Mount Melleray

Abbatial Blessing of New Lord Abbot, Imposing Celebrations

The Solemn Ceremony of the Abbatial Blessing of the Rt. Rev. Dom. Stanislaus Hickey Lord Abbot-Elect of Mount Melleray, took place in the Abbey Church, on Wednesday last, the feast of St. Simon and Jude, in the presence of two Archbishops, four Bishops, 6 Abbots and over 200 priests and thousands of laymen from all parts of Ireland and across Channel.

Lord Abbot Hickey, who is the sixth Abbot of Mount Melleray succeeds Rt. Rev. Dom. Maurus O'Phelan, who died last July. The occasion was one of great Jubilation to the Community and the whole Country for the new Lord Abbot is immensely popular on all sides.

The Masters of Ceremonies were Rev. Fr. Columban O'Clift, Mount Melleray and Rev. Fr. Malachy O'Clift, do. The other Abbots present were: Rt. Rev. Dom. Jean-Marie Clore, Lord Abbot of Soligny-la-Trappe, France.

The Solemn ceremonies having concluded the Lord Abbot and Community entertained about 1,000 guests to a Banquet in honour of the great occasion. The Seminary and College Halls were gaily decorated for the occasion. The Study Hall was occupied by the Bishops and Priests and at a table near the stage the Bishops and Abbots formed a distinguished company. The class-rooms were assigned to the laity and were gaily festooned.

The catering was in the hands of Mrs. Lawlor, Naas, and the menu was as follows: Hors d'oeuvres; Grapefruit Cocktail; soup Oxtail; Fillet of Sole; Maitre d'hotel sauce; Boiled Mutton; Caper sauce; Turkey, Limerick Ham; Celery; Mashed Potatoes Charlotte Russe; Trifle; Pear Melba; Desert Coffee.

Toasts:—The following were the Toasts honoured:—The Pope; Most Rev. Bernard Hackett, D.D., The Visiting Bishops; The Assistant and Visiting Abbots; Visiting Priests, The Visitors. The Corporation of Waterford, Kilkenny and Clonmel were represented by the Mayors and Town Clerks in full regalia.

There were over 200 priests in attendance from all parts of the country. Every Parish in the Diocese of Waterford being represented. The ceremony was extremely impressive in its simplicity, befitting the simple austerity of the great Order.

Benedict. The Abbot-Elect received the crozier, the ring and took a kiss of peace from the Bishop, and then the Masses were continued.

Following the Offertory the Bishop received from the Abbot the Oblations presented for the occasion, and which consisted of candles, bread and wine ornamented in gold and silver, and bearing the Coats of Arms of the Bishop and the Monastery.

Just before the Communion the Abbot received from the Bishop the kiss of peace, and this he imparted to his assistant Abbots. The new Abbot then received the mitre, the gloves and the crozier. The choir sang the Ecce Sacerdos Magnus arranged by Dr. Gebruers, the Monastery Organist, who at the conclusion played Cesar Franck's Prelude.

The Rt. Rev. Dom. Stanislaus Hickey the new Abbot, is a native of Rossmore, Gould's Cross, Cashel, Co. Tipperary. He is a son of Mr. Patrick Hickey, and is the fifth Abbot to be elected since the foundation of Mount Melleray Abbey, the centenary of which will be celebrated next year. He has had over 50 years' connection with the Monastery, as a student and a priest. He acted in amongst other capacities, that of Dean of Studies in the College, and while occupying this post he produced an important work entitled "Summula Doctrinae Scholasticae Philosophiae," which is now regarded as a standard work in scholastic philosophy, and used as a text-book in most of the ecclesiastical colleges in the Catholic world.

THE BANQUET. The Solemn ceremonies having concluded the Lord Abbot and Community entertained about 1,000 guests to a Banquet in honour of the great occasion. The Seminary and College Halls were gaily decorated for the occasion. The Study Hall was occupied by the Bishops and Priests and at a table near the stage the Bishops and Abbots formed a distinguished company.

DUNGARVAN DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Mr. McCarthy, acting D.J.)

Transfers Of Licence. Mr. Williams, solr., applied for an ad interim transfer of the licence held by Charles Lawn, Square (as executor of the will of the late Mrs. Carroll, Square), to Mr. John O'Carroll, Square. There being no objection, the application was granted.

Alleged Assault. Mrs. Bridie Keane, Helvick Head, prosecuted Mr. John Bateman, do., for unlawful assault and beating her on October 15th. Mr. Williams, solr., asked to have the case adjourned in the absence Mr. Farrell, solr., who was engaged by the other side. The case was accordingly adjourned to the next Court.

Point-to-Point Races for Cappoquin.

On Monday night a very large and representative meeting of the townspeople and all the sporting people from the surrounding districts was held in the C.Y.M.S. Hall, Cappoquin, for the purpose of making arrangements for the holding of Point-to-Point races near the town under the auspices of the West Waterford Hunt early next year. Cappoquin has never yet obtained a permit under the auspices of this Hunt, but some time ago Mr. Ion Villiers Stuart, Dromana, the popular and sporting M.F.H., decided that the time was now ripe for such a fixture for Cappoquin in return for the generous support which that town has given to the West Waterford Hunt for several years past.

It had been at first intended that the races would be held over the well-known Dromana course, south of the town, where many successful race meetings of another kind have been held in the past, but while Messrs. E. Casey, P. Meany, P. Doran, and some other owners of the land were quite willing to give their permission, one farmer, portion of whose land was absolutely essential to complete the course, refused his permission and the promoters had, consequently, to look elsewhere for an alternative course. They had not long to seek, however, because owing to the generous and sporting spirit of Senator Sir John Keane, Bart., Messrs. James Ahearne, David Kely, Maurice Sweeney, Mrs. O'Brien, and Joseph O'Keefe, a splendid course was quickly offered to them at Knockaun, about 1 1/2 miles to the eastern side of the town, on the way to Mount Melleray which provides a grand stretch of safe hunting country amid some of the richest and most picturesque scenery around Cappoquin, always famous for its beautiful sylvan surroundings.

The full meeting of the Committee was held on Tuesday night, Mr. Ion Villiers Stuart again presiding. Mr. P. Walsh, announced that on that day Miss D. Musgrave, Miss Freda Keane, Mr. Villiers Stuart and himself had walked over the land at Knockaun, and carefully inspected the Point-to-Point course, and they were all convinced that a more suitable course could not be found in the district. There was a commanding hill overlooking the land which would provide a natural grand stand for the public, and they had found it an ideal course in every sense of the word.

This statement was confirmed both by Miss Keane and Mr. Stuart. The fixing of a date for the races was next discussed, and after various suggestions, Thursday, February, 18th was eventually decided on as being a date most suitable to the farmers who own the land. A small sub-committee was then elected to get on with the work immediately the personnel of the Committee being:—Mr. Villiers Stuart, Chairman, Miss Freda Keane, Messrs. S. J. Power, R. Bell, E. Casey, M. F. Walsh, Jas. Donovan, J. V. Conway, and W. J. Baldwin with the Treasurers and Hon. Secs., as auxiliary members.

Arrangements were made for getting Collection Cards printed and having the fixture properly advertised, and many other important details having been attended to, the meeting adjourned.

LITERARY CLUB, DUNGARVAN.

The annual general meeting of the above was held at the Club Rooms on Sunday last, Mr. E. Phelan, President took the chair. A good attendance of members including the Secretary Mr. Dee, were present.

Opening the meeting the Chairman said that before reviewing the year's work, he would like to mention that during the year two of the oldest members—Michael O'Mahony, and Sean Dower, had passed from their midst. Everyone present knew the high esteem in which both deceased were held and it was with feelings of deep regret that he proposed that the sympathy of the meeting be expressed and recorded in the minutes. It was also his painful duty to include in the resolution the Club's deepest sympathy on the death of Mrs. Cunningham, mother of their esteemed fellow member Mr. Michael Cunningham.

Baldwin, Sir Henry Dobbs, W. J. McCarthy, Jas. Donovan, Aidan Walsh, George Russell, Wm. Walsh, Wm. Tobin, L. D. Dunne, Dr. T. White, T. E. Ebrill and Thos. Fives.

The appointment of Treasurer was next taken up and Mr. M. F. Walsh, proposed and Mr. Jas. Donovan, seconded, that the Munster and Leinster Bank be their Treasurer.

The Chairman said it would be well to have a personal Treasurer also, and Mr. L. D. Dunne, proposed, and Mr. P. Walsh, seconded that Mr. James Lincoln be appointed to the position. This was carried unanimously and Mr. Lincoln said that he would accept the position and do all in his power to assist the Race Committee. (Applause).

Mr. M. F. Walsh's proposition was unanimously agreed to. The election of Patrons, etc., was deferred to a future meeting, and it was then decided to hold a special meeting of the committee on the following night when the date of the races and other important details would be decided on.

The Chairman said before they separated he wished to propose a very hearty vote of thanks to Canon Whelan for his kindness in granting them the use of the C.Y.M.S. Hall for that meeting and also for his trouble in coming down to the meeting that night. (Applause).

He also wished to personally thank all those farmers who had so kindly given their land for the races, and said that as a sportsman himself he greatly appreciated their sportsmanship in the matter (applause). The vote of thanks to Canon Whelan having been carried amidst loud applause, Mr. T. Ebrill then proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Stuart for presiding and also for the great interest which he was taking in promoting the races for Cappoquin, and this having also been similarly carried, the meeting concluded.

A full meeting of the Committee was held on Tuesday night, Mr. Ion Villiers Stuart again presiding. Mr. P. Walsh, announced that on that day Miss D. Musgrave, Miss Freda Keane, Mr. Villiers Stuart and himself had walked over the land at Knockaun, and carefully inspected the Point-to-Point course, and they were all convinced that a more suitable course could not be found in the district.

There was a commanding hill overlooking the land which would provide a natural grand stand for the public, and they had found it an ideal course in every sense of the word. This statement was confirmed both by Miss Keane and Mr. Stuart. The fixing of a date for the races was next discussed, and after various suggestions, Thursday, February, 18th was eventually decided on as being a date most suitable to the farmers who own the land.

A small sub-committee was then elected to get on with the work immediately the personnel of the Committee being:—Mr. Villiers Stuart, Chairman, Miss Freda Keane, Messrs. S. J. Power, R. Bell, E. Casey, M. F. Walsh, Jas. Donovan, J. V. Conway, and W. J. Baldwin with the Treasurers and Hon. Secs., as auxiliary members.

Kilmaethomas News

A SOCIAL SNIP.

Lord Osborne de Vere Beauclerk, who has just celebrated his 57th birthday, is half-brother of heir-presumptive of the Duke of St. Albans. His mother, who died in 1926, was a daughter of the late Ralph Bernal Osborne, M.P., of Newtown Anner, near Clonmel, Co. Tipperary. Lord Osborne Beauclerk married, in 1918, Lady Beatrice Frances, daughter of the 5th Marquis of Lansdowne, and widow of the 6th Marquis of Waterford.

