DUNGARVAN DISTRICT COURT.

TENANCY OF A RING COTTAGE: Held on Wednesday, before Mr. Farrell, D.J.

School Attendance Cases. Guard Regan, Schol Attendance Officer, had a large number of summonses against parents for the non-attendance of their children at school.

Ball Playing On Street. The adjourned case by Guard Giblin against three youngsters from Thompson's Lane, for playing ball in the street was withdrawn, as they did not since offend.

No Number Plate Or Light. Guard Jackson, Cappagh, prosecuted Patk. Foley, Ballinamult, on four counts in connection with the driving of a motor car without lights and number plate on February 10th last.

No Lights. Guard Sheehan, prosecuted Patk. O'Keefe, Knockgarron, for cycling without a light, complainant said defendant had an electric torch which he lit when stopped.

Defendant said that it was a very bright night with the moon showing as much light as a lamp would. He lit the lamp he had when challenged.

A fine of 1/- was imposed. The same complainant charged Ml. O'Donnell, and B. Nagle, Mary Street, Dungarvan, with a like offence, and fines of 2/- and 4/- respectively were imposed.

Possession Of Cottage. The Waterford County Board of Public Health sought an ejectment order against John Hayes, Ballinagoul, Ring, in respect of a labourers cottage occupied by defendant.

Mr. O'Gorman, solr., represented the Board of Health; Mr. A. R. Farrell, solr., defended.

Mr. Farrell solr., said his defence was that under Section 86 of the Landlord and Tenant Act of 1890, the Court could refuse possession if the tenant showed that there was "reasonable cause" for so doing, and submitted that as this man was a tenant for 19 years and had paid rent and rates up to date and had not violated any of the terms of the tenancy, the Court could do so in this case.

Mr. Ml. Dee, Cottage Rent Collector, under the Board, deposed to serving notice to quit on defendant and demanding possession on the 8th December. Hayes refused to give up possession. There also resided in the cottage with Hayes, a woman named Peggy Veale, and a man named Bluet. Witness could not swear if the tenant was sleeping in the house.

By Mr. Farrell—He believed Peggy Veale is lodging in the house and paying Hayes 1/- a week. He could not say about Bluet. Hayes is tenant of the cottage while witness is a collector and he is a very good tenant. Witness was ordered by the Board to get possession. Hayes is a single man, and there are other single men in possession of cottages in that area.

Mr. Ml. Curran, deposed he was a member of the Board of Health for that area and was fairly conversant with all the cottages in the area. He knew that Hayes had lodgers in the cottage as one Mrs. McCarthy had a wife at the last election. Bluet also lived there. Hayes was living with his mother and they have a house nearly built under the Gaeltacht Scheme.

To Mr. Farrell—He could not say if this man was getting the house under the Gaeltacht Scheme. Witness knew Bluet was living in the cottage. Hayes is tenant for a long period and a good tenant, but the Board of Health found that it is a terrible hardship to see three and four families living in one house and the tenant of another house sub-letting it.

John Hayes, deposed he was in possession of the cottage for 19 years and paid the rent and rates. He is a labourer since he was 14 years of age. He lived and slept in the cottage. Margaret McCarthy also lived there for the past 3 years she had no house so witness took her in. She is about 75 years old. Witness could not live with his mother, as his mother and sister and a little girl lived in that house. The house being built under the Gaeltacht Scheme is for his mother. He had two other brothers. Mrs. McCarthy pays him 1/- a week.

To Mr. O'Gorman—Bluet never stayed in the cottage only when witness's father was dying. He never paid him anything. He had not enough for himself the poor man. Mrs. McCarthy had no house when he took her in. She was after coming out of hospital. He did not know that she sold her house, but he thought she gave it up to the landlord. His mother would not let him stay in her house. His sister and a little girl was with his mother. One of his brothers is living in Waterford, but was going to come back to his mother. He came home on and off.

To Mr. Farrell—There are two rooms in his mother's house and three people are living there. To the Justice—Witness said his brother in Waterford is working there for the past 10 years. The other brother is in New York, but is expected home. Witness worked around with neighbours. His last job was working for Willie Meehan, yesterday. He could not tell who is going to live in the Gaeltacht house, but supposed it was his mother. He thought the cottage that his mother lives in will then be knocked down. The old woman who is living with him is getting the Old Age Pension, about 10/- a week. Witness slept in the cottage for the past 19 years.

The Justice said the Board of Health were the authority under the labourers Acts and if Mr. Farrell's point which I must confess is new to me, and which is ingenious were to be accepted, I would be substituting myself for the Board. According to the section the onus is on the defendant to show reasonable cause why a decree should not be given. His point is that he cannot get other accommodation. His mother is building a house and he suggests he cannot get in there, as there are two other brothers. He thought that suggestion a bit far-fetched and gave a decree for possession.

Mr. Farrell asked for a stay on the decree.

Mr. O'Gorman agreed to a stay of one month.

The Justice granted a stay of three months, the rent and rates to be paid in the meantime by Hayes.

Cutting Hedges. John Boreford, Kildangan, was summoned by the Waterford County Council, for failing to cut hedges on his fences by the roadside.

Mr. F. Power, solr., (Messrs. Dobbins and McCoy) appeared for the County Council.

Defendant said he thought he had complied with the regulations until he got the summons. He drew Mr. Ormonde's attention to it and thought he had it done alright now.

Mr. Ormonde, C.E., gave evidence, for the Council, and said that after the notice he went over all the hedges but there were still some chumps of bushes left.

The Justice allowed 10/- costs in each case.

INTERESTING LECTURE ON IRELAND.

On Monday evening next, Mr. Dermot O'Brien, will give a Lecture on "The Historical Spots of Ireland" illustrated with lantern slides, in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, and we bespeak a large audience for so interesting a subject. Mr. O'Brien is too well-known in the literary world to need an introduction to an Irish audience, as all his life has been given in the pursuit of literary research, and its dissemination amongst the people. It is now seventeen years since Mr. O'Brien lectured in Dungarvan, when the great war was at its height and while we are sure many residents will still have recollections of his brilliant display that night, the lecturer has reason not to forget it. The R.I.C. of the time were not enamoured with his views, and a few nights afterwards, in the course of a lecture he was ordered out of the district, and having thirty miles to travel in a downpour of rain, twelve of which had to be completed on foot, as his bicycle chain broke, he contracted pleurisy and pneumonia, which left him at death's door for a considerable time. On this occasion, Mr. O'Brien's lecture will be of more than ordinary interest, as being the eve of St. Patrick's Day, he will give much of the life and scenes of our National Apostle, and Saint Declan's place in Irish history at that period. Lectures such as this are all too rare, and we are sure our readers who are all anxious to hear and learn of Irish history, and antiquities will attend and appreciate Mr. O'Brien's efforts.

DUNGARVAN BREEDERS SUCCESS

At the Cork Bull Show and Sale, Mr. John Hennessy, Killoressa, Dungarvan, exhibited two Bulls—a pure-bred Registered Dairy Bull and a non-pedigree Registered Dairy Bull. Both were awarded Premiums by the Department's Inspectors, and in addition the pure-bred Bull won 1st Prize in his class and the non-pedigree Bull was also a prize winner. At the subsequent Sale the Pure-Bred Bull was knocked down at 100 guineas and the non-pedigree registered Bull at 49 guineas. Mr. Hennessy, deserves the heartiest congratulations on the success of his efforts and we hope that further successes in the future await him in the Cattle breeding line.

G.A.A. Ban.

CO. BOARD CHAIRMAN DEPRECATES MAYORAL STATEMENT

Presiding at a draw organised to defray the expenses of the recent presentation of watches to the Waterford Junior All-Ireland Hurling Champions Mr. Wm. Walsh, Chairman County Board, G.A.A., said, when he was asked to preside at the draw he thought it would be a mere formality, but within the past week certain things had occurred which entailed his replying on behalf of the County Board to the remarks of the Mayor made at a recent function. These remarks which had given rise to much discussion, were made at a drawing of tickets to raise money for the pay of Cross-Channel professional footballers playing under the name of Waterford, and the Mayor thought it fit to drag the name of the G.A.A. into the proceedings. The Mayor informed his hearers that he was hopeful the ban on foreign games would soon be removed. Where the Mayor got his information from no one knew, but he could assure the Mayor that many more Leap Years will have passed before that ban is removed, for the ban is the very corner stone on which the power of the G.A.A. had been built; and if there had been no ban there would not have been any of the achievements of which Irishmen are so truly proud. And twenty-five years ago, at the Irish Ireland Congress at Thurles he was one of the Waterford delegates who voted in favour of the ban and he saw just as big a necessity for it to-day, when there was still an army of occupation in this country (applause).

The battle of the Gael versus the Gall still raged. In fact the position was far more dangerous inasmuch as the forces of foreign civilisation were more subtly menacing. They had that force in the "Tory" Colleges, the cinemas, and the jazz halls, and now the commercial spirit had risen to establish a new plantation in the land.

They were told by the Mayor that Soccer players or their supporters were prepared to make sacrifices if needs be for the defence of Irish freedom. He asked the Mayor to throw his mind back to the events of a dozen years ago. Where was the Rugby Union, the Soccer Association, or the Hockey Association then? It was not at Dallymount Park or Shelbourne Park or Lansdowne Road the Black and Tans looked for the rebels, and it was at Croke Park they tried to perform deeds which shocked the civilised world. They knew friend from foe, and it was an unfulfilling experience. The Tans did not run into men like the directors and players of the Waterford Soccer Club.

