DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

CINEMA LICENCE.

Mr. J. Butler, Chairman, presided at the weekly meeting. The other members present were—Messrs. Hackett, McEvoy, Foley, Dee, Moloney, Keane, Lawn, McCarthy, Griffin, Power, and O'Donnell.

Expenditure. The following paysheets were passed. General A/c. £9 7s. 5d. Harbour A/c. £6 15s. 2d.

Granting Cinema Licence. The application (adjourned from the previous meeting) from Mr. Dl. Crotty, asking the Council to grant him a seven day instead of a six day licence for the Cinema, was first taken.

Mr. Foley—I am going to propose that the 7-day licence be granted. I can't see anything wrong in going to the pictures on Sunday nights.

Mr. McCarthy—I will second Mr. Foley's proposition. He would ask where is the difference in going to the pictures or going to a Whist or 45 drive. He referred to a recent 45 drive held in the Hall and said it was a disgrace. His experience at Whist or 45 Drives was that when a person made a bad trick it is not prayers you will hear said. Go up to Lismore on the chair received the quotation of 2/6 per interest in the contracts for supplies of made that as a result of an advertisement in one of the Daily Papers, he wrote for particulars and received the quotation of 2/6 per importance that the railways be saved last Sunday night and you could go to a play with the Hall full, or walk out as far as Ballinroad any Sunday night and you can go into a dance. He was going to the pictures since the practice to send an Engineer to ex-Cinema opened and he never saw a amine any harbour where it is probad picture there yet. Mr. Keane-We are all aware that the Bishop is opposed to amusements. on Sunday, and we ought not oppose his wishes in this matter. He would, therefore, move an amendment that Mr. Crotty be granted the licence on the same conditions as last year viz.,

Mr. Lawn seconded. Mr. McCarthy—If this thing was consistent I would be in favour of it, but why are dances and plays allowed in other places. It is the same Bishop is over Lismore and Ballinroad, as Dungarvan. He held it was not fair to victimise Dungarvan.

Chairman-I suppose if there is a play or dance held in other places, it is held against the wishes of the Bis- ing. Mr. Griffin after introducing the hop, but that it not why we should go against his wishes.

Mr. Keane-I was going to suggest to Mr. Foley to withdraw the resolution and allow the licence as last year. Mr. Foley-I am as good a Catholic as Mr. Keane, but I see nothing wrong with the pictures. He would not withdraw. He would like to say that he was not opposed to the Bishop or Priests

Mr. Griffin asked on what grounds was there an objection to Sunday opening. He listened to the Bishop who gave Confirmation in Abbeyside during the week and he made no reference to pictures. He suggested adjourning the matter until the Bishop was after visiting Dungarvan.

Chairman-I had a conversation with the Parish Priest within the last few days, and he gave me the opinion of the Bishop. The Bishop is opposed to Sunday openings.

After some further discussion a vote was taken on the amendment with the following result:

For-Messrs. Hackett, McEvoy. O'Donnell, Dee, Power, Moloney Keane, Lawn, and the Chairman—(9) Against-Messrs. McCarthy, Foley, and Griffin-(3).

The amendment was declared carried and a six-day licence granted to Mr. Crotty.

The National Anthem. On the suggestion of Mr. Foley, the Council asked the Clerk to write to Mr. Crotty suggesting to him to play the National Anthem at the conclusion of the programme each night. Mr. Foley-It is played in similar Railway Protective Association.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. Griffin, Hartnett, Lawlor, McGovern and Hurley, from the local branch of the above appeared before the meetdeputation, said the Railway Protective Association represented every grade in the railway. The objects of the Association in brief was to safe guard their means of livelihood, and to bring home to the Public the fact that it would be to their interest as well as ours to support the railways. It was shown in a manifesto recently distributed that the Railways were next in importance to agriculture in Ireland. Mr. Griffin then dealt with the question of wages paid by the railway Co., which in the Waterford area alone amounted to £20,000 per annum, while the wages paid per week in the Dungarvan area was over £90, all of which was spent in the town. Compare that with our competitors (continued Mr. Griffin) who I am reliably informed, that a couple of packets of cigarettes is the extent of their purchase in the town. He contended that the railways were entitled to the wholehearted support of the public and he hoped they would get that support, otherwise their efficiency will be undermined. We ask you therefore for your support and for the advocacy of your Council to help us in our campaign to get the custom back to the railways again.

