LATE MR. MCCOY, SOLR.
APPOINTMENT OF V.S., FOR LISMORE.

Mr. John Kiersey, Chairman, presided. There were also present—Messrs. M. F. Walsh, G. J. Greene, C. J. Curran, John O'Driscoll, P. J. Fox, Thos. Hartly, D. Coghlan, W. Stack, J. Butler, J. Halloran, P. Fitzgerald, T. Shipsey, M. O'Ryan, P. Cunningham, J. F. Moloney, J. Roche M. Keane, M. Curran, M. McGrath, N. Fitzgerald.

Messrs. J. H. O'Sullivan, Secretary, J. Bowen, B.E., Co. Surveyor, and the usual officials were in attendance.

Late Mr. McCoy, Solr.

The Chairman said he regretted to say that since their last meeting the death had occurred of Mr. James McCoy, solr., brother of Mr. Archibald McCoy, solr. The firm of Dohbryn Tandy and McCoy, solrs., had been solicitors to the Co. Council since its initiation and prior to that had acted in a similar capacity for the Grand Jury. At the start of the Co. Council, the firm were unanimously appointed its solicitors. Mr. Archibald McCoy always attended their meetings and the late Mr. James McCoy used also attend at times. For over 30 years Mr. McCoy's family have been identified with the Co. Council and no one more deserved their sympathy than Mr. Archibald McCoy. He proposed that their sincere sympathy be tendered to Mr. A. McCoy.

Mr. Greene seconded, and associated himself with the Chairman's remarks.

Mr. C. J. Curran in joining in the vote said in the old days in connection with the Railway question on which deputations went to London they always found Mr. McCoy to be a man of sound judgment and his advice was invaluable and as good as they could get from the best Counsel in London. He deeply regretted his death.

Mr. O'Ryan also associated himself with the vote.

Mr. Bowen said during his time as Co. Surveyor he had much connection with Mr. McCoy, and he never met a more amiable gentleman or a kinder or more faithful friend.

Mr. O'Sullivan having joined in the vote on behalf of the staff, the resolution was passed, the members standing.

Waterford Tramway Road.

MR. BOWEN'S STINGING CASTIGATION OF THE TRAMWAY DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION.

At the Co. Council meeting on Tuesday, Mr. Kiersey, Chairman, presiding.

The Secretary read a complaint from the Tramway Development Association and Information Bureau, on the condition of the main road from Waterford to Tramore.

Mr. O'Ryan—Is not that a steam-rolled road?

Mr. Fox said a deputation was to be at that meeting from Tramore so as to have something done to the road which was all pot holes and had not been rolled for 7 years. A memorial had been signed by 250 motorists that the road was bad and did not compare with roads of equal importance elsewhere. It carried tremendous traffic of all kinds and parts of it suffered badly from flooding. At present 2 miles of it were under water.

Mr. Halloran—The whole country is under water now. We cannot keep the water off it without asking the Clerk of the weather.

Mr. Fox said thousands of pounds were paid by the people who use that road. He asked that the road be made out of a grant.

Mr. Walsh said he understood the road was flooded because the farmers did not drain their land.

Mr. Halloran said it would be time enough to deal with that road when all the other roads of the County were to be attended to. In Tramore they have sea walls and everything and it is no more a little bit of heaven than any other part of the county.

Mr. Coghlan said Kilmacthomas had a far stronger case as the road there was worse than the Tramore road.

Mr. Fox—It is only a bye road.

Mr. O'Donnell agreed with Mr. Coghlan and asked were the Waterford Corporation removing the dump referred to in the Co. Surveyor's report.

Mr. Bowen—Not yet, but I intend to follow it up.

Mr. O'Donnell—An order should go from this Council to ask them to clear it.

Mr. Halloran said the roads at Kilmacthomas and Ardmore were as important as Tramore.

Mr. O'Ryan—Many of the roads in the County are not steamrolled yet.

Mr. Bowen said it was a pity the deputation of very able men had not come before the Council so that they could see what they were like, but perhaps they thought better of it. Does Mr. Fox as representing Tramore stand for what has been going on there of late?

Mr. Fox—I have nothing to do with them.

Mr. Bowen said there was an impression that he was against the repairing of that road. That was wrong. He would be happy to repair that road and make it so that people would be coming from all quarters to look at it if you put up the money. On October 15th, the Tramway Development Association called attention to the appalling state of the road and how for 7 years there was no expenditure on it. He (Mr. Bowen) replied to that and showed that each year it cost £800 to £700. On the day the Association wrote to him they also wrote to the Ministry on the neglect of that road. They never wrote to the Council at all. Evidently they thought the right thing for the L.G.D., to do was to send down some one to do the work of the Council and sack the Co. Surveyor. "You are the people responsible for that road" said Mr. Bowen, and it is your duty to maintain it. You have discharged your duty. It is not the duty of the Ministry or any one else. It was a most uncalled for slur on the Council. Tramore is the spoil child of this Council. This Association with its high sounding name could devote their attention to a lot of things, but the most popular was to try and get money out of some one else's pocket. They would have great difficulty in finding the names of some of the people who attended the meetings of that Association in the rate books. For every £1 the Co. Council spent on Tramore the town itself paid 6d., and if they were to make a good job of the road for £20,000, Tramore would only pay £300. The road was an important one but practically no ratepayers lived on it and few ratepayers outside Tramore used it. The local Press was very agitated that the Council took the opinion of the Co. Surveyor, whom they paid in place of that of the Development Association. There was a lot of the slave mind left in the country yet, but if there was any slavery it was not on the part of the Council's officials. If (Mr. Bowen) then read a memorandum of the Tramway Association, in which there was no mention of sending a copy to the Co. Council.

The Tramore road was rolled ten years ago and was well done and had

Mr. N. Fitzgerald—Increase it again.

On the motion of Mr. Walsh, seconded by Mr. Moloney, a resolution was passed protesting against the increased charges.

Not Considered.

Resolution from Public Bodies re the Public Safety Bill, were marked "not considered," the Chairman stating the Bill was now passed into law.

A resolution from Galway Co. Council, calling for a reduction of 20 per cent. on Salaries over £500 and 10 per cent. on those over £300 was read.

Mr. O'Ryan suggested its adoption. He said it was extraordinary the huge salaries that were paid and which the people were unable to bear. In the olden days they complained of the salaries paid under British rule, but they were much greater to-day though the country was far poorer now. He said Mr. Orr, R.M., who was a barrister only got £450 a year and the Justice now in his place got £1,000. In France a rich country with 40 million people, a Judge of the Supreme Court only got £500 a year.

Mr. M. Curran—That was the trouble we had with England.

Mr. Stack—I was in Ballymacarby in Mr. O'Ryan's district when I was a magistrate, and I only fined offenders 1d. and costs, what are they fined to-day? Now we are paying a million a year teaching Irish to the people and you (Mr. O'Ryan) are in favour of that. I am against it. When I was a magistrate at Ballymacarby Court I never heard a word of Irish there.

Mr. Bowen said until the usual procedure was followed they could not expend the money. Notice was then handed in complying with the regulations.

Mr. Butler mentioned about the road at Ballinacouch and asked was it not under contract in recent years? Mr. Bowen said it was not in his time.

Mr. C. J. Curran—There was a lot of traffic from the quarry at Ballinacouch and there were some repairs.

Mr. Butler said there was a man present whose father was contractor under Mr. Duffin.

Mr. Bowen—It is not on our schedule and must be declared a main road.

Mr. Curran—It is the required width?

Co. Surveyor—It is 11 feet which is the new width.

Tramore Sea Wall.

The Board of Health applied for the Council's consent to the raising of a loan of £1,500 for extending the sea wall at Tramore. They also applied for a contribution towards a loan of £1,500 for the same purpose. The former would be a local charge and the latter a County-at-large charge.

Mr. Fox said while he was on the Council they were getting money for Tramore sea wall and it was not fair to the ratepayers of the county south of the river Suir that they should be asked to contribute while those living north of the Suir paid nothing. That should be a National Charge, and if it benefited Tramore, they should pay for it.

The Chairman said they should do all they could to have more houses etc., built in Tramore and so get more rates for the County funds.

Mr. O'Ryan—If other districts come along how can you refuse them. The first application for the Council's consent to borrow a loan of £1,500 was approved on the motion of Mr. Fox, seconded by Mr. N. Fitzgerald.

As to the application for a contribution towards a loan of £1,500 for the sea wall, Mr. Bowen said he considered an extension of the sea wall would be necessary when the Council asked him his opinion. They had shouldered responsibility for 200 yards of the wall and it was up to them to see that the further work necessary was carried out. Otherwise their wall was in danger of becoming a wreck. He suggested that he get an opportunity of examining the proposition of the extension of the sea wall, and it could be considered at the next meeting.

Mr. O'Ryan proposed, and Mr. Curran seconded that the question be adjourned to the next meeting. This was approved of.

On the motion of Mr. O'Donnell, seconded by Mr. O'Ryan, Mr. Heskin was re-elected a member of the Board of Health and Mr. Fox of the Board of Assistance.

Mr. John Kiersey, was unanimously re-elected to represent the Council on the Governing body of the University College, Cork.

L.G.D. A Threat.

The L.G.D. forwarded a letter they had received from Capt. Wolfe-Smyth, Tramore, complaining of the manner in which he was treated by the rate collector. The latter came to his house with a man and a Civic Guard, and when he asked him for the amount of the rates the collector would not tell him, but said "he would break my head." He charged him 5/- cost of warrant. The letter was referred to the rate collector.

Tourists.

Re the £100 contributed to the Tourist Association, Mr. Walsh said it was money well spent.

Mr. O'Ryan suggested they get a list of the amounts subscribed by the hotels to the Association, and this was agreed to.

Mr. Stack—What are they doing for this County? They don't leave a penny in the town. There is no tourists coming here and we get no show.

Permission was granted to the Tourist Association to publish the Official Guide to the Co. Waterford.

Electricity Charges.

In connection with a letter from the E.S.B., re increased charges, Mr. Walsh said they should protest against it.

Mr. Halloran—The increased charges should not be paid.

Mr. O'Ryan said Dr. McLaughlin, who was the greatest brains on the Board thought the increased charges were not necessary. The Dungarvan Electric Light Co., gave a better supply and their property was confiscated.

Mr. McGrath—They want to make the scheme pay and if it does not, where are you?

Tramore Sea Wall.

The Board of Health applied for the Council's consent to the raising of a loan of £1,500 for extending the sea wall at Tramore. They also applied for a contribution towards a loan of £1,500 for the same purpose. The former would be a local charge and the latter a County-at-large charge.

Mr. Fox said while he was on the Council they were getting money for Tramore sea wall and it was not fair to the ratepayers of the county south of the river Suir that they should be asked to contribute while those living north of the Suir paid nothing. That should be a National Charge, and if it benefited Tramore, they should pay for it.

The Chairman said they should do all they could to have more houses etc., built in Tramore and so get more rates for the County funds.

Mr. O'Ryan—If other districts come along how can you refuse them. The first application for the Council's consent to borrow a loan of £1,500 was approved on the motion of Mr. Fox, seconded by Mr. N. Fitzgerald.

