Breach of Promise.

LOVEMAKING AT MOONMEAN LEADS TO LAW SUIT AND DAMAGES.

ONE KISS AND NO LOVE LETTERS.

I WAS VERY FOND OF HER—BUT SHE WOULD NOT LIVE IN A COTTAGE.

PLAIN TALE OF UNREQUITED LOVE.

At Dungarvan Circuit Court, on Wednesday, before Mr. Justice Sealy, K.C., Miss Mary Donnelly, Ballycullane, Dungarvan, an attractive looking young lady of 24 years, sued Mr. M. J. Foley, formerly of Moonmean, Old Parish, and now of Monatrea, Youghal, for £200 damages for breach of promise of marriage.

Mr. E. A. Ryan, solr., appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. McEnery, B.L., (instructed by Messrs. J. L. Keane, solrs., Youghal), for defendant.

A crowded Court listened with rapt attention as the love story of the parties was unfolded.

Mr. Ryan said the facts of the case were simple. Plaintiff lived with her brother in a cottage at Ballycullane, and was 23 or 24 years of age. She was an attractive and respectable girl. In 1926 she went on a visit to her sister Mrs. French, at Moonmean, 5 or 6 miles away. Her sister was ill at the time and she nursed her. While there she met the defendant. They were attracted to each other and Foley began to pay her considerable attention. After keeping company with the girl for some time, he asked her to marry him. She accepted and he went into a jeweller's shop in Dungarvan, and bought her a nice ring. There was no question of the engagement. For 3 years he kept company with her and it was a notorious fact in the district that he was going to marry her. He would not allow her to leave the district to take up a job and said if she did he would not marry her. The result was she spent 3 or 4 years that way. On the 3rd, May last it was agreed that the parties were to be married in the first week in June. Defendant said he saw his P.P. in Grange about the matter and they would be married in Dungarvan Church. Yet this gentleman actually married another woman in June and jilted my client in a most callous fashion.

His Lordship—What is the defence to this action? Mr. McEnery—Our contention is that the engagement was broken off by the plaintiff herself or that, in the alternative, it was mutual rescission.

Plaintiff's Story.

The Plaintiff, Miss Mary Donnelly, then entered the box. She said she lived at Ballycullane, with her brothers and sister. Her sister, Mrs. French, lived at Moonmean, and the plaintiff went to her in 1926. Here she became very friendly with the defendant who was then about 39 years of age. While she was at French's, defendant paid her considerable attention and brought her to dances, bought her presents and eventually asked her to marry him. That was in Shrove 1928, after that he bought her the ring produced. He also spoke about getting a cottage for her and he actually got one. He brought her to the cottage at Goulane and said: "This will be your home some fine day, but give me time to put everything into it." She relied on his word. He continued to keep company with her.

His Lordship—What was he? Mr. McEnery—A labouring boy. Plaintiff—He was more than a labouring boy, as he had cattle on grass. Mr. Ryan—Did he say anything to you about putting money together? Witness—He said he had money and was able to make a good living. I wanted to take up a position, but he would not marry me if I did. I could have earned £20 a year. Last Xmas we had a conversation as to when the marriage would take place and we agreed to have it in Shrove. As my father died in January we postponed it for 6 months.

Mr. Ryan—When you returned to Ballycullane where did he meet you?—On Sunday or Saturday and Fair day's in Dungarvan. Where on Sunday's—At my own house. Used he entertain you on Fair day's and Saturday's?—Yes, he used bring me into a snug in Dungarvan and give me wine and biscuits. On the 3rd of May I met him by appointment, and I said we would get married the first week in June, and he would go to see his Parish Priest in Grange. We were to be married in Dungarvan. That was the last day he met me. He made an appointment with me for the following Sunday, but it came very wet and I could not go. I thought he would look up the matter, but he never did and the next I heard of him was he was married to a girl in Monatrea. He never told me he was going to marry this girl. He gave me presents of clothes, and gloves.

Mr. Ryan—For 5 years did you go with anyone but Foley?—No. You gave him all your Society?—I did.

And he married the other girl without giving you the slightest notice of it?—He did.

Cross-examined by Mr. McEnery—Plaintiff said she would be 24 years in April. She was a working girl. Her sister Mrs. French, had a farm of 40 acres. When defendant asked her to marry him she accepted. At the time a man named O'Brien was in the cottage which defendant subsequently got. It was there they were to live when married.

What was the attitude of the French's when told you were going to live in a Labourers' Cottage?—They were pleased.

Did you ever suggest to the defendant you would not live in a Labourers' Cottage?—No.

Though you agreed to marry Foley, you were continually saying you would not live in the cottage?—No.

Had you many rows during the first year of your engagement?—No.

Was he a good boy?—He was a very nice boy and I had no cause to complain.

Did not he buy the furniture for the cottage?—Yes.

What did it cost?—£12. Did he live in the cottage?—He did for a few months, before he married the girl from Monatrea.

Was not he living in the cottage from the Spring of 1929 to June 1931?—I don't agree with that.

Did you go to dances with him?—Yes on several occasions.

When did he bring the ring to you?—On the 15th May 1929.

Plaintiff denied ever having a row with defendant.

Had not you a row with him and threw the ring in his face?—No.

Did you wear the ring?—Yes.

If people swear you never put the ring on your finger would it be a fact?—I wore the ring.

At a dance at French's in 1929, did you throw the ring in his face, and later snapped it back?—No. She said at every dance she gave dances to the defendant.

Did he ever complain you were not paying him sufficient attention?—No. His Lordship—It is generally the other way.

Mr. McEnery—Were you at a dance in Moonmean school?—Yes.

Had you a row with him?—No.

Did you dance much with him there?—The same as usual.

Did not you dance with every one except him?—No.

Was not he left out in the cold and he went home without you?—No.

With whom did you go to the dance at Fleming's?—With Foley, my brother-in-law Jacky French and Tom Ryan.

Mr. McEnery—I say you refused to go with Foley and you turned up with Tommy Ryan?—No.

Was not the defendant anxious to marry you, but you would not name the day?—No.

Did you ever say you would not marry into a labourers cottage?—No.

Did you say that to Michael Coffey?—No.

If Mrs. Maher, Goulane, says you told her you would not marry a labouring boy would it be true?—No.

Did you tell Mrs. Moore, Rusheen, you would not live in a cottage?—No.

Had Foley sheep?—Yes, and cattle also.

Witness said her last conversation with Foley was on the 3rd, May, but Mr. McEnery said his client said the last conversation they had was on the 15th March.

Witness said she never refused to marry him. She did not know his present wife, but knew she lived at Monatrea.

Mr. McEnery—I suggest you would never have brought this action if Foley did not marry into a comfortable farm?—I would have brought it anyway.

He has now a nice holding of 12 acres?—Yes.

You arranged on the 3rd May to get married the first week in June?—Yes.

Why did not you interview him after that?—I took him to keep his word.

How often used he come to see you at Ballycullane?—Every second Sunday.

Mr. Ryan—Did he ever ask you to give him back the ring, or release him in anyway?—No.

Patrick Donnelly, brother of the plaintiff, said he knew his sister was engaged to Foley. There was never any objection by his sister to live in the cottage. The marriage was to take place in June. Witness was very friendly with Foley and in company with his sister they often went to dances. He approved the marriage.

Cross-examined by Mr. McEnery—

I have 3 acres of land and a labourers dwelling. The defendant was married in the house, but I never heard marriage discussed. Both plaintiff and defendant met regularly, but not after the 3rd May last. My sister went to the defendant to see if it were true that he was getting married, but she was told to clear away.

The Defence.

Michael Foley, defendant, in answer to Mr. McEnery, said he was now married to Miss Clancy, Monatrea. He had 12 acres with a cow and horse. His fortune was £50. He first became acquainted with the plaintiff 4 years last May. After a time they agreed to marry when he would get cottage for her. Eventually he got Ned O'Brien's at Goulane. At the time he was sure she would marry him.

As to the fortune His Lordship asked—Was it the girl paid the £50.

Defendant—No. It was I paid it.

Witness said before he married he was a labourer with Dan Costin, Moonmean for 6 years, at 9/- a week and his keep. 12 months ago he left and went to work for the County Council.

When getting the cottage he had to pay £3 10s. arrears. He paid £12 10s. for the furniture. Plaintiff would not agree to marry him and live in the cottage as she said her sister and brothers were against her doing so. She had the same objection every time he asked her to fix the day. She said it was too poor to live in a cottage. He remembered the dance at Moonmean school. She danced with every boy in the place but would not look at him that night. On one occasion she pulled the ring off her finger and threw it at him, but she snapped it back again. That was two years ago. He remembered the dance at Flynn's, when she would not go with him, but she turned up with Tom Ryan.

Had you any dance with her there?—Yes, she made it up with me later.

After her mother's death the plaintiff went home and witness went to see her. There was no talk of getting married and there was no talk of it at French's. They hated it. Why?—They thought she was too good for me.

You were fond of this girl?—I was very fond of her.

You were anxious to marry her?—I was.

Why were not you married?—She would not marry me. She expected to get better.

Witness said it was on the 15th March he last met her. She said she would never marry into a cottage and that they were match-making for her with a nice boy. He denied it was agreed they were to be married the first week in June. Later he met her in Dungarvan, but she would not speak to him good or bad. He was married on the 23rd, June. The marriage was made for him.

Cross-examined by Mr. Ryan—Witness said the French's hated him. It was in their house he did the preliminary courting. Later French fell out with him about the grazing of cattle and hunted him out of his house. He was very fond of Miss Donnelly and Circuit Court (3).

She was a very nice girl. As to her neglect of him at dances Mr. Ryan said perhaps she was trying to make him jealous to increase his ardour. He had no fault to find with her and did not know she wanted to marry anyone else. He denied he ever brought her to the cottage as she said she would not like it. He was anxious to marry the girl, but he could not take a hotel for her. He had three cattle grazing. He used to go everywhere with her. She was kicking against getting married all the time. She took a ring from him, but never wore it. When she got it she put it in her bag.