Mr. Hartnett said the position of the railways is very serious. As you all know it is an Irish concern and is one of the largest ratepayers, and wage-payers in the country. Receipts are dwindling by thousands with the result that some important lines are threatened to be closed. Dungarvan deserve to think well of the railways which in days gone by brought thousands to the town. He was sure that the sympathy and support of the Council would have a good effect on the Traders of Dungarvan. Mr. Lawlor referred to the errone ous idea some people held, when they thought that no matter what happened they would still have the railways. He pointed out that the railway was like any other large firm and that without public support it would go to the wall. Mr. Lawlor also dealt with the railways as carriers of agricultural produce

He referred to the wages figure given by Mr. Griffin, the wages figure given by Mr. Griffin, and said a £90 a week payroll in the Dungarvan district was very good and very few firms pay more than that. Speaking for himself and he was use of the Hall for the purpose of re-hearsals on Tuesday and Sunday cil, he would say that anything they could do to help the railways they would do it. Mr. Hackett, referring to the road services said the Secretary of the deputation was perfectly right in his remarks about what these people spend in the town.

Chairman—I would like to get from the deputation what way we could do anything for them.

Mr. Keane—I wish to endorse the remarks made by the Chairman. I also say that the railway system of any country is its greatest asset, and he believed it was indispensable to said there was no money for the work the country's progress. He would propresently. van Urban Council, that the Irish Railways deserve our sympathy and support, being a most important Irish Industry and a transport service absolutely essential to the development of every business in the State. Mr. O'Donnell seconded. Mr. Lawn suggested to the deputation that the wholesalers of Dublin and Cork would be the best people to approach in this matter. It seemed to him that these people favour Motorways. He gets an occasional parcel through Motorways.

Mr. Hartnett—We have very strong tation, returned thanks for the man-duty. ner in which they were received and for the resolution passed. Chairman-At any other time the deputation think that the Council could be of any use to them, he would assure them that they would do anything in their power for them.

Plastering Of Piers.
A resolution by Mr. Hackett, second ed by Mr. O'Donnell, that tenders be in his notice of motion for the next invited for the plastering of the piers of the Council's houses at Mitchel St.

LISMORE NOTES.

NO DISTRICT COURT. The usual monthly District Court which should have been held in Lis more last week had to be abandoned owing to the unavoidable absence through illness of Mr. Farrell, D.J A large number of cases had been listed for hearing, including severa ejectment cases from Tallow, already twice adjourned, some charges of larceny of timber at the suit of the Lismore Estate Company, and the usual monthly list of ordinary cases at the instance of the Civic Guards.

Messrs. E. Carroll, solr., Fermoy, A. R. Farrell, solr,. Dungarvan, and J., W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, as well as a number of litigants and witnesses, were present in Court when they were informed by Sergeant Kavanagh, that a telephone message had been received from Youghal to the effect that Mr. Farrell, D.J., was unable to travel, and all the cases had accordinly to stand adjourned until next court day.

As it is expected that a considerable number of cases at the suit of the Irish Land Commission against de faulting tenants for arrears of Land Annuities will also be listed for hearing by that time, a rather heavy calendar should be in store for all at the June Court.

PROMOTION OF POPULAR YOUNG TEACHER.

It affords us great pleasure to announce that Miss Eileen O'Dwyer, a native of Feenagh, Co. Limerick, has been appointed Principal Teacher of Glencairn National School in succession to Miss Foley, Dungarvan, who recently resigned on marriage.

Miss O'Dwyer had been a teacher in views of the deputation, in what I consider a very important matter. Her appointment to the important positon of Principal of Glencairn school is a proper recognition of her worth.