As to the application for a contribution towards a loan of £1,500 for the sea wall, Mr. Bowen said he considered an extension of the sea wall would be necessary when the Council asked him his opinion. They had shouldered responsibility for 200 yards of the wall and it was up to them to see that the further work necessary was carried out. Otherwise their wall was in danger of becoming a wreck. He suggested that he get an opportunity of examining the proposition of the extension of the sea wall, and it could be considered at the next meeting.

Mr. O'Ryan proposed, and Mr. Curran seconded that the question be adjourned to the next meeting. This was approved of.

On the motion of Mr. O'Donnell, seconded by Mr. O'Ryan, Mr. Heskin was re-elected a member of the Board of Health and Mr. Fox of the Board of Assistance.

U.C.C.

Mr. John Kiersey, was unanimously re-elected to represent the Council on the Governing body of the University College, Cork.

L.G.D. A Threat.

The L.G.D. forwarded a letter they had received from Capt. Wolfe-Smyth, Tramore, complaining of the manner in which he was treated by the rate collector. The latter came to his house with a man and a Civic Guard, and when he asked him for the amount of the rates the collector would not tell him, but said "he would break my head." He charged him 5/- cost of warrant. The letter was referred to the rate collector.

Tourists.

Re the £100 contributed to the Tourist Association, Mr. Walsh said it was money well spent.

Mr. O'Ryan suggested they get a list of the amounts subscribed by the hotels to the Association, and this was agreed to.

Mr. Stack—What are they doing for this County? They don't leave a penny in the town. There is no tourists coming here and we get no show.

Mr. O'Ryan said at a meeting of the Hotel Keepers, in Dublin, it was requested that next year, hotels in the country should not increase their charges but in Dublin they could charge more. In Horse Show week they increase their charges 100 per cent.

Permission was granted to the Tourist Association to publish the Official Guide to the Co. Waterford.

Electricity Charges.

In connection with a letter from the E.S.B., re increased charges, Mr. Walsh said they should protest against it.

Mr. Halloran—The increased charges should not be paid.

Mr. O'Ryan said Dr. McLaughlin, who was the greatest brains on the Board thought the increased charges were not necessary. The Dungarvan Electric Light Co., gave a better supply and their property was confiscated.

Mr. McGrath—They want to make the scheme pay and if it does not, where are you?

Waterford Tramway Road.

Mr. Bowen said until the usual procedure was followed they could not expend the money. Notice was then handed in complying with the regulations.

Mr. Butler mentioned about the road at Ballinacouch and asked was it not under contract in recent years? Mr. Bowen said it was not in his time.

Mr. C. J. Curran—There was a lot of traffic from the quarry at Ballinacouch and there were some repairs.

Mr. Butler said there was a man present whose father was contractor under Mr. Duffin.

Mr. Bowen—It is not on our schedule and must be declared a main road.

Mr. Curran—It is the required width?

Co. Surveyor—It is 11 feet which is the new width.

KilmacThomas District Court.

(Before Mr. F. J. McCabe, D.J.) Supt. Kelly, C.G., prosecuted Pk. Keane, (a lorry driver), of Dunabratlin, Kill, for reckless driving in the vicinity of Bonmahon, on the 23rd ult., Mr. Farrell, solr., Waterford, appeared for the defendant.

Edward Spratt, was the first witness sworn. Answering Supt. Kelly, he said—I reside in Dungarvan. I am a motor driver. I remember the 23rd, October, last. On that day I was driving Mr. Ormonde, Assistant Co. Surveyor. It was about 1 o'clock when we passed the turn near Dr. Walsh's house—we had just come out of Bonmahon and were proceeding along the coast road to Annestown. My car was not going very well that day.

After rounding the turn and reaching some 20 or 30 yards from it, we saw a lorry coming towards us at a distance then of about 200 yards. I pulled into my side, until eventually I pulled up. The lorry cut in across and caught the front wheel and mudguard of the car. My car was actually stopped when the collision occurred. The wing and right front wheel were smashed, and the axle broken by the force of the impact. There is a boreen "T" shaped further up from the first bend. Mr. Ormond and myself escaped unhurt.

To Mr. Farrell—The road where the accident occurred is 17 or 18 feet wide. There is a grass margin on his (defendant's) side. The road into the margin is 14 feet wide. Mr. Farrell—Would I be correct in saying that at least 3 feet of the road into the margin is not made? Witness—I hold you can drive right into the grass margin. Continuing, he said—I noticed a motor cycle about 15 or 20 feet up from where the crash happened, and the defendant mentioned to me that he was trying to avoid it when I asked him why he was so much in the middle of the road. I blew my horn at Dr. Walsh's bend—say about 80 yards away and saw no necessity of again sounding it as the lorry approached in full view. I drove about 10 miles an hour and kept my own side. The motor bike was stationary and laid up against the grass margin. This was not a blind bend.

At this point his Worship intimated that he knew the place, and agreed that it wasn't a blind bend. Mr. Farrell said that unfortunately himself didn't know the particular place. Witness, resuming—At a distance of 180 yards, we had a clear view ahead, and we actually did see the driver of the lorry at that distance. D.J.—He had a better opportunity of seeing you, as he was higher up and coming towards you. Witness—That is so. Further questioned by Mr. Farrell, witness stated that the left front wheel of his car hit the wall, and the wheel-cap was actually broken. Defendant had absolutely every appearance of pulling out. He (defendant) tried to swerve after touching the car and he was going fairly fast.

Jeremiah Ormond, B.E., Assistant Co. Surveyor, was called. Answering Supt. Kelly, he swore—I remember October last. I was being driven to Annestown on that day. The lorry was at least 180 yards away when I saw it and its occupants distinctly. To his Worship—The driver was not alone in the lorry. Proceeding—The lorry came along, hit the car and went 28 yards before it was pulled up. By Mr. Farrell—I saw a motor bike on the side of the road 15 or 16 feet up from the point of the position of the accident. It was placed against the bank on the right hand side. In my opinion defendant should have seen the car—I came that way later and saw nothing to obstruct the view. In my opinion the lorry was going very fast. There was no horn sounded at this particular turn from either side. The lorry was a 30 cwt. one. Sergeant James O'Mahony, Kill, said he visited the scene about one and a half hours after the accident. Mr. Spratt's car was at the left hand side of the road, facing Annestown. The road between fences was 24 feet, and there was a grass bank 6 feet 3 inches at the left hand side. The actual width of the road was 17 ft. 4 ins. The front wheel of the car was completely broken. The lorry stopped. From the road tracks of the lorry, the rear wheel at the point of collision was 5 feet 7 ins. on the wrong side. The occupants of both vehicles were present on my arrival. I interviewed the defendant. He told me that when coming around the turn he noticed a motor cycle and didn't see the motor car until almost upon it. To Mr. Farrell—I saw the defendant driving on several occasions. He is a very careful experienced driver. I know him for the past two years. The defendant, Patrick Keane, in reply to Mr. Farrell said he was a lorry driver for Mr. Byrne, coal merchant, Dunabratlin. He had his driver's licence with him in court (this was produced). He was carrying 30 cwt. of coal on the day in question. He had changed into second gear approaching the bend. He came down the hill between 5 and 10 miles p.h. Before changing gear, he was travelling at about 15 m.p.h. He frequently travelled that road. On rounding the turn he saw the motor bike and then moved more to his wrong side. D.J.—Did you think the motor bike might bite you? What was to prevent you from keeping to your right side—a stationary bike? Witness replied he felt the lorry sinking when passing near where the motor bike was on previous occasions; the road being soft at that point.

Witness went on to say that he had sounded his horn at the bend, and he had heard no answering horn.

His Worship observed the sounding of horns alone will not be sufficient to stave off accidents or blame for their occurrence. Mr. Farrell was quoting the Act on the matter, when the D.J., interjected—"That's as old as the hills. A man who goes in the wrong side after blowing a horn is simply driving negligently."

Mr. Farrell said it was an error of judgment on the part of his client's D.J.—What annoys me is the way this careful and experienced driver proceeds to tell me that after sounding his horn he went in the wrong side. I look upon it as a scandalous piece of driving and I am inclined to think that a long suspension of his licence should teach him. You are a professional driver (this to defendant)—what are your weekly earnings? Defendant was explaining he was receiving at the rate of 6d. per ton of coal delivered, when his employer, Mr. Byrne, came forward and informed the court that £2 was the man's average monthly earnings with his keep.

His worship—I must take his circumstances into consideration. Were he a richer man I would show no leniency. He then imposed a fine of 10/- and ordered the defendant's licence be endorsed, suspending the application of same this time. Messrs. Ormond and Spratt, said they would not ask for expenses, and the Justice complimented both on acting fairly.

The twice adjourned case of the Waterford No. 3 Board of Fishery Conservators v. Patrick Kiely, Ballylaneane, and David Kiely and Patrick Mansfield, do., was then dealt with. Mr. Verrington, solr., Carrick-on-Suir, acted for the prosecution; and Mr. H. D. Keane, solr., Waterford, for the defence.

As previously reported, the defendants were charged with having a net completely across the river Mahon on the evening of the 10th June last; thereby rendering it impossible for salmon to pass up stream in the normal way. Mr. Verrington reminded the Justice that his Worship adjourned the case on his (Mr. Verrington's) application. Mr. Keane—You were going to discuss the case, your Worship. Mr. Verrington—I wanted to bring further testimony here. D.J.—Better go over the whole case again.

Sergeant Patrick O'Connor, (Stradbally), answering Mr. Verrington, said he remembered 19th June last, when he went on fishing duty on the river Mahon. He found the accused there. Watching from a vantage point nearby, he saw Patk. Kiely hauling a net up in his arms. There appeared to be a lot of the net to spare. Before they got to the gravel part of the river, he saw Patrick hand a fish to David Kiely which the latter threw into the rushes 7 or 8 yards away. He accosted them and charged them with fishing at that hour, it being then 9.30 p.m. They said they never heard of daily close season, but they did know of a weekly close season. P. Kiely produced a license authorising him to fish from Rosslare to Helvick Head. That evening he (Sergt.) came to Kiely's house with Guard Farrell and seized the net. They met Mrs. Kiely who said none of the boys were at home and were probably in the village (Ballylaneane). They later met Patrick Kiely and told him they had seized the net and charged him with using it illegally on the previous night. The net was 20 yards in length it had lead on the end and corks on the top to keep it afloat. A rope one yard long was attached at each side of the net. The river was 13 feet at its widest part and 11 feet in other places. The water doesn't cover the bed between banks fully in summer-time, and where they got the fish was only 7 feet wide and 2 feet deep on the occasion.

To Mr. Keane—On the first evening I only charged them with being fishing at the wrong time, it having struck him he didn't see any other offence. Two fished from the bank nearest to where witness stood and one on the side opposite. The net was hauled in at his (Sergt's) side. He had no experience of fishing before he came to his present station. Mr. Keane—I might tell you that a certain Sergt. previously stationed here fished the same way as these men. Further in reply to Mr. Keane, witness stated he was aware a net bulges against the stream. The river was about the same depth in the side and middle. His worship—If the river was the same depth in the side and middle and the net bulged, the fish had a chance of going up on each side. There might be means of escape anyway.