He first met his present wife 5 years ago, and people wanted to make a match for him then. The plaintiff never spoke of marriage to him.

Mr. Ryan—What was she engaged to you for, was it for fun?

Witness—It must be for fun. I was sure she would marry me.

Mr. Ryan—And she was certain you would marry her.

Witness said he met her on the 15th March, on the road near Kenneally's at Palla.

Mr. Ryan—Did you kiss her on that occasion?—I did.

In reply to His Lordship witness said plaintiff never wrote him a letter.

Mr. Ryan—And you never wrote her a letter?—No.

Mr. Ryan—Not a letter passed between them.

John Barry, said he knew Foley all his life and the girl for 4 or 5 years. They were to live in the cottage and Foley furnished the house. Plaintiff said to witness that she would never marry Foley or live in a cottage.

By Mr. Ryan—When she said she would not marry any Foley I said nothing. It made no impression on me. Foley was the first I told it too and he said by the way she was with himself it was the truth. Six months before he married his present wife the match was being made for Foley.

Mrs. Hannah Maher, Goulane, said she knew the plaintiff a good bit. A fortnight before Foley married she met the plaintiff at Walsh's corner in the Square, Dungarvan and plaintiff said: "Foley is getting married in a fortnight. He can get married away now and keep Jackeen along with him. I can get a better man. I wouldn't go to a cottage to live, it is too poor for me." She said the same thing to several others round the streets that she wouldn't marry him.

Mrs. Ellen Moore, Rusheen, farmers' wife, said the plaintiff told her, the French's did not want her to marry Foley and that she wouldn't live in a labourers cottage.

The Judgment.

His Lordship—In these cases a man's mind leans to the plaintiff as one naturally sympathises with a girl whose engagement is broken off. At the same time as the case developed if the defendant closed his case after his own evidence I would have decided the case in favour of him. But this man John Barry threw great light on the state of affairs and the way I see the case now is that this pair were not terribly in love with one another at any time, but they were both on the look-out for a better match if they could get it and further they were prepared at any time to break off the match between themselves. The plaintiff was unable to get a better match, but Foley did, and married a girl with a small farm and a cow and a horse. Now he is successfully and I hope happily married. I am sorry for him as he is a decent man and the plaintiff too is a decent girl. I think the match was not broken off by her. It was Foley broke off the engagement and I will give plaintiff a decree for £15 damages and costs.

British Legion Relief Department.

The work of the Relief Department of the Legion continues to be co-ordinated with that of the United Services Fund under the scheme which first commenced in 1927 and operates under the style of the "British Legion and United Services Fund Benevolent Department." By the scheme of co-ordination it can safely be claimed, that a great deal of overlapping which previously existed has been removed if not completely eliminated by the reason of the close association maintained in regard to the disbursement of both funds. The policy followed by the Legion in making eligible for assistance all ex-Service men irrespective of whether or not they are members of the organisation, has been continued with the result as in past years. The proportion of non-members who have benefited from the Fund is far greater than the number of members. During the year ended 30th September, 1931, the total amount administered by the British Legion and United Services Fund Benevolent Department in the Irish Free State was £31,427 16s. 7d.; being an increase of £3,330, over the amount expended the previous year. This amount is made up as follows:—

Grants made by Local Benevolent Committees £12,233 6s. 11d. Business grants and loans £850 19s. 9d. Migration Grants £42 8s. 6d. Grants made by the Area Special Relief Fund £1,477 11s. 6d. Grants made by United Services Fund £15,748 5s. 6d. Grants obtained from Regimental Funds £1,375 8s. 1d. Total £31,427 16s. 7d.

By administering its funds through the medium of the Local Benevolent Committee, it is possible to deal with cases on the spot, and after all, where need is urgent, so also must be the need for its alleviation. The rules of the fund have therefore, been so framed as to permit of immediate help being given in deserving cases.

The highest praise and the greatest thanks are undoubtedly due to the members of the Local Benevolent Committees, who voluntarily give their time and services for the benefit of those needing the help of the Legion. It may be of interest to state that the number of persons giving their voluntary services in this manner is at least 35,000.

The Local Committee, Dungarvan, take this opportunity of expressing their warmest thanks to the General Public for their spontaneous support each year to the Poppy Day appeal and hope to have their support again.

Number of cases assisted in the last 12 months by the Local Committee is 127 and the amount expended £57 15s. The Dungarvan Poppy Fund Collection realized £19 10s.

On the morning of the 14th, inst. Holy Mass will be offered up for deceased ex-Service men at the Parish Church. The Parade will fall in on the Square, when the two minutes Silence will be observed, and the Last Post sounded.

DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

QUESTION OF RATES.

CONTRACTOR COMPLAINS OF UNFAIR TREATMENT.

COUNCIL PERFECTLY SATISFIED WITH SLATES.

The weekly meeting of the above was held in the Town Hall, on Friday last. Mr. J. Butler, Chairman, presided, the other members present were—Messrs. C. Lawn, T. McCarthy, M. Clancy, B. Dee, Wm. O'Donnell, T. Power, D. Foley, J. F. Moloney, Jas. Hackett and M. J. Keane.

Wages and Men. The following paysheets submitted by the Clark were passed. Town's Improvement Ac. £22 13s. 2d. Housing Ac. £5 1s. 4d. Harbour Ac. 19/-.

Mr. Clancy asked how many men had the Council employed on the street and what work they were doing.

B.S.—The number of men employed is on the paysheet and they were mostly employed removing the stuff scarified off the roads during the week.

Mr. Clancy—Should not that work be chargeable to the road grant account.

B.S.—If we did not take it Mr. Mr. Bowen would get it removed. I charged it to the roads account as it is going back on other roads.

Chairman—It comes to the one thing Mr. Bowen have a certain amount of money to do a certain job, and if we did not remove this stuff, he would, and the money would come out of the other account.

Mr. Clancy—I am opposed to it anyhow. My contention is that the job should stand on its own legs. We won't know the total cost when the job is completed.

Mr. McCarthy—It is a case of fifty-fifty.

Mr. Lawn—Are the stones worth more than the cost of shifting them.

Chairman—Yes.

Mr. Clancy—They are not stones at all, it is mostly rubbish.

Mr. O'Donnell said the stuff was very valuable, and he recommended that some of it should be put out immediately in Strand street.

Mr. Moloney—Yes. There are several streets will take it.

Mr. McCarthy—Two years ago the Council promised to repair Patrick St., that is the worst street in the town, since it was broken up by the E.S.B., and it is the first street that should be done.

B.S. said he was getting stone prepared for Patrick street and also for King street, Abbeyside, when all the stock is ready he intended getting a roller to roll it in.

Mr. Clancy—I would like to know if the men we have are properly employed, and if we have a foreman.

B.S.—You have Costin as a foreman, and the men are employed now as ever Mr. Clancy—I would like to know what they are doing.

B.S.—This week you had men removing the stuff off the roads, putting down sewers, tending masons and plasterers etc.

Mr. Clancy said he was making a general complaint and he would warn the Council that before the end of the financial year we will find ourselves in a mess.

Chairman—The Council are satisfied regarding the removal of the scarified stones.

Breaking Of Pipes.

Mr. Moloney asked regarding the breaking of pipes by the steamroller, what account will the repairs be charged to.

Chairman—It could hardly be called road maintenance.

B.S.—A few pounds will cover the cost of all the breakages.

Strand Street.

On the proposition of Mr. O'Donnell, seconded by Mr. McCarthy, the Council decided to stock and run the roller over Strand street.

Certified Slates: A Complaint.

Mr. J. J. Crotty, Square, Contractor, for the slates used in the new housing scheme, appeared before the meeting and asked for an explanation as to why the Council withheld payment of his cheque. He wanted to know what the trouble was and what led the Council to believe he was not supplying the genuine article. He also asked why the Council made an order to send one of the slates for analysis and on what grounds that order was made.

The Chairman said that the cheque was passed and an order made to hold it.

Mr. Crotty—On what grounds was the order made.

Chairman—Everything done here must be certified and I believe we had not before us here any definite certificate from the B.S.

The Town Clerk then searched the documents and found such a certificate was there.

Mr. Crotty—Why then was payment deferred?

As to sending a slate for analysis. The B.S. denied sending a slate for analysis and said the Council never made an order to send one. The position is, anytime we get slates or anything else, we get a certificate to satisfy the auditor. It was on my certificate that the cheque was passed to Mr. Crotty.

Mr. Crotty—I gave a certificate to the B.S., and if the slates were not genuine I would hold the firm who supplied me responsible. He then produced his invoice which he headed to the Chairman also a letter from a firm stating that they had received a slate for analysis from the Council. He did not worry about the withholding of the cheque, but the matter is gone outside and is harmful to him. He must have some good friend that is at the back of this.

Mr. Lawn said the Council owed an apology to Mr. Crotty, but the latter said he did not want any apology, as he wished to see the matter further.

Several members expressed regret for the trouble and inconvenience caused to Mr. Crotty, after which the following order was made:—This Council are perfectly satisfied with the order supplied by Mr. Crotty, the cheque to be paid.

Mr. Crotty thanked the Council and said that order satisfied him as far as the Council were concerned, but he was bringing the matter further to find out what good friend he had who sent back the slate. It is a libel.

St. David's Street, Channel. The following report was read from the S.S.O.—I inspected the channel in St. David's street, as ordered. There are 14 yards drained into this channel and there are several holes in the channel in which the drainage matter remains, pigs are kept in some of the yards. A concrete channel would only partly abate the nuisance. I would recommend that the owner of the yards that are drained into this street to provide a piped drain with a suitable gully trap in each yard, and connect same with the sewer at the end of the street.

The estimate of the B.S. for a concrete channel in front of the houses was £11.