LAWN TENNIS CLUB DANCE. The annual dance of the Lismore Lawn Tennis Club was held in the Town Hall (Courthouse), on Whit Monday night, and although the attendance was not quite as large as expected, there was a very select gathering of young ladies and gentlemen from the town and also from Cappo-quin and other outside districts.

work was £98. Mr. O'Connell's tender was accepted subject to suitable sureties being forthcoming.

Repairing Roofs.

The tenders received for repairing the roofs of the Lismore Workhouse Buildings were as follows:—Mr. J. Dempsey, Cappoquin—£155; George O'Brien, Lismore—£134; Patk. O'Connell, Lismore—£95.

Mr. O'Connell's tender was accepted Erection Of Storage Tank. The Ministry wrote approving of the plan submitted for the erection of a water storage tank at he Co. Home, Dungarvan.

Travelling Allowance. Mr. O'Donovan, referred to the question of members travelling allowances and dealt with the clause disqualifying members from getting the allowance unless they attended 75 per cent. of the meetings. Dealing with his own case, Mr. O'Donovan said, he was debarred from his expenses for not attending the 75 per cent. of the meetings during the year, although he was not appointed a member until play. June. Several members condemned the existing arrangements.

The Chairman said in a conversawas an error in draughtmanship.

Festival of St. Carthage in Lismore.

The above was very fittingly contributed to by a feast of Classical Irish Music, song and dance, which was given in the New Hall, on Sunday evening.

As stated before the objectives of the promoters were: To revive the memories of ancient Lismore and its Saintly Founder: To rekindle our civic pride in the Lismore that was once a city of importance and a seat of learning: Finally to bring before our people the beauty and artistic nature of classical Irish Music, Song and Dance.

We feel assured that the aims of the promoters have been realized. They did not aim at giving an ordinary Concert for mere amusement. They had a more serious purpose underlying all and that was to do something outside the purely spiritual celebra-tions, in honour of the Festival of the Saint, and this was strongly emphasised throughout during the evening

Owing to the fact that the performers were from Cork, Waterford, Limerick and Ring, etc., and as it was not certain that all could come, the programme was not arranged until all had arrived. When all were assembled a meeting was held, presided over by Father O'Flynn, of Cork.

It was proposed, that the entertainment should conclude with the hymn "Faith of Our Fathers," but Father O'Flynn objected, that its music was not all in keeping with its sentiment and that such music on such an oc-casion would be altogether incongru-ous. Instead he undertook to sing what he termed a glorious old Irish hymn in praise of St. Patrick and the Old Irish Saints. This he afterwards

The first item on the programme was happily chosen. A choir of 23 children from the Presentation Convent sang, "Cruaca na h-Eireann," "Roisin Dub," Tir n h-Oige," "Majdean i mCeara."

These were rendered in a manner and with a feeling of expression which reflects the highest credit on themselves and their teacher, Sister Mary Carthage. The singing of these children was loudly applauded, and deservedly, Lismore can feel proud of them.

The accompaniments were played on the piano by Enda Whelan, a member of the choir.

YOUGHAL CUMANN.

At a general meeting of the above Cumann held in the Town Hall, Youghal, Mr. J. Forrest, who presided, said that it was only through an ardent study of the men who made their names immortal in Irish history that the youth of Ireland could be in-stilled with that spirit of Nationality which is necessary if the Irish Nation is to be preserved as a separate entity.

Mr. P. O'Ceilleachair, O.S., then read the following paper, which was punctuated with applause.