Mr. Verrington pointed out that when the net was stretched across the river there could be no chance for the fish to pass up. Mr. Keane—A net that bulges will leave a channel. Men fishing with nets on a river have stones and trees to contend with. D.J.—And Civic Guards, (laughter). Thomas F. Rigney, Inspector of the Department of Fisheries Board, said that Sergt. O'Connor brought him to the particular part of the river in question and showed him the net used by the defendants, and in his opinion it was impossible for fish to pass up while this net was so used on the occasion. After a protracted legal argument between Messrs. Verrington and Keane as to whether a net that bulged did or did not cause an obstruction to the normal passage for fish, his Worship said in face of the evidence there could not be a conviction. The Sergt. was very fair and outspoken in a difficult case. The prosecution in cases of this kind must be able to show without doubt or possibility of doubt that fish were stopped from passing up stream and must swear positively it was so. He was not satisfied that there was a complete obstruction in this instance, and he dismissed the case, allowing four guineas costs to Mr. Keane.

William Organ, Ballynabogue, and Patrick Fitzgerald, Stradbally, were each fined 30/- and 10/- costs for using an illegal net on the river Tay, on the 19/8/21. Waterford No. 3 Board of Fishery Conservators prosecuted; and the same solrs. were engaged. Sergt. O'Connor, Stradbally, was the principal witness for the Board.

A local workman, named Michael Kelly, was summoned by the KilmacThomas Game Preservation Society, for trespassing on the Society's preserves on the 21st ult. Sergeant Lynagh, KilmacThomas, stated the defendant had a greyhound and a terrier with him on the occasion, and when questioned he admitted he knew the lands were preserved. Queried by the Justice, the defendant said he had occasion to go over the fence into the preserves. A fine of £2 was inflicted.

Mr. Counihan, solr., KilmacThomas acted for the Society. A similar case against another local workman was withdrawn as he apologised to the Society and promised not to trespass again. When the adjourned case, in which Mrs. Anne Organ, Ballynabogue charged James Fitzgerald Garrunturton, with abusive language was called it was announced that a settlement had been arranged out of court and his worship remarked that he was very pleased to hear it and sincerely hoped it would endure for long.

For allowing 3 goats, her property to trespass on the lands of her neighbour, John Busk, of the Kill district, Annie Barry, was fined 9/- and costs. She told the Court that she owned no goats, and on hearing her fine the valuable lady, nodding towards the complainant, shouted—"He could come here, and he wouldn't go to Mass."

Decrees for full amounts claimed together with costs in each application, were granted in a number of civil bills dealt with.

IN ADVANCE OF THE SCOTS. "You know, Pat," said the Scot, "some time ago we dug the ruins of a 14th century castle in Scotland and found a lot of wire. This proves that telegraphs and telephones were used in Scotland already in the 14th century." "Well," answered Pat, "in Ireland we made a wonderful discovery. We dug up a prehistoric dwelling and found no wire at all. That proves that our Irish ancestors in prehistoric times used wireless."

YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT. (Before Mr. T. G. O'Sullivan, D.J.) A number of undefended Civil Bills, in which Messrs. J. J. Ronayne solr., Middleton, and T. K. Keane, solr., Youghal, appeared for plaintiffs and decrees were granted. The Justice—Any police cases Sergt. O'Beirne—Not one, your Worship. The Justice—That speaks well for Youghal.

West Waterford Lady's Death in San Francisco.

FUNERAL ORATION.

Extracts from the San Francisco "Leader" to hand convey the news of the death of Mrs. Bridget Barron, beloved wife of Stephen Barron, Walnut Street, San Francisco, and mother of Rev. S. F. Barron, and Rev. R. M. Barron. Both the deceased and her husband were born in West Waterford. Mrs. Barron was a native of Piltown, Youghal. The "Leader" says:—

Mrs. Bridget Barron passed to her heavenly reward on Wednesday, October 28th, at the family residence, 320 Walnut street. Mrs. Barron leaves to mourn her loss her husband, Stephen Barron, her children, the Rev. Stephen F. Barron of Hayward, the Rev. Ricd., U. Barron, of Oakland, Michael J. James W., Raymond J. Barron and Mrs. D. F. Cronin of San Francisco and the late Walter, Leo, Declan and Walker Barron, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Maria Coleman and Mrs. J. J. Beresford of San Francisco, and Mrs. Laurence Barron and Patrick and Michael Barron of Co. Waterford.

Mrs. Barron was a native of Piltown, Waterford, Ireland. She had been ailing for the past year. Her sufferings were borne with the greatest of Christian patience and fortitude. More than 150 floral and spiritual bouquets and many telegrams from all parts of California and from as far away as Vancouver, B. C., attested the grief of friends. On Saturday, October 31, a solemn requiem Mass was celebrated at St. Edward's Church. The celebrant of the Mass was the Rev. Richard V. Barron, (son), deacon; the Rev. Stephen F. Barron, (son), sub-deacon, the Rev. Patrick Cronin, master of ceremonies, Rev. Bart McCarthy.

The eulogy was delivered by her dear friend, Rev. Terrance J. Nugent. The services at the cemetery were performed by her son, the Rev. Stephen F. Barron. The pallbearers, who were born in her own beloved Co. Waterford, were—Messrs. J. J. Beresford, Patrick F. Finger, Michael Brodie, William J. Cullen, Philip Kiely, and Thomas Hourigan. The latter two were school mates of her beloved husband, Stephen Barron. Over 60 priests attended the funeral.

FUNERAL ORATION. Father Nugent's sermon was as follows:—

When death places its heavy hand upon one of our loved ones, we some times see a Providence which guides our destinies with a justice, which is difficult for mere human intelligence to understand. When we see an only child snatched from its parents or when we see a young mother taken from her children we begin to reflect upon the unsearchable ways of the Great Creator. Almighty God has taken from us to-day a woman of noble character, a true friend, a most sincere and devout Catholic, a model wife, and a kind mother—just at a time when the youngest of her family has grown to manhood; just at a time when she could rest from her arduous labours; just at a time when she was in a position to do so much good, in her own charitable way, to those around her; just at a time when she could enjoy those little pleasures, of which perhaps she was deprived during the days of work and toil. But the providence of God intervenes and says no—these worldly enjoyments are no longer for thee. Thy destiny is fulfilled—"Well done thou."

That we may better judge, that we may better understand the sterling character of this noble martyr; we must try to know the clarity and simplicity of faith that existed in her soul. It will be 60 years to-morrow since Mrs. Barron first saw the light on the green hillsides of the south-western corner of County Waterford, Ireland, overlooking the broad ocean, which she was one day destined to cross. For 17 years she lived amongst those saints, where the very atmosphere was holy and where there was instilled into her youthful soul the greatest of all knowledge, a love for Jesus, an admiration for His Church, and a holy reverence for His priests. What ever her ambitions may have been as she came forth to this great United States, she saw at least some of them realised as we shall see. Although she loved this country of her adoption, still she retained an almost heavenly reverence for the land of her birth. To her it was still the Ireland of saints; to her it was the land of religion, the land of piety, where lived a people possessed of that strong faith which she inherited and retained and constantly lived.

Her faith was that strong, simple faith, which would move mountains, and which was fortified by an extraordinary knowledge of her religion, and of the traditions of her Church interwoven with the history of her native land. That simple faith extended to all around her, ever ready to manifest itself in little acts of kindness, always anxious to alleviate the suffering, always desirous of helping the needy. Even in the last days of her illness she frequently inquired concerning some suffering or needy friend. Her home was the hospitable spot, where many, and especially those in need found consolation and solace. Like her Divine Master, she wished to stamp out the worldly spirit that judges a person's worth by their wealth, or their degradation by their poverty. She loved the poor and the afflicted, she saw the virtues of all and the vices of none. "I walked in the innocence of my heart, in the midst of my house. I did not set before my eyes any unjust thing."

Faithful to her daily Mass and Holy Communion, to the Sacrament of Penance every Saturday while she was able—her whole life was a preparation for the end. Do we wonder then that she received a warning a year ago to make the immediate preparation for the end. Do we wonder that she received the last sacraments with a confidence and a resignation, that made her death like the death of saints, precious in God's sight? Do we wonder that at the last moment, she had the great consolation of having around her bedside every living member of her family—offering up the divine office and other prayers for her happy death? "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

It would seem almost an unholy thought to make any contrast between the death of the saint and the sinner. The unfortunate sinner has nothing to offer to the Supreme Judge. He may die wealthy and say that he has given education and wealth in abundance to his son and daughter. He may say that he left his widow free from financial care. He has done well so far, but what has he to offer in behalf of his own soul? Has he "sought first the Kingdom of God and his justice?" What does the saint bring to the feet of the Divine Master? The mother whose last remains we to-day respect, has brought much—her prayers, her communications, her patience, her resignation, her sacrifices. She can say that four of her children have gone before her, their souls stamped with the character of baptism. She can say that she left to the six remaining immense legacies (not in money or property), but her own great legacy of faith, her own strong simple Irish faith, that marks all of them as sincere devout Catholics.

It is said that every good Irish mother wishes to give one of her children to the service of Jesus Christ. It was the earnest desire of Mrs. Stephen Barron to give all her children to the Church if God so willed. Gladly would she have done this, and like the saints, see a holy joy her sacrifice. Towards two of her sons, whom she knew God had chosen, she gave special attention, guarding their vocations with a holy jealousy, encouraging them by her advice, her example, and her prayers. The happiest days of her life came, and her ambitions were achieved, when she saw the hands of her two sons consecrated and given power to offer up the Holy Mass. To her, whether in Church, or on the street, or in her home, a priest was always in the real sense, the alter Christus. Truly she has brought much to the home of God. "Well done thou—" We hope and pray that she has joined that great throng of priests' mothers, with the great St.

Monica, who, continuously sing the praises of our Great High Priest Jesus Christ. Compared with these heavenly consolations, our poor words of comfort are nothing. Still such as they are we offer our sympathy to first the widowed husband, who has been her faithful companion-helper for more than 40 years. To her five sons and to her only daughter; to her sisters; to relatives in Ireland, we say that while they have lost their best friend it is a consolation to know how much she was loved by all who knew her, and above all that her death was so happy. We shall miss her motherly and counselling advice, and her charitable reproofs. We shall continue to remember her soul in our holy Masses and prayers and let us ask God to-day to permit her immortal spirit to continue to guide during our pilgrimage here until we too hear those words—"Well done—"

EX-RATE COLLECTOR RETURNED FOR TRIAL.