The G.A.A. was non-political. Its national ideals were defined by Pearse. Yet, though politicians would not admit this, it was nevertheless true, that Gaeldom worked hard against the late Government, because it was out of touch with Irish Ireland ideals. Cumann na nGaedheal lost ground everywhere except in a few centres where foreign games were strong.

Concluding, Mr. Walsh asked the Mayor to leave the G.A.A. out of any functions he will be attending in future. The G.A.A. had never failed the motherland in the past, and with God's help would not fail her in the future (applause).

MAYOR'S REPLY.

The Mayor, replying, said he had not come, as Mr. Walsh, prepared to draw a speech, but to assist in the draw to raise money for the presentation to the Junior All-Ireland Hurlers. He could assure Mr. Walsh and the G.A.A. he was not responsible for introducing the name of the G.A.A. at the draw referred to, though that was in aid of a Soccer team. He was not in sympathy with the game. He was present as Mayor, and was always an admirer of the G.A.A. games. The name of the G.A.A. was introduced by another gentleman, and, replying he said he sincerely hoped the day was not far distant when the ban would be removed from Soccer. "But," said the Mayor, "I am not going to do anything to have that ban removed. I will leave it to those who may in their wisdom think it necessary to remove it; and when they think this necessary to do so, I sincerely hope they will remove it, and further the day is not far distant."

The Mayor, continuing, said he also referred generally to those who played Soccer. He did not go to Soccer matches. If everybody was like him there would be no need for a ban, for Soccer would have no supporters; but he knew that many men who attended Soccer were men who had suffered years and years of imprisonment and would do much to break the ban. There were thousands of them who made sacrifices, and it was to them he was referring, not to the Englishmen or Scotchmen who were playing. He was not a member of the G.A.A., and the organisation had no apology to make for his remarks.

Fianna Fail.

TAKES OVER GOVERNMENT. MR. DE VALERA PRESIDENT. NEW SPEAKER ELECTED.

In the presence of a crowded house and a cheerful atmosphere, the opening meeting of the New Dail took place on Wednesday. There was a full attendance of members the only absentee being the outgoing Minister of Justice, Mr. Fitzgerald-Kenny, K.C. who was ill.

Election Of Speaker. Mr. G. Boland, rose, and proposed that Mr. Frank Fahy, be elected Ceann Comhairle.

Mr. D. Allen, seconded. Mr. Cosgrave said: "We propose to oppose this nomination, not on personal grounds, but on the broad principle that it is a departure from the scheme of the Act providing that the Deputy who occupies the position of Ceann Comhairle in the Dail shall be returned without election to the new Dail. The object of that provision was to provide for continuity."

Cumann na nGaedheal believed that it was a sound plan to have continuity of procedure, and that it would be conducive to efficiency in the conduct and despatch of the debates. For this reason he was strongly of opinion that they should re-elect Mr. Hayes.

Mr. Blythe seconded. Mr. Boland—"I do not agree with what the President said."

Mr. O'Hanlon, said that as one who had sat in the House for the last five years under the chairmanship of Prof. Hayes, he thought it would be a departure from precedent to elect a new Ceann Comhairle. He did not think there could be any personal feeling in the matter, because in his experience he never sat under a more efficient or more courteous chairman.

He held that it was not Deputy Michael Hayes who was returned unopposed for the National University, but the Ceann Comhairle of Dail Eireann.

As it was quite evident that they were to have a change of Government he thought it would be a bad start if they were to change the Ceann Comhairle, and it would establish a bad precedent.

Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, said the President said that it was to have continuity in the House; that the Act was passed providing for the unopposed return of the Ceann Comhairle. In his opinion the Act was not passed for that purpose, but because of the exceptional position occupied by the Ceann Comhairle, who, as a result of his official position, could not adequately discharge the duties as an ordinary Deputy.

It was not that Fianna Fail were opposed to continuity, but for other reasons which should be obvious and which should be very live in the memories of Deputies on all sides of the House that Fianna Fail were now taking the action they did.

He thought everybody would realise that they were forced into that attitude.

Mr. Morrissey (Ind. Labour, Tipperary), said as a member who was most closely in touch with the work of the Chair during the lifetime of the last Dail he was sorry it was thought fit to make a change in the Ceann Comhairle.

He would be very sorry if they were to understand from the proposal made that in future they must look on the position of Ceann Comhairle as a purely political position.

He did not object to Deputy Fahy on any personal grounds. He thought Deputy Fahy would be as fair a Ceann Comhairle as any Deputy.

A vote being taken, Mr. Fahy was elected by 87 votes to 71 for Mr. Hayes. The majority was composed of 71 Fianna Fail votes and 7 Labour.

Election Of President.

Mr. M. Kilroy, proposed Mr. de Valera as President.

He said that Deputy Eamon de Valera had been the leader of national advance since 1916, and he hoped God would give him health and strength to carry out the programme he had so long valiantly fought for, and that he would bring peace, freedom, prosperity, and unity to the country.

Mr. O. Traynor, seconded. Mr. O'Hanlon, said he had been elected in agricultural interests, and from his experience of the past five years he found himself in a rather difficult position in regard to the proposal before the House. He hoped that no matter who would become President there would follow an era of prosperity to the country. With Deputy de Valera's economic and political policy he found himself in disagreement. He thought that the people had given Deputy de Valera a mandate, and on that ground he intended to vote for him, and he hoped he would be prosperous in his period of office.

MR. DILLON'S ATTITUDE.

Mr. J. Dillon (Ind., Donegal) said that he intended to vote for Mr. de Valera, who had in the election received the largest number of first preference votes. He took that as meaning that the people had accepted his policy and desired him to be President of the Executive Council. It was apparently the will of the people that Deputy de Valera should have an opportunity of trying his policy, and in that he (Mr. Dillon) would help so far as in him lay (applause from Fianna Fail Benches).

"I will be pardoned," said Mr. Dillon "for saying if it is the will of the people that he should press forward with his policy. I believe also it is the will of the people that peace will be kept both at home and abroad, and so far as he leads his party and his country forward on the policy which he advocates in that direction I will help him."

"But so far as he threatens to lead our people into war, economic or actual, with friendly nations or amongst ourselves, I shall oppose him with all the vehemence I can command."

Mr. Cosgrave said:—I do not wish to divide the House on this, and, unlike some members who have spoken I do not want to hear what the policy of the new Government is. This Dail will have an opportunity to value what that policy is and I am disposed to give the new Government every opportunity to elaborate its proposals and bring them before the Dail. It is here that they will be considered, and no explanation beforehand as to what they will be like will equal the value of putting the proposals before us.

Mr. Wm. Norton (Lab. Kildare) said We sit in this Parliament representing the Irish Free State to-day because the workers of Ireland, during the troublesome years through which we have passed rallied round the national cause and made it possible for this nation to win the measure of freedom which it has won.

In the struggle to drive out the foreign invader and win for the people the liberties which no Power has a right to take from the people, the workers of this country played a part which, I think will always be remembered with pride and gratitude by the Irish nation.

In that struggle the workers of Ireland did not join merely for the purpose of exchanging one foreign capitalist system for another, but in the belief that the new Irish nation would enact a code of social legislation to give the plain people of the country a social order different to that which obtained under the alien capitalist system which they had set out to destroy.

The National Parliament of 1919 made a pledge to the workers when it enacted the democratic programme of the first Dail. We were told that it was going to enact the new code of social legislation which would realise the ambitions of the Irish citizen and the Irish State.

Here in this House for the past ten years the Labour Party have pleaded with the Cumann na nGaedheal Party the Government of the day, to remember the democratic programme of the first Dail.

"We have pleaded here, year in and year out, that the Cumann na nGaedheal Party would remember the pledges which as part of the old Sinn Fein Party, it had given to the workers in 1919. They might as well have been pleading with a party and a Government not concerned with the interests of the people, but whose main interests were the interests of the rich, and whose concern for the poor was a poor concern indeed."

NO TEARS TO SHED.

To-day we see that Government on the eve of going out of office, and, having regard to its record, I think there will be no tears shed, and no regrets expressed.

So far as the Labour Party and the plain people are concerned, they will see the Government go out with no feelings of regret and with no wishes for an early return. To-day we are on the eve of electing a new Government, and, judging by the declarations of the leaders of the Fianna Fail Party, and the protestations of its members, that party are, at least, promising more to the workers of the country.

On a vote, Mr. De Valera, was elected President of the Executive Council by 81 votes to 68. The majority was composed of 71 Fianna Fail 7 Labour; 4 Independent (Mr. Dillon); and 2 Farmers (Messrs. O'Hanlon and O'Shaughnessy).

President De Valera, returned thanks.

The Dail then adjourned for a time to enable the new President to be confirmed in office by the Governor-General, and to have his Cabinet approved of. This being done the House re-assembled.

New Cabinet. The following is the new Cabinet:—The President in charge of the Department of External Affairs.

Deputy Sean T. O'Kelly (Vice-president) in charge of the Department of Local Government and Public Health.

Deputy Patrick J. Rutledge in charge of the Department of Lands and Fisheries.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

On last Friday evening, a rather serious accident happened to Mr. Con Ormond, a respectable farmer residing at Belleville, near this town. He was riding a jennet on his way to the Lenten Devotions at Affane Chapel, when a dog suddenly rushed across the jennet to bolt and Mr. Ormond was thrown to the ground with great force. He received a double fracture of the right collar-bone for which he had to be treated by Mrs. Murphy, Bone-Setter, Dungarvan. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Ormond, who is extremely popular and highly-respected in the district, but his numerous friends will be pleased to learn that he is now making satisfactory progress towards complete recovery.