We have now reached the 32nd year of the 20th century, and during the past 32 years of this present century the conditions under which the lower classes of the people live are a vast improvement from those under which our ancestors had to eke out an existence in the past. Many of the older people here to-night can go back in their minds to the days when they were in their teens, and picture for after the transaction of some routine themselves the conditions under business the meeting ended. which they worked. The labouring men at the present day enjoy many advantages which were not possessed by those who went before them. The rate of pay is better, the hours of work one shorter and the ordinary person now can enjoy some of the luxuries that could be claimed only by a very few who considered that they were put in this world to crush those who had to work for their daily bread. Those at the top of the social ladder who considered themselves to be the only people of importance in this world have tried hard to keep the labouring man in the mire, but he has succeeded in making himself have a say in the important matters that confront all countries at the present day. We are very often inclined to regret the changes that are taking place. but how many of us would like to work now under the slavish rule that dominated the past. Those were the deration for the ordinary man than the driver, whether with or without days when there was no more consithe dumb beast. He was used only as a cog in that mighty wheel of industrial life. To whom must we give credit for the change? The answer is the labour organisations. Between 1911 and 1913 there were several industrial upheavals. Strikes were frequent. Up to this time the labourer had to be content with the conditions that were offered him, but about this time the labourers realised that in unity there is strength, and they joined together to form the beginning of the labour movement in Ireland in 1913. They showed then that they were a force that should be reckthey were a force that should be reck oned with and from that on labour has become stronger and gained for us many advantages. The leader of the labour movement in 1913 was James Connolly, and it is to him and his fighting spirit that the Irish labourer owes in great part a relief from the capitalist. He was not satisfied with economic freedom because he realised there could be no real freedom without having political and economic combined. In him that love of freedom burned with the intensity of fanaticism like his friend in life and death, the immortal Pearse, Connolly's influence on Pearse was profound and remarked and Pearse CARRIAGES. himself esteemed Connolly as one of the greatest and most forceful men of the articles or the sum of £15, that he had known. THE MEANING OF ALALYSIS.

Nowadays a beneficent Government shields us on every side from all conceivable harm. Needless to say, this tidal shall be. in the deep bosom of the wave of restriction and regulation has ocean buried. invaded the confines of our garden and every packet of fertilizer must carry the analysis of its contents. There is no suggestion, of course, that every user will understand the meaning of the hieroglyphics displayed but their presence guarantees legal protection against dishonest manufacturers or salesmen.

Compound fertilizer analyses usually consist of declarations as to the amount of nitrogen, phosphate, and po tash contained in the mixture. With out entering into the scientific aspect it is sufficient to say that the higher answered.

the figure for each constituent, the Be of go better will be the fertilizer. Thus an ordinary mixture with an analysis of Nitrogen 2.1%, Phosphate 12.7%, and Potash 4.6% would be of very low grade and probably not worth the money charged for it.

Hitherto the analyses of most mixed garden fertilizers have been of this or- throne. der since manufacturers were 'compelled to make them by mixing vari ous ingredients together. Modern science, however, has now discovered the way to produce fertilizers of all kinds, whether for garden or farm use, by a direct chemical building-up process called "synthesis"—a method Clare Island, who, at break of dawn tory. It is now realised that if the first which permits of a high degree of concentration.

A typical example of this kind of fertilizer is the concentrated granular garden fertilizer recently placed on the market by Imperial Industries Ltd The amount of plant food it contains in any given weight may be judged from the analysis which reads:—Nitrogen 41.5%, Phosphates 13.75%, Potash

This question of concentration has an important bearing on the larger question of price. Fertilizers should be purchased on a basis of total plant food and a simple method of finding A cottier named Patk. Ryan, from this out, for those not sufficiently inithe Glendine area, appeared before tiated into the mysteries of science to work out the actual unit price of each constituent in a mixed fertilizer, is to add up the row of figures given in the analysis. The sum will be the total number of food units in the mixture. It is a simple matter, with this infora 28 lb. bag of fertilizer, containing for 3/6, but containing 40 food units. Only half the quantity of the 40 unit mixture is required to give the same result as the full recommended dose of the 20 unit mixture.

It pays, therefore, in buying fertilizers, to go for quality rather than quantity. The guide to quality is concentration, and, if a fertilizer can be obtained with a guaranteed plant food content well above the average, it should always be given preference.