S.S.O.—The last house is connected with a sewer and I can't see why the others could not be connected.

Mr. McCarthy—Can we compel the landlords to do this, these poor people could not afford it.

S.S.O.—I think so.

Mr. Hackett—But isn't it your opinion Mr. Walsh, that a channel is also required at the front of the houses.

S.S.O.—Yes.

Mr. Moloney—Yes, but not for sewerage matter, we should abate that nuisance.

After some further discussion the S.S.O., was directed to serve notice on the landlord to abate the nuisance existing at the back of the house, and on the proposition of Mr. McCarthy, seconded by Mr. Hackett, the Council decided to issue advertisements re the laying of a concrete channel in the street.

Hall Porter Resigns.

Mr. L. A. Veale, wrote resigning his position as hall porter, under the Council.

Chairman—The hall porter, I am sure has considered this matter, so there is no good in doing anything, but accept the resignation with regret. We are losing a very good porter.

Mr. Keane—It would be hard to get a better man. He was very attentive to all using the hall, and was very careful of the Council's property.

The resignation was accepted, Jas. Veale, wrote applying for the position.

Mr. Lawn—He would be most satisfactory man and he proposed his appointment.

Mr. Foley, seconded.

Mr. Keane—In consideration of the excellent service given by his brother as porter, we should be unanimous.

Mr. Lawn's proposition was passed unanimously.

Wigham Buoy.

The following tenders were received for the lighting and tending of the Wigham Buoy at Ballinacourty—Robt. Mulcahy, Abbeyside, £16 10s; Paik. Kenneally, Emmet street, 12/6 per week; and Michael Kiely, Mitchel street 7/6 per week.

The tender from R. Mulcahy was accepted.

Home Rule Street.

The residents of Home Rule street, Abbeyside, wrote asking the Council to have that street steamrolled and drained in accordance with the general improvements that are taking place at present in Abbeyside.

The letter was referred to the B.S.

Sympathy.

Resolutions of sympathy were passed to Mr. J. Bransfield, O'Connell St., Dungarvan, on the death of his mother and to Mrs. Gallagher, London, on the death of her husband.

Hurling Final.

CORK WINS ON SECOND REPLAY. KILKENNY FAIL TO STAY. A SPLENDIDLY FOUGHT GAME. WATERFORD'S JUNIORS TRIUMPH

The third meeting of Cork and Kilkenny for the All-Ireland senior hurling honours took place on Sunday, at Croke Park—the same venue as that for the two drawn games—and at last a decision was reached, Cork winning by a substantial margin.

It was a hard-fought game, Kilkenny putting up a game display despite the absence of the captain, L. Meagher, who was unable to play owing to an injury. They held Cork well until the second half and then the Southerners swept all before them in a series of smashing attacks.

Kilkenny gained an early lead, but lost it before the interval at which stage Cork held an advantage of a goal and three points. The Leinstermen, however, were far from being done with, and Cork's large contingent of supporters experienced many anxious moments as Kilkenny slowly wiped off the arrears. Then E. Coughlan, the Cork Captain, rallied his men, and in the final onslaughts of a wonderful game, Kilkenny were overcome by a better fifteen. The final score was—Cork 5 goals 8 points, Kilkenny 3 goals 4 points.

Interest in the game was fully sustained, and the attendance of nearly 32,000 enjoyed a magnificent exhibition of hurling.

The ball was thrown in by His Grace the Most Rev. Dr. Hayden, Archbishop of Hobart, who also presented the trophy to the Cork Captain.

The weather was fine and the pitch in excellent order.

GAME ANALYSED.

Cork had the first score, a point, and when Kilkenny went ahead by a goal there was a looseness in the play of the Cork forwards, and likely chances were missed. Offering a stout defence, Kilkenny promised well, but strangely enough an injury to one of their players (O'Grady), who had to retire, seemed to have a reviving effect on Cork.

D. B. Murphy moved over from the left half-back position to the right wing and was replaced by the Blackrockman, Garrett, who had come on as a substitute when Madden was injured in the first replay. Murphy, feeding the Cork forwards, was immediately in the picture, and remained a conspicuously hard worker to the end.

HURLEY'S GOOD WORK.

With Cork but a point behind (1-1 to 0-3), they had two "70's." From the first, Hurley levelled the scoring, and from the second the same player put Cork ahead a point. Hereabouts Kilkenny fighting with characteristic grit and vigour, gave no indication as yet that they were to fill second place, and the balancing point from Power brought fresh encouragement to their supporters.

There was a sensation towards the interval when, within a space of two minutes, Cork had two goals, to change over with a lead of six points on the score, 2-5 to 1-2.

This looked favourable to Cork, but it was recalled that in the two drawn games Kilkenny were also in arrears, and, as before, the Cork followers had an anxious shock when, within three minutes of the restart, the dividing margin was reduced to two points and later to a point.

THE TURNING POINT.

After this a goal to Cork proved the turning point, and, with the Kilkenny backs bearing the brunt, Cork showed up in winning vein and were leading by 4-8 to 2-4 before Kilkenny got a goal, which proved to be their last score, and Cork went on to finish in decisive fashion, although their goalie (J. Coughlan) was tested in the closing minutes.

The Cork captain (E. Coughlan), was the hero of the hour. He was here, there and everywhere, and to single him out for special mention cannot be taken as reflecting on anybody. All round, Cork were the better team. They excelled in speed, and lacking nothing in hustle and dash, played with a coolness and determination that had its due reward.

For three-quarters of the hour Kilkenny were as dangerous as at any period in either of the two previous games, but they had not the same fire in reserve, for the closing stages and had to surrender to a superior side. Whether this was due to over training or under training, or some other cause, will be the subject of many a hot debate for weeks to come.

It has to be admitted, however, that if Cork were in all respects deserving of victory and took their laurels lightly Kilkenny went down with colours flying and were glorious in defeat.

The Cork team that may be said to have had its beginning in 1928 has won four out of five All-Ireland finals, in addition to two National Leagues. With a total of 12, as against 11 for Tipperary and 8 for Kilkenny, Cork goes to the head of the list of Championship winners.

E. Coughlan and P. Aherne ("Balty") who assisted in winning the 1919 Championship, have now five All-Ireland medals each. Hurley, M. Aherne ("Gah"), E. O'Connell, Delea, Murphy, and O'Regan, have four; O'Grady, Madden, M. O'Connell, and Barry, three; Collins and J. Coughlan, two; and Clancy one.

It is a great record, and on their showing of yesterday Cork are capable of still further achievements.

There was a scene of intense enthusiasm at the close, and the Cork captain, as is the custom, having been presented with the ball by the referee, was carried shoulder high to the Hogan Stand, where, modestly acknowledging the Cup and the tributes that went with it, he called for three cheers for Kilkenny, and was greeted with a hearty response.

So ended, as far as Croke Park is concerned the never-to-be-forgotten Hurling Championship of 1931.

JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP WATERFORD TRIUMPH.

Waterford 10 goals 7 points; Lancashire 1 goal 2 points.

At Croke Park, on Sunday, Lancashire (Liverpool and Manchester) offered weak opposition to Waterford in the final of the All-Ireland Junior Hurling Championship. Waterford won by 10-7 to 1-2.

Drawn from Tallow, Dungarvan, Lismore, Portlaoise, Ballyduff, and the city, Waterford were superior at all points in a disappointing game. It is the first Junior All-Ireland Championship to go to Waterford, but that County took the Minor title in 1929.

Waterford are to be complimented on their success, particularly as hurling in all grades has made wonderful progress there in late years. The victory should enhance Waterford's prospects in the Senior division next year.

Lancashire were defending early, and scores for Waterford came quickly. Hunt finished for a goal from a long drive by Greaney, who had a point from a "70." Goals were added by N. Condon and Hunt (2), and points by Morrissey and Goode (2). Lancashire worked forward for a point by Donohoe and Gough got a goal for Waterford, who continued to do best.

Goode scored a point for Waterford, and a Lancashire attack was beaten off. Play improved towards the interval, but spirited assaults by Lancashire were of no avail, and Waterford had a half-time lead of 5-5 to 0-1.

Waterford again took the upper hand on resuming, and had a point by Hunt and a goal by N. Condon. A fast run led to a goal for Lancashire (P. Connolly), and the Waterford backs were kept moving. Donohoe put over a point for Lancashire. Waterford had another and immediately went further ahead with goals from Hunt (2), Ormonde, and Gough, and, closing with a point by Gough, won as they pleased.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL VERSUS THE DUKE AND VERSUS THE FERRY-MEN.

The Editor "The Dungarvan Observer" Sir,—Owing to absence from Youghal I got a little behind in local affairs. But as my "Observers" have been carefully kept, I have just been perusing them, and bringing myself up-to-date.

I read the debate by the Council on the Duke versus the sprat-men. Here, real heights of historical eloquence, coupled with righteous indignation, were reached. I read all this with a chorus of approval, and had just said to myself: "That's the stuff to give him"—then, I read elsewhere about the Ferry.

I see the Council once again, indulges in self congratulations on making a profit, and a big one too, on the Ferry. I repeat, it is a public scandal any profit should be made at the price of "sweated labour." Even if the two employees in question were only laborers, they would be under-paid, considering their long hours, and no holidays.

But they are employed as "motor mechanic" and "skipper," and, as such, are men of position and responsibility—as the Council would soon find out if there was a serious accident—let alone a disaster, such as the terrible one some years ago when 14 lives were lost.

By the way, how do we ratepayers stand in the matter? Suppose there was a disaster, and the Jury find it was due in part (or perhaps largely due) to the mechanic and skipper being tired by long hours, and perhaps add, dispirited and disinterested by inadequate pay.

Will we have to compensate the families and relatives of the drowned? In any case the pay and treatment of these men, is a shame and a public scandal.—Yours truly,

L. RONYANE, South Abbey, Youghal, 1/11/31.

LISMORE NOTES.

