropriate hymns one of the greatest and most successful Missions ever held was brought to a happy termination.

prising that loans guaranteed by the County Council should be so high. Until we get the rates of this County well reduced—we are paying 100 per cent. more than we should have paid, and under the De-rating Commission the Government gave us only a grant of one-seventh of the estimate though it should be one-third. We are the second highest rated County in the Free State and under the circumstances you cannot face the County Council.

Chairman—You can do nothing until you have something definite to go on.

Dr. Burke—Before going to the Co. Council, you should know the type of School etc, you cannot go for a blank cheque.

Mr. Hackett—In other Counties they decided to do something in a particular area first. That is the procedure that must be adopted. There must be a concrete proposal.

Dr. Burke—In County Limerick they dealt with each centre separately and did not try 4 or 5 schemes at once.

Mr. C. J. Curran—That was more business-like.

Fear Mor said if they did that some districts would not be dealt with for 40 or 50 years.

Mr. Hackett—We are not anxious to see people going ahead too rapidly, as we will not have teachers ready.

Mr. Curran—We must be sure that Vocational Education is improving the County.

Mr. Hackett—You can't find that out until you try something.

Mr. Curran, said in the old days they had the very best of education, many boys who left the National Schools filled the highest positions in Church and State.

Mr. Hackett—The main purpose is to provide for the poor boy or girl who at present have no school to go to on leaving the National School.

Bro. Gibson—That is my idea, and where the buildings are suitable and so forth they should not be interfered with, but let them go on.

Mr. Hackett—There is no proposal to interfere with anyone.

Bro. Gibson—If a town is already supplied with a school they could deal with such classes of pupils of from 14 to 17 years, without getting up a new building for them.

Mr. Hackett—Is there a definite proposal of that kind?

Mr. Walsh—There is no such thing.

Mr. Curran—If there is a school available in the district it should be availed of for the purpose of Vocational teaching.

Mr. Hackett—I don't understand the point.

Fear Mor—We have a number of schools in the County and they are going at the very time Vocational Education is on and there schools are not available.

Bro. Gibson—Supposing this year we have 20 boys leaving our senior primary class we could accommodate them and bring them on to 16 years, but if there is such a school in town it would interfere with us.

Dr. Burke—Do you fear competition?

Bro. Gibson—No, but there would be a use in our doing it if after such a school were got up in the town at much expense. If I go to expense now to provide a room.

Mr. Hackett—I thought you said you had room.

Bro. Gibson—The room is there.

Mr. Hackett—What is the type of education you would provide?

Bro. Gibson—Manual Instruction, and Drawing and if necessary Book-keeping etc.

Mr. Hackett—You prepare boys for the intermediate certificate?

Mr. Curran—That is for the primary boys who never go to the secondary school.

Mr. Hackett—You want to come in and compete in Vocational Education? Are you starting to do it?

Bro. Gibson—Yes in a sense, I must provide a teacher.

Mr. Hackett—What this Committee should discuss is what they intend to do for the boys and girls of the County Waterford who have not proper provision made for them already, and the way to do that is to select an important centre to begin with. In Dungarvan you have no means of training boys in any kind of metal work; Electricity and Engineering. In a centre like this it is required, then you have Cappoquin.

Mr. Stack—That is a backward place. That is too near Mallow.

Mr. Hackett—It is a good size place and the young boys around it have no means of getting practical training and the Committee should provide it for them.

Answering Mr. C. J. Curran, Mr. Hackett said in rural districts training in wood-work was a basic subject. He instanced such a class in South Tipperary where there was an overflow of students. Training in wood-work helped farmers sons to develop their farms.

Mr. C. J. Curran—And young men who serve their time to the carpentry cannot get work.

Mr. Hackett—Farmers will not employ tradesmen to do such work and the only thing to be done is to do it themselves.

Chairman—It would be a very good training for them.

Mr. Hackett—For the last 20 years we could not train enough manual instructors and the more you put into country places the more they are wanted.

Mr. C. J. Curran—That is going away from the question Bro. Gibson raised.

Mr. Hackett—You must first decide what you are going to do this year.

Secretary—We attempted to start at Cappoquin.

Chairman—The question was deferred on account of the uncertainty of the loan.

Mr. Walsh—It was one of the first centres mentioned.

Mr. Hackett—You should get an estimate of what your needs will be.

Mention having been made of the sites offered in Cappoquin already published the "Harrington Hotel" offered by Mr. Barron at £1,400 with a rent of £28 16s. 6d. a year. A sub-Committee consisting of Messrs. C. J. Curran, J. Curran and M. F. Walsh, was appointed to report on the matter. The Committee considered the price of the vacant site in Barrack St., containing 1/2 an acre for which Sir John Keane, asked £100 was too high.

Mr. Stack—There is an election very soon and all this will be changed. We will have different Ministers and there will be different Inspectors coming down here instead of you Dr. Burke, and Mr. Hackett. Leave all this over until after the election. I won't vote for Cuman non-Gaedheal or for De Valera, but I will vote for some decent man who will do us justice here.

Irish Scholarships.

Mr. Clerkin, who conducted the recent examination for Irish Scholarships, reported that the standard of answering was high. The result was:—Eileen Mc Loughlin, Bapmahon, 83 per cent. Cait Downey, Ardmore, 83 per cent. Margaret McGrath, Cahir, 73 per cent. Liam Tobin, Main St., Dungarvan, 71 per cent.

Secretary—You have 4 whole time Irish teachers and one Scholarship was to be given to each area. One of the first four was from a part-time teacher's area.

The Chairman proposed, and Mr. C. J. Curran seconded that the first four pupils on the list get the Scholarships.

Approved.

Mr. Curran—Was the entire County represented by these eleven candidates?

Secretary—They came from the various districts.

Mr. Stack—Did anyone come from Ring?

Dr. Burke—Mr. Stack said before they don't speak any Irish there.

Mr. Stack—It is all English there now.

Mr. C. J. Curran—They are all learning English from those who came to learn Irish.

Secretary—We have not a class in Ring for years.

Superintendent.

As Superintendent of the coming Arts Examination Mr. Clerkin was unanimously appointed at the maximum rate of 3s. an hour.

Secretary's Salary.

There was a request before the Committee from the Secretary asking that his salary as chief Executive Officer, under the Vocational Education Committee be fixed. He also asked that the emolument of £30 a year for the Irish scheme be incorporated with his present salary as from April 1st. That would leave him with £330 and bonus.

Mr. C. J. Curran—In all other counties salaries and wages are going down every day, but in Ireland we spend most of our time on public Boards dealing with demands for increases of salary.

Mr. Hackett—Mr. Lannagan's salary for some years was £200 plus bonus, and the proposal now is to increase it to £330 with bonus as from April 1st.

Mr. Curran—What is the amount of your bonus?

Secretary—£123.

On the motion of An Fear Mor seconded by Mr. Keane, the Secretary's salary was increased to £230.

Mr. C. J. Curran—What is the difference between the Technical Education Committee and the Vocational Education Committee.

Mr. Hackett—There is very little difference except local committees have more power.

Mr. Curran—Does it improve the education of the people any better?

Mr. Hackett—Let us hope so.

Mr. Curran said he had no objection to the increase, but he wasn't voting.

Irish Course Refused.

In connection with the proposal to hold an Irish Course at Ardmore in July, the Secretary said it was held last year and Mr. M. Foley, was teacher. The course was four hours a day and the teacher was paid 3s. 6d. an hour. It being stated that Irish Classes were held at Ardmore during July and that pupils came from various Counties to them, and the Committee would not receive any fees. Dr. Burke, said he did not see why they should be called upon to pay for teaching people from other places.

Mr. Hackett also expressed himself as being against the proposal and it was refused.

Before Mr. J. S. Troy, D.J.)

Serjt. Hamilton, Leamycroft, summoned M. Whelan, New Ross, for having no identification plates or disc on his lorry.

Replying to Mr. Farrell, Solr., who appeared for the defendant and for whose absence from Court he apologised, the witness said he (defendant) told him he had applied for the license to the Wexford County Council, but had not it back at the time.

Case withdrawn.

Guard Regan, had breaches of the School Attendance Act, against Kate Morrissey, Thompson's Lane, Mary Lannan, do. T. Hackett, Patrick St., P. Hurton, Buttery St., and John Daly, Glonea.

The cases were adjourned or small fines were inflicted.

A Long Stand.

Patk. Moloney, Springmount, was charged by Guard Regan, with leaving a horse tied to a pole in the Square, Dungarvan, for 9 1/2 hours.

Fined 20s.

By Horn And Leg.

Guard Farrell, summoned Michael Cowman, near Cappoquin, for cruelty to animals by bringing a cow to Dungarvan fair with her horn tied to her foreleg by a short rope. The cow's leg was cut.