A VALUABLE TROPHY.

The "Bishop Hackett Cup," a valuable trophy presented to the Cappoquin C.Y.M.S., several years ago to be put up for a Billiards Tournament each year, has been won for the second time by Mr. M. J. Sargent, who, although conceding 100 points to Mr. C. Mansfield in a game of 200 points up, won this year's handicap by a big margin. In addition to the Cup Mr. Sargent was also awarded a valuable cue in case, while a similar prize was won by Mr. Mansfield as runner-up.

A Snooker Handicap run by the same Society for the "Sargent Cup," a valuable trophy presented by Mr. M. J. Sargent, was won in brilliant style from a large number of competitors by Mr. James P. Giden, the popular Hon. Sec. of the C.M.Y.S. Mr. M. J. Sargent, the generous donor of the Cup, being a very close runner-up. Both were also presented with valuable cues in cases.

RACE COMMITTEE.

A largely attended meeting of the Race Committee was held in the C.Y.M.S., Mall on Tuesday night, presided over by Mr. J. Villiers-Stuart, M.F.H., Mrs. Villiers-Stuart, Lord Charles Cavendish, Lismore Castle, and many other prominent members of the committee were also present.

As showing the great success of the recent Point-to-Point Races, the Treasurer, Mr. Jas. Lincoln, was able to announce that after the payment of all liabilities there was a balance to the credit of the committee of £65, which was considered very satisfactory, and high tributes were paid by the Chairman and other members to the admirable and efficient manner in which Messrs. M. J. Sargent and P. Walsh, Hon. Secs., and also Mr. J. Lincoln, Treasurer, and the other officials had carried out their duties as a result of which the races had proved such a record success.

The sum of £50 was then passed to Mr. Ion Villiers-Stuart towards the funds of the West Waterford Hunt, amidst great applause, and Mr. Stuart returned thanks to the members of the Committee for their generosity and warmly congratulated them on the wonderful success of their first Point-to-Point meeting in Cappoquin.

RARE OLD COINS.

In the Gold rush of the past few weeks some extraordinary coins were offered for sale. Amongst those which came to light was a gold coin which was one of a series of 250 issued 356 years B.C., in the reign of Philip II. of Macedonia, the father of Alexander the Great. There was also a set of twenty-three Spanish gold coins of the year 1600, which had been for approximately 100 years in a sunken wind-jammer on the bed of the sea, and were partially encrusted with a kind of stone. Another find was a gold medal struck to commemorate the discovery of America by Columbus, one of only three known to exist.

DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

ABBEYSIDE FOOTPATH, MRS. GRIFFIN'S STRONG LETTER.

The weekly meeting of the above was held on Friday, Mr. J. Butler, Chairman, presided. Also present—Messrs. T. McCarthy, M. Clancy, J. Hackett, B. Dee, M. Griffin, T. Power, M. Keane, J. Moloney.

Payments were passed as follows:—General A/c. £10 11s. 0d. Relief Grant £47 8s. 0d.

No. Permission. The Borough Surveyor, reported, that Mr. Moroney had connected up with the sewer at Mitchel Street. The report further stated that the sewer was only intended to carry sewerage from the Council's recently built houses and the pipes laid would not carry the extra from Mr. Moroney's piggeries. Mr. Moroney had not permission to connect.

Mr. Keane—Could the B.S. tell us if the new connection will interfere with the pipes.

Chairman—Why people with common sense do these things without permission is beyond me.

B.S.—If Mr. Moroney had asked permission or even told us that he wanted to connect before we laid the sewer, the sewer would be laid differently.

After further discussion it was decided to ask the Borough Surveyor to give a further report, and to state if Mr. Moroney laid a trap in his yard would it be satisfactory.

Mr. Clancy, proposed, and Mr. Power, seconded, that in future people connecting up with water mains, sewers, or interfering with any other public property without permission be prosecuted.

Mr. Keane—I do not think we should rush into prosecutions. I think we should first try what effect a notice in the Press would have.

On a vote the proposition was passed by 5 votes to 3 and it was decided to publish it in the local Press.

Not Accepted. Mr. Griffin, proposed, and Mr. Power, seconded, that a resolution to the effect that 7 feet of the roadway in front of all houses in the Urban area be regarded as private property. The Chairman refused to accept the resolution.

Mr. Griffin—If a person builds a footpath outside their house, who owns the path. Chairman—The path is the property of the Council.

Abbeyside Path An Improvement. The B.S., reported that the footpath made outside her premises at Abbeyside, by Mrs. Griffin was a great improvement to the locality.

The following letter was read from Mrs. Minnie F. Griffin, Strand Hotel, Abbeyside:—

Dear Sir—With reference to the discussion at your Board on Friday last on the question of the footpath which I have laid down in front of my Hotel, at my own expense. I resent the remarks of some of the Councilors, who should bear in mind before expressing themselves as they did that I was entitled to a footpath as much as the other ratepayers of the town, who have been so well catered for during the past few years.

You are all aware, I applied for a footpath on various occasions, and was promised that the matter would be attended to in due course. But as the Council failed to carry out those promises. I perhaps rather foolishly put down the path on my own. Now it seems that some members of your Council who have got concessions themselves from time to time through being members, are not satisfied that the ratepayers have been saved this expense, but are continuing their vendetta against me for obvious reasons. You will admit that I have improved the appearance of this part of Abbeyside to a very big extent and at a very considerable expense. I am now providing this attraction for the town, a public Tennis Court, which should merit the approval of your Council. As you are aware all Urban Bodies are providing such attractions for their people now-days for instance Youghal U.D.C., provided two Public Tennis Courts at the ratepayers expense some years ago and it is only right that your Council should do something to bring young people to the Town by providing suitable amusements, just like other seaside towns are doing, such as Tramore Dunmore, Ballycotton.

I have led the way in this respect here, and now I would like to put a request to your Council that a Pavilion be provided on these grounds by the Council, for the purpose of accommodation for players as dressing rooms and tea rooms etc. Would you kindly put the suggestion before your Council at the earliest opportunity.

Mr. Clancy—I don't ever remember an application for a footpath coming from Mrs. Griffin. I know that my sole object in speaking here on the last night was to have things done in the right way, and I am not against any one single person. I consider the letter as gross impertinence.

Mr. Griffin—Recently Miss Broderick was stopped by Mrs. Griffin from putting eve shoots at the rear of her premises and I think that should not be allowed.

Mr. Clancy—I was one who opposed the letting of that park to any one. I must say that Miss Broderick has acted very honourably with the Council since she got the lease, but Mrs. Griffin has not acted very honourably with the Council.

Mr. McCarthy—Mrs. Griffin also stopped Miss Broderick from putting a ladder into the Park to paint her house.

Mr. Griffin—I suggest that Mrs. Griffin be written to and asked to mention the member of the Council she refers to, at present there is a stigma on all the members.

Mr. McCarthy—In fairness to Miss Broderick, I think the Council should write to her and tell her to put up the ladder and if necessary, to put a ladder at the rear of her premises to enable the house to be painted.

Chairman—If the things mentioned here are correct, Mrs. Griffin has acted very unreasonably.

Mr. Clancy—Better refer back the letter to Mrs. Griffin, and ask her to state what members got favours by being members. I don't know any such member.

Mr. Keane—I would like to say that Mrs. Griffin did what every one else did in town as regards footpaths. She undoubtedly asked members and as the usual procedure here has been for members asked to propose and second that a path be made.

Mr. Hackett—The B.S., has told you that the path has beautified the place. Some of you must be deadly enemies of Mrs. Griffin.

Chairman—There is the question of building the pavilion.

Mr. Keane—Would it be desirable.

Mr. Power—I will say that Mrs. Griffin has done a lot of good work in the park and that she had divided employment among the men at Abbeyside, but I don't see why the Council should build the pavilion.

Mr. Clancy—I propose we refuse the application. Mr. Power, seconded, and it was passed.

The first part of the letter was referred back to Mrs. Griffin for an explanation.

Heresay. Mr. Griffin said that he heard that a member of the Board had told Mrs. Griffin to make the path. She said so herself.

The Chairman said he had a conversation with Mrs. Griffin, and his advice to her was not to do anything about the path unless she had first obtained the Council's permission.

Mr. Power—I am glad to hear you say so.

Chairman—That is the position and from us you can bring it back to her.

Thanks. Letters thanking the Board for resolution of sympathy were read from Mrs. McCarthy and Mr. S. Power.

THE EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS. FIFTEEN MILES LONG PROCESSION.

One million people at Pontifical High Mass, a procession fifteen miles long, a pilgrims' camp of 2,000 tents, six liners anchored in Dublin Bay, and an army of 20,000 stewards.

These are a few of the astonishing things which will be seen in Dublin when the 31st Eucharistic Congress meets there from June 20 to June 26. For months now preparations have been made for the reception of the most colossal army of visitors that has ever invaded Ireland. They will come from every part of the globe, and will be of all races and colours and tongues. Thousands of them will be Irishmen returning to their homeland for the first time, and thousands of others—sons and daughters of Irish parents—will set foot for the first time in the land of their descent.