RECOVERED. His many friends and well-wishers in Ballynaneen are glad to know that Mr. Michael Kely has fully recovered from the effects of his recent accident, for which he had been at Dungarvan Cottage Hospital for some few weeks for treatment. Mr. Kely's injuries were caused by a reaper and binder needle having pierced the palm of his right-hand, and at first it was thought that it would be necessary to amputate it from the wrist, an operation which, happily, did not take place.

EAST WATERFORD HUNT CLUB. Mr. J. H. Power, Mount Richard, presided at the annual general meeting of the above Club. The accounts for the past season showed a considerable debit balance and it was felt that if members realised the cost of the upkeep of a pack of hounds they would increase their subscriptions. The opening meet was fixed for Tuesday, 3rd, November, at the Manor of St. John, Waterford. It was decided to hold a dance around Christmas at Waterford.

A point-to-point race meeting was fixed for 31st March next, subject to the sanction of the Irish National Hunt Club Stewards. The Marquis of Waterford and Mr. Richard J. Russell will continue to act as joint-masters. Mr. Jack Haines is huntsman and first whip, and Mr. James Walsh, is second whip. With an abundance of foxes in the area and the hounds in tip-top trim excellent sport is confidently anticipated over the coming season.

Kilmaethomas supporter of the Hunt hope that the ideal Cargeen (Newtown) course will be selected as the venue for the Point-to-Point. A COLLISION. On Friday 23rd inst., a lorry—the property of Mr. John O'Gorman, coal merchant, Dunabratin, Kill, and driven by a young man named Keane—crashed into a motor car (driven by Mr. E. Spratt, Dungarvan, with whom was Mr. J. Ormond, B.E., Assistant Surveyor) on the Dungarvan-Tramore coast road at Knockmahon. While all concerned providentially escaped unhurt, the force of the impact so damaged Mr. Spratt's car, that it could not be restarted. The lorry was practically undamaged. Mr. Ormond telephoned to Dungarvan and another car was dispatched to pick up Mr. Spratt and himself, who, as well as the driver of the lorry, are to be congratulated on the good luck that befriended them on the occasion.

Gaelic Jets.

The Annual Convention of the East Waterford Board, G.A.A., will be held at the Gaelic League Hall, Waterford, on Sunday, December, 6th next. I hear from Mr. David Power, Hon. Sec., Kilmaethomas H.C., that arrangements in connection with the final matches of the local Medal Tournament (Junior Football) will not be made until the last of the current year's County Championship contests have been played out.

The Gaels of these parts wholeheartedly join in wishing good luck and success to our County junior campaign in connection with the final matches of the local Medal Tournament (Junior Football) will not be made until the last of the current year's County Championship contests have been played out.

Kilmaethomas and Cappoquin ash-blade-welding units will play off their tie in the first round of the Lismore Medal Tournay, at Lismore Gaelic ground, on Sunday, November 8th. Although Dathi de Paor's pack have not hurled any since Eire Og (Dungarvan) knocked them out of the County Championship, they can be counted upon to give a sparkling display of the capital code for many moons to come, and we do not think our "Old Corner Stone" friends will be able to give them the proverbial "father of a batini" anyway.

THRASHING.

Thrashing machines have been busily operating up and down the country over the past few weeks beating grain out of the straw. Generally, the corn crop is good this year, although one would expect the contrary after the weeks of bad weather in August. By the way, potatoes seem to be very poor in the main this year, the majority of farmers complaining of the badness of the yield in comparison with last season.

GRATIFYING.

That the charge of the manslaughter of his brother preferred against Mr. Richard Lannon, of Rathguase, Bonmahon, was—as reported in our previous number—withdrawn in our previous number—General at District Justice P. J. McCabe's latest sitting at Kilmaethomas, was a matter of the utmost satisfaction to his troops and legions of friends hereabouts. "Death from natural causes" was the verdict of the jury (of whom Mr. Nicholas Fitzgerald M.C.C., Ballinassilla, Bonmahon, was foreman) at the resumed inquest (held on the 23rd, inst.) on the sudden demise of William Lannon, on the night of the 27th, ult. Dr. Bryan Foley (Deputy Coroner for East Waterford) conducted the inquest.

The deepest sympathy is felt with the widow, the brothers and sister, and other relatives of the deceased in this great blow that has befallen them.

DEATH OF MRS. COFFEY.

On the evening of the 22nd, inst., at the residence of her husband, at Crough, Kilmaethomas, occurred the death of Mrs. Coffey, wife of Mr. Ml. Coffey, and mother of Messrs. Michl. John and Thomas Coffey, and of the Misses Bridget and Hannah Coffey. The deceased had been in failing health for some time prior to the end, which in the early autumn of her life, came calmly and peacefully after she had received the last rites of Holy Church. Highly respected and esteemed by all who knew her, the late Mrs. Coffey, pursued a life which was the embodiment of every good and noble virtue. On Friday evening, the remains accompanied by an imposing procession of the public, were conveyed to the Parish Church, Kilrossanty. Next morning, after the celebration of Masses for the repose of her soul, the interment took place in the adjoining cemetery.

A "BANEFUL" FIGURE.

The superstitious are often worried as to the truth of the unlook of the figure 13. Mr. E. Scala, the Battersea, (London) Cafe proprietor, makes no secret of his dread of this number. He was the winner of the Irish Hospitals' Sweepstake in the Grand National. His ticket was the 13th drawn out of the drum. When legislation commenced he stayed at one of Dublin's poshest hotels. His room there was No. 13. His case was heard and adjourned on April 13th, and its hearing was resumed on the 13th of the present month. The late Charles Stewart Parnell, for a long while leader of the old Irish Parliamentary Party, was so much awed by 13 that he would not sleep in a room with that number or sit at a table in the thirteenth position. And the great Parnell was only one of the many who cherished the same antipathy. Public caterers, in Victorian days, arranged their guests in such a way that 13 was an absent denomination. The letters in the combined names of Waterford and Cork total 13. . . . . We wonder will the discovery real us a "Munster double" in Dublin to-morrow!

At several abodes in and around Kilmaethomas, tickets for the Irish Hospitals' Sweepstake in the Manchester November Handicap form the prizes keenly contested for these nights by groups of card-players, amongst whom the game called "45, jink and wheel" is the one most favoured. A "rubber" of 5 games is usually played for each ticket. Hundreds of tickets are being disposed of in such competitions throughout the locality. Some of the regular "caroachs" of our acquaintance have, each of them, more than 50 tickets already won. It is to be hoped the "Big Drum" will not leave the district down on "Draw Day."

FOR THE LAST TIME.

Holy Mass was celebrated at the Workhouse Chapel-of-Ease, Kilmaethomas, for the last time on Tuesday morning, 25th inst. The nuns have since left their apartments there. We are happy to state that Messrs. Kilmachomas and Dungarvan, conducted a most successful sale of furniture, etc., for the Rev. Sisters on Thursday.

CHRIST OUR KING.

Rev. T. Condon, C.C., celebrated Missa Contata at Kilmaethomas Convent Church in honour of the glorious Festival of last Sunday. A large congregation assisted.

A HUGE VICTORY.

The General Election in England is over and the Socialist Party is almost swept out of existence. The new Conservative or National Government has a majority of 486 in a House of 600. The Socialist Party only won 50 seats. They lost 231 seats. The new Government is pledged to tariffs which if carefully watched and handled should benefit this country.

CAPPOQUIN DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.)

Licensing Transfers.

Mr. T. C. Williams, solr., Dungarvan, applied for an ad interim transfer of the licence held by the late Miss Ellen Geary, Main street, Cappoquin, to Mr. John Ronayne, Cappoquin. He said that the late Miss Geary had willed the premises to her nephew, Jas Geary, who was at present in New York and was not likely to come home but as Mr. Ronayne had been named as executor in deceased's will, it was now necessary to have the licence transferred in his name, although the business would continue to be conducted by Miss B. Geary, the deceased's niece. Supt. Quinlan, Lismore, having stated that there was no objection on the part of the Guards, the transfer was granted.

Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solicitor, Dungarvan, made a similar application for a transfer of the licence held by Mr. Pierce Bolger, The Square, Cappoquin to his daughter, Miss Anastasia Bolger. Mr. Ryan, explained that Mr. Bolger was now an old man over 90 years of age, and was anxious to have his daughter provided for before his death. This application was also granted.

Exemption Orders.

Exemption Orders entitling them to open their licensed premises at 7 o'clock on the mornings of Fair Days, were granted to all the local publicans whose applications had been adjourned at the previous Court owing to their not having given sufficient notice of seven clear days to the Guards. Supt. Quinlan offered no objection to those applications.

Licensing Prosecution.

Supt. Quinlan, summoned Mr. M. Russell, Publican, Aglish, for a breach of the Licensing Act on the morning of July 30th., and two local men named Daly and Ducey were summoned for being illegally on the premises on the occasion.

Sergt. Vaughan, Villierstown, stated that he had the defendant's premises under observation from 12.45 to 1 o'clock, on the morning in question. He noticed some lights flashing in the house as if somebody were lighting matches and he sent Guard O'Connell to the back door while he went to the front door and knocked.

He had to knock five or six times before being admitted by the publican who, in reply to his question, said that he had nobody on the premises. On entering the kitchen behind the bar he found a man named Daly who lived only 2 1/2 miles away. Daly said to him that he was a traveller, as he had stayed in Dungarvan the previous night.

Witness found eight empty stout bottles and one empty glass in the place and on afterwards going out to the yard he found the man, Ducey, hiding in a shed between the head of a motor car and the wall.

He pulled him out and asked him to account for his presence there and he replied that he had gone into the yard for a private purpose. Witness then brought Ducey back to the house and asked Mr. Russell to account for him, and he replied that he could not account for his presence, as he did not know he was there, and that probably he had come into the yard for some private purpose.

The Justice—What is the defence in this case?

Mr. Russell (who was not professionally represented) said there was no defence, as he was admitting the offence. The Justice asked what was the general character of the house?

Sergt. Vaughan said the house was generally conducted in a most respectable manner.

Replying to the Court, the Clerk said there was a conviction against Mr. Russell in May, 1929, when he was fined 5/- without an endorsement.

The Justice said as there was a previous conviction he should now impose a fine of £2, but he had no hesitation in certifying that it was a trivial offence and in view of the good character of the house there would be no endorsement on the licence.

The two men found on the premises were fined 5/- each.

Abusive Language.

In a number of cases and crosses between neighbouring families in Pound Lane, it was stated that a woman defendant had gone down on her knees in the street and cursed everybody in Pound Lane (laughter).

Some of the evidence was of a most unsavoury character and unfit for publication, and after giving the cases a prolonged and most patient hearing, the Justice said he would adjourn all the cases for three months as it seemed to be only some form of pin-picking dispute that was going on between the parties concerned.

Mr. W. R. Hodnett, solr., Youghal, was for the complainants; and Mr. A. R. Farrell, solr., Dungarvan, appeared for the defence.

Aggravated Assault On A Child. Supt. Quinlan, charged a labourer named Thomas Byrne, residing in a labourers cottage at Affane, with having committed an aggravated assault on a little girl named Mary Bridget Lewis, aged 9 years.

Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, appeared for the defence.

The Supt. explained that the little girl had been placed out at nurse with defendant's wife by the Waterford Co.

Board of Health and on Sunday, August, 30th he committed an aggravated assault on her by beating her with the leather strap of a fire-machine as a result of which she had to be treated in Dungarvan Hospital.

The little girl, who was not sworn, gave her evidence in a clear and collected manner and proved to be a most intelligent witness.

In reply to the Supt. she explained that on the Sunday in question she was sent to Mass in Cappoquin and because she was late in returning, Thomas Byrne, took the leather strap off the fire-machine and severely beat her about the legs, arm, hand and side of the face. Byrne, and his wife afterwards went out walking and she escaped from the house and ran away down Dromana avenue where she was taken charge of by a Civic Guard from Villierstown and sent to Dungarvan Hospital the next day.

In reply to Mr. O'Gorman, she said that she was late coming back from Mass on that day, although she had been told to be back early and to bring some milk with her.

She admitted that she was late coming home from school at Affane on another occasion, as she remained picking blackberries along the road.

Mr. O'Gorman—Had you often to be chastised for your lateness before this date?

Witness—I had, sir.

Mr. O'Gorman—And did you observe these chastisements?

Witness—I suppose I did, sir.

Dr. McCarthy, M.O., Dungarvan, Hospital, stated that the girl was admitted to hospital on Monday, August 31st., but he did not see her until Sept. 1st. He then found her suffering from numerous contusions and bruises on the leg and hand and also from a contused wound on the left side of the face as if she had been struck with the buckle of the leather belt. She was suffering severely from shock, and was inclined to be hysterical. The wounds he found on her were such as would be caused by having her severely beaten either with a smooth stick or a leather strap, as described. She seemed to be a very sensitive but intelligent child, added the witness.

In reply to Mr. O'Gorman, Dr. McCarthy, said that the child's life was not in danger at any time.

Mrs. O'Donnell, Home Assistance Officer, Lismore, stated that the girl was 9 years of age and had been boarded out to Mrs. Byrne, defendant's wife, last March, at the rate of £1 per month.

The child had now been taken from Byrne's house and was boarded out with another woman near Cappoquin.

Guard Buggy, Villierstown, stated that in consequence of information received on Sunday evening, August 30th he proceeded to Dromana avenue where he found the little girl wandering about. She told him about being beaten with a leather strap by Thos. Byrne, and said she was afraid to go back to his house again. Witness then took her to Villierstown barrack and placed her in charge of Mrs. Murphy, for the night and had her removed to Dungarvan Hospital the next day.

Guard Moloney, Cappoquin, stated that he visited Byrne's house after the occurrence and examined the leather belt of the fire-machine which he found to be 4ft. 4ins. in length by 3/4 of an inch wide. There was a metal buckle on the belt measuring 3/4 by 1/2 an inch.

Thomas Byrne, defendant, was examined by Mr. O'Gorman and stated that the girl had been sent to Mass in Cappoquin on the Sunday in question and that she took the longest road back and did not arrive until 4 o'clock. He lost his temper with her then and gave her a couple of blows with the strap, but did not mean to hurt her, and he was now sorry for what he had done.

Defendant having been cross-examined by the Supt. Mrs. Byrne, his wife, was examined by Mr. O'Gorman, and corroborated his story. She said the girl was always late coming home from school or anywhere else she was sent and they always had great trouble with her.

Mr. O'Gorman submitted that his client had only intended to chastise the girl for disobedience but had, unfortunately, lost his temper and inflicted more punishment than he had intended to give. As defendant was only a casual labourer and a poor man he asked that he should be leniently treated under the circumstances.

Supt. Quinlan having replied, the Justice said it was quite clear that the defendant was a bad-tempered man and was not fit to be in charge of a child like this. This little girl was hyper-sensitive and was not as suitable to be beaten as she had, undoubtedly, been on this occasion.

He was at first inclined to take a very serious view of this case and send the defendant to jail without the option of a fine, but he had now decided to adopt a different course, although there was far more force used than was necessary.

He then asked what was the defendant's previous character, and the Supt. said that on May 22nd., 1929 he had been charged with obtaining money by false pretences from the Ministry of labour and bound to the peace.

The Justice—Has he ever been charged with any act of violence before this? Supt.—No, sir.

The Justice asked what were the expenses in the case and the Supt. said that Dr. McCarthy's fee as a witness was the principle item.

Mr. O'Gorman said that as Byrne was only a poor man it would not be

YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT.

A number of undefended Civil Bills and ejections in which Messrs. Wm R. Hodnett, and J. N. R. Macnamara, solrs., appeared for plaintiffs, were first disposed of.

Land Commission v. Murray.

This was an application of the Irish Land Commission v. Edmond Murray, Coolbeggan, for a committal on failure to comply with an Instalment Order.

Mr. T. K. Keane, solr., (for Mr. E. Ryan, State Solr., Dungarvan) for plaintiffs.

Mr. Keane said that an Instalment Order for the payment of 10/- monthly had been granted in June 1930.

Defendant admitted he had not paid anything for some time past. He was now working for the Co. Council, and he would start paying again.

The case was adjourned for a fortnight for the production of particulars.

Ad Interim Transfer.

Mr. J. J. Foley, solr., Cork, applied on behalf of Jas. Hickey, for an ad interim transfer of the licence held by P. J. White, Summerfield Hotel.

Mr. Foley said the applicant had married a daughter of the present licensee and the property was transferred to them both as joint tenants. The applicant was the nominee of wife and self for the licence.

The license having been handed in, The Justice said it was the old license, which had expired.

Mr. Foley said they had till November the 4th., to apply for a new license. Supt. Dennehy, said there was no objection.

The application was granted subject to the production of the new license.

Alleged Reckless Driving.

Supt. Dennehy, charged Jerh. O'Donovan, Supt. Public Assistance, Cork, with reckless driving.

Mr. J. Stanton, solr., Cork, defended Guard Fottrell, said that on 11th September, as a result of a complaint received he proceeded to the Strand and met the defendant outside the Atlantic Hotel. He admitted he was after a bit of a collision further down the road at Avondale House. He said that when coming along the main road from Cork he saw a cow coming out of a breen near Avondale House.

Putting on the brakes, the car skidded and went in on the footpath, subsequently striking the wall at Avondale House. Guard Ceasor, and he examined the scene and found the track of the car in the centre of the road, where the brakes were applied. It was 55 yards from the footpath in question, from which the car then swerved and dashed to the wall. Guard Ceasor, and he were on the scene about five minutes after the accident. One of the headlights was broken and the body of the car slightly damaged by impact with the wall. If it was going slowly it wouldn't have been damaged.

The pier of the gate was driven three feet in towards the sitting room. The driver was quite sober.

Cross-examined by Mr. Stanton, witness said there had been a shower and Donovan said the road was very damp and greasy and the car liable to skid. There was a high camber in the centre of the road. There were gravel and stones on the footpath.

You didn't suggest the four wheels went up on the footpath?—No, two of them.

Mr. John Day, Magazine, Road, Cork, said he was staying on holidays at Avondale House on the day in question. He was sitting in the front room at about 3.40 p.m., when he heard the grating of brakes being clapped on a motor car and soon after the car smashed in opposite the house. The car had pierced the wall and one pier. He went out and questioned the driver, who said he had swerved to avoid a cow.

Witness didn't see any cow.

Cross-examined by Mr. Stanton—Witness said there was a shower of rain sometime before so that the road was moist and greasy.

Guard Ceasor, said the car was tested after the accident and on the brakes being applied it stopped immediately on its own length. The brakes were, therefore, in order.

The defendant said he was driving to Youghal at the time, doing about 25 miles roughly. Near the Tennis Court, a black cow came out on his right-hand side. He immediately put on the hand brake and the wheels locked, the car skidded and went up on the footpath while getting off and avoiding the deep gully, the car skidded again.

The road was asphalted and very greasy. The accident occurred owing to the nature of the road. The camber was extremely high. He was driving in the centre.

Cross-examined by the Supt.—You drove 33 yards after applying the brakes?—Immediately I applied the brake the car shot off the road. Several cars passed after. He couldn't say if the drivers put on the brakes or if fair to ask him to pay Dr. McCarthy's fee.

Supt.—If he is not made pay it, then the State will have to do so.

The Justice said he thought the defendant was getting off very lightly by fining him 10/- and ordering him to pay 20/- costs, in addition.

Some cases of drunkenness and for using bicycles without lights at the suit of Guard Teahan, Cappoquin, were disposed of with the usual fines, which completed the business of the Court.

SOLICITORS SHOULD ADVISE CLIENTS NOT TO GO TO COURT.

At Carrick-on-Suir District Court, on Tuesday, arising out of some abusive language cases in which the parties sought to have each other bound to the peace.

Mr. McCable, D.J., said ever since he became a District Justice he had endeavoured to get people not to be wasteful of their time and money in trivial cases of abusive language. He thought it was a pity to see these people washing their dirty linen in Court with all the idle folk of Carrick looking on.

They had three solicitors engaged in these cases and sheets of papers containing the details of them. He thought Solicitors should give a few words of advice to these people to settle their trivial things out of Court. Where there is a genuine need for binding to the peace he (Justice) never hesitated to do so. The late Lord Chief Baron Parris, laid it down that mere abuse is not a justification for binding to the peace.

Practitioners have more than a responsibility in law for their clients. They should give them words of advice not to be in a hurry to run into Court with trivial cases to treat with contempt people who indulge in abuse and name-calling. When he (Justice) came to Waterford, eight years ago he had numerous cases every week of poor people. The attitude he had taken had reduced such cases to ten in a year.

Mrs. K. O'Neill, Portlaw, was fined £1 for supplying drink on Sunday to two men named Foley and Kelly.

The conviction was not endorsed on the licence.

Mr. Birehy, solr., for defendant admitted the offence and said Mrs O'Neill invited in the two men who frequently bought groceries from her.

John Mullins, aged 72, of Ballinaboola, Rathgormack, Co. Waterford, was charged with breaking into the cottage of Mrs. Margaret Murphy, who lives near him.

Mrs. Murphy, stated she left her house and locked it and put the key under the window. She saw the defendant approach the house and lift latch and use what appeared to be a key. She returned to the house and found the defendant in the bedroom. He asked for a few matches and said he was looking for a shovel.

Sergt. Daly, stated he found two keys and a file in the pocket of the defendant. One of the keys had been filed. That was the key that opened Mrs. Murphy's door. It would also open the door of another neighbour.

Defendant said he was looking for an old shovel, he thought he would find one in Mrs. Murphy's house.

The Justice said it was quite plain that the defendant went into the house to commit a mean theft. But for his age he would send him to jail. He let him off under the Probation of Offenders Act and directed the Guards to keep their eye on him.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN BED IN CARRICK-ON-SUIR.

Dr. P. Stokes, Coroner, for South Tipperary, held an inquest at Carrick-on-Suir Hospital on Tuesday, touching the death of Thomas Ryan, a horse-dealer, who was found dead in bed in his house at Ballynachard Road.