Defendant said he could not bring the cow to the fair otherwise, as she went back several times. She was always tied by him like that, only a faint sign of the rope was on her leg.

Fined 2s. 6d.

Alleged Surreptitious Retreat Licensing Prosecution.

Inspector Hart, summoned M. J. Clery, Square, Dungarvan, for failing to admit the Guards to his licensed premises.

Mr. A. R. Farrell, Solr., defended.

Serjt. Perrin, said on the 1st May he was on duty in the Square with Serjt. O'Shea. At 10.33 p.m., his attention was directed to Clery's by seeing light on the first floor over the bar. Having decided to inspect the premises he knocked for about 10 minutes, but got no reply. He then drew back a bit and looking up at the window he saw a light. He again knocked at intervals and once he heard a subdued noise which seemed to come from the back of the hall. It was a noise as if someone was trying to make a surreptitious retreat from the premises. He then knocked again.

Inspector—Did you knock in such a way that no one could fail to hear you?

Witness—Good gracious, the knocking was something dreadful. You could hear the knocking all over the Square. Witness continuing said he remained one hour and 7 minutes at the premises. Somewhere in the vicinity of 11 o'clock he thought he heard a noise at the back of the bar and knocked again, but wasn't admitted.

Cross-examined by Mr. Farrell—Do you expect every publican to have his lights out as well as his premises open after 10 p.m.—No, but the lights disappeared after I knocked.

What was the subdued noise you heard—I took it to be the hurrying away of some person.

What was it?—It was as if someone was trying to get away quickly, I am not infallible of course. Serjt. O'Shea was at the rear.

Serjt. O'Shea corroborated and said he went round to the rear of the premises, but heard nothing. Coming back he heard footsteps as if someone was coming down stairs and opening a door at the back of the bar. They left the premises at 11.40 p.m. Witness

Dr. Burke, and Mr. Hackett, were also in attendance.

Finance.

The total payments passed amounted to £313 9s. 3d.

In connection with the payment of £7 15s. 1d. months wages to the recently appointed caretaker, of the Dungarvan Technical School. Mr. C. J. Curran, asked how did 23s. a week for a month amount to £7 15s.

Secretary—That is wages and bonus.

Mr. Curran—Is the bonus attached to a weekly wage?

Secretary—Yes, from the start.

Mr. Curran—That is news to me. That would hit us very hard if in force all over the County.

Secretary—It applied to your old caretaker, who was nearly 7 years in the job.

Approved.

The Department wrote approving of the re-appointment of four temporary whole time Irish teachers up to the 31st August, 1931, as also of the two part time teachers—Miss Patterson, and Mr. M. J. McCarthy, N.T.

Scale Of Fees.

The Department wrote relative to the scale of fees charged by the Committee and asking if it were desirable to revise them. As to 40s. fee charged at the Day School, Dr. Burke, said that was very low and that with the number of subjects taught the fee should be 21s.

Mr. Hackett—In some places they charge £2 or 10s. a term.

Dr. Burke—In deserving cases you could remit the fee.

The Chairman said the higher fee would make the class more appreciated.

On the motion of An Fear Mor, seconded by Mr. Walsh, it was decided to increase the fee to £1. The fees for the other classes were also revised.

Loans For Buildings.

The Commissioners of Public Works wrote stating that the terms and conditions under which loans will be issued under the Vocational Education Act 1920, have not yet been settled.

Mr. Hackett—We have told Committees that they could go ahead on a basis of borrowing at 7 per cent. for 35 year terms.

Dr. Burke thought Insurance Companies would give better terms than that. 6 or 6 1/2 per cent. would be about the rate. He heard Insurance Companies were anxious to loan money in such cases.

Mr. C. J. Curran—Considering the low rate of money in the market and the Bank of England rate is not it sur-

Inspector Hart, charged John O'Sullivan, Tom Moore, St., aged 70 years, with alleged indecent assault on young girls between 12 and 6 years of age.

Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solr., prosecuted; and Mr. J. R. Farrell, Solr., defended.

Evidence of an unpublisable nature having been given,

Mr. Troy sentenced O'Sullivan, to six months imprisonment.

To-Morrow's Procession in Dungarvan.

On to-morrow (Sunday), the Annual Corpus Christi Procession will be held in Dungarvan, and granted fine weather is should prove the most imposing religious display yet witnessed. The Processions held in 1929 and 1930 were marvellous to behold, and the fervour and piety of the people on these occasions were unbounded. This year, we are sure the Procession will be attended by even greater numbers especially from the rural areas, and that the demonstration of the marching thousands in processional array will be a tribute of public homage to the Blessed Sacrament such as has never been exceeded here or elsewhere.

As in previous years the decorations of the houses and the streets will be on a lavish scale. Our beloved Priests assisted by an energetic Committee have all arrangements completed and the day will be one that must confer endless blessings on the people of the Parish and all associated with it.

All school children, will assemble in their respective Schools and march to Fair Lane. Children of Mary, will assemble in Emmett Street, Women's Confraternity in St. Mary Street, Boys Club and Men's Confraternity in the Churchyard.

All processionists must be in their respective places at 2.30 o'clock, sharp so that the procession can start at 3 o'clock precisely.

Order Of Procession.

The order of the Procession will be as follows:—

Crossbearer; Children of Presentation Convent; Children of Mercy Convent; Christian Bros. Boys; Children of Mary; Dungarvan Brass and Reed Band; Choir; Mercy House Girls; Women's Confraternity; Boys' Club; Men's Confraternity; Dungarvan and Abbeyside; Members of the Urban Council; Crossbearer; Altar Boys; Clergy and Canopy.

The route of the Procession will be the same as previous years with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, in the Square and at the Church gates, where beautiful Altars will be erected.

GLORIOUS VICTORY OF THE PEOPLE!

ADDITIONAL POLICE AND TROOPS ORDERED TO DUNGARVAN.

The following interesting account of the proceedings of the famous Barry and Matthews Election, in Dungarvan, in 1868, is taken from "The Irishman" of September 26th., 1868.

Dungarvan, Friday Night

Never, so long as I have known Dungarvan, has it been in the excited state in which it is at present.

Rows and street-fights between the rival mobs are hourly occurrences. Life and property can scarcely be deemed safe. Nothing can prove this better than the fact that there are at this moment one hundred and twenty of the Royal Irish Constabulary stationed in the town, and are fifty more coming in to-night from Dublin. I am informed, and in addition to this, I am informed, that there is a company of infantry coming to assist a detachment of the 56th now stationed here, if necessary, to preserve the peace. Strong bodies of police parade the town day and night.

Sergeant Barry has not personally appeared to prosecute his canvas, and it is doubtful whether he will attempt it. My belief is that it will not be safe for him in the present excited state of the mobs.

DUNGARVAN, SATURDAY.—The rumour to-day is that Sergeant Barry means to retire from the contest, and to offer his services to the constituency of Limerick. I don't know whether there is any foundation for it in fact—I give it for what it is worth.

The prisoners arrested during the riots are remanded to next Saturday.

(From the Correspondent of the Cork Herald.)