The task of meeting merely the physical needs of these vast multitudes is an immense one. Every hotel and boarding-house in Dublin has been booked to capacity, and the Central Organisation of the Congress has prepared an enormous list of places where lodgings can be obtained. At least six liners, crowded with passengers will be anchored in Dublin Bay during Congress week, and a pilgrims' camp of 2,000 bell-tents and 6,000 beds will be set up. Decorations will be on an immense scale. The city is having an elaborate spring cleaning.

The Central Committee will spend £15,000 on decorations, and this amount will be greatly supplemented by local organisations. Baskets of spring flowers will hang from every lamp and tramway standard. The Papal colours of yellow and white will furnish the general theme of decoration. Triumphant arches will be erected in various parts of the city. The largest of all will be on the outskirts, where the Papal Legate will be received upon his first arrival.

On June 22, during the Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament, there will be no night in Dublin. Candles will burn in every window, and the whole city will be transformed into a fairy city of twinkling lights.

The most astonishing spectacle of all will be on the Sunday when, in Phoenix Park, Pontifical High Mass will be celebrated. An immense altar is being erected in a large space, and it is expected that the congregation here will number one million persons. After Mass, the Papal Legate will lead a vast procession down the Liffey Quay. The main procession as it moves will be fed by subsidiary processions from side streets, and the total length of the whole will be 15 miles of people marching eight abreast. To mould this vast multitude into order, 20,000 stewards will cooperate with the Civic Guards.

The Eucharistic Congress is held at intervals of a few years in different countries. The Pope has given permission for it to be held in Ireland because this year is the fiftieth centenary of the Landing of St. Patrick.

SENIOR FOOTBALL. U.C.C. V. IMOKILLY.

On Sunday, the above teams lined out at Killeagh in a friendly encounter. A mere handful of spectators witnessed a clean and sportsmanlike display in which the College representatives proved much too clever for their opponents, whose play was somewhat scrappy and lacked the cohesion and quickness of the students. A strong wind blew the length of the field and in the opening stages U.C.C., had it in their favour and they piled up a big lead, which their opponents failed to reduce on the change-over. Mr. Frank Flannagan, U.C.C., had charge of the whistle.

Shortly after the appointed hour the game was set in motion and fast exchanges took place. U.C.C. were first to attack, but sent wide, and following the kick-out again returned, but were repulsed at the expense of a "50". Soon after another "50" was awarded to U.C.C. and a point was scored from a well-placed drive. A free close in for U.C.C., saw the white flag again raised. Imokilly rarely came beyond the half-way line and on the few occasions they attacked were well held by a clever defence. The neat passing of U.C.C. coupled with their speed served them well, and when the interval came they had the big score of 4 goals 5 points to their credit, while Imokilly had a blank register.

On resumption, Imokilly made a lightning attack and brought off a point, but U.C.C. immediately replied with a major score. Imokilly again took the offensive, but were met with a strong defence which acceded a play as a result of a free close in. Play was of a more even character in this period, but the College forwards were quick to take advantage of any opportunity, and following an attack a fine point was recorded. The East Cork representatives broke away and in the space of a few minutes brought off two major scores. When the final minutes arrived U.C.C., were deserving winners on the score:— U.C.C.—5 goals 6 points. IMOKILLY—2 goals 1 point.

A PROHIBITED BOOK.

MESSRS. WOOLWORTH FINED AT WATERFORD.

At Waterford Court, before Mr. McCabe, D.J. Messrs. F. W. Woolworth, Barronstrand Street, were prosecuted at the instance of the Attorney General, under the Censorship of Publications Act, 1930, for as alleged, exposing for sale a book prohibited in the Irish Free State.

Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solicitor, prosecuted. The defendant firm was not represented, commenting upon which the Justice said it was an extraordinary thing that a firm like Woolworths who were liable on conviction to a fine of £50 for this offence, did not think it right or proper to be represented by a solicitor, though, of course, he added, they were within their rights. Yet, he would expect that courtesy from a firm of Woolworth's size.

Asked if he had any defence to the case, the local manager said they only received the summons a few days ago and had not much time. He had received a letter from his firm directing him to tender a full apology to the court.

His Worship—it would have been more courteous if a solicitor were employed.

The Rev. Bro. James Grehan, Christian Brothers, Mount St. John, said, in consequence of a complaint he visited Woolworths on the 26th October last. He found the book (produced) exposed for sale and purchased a copy. He immediately brought it to the Civic Guards. He did not know at the time that the book was on the prohibited list. There was a good deal of objectionable literature in the shop.

The District Justice said it seemed to him the local manager was not a proper person to look after the purchase and sale of such publications.

The Manager said the probability was that the book was purchased in England, where it was not banned, and sent to Waterford with other supplies by some mistake. The District Justice said he was satisfied the book was prohibited under the Act, but believed that Woolworths did not put the book into circulation with the object of harming public morals. It showed great dereliction of duty that they should have the book for sale. They had sent no explanation to the Court, apparently thinking the case not of sufficient importance to employ a solicitor to represent them. The same harm was done whether the circulation was intended or not. Taking into consideration the standing of the firm and the complete negligence displayed on their part, he would impose a fine of £25 and £1 costs.

CHEAP TRANSIT?

The Co. Waterford Vocational Committee, requiring a motor for demonstration purposes at their motor classes advertised for a second-hand car and were offered some 25 at prices ranging from £5 to £35. What a pity the heavy road tax and 8d. a gallon motor tax should interfere with the enjoyment of our people. If these taxes were abolished every poor man could have his automobile and so go about his work in peace and pleasure. Would it be too much to hope that the new Government will remove these taxes which are such a barrier against progress and so help to make life worth living.

The New Dail.

HOW THE VOTING WENT:

With the completion of the count in the Sligo-Leitrim constituency, the General Election came to a close. The seven seats in the constituency were filled with 4 Fianna Fail members and 3 Cumann na nGaedheal. In the final result the Parties stand thus:—Fianna Fail 72; Cumann na nGaedheal 57; Independents 13; Labour 7 and Farmers 4. In the last Dail Fianna Fail had 55 members; Cumann na nGaedheal 65; Independents 15; Labour 10 and Farmers 6.

The following table shows the total poll, the number of spoiled papers, and the number of electors on the register in all constituencies, except Dublin University, where no contest took place:—

MODERN SINS AGAINST JUSTICE. DOMINICAN'S WARNING.

Preaching in Dublin, Rev. M. P. Cleary, O.P., on "Sins against Justice," said that the voice of conscience, speaking forcibly, was needed but feebly, because men were universally more eager for wealth than for the observance of the elementary virtues or the recognition of the eternal verities.

In the present-day revolt against Christian civilisation conscience cried in vain to a population that seemed not to know that indifference to the first principle of the moral law was the surest sign of its own decadence.

In the Council Chambers of the world the great men of every country—the supermen of every nation—were seeking ways and means to ward off that world-wide cataclysm that seemed about to engulf their poor struggling humanity. They called conferences and convened assemblies of the nations, but never once did they pause to consider the implications of those sublime yet simple words: "Thou shalt not steal."

"SOMETHING WRONG." "There is something wrong in our appreciation of moral values," he added, "when a starving wretch is sent to jail for stealing a garment from a clothes-line and a gambler on the Stock Exchange is praised for his business acumen because he can change hundreds of pounds into thousands by cornering the wheat market and so increase the price of the poor man's loaf."

"We may pride ourselves on being more highly civilised than the people of the Middle Ages, when a thief was hanged for stealing a sheep, but remember that only last year a man died of starvation on the plains of Kildare whilst the Custom House granaries were bursting with wheat, and no man has been made amenable."

WILFUL DESTRUCTION. It was certainly fitting that the fraudulent debtor should be imprisoned, but was there no law to prevent the hoarding of corn, the dumping of thousands of sacks of coffee into the ocean, the wilful destruction of a whole year's fruit crop—all with a view to cause an artificial shortage and so bring about a corresponding increase in the price of those commodities?

Unfortunately the world too easily accommodated itself to blatant sinfulness that led to material success, and readily lent itself to any form of wickedness that hid the ugliness of deformed humanity.

In commerce it was not difficult to remember the swindling ways and methods of prevaricating conveniently called "high finance." The chief difficulty in the business of life was to bear in mind that "neither thieves nor extortioners shall possess the Kingdom of God."

Cappoquin C.Y.M.S. ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

The Annual General Meeting of the Cappoquin C.Y.M.S., was held in the Society's rooms, Mill Street, on Sunday, February 21st. There was a good attendance of members. Very Rev. Canon Whelan, D.D., P.P., presided. The Secretary's report on the working of the Society for the year was as follows:—

Very Rev. Canon, Rev. Father, Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen. As we stand on the threshold of a new year in our Society's affairs, and consider the position for the past twelve months, we feel a sense of keen elation at the satisfactory progress that has been made. A retrospect of our financial state reveals a condition of things on which we have reason to feel gratified, an amount of £39 lying to our credit. A short time ago a splendid new Riley Billiard Table was installed in our Society, thus affording the maximum facility for members to demonstrate their skill in cue-manship. Another great acquisition is the fine stage, which we had constructed for our Concerts. During the year we had a very successful Concert. The very able and practical "paper" read by our respected fellow-townsmen, the Rev. P. J. Flavin, B.D., marks the prologue to the infusion into the Society of a strong literary spirit, hitherto, this important subject was neglected, but from henceforth it shall be a most prominent feature of our activities. Regarding the all important matter of membership, I am delighted to say that it is in a flourishing condition, and it is to be hoped that it will be augmented still further. Concerning the vital question of subscriptions, while members generally have paid up satisfactorily, I would impress upon those who are inclined to be lax the necessity for more regular application to this most essential part of membership. The receipts from billiards for the year were most satisfactory, an amount of over £56 being realised. The handicaps for the Bishop Hackett and Sargent Cups, which were recently concluded were characterised throughout by a spirit of fine sportsmanship, the various games being in the majority of cases closely contested. The winners, Mr. Sargent, in the billiard and your humble servant in the snooker, are to be congratulated. As regards the conduct of the members during the year, a spirit of esprit-de-corps existed amongst all. Before concluding, I must express our sincere appreciation to our esteemed Spiritual Director, Canon Whelan, for the keen and practical interest which he has always manifested in our affairs.