LISMORE POINT-TO-POINT RACES

At a recent meeting of the Lismore Race Committee, the Annual Point-to-Point Meeting was fixed for Wednesday 8th April, 1932. The same energetic committee with Mr. J. C. Heelan, as Hon. Sec., are again in charge of the arrangements, and it may be taken for granted that this very popular meeting will be quite as brilliant as in previous years.

TENNIS DANCE.

The Annual Tennis Dance held in connection with the Lismore Town Tennis Club, came off in the Town Hall, Lismore, on Wednesday 28th. October, 1931, and as usual was attended with much success. The hall was tastefully decorated by the lady members of the Club. When dancing commenced at 10 p.m., the hall was comfortably packed, and all present seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves. The local band—the Ubique Orchestra was heard to great advantage, as an additional fillip to the dance a draw for a £5 note took place, and tickets were sold in the Town Hall at 6d. each, when the result of the draw was announced the ticket being drawn from its cover in the presence of all those attending—the lucky ticket holder was a Waterford lady.

Dancing was kept up till about 5 a.m., and altogether a most enjoyable night was spent. Mr. Watson, Cappoquin, acted as caterer, and gave perfect satisfaction.

The one source of general comment in the Town Hall, on the night of the dance, was, the absence of hat or coat racks in the building. Whoever is responsible for this deplorable state of affairs, should in all decency hasten to remedy this defect without undue delay. People or Clubs hiring the Hall and visitors and locals, attending there should be provided with better accommodation than having to throw their clothes etc., on the floor of the rooms or hall as is now the case.

VACANT TOWN CLERKSHIP.

Candidates for the position of Town Clerkship, were called upon to present themselves at Dungarvan, on Friday, 30th October, 1931.

Three candidates presented themselves—Messrs. D. Lawton, J. Willoughby and M. Flynn, the latter being under the age of 21 years was immediately ruled out. The position now seems to rest between Messrs. D. Lawton and J. Willoughby, and local opinion is about equally divided as to the chances of each candidate.

TECHNICAL CLASSES.

"TO BE OR NOT TO BE?"

Quite a storm of indignation has been aroused locally at the persistent rumours now in circulation, that Lismore is to cease as a centre of Technical knowledge and instruction. The fact that the Technical Classes for the session 1931-32 which normally resume work on the 1st week in November, have not yet begun lends colour to the rumours that there is a possibility and a grave danger, that the classes may be discontinued. If we rightly interpret the meaning and duties of the various Vocational Committees now established, and, in power it seems quite clear to us, that they were brought into being not to curtail or diminish, but rather to spread the light of Technical knowledge and instruction to all centres and in all directions. Lismore can claim to be the second largest town in the County, and the best equipped centre for Technical instruction. A special Manual Instruction school was erected in Lismore over 40 years ago, and furnished with all the requirements necessary for the care of the Christian Bros, and through the kindness and generosity of the members of this community, who are universally recognised as the pioneers of all forms of education, the school was always placed at the disposal of the people of Lismore for the carrying out of the work for which it was erected, and intended. From the time it declared its doors open for instruction, students have attended its classes and the same eagerness for Technical knowledge is shown by the students of to-day. After all those glorious years of usefulness, are its doors now to be closed, its work suspended its varying activities to cease, and are the people and the youth of Lismore to be denied and deprived of its untold benefits. We hope not, but it is up to the people themselves to see that their rights are not flung away from them, without just and reasonable cause. It makes one sad to think, that in those modern days when the intellects of the masses are "supposed" to be sharpened by education, that that should be the time chosen to extinguish the lamp of Technical knowledge in Lismore, where it has been brightly shining and displaying its usefulness for a proud period extending over 40 years.

Already, we notice that there is a growing activity in the "local Technical camp." The students attending the night classes have already signed a petition of protest, which will be placed before the Vocational Committee at its meeting in Dungarvan on November 10th., 1931. A deputation will wait during the week on Mr. P. O'Gorman, local representative and Vice-Chairman of the County Council, also on the Rev. Father Walsh, the local representative on the Vocational Committee, the local T.D., Mr. Sean Goulding, will also be interviewed and the support and co-operation of the Lismore Town Commissioners, will be called into play. So a strong and stubborn opposition may be expected if the Lismore Technical Classes which have played such a useful part, are interfered with.

G.A.A. Notes.

Heartiest congratulations to the Waterford junior hurlers on winning the All-Ireland title on last Sunday, at the National Stadium. They crowned a successful season by a convincing win over the Lancashire selection and we are only sorry that the opposition, particularly in the final and semi-final wasn't stronger. As matters stand we have no real idea as to the strength of our juniors. Their runaway victories in nearly all of their games marks them as a team of more than ordinary merit. On Sunday Waterford's caman craft and combined training triumphed over their opponents more strenuous and less artistic display and while the Blues raised flags from close in and far out by combined and accurate methods, Lancashire had to fight its way through an unbeatable defence. It was apparent from the start that the cross-Channel men were "at sea" and lacked the cohesion of our boys. It must be the decided superiority of Waterford or the lack of proper training for such an important struggle that accounted for their lack of form and heavy defeat. However, Waterford deserved their victory; they played a delightful game, showing a splendid understanding of combined play. The forwards worked well together and the backs were sound, while the midfield men fed the forwards well and took a good part in running up the large score.

It must be said of the beaten team, that they fought a plucky battle, finishing just as good as they started and never for a moment slackening in their efforts to reduce the arrears. Their great attempt to breakthrough midway through the second half and which was rewarded by a goal was loudly applauded by the large crowd.

Description of outstanding play by a splendid Waterford team is not easy. They were all great, we mention, however, a few who caught the eye during the game. Bob Condon and Keogh were conspicuous in defence and kept down the opponents score. Tom Greaney, as usual, was brilliant, while the newcomer on the wing, Goff, was very much in the picture. Noel Condon and young Sheehan combined well on the left wing as did the other forwards Ormonde, Hunt and Goode.

For the exiles, Moriarty at full back gave a great display all through. Connolly was a hard worker in the forward line where he was ably assisted by Holohan and Hannon. Redmond, and Davis were much in evidence at midfield and half-back while the goal man, Tom Collins guarded his cage in a creditable manner.

Having now won our Minor and Junior titles, we hope that the premier honours will come to the Decies before very long.

Much elated by Waterford's win we sat down to enjoy the third contest for the Senior All-Ireland between Cork and Kilkenny; another gruelling contest was the outcome, with Cork victorious. Thus another final came to Munster.

Interest locally in Gaelic games is now centred in next Sunday's games at Waterford for the Junior County titles. The first match, Junior Hurling in which Eire Oge meet Dunhill will start at 1.45, with Phil O'Donnell in charge. Eire Oge won the west Championship with victories over Dungarvan Juniors and Kilmacthomas and include several prominent hurlers who have made a name on County teams. They will, we feel sure, make a bold bid to bring the honours to the west. Dunhill are a hefty bunch of caman wielders and their hard passage through the Eastern Championships will have fitted them for their bid for the County honours.

Kilgobinet the western Junior football Champions will line out against O'Rourke's in the football final at 3 o'clock. Both teams have splendid records and have won their way to the final by a series of meritorious wins in their respective divisions. Their meeting is sure to result in a good display of Gaelic football. It is our wish that the men of the West bring back the spoils.

A special train will run from Dungarvan at 11 a.m., arriving in Waterford at 12 noon, and returning at 7 p.m., thus giving the supporters of the teams a splendid opportunity of cheering their men to victory.

At Cappoquin, on Sunday week, 15th inst., Nire meet Tournacena and Aglish meet Kilgobinet in local football tournament.

The esteemed writer of "Cappoquin Notes" thinks it strange that we should ask about the Daly Cup. We can assure him we are aware of its whereabouts and the history of the competition. O ur concern is to get it finished and we feel sure that the Cappoquin, Lismore and Dungarvan Clubs will decide on doing that without much more delay.

The writer of Gaelic Notes in last Saturday's issue of the "Dublin Evening Mail" stated that the majority of the Waterford team for last Sunday's match at Croke Park, were drawn from De La Salle, whose Club includes players from every County in Ireland. This is not true, as the Waterford team included no De La Salle player,

BULL CALVES FOR LICENSING.

The Live Stock Breeding Act has now been in operation for six years and the improvement effected in the quality of the young cattle offered for sale at fairs and markets throughout the country is very noticeable. The standard required for the licensing of bulls has been gradually raised without causing hardship to farmers and breeders and a uniformly good standard will be looked for at the next general inspection which will be held in February 1932.

It is of the greatest importance that bull calves intended for breeding purposes be carefully selected and properly housed, fed and cared during the winter months. It is found that many bulls which with care and attention might have attained licensing standard fall below the standard because of neglect and lack of proper feeding.

No purpose will be served by retaining animals of poor quality and early arrangements should be made for the castration of all inferior male calves.

Youghal District Court.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.).

Alleged Intimidation. The adjourned charge of intimidation against Timothy Cronin, Forty Acres, Killeagh, was called.

Supt. Donnelly, for the prosecution, said that the charge had been made originally 12 months ago. The defendant had been notified to attend the Court, but he hadn't turned up.

The Justice—Has anything happened since? The Supt.—No, but he may break out again.

The Justice—If he does, you can deal with him. Informations were then refused.

Indecent Assault.

Declan Geasley, a middle-aged man, from the neighbourhood of Clashmore, Co. Waterford, said to be an ex-British soldier, was brought up in custody, charged with an attempt on, and with indecently assaulting a girl aged 15.

Supt. O'Shea, Dungarvan, prosecuted.

The little girl said she was minding three young children in the house when the accused came in.

The accused, declined to cross-examine, but wished to state definitely that he was not guilty of misconduct on that particular evening. He had some drink taken and he might have been drunk and might have caught the girl.