Deceased son gave evidence that he was queer in the head and had delusions that people were trying to kill him by putting electric wires through the wall of the house. He was very contrary when he was drunk. He was drunk on the previous day and had a row with his son whom he attacked. The son of a neighbour pushed deceased into the house and shut the door from outside and left him there. Later on they heard him shouting and hammering. Subsequently they looked through the window and seen him in bed. Some hours afterwards when his wife went to him with tea she found he was dead.

Dr. J. Phelan and Dr. P. Murphy, gave evidence of having had a post mortem on deceased. There were no marks of violence on his body. His heart showed he had been suffering from myocarditis and there was pulmonary congestion. The scuffle he had had with his son would not have anything to do with his death. He might have died at any time from myocarditis.

The Coroner recorded a verdict of death from Myocarditis.

Supt. Fitzgerald and Sergt. Moynihan, conducted the proceedings on behalf of the state.

YACHTING AND YACHT RACING.

CHOOSING A BOAT.

I think I have now outlined all the important rules of the Yacht Racing Association.

Even if we have a race here only once in the proverbial blue moon, it is well the rules should be memorized for the occasion, and observed. It is no exaggeration to say observance of them, adds more than half the pleasure and interest to a race.

Where's the fun, and what's the use, in trying to "jockey" an opponent, and "best" him for position, before the start, if he doesn't appreciate what you're at, and in turn tries to "best" you? And after the start, what's the use in a "weather bow," or a "lee bow," or establishing an overlap—and so on, for other tricks of the game if they're not understood. There is no pleasure in trying on these if your opponent does not appreciate them, and try to avoid them—and in turn, try some counter strategy.

Now that we have finished with the rules, I will conclude with a few words of advice to the budding Corinthian on the choice of a boat. By the way, the word "Corinthian" is not a very common word here. In its broad sense it means, an amateur yachtsman of any age—but by it is generally understood, a young amateur.

I will assume the Corinthian is in the same circumstances as I was myself when young—that is, "hard up," and there is no question of his being able to write out a fat cheque for a "high flyer." So, for something to go on, we will imagine all the local yachts are for sale.

That being so, our local greyhound the "Tom-Tit" will of course be entitled to first consideration: Take my advice and have nothing to do with her. To buy her is like buying a jibbing "fretting" race-horse, when you want a hack or a hunter. The best boat for all round pleasure is what is generally known as a "day sailing boat." The "Tom-Tit" has none of the qualities of such a boat. Just to give you an idea of what she is like on the helm: A friend but another he would not steer her, and at the same time light his pipe. He let go the helm and whilst lighting it, she spun round like a top. He won his bet—but had to be carried off to hospital suffering from vertigo. After all this is what one would expect, as "Tom-tits" have practically no keel: the floor is as flat as any pancake and the centre-board is modelled on the spear of a peg-top. They may almost be described as floating tops.

Then again, owing to their extreme flatness, a drop of solid water never comes aboard—but they flick over the finest crest over one. I remember how in the Tropics we used delight in these delicious cooling shower baths—but I wonder on how many of our summer days one would relish them out in the bay! It is not safe to go out in a "Tom-Tit" with less than a crew of three: One has to be continually at the helm; another continually taking in or shaking out the runners whilst a third continually takes in or shakes out the reefs. Better carry a fourth in case of accident.

But this is not all! Sooner or later (usually much sooner) our little friend will want a scrub. In beaching her you'll have to carefully clear the site beforehand, lest she sits on the smallest stone. But even if she escapes this fate you'll find when she is beached, owing to her extreme flatness, the weeds can't be got at. Then begins the process of levering her up, and shoring her on blocks. Owing to her construction and shape she is quite unsuited for this treatment. She has no keel to speak of—and she is so flat, what keel there is, gets no support and strengthening, such as even a slight dead-rise provides. Moreover, the keel is much weakened by the split down the centre through which the heavy iron centre-board passes, whilst internally there are no floors or knees worth speaking of, to give adequate support and strength to this region. Owners wonder why they leak!

To sum up: A "Tom-Tit" should never be removed from her natural environments—that is a wealthy club, where suitable slip-ways, carriages, cradles, and cranes are provided; and where she would be used only for what she is specially intended—"Class" racing. A "Tom-Tit" never takes kindly to removal. In a place like this, she is like a fish out of water. Everybody marvels at her speed—but few understand her "ways" and peculiarities. The result is, she resents her treatment; she frets, and weeps—most of her tears coming from round the centre-board.

Having now said all I could in favour of the "Tom-Tit," we will pass on to Mr. Hallissey's boat the "Sunshine." She is a pretty model, and is probably a "class" boat, or built on the lines of one. It is a complete mystery to me why she did so poorly in the recent races. I have not seen a close-up view of her when beached, but judging by a distant one, she has the broad beam; light displacement; and fin keel—all of which make for speed. Before the races, I feared her almost as much as the "Tom-Tit," but as it turned out, she was not in the picture. Why I don't know; it certainly was not due to want of handling her properly, as nobody here is more competent than her owner.

But as a "day sailing boat" I cannot recommend her. She has faults like the "Tom-Tit"—that is "giddy" and quick on her helm. Of course it must be understood this is only a relative fault: That is, "quickness" which is so desirable for racing, becomes a bore when out for a "joy" sail.

Then again, the "Sunshine" is a troublesome sort of boat to put on the beach for a scrub. This is an important point, which is often overlooked by the inexperienced when purchasing a boat. The point perhaps is not of much concern, if one happens to belong to a club, or have other special facilities for beaching quickly. But it is quite another matter in a tidal and semi-exposed place like Youghal.

Only a few months ago we went to beach "Slauntha" and had actually started the job when suddenly it piped up from the north, and we had to abandon the attempt, as there was quite a sea running in no time. Had we started ten minutes earlier, she would have been hard ashore, and unable to get off, and so she would have had a nasty time of it. If she would not have been actually injured, we would at all events have been unable to use the "legs," owing to the sea, and she would have had to lie on her side. Unpleasant to contemplate.

Apropos of these "legs" which are so often used for shoring up yachts and large fishing boats: I cannot say I have had personally much experience of them; but I have always been prejudiced against them, owing to the way they are bolted to the sides. If one could be sure of always beaching on a quite level surface, with the sea like the proverbial mill-pond—then all would be well. But as neither of these can be guaranteed, I regard the "mechanical principle" of the bolt as having ugly possibilities. In effect it works out as a lever, the long arm of which extends from the bolt to the ground, whilst the short arm is formed by the short projection above the bolt.

Should the beach not be quite level, and should there be any surge and movement of the boat, as she dries out, it is easy to picture what an ugly strain there may be on the planks around the bolt holes. Of course the planks here are reinforced by inside chocks—but even so the leverage effect, could be very great.

Personally, I would not take the risk of this bolt method, though it is so generally used. Instead, I have adopted a method, which though quite simple I have not seen before.

It consists of a timber "leg" at each side, long enough to reach from the ground to about 30 inches above the deck. Instead of iron bolts, ropes pass through the holes in the sides, and are cleated on through-bolts, at the tops of the "legs." Though very simple and nothing very original about the idea, it has the advantage the tension on the ropes can be adjusted should there be any inequality or slope of the beach; and whilst giving adequate support at each side, the rigidity and risk of straining, or even breaking the planks, as in the case of bolts is avoided. Suppose, on the recent occasion, when the wind suddenly came strong from the north; if "legs" had been bolted in position, serious damage would certainly have been done before they could be removed—whereas the cleated ropes could be cast off in a moment; but even if left in position, the "legs" would simply fall away and no damage result.

And now, to return to our subject: I cannot recommend the "Sunshine" to the budding Corinthian as a "day-boat" for the reasons given.

This brings us to Messrs. Murphy's boats—the "Forget-me-not" and "Blue-Bell." These are typical examples of nice "day-boats." They are inexpensive to build; and the annual outlay on such boats to keep them smart, and in good condition, would be trifling compared with the amount of enjoyment to be got out of them. They are easy to beach—and not likely to take harm in so doing; and are easy to scrub. They are steady on the helm, if you want to fish, or light a pipe; and are comparatively light to row, should it be a case of manning the "timber top-sails."

Now we come to the last, but by no means the least of the bunch—Mr. McLean's "Lovebird." Indeed if the truth is to be told, she is the best of the bunch, because she is not only a good specimen of a "day-boat," but she is a "tabloid" cruiser as well, and is quite fit to take the open sea. Her lines and run are very "sweet" for so short and beamy a boat; and considering her great beam, she is remarkably fast, and would be more so with a lighter suit of canvas.

As regards cruising: She is rather lightly built in proportion to her heavy displacement, and would require some alteration and strengthening before being quite fit to take the open sea.

But when suitably strengthened; and a nice canopy given to her deck—also a booby-hatch, and "my" cockpit added; then she'd be fit to go anywhere.

So now we'll turn in for the night; and you can think over which of the bunch you'll purchase in the morning—but, above all—don't forget the Racing Rules!

L. RONAYNE.

Dairying Discourages by 'An Reachtaire.'

The non-agricultural man often asks why we cannot in this country arrive at certain results which are achieved in other countries. He sees in the public Press that the Danish cow yields 700 to 750 galls. milk yearly, or at least 50 per cent. more than ours, and that the Danes produce milk all the year round, and thereby keep up a regular butter connection with the British markets. He points to their immense production of pigs, and asks why cannot we do the same. And similarly with other countries, as, for example, why do we not use milking machines as in New Zealand. These interrogations are usually in a tone which indicates that the questioner regards the Irish farmer as a pretty hopeless individual, and very often he remains under that impression because, naturally so few are in a position to enlighten him that he may be years before he receives any satisfactory explanation.

Now, while it is perfectly true that we can always learn useful lessons from other countries, it is equally true that the conditions vary in different countries, and what is possible in one country may not be so easily achieved in another. Take the Danish milk yield. The Danish cow is a single-purpose cow—she is bred for milk alone—and, therefore, it is possible to obtain an average yield from her much above that of the dual-purpose cow, which, it is pretty generally agreed, suits the country best. Whereas the calf is an important source of revenue to the Irish farmer, it is of no importance to the farmer in Denmark, except to maintain his breeding stock—in fact bull calves are regarded as valueless. Denmark has not store stock or fat cattle trade, and the bullock is practically unknown. The greater portion of the land is of a character unsuited to grazing. Like some land in this country, unless frequently tilled, the pastures afford little sustenance. Hence the Dane is compelled by force of circumstances to concentrate not only on a high milk yield, but also to produce an abundance of root and forage crops, which, if he had not winter dairying, he could not otherwise profitably utilise.

And because of this production of home foods and the abundance of skim milk, the Danish farmer finds the keeping of pigs a paying industry. But, unlike the Irish farmer, he does not reduce the number fattened when prices decline. On the contrary, if his margin of profit per pig is reduced from, say, twenty to ten shillings per pig, his inclination is to double his output so as to secure, if possible, the same income from that source.