The Treasurer next submitted a Statement of Accounts which showed a sound financial position, there being a credit balance of £30. Very Rev. Canon Whelan, Spiritual Director, congratulated the Secretary and Treasurer on their admirable reports of the Society. They had an increased membership and during the year had acquired two very valuable assets, a fine stage for their Concerts and a splendid Billiard Table, at a cost of over £400. He was very glad, that an earnest effort was being made to infuse a literary spirit into the Society, by the excellent "paper" that had been read last month, and he was happy to announce, that before Easter, they were to have two more. He hoped that in the near future a Debating Society would be started, which would confer very great educational advantages on the members. He was particularly pleased to hear such an excellent report of the members, for as the Canon explained, by their attention to the rules of the Society, and by their edifying lives, they could exert a salutary influence over others, and thus, their Society would become without the least aggressiveness, a centre of "Catholic Action" in the parish. He concluded by earnestly hoping that the C.Y.M.S., here and elsewhere would continue to flourish, so that the glorious ideals of their founder Dean O'Brien, would be realised throughout Ireland and beyond it. (Loud applause.)

The following outgoing officials were re-elected for the ensuing year:— Mr. R. J. Gollender (President); Mr. M. J. Sargent, (Vice-President); Mr. P. Cahill, (Hon. Treasurer); Mr. J. Olden (Hon. Secretary). The outgoing Committee were re-elected en-bloco. The "Bishop Hackett" Cup and Cue in case was presented to the winner of the billiard handicap, Mr. M. J. Sargent, while Mr. C. Mansfield, as runner-up was the recipient of a cue Mr. J. Olden, the winner of the snooker handicap, was presented with the "Sargent" Cup and cue in case, while Mr. Sargent as runner-up received a cue.

The business of the meeting concluded with a cordial vote of thanks to Canon Whelan for so ably presiding. "SWEEP" WINNER FOUND DEAD. WORRIED ABOUT HOW TO INVEST HER MONEY. A woman who won £600 in the Irish sweepstake last November was found dead in her home where she lived alone. The woman was distracted by a bombardment of begging letters, and, driven into ill-health by the anxiety of how best to invest her suddenly acquired wealth, she became a recluse who lived in growing dread of burglars. She was Mrs. Ellen Edmundson, aged sixty-three, who lived above her little provision shop in East Ordsallane, Salford. Neighbours burst open the door of the shop, and found her where she had collapsed and died. "She was the brightest little woman you could ever hope to meet last November," said Miss N. Nevell, who lives next door. "She drew Hot Bun in the sweepstake, and refused £1,000 for a half share in the ticket." Mrs. Edmundson had been dead twenty-four hours when found.

NEXT WEEK'S SWEEP DRAW.

HOPES OF £7,000,000.

The Hospitals Sweep on the Grand National to be run on March 18th., at Limerick is closed.

"Sweep fever," that thrilling mixture of hope and excitement, is growing in Dublin with the approach of the draw for the Irish Hospitals Sweepstake on the Grand National.

The draw for the largest share out of the sweepstake prizes ever made will take place next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and the race, which will decide the destination of the bigger fortunes, follows on the Friday.

The Irish sweepstakes have gradually increased in immensity until now the colossal sum of £3,300,000 has been subscribed by people in every country in the world. The English people, to whom lotteries are forbidden, have contributed by far the largest share of this sum, and the luck of the draw is almost certain to send hundreds of prizes across the Irish Sea.

More than 3,300 prizes, varying from £30,000 to £100, will be distributed, and the prize money at present calculated at something more than £2,200,000. Sellers of tickets that draw the winning horses will also receive prizes of £3,000 for the first horse, £2,000 for the second, and £1,000 for the third.

More than seven millions of counterfoils, a cosmopolitan legion of hopes, are lodged in the strong rooms of Hospital Trust, Limited, at Earlsfort Terrace, Dublin, and will be taken under a strong police escort to the Plaza for the mixing process on Saturday.

Teams of sweepstake girls will operate the ingenious system for mingling the counterfoils, and when they are well and truly mixed they will be sealed in the enormous drum, which has taken on a pleasantly fantastic aspect under the brush of the artist.

Hospitals Trust has received almost 10,000 applications for seats at the draw, and as there is accommodation for only 2,000 spectators the great majority of applicants must be disappointed. No theatre could hold the audience that is attracted by the glamour of the Irish sweepstake draw, and the officials are doing their best to heighten the dramatic effect of the occasion by providing theatrical scenery for the stage and picturesque uniforms for attendants.

The dramatic personae of the draw will be General O'Duffy, Chief Commissioner of the Civic Guards, supervising the proceedings, a bevy of pretty nurses drawing the fateful counterfoils from the rolling drum, and Mr. J. O'Sheehan, who will announce the names of the winners.

The draw will occupy three full days and will be carried out at top pressure. Prizes will pour forth at the rate of two or three a minute. The Dublin broadcasting station will broadcast news of the draw to Irish people. The vast crowds unable to obtain admittance to the Plaza will gather at St. Stephen's Green, where loud-speakers will carry the news to them.

Dublin hotels have received heavy bookings from England and Scotland for the week of the draw.

Hospitals Trust is now completing the colossal task of distributing receipts to all the subscribers whose money came in the final flood of wealth at the close of the sweepstake, and hopes to have all receipts delivered this week.

PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE CO.

The Annual Report of an institution with interests so world-wide as The Prudential is an event in the financial year which is of interest to literally millions of people. The Company has been in existence since 1843 and as the years pass it gathers fresh strength and launches out into new enterprises with the audacity of youth and the wisdom of long experience. From a national it has developed into an international organization with representatives in all parts of the British Empire and every continent.

The Annual Report dealing with operations for 1931 shows that the Directors continue to control affairs with a conspicuous regard for the stability of their business and combine a progress in outlook with the quality of prudence traditional with the Company.

Of course, even The Prudential cannot escape the effects of long-standing and world-wide depression. But the position of the Company is so strong that the depreciation of securities that has been experienced is well covered by its reserves.

Another very hopeful feature to which attention may be directed is that, whilst a reduction in the reversionary bonus has been made as a precautionary measure, the Directors propose where the reduced bonus is payable to grant an interim bonus on claims arising by death or maturity of endowment during 1932. An Ordinary Branch Contingency Fund of £250,000 has been set up and in the Industrial Branch a similar fund amounting to £4,750,000 has been provided. If and when in the opinion of the Directors the general situation has sufficiently improved these sums will be available for distribution as surplus.

The Prudential can always be trusted to treat its policyholders with the absolute maximum of fairness and promptness and its officers are to be commended for the lead they have taken in establishing this business on the soundest possible footing.

Complete Freedom of Ireland.

OUT TO WIN ANOTHER INSTALMENT.

Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, speaking at Leitrim, said the verdict Fianna Fail had got in the country was a striking one, and they wanted the people of Leitrim-Sligo to endorse that verdict in an overwhelming manner.

Fianna Fail had not received a clear majority, but they had received the greatest majority of votes of any party since the first election in the Free State.

They asked for the return of their five candidates in Leitrim-Sligo so that they would be in a position to force through their programme of reconstruction and liberty for the country. Fianna Fail was a Republican Party, and he did not want to get votes on any misunderstanding of principle or a misapprehension of policy.

Fianna Fail did not carry out their programme then the people could call them to account at the next election. Their programme was one for the complete freedom of Ireland, and, although a big one, was by no means new. Cumann na nGaedheal had been turned down by the people for the primary reason that they accepted partition within the British Empire, and accepted it as a full measure of the national rights of the people of Ireland.

At a Conference of the Catholic Truth Society in Dublin last October, Mr. Cosgrave, Mr. Mulcahy, and other members of the late Government were there and dealt with Communism and other "isms," and Cardinal MacRory, who spoke, said: "In God's name give us peace, so that we may use to the fullest extent the instalment of freedom we have got."

Cardinal MacRory was an educated man, and if they had got full freedom he would not have used the word "instalment." On the one hand they had only got an instalment of freedom, while on the other hand, they had Mr. Cosgrave, Mr. Mulcahy, and the C. n. G. members for the constituency saying that Ireland was free from the centre to the sea. He would leave it to the people to decide who was telling the truth.

Fianna Fail were out to win the other instalment of their national rights, and they denied the claim by Mr. Cosgrave and the others.

Fianna Fail hoped to attain their full national rights by using peaceful constructive methods.

They were not trailing their coat and asking England to come along and fight, but they believed it was possible to win the instalment of freedom due by using the means at hand, and they asked the people in God's name, to give them that chance, so that the young men and women will never have to be asked to raise a gun again to shoot brother-Irishmen. Fianna Fail would give every man freedom to express his opinions.