The long-expected visit of Mr. Sergeant Barry to his constituents in Dungarvan took place on Thursday. Mr. Sergeant Barry arrived in the morning in company with the O'Donoghue. Just on the outskirts of the town a very noisy and excited mob was stationed, with two flags in their midst, bearing the inscriptions, "Down with the base brute, and bloody wigs," and "Down with the moral assassin." It was plain that this crowd was not friendly to the "coming man," and it was feared, from the symptoms of incipient disorder, that they would attempt to put in force the law falls in his case. From the moment the cortege entered Dungarvan its course was marked by the greatest disorder. The streets rang with the hideous shouts of the opposing factions, as they cheered and counter-cheered; this, with the clashing of sticks, as half-drunken men came into the conflict, the throwing of stones, and the smashing of glass in the windows of obnoxious individuals, which was sustained with scarcely any change for the remainder of the day. Mr. Sergeant Barry, on arriving at the Devonshire Arms, alighted with his friends, and entered the hotel. While doing so several stones were thrown by the crowd, one of which struck him, and another struck one of his friends. The Rev. Dr. Hally had a narrow escape, also, a stone passing very near him. The uproar of the people became deafening, and the turmoil that existed throughout the entire crowd of sarging men and women, scarcely one of whom was without a stout stick or a large stone, taxed the efforts of the large force of police, eighty in number, who under the command of Mr. Redmond, R.M., and Sub-inspectors McCarthy and McDermott, patrolled the streets with fixed bayonets. Sub-inspector McCarthy, in endeavouring to capture a black flag bearing the words, "Down with the moral assassin," was resisted by the bearer, and it was only after a severe struggle, in which several of the police were engaged, that the sable device was relinquished. However, it must have been subsequently restored, for later it was floating as darkly as ever at the corner of the market. For a long time after Sergeant Barry entered the Hotel the disorder among the crowd continued unabated. A series of rows on the separate parts were carried on simultaneously in several parts of the crowd, the members of which attacked each other so indiscriminately as to be perfectly impartial. The disorder was reduced as much as possible by the police; but the shouting and shouting faculties of the multitude remained unrestrained. Their powers in this respect, when impaired, were supplemented by tin whistles, with which the Mathewites endeavoured with considerable success to drown the voices of the successive speakers. Mr. Anthony, chairman of the Town Commissioners, and Father Hally, presented themselves separately at the window in order to obtain silence. The speakers could not be heard in the street, and only imperfectly in the room. The following gentlemen were present in the large chamber from the window of which the crowd were addressed; nearly all of them were amongst the electors who met Mr. Sergeant Barry outside the town.—The Rev. Dr. Hally, the Rev. Mr. O'Brien, C.L.; Rev. Mr. Foran, C.C.; Messrs. John R. Dower, J.P., Wm. Cody, M. A. Anthony, Captain Fitzgerald, J.P., Carbery, J.P.; Robert Ronayne Kennedy, J.P.; John Ronayne, J.P.; T. Clery, E. Dower, E. Dwyer, P. Flood, M. Hackett, D. McCarthy, J. Hackett, W. Hayes, P. Keane, E. Kenefick, R. T. Kiely, J. Lynch, J. Meany, J. Morrissey, D. Power, W. Ryan, T. Sheehan, J. O'Keefe, J.P.; T. Slattery etc. I could not help remarking as a strange commentary on Irish politics, that among the prominent supporters of Mr. Sergeant Barry on this occasion was some out-and-out ally of Sir Joseph Neale M'Kenna in the borough of Youghal. During the speaking several stones were thrown into the room; even the representatives of the Press did not escape; a few tidy boulders found their way in their direction. As soon as the speaking commenced the rival candidate, Mr. Matthews, took his seat in a window in a house nearly opposite the hotel, where he had a good opportunity of surveying the extent of the disorder which a contest leads to.

(From the Waterford Mail.)

About one o'clock the procession to meet Mr. Barry was formed. The butchers of the town assembled in considerable numbers, carrying green flags. The fishermen had a miniature ship, gaily decorated with coloured ribbons. A number of women, dressed in white, were mounted upon cars, with green bushes in their hands, and they were guarded by a number of curious stragglers. Their destination was Colligan, where several barrels of porter were provided to allay their thirst and increase their power of vociferation. The whole town during the morning was in a great state of excitement in consequence of its being circulated that the friends and supporters of Mr. Matthews were preparing to give the Sergeant a very hot reception. The constabulary force in this station and rural districts were under the command of Henry E. Redmond, R.M., and E. McDermott, Esq., S.I. They were stationed in close proximity within their barracks. Upon the arrival of Mr. Barry they were marched into the Square. About two o'clock Mr. Barry arrived outside the town, and was met by a large concourse of people from the rural districts, which swelled the procession. It was on the increase down Blackpool-street. The procession was followed by two or three carriages containing the friends and supporters of Mr. Barry; he was accompanied by the Rev. Dr. Hally, P.P. There were great cheering and shouting as they passed along through the Square, but as soon as the procession entered Bridge street, between the National Bank and the Medical Hall, the Mathewites rushed precipitately on them, tore and dragged down the colours, and seized the dressed bushes and the ship so beautifully decorated a few minutes previous, was smashed into fragments. The greatest commotion and disorder followed, stones flying, heads cracking, sticks and stones falling, men and women were upset; the scene was frightful. It was most miraculous how Sergeant Barry, the O'Donoghue of the Glens, Dr. Hally, and the other gentlemen, escaped with life. When the carriages arrived at the Devonshire Arms Hotel, they ran out of them with the greatest precipitation, and got into the house without material injury. The cracking of sticks and stones in Bridge street, was most frightful, one party beating the other up the street, and the other beating them down in return. The roaring and screaming of women and children were shocking, they being under the impression that their hands, sons, or brothers were killed; This tremendous fight continued for some time, until the arrival of Mr. Redmond, R.M., with the constabulary; they cleared the way; but before their arrival at the Devonshire Arms the combatants were falling in all directions, and were it not for the interference of the constabulary, in all probability there would have been some dead bodies lying on the street. The sounding of whistles, and the roaring and shouting on both sides were really deafening. The Mathewite party came forward with a large black flag, supported with two large poles, and upon the black ground were the following words inscribed in large white letters.—"Where is James O'Brien?" This had reference to Colonel O'Brien, a young man from Dungarvan, who was tried at the Cork Commission for Fenianism, and was sentenced to death, which was commuted to transportation for life. When this flag was unfurled it caused the greatest possible excitement, so much so that the parties attacked each other again in a most terrific manner, sticks cracking on skulls, and stones flying. The constabulary were ordered to arrest the stone-throwers, and separate the other parties, which was promptly done. One of the Barryites, a fisherman, named "Bogreen Stell," made a spring at the black banner and tore it to pieces. How this man escaped with life is most miraculous; he got a most cruel thrashing with sticks. There was a black banner, on which was inscribed, "Down with the moral assassin." This was in charge of a woman named Anne Moran or Brian; she acted the bravest of the brave. A mounted constable was directed to take the banner from her; she held her grip of it firmly, and would not let go her hold. She was dragged under the horse's feet; she still held it, and would not let it go. A couple of respectable young men forced their way through the solid mass of human beings and requested the policeman to restore the banner and not mind her, which he refused. A local magistrate was quite convenient at the time, and told the policeman to restore the banner to the woman in charge, which was at once complied with. Were it not for the interference of this popular gentleman, in all probability there might have been some bad work in that part of the street. When the turmoil had somewhat abated, Dr. Hally tried to address the immense crowd, but he was quite inaudible. Mr. Barry and the O'Donoghue also tried to obtain a hearing, but suffered the same fate. Mr. Anthony, chairman of the Town Commissioners, a most popular man, also came forward, but it was all in vain; he got no hearing. The Mathewite forced their way and took up their position in front, and successfully prevented a word being heard. The row continued without interruption up to five o'clock. The victuals fought with great desperation, being strongly backed by two parties from the rural districts who had accompanied the procession from Colligan. Mr. Matthews and his supporters were in the windows of Mr. T. Williams' house, in the immediate vicinity of the Devonshire Arms Hotel, where these gentlemen had a full view of the whole of the proceedings from beginning to end. The very bad feeling evinced by the victuals in breaking Mr. Williams' windows is much to be regretted. No occurrence of this description took place since Mr. Matthews came to this town. The constabulary acted with great coolness and discretion on the occasion, and arrested some parties who seemed to be the leaders in the row, or made themselves conspicuous therein.

BARRY AND HIS DEFENDERS.

At Barry's meeting on Thursday last, although the people would not hear him or his defenders, he and they spoke to the reporters in vindication of his conduct. The speeches as reported, are an audacious tissue of misrepresentations, and are too long for insertion. We quote a few passages from them:—

"The charge made against me, gentlemen, I feel almost unable to repeat it.—It is that three years ago, when in the discharge of a professional duty, was called upon to conduct a preliminary inquiry into a Fenian indictment, that I had made charges against the Fenians of a most atrocious character, attributing sanguinary and horrible designs to them, and doing that either of my own invention or knowing those charges to be untrue. It is impossible for me to express in adequate language my horror of such a charge. I firmly believe that any man guilty of the charge made against me would not only be unworthy of public confidence, but unfit to mix with honest honourable men. I believe that the man who would prostitute his position to become the vehicle of slandering his countrymen would be guilty of a crime, in comparison with which the guilt of the vilest assassin that ever stabbed his fellowman for gold would be innocuous itself." His defence was this.—"He acted from the materials laid before him by the Solicitor-General. From the manner in which he had been instructed there was no doubt left upon his mind that the crown would be in a position to prove the statement so put before him! The charge he was accused of making was not made by him, but read from his brief. He never charged participants in such deeds on his countrymen, but on the contrary, said the organisation was a patriotic foreign one, and that the working men would never join in such a conspiracy." He then made a complaint that garbled reports of his speech on the occasion were published.

Borough of Youghal

The following interesting Election address to the citizens of Youghal, in the Election of 1868, is taken from "The Irishman," of September, 1868.

TO THE INDEPENDENT ELECTORS OF THE BOROUGH OF YOUGHAL.