At a special Court held at Waterford on Friday last, before Mr. McCabe, D.J., John Kirwan, Bonmahon, ex-Rate Collector, of the Waterford County Council was charged with embezzling the sum of £164 9s. 4d., received by him on behalf of the Co. Council. Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solr., (instructed by Supt. Kelly, Tramore prosecuted and Mr. C. S. Quinlan, solr., defended. Evidence was given by Mr. J. H. O'Sullivan, County Council Secretary who told of Kirwan's appointment as rate collector on November 21, 1922, and how he continued in that capacity until May 5, 1928. This witness identified the warrants issued to the accused for the year ending March 31, 1928, and said the total amount to be collected under such warrants was £8,443 1s. 3d. Six collecting books, which had been issued to Kirwan, were by direction of witness, taken up by Mr. Patk. Morrissey, rate inspector, on May 5, 1928. To the Justice, Mr. O'Sullivan said the money collected for rates was lodged by the collectors in the Munster and Leinster Bank, Dungarvan, to the credit of the Co. Councils account. Mr. P. Morrissey, rate collector, said he was appointed to his present position in July 3, 1926. It was part of his duty to check each rate collector's returns fortnightly, and it was the duty of each collector to produce to witness on these occasions lodgment receipts in respect of all monies collected by them since the previous inspection. In response to Mr. McCabe, the witness said that he did not check any cash received by the collectors. Proceeding, he stated that he took over the books at the defendant's house on May 5th, 1928, as instructed by the County Council Secretary. He examined and checked them two days later. He found the defendant had issued receipts for rates collected since the previous inspection to the amount of £332 4s. 9d., whereas the bank lodgments only amounted to £145. When witness took over the books he was handed £22 5s. 5d. in cash by defendant's mother. This still left a deficiency of £164 9s. 4d., which the defendant had not accounted for. Receipts issued to Mrs. Mary Flahavan, Kilnagrange, and Mrs. William Cheasty, Ballybrack, for £3 19s. 2d., and £13 15s., respectively were identified by the witness. These monies, if paid, he said had not been lodged by Kirwan. The receipt issued to Mrs. Flahavan was not a correct one. Evidence that they paid the money was given by the two ratepayers named and Sergt. Mulcahy, Tramore, having verified a previous deposition made by him in the case, the Justice returned the accused for trial in custody.

PRIZE FOR DEAD MAN.

A consolation prize of £100 was drawn in the Sweep for a ticket held by Mr. George Haddock, boot repairer, of Oakhurst avenue, Dewsbury-road, Leeds, who died a fortnight before.

Road Maintenance.

CO. SURVEYOR'S REPORT.
LONG TERM LOAN WANTED.
ARDMORE ROAD IN DANGER.

At the meeting of the County Council, on Tuesday, Mr. Kiersey, Chairman, presiding.
Mr. Bowen reported as follows:—
We have passed through what may be described as the worst half year on record from the road-making point of view. At the very outset there were floods that surpassed everything in living memory which swept away several bridges, and left many others in a dangerous condition due to undermining of the foundations. Several other floods occurred at intervals right through the summer months and up to this date. For months on end there were never three consecutive dry days all over the county. Some dry weather came in September, but even though rain was absent the roads did not dry out. The number of really good days for tarring work in the half year would certainly be less than twenty. The effects of bad weather, in the summer half year particularly, are that work is rendered difficult, tedious and costly, while traffic has a very much more damaging effect on the roads. Coupled with the foregoing increased costs and expenditures the Council reduced the amount of money provided by them for the current year's work. The nett result is that we have not been able to carry out nearly as much work as is necessary, and in many areas we have not kept pace with destruction. For many years it has been our policy to carry out a certain amount of heavy rolling or reconstruction work each year, and to maintain suitable all other roads as far as possible in a condition suitable for the traffic on them. This policy is a sound one, but this year the expenditure required for maintenance on the whole road system is increasing, and the increase is not made up by an increase in the total funds available, with the result that sufficient money is not available for rolling and heavy reconstruction work. A considerable mileage of main trunk and link roads in the county have never been regularly steam-rolled, or have not been rolled in the past fifteen years. The condition of such roads is not satisfactory, and every effort should be made to secure that these roads be brought up to a reasonably good condition at the earliest possible moment. Similar remarks apply to several very important county roads, but the mileage urgently in need of making up is much greater. As already pointed out many roads now classed as county roads should certainly be regarded as main roads. They include tourists routes, omnibus routes, important links between main roads, and roads carrying heavy traffic often of long distance type. Essentially the difference is purely financial, the area of charge for main roads being slightly larger, and the aid from motor taxation being confined to main roads only. For maintenance of main roads the grant in aid is 40 per cent of the total maintenance, or in other words for every £100 from Council's funds expended on main roads there is a grant of £66 13s. 4d. This is a very great benefit, and every effort should be made to secure the greatest possible sum from this source. Of the £100 from Council's funds referred to above, a very substantial part comes from other grants, and not from the rates.

After the distribution of the 40 per cent grants the balance left over is divided between the several Councils for carrying out of new rolling or other approved works on main roads. amount of this grant coming to this county is small and not nearly sufficient to enable a reasonable programme of work to be carried out. It is the opinion of your County Surveyor, and of many others, that the time is opportune for the flotation of a substantial long term loan for road improvement purposes, repayable out of the increasing income of the Road Fund derived from motor taxation. It is abundantly clear that there is a tremendous and continuous increase in mechanical transport on all roads, and that it is not possible to provide a sufficient mileage of good roads from the combined revenue of rates and motor taxation alone. Moreover, the necessary work of reconstruction is such that its benefits will be enjoyed for many years after its execution and it is therefore, perfectly equitable and feasible that the cost should be spread over a number of years by means of a long term loan. Immediate benefits to road users would result, and a great deal of much-needed employment could be provided by adopting this course.
Work on contract roads has been hap-hazard and not up to specification generally. It is quite a mistake to attempt to maintain satisfactorily any roads of importance or requiring any volume of work by this system. Poor value for money, and badly kept roads are the general result. A number of payments have been deferred. On direct labour roads most of the work have been exhausted, when no further work can be done until next year. The Council reduced very seriously the amounts estimated for these roads, and it is not possible to do all that is necessary. However, we have been able to do a reasonable amount of work within the figures provided in nearly all cases. On one or two sections it has been found necessary to incur an over expenditure to prevent a complete break up of roads. Your formal approval for this will be requested when the exact amounts required have been ascertained.
Hedge owners have been served with formal notices throughout the county, requiring that the hedges be cut down. Many have complied with our requirements, but there are a considerable number who have disregarded the notices for the second or third time in succession. Apparently it is thought by some that the notices are served for fun and are not to be taken seriously. Steps will be taken at once to disillusion such people, and at their own expense.

Notices have been served on certain land-owners of the "Kilbarry Marshes" area, requiring them to clear their drains. Most of the owners have complied with our requirements and considerable benefit has followed. The flooding of the road has been substantially reduced. The other owners will be taken to Court to enforce compliance with the notices. The Corporation of Waterford have also been requested to clear their part of the river, and more particularly to remove the obstruction caused by their rubbish dump. So far this has not been done, and no undertaking has been received that the work will be done. It is perfectly clear that considerable flooding is caused by the rubbish dump, and that much of the work done by owners higher-up must remain ineffective until the Corporation do their part. A reminder has been sent asking for something definite to be done. Matters cannot be allowed to continue as at present, and we must insist that the Corporation shall cease to cause flooding and injury to our roads. It was not possible to secure a grant for the rolling of the Ardmore roads. The money provided by you in anticipation of a loan is being applied to the rolling of the streets as directed. I am repeating the application for the rolling of these roads in next year's scheme.
In the past half year all the tarring and rolling works provided for have been carried out. The heavy works included portion of the main roads from Carrick to Clonmel, from Carrigahilla to Bonmahon, Annewstown to Boatstrand, Fairbrook to Kilmeehan, Carrick to Dungarvan, Goish to Knocknaskagh, Tallow to Youghal. Generally work is well and satisfactorily done, but owing to the extremely bad weather more material was required, and it was difficult to work within our estimates. The streets of several villages were rolled and tarred, adding much to their appearance and sanitation. These include Stradbally, Rathgormack, Aghish, Villierstown, and the principal street in Ardmore is in hands. Your plant and machinery is in good working order generally, and will now be idle for some months. During that time a thorough overhaul will take place, so that each article will be fit for a season's heavy work in the Spring. There have been a number of heavy repairs to old masonry bridges carried out in the half year, which were rendered necessary by floods. A new bridge has been completed at Shanskill. Some heavy work has been done at Shaw's Bridge to prevent flooding of the road and further loss of life. The work done here appears to be quite effective for its purpose. A substantial extension to the sea wall at Ardmore has been completed. A further section of the wall supporting the road at Whiting Bay has been washed away, and some damage done to road and other works. This place is a source of increasing cost getting heavier each year. The erosion of the sea front of the wall has increased to such an extent that future maintenance of the wall is likely to be very heavy. It is not economical nor is it a wise expenditure of public funds, to attempt to keep this wall in position. I again recommend its abandonment. If it can be shown that a road is necessary—and I don't admit it—a new road should be further inland.

The Provisional Road Works Scheme for the coming year has been prepared. I would impress on the Council the necessity of providing more money than in the current year, particularly in view of the increased Agricultural Grant.
Mr. Bowen said in connection with the coast road at Ardmore, the sea was working in at each side, the result was that the waves were beating the wall with greater force than ever. 10 or 12 years ago they went down outside the wall 7 feet below the level of the strand and put in a heavy concrete base, but now it was exposed again and they would want to do it once more. As a result the walls and works around were in a shabby condition. Heavy seas come over the wall and dig up the road. He did not think the road was used by very many though people may say it was. If the road were decided to be necessary they could make a new one and abandon this one which would be much better.
Mr. C. J. Curran—I remember that place with two fields outside the road.
Co. Surveyor—In my time there was one field inside a great part of the road.
Mr. Keane—This road is used by people for 5 miles around drawing seaweed etc.
Mr. Bowen said they could still use it for that purpose.
Mr. Halloran said farmers from Clashmore, Grange, Ardmore and Piltown used that road for drawing sand and seaweed, and it was very useful to the ratepayers. It was better to try and maintain it than build a new one. For the new road they should buy the land. He then referred to a house near that road owned by the Murgreaves and said the owner had put piles down at the place to prevent erosion. He thought if the Co. Council put down piles also they would save the road. It would be a pity to abandon the road as it was so valuable to the neighbouring parishes. If the local people knew that question were discussed that day they would have sent a deputation to the meeting. They wanted the road at any cost.
Mr. Bowen, in answer to the Chairman, said in the last 10 years that road cost a few thousand pounds.
Mr. W. Fitzgerald—It would take a lot of seaweed to be worth that much.
Mr. Hartly—If a new road was made it would not prevent them going to the strand.
Mr. C. J. Curran said there was heavy expense in trying to protect this road.

Chairman—There was big expense 3 or 4 years ago.
Mr. Halloran said if good solid piles were driven in, gravel would accumulate and it would prevent the foundation from being cut away.
Mr. Bowen said that road was going to cost a lot of money. A road west of it was washed away years ago and nothing was done about it. A road east of Ardmore was washed away and it was never replaced. The local people want you to keep the road, but if the expenditure goes beyond all reason, it is not fair to ask the people to maintain it. I am entirely in your hands and if you are satisfied to do the work I am satisfied to do it. I am giving you my opinion for what it is worth and if you say it should be done, I will bring in an estimate and have a good job made of it.
Mr. Halloran suggested adjourning the matter to the next meeting, so as to give the local people a chance of discussing it.
Mr. Curran said they should have the Co. Surveyor's estimate.
Mr. Bowen said it would be any how £1,000 and he didn't think the new road would cost more than that. If the road were so valuable to the local people they should get the land for nothing.
Mr. Butler said as two roads had gone the people were dependent on this road, and he would suggest that the Co. Surveyor bring in an estimate for a new road as also an estimate for repairing the existing road.
Mr. O'Ryan proposed, they adjourn the matter and have an estimate for a new road leaving the old road to the people of the district.
Chairman—I believe it would be better to go inland.
The matter was adjourned to the next meeting.
Next Year's Estimate.
In connection with the circular from L.G.B., re main road up-keep grants '32-'33, and framing a provisional estimate of the sums the Council are likely to allow for the up keep respectively of main roads and County roads in '32-'33.
Mr. C. J. Curran moved that consideration of the provisional estimate be deferred until the Council has received the estimates of the Board of Health, Board of Assistance, Mental Hospital and subsidiary Committees and that these bodies be requested to furnish their estimates as soon as possible and before January 5th, 1932.
Mr. Curran said he was certain that the estimates from some of the other bodies would be higher than last year especially the Board of Public Assistance. No harm would be done in deferring the estimates of the Co. Surveyor. It had been done in other Counties last year. They should look into the capacity of the people to pay rates.
Mr. Bowen—There is no estimate before you to-day.
Mr. Green seconded, and said the capacity of the ratepayers now was very limited and beyond their capacity they couldn't go.