Messrs. Cosgrave, Blythe and Mulcahy encouraged the young men of the country to join the Republican Army, but when it suited them they changed their policy and put them in Arbour Hill.

Fianna Fail wanted to show to those in Arbour Hill that every opportunity would be given them to attain what they were out for, and they would give full freedom to preach their policy, but they must never raise a

The Economic Cow.

THE USE OF FOOD AND OTHER FACTORS.

In a lecture given recently at a meeting of the Lanark Agricultural Discussion Society, Mr. A. D. Buchanan Smith, Institute of Animal Genetics, University of Edinburgh, pointed out that the economic dairy cow is the one which can efficiently convert food into milk. There exists within breeds a considerable variation in the consumption of food per gallon of milk produced by different cows. The recent improvement in the production of our dairy cattle has been largely due to an appreciation of the value of milk recording, whereby many low yielding cows have been eliminated. By the intelligent interpretation of records, within recent years some herds have been able to double the output of their cows. The time has now come when progressive breeders of dairy cattle can take the next step in improvement, by taking note not merely of the amount of milk produced by each cow in their herd, but also by measuring the amount of food taken to produce that milk.

In America it has been shown that other things being equal, the bigger the cow the more milk she will produce. It has also been shown that it does not always hold that because a cow is giving a big yield of milk she is producing that milk more economically than perhaps a smaller cow giving a lesser yield. There is a tremendous difference in the food consumption of different cows per gallon of milk produced, and there is every reason to believe that this is inherited.

The economic cow has other qualities besides that of the ability to make the greatest use of the food which she eats. The economic cow must be hardy. Some cows will go down with tuberculosis directly they come in contact with the disease. Others are relatively resistant. Hardiness and resistance are inherited.

The economic cow must also be a prolific cow. That does not necessarily imply the production of twins, but rather it implies cows which calve regularly.

What has been said of the economic cow applies also to the economic horse, steer, sheep, and pig. In pigs, for instance, work at the Institute in Edinburgh shows that certain strains of pigs will put on 1 lb. of flesh for every 2 1/2 lbs. of food consumed, while other pigs under identical conditions take over 5 lbs. of meal to produce 1 lb. of flesh. Thus by breeding economic pigs it is possible to halve the feed bill.

GALVANISED WIRE NETTING.

We have just completed a very big contract for Galvanised Wire Netting and we will be in a position to offer it considerably less than last season. BUTTER-FAT IN MILK.

CAN THE PERCENTAGE BE INFLUENCED?

The development of milk recording the increased intensity of competition at show milking trials and in herd contests and the closer study of the dairy cow as a producer of the best possible food has naturally led to inquiry as to the percentage of fat present in milk produced under different conditions and as to how this percentage may be influenced.

Generally speaking, breeds which give a high percentage of butter-fat in the milk give a smaller total annual yield than breeds which give milk of a medium fat percentage. Cows of the same breed show wide differences, not only in the total annual yield and the percentage of fat and solids, but also in the length of lactation period and in the food requirements per gallon of milk. All these characteristics are individualistic and hereditary, and may be bred into stock and intensified by selection. The individuality of the cow is the basic principle of milk records.

The fat percentage varies with the progress of the lactation. Milk is generally poorest in fat from the fourth to the sixth week after calving; thereafter there is a slow but gradual rise until the end of the lactation period. For the last two months the fat percentage is highest. The condition of the cow after calving has a considerable influence also. Cows in high condition yield a higher fat percentage at this time than cows in poor condition. A cow suffering from disease sometimes gives milk rich in fat; often it contains pathogenic germs; usually it is unfit for consumption.

The intervals between milkings have a marked effect on the fat percentage. If the interval between two successive milkings are unequal the milk after the shorter interval is always richer in fat. When the intervals are equal the percentage of fat in the morning's and evening's milk is practically the same. The fore milk—that is, the first few streams—is poor in quality, containing less than 5 per cent. fat; the strippings, on the other hand, are rich, and may contain from 10 to 12 per cent.

The effect of food on the fat percentage has been the subject of much investigation. The findings in the main have been that while a change of food may produce a temporary increase in the fat, there is no long or permanent increase. But persistent underfeeding will reduce the fat content.—"Farmers Gazette."

The flying pieces of glass injured a few of those in the bus but beyond a severe shaking the others escaped uninjured. Dr. M. V. Moloney, was quickly on the scene and had the injured attended to. The conductor, who received some cuts from flying glass, was taken to the District Hospital. The bus was put out of action and was unable to proceed on its way until repaired. A SOGGARTH OF THE DECIES.

Rev. Thomas Carroll-Powers, of the Vincentian Fathers, Professor of Shakespearean Literature, and Vice-President of De Paul University, at Chicago, was appointed Pastor of St. Vincent's parish, Los Angeles, California. He was born at Ballyduff, Co. Waterford, forty years ago, and emigrated to the United States with his family when he was two years old. He entered the Vincentian Community in 1903, and was ordained in 1913. Two of his sisters are nuns, one of the Order of Mercy in New Zealand, and the other a Sister of St. Joseph of Carondelet in America. He is the youngest of a family of eleven children, and the seventh son.

THE FLU.

Quite a number of people in the Kill district are laid up with the flu. In some instances the patients are suffering from severe attacks of bronchitis. Owing to a number of Kill and Fenor players being victims to the epidemic, the senior and junior football championship matches fixed for the Ballyduff Gaelic Sportsfield, on Sunday last, were postponed to a later date.

DEATH.

Widespread regret has been occasioned throughout mid-Waterford, by the news of the demise of Mr. Patrick Drummy, Whitestown, Clonea, which took place last week, at a comparatively early age. Deceased was an exemplary Catholic, industrious and strictly honest and upright in his dealings. The possessor of a wonderful fund of humour, he was a firm favourite with all. All that was mortal of the late Mr. Drummy was reverently laid to rest in Clonea cemetery, after Mass of Requiem had been offered up for his soul on the 4th inst. May he rest in peace.

ANOTHER DEATH.

The death of Mrs. Lynch, Garrashoon, Kilmathomas, at the age of 54 years, which occurred on Friday of last week at her residence following an illness of somewhat brief duration came as a great shock to her large circle of relatives and friends. The deceased lady was well-known throughout the County. She was widow of the late Mr. Maurice Lynch, farmer, Garrashoon, who predeceased her by a few years. The remains were removed to the parish church, Stradbally, on Saturday evening, where they were received by Very Rev. John Lennon, P.P., and Rev. Patk. O'Farrell, C.C. At 11 o'clock on Sunday the funeral started for Ballinacraha cemetery, where the interment took place. The extremely large and representative cortege testified to the esteem and regard in which the deceased was held by all classes of the community, and demonstrated the sympathy felt for her sorrowing daughter (Mrs. N. Casey) and other relatives in their sad bereavement. Masses for her AGAIN. Deep regret was felt on all sides at the tidings of the death of Mrs. Quinn, wife of Mr. John Quinn, carpenter, Furraleigh, Kilmathomas, and mother of Mr. Pat Quinn, Cottage Rent and Rate Collector, of the Kilmathomas and Carrick No. 2 rural districts. The sad event happened at her home on Friday, March 4th, after a fortnight's illness and in the fullness of her years. Her passing was as peaceful and happy as her life had been holy and edifying. Scarcely a household throughout the wide Comeragh Valley was unrepresented in the vast throng that sadly followed her remains to Killossanty parish church on Saturday evening. On Sunday afternoon, the burial took place in the old graveyard, Killossanty, in the presence of hosts of mourners, friends and sympathisers. Very Rev. W. J. Kehoe, P.P., Killossanty, officiated at the bereaved husband and family, and to all other relatives of the deceased lady, we extend our sincerest sympathy in the loss of a great character, who undoubtedly will be sadly missed from the daily life of the locality. Masses for her soul were offered up during the week. Ar Dheis De go raibh a anam. (English and American newspapers will please copy).

Cumann na nGaedheal Policy

AIMS IN OPPOSITION.

Mr. Cosgrave, ex-President of the Free State, issued this week a statement of the policy to be followed by the Cumann na nGaedheal Party in opposition in the Dail.

The following is the text of the statement issued:—
The declaration of the poll in Lei-trim-Sligo marks the completion of the General Election. It affords me an opportunity to return my sincere thanks to all those who now and during the last ten years have steadfastly supported the maintenance of the Treaty and the policy which has been pursued by the Cumann na nGaedheal Party of building up the country and of laying sure foundations for the institutions of the State.

The Treaty provided the basis upon which that policy was formulated.
The support received from the people of Ireland during years of stress and danger has rendered possible its accomplishment.

That support was loyally given because the people saw that thereby our national liberty would be secured, the economic welfare of the country promoted and our prestige as a nation enhanced.

For the moment a majority of the people has been lured from support of that policy by rosy visions of greater achievement promised by another party, because I take it that the verdict of the recent election is that the other party should get an opportunity of trying out their policy. We can claim that we are handing over to that party a machinery of State adequate in every part.

The machinery and the institutions which they are now about to take over have been created without their aid and notwithstanding their opposition.

We may claim, too that we have conserved the resources of the State given fair play to every citizen, and neglected no opportunity of furthering the economic welfare of the people.

The difficulties which confront the new Administration are mainly of their own making—a fact which will,
from the outset of their Ministerial career, become increasingly manifest, even to themselves. In their attempts to solve these difficulties we do not propose to deny them any reasonable facilities.