Gentlemen.—After three years' representation of your Borough in Parliament the time has arrived when I seek a renewal of the confidence which you so generously accorded to me at the last Election. When receiving at your hands the high trust which you then committed to me, I was emphatically apprised that the predominant feelings among my supporters (comprising four-fifths of the Electors) were a rooted distrust of the Whig Government, and a desire that the Whig party should be made to feel that they had forfeited the confidence of the Irish people. I participated in those sentiments, and when opportunity afforded I gave them practical effect, by assisting to eject the late Government from office. That object being effected, it appeared to me to follow as a political necessity that I should give their successors a certain support, until in due order, after the settlement of the English Reform question, they could mature and announce their Irish measures. This was the policy which guided my Parliamentary course. It was, I may say, the policy prescribed to me. It was, I firmly believe, a sound and wise policy—I acted upon it without violating any principle, and I am satisfied that in doing so I have contributed largely to the production of future results beneficial to our Country.

In the course of the last Session the Irish Church question (no matter, or why) was brought into special prominence. That religious equality is necessary to the union and national progress of any people appears to me a truth too manifest for argument, and I hold that, in the case of Ireland, an indispensable step towards establishing religious equality is the disendowment and disestablishment of the existing Church. I, therefore, voted for Mr. Gladstone's resolutions, and if re-elected I shall again vote in the same way on that subject until it is set at rest for ever. But, of course, in carrying out this general measure the life interests of present incumbents, and the vested rights of private parties must be reserved.

On the Educational question my opinions are well known. As there cannot be a perfect union of religious with secular teaching under the mixed system, I am for the denominational system in primary Schools and Colleges. And I am for chartering and endowing a Catholic University, and thereby giving to Catholic educational advantages equal to those possessed by their Protestant fellow-subjects. The Land question I deem the most important of all. There should be passed with the least possible delay a land law, not merely securing to the tenant compensation for actual improvements, but also securing him against capricious or arbitrary eviction. As long as the landholders' tenure of the land is dependent on the will of another, and not regulated by some fixed and obligatory rule, so long will there be capricious and tyrannical evictions on the one side, and a sense of insecurity on the other, and to the blind folly of individuals will continue to bring odium on a whole order. It may be difficult to frame a land code which should reconcile security of tenure with proprietary rights, as understood amongst us, but I do not for an instant doubt that (without violating any just right of the landowner) a remedy for the great evil of insecurity can be devised, if the subjects be only approached in a candid, bold, and statesmanlike spirit; and I trust the time is fast approaching when we shall witness the settlement of this, to Ireland the most vital of all questions. I shall support any Ministry who shall to the utmost of their power give effect by legislation to these my views, and I shall oppose any Ministry, who shall not do so. I shall vote for the measures, and for the sake of the measures, I shall support the men who shall engage in an earnest endeavour to carry them into effect.—But, remembering how often the professions put forward by parties, and the leaders of parties, in regard to Irish questions, at the approach of a General Election, have been afterwards disregarded I decline, further than this, to bind myself to follow any particular man, or set of men.

I may, I hope, be pardoned for addressing to you a few words on local, and personal topics. In 1865, I promised to support a Bill to enable Youghal Bridge to be handed over to the Grand Juries of Cork and Waterford, and to be freed from toll. In 1866, a private bill was promoted at my expense for this purpose, but, after passing through a second reading, and through a select committee of the House of Commons, it was defeated by the late Government refusing on the part of the crown to assent to its provisions. In 1867, I was fortunate enough to induce the present Government to deal with the question as a public measure, and an Act of Parliament was obtained the session before last. It now simply remains with the Grand Juries to render the bridge free. Over £20,000 of debt to the crown has been commuted (in favour of public traffic) for £2,600 payable over a great number of years.

I regret that no opportunity has yet occurred of promoting any more important local improvement. Should such present itself, whatever influence I possess shall be exerted to the utmost to advance the interests of your town. I have never spared myself whenever it has been in my power to do a service to Youghal, or Youghal men. I am bound to Ireland by such associations, and interests, and connected with your neighbourhood by residence and property. I have somewhat more than the ordinary motives to serve my country, and a particular inducement to promote the prosperity of your locality, and I shall never willingly fail in my duty to Ireland or in my special obligations to advance your local interests.

I am, Gentlemen, Your faithful servant, JOSEPH NEALE M'KENNA 84 Lancaster-gate, London.

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.

A Transfer?

Patrick Murray, Ballycurrane, was charged with obtaining drink by falsely representing himself as a bona fide traveller, on Sunday May 3rd.

Inspector Hart, Dungarvan, prosecuting, said that defendants residence was 492 yards short of 3 miles.

Mrs. Donovan, Clashmore, vintner, deposed, that defendant came to her premises on Sunday 3rd, May, and asked for a drink. She questioned him and he said he was perfectly satisfied he was a traveller. She admitted to supplying him.

Guard P. Murphy, Clashmore, said he visited the premises at 2.10 p.m. on the day in question. There were a number of travellers in the bar, and the defendant was amongst them taking a bottle of stout. On being questioned he said he had slept at his cottage at Ballycurrane the previous night that he was a traveller and entitled to be there. Witness measured the distance with a surveyor's chain, and found it to be 2 miles 1,268 yards.

Defendant, sworn said he had never been summoned before. He believed he was 3 miles off, and he told Mrs. Donovan he was a traveller.

Cross-examined by the Inspector, defendant said he jokingly told the Guard that he had slept at Lickeybeg, 4 1/2 miles off.

Justice—That shows you must have had some doubt as regards the distance of Ballycurrane.

The Inspector said they wanted to emphasize the fact that Ballycurrane was about 500 yards short of the three miles.

Justice—Have you any doubt about the distance now?

Defendant—I never knew that.

Justice—Have you any doubt now?—If he measured it, I suppose he is right (laughter).

The Justice said he thought defendant had some little doubt. He could be fined 5s.

Defendant said he was a poor man, he had a bit of land, but it was let, and he did a bit of work.

The Justice—Whom do you work for now—I'm living on my money (Hr).

Dog License Cases.

Guard Murphy, charged Thos. Roche, Kilgabriell, with having an unlicensed dog.

Complainant said the dog was a fox-hound, 4 years old. Defendant's excuse was that the local club used take out the license for him, but failed to do so. The license had been taken out since.

The Justice—What is this Club?—It is a local club, not organised, but a collection of themselves.

He was fined 5s.

The same complainant, charged Thos. Mason with a like offence.

Complainant said he told defendant on the 27-3 to take out a license, but he hadn't taken it out on 4-5. His excuse was that he had another, an old dog which he intended to kill, but hadn't made up his mind at the time. He had licensed the animal since.

The Justice—He wanted to be sure.

He was fined 5s.

The same complainant, charged M. Coffey, farmer, with a like offence.

Defendant said the dog was delicate and he was waiting to get a second pup across the Dungarvan-Youghal main road at Summerhill Cross. Defendant was away in the fields when the Guards came on the scene.

Defendant said he left the animal only a few minutes to go into the field on business.

The Sergt. said he didn't believe the defendant would do wrong, but wanted to discourage such a dangerous practice.

The Justice said the Sergt. acted very properly. In those days of motor traffic, a horse and cart across the road was a very dangerous thing.

In view of the Sergt's remarks he was let off.

More Dog Cases.

Sergt. Gallagher, Ring, charged Margaret Mansfield, Crobally, farmer, with having an unlicensed dog on 18th April. She took out a license on May 30th. She thought the dog too young.

In fining her 5s. the Justice said—I have an awful lot of those dog cases here.

At the complaint of Guard Griffin, Walter Mansfield, farmer, was fined similarly for having a sheep dog 2 yrs. old unlicensed.

A number of like cases from the Ring district were marked withdrawn, the licenses having been taken out.

Labourer And His 3 Cows.

Guard Griffin, charged Danl. Leahy, labourer, with allowing his 3 cattle wander on the main road to Ora Parish. Defendant was very abusive and defiant. Fined 2s.

Unlighted Bicycle.

Guard Griffin, charged Bridget Linnane, with using an unlighted bicycle on the main road at 11 p.m. Fined 2s.

Goats On Road.

Guard Scannell, charged Michael Broderick with allowing 2 goats wander on the public road, Dungarvan-Youghal. They were continually there. The Justice—As far as my experience goes, goats get in nobody's way. Defendant fined 1s.

Unlicensed Revolver.

John O'Keefe, was charged with having an unlicensed firearm.

Inspector Hart, prosecuted.

Sergt. Mangan, Ardmore, said that on 27th April, he interviewed the defendant and asked him if he had any firearms, as he (the Sergt.) had been informed. Defendant said he had a souvenir, and he handed it over—a .45 Webley revolver in perfect working order. Witness then charged him with having it illegally in his possession.