Mr. O'Ryan—The ratepayers capacity has been exceeded.
The resolution was then passed.
As to the proposal in the Co. Surveyor's report re the Government borrowing a large loan for road purposes on the strength of the Motor Taxation, Mr. O'Ryan asked did he (Mr. Bowen) think the sinking fund and interest on the loan would be sufficient to meet that as days went by.
Mr. Bowen said he was quite satisfied it would be a good proposition for the Government to borrow a considerable sum on the strength of the motor taxation income and get certain work done in the County. That work would last 10, 20, or 40 years, and why should they have to bear it all in this generation? The necessity for these roads had cropped up in very recent times. This proposal would enable them to have a good system of roads in the County, and the cost of maintaining them would be much less after reconstruction. By that means future generations would not be saddled with a dead weight.
Mr. C. J. Curran—Would the 40 per cent grant be always forthcoming?
Mr. Bowen—That is from year to year. Even if altered he held they would be doing the wise thing.
Mr. C. J. Curran said there was no harm then in his resolution, as if that scheme materialised they need not strike an estimate for steamrolling as the Government would take it up then. They could adopt the system of a moratorium on the roads as in the case of de-rating.
Mr. O'Ryan said it would do a lot of good and would make the roads equal to the traffic on them. If this loan were got it would do a lot of good in giving employment and relieving the dole and the Public Assistance. At the same time they would improve the roads immensely.
Chairman—We adopt the Co. Surveyor's report and order that that particular portion of it be sent to the Department L.G.
Mr. O'Ryan—And to the County T.D.'s.
Mr. Greene referred to the slippery state of tarred roads & said they were impossible for farmers to use with their horses. If they were to borrow a considerable amount of money to put the roads in the state the County Surveyor would like them, no farmer could use them. The margin they suggested for forest traffic was not followed. On that point Mr. O'Ryan had always been a great advocate.
Mr. O'Ryan said the Co. Council could insist upon the margin being left for horse traffic.

TOO GOOD.
Magistrate—Your husband complains you are always nagging him? Wife—Well, when we married he told me he chose me because I was a good talker.

DEATH.

O'BRIEN—At her residence Ballinagoolke, Ballinacorney, on Tuesday 24th, November, Catherine O'Brien, beloved wife of Luke O'Brien.—R.I.P.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

FATHER M. GUIRY, C.C., CONGRATULATED.

At a meeting of the Committee of Ring College, on Saturday last, deep regret was expressed at the departure from Ring to St. John's, Waterford, of Rev. M. Guiry, C.C., who for four years laboured zealously for the spiritual and temporal welfare of the people of the Parish and unceasingly for promotion of the Irish Congregation.

Father Guiry was tendered warm congratulations on his promotion to the important parish of St. John's.

The Committee adopted new rules for the government of the College. The new rules like old, provide that all the profit made in the working of the College shall go to extending and equipping of the College.

Mr. Sean O'Cuircin, was warmly congratulated on his Irish translation of the new rules.

It was arranged that the new rules will be complete for Summer Session 1932.

All indoor accommodation for July, 1932 at the College, is engaged.

The children's school at Ring has the record number of 90 pupils this year. This is the only school of its kind in Ireland where all the school subjects are taught through Irish. English is not taught to pupils.

CARRICK FARM FIRE, EXTENSIVE DAMAGE.

Twenty tons of hay, hay barn, two out houses were destroyed by fire on Sunday night at the farmyard of Mr. Patk. Shee, Ballyhenry, near Carrick-on-Suir. Twenty hens that were in one of the outhouses were burned to death.

FLOODED STREETS IN CARRICK-ONSUIR.

On Tuesday morning, about 20 families had to leave their flooded houses, Mill St., Carrick-on-Suir. They were sheltered at the Workhouse, Temperance Club and elsewhere. The Gas Works were flooded to a depth of four feet and the gas was cut off.

DUNGARVAN COURSING MEETING.

On Thursday next, Dec. 3rd., the Annual Coursing Meeting under the auspices of the local Club, will be held over the splendid course at Ballygegan within a mile of Dungarvan, and portents are that the day will be one of the most successful yet held. All the Stakes have long since over filled and the pick of Munster long tails are coming. The Committee have splendid hares in stock that are sure to give the best sport, and with the arrangements completed and a fine dry day promised, all who patronise this event will have a most enjoyable time.

FLOODS STOP THE COURT.

Owing to the flooding at Clonmel, Mr. Troy, D.J., was unable to attend the C.B. Court at Dungarvan, on Tuesday, or the fortnightly Court on Wednesday. The business to be transacted was not very heavy and culprits were no doubt glad.

DUNGARVAN TECHNICAL SCHOOL.

We have found whole-hearted agreement with our suggestion last week, that the site of the proposed Technical school at Dungarvan, would be the ideal central position now and for a long period in disuse in Bridge St.,—we refer to the Meat and Fish Markets.

From every point of view this site has no equal in the town. Ratepayers large and small in town and country, approve of it, and as they are the people who pay up, they alone have the final say when, of course necessary architectural principles are complied with. The site is held in fee by the Urban Council in trust for the citizens and now that its functions as a Meat Market are gone for ever, it could be utilised for no more worthy purpose than the education of the people.

The Urban Council will carefully consider the matter, and we know they will act in the best interests of the town.

BOYS CLUB, ABBEYSIDE.

The Boy's Club, Abbeyside (under the patronage of St. Vincent de Paul Conference), has now been completed and is a most imposing structure, and one which will be of great advantage to the youth of the Parish. It has been erected through the instrumentality of the worthy Pastor, Very Rev. M. C. Coohy, P.P., whose work for the good of his people is unbounded. On Thursday morning, December, 10th., there will be Mass in the Club and the Building will be blessed. On the same evening, a Grand Opening Concert will be held in the Club, of which full particulars will be given later.

DUNGARVAN MARKETS.

Meal (special) 16/6; middiecut 16/-; flour 15/0; bran 9/6; pollard 2/6; butter 1/3 per lb.; fresh butter 2/6 per lb.; eggs 1/8 per doz.; white oats 12/6 per barrel; black oats 11/- per barrel.

PIG MARKET.

There were over 500 pigs at Dungarvan Market on Monday. There was a big attendance of buyers and business was very brisk. Prices ruled at 48/- per cwt. d.w.

FARMERS' DANCE.

On Wednesday night, the Annual Farmers' Dance, was held in the Town Hall, Dungarvan. Over 250 couples were in attendance drawn from all parts of the County and City, as well as Tipperary, Kilkenny and Cork. The Dance was one of the most successful yet held and all who came were delighted with themselves and with everyone else. The Ballroom, looked its best and was very artistically decorated for the occasion, the floor was in perfect condition and the lighting arrangements were set in charming surroundings. The Ladies made a splendid picture and their charms were entrancing. The dresses worn by the fair beauties who graced the scene were the choicest production of the latest confections in the fashion centres, and were something to admire. And what is there more attractive to the eye than a galaxy of fair women and brave men? They were all in Dungarvan on Wednesday night, and they enjoyed themselves to the full. The Catering was in the hands of the Misses Barron, Clonmel and perfect satisfaction was given to everybody. The same applies to the wine Department for which Dempsey's Bar was responsible. The music was soft and ravishing. It was supplied by Peter Keogh's famed Dublin Band (personally conducted), and the Melodists Band, Clonmel. To the melodious strains in rhythmic measure, dancing was kept up until morning broke and hard of heart would you be not to wish for more. It was a great night in every sense of the word and was carried through with perfect "go" and unadulterated enjoyment. The Committee in charge and the able Hon. Secs.—Messrs. J. J. Treacy, and J. J. Wynne, deserve all praise for the success which crowned their efforts. The following is the musical programme rendered by Peter Keogh's Band:—Fox-trot—"Faith fully Yours"; Fox-trot—"Fall in and Follow the Band"; Waltz (new) "Life" (old) "Blue Danube Medley"; Paul Jones—"Popular Airs"; Fox-trot—"On the Spot"; One-Step—"Blaze Away"; Waltz (new)—"You're My Heart's Delight"; (old)—"Irish Medley"; Fox-trot—"I like a girl like that"; Fox-trot (slow)—"Fiesta"; Fox-trot—"Roll on Mississippi"; Waltz—"When the Moon comes over the Mountain"; Paul Jones—"Tit-Bits"; Fox-trot—"Tap Your Feet"; One-Step—"I'm Happy When I'm Hiking"; Waltz—"When its Nighttime in Nevada"; Fox-trot—"Cheerful Little Earl"; Fox-trot—"River Slay Away from my door" (a most appropriate tune at the moment); Fox-trot—"Oh Glory"; Waltz—"I'm Alone Because I Love You"; Finale—"Old Favourites."

THE "SWEEP" RACE.

The Manchester November Handicap, on which hangs the fate of the Ticket-holders in the Big Sweep will be run on Saturday, and on its result depends who will win the big prizes of £30,000, £15,000 and £10,000. There are 46 horses in the race so there will be no lack of competition. A ticket for Lemonition is held by Mr Drohan, and his friends in Lismore, and we hope the son of Lemonora will be home first and so bring a fortune to our County.

DUNGARVAN H. & FOOTBALL CLUB.

The Committee of above wish to thank all who contributed on Sunday last. Also to Messrs. D. Cooney, M. J. Keane, P. O'Rourke, T. Boyle, J. Butler, and E. Kiely, who assisted with Club members to take subscriptions. Total received £29 5s. 6d. of which £16 9s. 6d. was subscribed by private people (Drapers and Butchers included) and in many cases where it could not be afforded and who benefit in no way by matches played here. All other shops subscribed £12 15s. The list will remain open until 15th Dec., and full list of subscribers will appear in "Observer" of Dec., 12th. It is hoped the amount will be considerably increased and enable the Club to bring all the matches possible to Dungarvan.—S. Hayes, Hon. Sec.

DEATH OF MR. RICHARD FITZGERALD, UPPER PILTOWN, YOUGHAL.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Richard Fitzgerald, which occurred at his residence Upper Piltown, on Sunday. The deceased was a splendid type of a true sound Irishman and was a general favourite with everyone. His son, Mr. James Fitzgerald, was one of the best and bravest Volunteers in the County in the Black and Tan days. The funeral to Piltown chapel yard on Wednesday, was largely attended.—R.I.P.

LUCKY PRIZE WINNER.

Congratulations to Mr. Aidan Walsh, Mill Street, and his three children, Carmen, Norman and James, on drawing in the sweep £100 cash prize.

G.A.A.

Next Sunday at Boola, Tournaneena and Ballyduff Upper, will have a hurling football game.