It was a great meeting, the largest ever held in the County of Waterford.
A special committee had called it for the appropriate of committee had called it for the ca the purpose of considering the gene ral political situation in view of an impending crisis. A speaker was coming from Dublin, and all were anxious to hear him, as he held a high reputation as an orator. But he had not arrived, and the local speakers were also late.

The time announced for the opening had passed. The crowd were getting impatient, so the committee held a hurried consultation. One of them said: We must start somewhere, there is no sign of any of the speakers coming. Another broke in, I see a few members of the Lismore Drama-tic Society here, let us ask one of them to speak. All these chaps have the gift of the gab. The suggestion was adopted and the one appealed to 'rose to the occasion.'

Note this good old all-wool dyed in the warp tag. Our Editor sniffed and mumbled something, when he read this case-hardened hoary with age antique stand-by that has so often rendered first aid to the brain weary journalist in a hurry who hasn't time to think of an original phrase.

Here I might write: He readily acceeded to the request, or he willingly complied on being appealed to. But these are somewhat pedantic. They have an early Victorian flavour. Away with them. I have a sneaking regard for these old journalistic tags. "Rose to the occasion" stands. So Mr. Editor, please do not interrupt me again. Let me get on with my

Clay Soil Gardens.

SOME NOTES ON TREATMENT

The amateur gardener living in a district of heavy clay soils is sometimes inclined to regard his lot as hard. He need not despair. The heaviest soil will yield to correct treatment, and, in any case, many crops and flowering plants do better in clays than in lifeless gravelly or sandy soils.

THE IMPORTANCE OF LIME. The greatest ally of the clay soil gar-dener is lime. Under ordinary conditions lime is applied as a soil sweetener, but on clay it has a twofold effect. It definitely lightens the land and it releases stores of locked up potash-an essential plant food. When lime is applied to clay soils it causes the tiny component particles to run together with the result that many additional passages for air and water are formed in the land. Water no longer lies in the surface layers to any thing like the same extent, and, the soil being aerated and drained, cultivation is easier. This effect of lime is known as "floculation" and on many stiff clays advantage has been taken of it in farming practice to turn stiff "four horse" land into friable soil capable of being ploughed by three

HOW LIME RELEASES POTASH. Most gardeners are aware that all plants require Nitrogen, Phosphate and Potash, if they are to flourish, Nearly all clay soils, however, are rich in the latter element, but, normally, it is present in a form only slowly available for crop production. On clay soils which have never been limed, quite startling results are often lizer and can never replace natural or artificial plant foods, but, if the garden is limed every four or five years, not only will there be progressive improvement but it will be possible also to make substantial reductions in the

There is an old farmers' saying which runs; "Lime and lime without manure makes both farm and farmer poor." This is equally true of gardens and the fact that a clay soil has been limed is no excuse for neglecting other and more vital plant needs. is sorrow and desolation abroad, the Generally speaking, the amateur garhearts of our people are sad and their dener should rely on a complete fertisouls are sickening even unto death lizer mixture for most purposes, leavfrom the weight of the burdens laid ing the expert and the specialist to prepare requirements. When laying out a lawn on clay, therefore, attend first to the drainage and then incorporate as much sand or compost material as possible in the top layers, before at tempting to work down a seed bed. Do not time the site on which grass seed is to be sown. However valuable it may be in the garden, Eme should on no account be applied to lawns. After the seed is established, regular treatment should be given with mixtures containing a high nitrogen and sulphate of iron content. Here I.C.I. Lawn Fertilizer will, if used according to the directions, ensure a magnificent surface either for games or ornamental purposes,

> SCIENCE AND THE GARDENER. The increasing popularity of golf has led to the establishment of a special research station to examine the factors resulting in perfect greens. The knowledge acquired is at the disposal of the private lawn owner and it is as the result of it that modern lawn fertilizers have been prepared. Scientists may appear to hold them selves aloof from everyday affairs, but it is directly owing to their researches that the clay soil gardener is able to extract as much pleasure from his garden and lawn as his more fortunate brethern.