He said he hadn't it long, and that he had intended taking out a license. He didn't say what he had it for, but that it gave him a sense of confidence of protection in his business.

The gun was handed up to the Bench.

The Justice—Who oiled it?

The Sergt.—It was perfectly oiled. It was even in better condition when I got it first, for I have it in my possession for the last month.

The Justice said he had received a letter from defendant admitting the charge and saying that he could not attend the Court for business reasons, and that he kept it as a souvenir.

The Inspector said the defendant had given no explanation. It was a rather peculiar souvenir—a webley revolver of the latest pattern and in perfect working order.

The Justice—I will adjourn the case to give him an opportunity of attending the Court, as I would like to hear a little more about this. I can't regard the possession of this weapon as a mere bagatelle.

The case was then adjourned for next Court.

Larceny Of Telegraph Wire

In the adjourned charge against John Curran, Summerhill, of the larceny of a quantity of telegraph wire.

Inspector Hart said his worship had adjourned the case for the purpose of having it brought otherwise than under the Larceny Act. The charge now was that defendant did maliciously cut down 160 yards of telegraph wire under Sec. 37 of the Malignous Injuries Act. The facts were that an official of the P.O., found the wire down in April 17th. He came again on the 27th and found that the wire had been removed. It was found in defendant's possession. At first he denied that he had it, but subsequently handed over portion, and on search being made, the remainder was got in his house.

W. Foley, linesman, said that on receiving report on April 17th, and a "fault," he proceeded along the road from Youghal and found 160 yards of the wire down, between 2 poles. He duly reported the matter. He visited the scene again on the 27th, and found the wire that had been blown down gone. He identified the wire produced which he valued at about 5s.

To the Court—The wire was broken in the centre, but attached to the poles at both ends.

Sergt. Mangan, Ardmore, said that acting on a complaint received on 17th April, he made inquiries and called to defendant's house. He told the man he was investigating the removal of the wire. Defendant said he knew nothing about it, but he subsequently went into a room and produced a bundle of the wire. He then charged and cautioned him, and the remainder of the wire was got. Defendant said he had found it lying on the road and he had taken it.

Defendant sworn said he had 25 acres of land, but it was let. He was going to work one morning and he got the whole of the wire inside the ditch in his own field, and he brought it home. He told the Sergt. he didn't know about the wire, but he had had it 3 weeks and he gave it over.

The Justice—What use did you intend to make of it?—If anybody called for it I'd give it to him, I didn't want it. He didn't report the matter to any body. It was not lying near the telegraph poles. He folded it up and took it home.

Cross-examined by the Inspector, witness said he didn't cut the wire of the pole. It was thrown down. He couldn't say how it came to be in his field. The Sergt. didn't say he would search the house. He didn't know that his sister told the Sergt. she would not let him search her room.

After a further lengthened hearing, the Justice said that he found that the defendant had removed the wire, and that he had committed an offence under the Section which aimed at preventing the telegraph service being interfered with wrongfully.

Unfortunate the man denied to the Sergt. that he had that wire and he must have known that it was telegraph wire. He could hardly accept the man's story that it was lying inside the fence, but was satisfied that he didn't break it, but took it when he found it on the road. The value of the wire itself was not much, but any interference with the telegraph system must be put a stop to. If he believed that the defendant had done any more than merely taking the wire he would find him heavily.

The Inspector—I don't think he did.

Defendant was fined 10s., and the wire was ordered to be returned to the P.O.

Uncertificated Shotgun.

Thomas Walsh, Lisansky, was charged with having a shotgun, without a certificate.

On the application of defendant, the Inspector not objecting, the case was adjourned to next Court.

4 Unlicensed Dogs.

Guard Murphy, charged Edward Cunningham, Kilgabriell, with having 4 unlicensed dogs—a foxhound, a greyhound, a collie, and a mongrel.

Complainant said defendant said he had 2 licensed, but could not produce the license. He also said he paid 5s. at the Post Office, but didn't get the license. On inquiring at the P.O., witness ascertained that there had been no 5s. paid.

Defendant said he thought it was about registering the Guard was inquiring.

The Justice—What do you mean? The Inspector—If they were registered in the Stud Book (laughter).

Defendant said he had only one dog in June. He did away with another.

The Justice—I have no sympathy with a man who does away with a dog when he is cautioned about the license. It is very hard on the dog.

Defendant said he did away with one because he didn't want him.

The Justice—Because you didn't want to pay the license, I could understand a poor man acting like this, but not an intelligent man like the defendant. I won't accept any more of those stories that people are so simple that they don't know what to do.

Defendant was fined 10s. in respect of 2 dogs. The Justice saying he was getting off very lightly.

Sergt. Mangan, Ardmore, applied for the forfeiture of an illegal salmon fishing net.

The Inspector said the net was found during the close season at 4.30 a.m., on the 18th May. It was used as a fixed engine, being weighted down by six heavy stones on the bay and tied to a rock at the other end. It was 37 yards in excess of the legal limit.

An order was made that the net be adjusted to the legal length and sold.

Corpus Christi.

YOUGHAL.

It is now a third of a century since the idea of a Corpus Christi Procession through the main streets of the town was suggested to the late venerated Dean Keller, by a now Very Rev. Canon of the diocese—one or two survivors of a devoted band of Clerics who worked unspairingly to make its initiation the glorious success it proved.

He had seen processions of the kind on the Continent, and he couldn't see why a truly Catholic country like Ireland should not have similar demonstrations of their deep-rooted faith of the real presence in the Blessed Sacrament. On the first occasion, the Dean told the writer, that it was with great misgivings he took up his curates admirable suggestion and that the result surpassed his most sanguine expectations.

Every year since, with two exceptions—once through bad weather and once in the days of the Black and Tans—the priests and people of Youghal have whole-heartedly and edifyingly cooperated in making this great religious function a regular success, and last Sunday's Procession was no exception to the rule.

In the face of great obstacles during the previous week the town underwent the usual doing up, in the way of cleaning and painting, not alone those thoroughfares selected for the route, but also in the remotest side streets and lanes. The weather on Sunday morning was most uncertain, with occasional light showers up to an hour before the appointed start, and even then the oldest weather prophets shook their heads at the prospect.

However, with a striking gesture, and confidence in the efficacy of prayer, the various bodies participating took up their usual places and a start was made at the appointed hour 2 o'clock.

There was no sunshine, the atmospheric conditions suited the occasion admirably, rain holding off till the processionists approached the Parish Church on the return at 4.30, when a drizzle set in.

Driving to the aspect of the elements, the people were unable to begin decorating their houses till late in the forenoon, but in the course of a couple of hours, a wonderful transformation

WATERFORD V. KERRY. HONOURS DIVIDED.

The Waterford junior hurling and football teams travelled to Listowel on Sunday to fulfil their first round engagements with Kerry in the Munster Championships. The games were played in a continuous downpour of rain which militated against the attendance and reduced the standard of the display a good deal below that usually witnessed in a championship tie.

Waterford won the hurling tie with ease, thus adding another success to their previous victories over Kerry hurling teams. This County is now represented in three Munster finals. Kerry displayed traditional prowess in the football game, and ran out good winners.

In the junior hurling tie, which was played first, Waterford were immensely superior, and at half time turned over with a score of five goals three points to one point. In the second half Kerry rallied somewhat, but Waterford increased their advantage. When the final whistle went the visitors were good winners on a score of 9 goals 5 points to 3 goals 1 point.

THE FOOTBALL MATCH.

On a sod which was rendered heavy owing to the previous hurling match, Kerry and Waterford lined out, Waterford winning the toss. From the throw in Waterford went away, and Kerry ground was twice visited. Kerry drove out, and both ends were visited in turn before Power of Waterford drove wide. Wade (Waterford) was tested before Gaffney cleared. Back again, Kerry per Barrett, opened the scoring with a goal. Waterford attacked, per Ryan, and Power, and from Mahoney's clearance Chule drove out. Kerry returned, and Waterford being penalised, E. Barrett beat the Waterford goalie for another goal. At the interval the score stood—

KERRY—2 goals. WATERFORD—Nil.

On resuming Kerry went away per Conway, and Waterford ground was visited twice before Ryan scored. Back again Kerry drove under the bar, and again another goal by Kerry was disallowed by the referee after a consultation with the umpires. Kerry were now masters of the game, play being confined almost entirely to the Waterford end, and before the final whistle went Kerry had added another goal and a point to Waterford one goal, leaving Kerry winners on the score—

KERRY—4 goals 2 points. WATERFORD—1 goal.

Mr. W. Hough, Limerick, refereed both matches.

DEATH OF MISS KIRWAN, KILROSSANTY.

We regret to announce the death of Miss Hannah Kirwan, which occurred at her residence, Kilrossanty, on Monday last, fortified by the rites of Holy Church.