HURLING AT LISMORE.

On Sunday next at Lismore, Erin's Own (Waterford) will play Tallow in aid of the Fitzgerald Fund, at 2.30 p.m. This should be a real tit-bit.

RUGBY.

At Cappoquin last Sunday, there was a very lively Rugby match between a Kome team and Fethard. The latter won by a goal and a try to nil.

"Why I Became a Catholic"

LECTURE IN DUNGARVAN.

The Town Hall, Dungarvan, was thronged in all parts on Tuesday evening last, when a Lecture entitled "Why I became a Catholic?" was delivered by Rev. Owen F. Dudley, the well-known author, under the auspices of the Catholic Lecture Association.

The Chair was occupied by Mr. John Butler, Chairman Urban Council. On the platform were:—Very Rev. T. O'Brien, P.P., V.F.; Rev. J. Gleeson, P.P., Aglish; Rev. M. P. Hearne, C.C.; Rev. P. J. McGrath, C.C.; Rev. J. Hart, C.C.; Rev. P. Donegan, O.S.A.; Rev. J. Byrne, O.S.A.; Rev. M. Power, C.C., Abbeyside.

Introducing the Rev. Lecturer, the Chairman referred to the distinction he had won all over the Country, and he was sure they would give him a splendid hearing, as he detailed for them the reasons which induced him to become a Catholic.

Father Dudley, who was received with very hearty applause, dealt with his subject in a masterly manner. He went through the various reasons for his change of faith. He had been ordained a clergyman of the Church of England, but he saw there was no infallibility in the Church. Any person could interpret the scriptures, and the inspired teachings as he pleased, but in the Catholic Church he saw infallibility, and he was so impressed with the sanctity of his countenance, that he decided to inquire into the Catholic religion and following his inquiries, he was received in the Catholic Church and now was engaged in Catholic Missionary work. At the close of his instructive and eloquent lecture, there was tremendous applause.

Mr. James Daly, proposed a vote of thanks to the distinguished lecturer. He explained how the lecture was given under the auspices of the Association, and he hoped this lecture would be followed by others. He referred to the lecture as a brilliant one and he was sure they were all impressed by the manner in which the Rev. Lecturer had discovered the truths of the Catholic Church. He quoted from an Encyclical of Pope Pius XI, and he felt that the people would welcome the other lectures that were to come. (Loud Applause).

Mr. E. Keohan, seconded the vote of thanks. He said it was most appropriate that this brilliant lecture should be given in this essentially Catholic town of Dungarvan, where the people had embraced the faith from the dawn of Christianity in their land, and who despite of every vicissitude had clung to it, until to-day it flourished as vigorous as ever, and as he might say to it that like Tennyson to his Brook, "Men may come, and men may go, but I go on for ever."

In putting the vote of thanks, the Chairman expressed his delight at seeing the crowded audience before him and with loud plaudits, they expressed their thanks to the Rev. Lecturer.

The Revd. Lecturer, expressed his high appreciation of all the good things which had been said of him. He was very grateful to the people of Dungarvan. He was delighted to come amongst them, and he hoped that at some future time, he would have the pleasure of saying to them: "We have met again. (Loud applause)."

Chairman Withdraws Resignation. The following letter was read:— Heathfield, Youghal, 18/11/31.

Dear Mr. Walsh,—I desire to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 7th inst., in which my colleagues unanimously request me to reconsider my decision to resign membership of the Council. Having given the matter my very deep consideration and in view of the fact that it is their unanimous desire that I should not resign, I have pleasure in informing you that I have withdrawn my resignation, but would like to emphasize that at least during the winter months, I will be unable to give the Council the attention that I would like to. Please convey to my colleagues my very sincere thanks for the sentiments they expressed towards me in their letter and requesting me to reconsider my decision. Yours sincerely,

J. R. SMYTH.

The Town Clerk, Youghal. Mr. Harrington—We are glad of that. (hear hear).

A Brave Civic Guard.

The following letter was read:— Oifig an Choinisicara, Baile Atha Cliath, 16/11/31.

M. H. Walsh, Esq., Town Clerk.

A Chara,—I have your letter of the 14th inst., in reference to the action of Guard Downes in rescuing Mrs. Young, who was in danger of being swept out to sea, on the 8th inst., and I desire to thank you, and through you, the members of your Council, for bringing the matter to my notice. It is gratifying to know that the Guard acted in such a plucky manner, and I may add that the tribute paid to him by your Council is much appreciated.

I also notice that you have referred the case to the Royal Humane Society for recognition.—Yours sincerely, EION O'DUFFY, Coimisinéir.

Technical Students' Union.

An application was received from the Hon. Sec., Technical Students' Union, applying for the use of the Town Hall on Dec., 1st., to hold a Whist Drive.

The application was granted.

G.A.A. Dance.

The Hon. Sec., G.A.A., wrote applying for the Ball Room, on 29th. Nov., to hold a Cinderella dance. The application was granted.

Dangerous Electric Wires.

A letter was read from Mr. M. Bennett, Grattan St., stating that he couldn't lower the stones at Brown St., which had been pronounced dangerous by the Town Surveyor owing to the nearness of the electric supply wires.

The Chairman said it would be very dangerous to go on with the work in the circumstances.

On the proposition of Mr. Beausang seconded by Mr. Murphy, the Clerk was directed to communicate with the Electricity Supply Board on the matter.

Gravel On Strand Road.

A protracted discussion took place on the question of the gravel thrown up by the tide on the Strand, during the recent storms.

It was unanimously decided to invite tenders for the stuff inside the Railway premises.

A letter was read from the Co. Surveyor stating that he was sending the Chief Assistant Surveyor, Mr. O'Donnell, to visit the scene with Mr. D. Flynn, Deputy Surveyor, for the purpose of suggesting what was best to be done. No time would be lost in dealing with it.

Mrs. Hurley said the Strand residents were suffering very serious inconvenience from the gravel. The pathway which had been cleared was filled up again and she insisted that immediate action should be taken to remove the gravel.

Mr. Dennehy strongly supported Mrs. Hurley's complaint.

Ultimately the Clerk was again directed to communicate with the Co. Council authorities.

Relief Grant.

Mrs. Hurley suggested that they should apply for a grant from the Government for the relief of unemployment.

Mr. McMahon pointed out that the President said at Waterford that there was no money available for relief work.

Mrs. Hurley's suggestion was adopted.

Late Father Scannell.

Mr. Whelan referred to the sad and untimely demise of their old friend Fr. Scannell, who had laboured so zealously in their midst for many years during which he had won the hearts of everybody. He proposed that they extend their sympathy to his Lordship, the Bishop, and to Father Scannell's relatives.

Mr. O'Gorman, seconding, said that Fr. Scannell had ministered in Youghal for some 10 years and the longer he was with them, the more they learned to love him. Apart from his other good qualities, he had made a lasting impression on the people of Youghal by his brilliant sermons and lectures and engaging character. In return Fr. Dan showed his affection for the old town by visiting it almost every week since his removal to Mitchellstown. As he had said, himself, his heart was with Youghal. In his last sphere he had also endeared himself to his people there just as was to be expected. It was hard to realise that his loving life and personality was gone.

Mr. Dennehy associated himself with the proposition. In his early ministry Father Scannell was on the Mission with a member of his family and he had proved himself a kind and valuable friend.

Mrs. Hurley endorsed all that had been said. She had met him frequently and a more noble or whole-hearted gentleman it would be impossible to find. He was with them in life; let them not forget him in death.

The Chairman said it was with very sincere sympathy that he endorsed the remarks of the various speakers regarding the late Father Scannell. Undoubtedly his death was a great loss to Mitchellstown and to the diocese of Cloyne.

The Clerk on behalf of the officials and himself asked to be associated with the proposition.

The proposition was then adopted.

Work On Strand. Arising out of the report of the Town Supt., on the work on the Strand.

Mr. Dennehy said that Mr. Troy's men worked splendidly in repairing the sluice.

Mr. McMahon—Yes, because Mrs. Hurley and you were watching them (laughter).

Mr. Dennehy said that was not so. Mr. McMahon—Ta go breagh! If they were working round the back roads some of them would take a half hour to fill up their pipes and light them, (laughter).

Mrs. Hurley said that even Mr. Troy himself helped in the work. It was really wonderful how they finished it.

Mr. Dennehy—And up to their necks in water.

Rate Collection.

A letter was read from the L.G.D., complaining of the backward state of the rate collection.

The Clerk said he had replied to the letter reminding the Department of the condition of things in the town and country.

Mr. McMahon said if they had jobs like Deputy Mulcahy, and the others it would be easy for them to pay their rates (laughter).

Mrs. Hurley—He worked for his country and earned it.

Mr. McMahon—He was well paid for it.

Mrs. Hurley—Why didn't you do the same? You had the same chance.

Mr. McMahon said they all did their bit in their own way.

Grassland in Autumn.

CULTIVATING, MANURING, AND LIMING.

At this time of the year when the active grazing season is almost at an end, and most of the farm live stock are safely housed, an opportunity is at hand during dry spells until the end of December to set about the annual manuring, liming, and perhaps also mechanical improvement of grass land. The following notes are written on the subject, in the hope that they may be of some slight assistance in clearing up any doubts and difficulties which might be confronting some of those farmers who are anxious to secure the maximum production from their pastures, with due regard to economy, by correct treatment at the close of the grazing season.

The principal means by which improvement might be effected are (1) mechanical treatment, (2) manuring, (3) liming. To a certain extent also beneficial effects follow systematic grazing, but this aspect will not be discussed in the present article.

MECHANICAL TREATMENT.

During recent years increasing attention is being paid to the possibilities of mechanical cultivation as a means of grass land improvement. Many experiments, both large and small, have been carried out, and some very promising results have accrued from the tests. Mechanical treatment benefits pasture land by aerating the soil and allowing free passage of water to the roots underneath. In the case of some grassland areas the roots of the grasses lie undisturbed for many years in an uncultivated condition. These roots remain undecayed, and soon lead to the formation of surface mats, sometimes several inches deep, and sometimes in the form of a "skin" on the surface. Such a covering prevents the entry of rain or dew in summer, with the result that little growth takes place. In winter a mat becomes water-logged, and often may show up in dead patches after frosts. A matted pasture is in need of lime, as the dead vegetable matter gives rise to large quantities of acid which reaches down into the soil, the living roots present in the mat also excrete acid.

The first step in autumn pasture cultivation is to remove all coarse tufts and unclean patches with the mower. When cultivating is to be an annual practice it need not be so drastic as would be necessary in dealing with the badly matted areas. At the same time a great mistake made by some is the fear of being too severe in the treatment. The work must be done thoroughly, and the mat should be lacerated and torn out completely. Our valuable grasses and clovers possess the power of recovering quickly from drastic treatment and avail of the opportunity given by the displacement of the harmful mat to spread out in a fine rich vegetable carpet. A suitable implement on the average farm for pasture treatment is a heavy spring tooth harrow with the tines sharpened for the purpose, and weighed down to increase its penetration. The work is best done when the ground is wet and if carried out early the necessity for rolling will be obviated as winter's rains will have the same effect.

MANURING.