It is, therefore, obvious that, though like Ireland, Denmark is mainly an agricultural country, a comparison of its dairying with that of this country is apt to be misleading. The Danish farmer depends almost entirely on the production of butter and bacon. Eggs are also exported largely, but, as in this country, it is not because each farmer makes it an important feature of his operations, but because everyone has a small surplus to sell, and these in the aggregate make a very considerable quantity. Cereals, potatoes, or cattle for export have no place in Danish agricultural economy. Neither have horses, wool, mutton, poultry or fruit or vegetables.

At the same time, it would be a mistake to think that we have nothing to learn from a country such as Denmark. Even our dual-purpose cows would not be got to yield an extra 150 or 200 galls. of milk in the year, which, at say, 6d. per gallon (whole milk), would mean an additional income of £4 to £5 per cow. This is not impossible, for it has actually been done. Our Department of Agriculture is spending a fair amount of money in subsidising cow-testing associations, and the Irish Dairy Shorthorn Breeders Society are, for their limited resources doing excellent work in the same direction, but the facilities afforded farmers in these directions are not available to anything like the extent that they might be. It is scarcely going too far to say that if the advantages of cow-recording were properly realised it would not be necessary for the Government to spend a penny under that head, except in districts where no creamery society or other organisation of farmers is established, and there only in order to give the movement a start. It is commonly thought that foreign Government do much more for agriculture than ours. Probably the reverse is the case. The Danish Government does less for its farmers, simply because they have been taught to do, or rather they have been born into the idea of doing, as much as possible to help themselves.

Hence, co-operation is developed in Denmark to a far greater extent than with us, and with it a real co-operative spirit. Such a spirit is not lacking in this country—on the contrary numerous examples could be given of great sacrifices made by individuals in supporting their local societies—but it does not permeate the mass, and is too parochial in outlook. Successful co-operation in Ireland is practically confined to butter-making, and that because milk is a perishable article of limited mobility. Distributive co-operation, where carried on apart from the creamery society, has in most cases, so far, been a failure. How far this is due to individualistic ideas or the absence of co-operative education or other causes would furnish matter for an interesting discussion. No doubt, lack of education has something to do with it. The Danish farmer receives a liberal education in his folk schools.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL.

Present Mr. J. R. Smyth, P.C., Chairman, Capt. P. Dunne, Messrs. T. Beausang, P. J. McMahon, P.C., P. J. O'Gorman, P.C., M. D. Broderick, D. Dennehy, E. P. Lynch, Vice-Chairman; J. Whelan, T. Murphy, E. Clancy.

Galway Resolution.
The Clerk read a resolution received from the Galway Co. Council, calling for a Conference of the Leaders.
Mr. McMahon—That is all over and done with.
Mr. Lynch—When did you get that? The Clerk—On the 17th.
Mr. Lynch—I'm sorry we didn't get it in time and we would have someone there.
The Clerk said they had a resolution on the same subject at last meeting.
Mr. O'Gorman—Goodness sake get on with the business—we have had more than enough of it.

Tralee Resolution.
The Clerk read the resolution of the Tralee Urban Council, calling for a Conference to consider the economic and financial position of the country.
The Chairman—We certainly have a lot of brainy people in the nation (laughter).
Mr. McMahon—There is a Government in power and the people will have to put up with it until they change it.
The Chairman—That is merely common sense.
Mr. Lynch—Still the people are entitled to their views—right or wrong.
Mr. McMahon—There is no objection to that, but some want to blow hot and cold.
The subject dropped.

Condolence.
Mr. Broderick proposed a vote of condolence with Dr. and Mrs. Dr. Kennedy, on the tragic loss of their little boy.
Messrs. McMahon and Beausang, seconded.
The Clerk desired to be associated with the proposition. Dr. Kennedy had been a valued colleague of theirs for many years.
The Chairman—And ably filled the position I am holding. He has the sympathy of the whole community.
Mr. O'Gorman and others joining in, the proposition was passed.
The remaining business was principally routine.

DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE'S SON FIANCEE TELLS ABOUT ROMANCE.
Miss Adele Astaire admitted smilingly that she is to be married to Lord Charles Cavendish, younger son of the Duke of Devonshire. The wedding, she said, is to take place in London when the run of "The Band Waggon," which is to be her last show, ends. After that her husband and she expect to live quietly abroad. "I'll build a stairway to paradise with a new step every day," sang Adele Astaire a few years ago to enthusiastic London audiences stamping their feet to its infectious syncopated rhythm, and the vivacious star of the twinkling feet, beloved of two continents, admitted that her song had come true. For she is engaged to Lord Charles Cavendish, younger son of the Duke of Devonshire.

The rumour of her engagement led to a siege of her dressing-room before the performance of "The Band Waggon" at the new Amsterdam Theatre by reporters in battalions. Yielding gracefully to this concentrated attack, Miss Astaire revealed that she and "Charles" had actually been engaged for the past seven months, and terrified of the ordeals of publicity, had intended to keep it a secret until next month. Miss Astaire said that she first met Lord Charles through a friend five years ago, but that it was only within the last 18 months that a warm friendship had arisen between them. At this point in the interview Miss Astaire was informed that Lord Charles was waiting her on the Transatlantic telephone and she sprang up to talk to her fiancé.

PRICE OF PIGS AT CAPPOQUIN.
The price of fat pigs in the local Bacon Factory this week was 46/- per cwt. dead weight, an increase of 2/- on last week's figure.

He will send his son to an agricultural school for the purpose of acquiring knowledge for the working of his own farm. Here in Ireland when a boy is sent to such an institution the parents expect that he will become, if not a University Professor, at least a County Agricultural Instructor.

Nor, by all accounts, has the Danish farmer a very soft job. He must of necessity work fairly hard and keep early and late hours, but in this respect his position is probably not dissimilar to that of the farmers in tillage districts of Ireland—not that the farmers of the purely dairying districts have by any means too easy a time of it. The Dane lives a simple life. He has few luxuries—neither is he in want. By reasonably hard work and the application of science to his business he derives a moderate—but only a moderate—living from a soil which nature has made by no means prolific. But one cannot conclude that if by some miracle he exchanged places with the dairy farmer in this country he would carry the same system as circumstances more or less force him to adopt now.—"Farmers Gazette."

BY

REV. OWEN FRANCIS DUDLEY ON "Why I Became a Catholic."

JOHN BUTLER, Esq., Chairman U.D.C., will preside.

Father Dudley was born in 1882. His father was an Anglican Vicar and he himself was ordained to the Anglican Ministry in 1910. Worked in Slums of London's East End for five years and joined the Catholic Church in 1915, being ordained Priest in 1917. Served as Chaplain on French and Italian fronts in Great War and was wounded. Joined Catholic Missionary Society, 1919, on demobilisation. Missions to non-Catholics have since engaged his attention. Author of "Will Men be like Gods," "The Shadow on the Earth," "Deathless Army—Advance," "Masterful Monk." Contributor to Catholic Press and member of various committees engaged in Catholic Action.

The fiasco at Dungarvan Grounds on last Sunday, was, to say the least of it, regrettable, and a big disappointment to the people who assembled in hopes of seeing a good football match while at the same time helping a very deserving cause. Happenings of this nature are happily rare, and are a serious blow to the good name and prestige of our Association. It is to be hoped that those responsible for the failure of the selected side to turn out as published, will be called upon to explain this serious breach of faith with the public and the consequent loss to such a very deserving object.

At Aglish on last Sunday, the local Tournament was brought to a close with a victory for Kilminion over Ballycurran. The match was closely contested and produced some good passages with the victors slightly superior.

Kerry had little difficulty in winning from Mayo at Dublin, last Sunday in the match in aid of the Memorial to the late Dick Fitzgerald. The final score 24 to 14 might have shown a bigger margin in the Champions favour, but for the excellent goal-keeping of Moran, the Mayo custodian.

Kildare the Leinster Champions were beaten by Meath in a challenge game at Killock by 25 to 17. Louth and Armagh drew in National Football League tie at Dundalk, the final score read—4-6 each.

Intense interest is manifested locally in next Sundays games at Croke Park. Interest in the Senior Final replay is as strong as ever, but the chief concern for the Waterford Gaels is the Junior Final, in which our local hurlers meet the Liverpool selection to decide the Championship. It will be Waterford's second appearance in a hurling final, our minors carrying off the premier honours two years ago. Several of the players who were on the minor team on this occasion are now figuring prominently on the junior side. Our team have been consistently good in all their matches up to the final, and on form they should win. The Liverpool selection are an unknown quantity as far as we are concerned, but from what we hear they include some good exponents of the game now in exile from our best hurling counties. The Waterford team will be selected from the following:—Curley, Condon (3); Sheehan (2); Hartigan, Burke, Flynn, Ormonde, (Tallow); Murphy, Wholan, (Eire Oge); Greany, Goode, Sandford, (Dungarvan); Hunt, Fitzgerald, (Ballyduff); Kehoe, O'Donnell, (Ballytruckle); Hannigan, (Erin's Own); Gough, (Dunhill); Morrissey, (Portlawn).

The team will travel on Saturday. The match starts at 4 p.m., on Sunday. There will be an excursion train from Dungarvan at 7.30 on Sunday morning arriving in Dublin at 12.30, with Dining-Car attached, in order to enable Waterford supporters to have luncheon before arrival, thereby giving them plenty time to get to Croke Park for the Waterford v. Liverpool match. The matches in the Cappoquin Tournament fixed for next Sunday are postponed in order to allow local players and followers to attend the finals at Croke Park.

TREE PLANTING. At their meeting on Saturday last, the County Committee of Agriculture accepted tenders for forest trees. Now is the time when every wide awake farmer should consider the advisability of planting some shelter belts to protect him and his property from the wintry blasts. The cost is only trivial and in a few years they will repay him a hundredfold. Not only will such plantations be an advantage to the farmer personally, but they beautify the country and make it more attractive to visitors.

Waterford County Committee of Agriculture.

NEXT YEAR'S SCHEMES, IS HORSE BREEDING ON RIGHT LINES?

PLEA FOR HEAVYWEIGHT HUNTERS.

The Annual Schemes meeting of the Co. Waterford Committee of Agriculture was held on Saturday, Mr. Thos. Flynn, Vice-Chairman presided. Also present—Messrs. Jas. Daly, D. Coughlan, P. R. Power, John Greene, M. Curran, P. B. Sheridan, J. Roche, J. F. Moloney, and P. Morrissey.

All the Officials were present, as was also Mr. J. Dempsey, Department's Inspector.

Next Year's Schemes. Mr. Dempsey said at the moment it was not possible to say what funds they would have this year as the Department's grant was not yet fixed due to there being a hold up in some counties in the striking of the rate. He thought the Co. Waterford grant would be about the same as last year, and that with their rate contribution would make their income about £4,000. Last year their schemes totalled £4,000. Assuming you make no change your income and expenditure will be the same. Of course you will be better off as you have a balance of £700 or £800 due to careful management.

Chairman—Your income was £4,028. Mr. Daly—Does the saving go to the credit of the Committee's funds?

Inspector—Yes. Chairman—You have had £800 of a saving before this year and £200 this year and that gives you a credit balance of £800.