The deceased was sprung from a most respected family, and was daughter of the late Mr. Pierce and Mrs. Kirwan, Kilrossanty. On Tuesday evening the remains were removed to the Parish Church Kilrossanty, the cortege being extremely large and representative of all parts of the surrounding districts. On Wednesday the interment took place in the adjoining graveyard, after Requiem Office and High Mass for the repose of her soul. EARTHQUAKE.

Early last Sunday morning, Earthquake tremors shook the British Isles, from the South of England to Aberdeen. Beyond getting the fright of their lives, the population suffered no losses. In many places masonry fell, and houses went zig-zag. Let us hope we will long remain outside the trouble zone. There is trouble enough without running the risk of being swallowed up by a crack in the earth.

DUNGARVAN SHOW.

All arrangements for the Great Show at Dungarvan, on July 16th, are now being perfected, and everything points to this year's fixture being the greatest, most attractive and most successful yet held. At a meeting of the Committee on Thursday evening, Mr. J. A. Lynch, presided, and there were also present—Messrs. A. Hunt, S. J. Power, J. J. Drohan, T. G. Flahavan, T. Lynch, W. Stack, and John Lynch, Secretary. Many important matters were considered and ruled. The members spoke of the necessity of securing the whole-hearted financial support of the public as the running of Shows is very expensive and without general co-operation the best results cannot be secured. The Show is for the benefit of all Classes, and what does good for one must react on the other. The name and fame of Dungarvan Show in past years has brought lustre to the County and the excellence of its horses and cattle has been spoken of most favourably. Hence all who have the spirit of progress should rally to the support of the Show and give it all the help they can. If such were done the Committee would be enabled to give cheaper facilities to the public on Show day, and we hope that when the Collectors, appointed attend Dungarvan Fair, next Wednesday, they will be liberally treated. The Show is our Great Annual Function. It is looked forward to by young and old and if the Committee get the assistance they ask for, they will give a return on Show Day which will surprise even the most ardent supporter. Prize Lists, entry forms and all particulars can be had from the Secretary.

ANOTHER FLIER.

At the Cork track this week, Mr. M. Connors, Curraheen, Kilrossanty, won the Arcade Cup, with his good dog "Curacao." This is "Curacao's" fifth year. We understand Mr. Connors, has been offered a big price for this son of "Orkit."

PREVENTION OF POTATO BLIGHT.

The time is now at hand when steps should be taken by potato growers to spray their crops as a means to secure an increased yield in order to preserve the potatoes. In many instances growers seem not to realise that spraying is a preventive measure, not a cure, and that to be effective it must be carried out thoroughly before the disease makes its appearance. It is idle to think, as unfortunately some farmers do, that spraying is useless. Its efficacy has been too fully demonstrated to warrant such a view. Progressive potato growers spray their crops at least three times during the growing season, and all growers would do well to do likewise. To carry the work out properly it is essential that the bluestone and soda should be thoroughly dissolved in separate vessels, the dissolved soda then poured into the barrel containing the solution of bluestone and the whole mixture well stirred before it is used. The spray should then be applied without delay. Wherever spraying does not prove successful the failure is due to one of three causes—(1) not having the mixture properly prepared; (2) spraying after the disease has appeared in the crop; (3) want of sufficient spray. Potato growers should procure a copy of Leaflet No. 14 which may be had free on application to the Secretary, Department of Agriculture, Dublin, C.17.

NEW VICTUALLERS.

Messrs. Dwyer and Murphy, the well-known cattle and pig exporters, Dungarvan, will open their new victualling Establishment at O'Connell St., this morning (Friday), and guarantee to supply the very best quality beef and mutton.

FALL IN THE PRICE OF PIGS.

The price of fat pigs, which was 67s. per cwt. dead weight, at the Cappoquin Bacon Factory a fortnight ago, fell to 60s. last week, and there was a further decrease of 3s. this week when the highest figure available was 57s. per cwt. This decrease was not confined to Cappoquin alone, but was general over the entire country, and owing to the glut of foreign bacon in the English markets at present it is feared that the price of Irish pigs will remain depressed for some time.

KILMACTHOMAS PRIEST'S DEATH IN NEW YORK.

American exchanges to hand convey the sad intelligence of the death, on a recent date, of the Rev. Father Edmund Power, Chaplain to the Marydell Convent, New York City, after a short illness and in the fullness of his years. The deceased Clergyman was a brother of the late Right Rev. Monsignor Power, who died in New York about two years ago, and of the late Mr. Laurence Power, of Carrigeen, Kilmacthomas, who was one of the outstanding County Waterford men associated with the Irish Land League Movement and the Plan of Campaign. Hosts of County Waterford exiles in New York attended at the funeral and obsequies of the late Fr. Edmund Power. The deepest sympathy is extended to his many relatives in these parts.—R.I.P.

DEATH OF MR. PHILIP GOUGH.

Fortified by the rites of his Church, Mr. Philip Gough, (farmer), Carrigeen, Stradbally, passed away into his eternal reward last week, after an illness of some few weeks duration and at a ripe age. He was an honest, industrious neighbour, beloved of all who knew him. The funeral to Stradbally cemetery was a fine public tribute of respect to departed worth. May he rest in peace.

G.A.A.

Kilmacthomas junior and minor hurling fifteens will be at home to Show Day, and we hope that when the Collectors, appointed attend Dungarvan Fair, next Wednesday, they will be liberally treated. The Show is our Great Annual Function. It is looked forward to by young and old and if the Committee get the assistance they ask for, they will give a return on Show Day which will surprise even the most ardent supporter. Prize Lists, entry forms and all particulars can be had from the Secretary.

THE CINEMA, DUNGARVAN.

THE HOUSE WITH PERFECT SOUND.

Each night at 8.30 p.m. Matinees Thursday and Saturday at 3.30 p.m.

Monday & Tuesday June 15th and 16th.

Half Shot at Sunrise.

Starring Wheeler and Woolsey the premier laughter-makers of the screen, supported by Dorothy Lee and all-star cast. A riot of laughs from start to finish. Wheeler and Woolsey as a pair of American soldiers who, instead of "doing their bit" to win the war, use all their ingenuity in keeping out of it. See them dodging around the gay city of Paris, pursued by the military police; every time the two boys get nicely settled down they have to break up the party and take to their heels and when they are finally caught, after a series of the most hilarious adventures, they are sentenced to be shot at sunrise, for desertion. But our pair of comedians are too clever for their superior officers, and they get out of the scrape in a manner that will leave you choking with laughter. Wheeler and Woolsey were delightful in the "Cuckoo's"; even better in "Rio Rita," but this picture establishes them as the finest team of laughter-makers on the screen.

Also Movietone News and "Mickey Mouse" cartoon.

Wednesday & Thursday June 17 and 18.

The Last of Mrs. Cheyney

Starring Norma Shearer and Basil Rathbone in a delightful modern Society story of life in the aristocratic homes of Mayfair and Park Lane. The picture is adapted from Frederic Lonsdale's famous comedy drama, played on the London stage with Gladys Cooper in the star role. The plot, a brightly entertaining one which moves with a pleasing swiftness, revolves about the association of a society crook and his accomplice, a beautiful young girl, who attends all the smart society functions, only to rob her hosts. Norma Shearer as a haughty young beauty, adored by men, envied by women, who swept through London society leaving behind her a trail of broken hearts and stolen jewels.

Also Movietone News and Comedy.

Friday & Saturday June 19th and 20th.

Strange Cargo.

A super mystery thriller played by a cast of fourteen famous stage personalities. Sinister happenings on board a millionaire's yacht at sea; a mysterious stowaway stealing through luxurious staterooms like a shadow of death; a fanatic Indian with hypnotic powers; the discovery of the millionaire's body stabbed to death; casting all his guests under the suspicion of murder. Mystery piles upon mystery until a sensational and most original climax ends the suspense and clears the path for young romance which flourished even under such strange conditions. "Strange Cargo" is something out of the ordinary in mystery dramas. Don't miss it.

Also Movietone News and a special THREE PART rollicking comedy.

were unanimously passed, to be forwarded to the Executive Council and Irish Land Commission.
After the signing of applications, the Chairman declared the meeting adjourned.—Communicated.

Youghal Urban Council.

Present Mr. J. R. Smyth, P.C., Chairman; Capt. Dunne, Mrs. S. Hurley, P.C.; Messrs. T. Beausang, D. J. Linehan, P. J. McMahon, P.C., J. Whelan, E. Clancy, J. Kennedy, P. J. O'Gorman, P.C., A. J. Fowkes, E. P. Lynch, Vice-chairman.