Of the various manures there is, of course, nothing to compare with good quality dung, and where it is plentiful a top-dressing should be applied to pastures at this time of year. Sea-weed, where available, is also excellent for the purpose. Unfortunately, however, neither of these excellent substances is sufficiently plentiful on the majority of farms to dress as much land each autumn as one would wish to, and accordingly reliance has to be placed on artificials to supply the required plant foods, nitrogen, phosphates, and potash.

A deficiency of phosphates is often characterised by the presence of starved clover plants, sedges, plainland fescues, and other useless plants. Perhaps it is not sometimes realised that the production of 800 gallons of milk by a cow represents the removal of phosphates equivalent to that contained in 1 cwt. of 35 per cent. super, the equivalent of almost 2 cwt. of sulphate of ammonia, and of about 7 cwt. of 14 per cent. kainit. Similarly, one bullock reared and fed to 9 cwt. or the grazing of 12 sheep will remove roughly, 1 cwt. of superphosphate, and nitrogen equal to that contained in 1 cwt. of sulphate of ammonia. If this rate of production is to be maintained from year to year there must be a replacement, and judicious expenditure on phosphatic fertilisers is therefore warranted and essential.

The principal sources of phosphates at the present day are superphosphate and the raw rock phosphates, basic slag, and bone manures.

The raw rock phosphates and the mixture containing equal parts of superphosphate and ground mineral phosphate which is sold under the trade name of "Sensol," deserve considerable attention as they are less costly than the chemically prepared super, and have given very good results in experiments conducted on a variety of soils by the Department. They are not so quick acting as super, but when applied in early winter they will show results next year, and will continue to act for several seasons. A fair dressing of mineral phosphates, such as Gafsa, would be 4 to 6 cwt. per statute acre. If potash in the form of kainit or potash salts 30 per cent. is to be applied, it may be mixed with the phosphate and spread together. About 2 cwt. of 20 per cent. kainit is a fair dressing; where basic slag is to be used it should be purchased on a guaranteed analysis and applied at 5 to 6 cwt. per acre.

THE APPLICATION OF LIME.

Lime is not a manure, but it works wonders in the soil by killing the germs of disease, correcting sourness, promoting the decay of vegetable matter, and in rendering more available plant food some of the stored up reserves, especially potash compounds. Lime also binds the particles of the soil together, thus improving the texture, and tending to make the land drier and warmer. By examining vegetation one could generally tell whether lime is deficient in a pasture. Some weeds, including purple top, corn marigold, corn pansy, and others indicate acid conditions; while the presence of Yorkshire fog, sheep fescue, sweet vernal grass, gorse, heather, ling bracken, all favour lime deficient soils. An absence of wild white clover and stunted clovers are also good indications of a pasture poor in lime.

Lime may be applied to grass land from the present time to the end of the year, and given suitable conditions, it should show improvement during the coming season. For proper application with little labour there is no form to equal ground lime or ground limestone. For best results it must be applied evenly and in a powdery condition. Generally speaking, better results will be obtained by applying in small doses of, say, 10 cwt. every second year than in larger quantities at less frequent intervals. Where lump lime is applied every care must be taken to ensure the right degree of slacking. This form of lime is often treated by heaping in the field in small heaps covered with earth, and spread evenly with a shovel as it falls to a powder—"MAC." in "Farmers' Gazette."

WEDDING AT YOUGHAL.

A marriage of considerable local interest took place at St. Mary's Collegiate Church, Youghal, when Col. H. S. Roch, C.M.G., C.B.E., D.S.O., late R.A.M.C., (retired youngest son of the late Deputy Surgeon-General and Mrs. Roch, of Woodbine Hill, Youghal, was married to Emily Helena, youngest daughter of Rev. Alexander Crone, for many years Rector of Templemichael), and Mrs. Crone, Carleton Place, Youghal. The Rev. V. W. Darling, M.A., Rector, officiated. Miss Phoebe Livingstone, Mus.B. A.R.C.O., presided at the organ. The bride was given away by her father, and attended by her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Fuge. She wore a travelling dress of fawn marocain, with chocolate brown trimming, with coat and hat to match, and carried a bouquet of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and myrtle, tied with ribbon in R.A.M.C. colours. Mr. E. Penrose, Lismore Castle, acted as best man. A guard of honour was formed at the church door by ex-service men and members of the lifeboat crew, in both of which institutions the bride and bridegroom are greatly interested. A novel note was introduced into the service by the playing of suitable selections from Sullivan's operas "Iolanthe" and "The Gondoliers," instead of the usual wedding marches. The church was tastefully decorated with autumn flowers by friends of the bride. At the conclusion of the service, Colonel and Mrs. Roch drove from the church to Cork, en route to London and the Continent, where they will spend the honeymoon.

REPORT OF GRAIN INQUIRY TRIBUNAL.

Report of Grain Inquiry Tribunal.

The report of the Grain Inquiry Tribunal appointed by the Executive Council to consider a proposal that maize meal and maize products for sale in the Saorstát should contain a definite proportion of home-grown grain has now been issued.

The proposal was formulated by the Irish Grain-Growers' Association, who considered that it would be to the good of the country if it were enforced by law that all milled products of maize should be mixed with one or more home-grown cereals, and that the mixture should contain 85 per cent. of maize and 15 per cent. of home-grown grain.

All the witnesses in favour of the proposal dwell on the unfavourable living conditions that obtain in many agricultural districts, and attributed these to the continual shrinkage of lands bearing cereal crops. They emphasised the fact that the lack of employment had the dual effect of putting a heavy burden on other members of the community and pointed out that while the prices prevailing made it uneconomic for farmers to continue to grow grain, many of these would not have been able to revert to live stock breeding and thus use their surplus oats as fodder, since they had neither the money for the purchase of the live stock, nor suitable land on which to graze them. Many farmers at present, it was said, were compelled to market their crop as soon as it was in order to meet their trade obligations, and of late some of them had found it impossible to do even this.

If the Association's proposal was adopted they maintained that a positive demand for a specific quantity of home-grown grain would be created causing market prices to rise, and thus securing to the farmer an adequate return for his labour and his outlay; benefits would accrue to existing country grist mills, and there would be an increase in employment, the benefit of which would extend far outside the farming world, and the purchasing powers of the farmers would increase to the extent of some £400,000 now spent abroad in the purchase of maize.

The witnesses opposed to the proposal contended that the mixed meal could not be produced at the price of ordinary maize meal, and they opposed the imposition of any additional burden on feeders to meet the competition of their foreign rivals. Most of the farmers who fed live stock preferred to select for themselves the feeding stuffs they would use and to fix the proportions in which they would feed home grown and foreign grown grain to their beasts. The adoption of a compulsory plan would mean that they had to sell their grain to millers and then buy it back at a higher price in the form of a mixture.

THE TRIBUNAL'S DECISION.

The Tribunal decided that the real impetus behind the demands for the adoption of the grain admixture proposal originated in the barley growing districts on account of the decline of the demand for barley on the part of the breweries and distillers, and that oat growers, constituting as they do the vast majority of grain growers in the country had made no serious demand for the adoption of the proposals. They considered that it would be impossible to administer such a law if they were to keep in mind the interests of the consumer, and at the same time avoid placing a heavy burden on the national finances that would be disproportionate to the accruing benefits. They were satisfied that in admixture of 85 per cent. maize and 15 per cent. home-grown grain could not be produced at the existing price of pure maize meal. They calculated that if the proposed law had been in operation from 1926 until 1930 the growers would have received £258,000 extra for their grain, but the consumers would have lost more than £380,000.

The Tribunal was satisfied that it would not be in the interests of the country to endorse the proposals of the Grain Growers' Association, and consequently should not be adopted.

The Tribunal was composed of Mr. J. J. McElligott, Secretary of the Department of Finance; Professor J. B. Whelehan, Controller of the Stationery Office, and Dr. J. H. Hinchcliff, Agricultural Director of the Department of Agriculture.

DEATH OF VERY REV. P. F. FITZGERALD, P.P., CLOGHEEN.

We deeply regret to announce the death of Rev. P. F. Fitzgerald, P.P., Clogheen, which occurred on Saturday last, after a brief illness.

The deceased belonged to one of the oldest Carrick families, the Fitzgeralds of Tybroughney Castle, and had been parish priest of Clogheen for about ten years, when he succeeded Rev. Father O'Donnell on the latter's transfer to Cahir.

He was educated at St. John's College, Waterford, Father Fitzgerald was Administrator at St. John's for some years, after which he went as parish priest to Ballyduff Upper, Co. Waterford, and thence to Clogheen.

Of a kindly and most charitable disposition, Father Fitzgerald was a typical representative of the Irish sagari. He was ever zealous in seeing after the spiritual and temporal welfare of his flock, and during his pastoral charge of Clogheen he effected many notable improvements in the local church. He evinced a keen interest in Irish Educational affairs, and was a valued member of the South Tipperary Vocational Educational Committee. His loss will be mourned not only by the people of Clogheen, but by all whom he came in contact.

Requiem Mass was offered up at Clogheen at 41 a.m. on Monday for the repose of his soul, and the funeral took place, subsequently to the Parish Churchyard, Clogheen.

His Lordship, Most Rev. Dr. Hackett, presided at the High Mass, the celebrant of which was Very Rev. Canon D. Walsh, P.P., Clonmel. There was a big attendance of Clergy.

Tallow District Court.

(Before Mr. T. G. O'Sullivan).

Larceny Of Pipes.

Thomas Dunne, Boola, farmer, was charged with the larceny of a number of concrete pipes, value 30/- the property of the Waterford Co. Council.

Inspector Harte, for the prosecution and Mr. Wm. R. Hodnett, solr., for the defendant.

It appeared that the pipes disappeared between October 29th., and November 2nd., and were discovered by Sergt. Quirke, Tallow, on the 16th inst.

A letter was read from Mr. Hodnett, who was unable to attend, applying for an adjournment and, the Inspector not objecting, accused was remanded to the next court, on continuing bail.

Water In Butter.

Guard Reilly, Ballynoe, charged Robt. England, Booladurragh, Ballynoe, with exposing butter for sale, containing 9.5 per cent. excess of water.

Complainant gave evidence, and handed in the certificate of analysis, showing the above excess of water.

Defendant said the weather was very cold and they had to heat the cream to do the churning. That was the only way he could account for the excess of water. He was always most particular about his butter.

Replying to the Court, the Guard said, there were no previous convictions against defendant.

The Justice said, that in Clare about the same period, the Inspector said that the majority of the samples he took was well within the legal limit. He therefore, could not see, why they with their good County Waterford land, could not have better butter.

Defendant said he couldn't understand it. He was always most careful with the butter.

Replying to the Court, complainant said the expenses incurred amounted to 17/2.

Defendant was fined 10/- and 17/6 expenses.

No Light.

Sergt. Quirke, Tallow, charged Cornelius Curley, with cycling without a light.

Replying to the Court, the Sergt. said the defendant was a labourer—a poor man.

He was fined 1/-.

Land Commission v. Hurley.

This was an application for a Committal Order against John Hurley, Mogeely, Upper, Curriglass, on foot of a decree for arrears of annuities.

The application was adjourned to next Court.

Wife Desertion.

Jeremiah Power, Dunmoon, labourer, was charged with the desertion of his wife and child.