The Inspector then went through the various items of the schemes:—Cattlebreeding, Horsebreeding, Swine, Poultry, Horticulture etc. subsidies to Shows; Shelter Belts etc.

In connection with the allocation of £200 to the Horse breeding scheme, Mr. Curran said that was very little for horsebreeding in the County.

Chairman—Judging by the sale of horses at present it is enough.

Mr. Curran—in horses you have only misfits at present. It is a disgrace to the Department the type of horse they are sending to the County.

To Assist Cow-Testing.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. D. Dempsey, N. Connors, and J. Kennedy, Stonehouse, appeared before the meeting in connection with a proposal to get a grant from the Committee funds to assist Cow-Testing members.

Mr. Dempsey, who acted as spokesman, said at the meeting of the Dairy Shorthorn Society on the previous Saturday, they were deputed to go before the Co. Committee to ask them to favourably consider a proposal to allocate a certain sum of money that would be used to reduce the fees payable by farmers for cows under test from 3/- to 2/- per cow. By doing so, it would be a great inducement to farmers to join Cow-Testing Associations. The scheme was a very important one and if the Committee could see its way to grant their application it would be a good thing.

Chairman—What would it cost? Mr. O'Sullivan (Cow-Testing Instructor)—There are at present 19 Cow-Testing Associations in the County Waterford with 276 members and 3,568 cows under test. The scheme mooted by the Dairy Shorthorn Society would cost the County roughly £175 8s. 6d. for 3,568 cows. I have been only a few weeks in touch with the Association. I visited 5 or 6 of them and the membership is rather low. In all cases I found that the 3/- per cow is responsible for the size of the Association. Some of the members object to pay 3/- a cow year after year. I believe it would give a considerable fillip if we could secure a grant equivalent to 1/- per cow and leave the members to pay 2/- per cow. I need not mention to you the necessity of keeping the Association alive in the County. Those associated with the scheme for years know that it is not only the members who keep the records benefit but their neighbours, who can get heifer calves at reasonable prices and reap the advantage without having to pay fancy prices for them.

Mr. Coghlan—We should assist agriculture in every way we could. There is nothing more important if this proposal could be granted. Everything you have in the Country depends on the Cow—the cattle trade, butter, pig-feeding, poultry etc. Heretofore, corn was grown as a catch crop, but it was not so now. To-day everything depends on the cow. It is through the Cow-Testing Associations you can improve the breed of cattle. He thought they should make that grant to the Association and if they did it would increase their membership.

Answering Mr. Daly, Mr. O'Sullivan said to reduce the fees from 3/- to 2/- per cow the Committee should find £175 8s. 6d.

Mr. Daly—Taking the state of the finances it would be money very well spent and I would like to support Mr. Coghlan in what he said. It would be a great help to the Associations.

Chairman—We are all in favour of it. Mr. Daly—if you could not make that charge permanent, would not it be well to try it for a year as an experiment. Chairman—If I were going to do it I would continue it. Mr. Greene—It is a difficult year and shillings count. Something must be done for the people and I support it.

Mr. Curran—There is a uniform charge all over Ireland of 2/- a cow? Mr. O'Sullivan—Yes. They have been taking steps to reduce the membership fee in Co. Cork.

Mr. Curran—Who fixed the rate at 3/- a cow. Secretary—The Department. Mr. Greene—3/- is very discouraging. They should try the experiment for one year. We cannot afford a set back and something should be done.

Mr. Daly said it was entirely a matter of finance and if you could not continue it permanently, would it be worth while to give it for one year? Chairman—We must get the sanction of the Department for anything we do. I don't know if the Department will sanction it. They give 4/- per cow and the farmer pays 3/-.

Mr. Curran—What surplus would be left after financing this scheme? Mr. Dempsey—Your estimated surplus at the end of March is £700 to £800.

Mr. Sheridan—Would the Department increase their amount from 4/- to 5/- per cow if we reduce the fee by 1/-? Mr. O'Sullivan said when times were good there was no trouble in getting 3/- per cow, but since the depression came, it was difficult. If the scheme were experimented on for one year it would give great assistance to the Associations.

Chairman—I would not confine it to one year. I would leave it open. A resolution was then proposed by Mr. Daly and unanimously resolved allocating £200 to the Dairy Shorthorn Society with a view to reducing the fee of 3/- for each cow under test to 2/- subject to the sanction of the Department.

Cottage Prize Scheme.

In connection with the suggestion to increase the amount of money for Cottage Prize Schemes from £75 to £115. Mr. Sheridan asked was the money well spent?

Inspector—It is one of those schemes that have worked very well for a few years. Chairman—What good does it do? A member—It beautifies the country.

Mr. Daly—It encourages thrift and enterprise. Mr. Greene—And it increases competition to beautify the country.

Mr. Daly asked would they get a corresponding increase in the interest taken in the scheme if they increased the money from £75 to £115.

Inspector—It was open to the County last year and now it was proposed that each district should have a Competition of its own. That should give you more competition.

Mr. Sheridan—I would much prefer to increase the grant to Poultry-keeping. I would rather see a good crop of poultry round the yard than anything else.

Mr. Roche—Or completely change your scheme. Cottages on high or mountain land cannot compete with those in the valleys, as they cannot decorate them to the same extent. It is the same people get prizes every year. A man on the high land with a bleak acre cannot expect it.

Inspector—Poultry-keeping and pig-feeding is taken into account when the judging is being done.

Mr. Roche asked if the scheme could be changed in any way so as to provide a prize for the cottager on the highland who had no chance at present.

Mr. Greene—Some cottages in some districts are favourably circumstanced and they will continue to get prizes.

Inspector—The first prize winner this year is not eligible to compete next year.

Mr. Power suggested they approve of the scheme as outlined for this year.

Mr. Greene—You cannot have flowers or any kind of seeds with poultry near them.

It was decided to allocate £100 for Cottage Prizes etc.

Horse Breeding Discussed.

In connection with the proposed allocation of £200 for the Horse Breeding Scheme.

Mr. Curran asked that the amount be increased by another £200. He wished to say that the sires they were getting into the county were not suitable for the purpose at all. Take the horses that go to the Dublin Show from the Co. Waterford, only those from two sires in the County succeeded in other Counties where they can go to good steeplechase sires they can get £100 for hunters, while we can get only £40. The sires sent into this County are not transmitting bone to their progeny and that is badly wanted. Men in this County won't give £700 or £800 for a sire. What he would suggest was that the Department should send to the County Waterford a few high-class £700 or £800 sires and scrap the weeds they had.

Secretary—Who will take the £700 or £800 horse? Mr. Curran referred to good horses like Cottage or Knight of Kilcass which were £7 to nominated mares.

Mr. Daly—We are hampered by want of money.

Mr. Curran said the Department should confine their attention to good thorough bred horses and the cart horse.

Secretary—Two years ago I was offered a horse by the Department that cost £400 and I could not place him in the County.

Mr. Curran—That was a small price for a good one then. I saw the other day when a Hurry On horse was sold for £400. I say there are a few good horses standing in this County, but 75 per cent. of them are not. What he would like to do was to increase the value of the premium so that the man with the nominated mare could go to the best horse. You can go to Mr. Magner's horse in Fermoy and his fee is £10 and if you go to Mr. Pucell's Knight of Kilcass you must pay £7 7s. Every man in the County would go to those horses if the charge was within his reach. Other horses could be had for 30/- but it would be better you never saw them at all.

Chairman—I am afraid you can do nothing. You have no money. Mr. Curran—It would be better scrap the whole thing. After 20 years we very rarely see a good horse coming out of the County. Of course I admit a lot of mares are not worth sending anywhere. We have a balance of over £700. I would be inclined to make the nomination £4 to the good horses.

Secretary—If you pay £4 to one you must pay it to the others. Mr. Curran—You can easily get a list of the horses whose fees are high and they deserve to be high.

Secretary—A question that arose lately was that of reducing the fees of sires all over the country.

Mr. Curran suggested taking 6 or 7 mares at each centre and giving them a bigger premium.

Mr. Roche—Nominations are often given to big heavy mares with a view to producing heavy working horses.

Mr. Curran referred to Lady Ainsworth's hunter "Cottage Pie" by Cottage and said he won all before him this year and was worth £700 or £800.

Mr. Daly—Leave it stand except for pure bred mares.

Mr. Roche—How many have pure-bred mares? Chairman—It is race horses you would be breeding then.

Mr. Curran—We want high-class hunters and you will get them more quickly from the thoroughbred than from the half bred.

Mr. Greene—There is a future in the country for hunters.

Mr. Curran—If you walked down Dungarvan fair last Wednesday you would see animals with crooked necks, low backs and a fault in every leg.

Mr. Greene—There is a hunt every day of the week in Kilkenny. I think hunters should be encouraged.

Mr. Daly—You have not a Major McCalmont in Co. Waterford.

Mr. M. Curran—Lord Cavendish is coming to us one of those days.

Mr. Power—Farmers are getting tired of breeding horses.

Chairman—You must draft a new scheme for horses.

Mr. Sheridan—How much money have you to allocate? Chairman—£200 is allocated generally.

Mr. Curran—And there is £700 of a credit balance. Chairman—You cannot eat into it.

Mr. Daly—There must be something left in the till. Chairman—I am afraid we must leave it stand.

Mr. Curran—Can we differentiate between horse and horse? Secretary—No.

The Inspector said it was the owner of the nominated mare who selected the sire himself.

Mr. Curran said he appreciated that point. After further discussion it was agreed to allocate £200 for Horse Breeding, the value of the premium to be as in previous years.

The Boar premiums were reduced by the Department from £8 to £6 for 1st year and £6 to £4 for 2nd year Boars. It was stated that many owners of Boars had purchased them last year on the understanding of getting a premium of £6 the second year.

Mr. Daly said some of the Boar owners were not over burdened with the world's goods and if the premiums were reduced £2 it was the Boar would suffer.

It was decided to pay £6 premium this year. £50 was allocated for subsidies to Shows; £10 for an Educational Exhibit and £35 for the Waterford Show and Sale under the auspices of the Irish Dairy Shorthorn Society.

Sheep Breeding Scheme

In connection with the allocation of £50 for the Border Leicester Sheep Breeding Scheme, the Chairman said they thought when they started that scheme the farmers would keep the progeny, but they did not.

Secretary—I know a case of where seven of these ram lambs were engaged this year.

Mr. Curran—What is wrong that they do not go in more for them? Secretary—These rams must be mated with ewes of the Border Leicester type and applicants have been rejected over that.

Chairman—They have not pure bred Border Leicester ewes. They are mixed with Lincolns.

Mr. Sheridan said they should improve the Border Leicester and bring them into the County. The finest Border Leicesters are round Lismore and they should be brought into the whole County.

Chairman—It is with mixed ewes they are mating these rams and we thought they would mate them with pure bred ewes.

It was agreed to continue the scheme this year. The Blackfaced scheme was also approved.

£50 was allocated for the potato scheme. The schemes estimates having been approved.

Chairman—As this is the first visit of Mr. Dempsey as Inspector we heartily welcome him to our County. I am sure

WEDDING BELLS.