Shelter For Fishing Boats.
The following letter addressed to Mr. M. J. Hennessy, T.D., was read—
Dear Deputy—I have yours of the 11th., re Youghal. I do not think the Minister promised definitely a contribution to the cost of a scheme for motor boats. All that I said to Deputy Corry was that if there were large boats i.e. motor boats) introduced into the district and if a more definite scheme were submitted for a hauling up slip the Department would be prepared to consider it. No promise of a Grant could be made, as this Department has not the power to make such grants—only to recommend. We would naturally like to see the Youghal fishermen go in for improved methods, and get away from the purely inshore fishing they now follow for a few months in the year. The new Sea Fisheries Association gives them the chance to do so if they are really in earnest. Yours sincerely—L. C. Moriarty.
The Chairman—That leaves us just where we were. Mark it "read."

Merry-go-round Music.
Mrs. Hurley, complained of the great hardship inflicted on a lady having two houses at the end of the Strand. She was unable to let them, owing to the noise of the "Merry-go-rounds."
The Chairman said the place was private property and therefore the Council could not interfere.

The Clerk said it was open to the lady referred to to seek an injunction if she thought fit. The proprietors of the show had letters from residents complimenting him on his music, (laughter).
Mr. Clancy said people were always complaining about the want of amusements. He thought they should encourage all kinds. In fact if they could subsidise some, it would be a good thing.
No action was taken.

Strand Lavatory.
The Clerk read correspondence with the Manager of the Provincial Bank, regarding a proposed loan of £380 for the erection of a lavatory on the Strand. He also read a draft agreement between the G. R. Railway Co., and the Council regarding the site of the lavatory.
On the proposition of Mr. McMahon, seconded by Mr. Whelan, the agreement was unanimously adopted and the seal of the Council fixed.

Election Of Chairman.
The Council fixed the election of Chairman for the 25th., June at 8 p.m.

Charges For Town Hall.
In accordance with notice, Mr. Fowkes, proposed that they revise the charges for the use of the Town Hall to local clubs etc. He said his object was to encourage local talent.
After considerable discussion, during which the Clerk pointed out that they had already revised and reduced the charges for local objects last year, Mr. Fowkes, at the request of the Council withdrew his proposition, leaving it to the Council to consider each case on its merits.

The Vet. Insp. Salary.
Mr. McMahon asked had there been any reply received from the Department regarding the question of an increase of salary granted to the Vety. Inspector considerably over 12 months ago.
The Clerk—No.
Mr. Fowkes—Is there any way in which we could get the Department to attend to the matter without any further delay?
The Clerk—Write them again.
Mr. Fowkes said it was a disgraceful neglect of public business on the part of the Department.
Mr. Lynch asked would the Minister deal with his own salary in that way.
Mr. McMahon—He'll take jolly good care to get it when due (laughter).
The Clerk was ultimately directed to wire the Department on the matter.

Local Pound.
Mr. Clancy called attention to the condition of the local pound. The gate was gone and the place was becoming a great public nuisance. Something should be done to remedy the complaint.
The Clerk said the pound was the property of the Co. Council and he had written about the matter long since. 12 months ago the County Council decided to put up a gate or repair the wall, but nothing had been done since.
The Clerk was directed to write again.
Late Mr. Jas. Watson.
Mr. O'Gorman said since their last meeting Youghal had lost one of its oldest and most respected citizens, Mr. James Watson; of the Art Works. He had built up a fine industry one of the foremost of its kind in the country, developing local talent and giving much-needed employment. He was a gentleman of whom they all were proud. He therefore proposed a sincere vote of condolence with his bereaved family.
Mr. Fowkes, seconding the proposition, endorsed Mr. O'Gorman's remarks.
Mr. Linehan and others having supported the proposition.
The Chairman said that was a proposition in which every member of the Board could join.
The Clerk and others having associated themselves with the proposition, it was passed in silence.

Light At Night.

Mr. Lynch said he had been asked to call attention to the need of a few lamps during the night. Medical men and others found it very difficult to attend their duties at late hours.
It was decided to instruct the Gas Manager to see to the matter.
A letter was read from a number of residents in South Main St., complaining strongly of the unsatisfactory condition of the main sewer in front of their premises. It was an old rubble drain, and most ineffective for present day requirements, and they called on the Council to immediately take the necessary steps to remedy the grievance.

After considerable discussion it was decided to instruct the Town Surveyor to make an examination and report to the Council.
Mrs. Hurley asked if they had yet received official notification of Mrs. Cosgrave's forthcoming visit to Youghal.

The Clerk—No.
Mrs. Hurley said she thought it only fitting that they should make arrangements to receive their distinguished guest—the wife of their President—in a proper manner on her first visit to Youghal to christen the new lifeboat.
Mr. McMahon said there was a resolution on the books that nothing in the nature of politics be entertained there, and they had kept it hitherto. He had no objection to Mr. Cosgrave, or his party, or Mr. De Valera, or labour or farmer, but if Mr. and Mrs. Cosgrave were coming for a specific purpose in connection with the lifeboat. Mr. De Valera came there a few months ago and Mr. Cosgrave 3 years ago, and there was not a word about it there. What was all the hub-bub now? When they would come he supposed they would be treated with the respect and reference due to the President's exalted position, but the townspeople could do that regardless of the Urban Council. If they broke the resolution for one—they must do it for all—Free State, Fianna Fail, Republican, etc.

Mrs. Hurley, I propose that a Committee meet to arrange to receive this distinguished lady in her coming to honour the town by her presence for the first time.
Capt. Dunne, seconded.
The Chairman—The whole thing is premature.
The Clerk said they had some correspondence last January, with the Lifeboat Institute, which was thanking the Council for their assistance in protecting the old boat, while the boat-house was being altered for the reception of the new motor-boat. The Council then unanimously deputed the Chairman, Vice-Chairman and Town Clerk to receive the new boat on her arrival in Youghal.

Mr. Clancy said the question of the lifeboat had nothing to do whatever with politics, which should not have been introduced in that connection. If the President and his lady were coming to Youghal on the occasion, the least the Council could do was to pay them the respect they deserved, especially coming for such a praiseworthy object. Further, he thought they should alter the half holiday from Wednesday to Tuesday to give the people an opportunity of attending the function.
Mr. McMahon said he wanted to have the matter done in a right and proper basis, in view of the resolution on the books.

Capt. Dunne—it is proposed and seconded, that a reception be arranged.
The Clerk said there was a resolution on the books that the Chairman, Vice-Chairman and Clerk meet the visitors when they come—that was not a political matter at all.
Mr. McMahon—And every member of the Board can come and will be there to show their respect.
Mrs. Hurley—I propose that we hold a reception to meet the President's wife.
Capt. Dunne—And I second it. There was no question of politics in that.
The Clerk—What does reception mean?
Mrs. Hurley—Let the Council decide how they would honour her. It would be done for Princess Mary if she came along the way.

Mr. McMahon said it must be done in a proper manner. When Mr. Cosgrave wanted them they were there, as others were. They had no objection to Mr. Cosgrave or the men standing with him, but things must be done properly.
Mr. Lynch agreed with Mr. McMahon. They had the head of the Opposition there sometime ago and nothing was done.
Mr. McMahon We didn't hear a word about it.
The Clerk said the circumstances were totally different. In one case they had political speeches. In the other they had the Lifeboat Institution, in connection with which there was a resolution on the books.

Mr. McMahon said they would be there to pay the President the respect he deserved in virtue of his position, and if Mr. De Valera held that position next year, they would do the same.
Mr. Clancy didn't see any reason for the objection raised. When Mr. Cosgrave visited Cork recently, he was received by the people.
Mrs. Hurley said—It was proposed and seconded that we hold a reception to meet Mrs. Cosgrave.
Mr. McMahon—It won't be done to-night without notice of motion.