Inspector Ryan, prosecuting, said that the defendant had resided with his wife and child near Fermoy up to the 10th August. On that day he disappeared, leaving his wife and child destitute and giving no information as to where he intended going. Mrs. Power had to look to her father and the Poor Law Relief for the maintenance of herself and her child. He was subsequently located by the Civic Guards and arrested by Sergt. Quirke. Since then the wife showed a disinclination to prosecute and was anxious to have a settlement arranged.

Mrs. Norah Power, sworn, said she was the wife of the defendant in the case. She resided with him at Castlelyons, near Fermoy up to the 10th August, when he left her and her child. He had been working previously at Kent's, Bawnard, where he earned 11/- weekly, out of which he used give her 7/- or 8/-. She had heard nothing from him up to a few weeks ago, when he wrote telling where he was. He hadn't given her anything since he left and she had to depend on her father and 4/- weekly relief to support herself and child.

Replying to the Court, witness said that her husband was found working at Murray's where he earned 9/- weekly out of which he gave her 5/-. She was living with her father near Ballynoe.

The Justice—What can he afford to give you?—I don't know, but he is giving me that.

Are you satisfied with it?—Yes.

Are you living with him?—No, sir, my people wouldn't take him in.

Witness further said that they had come to a settlement. She agreed to take 5/- a week, until such time as they got a house.

The Justice said he was satisfied that the charge was proved, but he would discharge the defendant under the Probation of Offenders Act, on condition that he paid his wife 5/- weekly at least and entered into a bond of £5 to be of good behaviour. If he failed to keep it, he would be liable to six months in jail on the present charge.

DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

Mr. J. Butler, chairman, presided at the weekly meeting of the above, held on Friday last. The other members present were—Messrs. T. McCarthy, M. Clancy, Jas. Hackett, W. O'Donnell, T. Power, M. J. Keane, J. F. Moloney, C. Lawn, Mce. Griffin, and Jas. McEvoy.

Quay St., or Abbeyside.
The Chairman remarked that he had a conversation with Mr. Bowen, Co. Surveyor, and he informed him that there will be very little money left, but that there may be as much as will do one of the two streets mentioned at the last meeting, viz., Quay street or Park Terrace, and the Co. Surveyor would like to get instructions from the Council in the morning as to which street they propose doing. He (Chairman), told Mr. Bowen that the Council were of opinion that Quay street should be done first, but that he should bring the matter before them again.

Mr. McCarthy—All the members were in favour of that.
Mr. O'Donnell—In view of the fact that the Co. Surveyor recommended concrete for Quay street, I think that the job in Park Terrace should be done first and put Quay street into good repair pending being in a position to concrete it.

Mr. Clancy agreed with Mr. O'Donnell and suggested if small repairs could be done that they could be done at next spring.

Chairman—I am afraid that would not be possible.
Mr. McCarthy—There is no traffic at Park Terrace. The unfortunate people in Quay street can not put up a bit of whitewash, but it is all splash'd with lories and carts, the street is so narrow.

Mr. Keane—Are you going to leave Park Terrace in the condition it is in now?

Chairman—The Co. Surveyor ask you to decide which street will be done.

Mr. Lawn—Quay street is more urgent, you have a footpath in Park Terrace.

Mr. Clancy agreed with the remarks about the condition of Quay street, but said he would prefer to see it done in concrete.

Mr. Lawn—If we spread the money over the two, we won't have a good job on any of them.

Mr. Power—Any hope of getting that money expended in going further down towards Abbeyside chapel. That was the first proposal if any money was available.

Mr. Keane—Can the B.S., give us any idea of what it would cost to concrete Quay street?

B.S.—I don't know the length of it at the moment.

Mr. Griffin—I got an undertaking from the chairman, that if any money was left over, it would be spent on Abbeyside Chapel Road.

Chairman—There is not as much money as would do this stretch of road, and anyway in the opinion of two Engineers, it would not be good business, as water mains etc required to be taken up.

Mr. Griffin again mentioned the undertaking given by the Council and the efforts made by the Parish Priest to beautify the Church and surroundings and said the pot holes in the road were now boiler holes. He proposed that the money be expended on the doing of that road.

Mr. Power, seconded.
Mr. McCarthy, proposed Quay St., Mr. Hackett, seconded.

A further proposal to do Park Terrace and repair Quay St., was also seconded.

A vote was taken on the three, and the result was as follows: For Quay street—Messrs. McCarthy, Clancy Hackett, Moloney, Lawn and Clerk (6).

For Abbeyside—Messrs. McEvoy, Power and Griffin, (3).
For Park Terrace—Messrs. Keane, and O'Donnell, (2).

When the result was announced Mr. Griffin jumped up and leaving the room shouted—"It is the greatest piece of underhand work, I ever heard of. I would not sit on a Board that would do such a thing, because they are not worth sitting with."

Payments.
A cheque for £20 15s. 8d. on the General A/c. was passed.
Mr. Moloney—Are we going to continue spending on that basis?
B.S.—Oh no. We are finished tonight.

Mr. Moloney suggested getting the balance of the scarified stuff spread on the Lookout and other streets requiring attention.

Mr. Moloney's suggestion was approved of.

Flooding At Patrick St.
Mr. Keane referred to the flooding taking place opposite the top house in Patrick street and said that the trunking done did not improve the place, the nuisance was still there.
The B.S., promised to attend to it.

Dressing Rooms For Hall.
The B.S., reported that the probable cost of erecting two dressing rooms, one on either side of the stage in the Town Hall was £10.

Mr. Keane—It is work that is necessary.

Mr. Clancy—Have we the money, Mr. Clerk?

Clerk—No. That is a bad account presently.

Mr. McCarthy—But the Hall is paying for itself.

Chairman—All the members agree it is necessary, but I suggest we adjourn it to next Friday's finance meeting. This was approved.

Home Rule St. Sewer.
The B.S., also reported that he got the above sewer opened at certain points and found it blocked.

In reply to a member, he said it could hardly be called a sewer, it was only a drain.

Mr. Power—it could not be very effective as it zig-zag's at the back of all the houses.

The matter was adjourned for further information.

Petrol Pump.
Mr. Mce. Crawley, appeared before the meeting and asked the Councils permission to erect a platform for a petrol pump on the Council's property between his garage and the Bridge.

The Council had already given permission to erect the pump on the road. A member asked if they granted the application could the owner evade the tax.

The Chairman said he did not think so, and that he understood it was owing to some understanding between petrol companies that the application was made.

Mr. Keane referred to the fact that the Council derived no benefit from the tax, even when the pumps were erected on roads under the control of the Council.

Clerk—You have to collect the tax and hand it over to the Co. Council.

Chairman—That is the law on the matter.

The matter was finally adjourned for further information on the question of why the pump would not be erected on the roadway, and the Clerk was directed to interview the County Council Secretary on the question of tax on pumps erected on Urban Council roads.

A Concert.

Mr. S. Hayes, wrote asking for the use of the Hall on December 2nd., for the purpose of holding a concert in aid of the Dungarvan Hurling and Football Clubs.

The application was granted.

Sanitary Officer's Report.

The S.S.O., reported, that Mr. Williams, soil., accepted service on behalf of the owner to provide drains in the six houses at King's Street, Abbeyside. About 10 feet of the wall enclosing Mrs. Morrissey's land at Shears street, Abbeyside, has fallen into the street. He recommended notice to be given to Mrs. Morrissey to clear the street and have the wall rebuilt.

The report was approved.

St. Monica's Terrace.
A letter signed by Patrick O'Connor, Thomas Brett, and Michael Dunne, asking the Council for the long promised and delayed sanitary connections to their houses.

The matter was adjourned to next Friday's Finance meeting.

Expenditure of Road Grant.
A report was read from Mr. Bowen Co. Surveyor, showing the expenditure on the above grant up to Saturday Nov., 14th. Amount of grant and loan £1,800. Amount already certified £767 0s. 8d. Expended in kerbing Sarsfield street, £21 18s. 0d.; Co. Surveyor's fees £45; Total expended £1,119 3s. 10d. Balance £680 16s. 2d.

The report was approved.

Increased Charges for Electricity.
After a short discussion on the above matter. The following resolutions were proposed by Mr. Moloney, seconded by Mr. Keane, and passed unanimously. "That we the members of the Dungarvan Urban District Council, on behalf of the Electricity consumers of this town, protest in the strongest terms against the unwarranted increase proposed on electricity charges in this area, without justifying the necessity for same and in the absence of a statement of accounts."

Acknowledgments.
A letter acknowledging the Council's resolution of sympathy on the death of her husband was read from Mrs. Margaret Slattery, Emmet St.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

MUSICAL MEMS.

The appearance of the local Brass and Reed Band at the C.Y.M.S. Concert on Sunday week, gave much satisfaction to all music-lovers in the town and district, as the Band had been defunct for a long time and few had any hope of again hearing it perform in public.

Now that it has been revived to such an extent, we trust the process of resuscitation will be continued until it has advanced far beyond the convalescent stage, for it would not be creditable to the townspeople to allow such a fine band to completely collapse, in view of the high place which Cappoquin had always occupied in musical matters.

There appears to be little ground for this fear at present, as we are informed that a number of the rising generation, or the young boys of musical talent in the town, are shortly to be formed into a Juvenile Band, so that there should be plenty of material available to fill any gaps which might be caused in the Senior Band at any time in the future.

We have also learned with great pleasure, that steps are about being taken to form an up-to-date Orchestra for Cappoquin, and why this has not been done long before now passes our comprehension.

Few towns of the size and population of Cappoquin can boast of so many talented individual musicians as we have in our midst for a long time. We have pianists of rare accomplishments, violinists of both sexes who are talented enough to appear before any musical assembly, while the number of first-class players on the cornet, clarionette, mandoline and other instruments are quite sufficient to provide two or three Orchestras.

It is amazing the amount of money that goes out of the town year after year in paying for the services of outside orchestras for dances and other social functions here, and it is high time that an effort should be made to keep this money at home by organising the latent talent available here and forming a first-class orchestra of our own on a very early date.

OTHER PROJECTS IN VIEW.

Amongst the other commendable objects in view here is the formation of a Dramatic Class for the study of Shakespearean drama, which is about to be undertaken by a popular young gentleman in the town, who is himself a cultured and enthusiastic student of Shakespeare.

We are also to have an Athletic Club started very soon, and other projects are only yet in the embryo stage, so in view of this activity all round nobody need now shout out—"Wake up, Cappoquin."

THE POINT-TO-POINT RACES.

The Point-to-Point Races to be held here on Thursday, Feb., 18th are already receiving the warmest support from all the leading sportsmen in Munster, although the fixture is still three months off. The splendid course at Knockaun was marked off recently by Mr. P. Walsh, Hon. Sec., and other members of the Committee who were accompanied by several of the most prominent horse-owners and racing men in West Waterford and East Cork.

The latter were delighted at the splendid and safe hunting country placed at the disposal of the committee by the generous and sporting land-owners in the locality and have promised large entries of horses for the various races on the programme. Several valuable Cups have also been guaranteed as prizes, in addition to the valuable Stake money to be offered, the latest sportsman to offer a valuable Cup being Lord Charles Cavendish son of the Duke of Devonshire, who is at present in residence in Lismore Castle, and who has provided himself in many respects to be an 18-caree Sportsman.

A full list of the generous donors of Cups and other prizes will appear later, but in the meantime the public are requested to make a special note of Thursday, February, 18th 1932, as being the date for a record Point-to-Point meeting in Cappoquin.