On Sunday of last week, Miss Bridget Gannon, of Mahonbridge, was at Kilkrossanty Parish Church, united in the holy bonds of Matrimony to Mr. James Hanly, master baker, Kilmac-thomas. A deservedly-popular young pair—here's health, happiness and prosperity to both for many years to come.

the Committee are very well pleased with the manner in which he went through the schemes. We hope he will be left to us for a long time.

Mr. Dempsey returned thanks and said it was a pleasure to come to the Co. Waterford and he hoped he would have the pleasure of coming before their Committee again.

Mr. Curran—I would like Mr. Dempsey to tell the Department we are not at all pleased with the Horse Breeding scheme in this County and to amend it in some way.

Mr. Greene—How will he qualify it? Mr. Curran—Scrap the existing scheme and try a different one.

Mr. Dempsey—Is it your point that the type of sires is not good enough? Mr. Curran—My objection is that the horses coming into the county are not fit to transmit the bone to their offspring that is looked for. They are doing it in other counties.

The matter then ended.

Fruit and Forest Trees. The tender of Messrs. Galvin Bros., Wexford, was accepted for forest trees and that of Messrs. Watson's, Killiney, Co. Dublin, for Fruit trees.

Tallow District Court.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.)
License Confirmed.

Mr. E. Carroll, solr., Fermoy, applied on behalf of Michael O'Connor, Main street, Tallow, for a transfer of the license of the late Kate O'Connor. Mr. Carroll said that an ad interim transfer had been already granted to Thos. O'Connor, who had conveyed it to the present applicant.

There being no objection by the Guards, the application was granted. School Attendance.

Supt. Reynolds, Fermoy, summoned Daniel Fleming, Garryduff, for the absence of four children from school.

Sergt. Conboy, Ballynoe, asked leave to prosecute in the absence of the Supt. which was granted.

The Sergt. said the warning notice was served on the 5th May.

The Justice said the prosecution was on a notice served on July 16th, and asked for the absences since that date.

The Sergt. said the cases were for hearing at the August Court and had been adjourned.

The Justice said those were fresh summonses. He wouldn't take into account the absences previous to the second notice. He would adjourn the case to see what happened between July 16th and August 7th.

The Sergt. said the cases had been adjourned already for two months.

The defendant said he kept the eldest boy and girl home sometimes to help digging potatoes and thin turnips for the people who gave them milk. He had to support eight children on 10s a week, and the mother had also to go out to work. He was very often brought up wrongfully, and he asked for fair play.

Replying to the Court, the Sergt. said the children mentioned in the summonses were aged 15, 10, 8, and 6. They lived 1 1/2 miles from the school.

The Justice—That is a long distance in the case of an infant.

The Sergt. said the younger children were attending well now. They family was very poor—almost on the verge of starvation.

The Justice said he would dismiss all the cases. He didn't want to fine a man in defendant's position. He would, therefore, let him off with a warning.

Larceny Of Trees.
Michael Purcell, Daniel Crotty, Pk. Riordan and Jer. and John Cotter, all of Dromore, were charged with the larceny of 7 oak trees, value 30s., the property of Mrs. Whitelock-Lloyd, of Strancally Castle.

Supt. Quinlan, Lismore, prosecuted and Mr. J. W. O'Gorman solr., Lismore, appeared for the two Cotters.

The Supt. said that one of the defendants, Michael Purcell hadn't turned up, but he had received by telephone a copy of a Doctor's certificate, stating he was unable to attend. The charges were all one.

The Justice—Can you go on without him?

The Supt.—We could prosecute against the others.

Mr. O'Gorman asked to have the cases against the two Cotters kept separate.

Replying to the Court, the Supt. said that at the beginning of September a quantity of oak had been cut and stolen from Ballyphilips wood. The matter was reported to the Civic Guards, who made inquiries at the Villierstown side of the river. There they found some timber in the possession of Purcell and the Cotters and the prosecution said that that was the same timber stolen from Ballyphilips wood. The timber was missed on September 11th and found at Purcell's and Cotters on the 15th.

The Justice—What about Crotty and Riordan?

The Supt.—Crotty resides at Purcell's, and we charge him with stealing the timber found there, Riordan assisted Crotty in stealing the timber.

The Justice—Why not try all together, Mr. O'Gorman?

Mr. O'Gorman—We had nothing to do with that. The timber found on us was got legitimately.

Thos. Montague, woodranger, for Mrs. Whitelock-Lloyd, said that in the first week of September he missed 7 oak trees. They had been cut and removed from the wood. He reported the matter to the Guards on the 9th and they crossed the river to the Dromore side on the 11th. The trees were all oak and value for about 30s.

The Justice—They can't be very big trees for that value.

Witness—They were small and not saleable.

Resuming, witness said they saw some timber in the Cotters' yard. It was oak. He wouldn't swear it was the timber that had been stolen, but in appearance it looked like it.

The Supt.—We can't proceed with Purcell's case in his absence.

The Justice—You can.

At this point Crotty and Riordan who were in the body of the Court said "we plead guilty."

Witness, continuing, said that on the 9th, he crossed the river alone and saw in Purcell's garden what appeared to him to be like timber. It was covered up. When he went there two days after with the Sergt. the heap of stuff wasn't there at all.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Gorman—You don't suggest that the Cotters were in league with Crotty or the others?—I don't know anything about that.

Do you know whether the Cotters drew timber from Dromona?—I don't know, but I heard it.

Did they tell you that the timber that was in their yard they got from Dromona?—They may have said it.

You don't identify the timber?—No. Sergt. Breen, Villierstown, said he visited Ballyphilips wood and saw tracks from where the timber was cut on to the river bank. They visited Purcell's on the 10th and found three oak limbs covered with bags. Purcell denied all knowledge of them. At the top of the garden they found three oak butts covered with grass. He said he knew nothing about them.

To the Justice—Ballyphilips wood is on the Strancally demense.

On the same day they found part of an oak tree at Riordan's. At Cotter's they found a large pile of timber, which Jeremiah Cotter said the got from Dromona. He said later that it was from a man named Connell he purchased the timber. Witness interviewed Connell, who said—

The Justice—That is not evidence. Witness said the timber looked similar to that in the wood, but it was all split up and he could not identify it.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Gorman—He had made inquiries and found that the Cotters had been drawing timber from Dromona.

Did you believe that what they told you was true, when they said they drew that timber from Dromona?—I don't know.

Guard McGinn, gave evidence at length as to his visits to the wood and to the defendants' places. Riordan and Crotty admitted taking some limbs from Ballyphilips wood.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Gorman—Witness said that the timber found at Cotters' was not concealed in any way—it was split up and lying against the hedge. He was told that their statement as to quantity they had was not correct.

You heard Montague, the ranger, swear he could not identify the timber?—Yes.

Do you suggest you can't?—No. Mrs. Alice Purcell, wife of the defendant, Purcell was called.

The Justice—Is she a competent witness against her husband?

The Supt. said he only required her in the case against the Cotters.

Mr. O'Gorman—Are they not all charged jointly in the one summons?

The Justice—They are separate offences.

Mrs. Purcell said she saw the Cotters landing a handful of limbs from a cot—that was all the information she could give. She never saw the boys cut any timber in the wood.

Is not Ballyphilips wood opposite your place?—Yes.

Mr. O'Gorman said the Supt. was cross-examining his own witness.

They might have come from Dromore or Ballyphilips wood.

The Justice—What was in the cot?—A little handful of limbs that didn't amount to much. I didn't see them cut any heavy timber. I don't see watching the wood at all.

The Justice—You unloaded?

Mr. O'Gorman objected to leading questions.

The Justice—If you object to leading questions, I will stop them.

The Supt.—Do you recollect making a statement to the Guards?—Yes, but I didn't know what I was saying they frightened me to that pitch and my heart rose on me.

In what way did they frighten you?—When I heard them saying they were coming for me next day.

You got frightened to death and made a statement that wasn't true?—It was true, that statement was true. I didn't see them take any heavy timber out of the wood.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Gorman—You didn't see the Cotters going near the wood?—No.

And the timber they had cut came from Dromona?—Yes.

Mr. O'Gorman asked for directions in the case against his clients, and they were dismissed.

Crotty, and Riordan, called up, admitted taking some limbs of trees. They didn't think it any harm. They wouldn't offend again and they were prepared to pay compensation.

The Supt. said it was only right to draw attention to the fact that Montague had been missing timber for a considerable time but it was only when he found that seven trees had been cut and taken that he lodged a complaint—the first he had made to the Guards.

The Justice said he should have made a complaint before. Evidently when he did complain, the Guards were efficient to trace the timber to two of the parties responsible. He was very favourably impressed by the attitude taken up by Crotty and Riordan in pleading guilty and he would therefore, impose the smallest fine possible. He was satisfied that the greater portion of the stolen property went elsewhere.

The case against Purcell was dismissed and Crotty and Riordan were each fined 1/- and ordered to pay 6/- compensation and 6/- witness's expenses, between them.

Assault and Cross Case.

Thos. Dunne, Kilbeg, farmer, charged Michael Morrissey, Kilbeg, labourer with assault, and there was also a cross summons.

Dunne said that on the morning in question he caught Morrissey's niece milking his goats. They were missing the milk for the past three months. Morrissey came along and some words passed between them. Finally Morrissey struck him unaware and nearly "busted the eye in my head."

Morrissey said that Dunne met his niece, accused her of milking his goats and called her out of her name. Witness soon after met Dunne, who said he would "cut the guts out of her, if he caught her again." Witness told him, if he laid his hands on her, he wouldn't do it again. Dunne irritated him so by jumping at him and tearing his shirt and scapulars that he struck him. Dunne came at him again and witness put his hand around his neck and threw Dunne into the dyke. Dunne called him terrible names. They were friendly before that.

Dunne, recalled, said that Morrissey gave him a black-eye, and then Dr. O'Mahony attended him. He was stupefied with the blow. In defending himself he tore Morrissey's shirt. He used no bad language to the niece. The goats had not been interfered with since. He went to the barracks next day and showed his eye to one of the Guards.

Guard Farrell said that Dunne came to him on the 23rd Sept., and complained he had been assaulted by Morrissey, but witness didn't see any mark on his face.

Dunne—There is a mark there still.

The Justice—Do you want to suggest that there is anything wrong with the Guard's eyesight? There was probably some scuffle between you, but not so bad as you make it out to be.

They were both bound to the peace in the sum of £5 each.

THE SOW'S CAPACITY FOR MILK.