Dr. J. B. Beausang, gave evidence of a negative character. Sergt. O'Shea, Clashmore, deposed to arresting the accused. He made a statement denying going into the girl's house at all.

At this stage the accused said that Christianity must be upheld, and if he was guilty he would accept the decision of the Court.

After retiring to consider the case, the Justice said it was complicated by the child's age and, as he was not clear as to his jurisdiction, he would return the accused in custody for trial at the next Waterford Circuit Court.

TRAMORE HEIRS WANTED FOR FORTUNE.

£2,000,000 WAITING FOR LUCKY CLAIMANT.

Two million pounds are waiting to be claimed by some lucky person in Waterford or Tramore. Mr. P. J. Fox, Co. Councillor, Tramore, chairman of Tramore Public Health Committee, has received a registered letter from Dr. Gehrmet de Gros, of Arnstadt, Germany, asking him to trace the heirs or descendants of Ferdinand de Gros, or Grosse, to whom his uncle, Herr Nebenthal, of Halberstadt, left a fortune amounting to £2,000,000.

Her Nebenthal died in the early sixties in Germany. It is learned that a Ferdinand de Gros resided at Tramore about 1864, and gave dancing lessons in Waterford and Tramore.

Mr. Fox, believes the document genuine, and has submitted particulars to the Record Office in Dublin.

Early Grass.

RESULT OF RECENT EXPERIMENTS.

The best and cheapest form of feeding for the ewe and lamb is grass. Flock owners who are expecting early lambs next season should now be making preparations to have fresh grass available for the coming Spring.

It is well known that an application of 12 to 2 cwts. of Sulphate of Ammonia per acre, applied in February or March will produce grass three or four weeks earlier than normal, but recent experimental work carried out in Co. Galway has shown that a similar application of Sulphate of Ammonia applied in September has the effect of producing an abundant growth of succulent herbage in late autumn as well as giving very early grass in the following Spring. One trial of this nature was carried out on the farm of Mr. T. Costello, Cumer, Ballyglunin, Co. Galway, and here the plots, after a September dressing were heavily grazed until early in November when the stock were all removed to other pasture where they remained until lambing.

Grazing commenced on excellent grass on 3rd March last year with a flock of 32 Galway ewes and their lambs, and the flock was fully maintained on grass alone from that date onwards on 10 statute acres of treated pasture. Handfeeding was unnecessary, and was actually refused by the ewes when offered to them.

It should be pointed out that the pasture on which this trial was carried out had been given a dressing of 4 cwts. Semsol and 2 cwts. 30 per cent. Potash Salts, per statute acre, in the previous Spring. There were five separate plots of approximately 2 statute acres each. When the grass was eaten off the plot the sheep were removed to another and so on during the season. It might be thought that constant heavy stocking with sheep on a small area of grass in this manner, might have injurious effects on the stock and that the pasture might become "sheepsick," but this intensive system of management has been in progress on this farm for four years—from Spring 1923, and both from the economic point of view and that of health of stock and pasture, the results have been entirely satisfactory.

As already stated, the experiment to which we refer was carried out in Co. Galway—a comparatively mild district—but those of our readers situated in other districts may expect similar results if dry sheltered fields be selected for treatment.

If the pasture to be treated has had a suitable dressing of a phosphatic fertilizer recently, all that would now be necessary would be an application of say 2 cwts. Sulphate of Ammonia per acre, but if no phosphates have been applied within the past year or two it would be well to apply along with the Sulphate of Ammonia, say 6 cwts. Semsol per acre, and in addition on lighter soils, 2 cwts. 30 per cent. Potash Salts.

The stock should be removed from the treated area early in November, so as to allow a fresh growth to accumulate for grazing by early March.

The advantage of grass at this time of year will be obvious to any sheep breeder, and at the present low price of Sulphate of Ammonia there can be no doubt that the procedure will be found to pay well.

Fishery Question.

A letter was read from the Minister of Lands and Fisheries relative to sprat fishing at Youghal and stating that in so far as the question raised by the Urban Council was one of the owners title to a several fishery in the estuary of the River Blackwater, it was not within the province of the Minister to deal with.

A letter was read from Mr. E. E. Hey, Secretary Lismore Estates Co., Estate Office, Lismore Castle, bringing the following facts before the Council: Last month the Company received an application on behalf of some fishermen at Ardsallagh to be allowed to trawl for flat fish with row boats, and £1 for each boat was voluntarily offered for the privilege. A licence was granted between the Blackwater weir and Furlong's weir until the 15th Jan. The Company's bailiff was given instructions that no trawling be allowed without permission. It was then discovered that nets were being used on the river for the capture of sprats. The Company, thereupon, communicated with the Minister of Fisheries to ascertain if using nets for the capture of sprats would interfere with the run of salmon to the spawning beds in the Upper waters. In the meantime the boats refrained from going out on Friday evening, the 9th, until the 13th. Immediately upon the receipt of the reply of the Minister of Fisheries, these row boats were given the same privilege as the Upper boats to trawl for flat fish between the Blackwater and the Harbour mouth and in addition to trawl for sprats in the river within the Company's boundary, as far as Cooneen Quay until the 16th November for the same fee of £1. When the Company's representatives interviewed the Youghal Row boat Owners, they were informed that sprats would probably only run for a week or two at the most, yet to show their willingness to meet the fishermen, the Company granted the license for double the period. I enclose copy of another letter received by the Co. stating that the four men employed in the trawler at Youghal are putting 30 men out of employment at handline fishing. The letter also points out grave injury is being done by allowing the use of nets within the narrow reaches of the river. The matters referred to show clearly that there are interests in the River to be considered other than the use of nets for the capture of sprats and for trawling purposes. The money received from the licence holders for the use of those nets will be more than expended in keeping watch to ensure that no damage is done to spawning fish. The Co. is not aware that sprat nets were used inside the harbour in previous years, and if such had come to the knowledge of the Co., the Directors would have acted in the same manner as has been done in the present instance.

Several members said it seemed strange that any reputable concern should take notice of an anonymous letter in such a manner.

Mr. Murphy said the individual who wrote the letter knew very little about the fishing, or else told a pack of lies. The Clerk said the writer mentioned the deck of the motor boat, while the fact was she was not decked at all.

Mr. Clancy said that the Castle letter was a very funny and fishy production (laughter). What they protested against was the grabbing policy adopted by the Castle authorities, but the man behind the gun was well-known to all around. Why should they impose a tribute of £1. on the unfortunate men for a few weeks sprat fishing, which had been free for the past 30 years.

The Chairman—What can we do in the matter? The Clerk said the matter should get all the publicity possible with the object of exposing the Shylock policy of Lismore Castle and their advisers. That letter introduced a lot of extraneous details, which had no concern with the protest made by the Council. Their resolution still stood good.

Mr. Beausang suggested that a special meeting should be summoned to deal with the whole fishery question. Capt. Dunne gave details of the fishermen's recent interview with Lord Cavendish and Mr. Hey. He (Capt. Dunne) pointed out to them that the charge made many years ago was only 10/- and said that that was quite sufficient in the circumstances.

The Chairman thought the boat owners were in fault in giving in too easily. Mr. Murphy pointed out that refusal would mean the loss of their salmon licences. Further there was a big London Syndicate buying up the private fisheries along the river, and it was said that they had their eyes on the Castle also. If that syndicate succeeded in attaining their objects, it would ultimately mean the wiping out of all the poor men's fishing.

After some further discussion, the matter was adjourned.

DRESSLER—BEERY in MIN AND BILL

Monday, November 9th—For 3 Nights only

The Two Greatest Comedy Actors of the Screen in a Masterpiece of Humour, Pathos & Humanity.

She was wonderful in "Anna Christie" He was immense as "Machine-gun Butch" in "The Big House."

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER Picture

A drama of two happy-go-lucky characters, who take their love and laughter where they can find it. A story of actual happenings in human lives, set amidst the picturesque background of the water-front of a great city... pulsing with the thunder of the sea, and the mighty drama of its primitive people. A flock of laughs... a pack of heart-throbs... a pictureful of drama. IT GRIPS... AMAZES... ASTOUNDS... It is the roughest, toughest talking picture on record, but a picture that moves from laughter to tears, for it is the most heart-searching, soul-warming-epic of humanity that the screen has ever shown. WALLACE BEERY and MARIE DRESSLER are magnificent. To SEE and HEAR them together, in one picture is ahead.

DON'T MISS THEM IN "MIN AND BILL." Also Movietone News, Novelty Musical Number, and 2-Reel Comedy. MATINEE ON WEDNESDAY.

Charles RUGGLES in "Charles's Hunt"

The famous mirthquake that put a huge, broad grin on the face of the whole world and upon which the sun never sets, starts a new roar of fun as a "talkie." You will simply yell at the old "Aunt" stealing a drink and a cigar on the sly... you'll rock with laughter at the two old men panting after her... for "her" mien; all the old, mad, gay, boisterous merriment, and a lot of new laughs too... fresher, madder, wilder than ever. In fact, a royal feast of fun, even to make a cat laugh. "Charles's Aunt" is no ordinary woman. She'll provide the laugh of your life. She smokes, she drinks... she chews... SHE'S A HE... he's Charles's "Aunt"... may her shadow... and her skirt never grow less. A gorgeous evening's fun. First you smile... then you chuckle... then you titter... then you laugh... then you howl... and then you scream. COME AND LAUGH YOURSELF LIMP.

Also Movietone News, "The Tales of Hoffman" played by the Squire Celeste Octel, and the "Kerbstone Entertainers" in an amusing sketch. MATINEE ON SATURDAY AT 3.30.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

INTERESTING LECTURE IN TOWN HALL.

