It was unanimously adopted.

The Agricultural Grant.
Mr. M. J. Hennessy, T.D., forwarded a letter from the L. G. Department stating that under Sub-Section 40 Sec. 48 of the Local Government (Ireland) Act. 1898, the benefit of the Agricultural Grant didn't extend to lands situated within the boundary of any borough or of any town which was an urban sanitary district, at the passing of that Act. When an urban district was formed since 1889 any Agricultural land included in the urban area carried with it the benefit of the Agricultural Grant. That was arranged under the adjustment made between the County Council and the urban district and any payment to the urban district was made by the council in accordance therewith. ALLEGED FORGERY OF WILL. UNUSUAL CASE FROM BALLY-DUFF AREA.

£100 DAMAGES.

At the Dungarvan Circuit Court, last Friday, a rather unusual type of case was heard for six hours. It was an action for damages for Slander arising out of the alleged forgery of a Will.

Patrick O'Donoghue, Ballinadreck, Arraglin, sued Mrs. Hannah Barry,

Lyrenaglogh, Ballyduff, for alleged slander and sought £300 damages.

Mr. E. Carroll, solr., for plaintiff. Mr. McEnery, B.L., (instructed by Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore,) defended.

Mr. Corroll said the Slander complained of was that the defendant (Mrs. H. Barry), after the death of her husband in April, 1930, said to several people. "My husband made no Will, but the Donoghue's made it."

Mrs. B. O'Callaghan, deposed she was a friend of Mrs. Barry's. She remembered having a conversation with membered having a conversation with her in which Mrs. Barry said: "That it He went into Mr. Magnier's office with was the Donoghue's made the Will" fold there was a Will there. Afterwards she said she went in to get a copy of the Will to bring to Mr. Carroll, solr. She told me that the Donoghue's forged her place. Witness inferred from that that they went in and made the Will. She believed the remarks.

Cross-examined by Mr. McEnery-It sations took place.

Miss E. Doolan, deposed she had a conversation with Mrs. Barry about her husband's death and a Will. Mrs. Barry told her she went into Mr. Magnier's Office to take out administration and he told her there was a Will made. Later she went in again and she refused to sign anything until she found out all about it. Mr. Magnier, then told her that her husband made no Will,

Two novel features were an 8 miles Cycle Road Race, for a Silver Cup presented by M. J. Sargent, Cappoquin, and a Gymnastic display, conducted by Professor Frazer, the well-known physical culture expert. The Road Race provided a thrilling struggle for the thousands of excited spectators, who, lined the whole eight miles circuit. Civic Guards and Stewards helped to keep the course clear for the contestants. The finish was a desperately close affair, the first 3 being separated only by a matter of a few yards. The Gaelic Committee who organised the Sports, are to be congratulated on the wonderful success of their efforts.

THE CASE OF SEAGEART

GRISCHA.

Strarring Betty Compson, Chester Morris and Jean Hersholt in one of the most sensational pictures of recent years, magnificently acted throughout by an all-star cast. The story of a Rus-sian soldier, condemned to a living death in a German prison camp, dur-ing the last days of the Great War. Making his escape, he falls in with a number of refugees, hiding in a forest and led by a young Russian girl. She helps him on his way by giving him the identity disc of a dead soldier, whose name he assumes. Soon after-wards, he is caught by the Germans, courtmartialed, and sentenced to be shot as a spy. The girl gains admission to the camp, carrying some poisoned drinks for the Guards, so that Grischa can escape when they are overcome. But the simple Russian soldier, weary of the endless fight against the merciless military machine, prefers to die and marches, brave and erect to his doom. A gripping picture of uncommon interest, teeming with dramatic passages, and imagination. D. POWER & CO., GARAGE, DUNGARVAN.

Mr. Lennon, said his client (Coffey), wanted to give his evidence in Irish and that Supt. O'Shea, would act as interpreter. This was done and both Mr. Lennon, B.L., and Supt. O Shea, proved themselves thoroughly capable of dealing with a native speaker in the vernacular. Mrs. Coffey, also gave evidence in Irish.

Patrick Covne, deposed his land was Patrick Coyne, deposed his land was continually been trespassed on by defendants cattle and pony for the past 21 years. They were breaking down his fences and a fair amount of his time was occupied repairing the fences. He complained several times to Coffey. Coffey had 3 cows 4 calves and 2 ponies. The pony was in with witnesses sheep in January last. About May 1st, witness got one of his sheep dead. The marks of the pony were near the sheep and/he traced them to lefendants house. Cross-examined by Mr. Lennon, B.L.