Let it not be inferred, however, that we will shirk from our duty as a Parliamentary Opposition, or that we will be a consenting party in discrediting national honour, nor will we look silently on while the country's economic problems, in a period of worldwide depression, are being made the sport of politics and the resources of the people are being frittered away upon unsound and fantastic schemes.

We believe now as we have believed since 1922 that the policy of the Cumann na nGaedheal Party is the sound policy for this country. We are sufficiently convinced of its wisdom to be confident that a short experience of another policy will make this clear to the mass of the people. Meanwhile we promise our supporters that our efforts in opposition will be directed to the ends we have steadily pursued during the last ten years—the establishment and the maintenance of national dignity, national prosperity, and national good faith—and we ask of them a continuance of their confidence, which we shall do our utmost in whatever circumstances, to merit

VICTORY.

"In this year of her Centenary, and of her Congress, Ireland has made a mighty effort to redeem her soul, seeking friendship with all nations, without subjection to any."—Archbishop Mannix.

Ireland's voice had spoken, upon
that glorious day,
And through the gloom now shining see freedom's glorious ray, Across the broad Atlantic, Columbia's voice rings clear,
We're with you gallant Ireland,
we're with you never fear,
We don't forget the heroes who for brave freedom bled, Moylan, Wynne, and Barry, sleep
with our glorious dead, O'Brien and gallant Sheridan, with Meagher's green brigade,
Whose fame will live until the stars
from out the sky fade.

And then from far Australia, a message ringing clear, Comes from great Doctor Mannix,
we're with you Erin dear,
And the great heart of Ireland with hope is bounding high,
For the sleep of slaves is over and victory is nigh, Yes, the long night of thralldom, at last is well-nigh o'er,
And freedom's dawn is breaking clear, upon the Irish shore,
The blood our glorious martyrs shed, has not been shed in vain,
For the sacred fires of liberty, shall never be quenched again.

Ardmore District Court.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.)

License Case.
Supt. O'Shea, Dungarvan, charged
Ed. Fleming, Grange, with a breach of the Licensing Act.

Sergt. Mangan, Ardmore, stated that at 10.30 p.m. on November 7th, he entered the premises and found a number of men on the premises, including two who were not travellers.
There were signs of drinking on the counter and he asked the publican's wife to account for them. She said it was a stormy night and the men had come in for shelter. They were there as friends and were having a talk when the Guards had entered. The Guards has been admitted without any delay.

Defendant said he had been at the fair during the day and retired to rest on his return. He had no knowledge of the men being on the premises until afterwards. His wife and daughter were in charge in his absence.

Mrs. Fleming said the men had been passing the place and had come in for shelter, it being very stormy. The signs of drinking on the counter had been there since early in the day, after a funeral in the vicinity. The men on the premises had got no drink.

The Justice said he would allow the case stand for the production of further evidence by the defence if they so wished, otherwise he would deal with it on the merits.

The defendant elected to allow the case go on.

The Justice said he had his doubts about the story of the "Orphans of the Storm" (laughter). There having been previous convictions, he felt obliged to impose a fine of £2, but in the circumstances it wouldn't be endorsed.

The men found on the premises were fined 7/6.

Cruelty To Cow.
Sergt. Mangan, charged Michael Hickey, Summerhill, with cruelty to a cow.

Complainant said he found the animal bound with a rope from the horns to the right forefoot. Her head was almost down to the foot. The cow was in a most uncomfortable position.

The defence was that the animal, a young heifer, was inclined to break away from among the other cattle.

The case was dismissed with a caution and warning.

Dog License Cases.
There were a number of cases of unlicensed dogs, which were withdrawn, the licenses having been taken out meanwhile. Others were adjourned owing to the absence of complainants at the Revision Court.

No Lights.
Guard Lucey, Ring, charged Ml.
Foley, Cappagh, with using an unlighted vehicle.

He was fined 5/.

School Attendance Case.
Guard Griffin, charged Mat Barry, Ballinamona, with the non-attendance of his child at school.

Complainant said the case had been adjourned to give defendant time to produce a Dispensary Certificate showing that the child had been unfit to attend. There had been no improvement since, no certificate was forthcoming and there was no appearance on the part of defendant or his wife.

Imposing a fine of 2/6, the Justice asked the Guard to inform defendant that if the child wasn't sent to school he would be sent to an Industrial School.

Alleged Intimidation.
In the adjourned case against Declan Ducey, and his father, Michael, for alleged intimidation against a number of young men and women, in connection with dances at Mount Stuart and elsewhere.

Supt. O'Shea, applied for a further adjournment to next Court, owing to the unavoidable absence of the principal witness.

The application was granted.

Unlighted Vehicles.
There were a number of cases of unlighted vehicles, etc., in which the usual fines were imposed.

KILMATHOMAS CHURCH.

BREAKING AND ENTERING CHARGE.

Charged with breaking and entering the Protestant Church at Kilmathomas with intent to commit a felony Martin Power, of Faha, Kilmathomas, was at Waterford Court, last Friday, remanded on bail to enable him to make good the damage done.

Defendant said he was drunk at the time, and apologised.

Rev. Mr. Stanley, said the church was the property of the Representative Body of the Church of Ireland, and did not think there was any malice in defendant's act, nor any intention to commit theft. The damage done was about 25s.

District Justice McCabe said it was diabolical to commit damage upon anybody's property, but churches of all denominations were looked upon in this country as sacred and outside the reach of any marauder. It was a credit to the country that this was a most unusual type of offence, and fortunate for the defendant that a clergyman like Mr. Stanley was there, who seemed to be very fair to the defendant.

Free State's Trade with England.

VALUE OF LIVESTOCK TRAFFIC.

Speaking at Dublin a few days ago,
Mr. Peters, the English Trade Commissioner to the Free State, on Trade relations between the two countries, said the sales of Free State Goods in the United Kingdom exceed by several millions per annum, the sale of United Kingdom Goods to the Free State.

This, he said, was the case not only in 1931, but for all preceding years.
This surplus is available, reinforced by the income from Irish Free State investments outside the borders of the Irish Free State (chiefly in the United Kingdom), for the purchase of the re-exports from the United Kingdom as well as for the purchase of other goods elsewhere.

The total external trade turnover of the Free State in 1931 amounted to about £88,000,000.

Exports accounted for £37,000,000, imports for £51,000,000, showing a so-called unfavourable balance of £14,000,000.

On the export side, out of the 27 millions, less than £1,000,000 worth represented goods re-exported from the Free State. The £36,000,000 remaining represented Irish Free State goods. Exports to the United Kingdom accounted for £35,000,000; exports to all other countries to £1,333,333.

On the import side, out of £51,000,000, consignments from the United Kingdom accounted for £41,000,000 consignments from outside the United Kingdom for £10,000,000. But the consignments from the United Kingdom included large consignments of imported merchandise re-exported from the United Kingdom, in other words, goods which it pays the Irish Free State to import via the United Kingdom. One such item is tea. To find the actual value of United Kingdom goods sold to the Irish Free State these exports must be deducted from the total. The value of such re-exports in 1931 was about £9,000,000, the actual value of United Kingdom goods sold to the Irish Free State being therefore, £32,000,000.

"External trade means a great deal to the Irish Free State," said Mr.
Peters.

The trade in livestock between the Irish Free State and the United Kingdom is the largest of the kind in the world.

The interest of the Free State farmers in the United Kingdom market may be represented by saying that on the average each holding in the Free State sends every year something like 2 head of cattle 3 head of sheep and pigs and 3 head of poultry to the United Kingdom. The £35,000,000 worth exported to the United Kingdom represents close on £12 per head of the population, or £60 for the average family of five persons."

Irish Free State exports to the United Kingdom accounted for 95 p.c. of the total Free State export trade. But the slightly smaller exports of United Kingdom goods to the Free State represented under 8 p.c. of the total United Kingdom export trade.

"The moral is obvious," Mr. Peters added. "A solid trade is being done in both directions—a trade in which there is no element of one-sidedness.

"I hope then that the mutual advantage derived from the trade is sufficiently obvious to keep us from wasting time on speculations as to who gets the most out of it."

A great deal could be said about certain special features of the trade, he continued. There was the fact of the link between the currencies and the absence of a rates of exchange; the fact that the Free State ranked as pretty well the United Kingdom's best customer; the fact that the Free State as a fellow-member of the British Commonwealth of Nations, found no tariff obstacles to impede the entry of Irish Free State exports which are directed towards that market. There was the fact that, as far as official trade representatives could be of service in the pushing of trade, the Free State could call on the services of the British consular and trade officials in countries to which the Free State has no official representation.

Mr. Peters also referred to the British Industries Fair in London, and mentioned that whereas last year the Saoistat came second in point of numbers of visitors, this year it came fourth, Denmark, as usual, taking first place.

As the Free State is placed, it is obvious that development of her exporting power to the United Kingdom means increased purchasing powers, which may or may not find itself reflected in increased purchases of United Kingdom goods. On that point, at least, he was sure he could reckon on the hearty support of the trade representatives of other countries in the Irish Free State.

Mr. Charles Jacob said that the maintenance of the present friendly relations between the two countries
would promote prosperity and happy trade conditions.

The present was a period of tariffs,
and they must remember that there was a danger that tariffs would make people go slack, and not develop as they should. Their aim should be to conduct their business on the best lines, so as to be able to meet any competition.

He hoped that their representatives at Ottawa would bear in mind the fact that England was a great buyer of Irish goods, and that they must not do anything that would interfere with the free interchange of trade.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL.