Dungarvan Town Hall, was packed on Tuesday night last, on the occasion of the illustrated Lecture given by Rev. Fr. Cianciar, S.C., on "Blessed John Bosco, and his world-wide work for youth." Mr. John Butler, C. U.D.C., presided and introduced the lecturer in appropriate terms. The Lecture was most interesting and all were delighted to see on the slides the great work which the Salesian Fathers are doing at Shrigley Park, near Maclesfield, for the youth entrusted to them, many of whom come from these parts. During an interval songs were rendered by our well-known vocalists Messrs. E. Phelan, and J. Keohan. A vote of thanks to the Rev. Lecturer was moved by Very Rev. M. C. Croly, seconded by Mr. J. Dunphy, and passed with acclamation.

The bride carried a bouquet of madonna lilies and Lily of the Valley. The bridesmaid wore blue georgette with Juliette cap appliqued with Autumn leaves and carried a wreath of pink roses and maiden hair fern. Mr. R. Murphy, Dublin, was best man. Through the courtesy of an esteemed reader in Chicago, we are to-day enabled to give details of the recent passing away of a famous Lismore exile in the person of Capt. Michael P. Evans, Chicago.

Capt. Evans was one of the greatest police chiefs in America, and was the founder of the Chicago Police Department's Bureau of Identification in 1884 and the originator of the famous "Rogues Gallery."

Captain Michael P. Evans, who founded the Chicago Police Department's Bureau of Identification in 1884, died October 7th, at the Little Company of Mary Hospital after a two weeks' illness.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning from the late home, 9312 S. Damen avenue, to St. Barnabas church where Solemn High Mass was celebrated by the Rev. John J. Mulligan, assisted by the Rev. George J. Windsor, and the Rev. Patrick Maloney, O.F.M., deacon and subdeacon. An eloquent and appropriate sermon was preached by the pastor, the Rev. T. J. Hurley who feelingly told of the many admirable qualities of the deceased, of his devotion to his church and of his loving qualities as an ideal husband and father. In the sanctuary a number of priests friends of the deceased police captain assisted. Services at the grave in Mount Olivet cemetery were conducted by the Rev. Father Hurley. The funeral was attended by Commissioner of Police Allman and all former and present officials of the Department including such veterans as ex-Chiefs Francis O'Neill and Michael Hughes, Inspector Hunt, Chief Deputy, Alcott, and many others.

Captain Evans was eighty-four years of age and had been identified continuously with the Police Department of Chicago since 1881. During his early career in the Department he took a special course in photography in order to better enable him to establish what was first known as the "Rogues Gallery" consisting of pictures of well-known criminals. From this the Bertillon system of finger prints was instituted—the first of its kind then in existence antedating, it is said, Scotland Yard, now so well known through out the world.

Through the fifty years of police administration changes in Chicago this faithful, honest and conscientious public servant was never disturbed. Innumerable friends throughout the city, appreciated his worth as a public official and as a loving friend and neighbour.

Surviving Captain Evans are his widow, two sons, Lieutenant Emmet A., the well-known finger print expert who was his father's chief assistant at the Bureau, Edward A., and his daughter, Loretta Flannery.

DEATH OF MISS JOSEPHINE TOBIN, MELLERAY.

The death of Miss Josephine Tobin, Melleray, occurred at her residence on Friday, October, 23rd at the early age of 25 years.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tobin, who reside less than a mile beyond the entrance gates to Mount Melleray, the late Miss Tobin was a refined and charming young lady whose amiable and lovable personality had won for her a high place in the respect of all who knew her.

She had been employed in Dungarvan for several years, where her honesty and ability, as well as her sterling traits of character, were highly appreciated as they were amongst her more intimate friends in the Melleray and Cappoquin districts.

A couple of months ago her health broke down and she returned home on sick leave in the hope that she would recuperate amid the bracing air of her native district, but God had otherwise ordained, and despite the best of medical attention her condition gradually grew worse and the end came calmly and peacefully after she had received the last Sacraments at the hands of the Rev. Father Dominic Nolan, O.Cist., Mount Melleray, who had been unremitting in his spiritual attentions towards her during her illness. Her death in the full bloom and freshness of young womanhood has caused the deepest regret, and the sympathy of all has been extended to her parents, brothers and sisters and other relatives in their affliction.

On Sunday week the funeral took place to the New Cemetery, Dromore, and was very large.

The chief mourners were:—William and Mrs. Tobin (parents); Edward and John Tobin (brothers); the Misses Ellen, Mary and Bridget Tobin (sisters); John McCarthy, Melleray, (Uncle); Mrs. Kiely, do., (Aunt); and family and a large number of cousins and relatives.—R.I.P.

Dungarvan Priest RETURNS FROM FIVE MONTHS IN EUROPE.

FATHER KEOHAN VISITS ELEVEN COUNTRIES.

FORMER KING OF SPAIN WAS SHIPMATE ON ONE OF MANY CRUISES.

We clip the following interesting account of the European holiday of the Rev. E. Keohan, son of our esteemed citizen Mr. Ed. Keolan, from the Van Nuys "Cronicle" California:—
Rev. Fr. Edmond Keohan of St. Elizabeth's Church, Van Nuys, has returned from a five month's pilgrimage to his native Ireland, sailing from Queenstown on board the Britannica September 13, and arriving in Van Nuys October 1, after visiting friends in New York and Chicago.

On May 24, Father Keohan left New York on board the "Baltic," and enjoyed an interesting programme during the seven days journey on water. After landing in Queenstown, Ireland, he went to Dungarvan, his birthplace, where he joined his father, four brothers, and three sisters.

Several weeks of joyous reunion followed the traveller's arrival at Dungarvan. His father, whom he last saw five years ago is enjoying perfect health. He has been a newspaperman for 55 years, and is still "turning out his copy" for the daily periodicals.

Visiting the Catholic Shrines in France, Father Keohan spent several hours in Lourdes Cathedral, erected in 1858, and at the magnificent Lisieux completed in 1881. From the famous grotto at Lourdes, the priest brought with him a vial of holy water, which unfortunately was broken en route home when the luggage was removed from the ship.

One of the most interesting features of the trip was a three weeks cruise on the liner, "Viceroy of India." It was on board this ship that Father Keohan met King Alfonso of Spain, who was recuperating from an attack of insomnia. The two passengers enjoyed an interesting conversation in Spanish during the trip, and Father Keohan brought home, an autographed portrait of His Majesty and a snapshot of a friendly handclasp as the two parted at the close of the journey.

Although there were frequent rains in Ireland, only two stormy days marred the cruise to European capitals, according to Father Keohan. One of the most colourful places in Paris, he said, was Cafe de la Paix, in the heart of that famous city. The visitor, with his sister, enjoyed refreshment there and watched the gay throngs in promenade.

In commenting on present conditions in Europe, Father Keohan noted that the countries abroad are suffering from a depression similar to their own, and especially in the harbours, where scores of cargoless boats were docked, only too significant of the scarcity of trade.

Ireland and France seemed to be the only two countries exempt from the ravages of depression, said the traveller, who attributed their prosperity to the fact that both Ireland and France realize their income from agricultural products rather than factories. The number of unemployed in England was disheartening he said.

According to Father Keohan, it was indeed encouraging to note that conditions in New York and Chicago were very favourable.

Of the several trips which Father Keohan has made to his native land, he found the last most interesting, and during the entire journey, he "never missed a meal nor lost one" which is remarkable, indeed.

THE NEW RURAL ORGANISATION.

The new rural organisation which was formally launched at Dublin last May, is being registered as a limited liability project under the Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1893.

The title selected for the Organisation is "Muintir Na Tire," of which the English equivalent, given by the Committee, is "The People of the Land." The badge and seal of the Society embody in its design illustrations of the Cross and plough.

A series of public meetings to explain the aims and objects are to be held as quickly as can be arranged after the registration is complete. The first of such meetings has been fixed for Thurles for Sunday 22nd November and others will follow at Cork, Limerick, Tuam, Cavan and other centres.

The application to the Registrar of Friendly Societies for registration of the Organisation bears the signatures of:—

- Rev. J. M. Hayes, C.C., Castle Iny, Templemore; J. W. Sweetman, (Junr), Drumbarragh, Kells; Sean Gibbons, Co. Co., Ballylarkin, Freshford; P. O'Maille, (Ex-T.D.), St. Catherines, Leixlip; A. C. Grimes, Tobberbonny, Cloughran, Co. Dublin; J. P. Karney, C. Co., Carlingford, Co. Dublin; P. J. Caffney, 49, Upper Gardiner Street, Dublin; J. J. Bergin, Maybrook, Athy, Co. Kildare.

The object of the promoters is to organise, without reference to party politics, a friendly Society on a share basis similar to the world-famous Belgian Boerenbond. About 40 years ago the Boerenbond was launched as a small rural Co-operative Society, now there are over 200,000 members and its activities extend to every phase of rural Belgium.

MORE MONEY from Pigs

Here is the experience of a farmer from Banbridge, Co. Down. "I had about 50 pigs and during the last 9 months I have given them a penny packet of Purcell's 3 times a week. The result has been a great surprise to me. I have never having more during the whole 9 months. There is a little in good enough—but the best of all is that I have all my pigs fat and healthy. I have never had a pig die of any disease. I have a number of pigs in the market and they are all very fat and healthy. Try a 100 of Purcell's 3 times a week."

INTERESTING PROCEEDINGS.

A special meeting of the newly-elected Board of Fisheries Conservators for the No. 4 or Lismore District was held at Tallow on Thursday. There were present:—Messrs. J. Kennedy, (outgoing Chairman); E. A. Rice, solr., (outgoing Vice-Chairman); Capt. P. Dunne, W. Baldwin, T. Murphy, W. O'Brien, R. G. Annesley, R. Meagher, J. Kent, Joe Power, M. J. Sheehan, Carey Joyce, Ex-officio; Major Longfield, H. P. Maxwell, W. O'Neill, Lord Charles Cavendish, T. Montgomery, Ion Villiers-Stuart, T. Stafford, Capt. T. O. Jameson, Capt. R. Holroyd-Smyth.