There is a commonage outside Coffey's. Coffey keeps his cattle grazing on that commonage. Witness had a field next to the commonage, but there is a good fence between them, next to that field is a pasture field of witnesses, the gap between his two fields is closed with stones to keep out the pony from his sheep. He saw Coffey's pony oftener without than with a spancel. Witness did not want to come to court until he found the trespass was getting too bad. He didn't know if his brother-in-law got a summons for having a gun without a licence. He was always good friends with Coffey. He told Mrs. Coffey that the sheep was killed and said it was too bad they did not keep away the pony. He did not call Mrs. Coffey ugly names on Good Friday. Defendant who gave his evidence in Cross-examined by Mr. McEnery—He did not strike a severe blow. He did celed it. On 26th May witness saw the pony in the field near the commonage. It was witness brought Mr. Byrne the Vet, to examine the sheep, and the Vet. was of opinion that the sheep died from blackleg. Thirty-two sheep of plaintiff's trespassed on a field of turnips belonging to witness a year ago.

Cross-examined by Mr. Maguire, witness corroborated. His Lordship, said Coffey failed to keep his cattle under control and he was therefore responsible for damages

Ap to his neighbour, apparently this trespass is going on for years, but the plaintiff did not seem to mind, some-thing must have happened between the parties this year. He would give a decree for £3.

Messrs. C. J. Curran, Thos. Flynn, P. R. Power, P. B. Sheridan, J Roche, M. Curran, and D. Coghlan.

Mr. Flynn, proposed the election of Mr. N. Fitzgerald, as Chairman, of the Committee. No more suitable man could be found. He was the founder and if afterwards it is proved there are the Waterford Show and Bull Sala. of the Waterford Show and Bull Sale, which was now one of the first in Ireland and that was largely due to his initiative. Hynes, V.S., re the sheep Dipping aron the table cooked, no one could tell rangements for the Knockmealdown area. They sanctioned payment to Mr. Hurley, of £3 for the use of the tank and £9 to his son to act as Mountain Ranger. They hoped the dipping would be proceeded with as soon as possible.

Mr. C. J. Curran said Mr. Hynes, and himself met Hurley and he wanted £12 a year, but they suggested £12 for the first year, when the tank required repairs and £10 afterwards, of course that is a matter for the Committee afferwards. Chairman-The Department's letter applies to only one year. Have we power to go beyond one year?

Mr. Flynn-You don't want to. A letter was read from Mr. Hynes. stating he was making arrangements with the mountain ranger to dip the sheep the last week in July, when the shearing operations were completed. He would make a general inspection to find out if any unsuspected cases of scab were about.

Mr. C. J. Curran, proposed that as the Committee had approved a scheme of compulsory Dipping for the Knockmealdown Mountain area under the supervision of Mr. Hynes, V.S., they asked the Departemnt not to have the vacant Vety. Surgeonship of Lismore area filled until this year's Dipping was over. He said Mr. Hynes had gone to considerable trouble in detecting scab in that area, which was a source of great trouble to the Committee for a long time as there was no boundary between County Waterford and County Tipperary, in that area. If Tipperary people wanted to evade dipping their sheep they turn-ed them over the Waterford border, and the same thing applied at this end. When this scheme is in force Mr. Hynes thinks it will have a great effect on the sheep of the County.

Mr. Flynn—Would that want to go before the County Council?

Mr. M. Curran, seconded the resolution, and it was passed unanimously Mr. Byrne, V.S., having reported that the Dipping Drainer was in a bad condition it was ordered to invite tenders for a new one to be considered at a special meeting on the Fair

Day.

Mr. Byrne, V.S., also reported that the sheep owned by Mr. John Dalton, Glendog, were now totally free from sheep scab.

WE HAVE AGAIN AND AGAIN warned our customers on the absolute necessity of Potato Spraying. It has been conclusively proved during the past few years that not only has spraying prevented potato blight, but it has almost doubled the crops in every instance. It also improves the quality of the potato by extending the period of growth, thereby allowing the crops to come to maturity. The necessity for spraying this season may be more urgent than usual. The present weather is proving favourable for the spread of the disease which has already made its appearance in the South of Ireland. We stock the latest types in horse and knapsack sprayers and we also keep large stocks of sulphate of copper and washing soda. We shall be very pleased to answer any enquiries regarding quantity to be used per acre, and will quote special low prices for cash for Acknowledgment. A letter was read from Mr. A. Nelson Cole, thanking the Council for the very kind and thoughtful resolution of sympathy adopted on the death of his dear mother.