DIPPING REGULATIONS

NOTICE TO SHEEP OWNERS IN KNOCKMEALDOWN AND COMERAGH MOUNTAIN AREAS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Executive Committee of the Waterford Co. Council acting as the Local Authority under the Diseases of Animals Acts, at their meeting held in the Courthouse, Dungarvan, on the 23rd day of April, 1932, by virtue and in exercise of the powers vested in them under the Agricultural and Technical Instruction (Ireland) Act 1899, the Diseases of Animals Acts, 1894 to 1914, the Orders made thereunder and of every other power en-abling them in this behalf made the following regulations:-1. All sheep in the areas specified hereunder required to be dipped under the Sheep Dipping Order of 1915, shall be caused to be dipped by the owner or person in charge thereof at such times and at such Dipping Stations as may be specified in a notice signed by an Inspector of the Local Authority, and served by post or otherwise on the owner or person in charge of the sheep referred to in the Notice. It shall not be a compliance with these regulations to dip sheep at any other times or places save those as prescribed in the Notice above referred to. 2. All sheep in the areas specified shall be dipped, under the supervision of a Dipping Inspector appointed by them under the Sheep Dipping (Ap-pointment of Inspectors (Ireland) Order of 1915, 3 times in each year,, viz., once in the period between the first day of June and the thirty-first day of July, and twice (with an interval of not less than seven or more than fourteen days) in the period between the first day of August and the fifteenth day of November. Provided that in any case inclement weather renders dipping impossible on the date appointed, the Dippings shall be carried out on the next day that the weather is suitable therefor without any fur-ther notice being given by the Inspec-

TO PROVIDE BACON FOR THE BRITISH MARKET.

DANISH PLANS. Half a million pigs waiting to be 'bumped off"-that is one of the sequels to the bacon industry settlement revealed at Copenhagen. There is an accumulation of half a million live pigs at the farms," the official explained, "but now they will come forward-to the factories." Not the whole half million at once, how-

125,000 animals. "How will the fortnight's lock-out affect the British market-or the producing industry in Denmark?" Reuter inquired. "There are not likely to be any permanent effects," the official declared. "The lock-out has not lasted long enough to enable other countries to increase their supplies sufficiently to keep out Denmark's exports-for it takes months, if not years, to bring about any appreciable growth in the prime factor—the number of pigs available." 'There is simply this accumulation of live pigs," he murmur-

Strict measures are now being taken by the factories to ensure that England is not flooded with bacon during the first weeks after the resumption. Just now pigs are about the cheapest commodity in Denmark. Sucking pigs can be had almost for the taking, and they are being used as a means of payment, as well as to pay wages of bone and substance, good wide wearing feet and perfectly straight, free mover in all pages manent wave.

CLOSING OF MISSION AT YOUGHAL.

It is no exaggeration whatever, to say that the Mission which was Winner of over £1,000 in Stakes at brought to a conclusion at Youghal on Sunday, was a remarkable success the Diseases of Animals of Bright Star by Bendor, winner of sure foal-getter, and his gets have won Mission—one that would never be forgotten either by the good Fathers, who conducted it, or the faithful people who took part." The Redemptorist Fathers of Limerick, have carried out many retreats and missions in the Parish of Youghal since their first undertaking of the kind in November 1880,, but for regular and consistent display of devotional fervour. edifying record. From the opening on April 24th to the closing on Sun-Will stand this season at Harring-ton's Hotel Yard, Cappoquin, on crowded at the devotions in overcrowded at the devotions in every part, often with not even standing room to spare, while the numbers attending the early Mass and approaching the altar rails for Communion, furnished a striking test of the practical result of the good Fathers' labours. Even the inclement weather of the past week had not the slightest apparent effect on the attendance In addition to the usual sacred routine of the mission, Fathers Cleary, Regan and Corr, C.SS.R., who conducted, gave a week's mission for the children and a week also for the outside portion of the Parish in the Church at Gurtroe. On the previous Sunday, they supervised the celebration of the Golden Jubilee of the Consecration of the Confraternities of the Holy Family, which were originally established in the Parish by their Predecessors in the Sacred Ministry, at the great mission in 1880. On last Thursday night they consecrated the Parish to Our Blessed Lady, and on the following morning they said a Solemn Requiem Mass for the dead ever, for the weekly capacity of all of the parish, with Father Regan as the slaughter houses does not exceed celebrant, Father Cleary, deacon; Father Corr, sub-deacon and Rev. W. Carey, C.C., Master of Cermonies.