Messrs. T. Drohan, Secretary and Inspector and W. Buckley, Assistant Inspector, were also in attendance.

The Chairmanship's.

Mr. Kennedy took the chair, Major Longfield objected to this. Mr. Kennedy said he would remain there till they removed him.

The Secretary read the notice summoning the meeting.

Mr. Power proposed the re-election of Mr. Kennedy.

Mr. Baldwin, seconded. Mr. Longfield, proposed that they elect a Chairman at each meeting as was done by other Boards.

The Chairman—What are we called here for? Is it not to elect a Chairman as usual? That has always been the rule here. We did the business before you made your appearance and will do it after you.

Capt. Dunne said Major Longfield was out of order.

The Chairman—We are going to elect a Chairman as we have always done in the past.

Major Longfield said his proposition was that they should elect a Chairman for the meeting at each meeting of the Board.

The Chairman—You are out of order Mr. Annesley—Before seconding Major Longfield's proposition, I would like to know if it is in order. If it is specified that the Chairman is to be elected for the term of 3 years, I would naturally withdraw.

The Chairman said it had never been done otherwise.

Major Longfield—I don't care about that. Capt. Dunne said that Major Longfield's father continued to be Chairman of the Board many years, and he was never objected to.

Mr. Power—Was this ever tried before?

The Chairman—Never.

Mr. Power—What is the idea then? What is at the back of this new move? The Chairman said there was something very peculiar at the back of it—some secret society work.

Capt. Dunne said he had been a member of that Board with Major Longfield's father, for some 20 years, and his position as Chairman had never been contested. At the Annual Meetings of the Urban and Co. Councils, the Chair was usually taken by the outgoing Chairman. He would like to know what was at the back of all that.

Major Longfield said he felt that no individual member of the Board should be considered anything more than any other member.

The Chairman—I will tell you plainly why I am opposed—because I am of a certain way of thinking.

Major Annesley—No, no.

Mr. Kent said they were all there for one purpose only—for the preservation and protection of the river, and he had come there 6 years with that object. He would second Major Longfield's proposition. They had to do so in the absence of the Chairman.

The Chairman said he was seldom absent from the meetings and they could easily find a Chairman if he was unable to attend.

Mr. Rice said there was no necessity for Mr. Kent to second Major Longfield's proposition, as it had been already done.

Capt. Dunne called on Major Longfield to put his cards on the table, whatever was at the back of that business. It was a very serious matter to upset the custom of a 100 years without some good reason.

Major Longfield said he represented that Board at a Conference of Fishery Conservators and he was informed that they elected a Chairman at each meeting. It seemed to him a very sound method.

The Chairman said they could do their business without the advice of the Conference and the Major was not going to bluff that Board.

Mr. Annesley said that somebody had raised the question of the legality involved.

Mr. Rice said the Act was silent on the point.

Mr. Montgomery said he knew nothing about the matter till he came there that day.

The Chairman said the Act said they must elect a Chairman.

Mr. Annesley—I propose if it is in order that we elect a Chairman for the day.

The Chairman—That won't do.

Capt. Dunne said that a section of the Board wanted to upset the custom carried out by their forefathers long before. What was at the back of it all? There was something very mysterious.

Mr. Power—Who asked Mr. Brooke-Brazier to stand for the tidal waters?

Major Longfield—If you are suggesting me, I wish to state that I didn't.

Mr. Power—You knew all about it.

Mr. Murphy—Put it to a vote and don't be wasting any more time.

Mr. Power said his proposition was that they re-elect the Chairman and Vice-Chairman for the 3 years as usual. Major Longfield said his was to elect a Chairman from meeting to meeting and no Vice-Chairman.

A poll was then taken with the following result:—

For Chairman and Vice-Chairman for 3 years—Messrs. Meagher, Carey-Joyce, Capt. Smyth, O'Brien, O'Neill, Power, Baldwin, Rice, Capt. Dunne, Murphy, and the Chairman—11.

For temporary Chairman—Lord Cavendish, Messrs. Kent, Sheehan, Montgomery, Villiers-Stuart, Annesley, Capt. Jameson, Maxwell, Major Longfield, and Stafford—10.

The Chairman declared Mr. Rice and himself re-elected for the coming 3 years.

Capt. Dunne, as the oldest member of the Board in the room, said he was proud that Major Longfield had not carried the Board with him in trying to upset their usual proceedings. They could now see where the designing was by the voting.

The Chairman thanked the Board most sincerely for the honour they had again conferred on him. He thought it a bigger honour than any he had received for the past 10 or 12 years, because he had beaten an opposition that day—an opposition he didn't expect. He bore no enmity to those who had voted against him.

Mr. Kent—Nobody voted against you.

The Chairman said they did. He promised that while in the Chair he would do, as he had done in the past—his best in the interests of the river, to preserve and increase the supply of salmon.

Mr. Rice said he was sorry that they had to vote on the motion. During Mr. Kennedy's tenure of office as Chairman, he had always found him most impartial. In his (Mr. Rice's) capacity as Vice-Chairman, he had always acted in the best interests of the river as a whole.

The Chairman said it was a satisfaction to see that they had both tidal and fresh water Conservators supporting them.

Capt. Dunne said there was a lot more in the election than they could see, but it would have to come out sometime or other.

Inspectors and Solicitors. Mr. Power, proposed the re-appointment of the officials who had acted for the past 3 years.

Mr. Murphy seconded. The Chairman—You mean Mr. Drohan as Clerk and Inspector, Mr. Buckley as Assistant Inspector and Messrs. Barry Sullivan and J. L. Keane, solrs.

Mr. Kent—I propose that Mr. E. Carroll, be appointed for the Petty Sessions District of Fermoy. I take it that Messrs. Drohan and Buckley are re-elected unanimously.

Mr. Murphy—The 2 Inspectors and the 2 solitors.

Mr. Kent—My proposition is that Mr. Barry Sullivan take charge of the river above and Mr. E. Carroll from Fermoy Bridge to the tidal waters.

Mr. Stafford, seconded. The Chairman—That is a vote between Messrs. Carroll and Keane. Mr. Carroll is to take Mr. Keane's place.

Mr. Kent—I don't know whose place he is to take charge from Fermoy to the tidal waters. Mr. Barry Sullivan is left in the same position.

Mr. Rice—The proposition is that the tidal portion of the river is to be given to Mr. Carroll instead of Mr. Keane.

The Chairman—I take it as such.

Mr. Rice said he didn't hold a brief for any solicitor, but he felt in a peculiar position as a solicitor himself and knowing both men. But it occurred to him that as Mr. Anthony Carroll was solicitor for the Duke of Devonshire and if there was a clash of any kind between the Duke and the Board it would be rather awkward.

The Chairman—You can't serve 2 masters.

Mr. Kent—His name has not been mentioned.

Mr. Rice said that Mr. E. Carroll, was a member of a firm which included Messrs. A. and E. Carroll, and that firm are solicitors for the Duke of Devonshire.

Mr. Kent—We are not going to go into family matters. You have my proposition before you.

Mr. Murphy—If your proposition means anything, it means that Mr. Keane, who has held the position for 25 or 30 years is to be put out and the position given to Mr. Carroll. I propose that Mr. Keane be re-appointed.

Mr. Rice said that Mr. Power's proposition included the re-appointment of Mr. Keane.

The Chairman said they should take a vote between Messrs. Carroll and Keane.

The Secretary asked did Mr. Kent mean the tidal waters as far as Cappoquin or Tallow Bridge.

Mr. Kent—We are taking a vote on solicitors to take charge of the river—from Fermoy up and from Fermoy the other way.

Mr. Baldwin—I think that is very unfair.

Mr. Rice—And I think there will be a clash.

The Chairman—Mr. Carroll is representing the Duke of Devonshire.

Mr. Annesley suggested that Mr. Carroll might be appointed for the river from Fermoy say to Cappoquin and Mr. Keane for Youghal and the coast.

Mr. Kent—Two are quite sufficient.

Capt. Dunne said it was a case of grabbing and nothing else. Up to that they had two solicitors representing the Board. Was there any complaint against any of them? He hadn't heard of any. And now they were asked to turn one out for a new man. It was part and parcel of what already happened that day.

After further discussion, a vote was taken with the following result:—

For Mr. Carroll—Messrs. Meagher, Carey-Joyce, Lord Cavendish, Kent, Sheehan, Montgomery, Annesley, Capt. Jameson, Maxwell, Major Longfield, and Stafford—11.

For Mr. Keane—Capt. Holroyd-Smyth, Messrs. O'Brien, O'Neill, Power, Baldwin, Villiers-Stuart, Capt. Dunne, Murphy, Rice, and the Chairman—10.

Mr. Rice said his reason for voting for Mr. Keane was because he had already held the position for such a long period.

The Chairman declared Mr. Carroll appointed.

The Treasurership.

Mr. Power proposed, and Capt. Dunne, seconded, the re-appointment of the Provincial Bank, Mallow, as Treasurer.

Mr. Murphy—Why not give the other Banks a turn?

There being no other proposition, the Provincial Bank was declared re-appointed.

Places Of Meeting.

Mr. Meagher, proposed, that the meetings of the Board be held at Fermoy and Lismore.

Mr. Longfield, seconded.

Mr. Power, proposed, Lismore, Tallow and Youghal.

Mr. O'Brien, seconded.

Mr. Rice, proposed, Youghal, Tallow, Fermoy and Mallow.

Mr. Murphy, seconded.

Mr. Stafford, proposed, Tallow only it was the most central.

Mr. Rice said that would be very inconvenient for some of the members.

Finally a vote was taken between Messrs. Rice's and Maher's propositions with the following result:—

For Fermoy and Mallow—Messrs. Meagher, Carey-Joyce, Lord Cavendish, Montgomery, Annesley, Capt. Jameson, Maxwell, and Major Longfield—8.