Mr. Smyth, having to leave at this stage, the Chair was taken by Mr.

Life Boat Engineer.
The Clerk read correspondence forwarded by Col. A. Ronayne, in connection with the appointment of Engineer to the Lifeboat, as follows:—(1) Letter from Col. Ronayne, to the Council for-warding copies of correspondence with the Lifeboat Authorities, a statement by Mr. Mariga, and correspondence with President Cosgrave. In the circumstances he disagreed in tot. with the decision of the President (2) Col. Ronayne to Chief Inspector of Lifeboats sending copy of Mariga's statement which spoke for itself. Having made inquiries he found the appointment of these had caused strong feeling and Hayes had caused strong feeling and was freely referred to as a Freemasonry.
job. That form of criticism was greatly to be regretted in view of the marked improvement in religious tolerance and good will which had taken place in Ireland in the last few years. There seemed to be a good deal which lent colour to the above view. Thus he was informed that Hayes was caretaker of the local Freemason Lodge, and that of those who interested themselves on his behalf, at least two were Freemasons and all Protestants. That pective merits, records and ages of the men. It certainly seemed strange that an elderly man, a house-painter, should be appointed in preference to a man with Marican claims. Amin the man with Marican claims. man with Marigas claims. Again the wishes of the crews had not been conhesulated the State ought take the sulted, an important oversight, not a single seaman in Youghal would select Hayes in prefenence to Mariga. Some influence had evidently been brought to hear which did not preparly more to bear which did not properly represent to the selecting officers the respective merits of the two candidates. (3) Mariga's statement that he was a pensioned Leading Stoker of the Royal Navy with 22 years service, age 42 Qualifications—As mechanic—good. Wr. Dennehy—Does the motor man constitute one of the crew and go out In charge of Motor Boats-Superior, life-saving? Last October he had an interview with Engineer Dawkin and from the way he spoke he (Mariga) regarded the job as good as his. (4) Letter from Sirly F. Mr. Harrington asked what did he Shee, Secretary R.N.L.I., stating that want the Council to do. It was plain In the Goods of MARY ELIZABETH appointments of Motor mechanics were Mariga had more experience than made by the Chief Inspector of Life Hayes and that influence was brought boats at the Headquarters of the In to bear but they could not go behind stitute on the recommendation of the it. Inspecting Officers on the coast; consequently Mariga was labouring under a misapprehension if he regarded hima misapprehension if he regarded himself appointment that was the end of it. The present appointment had been made by the Lifeboat Institution of it. The present appointment had been made by the Lifeboat Institution and that ended the matter. What had readquarters had been aware of the readquart neadquarters had been aware of the they wanted to do? religion of any candidates for that appointment, nor aid they know whether any of them were ricemasons. It hap-pened, moreover, that none of the officers in question were themselves Freemasons. The suggestion that those matters had any bearing whatever on the appointment was one that could't be sustained. The Institutions endea-your in all those appointments, was to select a local man with the necessary qualifications and no prejudice was ever shown of the favour given on the score of religion or any other question except the man's suitability and he noped he (Col. Ronayne) would take rect any statement which he might hear to the contrary. (5). Letter from Col. Ronayne to Sir G. F. Shee, stating he would not take up the most take up the world not take up the world not take up the most take up the world not take up the most take up the world not take up the most take up the m he would not take up the matter on Mariga's behalf only that he was satisfied the most suitable man hadn't been appointed and he felt strongly that influences had been brought to bear which couldn't be too strongly condenmed in a matter of that sort. It was joying the prestige, the esteem, and the public confidence which the Lifeboat enjoyed could be made the catspaw of a clique and a "job" carried out—yet as far as he could see everpthing pointed to that. There could be no reasonable doubt that Mariga's statement was sufficiently true to call for full investigation why the Inspecting Officers apparently changed their minds. Why was a house-painter found more suitable than a Naval Petty Officer with long sea experience and excellent qualifications, and Mariga was much younger than Hayes. Those points were of both local and national importance. The lives of the crew and the hopes of the ship-wrecked were of paramount importance and so the filling his life as well as the others of the of important posts must be above ali suspicion. (6). Sir Geo. F. Shee, to Col. Ronayne, stating that he could only repeat that the Chief Inspector in making might the appointment was actuated by no with Mr. Hayes, who had been with the boat during her trials at Cowes, had shown a good knowledge of in-