Mr. Lynch said the Lifeboat Institution were giving a reception.
Mrs. Hurley—I don't see why it should not be done here to-night. As a woman, I feel it my duty to propose it.
Mr. O'Gorman said when the matter came before them originally, to ensure that the Council would be officially represented, he had proposed that the Chairman, Vice-Chairman and Clerk, should represent them. Any member desirous of attending could be there. But the point was the President and his wife were coming as guests of the Lifeboat Institution, what Mrs. Hurley meant by "reception" required clarification in the circumstances. Were they to arrange for lunch, dinner etc?
Mrs. Hurley—Yes, quite right.
Mr. O'Gorman—Are we intruding on the preserves of the Lifeboat Institution—a more important body than the Council?
The Chairman said they should be clear on the subject. They could not act as a Council, organise a reception.
Mr. O'Gorman, said, as representatives of the townspeople it was their bounden duty to be present at the function, but it wouldn't do to have the Lifeboat Institution under the impression that they were trying to get inside them.
In response to a request the Clerk read a copy of a letter sent to the Lifeboat Institution in February, asking to be advised of the arrival of the new Lifeboat as it was the intention of the Council to officially welcome the representatives of the R.N.A.I. He had received a reply thanking the Council for all the assistance they had given, and noting with satisfaction that the Council was going to welcome the boat.
Capt. Dunne suggested that the Council should present an address of welcome to Mrs. Cosgrave on the occasion.
Mr. O'Gorman said the function would be purely a social one. There would be nothing in the nature of politics about it. They were coming to christen a lifeboat and as representatives of the townspeople he considered it their duty to be present.
Mr. Whelan said the resolution on the books that the Chairman, Vice Chairman and Clerk attend on behalf of the Council and also every member desirous fulfill their intention. The question of a reception depended on the Lifeboat Institution.
The Clerk suggested that the name of their only lady member be added to the deputation.
Mrs. Hurley—I would like to have every member there to show their respect.
Finally on the proposition of Mr. McMahon, seconded by Capt. Dunne, Mrs. Hurley, was unanimously added to the deputation and the Clerk was directed to write to the Secretary of the local branch as regards the details of the function.

CO. WATERFORD EVICTED TENANTS, UNECONOMIC, AND LANDLESS PEOPLE'S ASSOCIATION.

MEETING IN DUNGARVAN.
A meeting of the above Association was held in Dungarvan on June 6th. Letters were received from many members in explanation of their unavoidable absence. The following members were in attendance—Messrs. M. Terry, President; Jas. McGrath, Vice-Pres.; Patk. McGrath, Wm. Hourigan, James Meagher, Nicholas Kirwan, John Cullinane, Thomas Keaver, John Power, James Burke, John Morrissey, Patrick McCarthy, John Keane, John Kiely, Power, John Kennedy, Maurice Conway, Maurice Daly, Edmond Fitzgerald, Mrs. Margaret Fitzgerald.
Mr. Terry, addressing the meeting, said that they were assembled to-day to support, and substantiate the application for the acquisition of 5,000 acres which they had lodged with the Minister for Lands, and which was also before the Dail. They had assembled also in conformity with the request of Mr. P. J. Little, T.D., to be supplied with the particulars of the grazing ranches and grazing farms throughout the County, and also for the names of applicants, and circumstances of all particulars for those lands—Evicted Tenants, Small holders, and Landless people with agricultural experience, also stating that no application will be received except through this Association only in order to avert indescribable confusion, and ceaseless labour. As I have said an application for the distribution of 5,000 acres is strongly advocated by Mr. Little, who is most anxious and determined to see that Co. Waterford will receive equal justice, and attention with the other counties. The Land Commission are empowered by the Land Act of this year to acquire for distribution by compulsion all ranch lands and large farms above 230 acres which will be left to the owners—so that by virtue of this Act ten thousand acres would be easily acquired in the County.
On the motion of Messrs. Hourigan and James Meagher, a vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Lyttle.
Mr. Hourigan, speaking to the resolution, strongly condemned the extensive ranches, and grazier, he said it was most deplorable to see the whole County monopolized in this way by a few people. It was just as bad as landlordism; it creates unemployment and deprives the people who constitute the population of the County of their livelihood. Mr. Meagher said that extensive grazer annihilated the livelihood of the labourer and usurped the industry of the middle class and small farmer.
The resolution was supported by Messrs. John Kiely, and Patrick McGrath, they said, that the 1931 Land Legislation was as great a boon as the Purchase Acts, and was largely due to the persevering agitation of the members of this Association, and the activity of the Secretary to whom a deep debt of gratitude is due.
On the motions of Messrs. John Kiely, William Walsh, Patrick McGrath, and Thos. Keaver. Resolutions

By "dipping" is meant thorough immersion in a Sheep Dip approved by the Department for Sheep (S.C.B.).

The Place used for dipping must be cleaned thoroughly without delay after each occasion of use; and all loose wool about the place must be gathered and disinfected or destroyed. If the dipping is carried out in the presence of an Inspector of the Local Authority, he will give a certificate to that effect.

Failure to comply with any provision of the Order entails serious penalty on prosecution. Sheep not dipped as required by the Order may be placed under severe restrictions.

A copy of the Order can be obtained on application to THE SECRETARY, Department of Agriculture (Veterinary Branch), Dublin, C.17.

Forms for Use under the Order may be obtained at any Garda Barracks, or at the Office of the Local Authority, viz., County Council Offices, Dungarvan.

Youghal District Court.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.)

McLoughlin and Cronin v. Devlin.
These were Civil Bills by W. McLoughlin, McCurtainstown, against R. Devlin, for 30s. for work done and for £5 for cutting off plaintiff's water supply, by Vincent Cronin, Youghal against the same defendant for £3 for plumbing work done and 30s. for wrongful detention of plaintiff's tools.

Mr. J. R. Macnamara, solr., for plaintiffs, and Mr. J. L. Keane, solr., for defendant.

From the evidence—The hearing of which lasted over 2 hours—it appeared that McLoughlin and Devlin were next door neighbours at McCurtainstown, taking a water supply from one 1/2 inch supply pipe off the main. The result was that when one was drawing the water, the other got little or none and vice versa. Last January things got so bad that Cronin was called in to overhaul, the connection to main road having been opened by McLoughlin beforehand. Some of the connections were overhauled and replaced by Cronin, McLoughlin's water being cut off for some days in the course of operations. There was then some dispute as to who should pay Cronin, who issued an ultimatum "no money, no water," both parties repudiating liability.

The Justice said that was one of the most complicated cases he had ever heard, but a few things stood out clearly. It was evident that Cronin worked in a trade of that sort. That showed that his claims in the Civil Bills were grossly exaggerated. His claims for 30s. for the detention of a few minor tools for 3 days was absolutely ridiculous and would come out. As regards McLoughlin's claim against Devlin for 30s. for work done, he thought it absurd as he was working to make his own water supply good. There was nothing in his claim for £5 for being deprived of water for he (the Justice) believed that he had forced the work on Devlin for his own sake. That would be dismissed. As regards Cronin's Civil Bill against Devlin for £3 for work done, he would give a decree for £1.

Arrears Of Annuities.

The Land Commission had Civil Bills against a number of tenants in the adjoining part of County Waterford, for arrears of annuities.

Mr. J. L. Keane, (for Mr. A. E. Ryan, State Solr.) for plaintiffs.

Decrees were given in all cases not settled—a stay being granted where asked for.

Family Dispute.

J. F. Feeny, charged his wife and his mother-in-law, Alice Pomphret, with abusive and threatening language.

Mr. Wm. R. Hodnett, solr., for complainant said that was an application to bind to the peace.

From the evidence it appeared there was a serious difference between the parties, who had not lived together for some time, the cases before the Court arose out of a dispute regarding articles of furniture.

The Justice said he would make a definite order, but would adjourn the cases for 3 months.

Labourers Cottages.

The Cork Board of Health, summoned a number of tenants for possession of labourers cottages.

Mr. Justin Condon, Collector, gave evidence as to the rent and arrears, the former varying from 11d. weekly to 1s 10d. and the arrears going up to £4 1s. 0d.

In granting decrees with a stay for a month, the Justice said that no such was ever created before or would again as that under the Labourers Acts.

Mr. Condon, said he had been compelled to bring these cases because the Local Government Department, not the Board of Health, had called for an explanation as to why those particular arrears were allowed to accrue.

Illegal Net.

Mr. T. Drohan, Inspector of Fisheries, applied for the forfeiture of 80 yards of salmon net found in the Harbour.

Mr. Keane, Solr., for the applicant, said that two boats ran away from the net. It was a common practice when an overlength was being used to cut it and make off on the approach of the bailiffs.

David Ellis, bailiff, said that they found the net in the Harbour near Monatrea. There were 5 boats altogether there and 2 of these made off when the bailiffs boat approached. The net was in fishing order.

The Justice—Do you think it was illegally in use?—Yes, sir.

An order was made for its forfeiture.

DEATH OF MR. RICHARD FITZGERALD, KILLOSERA DUNGARVAN

The death of Mr. Richard Fitzgerald, Killosera, this week removes from our midst a gentleman of the old school, and one who was highly respected. A large and practical farmer he had reached an advanced age, but was hale and hearty until a short time ago. He was a general favourite and his ready wit, kindly word and friendly help, endeared him to all who knew him. A splendid type of man in every way, his loss will be much felt for such sterling qualities as he possessed are not found every day. He passed peacefully away fortified by the rites of Holy Church. His funeral to the Old Parish was of large and representative dimensions. To his bereaved widow, daughter and son-in-law, heartfelt sympathy is extended. R.I.P.