Present—Mr. J. R. Smyth, P.C., Chairman, Mrs. S. Hurley, P.C., Messrs. D. Dennehy, E. Clancy, T. Beausang, E. P. Lynch, Vice-Chairman, D. J. Linehan, J. Whelan, P. J. O'Gorman, P.C., T. Murphy.

James Duggan's Self-Sacrifice.
Mr. Beausang, referred to the tragic but glorious death of their young fellow-townsmen, James Duggan, who had sacrificed his life going to the rescue of his shipmate and neighbour, George Simkins. He proposed a vote of deep and sincere sympathy with the relatives and suggested that a fund be started for the relief of his widow and orphan.

Mr. Whelan, seconding, said that Duggan had given his life for his friend and no man could do more. He was confident that not alone, the people of Youghal, to which town his brave act had brought additional lustre, but also many outsiders, who appreciated his great self-sacrifice, would generously contribute to that fund.

Mr. O'Gorman, supporting the proposition, said the tragic circumstances of Duggan's death were heart-rending. His bereaved wife and parents had their deepest sympathy.

The Clerk asked to be associated with the proposition. It was terribly sad.

The Chairman said they all regretted the sad occasion for that proposition. Their young fellow-townsmen had shown himself a true hero, giving his life for his fellow-seaman.

The resolution was then passed in silence and those present formed themselves into a Committee to organize a fund in aid.

School Meals.
The Co. M.O.H., wrote for particulars of the local School Meals Scheme, and in answer to Mrs. Hurley, the Clerk said they had given 18,500 meals during the year, the figure for the previous year being 20,000. The Council had adopted the School Scheme some 18 years ago, on the introduction of the Act, and they had never dropped it. It was the first Urban Council in the County to put it into operation.

Mr. Dennehy said it was only recently that other Urbans had taken the matter up.
Mr. O'Gorman said that the Urban Council had set a headline for the other districts in the County.

G.A.A.
The Hon. Sec., G.A.A., Youghal, applied for the use of the Town Hall on the 27th in aid of the funds of the Club.

The application was granted unanimously.

Nursing Association.
The Hon. Sec., of the local Nursing Association, applied for the use of the Hall on March 15th, to hold the Annual General Meeting.

The application was granted unanimously, free of all expense, Mr. O'Gorman remarking that it was the best organisation that ever came to the town.

Proposed Lecture.
Mr. Dermot O'Brien, Cork, applied for the Town Hall to hold a Lecture on Nursing.

The application was granted unanimously, but some of the members expressed the opinion that it was a very inopportune time for a lecture.

The Town Walls.
A letter was read from Mrs. Hanley, Montserrat, calling the attention of the Council to the fact that nothing had yet been done to repair the big breach in the old Town Walls. The result was that trespassers were constantly intruding and doing damage to her place.

Mr. Murphy said it was time that something tangible should be done to meet the complaint.

Replying to a Councillor, the Clerk said that the Town Surveyor submitted an estimate for the repair, amounting to £90.

The Chairman said they could hardly embark on such an expenditure just then.

It was finally decided to put up a wire fence across the breach for the present.

Tourist Association.
A letter was read from the Secretary Irish Tourist Association, regarding the necessity for increased publicity in view of forthcoming events. Several public bodies had already increased their contributions to the Association, and it was hoped others would follow their example.

After a short discussion, the matter was adjourned to a further meeting.

Advertising.
A number of applications, for advertisements were received from English magazines, including one in connection with the "Daily Meal" Holiday Resorts Scheme.

Mr. Whelan said the Council had dealt with a somewhat similar letter recently, and it was turned down. He wouldn't be in favour of it.

Mr. Dennehy—That wouldn't connection with the "Daily Mail" Holiday Resorts Scheme.
The Clerk—Oh, no.
No action was taken.

Proposed Shelter At Ferry Point
Mr. Dennehy said there was a letter from Col. Ronayne, on Saturday's "Dungarvan Observer" insinuating that it was the fault of that Council that there was not a shelter on the Ferry Point, for use in bad weather. He believed that matter had been discussed by that Council before, and people would like to know how it stood. Any person reading the Col's letter would come to the conclusion that the Council had been remiss in the matter.

The Chairman said, if his memory served him right, they had decided on building a jetty there, and they had done that. It was also their wish to erect a shelter, but when they went into the financial side of the question, they found it was outside their power. They were all anxious to do it, as it was undoubtedly required. The question was—where was the money to come from?

Mrs. Hurley—Isn't Col. Ronayne a very wealthy man, and if he is so anxious about the shelter, could he not do it himself?

The Clerk said the position was that the Council didn't see why they should be unaided put up the shelter referred to. It would be used as much by the people of Co. Waterford as by the people of Youghal and the Co. Cork.

Mr. Dennehy—Has the Waterford Co. Council been approached on the subject in anyway?

The Clerk—Not to my knowledge.

Mr. Murphy said the Council hadn't agreed to the shelter. There were many other things much more needed. To start with they were asked for a rent of £12 for the site alone.

Mr. O'Gorman said that was as far back as 1899, they had that matter before them, but in view of the rent demanded and the cost of erection, they couldn't see their way to carry out the project. Could they get the Waterford Co. Council to meet them half-way in the cost?

The Chairman said there was a necessity for the structure.

Mr. Murphy disagreed. They had provided two fine motor boats, and a jetty and he thought that enough.

The Chairman—Will it encourage traffic on the ferry to have a shelter there?

Mr. Dennehy—Visitors from Cork and elsewhere complain bitterly of having to stand there in the open in unexpected rain.

Mr. Lynch said there was a house there open to everybody.

The Clerk said the boat took less than 3 minutes to do the journey across the harbour.

Mr. Murphy said it was waste of time to have discussed the matter at all.

Mr. Clancy said it was around the Head that the shelter was required, much more than at the Point.

Mr. Lynch—If there is a shelter wanted at all, it is in our own strand. The subject then dropped.

YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT.

A young man named John Norris, Windmill Lane, was charged with the larceny of a number of fowl value 12/- the property of different persons.

Supt. Dennehy prosecuted and Mr. Wm. R. Hodnett, solr., defended.

The Supt. said it was only fair to state some of the charges were brought on the admission of accused and that some of the people concerned denied having lost any fowl.

It was then decided to go on one case, that of Mrs. Firmin's, who lost two.

Miss K. Firman, stated that on Sunday January 31st, she left her house for Church at 6.30. On her return at 10.30 she missed a fowl. She missed another before that. She went to Miss Ahearne, Hayman's Hill, and found a fowl, which she brought home. It was her's and worth about 2/6.

The Justice—Did you get the fowl without having to pay anything?—Yes.

Miss Aherne said she often bought fowl from Norris. Before Christmas she got a hen and two cocks, for which she gave 1/- each. He said his mother sent them over. On January 31st, she bought another from him for 1/-. That was the fowl she gave to Mrs. Firmin.

Mr. Hodnett said the boy acted foolishly and had been punished already having lost his employment. He was one of a large family, of which only the father was employed. He admitted having taken Mrs. Firmin's fowl to get money for the pictures. The boy was a bit simple and didn't realise that he had done wrong.

The accused, not sworn, said he took Mrs. Firmin's fowl, but not the others. He said he had taken them because he was frightened in the barracks, never being there before.

The Justice—Did you take another fowl from Mrs. Firmin?—No.

The Justice—I'm afraid you are after spoiling your statement.

Accused said he had taken fowl from his mother and he was afraid she would find it out.

The Justice—That they were taken by the fox (laughter).

Mr. Hodnett—The fox in the household (laughter).

Accused—She thought it was a dog took them.

The Justice—It was very unfair to blame the dog. (Laughter)

To the Court, accused said he took the fowl when Mrs. Firmin went to Church. He got into the place under the wires.

The Supt.—What were you doing with your wages?—I got them in groceries.

The Justice—He wanted some ready cash. (Laughter)

The Supt.—What do you mean by saying that the Guards frightened you?

The Justice—There was no fowl play in the barracks? (Laughter)

Mr. Hodnett said no one would accuse the Youghal Guards of doing anything wrong.

The Justice said the net result was that the purchaser had lost 1/-.
The Supt.—She is getting off lightly. Accused was let out under the P.O.A. on his father's recognisances of £5.

THE TRANSPORT QUESTION.

CALL TO NEW GOVERNMENT.

An All-Ireland Conference of the Railway Clerks' Association, held in Dublin, passed the following resolution:

"This Conference believes that it is only through a properly controlled and co-ordinated system of transport linking up all forms of rail, road, water and air services operating under a Ministry of Transport, that the industrial and social needs of the community can be effectively met, and the solvency of the transport services be restored. In this connection, it regards as utterly inadequate and ineffective the transport legislation recently enacted by the Oireachtas of the Free State, and calls upon the incoming Government to give immediate consideration to this vital problem along the lines of the Transport and Communications Bill introduced into Dail Eireann by the Irish Labour Party in November 1923."

Statements were made by the national officers and by the Irish Secretary on the transport position, the industrial and political situation, and the prospects of securing transport legislation in the Free State and Northern Ireland calculated to put the transport industry on a basis of efficiency and financial stability. The whole position of Trade Union organisation amongst the salaried grades was gone into, and branch officials and organisers warned of the necessity for a vigorous tightening-up of machinery in view of possible developments in the railway industry. Members throughout the country were urged to approach Deputies with a view to inducing them to fulfil their election pledges in regard to railway legislation.