For Youghal, Tallow Fermoy and Mallow—Capt. Smyth, Messrs. O'Brien, O'Neill, Power, Baldwin, Sheehan, Villiers-Stuart, Capt. Dunne, Murphy, Stafford, Rice, and the Chairman—12.

Capt. Dunne, said it looked as if a certain section of the Board wanted to disfranchise the Youghal members altogether.

Mr. Power said the Major didn't even vote for his own town (laughter).

Finance Committee.

On the proposition of Mr. Power, seconded by Mr. Murphy, Messrs. Maxwell, Rice and Lord Cavendish, were appointed a Finance Committee.

Rate Estimate.

The Secretary submitted his Rate Estimate for the coming year. The rate last year was 10/- in the £. The valuation of the river was £4,425, and 10/- in the £. would produce £2,212. In the estimate was included a sum of £450 for a new motor launch. The total revenue last year was £2,553 and the total expenditure £3,300.

Replying to the Chair, the Secretary said they had only very little money on hands.

Mr. Murphy questioned if there was any necessity for the new motor launch.

Mr. Rice said that matter had been very fully discussed and it was unanimously decided to get the launch.

Capt. Dunne said they should strike a rate sufficient for the employment of the number of bailiffs required. They shouldn't be expecting too much of the Civic Guards.

Mr. Rice—What is the rate in Cork?

Capt. Dunne—15/- in the £.

Mr. Power said they hadn't enough of bailiffs on in the close season.

The Chairman—We all agree with that. It would appear that we want to provide £1,100 approximately more than last year.

Major Longfield said he understood that the Department subsidised the Lee Board with a boat.

Mr. Rice—Even if you take the boat off you will have to provide £800 extra.

The Chairman said the question was if they struck a 10/- rate would it be sufficient. It was a matter for the ratepayers themselves.

Capt. Dunne reminded the meeting that the old Board struck a rate of 9/- but the Department raised it to 10/-.

If they struck too low a rate now the Department might again raise it.

After a very protracted discussion Mr. Maxwell, proposed a 10/- rate.

This was seconded by Mr. Kent.

Mr. Murphy, suggested a 11/- rate, and withdrew the boat.

This was finally proposed by Mr. Stafford, and seconded by Mr. Rice.

On a poll there voted:—

For 10/-—Messrs. Maxwell, Capt. Jameson, Annesley, Lord Cavendish, O'Neill, Villiers-Stuart, Montgomery, Kent, Sheehan, Capt. Smyth, Carey-Joyce, Meagher—12.

For 11/-—Messrs. Stafford, Murphy, Capt. Dunne, Major Longfield, O'Brien and Rice—8.

Didn't vote—Messrs. Power, Baldwin, and the Chairman—3.

The 10/- rate was therefore adopted.

Motor Launch.

Mr. Annesley asked was it necessary to pay £400 for a boat.

Mr. Baldwin said the boat would cost at least £450, and she would be only used to patrol Knockadon and Ballycotton, from which they received £30 yearly from 10 licences.

The Secretary said he had received a large number of replies to his advertisement for a boat at prices from £900 down. In his opinion the best value was that of the Baltimore Co.

Mr. Rice said if they got a boat the same as the Cork Board it would be alright.

Mr. Baldwin said what was wanted much more was a patrol boat to protect their coastal fisheries from the depredations of the French trawlers and those from across Channel.

Mr. Rice—You would require a gun-boat for that purpose.

Mr. Baldwin—That is what they should supply.

On the suggestion of Mr. Annesley, the Secretary was instructed to apply again to the Department for a subsidy for a launch.

Mr. Murphy objected strongly to the purchase of a launch, which would mean a heavy upkeep. It was originally suggested to get a boat as there was a lot of talk about salmon fishing being started at Ballycotton. He believed there was no immediate prospect of any such project now. What then did they want the boat for?

Mr. Baldwin said it would be much cheaper to appoint a bailiff for that locality in question.

Lismore Hatchery.

Mr. Annesley, called attention to the Lismore Hatchery, which had been such a benefit to the river in the past, but which unfortunately was not now in working order. If it were, they would have very much more salmon in the Blackwater. He suggested that they should call on the Department to take the matter up. They had lately repaired the Hatchery at Mallow and it had been working most efficiently since.

The Secretary said the Lismore Hatchery was private property, but had been subsidised by the Government, whereas the upkeep of the Mallow Hatchery had been met out of the revenue. The Department contributing £80 towards the cost of certain repairs. He had forwarded a resolution passed by the late Board on the matter to the Department, that they had failed to come to terms with the owners of the Hatchery.

Major Longfield said they should raise the matter again.

Lord Cavendish having given details of their negotiations with the Department, said the Hatchery used start working about the middle of September, but they hadn't received a reply from the Department in time.

The Secretary said it was too late to do anything that year.

Lord Cavendish said it could be put in order in a few weeks, but the Department said they would want a half million fry and the question was could that be done.

The Secretary said they could give them the surplus from the Mallow Hatchery.

Mr. Annesley said the supply of fry was a minor matter. The thing was to get the Hatchery going again.

Insurance.

The Secretary said there was some error in connection with the quotation of the Hibernian Insurance Co., for the Insurance of the staff, and it would be necessary to reconsider the matter.

They had now quotations for the insurance of £2,000 wages for £22 10s. yearly from the following Companies:—Hibernian, Commercial Insurance Co. Cork; Irish National Insurance, Dublin, and the Alliance.

Mr. Rice proposed the Hibernian, and keep the money at home.

Major Longfield—We are insured at present with the Alliance?

The Secretary—Yes, up to November Major Longfield proposed and Mr. Maxwell, seconded, the Alliance, the Major remarking that they had been dealing satisfactorily with the Alliance for many years.

Mr. Rice—And last year they quoted more for the very same amount.

The Chairman proposed, and Mr. Power, seconded, the Commercial.

On a poll there voted:—

For the Hibernian—Messrs. Murphy, Capt. Dunne, Sheehan, Baldwin, Power, O'Neill, Carey-Joyce, Meagher, Rice and O'Brien—10.

For the Alliance—Messrs. Stafford, Major Longfield, Maxwell, Capt. Jameson, Annesley, Villiers-Stuart, Montgomery, Lord Cavendish and Capt. Smyth—9.

For the Commercial—The Chairman, Mr. Kent, didn't vote.

On the second poll, the Chairman voted for the Hibernian, whose quotation was therefore accepted on a vote of 11 to 9.

Mr. Rice said they should strike a rate sufficient for the employment of the number of bailiffs required. They shouldn't be expecting too much of the Civic Guards.

Mr. Rice—What is the rate in Cork?

Capt. Dunne—15/- in the £.

Mr. Power said they hadn't enough of bailiffs on in the close season.

The Chairman—We all agree with that. It would appear that we want to provide £1,100 approximately more than last year.

Major Longfield said he understood that the Department subsidised the Lee Board with a boat.

Mr. Rice—Even if you take the boat off you will have to provide £800 extra.

The Chairman said the question was if they struck a 10/- rate would it be sufficient. It was a matter for the ratepayers themselves.

Capt. Dunne reminded the meeting that the old Board struck a rate of 9/- but the Department raised it to 10/-.

If they struck too low a rate now the Department might again raise it.

After a very protracted discussion Mr. Maxwell, proposed a 10/- rate.

This was seconded by Mr. Kent.

Mr. Murphy, suggested a 11/- rate, and withdrew the boat.

WATERFORD COUNTY COUNCIL.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT ACT, 1925: SECTION 25 (1) AND (2).

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the County Council of Waterford will, at their Special Meeting to be held in the Court House, Dungarvan, on Tuesday, the 5th day of January, 1932, consider the passing of a Resolution, declaring the Road from Grange Chapel through Boherboy to the Grallagh Road to be a public road. J. H. O'SULLIVAN, Secretary, County Council, County Secretary's Office, Dungarvan, 2nd November, 1931.

WRONG AGE.

At the Monaghan District Court before Mr. Lavery, B.J., William Hill was charged with registering an incorrect age for his mother, who died earlier in the year. It appeared that he had a Policy with the Prudential Assurance Company, produced which she was put down as 62, her real age being given as 80. Dr. Kieran, Castle-shane, gave evidence of the registration of the particulars. The defendant pleaded guilty and was fined 5/-.

WHY OAT TARIFF WAS GRANTED.

COMMISSION'S REPORT.

The report of the Tariff Commission on which the tariff imposed on oats and oatmeal a fortnight ago was based and which is now available, states that the Commissioners believed that the oat crop is efficiently produced in this country, and that the imposition of a tariff would not affect the methods of production generally practised. The tariff, it was considered, would tend to increase the area under oats. The Commission was satisfied that, on the whole, oats suitable for racehorses in training could be produced at home, but after a wet season it might be necessary to purchase a small quantity of foreign oats.

As regards seed oats, all witnesses were agreed that the seed oats imported from other countries were not pure-line strains, but consisted of a good class of commercial oats. Such oats are similar to the good commercial seed oats grown in the Saorstát, but it seemed that a sufficient number of Saorstát farmers did not specialise in the growing of oats for sale as seed. It was agreed that home-grown seed oats were as good as imported seed oats.

As regards oatmeal, it is pointed out that the home millers had captured the bulk of the home market. Imported crushed meal in packets enjoyed considerable advantage over the local commodity owing to extensive advertising. Apart from its effect on the price of oatmeal, the imposition of a tariff on oats would have no measurable effect on the consumer of goods in the production of which oats are used.

In the cost of living index number in mid-August, 1931, the expenditure on oatmeal was represented by 1.572 points. On the assumption that the average increase in the price of oatmeal as the result of the tariff would be 2d. per stone, this figure would increase to 1.657 points, equivalent to an increase of .05 p.c. The Commission estimated that the maximum amount of revenue from a tariff would be £18,000, but they were satisfied that this amount would rapidly diminish.