There is one question in relation to the pig industry which has hardly received the attention from pig breeders which it might rightly deserve—that is, the sow's capacity for producing milk. The breeder is anxious that his litter should be large; that there should be at least ten pigs in each lot farrowed; and that the youngsters should be vigorous at birth and thrive and rapid in growth. Vigour may be ensured by the employment of healthy & vigorous parents and by feeding both with liberality and care, but to ensure growth it is not sufficient to provide plenty of food for the use of the sow. Whatever her age, size or breed, she is worthless as a money-making animal if she is a bad milker. How many persons are there who breed pigs who take the slightest trouble to ascertain whether a sow is a good milker or not? There are some astute men who are guided by the appearance of the udder after a litter have been born, and if it is not sufficiently prominent they sell the animal at the first opportunity. A sow cannot be stripped of her milk like a cow, and hence it is impossible for the average individual to ascertain, approximately, what quantity of milk she yields. A sow with ten or twelve pigs cannot possibly rear them to advantage if she is a bad milker, and very often the presence of one, two, or three small pigs in the litter is probably owing to the imperfect supply of milk which is yielded by the sow. It is well-known that the milk produced in some of the teats is smaller in quantity than that obtained from others, and, as every little pig has its own teat, it follows that they do not obtain a sufficiently large supply of milk to satisfy their requirements and enable them to thrive to advantage.

A bad milking sow, then, is worse than no sow at all, because she loses money instead of gaining it. It has recently been shown that by drawing milk from one or more teats, when the young pigs are feeding from their dam the approximate yield can be ascertained, but a good deal of patience and experience is needed to succeed in this procedure. The pigs feed several times daily, and the milk is not let down until they do feed. The milk, too, falls off in quantity from week to week after the fourth week, until in the eighth week or slightly before weaning, the quantity produced up to 14 1/2 lbs. in a day during the fourth week and as little as 3 1/2 lbs., and, therefore, it is not difficult to see how impossible it is to expect well-grown youngsters where the dam is an inferior milker.—J. L. in "Farmers Gazette."

WATERFORD FAIR.

The old onion fair in Ballybricken Green, on Monday, was one of the biggest fairs for some time and was well attended by buyers from many parts of Ireland and the principal English centres. Good business was done in cattle of which there was a big supply offering. Pigs, too, were plentiful but the ranging prices were much below those of the past two or three months fairs.

Best three years old cattle sold from £18 to £20; two and a half years old from £16 to £17 10s.; two years old £14 to £15; one and a half years old, £10 10s. to £12 10s.; yearlings, £9 to £10 10s. The beef offering was a limited quantity but sold readily at £4 d.w. Sheep and lambs were scarce, mutton averaging about 11d. per lb. Pork fetched about 42s. d.w. Bonhams exchanged at from 30s. to 40s. each; store pigs 45s. to 50s. each, and sows with litters £8 to £9. The horse fair was small.

warned our customers on the absolute necessity of Potato Spraying. It has been conclusively proved during the past few years that not only has spraying prevented potato blight, but it has almost doubled the crops in every instance. It also improves the quality of the potato by extending the period of growth, thereby allowing the crops to come to maturity.

The necessity for spraying this season may be more urgent than usual. The present weather is proving favourable for the spread of the disease which has already made its appearance in the South of Ireland. Gaelic League Notes.

DAIL NA MUMHAN.

The autumnal meeting of the Dail na Mumhan (i.e. the Munster Provincial Council of the Gaelic League) was held in the Technical Schools, Malrow, on Sunday 25th inst. Delegates were present from the County Committees, the Deise being represented by Sean O Cuirrin, Hon. Sec., of Waterford Co. Committee.

Fr. Hurley, Religious Inspector for the Kerry Diocese, presided. The business agenda was pretty long, comprising twelve items, the more important of which were:—(a) Vocational Education in the province; (b) Feis na Mumhan (the Munster Feis) for 1932, and (c) the present position of the Gaelic League in the counties.

As regards (a), each delegate reported on the present position of Irish in his county under the scheme of Vocational Education recently introduced. Favourable reports were received from Cork, Limerick, and Waterford, all the whole-time and part-time teachers of Irish under the old regime in these counties being retained. Cork county has 17 teachers of Irish and an Organiser. Limerick is also well provided with teachers, and it is hoped that an organiser will be appointed for the county very soon. Of course, the number of teachers of Irish operating in County Waterford under the old Technical Scheme was small in comparison with most other counties, and any reduction therein would be tantamount to cutting out Irish altogether. The counties of Kerry and Tipperary seem to have suffered most, and the delegates from the former county were advised to get their committee to make representations to the Minister for Education (a Kerry man) in the matter.

(b) Feis na Mumhan is to be held under the auspices of the Tipperary Gaelic League on the historic Rock of Cashel next autumn. This Feis was heretofore held in Cork, but it was decided at a previous meeting of Dail na Mumhan to change the venue every year in future, that is, to hold it in each of the counties in turn. The Co. Cork Committee possess some valuable Cups, Belts and Shields, and it is the intention of Dail na Mumhan to now acquire these and award them in certain competitions at Feis na Mumhan each year. The monetary value of these trophies would be about £100 and the losses sustained by the Cork committee on Feis na Mumhan in recent years stand at about the same figure. It is proposed, therefore, to levy £10 on each Coisde Condae, and to purchase these trophies. Waterford's turn to hold Feis na Mumhan will of course come in time, and let us hope when it does come, that we will repeat the success of the Oireachtas in 1917.

(c) As regards the present position of the Gaelic League in Munster, Waterford County is last on the list in the matter of branches, Feisanna and language-week collection. It can pride itself, however, on having the most active branch, namely, Waterford City branch, which is the admiration and emulation of all other counties. Several of the delegates present were unenthusiastic in their praise of the branch's activities and were anxious to get at the secret of its success. Pórlaige Abú! IDEAL APPLE SEARCH.

Twenty-four kinds of apples that no shop has ever yet had for sale are to be displayed at the Imperial Fruit Show in the City Hall, Manchester.

They have been produced at the Canadian Government's research farm near Ottawa in an attempt to find the ideal apple in which appearance, flavour, and keeping qualities are perfectly combined, and when the researches have been carried a step further the best of them will be produced in quantities large enough to be placed on the market.

All the new varieties have been named. One is called Patricia, after Lady Patricia Ramsay, another (because of its qualities of endurance) Sandow, a third Stonehenge. Any one of these may one day be as well known as Cox's Orange Pippin or the Beauty of Kent.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

DEATH OF MRS. B. MORRISSEY. A fine type of Irishwoman in the person of Mrs. Bridget Morrissey, Castle street, was called to her reward on last Monday week, at a ripe age, and after a rather prolonged illness which was borne with Christian resignation.

The late Mrs. Morrissey was a member of a most respected family which belonged to the real "Old Stock" of Cappoquin, and during her long connection with her native town, she had always enjoyed the respect and popularity of all classes of the townspeople. She was a most devout Catholic and reared a fine family, several members of which now occupy responsible positions in Australia, South Wales and other parts of the world.

She was regularly attended during her illness by the Rev. J. Crotty, C.C., and passed peacefully away on Monday week fortified by the rites of the Catholic Church. Her remains were removed to St. Mary's Catholic Church on Tuesday evening week, and after Requiem Mass for the repose of her soul on Wednesday morning the funeral took place to Afane Cemetery and was followed by a large and representative cortege of all classes of the townspeople which proved but a fitting mark of respect to the memory of a lady who was held in such high esteem by all.

The Chief mourners were:—Mrs. Hoolahan, Swansea, and Mrs. K. Foley Cappoquin, (daughters); Daniel Foley, (son-in-law); Michael and James Morrissey, Villierstown; Robert and Mrs. Taylor, do.; Michael Morrissey, junr., do.; Mrs. Kate Foley, Cappoquin; John and Wm. Foley, do.; etc., (cousins and relatives).—R.I.P.

A GREAT WEEK OF DRAMA.

Cappoquin has not had a visit from any decent Dramatic Company for many years past, but during next week the spacious Boathouse Hall should provide an attractive feast of both drama and musical comedy when the celebrated Richard and Lillian Carrickford's high-class Dramatic and Concert Company will occupy the boards for six nights, commencing on Monday night, Nov. 2nd., with a grand repertoire of thrilling dramas and sparkling musical comedies. Mr. Carrickford's Company will be no strangers to Cappoquin as they have frequently performed before crowded and delighted audiences in the past, but as it is now nearly eight years since their last visit to this town we hope the public will rally round them and give them that generous measure of support which their splendid performances so fully deserve.

The Company is supported by a brilliant orchestra of all-star musicians so that the music-loving people of Cappoquin and district should have a rare treat in store for them during the coming week.

The full programme and particulars will be found in our advt. cols., elsewhere.

THE "DALY CUP."

In the "G.A.A. Notes" in last week's issue the writer made a query about the "Daly Cup" Tournament which was started in Cappoquin but for various unavoidable reasons had to be discontinued about 20 years ago when only three senior football clubs remained in for the semi-final and final. These being, Dungarvan, Lismore and Cappoquin.

It seems rather strange that any Dungarvan Gael should now inquire about this Cup, considering that the valuable trophy in question has been in the possession of a certain Dungarvan gentleman for the past three years, during which period the County Board has made no effort whatever, to dispose of it by taking steps to complete the unfinished Tournament.

But now when it is well known that neither Lismore nor Cappoquin has a Senior football team to compete for it, while Dungarvan has, the suggestion is made to complete the Tournament, or, in other words, make a present of the Cup to the present Dungarvan team, few, if any, of whose members ever played a game for it.

The teams from the three towns named who originally figured in the Tournament have long since been superseded by a younger generation of players, so under the altered circumstances we think the most sportsmanlike thing to do would be for the Co. Board to cancel the old Tournament and allow the Cup to be put up for a fresh Tournament in Cappoquin, the local gael to put up a valuable set of medals for the winning team. What have the sporting gael of Dungarvan to say to this?

RUGBY FOOTBALL CLUB.

The newly-formed Rugby Football Club had their first outing on last Sunday, when their team travelled to Fethard to play the local team in a friendly challenge match.

Cappoquin had to travel with only fourteen men, as one of their most prominent players had to "cry off" at the last moment, but despite this serious handicap they put up a wonderful fight against a full Fethard fifteen with the result that neither side had registered a score at half-time. For the greater part of the second half the visitors kept their more experienced opponents at bay with a virgin sheet, but during the last ten minutes Fethard scored two tries, so that the final whistle found them winners of a great game by 6 points to nil for Cappoquin. Considering their short practice and Borough Surveyor—I saw the place but did not report as this is a finance meeting. I would suggest that a concrete channel be put there, it is the cleanest and most sanitary.

Mr. McCarthy said that the place was almost impassable and something should be done to relieve the people there.

In reply to Mr. McCarthy, Mr. Walsh, S.S.O., stated that the scavenger did not visit that street. The people there usually did the sweeping of the lane themselves.

Mr. McCarthy—A scavenger was not seen there for 45 years. The people in that street should be considered as well as others.

It was decided to discuss the Borough Surveyor's report at the next meeting. Financial. The following financial report was submitted to the meeting by the Clerk. Borough Surveyor—Yes, it is the best account you have.

Artizans Dwellings.

Mr. McCarthy asked if the specification in connection with the repair to the artizans dwellings included in all cases, fascia boards, pipes and sheets.

Borough Surveyor—The one and only specification was here for all, but some did not think it worth while to come and see it.

Mr. McCarthy—I asked the question because I was informed that in one case the fascia boards were only mentioned in the letter sent out.

Fees.

The Borough Surveyor's application for fees in connection with the housing schemes was granted.