In the course of the elaborate series of sermons delivered by the Fathers during the mission, reference was made in strong terms to the excessive indulgence in dancing until the small hours, which had been condemned by the Bishops. An appeal was made to the faithful to be on their guard against the insidious attacks on the faith which appeared from time to time in the English Sunday papers, and the preachers exhorted the people to support the Catholic newspapers, periodicals and other literature, f which there was such a good supply.

Owing to the large numbers attending, it became necessary to hold two closing sermons-for the women at 3 o'clock and for the men at 7.30, and the church was filled on both occasions. The solemn function was carried out with all the usual impressive detail, including renewal of Baptismal vows, with lighted candles, imparting of the Papal Blessing and concluding with Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

MEALS FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN. It will be interesting to the public to learn that on all school days from 2nd November, 31, to 23rd, March 1932, meals consisting of bread, butter and milk, to the number of 25,767 were served to children attending Dungarvan schools, under the scheme provided by the Urban Council. This is one of the most important schemes that could be imagined, and the salubrious effect on the youth of good warm meals in winter weather, must have far reaching effects on the development of strong and sturdy boys and girls, not only physically, but intellectually. The Urban Council deserves well of the public for their action in the mater.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

On Monday evening, a motor oil lorry, the property of Messrs. Pratt, which was being driven by Francis rather serious accident when returning from Cappoquin to Dungarvan. The lorry was proceeding slowly at the time, and when it had reached a point a short distance beyond the entrance to Derriheen House, a few hundred yards from the town, the back axle snapped and it was unable to proceed any further. The vehicle lay in a diagonal position across the road from the left side but, fortunately, there was ample room for all kinds of traffic to pass on the other side. Having remained there throughout Monday night, some members of the staff of Mr. Sargent's Garage, fitted in a new axle and carried out other necessary adjustments on Tuesday, so that the lorry was fit for action again on

At Ballyduff Lower Gaelic Grounds on last Sunday, a two-part programme in connection with this year's Eastern Divisional Championships was brought off before a very big gathering. The weather was glorious, the field arrangements perfect, and the games were capitally contestedthe standard of play in both bouts reached an appreciably high order. In Junior football, Gaultier (0-2) succumbed to Newtown (0-4); while in junior hurling Millvale Rovers (2-4) lost to Ballytruckle (3-2).

Mrs. Kate Power, Adamstown, Kilmeaden, who was buried at Newtown Parish cemetery, on the 14th inst., had gained the grand old age of 82 years. She is survived by her family of four sons and two daughters. The funeral from Adamastown to Newtown was a fine tribute of respect to the memory of a worthy neighbour. By the way, the late Mrs. Power, was an aunt of Mr. Patrick Barron, leather merchant, Square, Kilmactho-

The Clerk said one of the biggest losses was the Military Barracks.

Mr. Broderick said in addition all new buildings were practically free of rates for years, thereby placing an extra burden on existing ratepayers. That was done for the purpose of en-couraging new buildings, but why should the ordinary ratepayer be called upon to pay for it by providing all the necessary public services for those buildings. The most equitable way to deal with the matter would be by way of grants out of Government funds. He thought that all Urhan Areas should combine in demanding grants in lieu of rates they would ordinarly receive on new buildings.

May Pasture Grazing and Moisture Conservation.

On the approach of May the hopes of that incurable optimist, the farmer, rise high. The month not only brings the lower layers of many soils, especially those light types of land on the about the transformation of the counalso occasions big changes in the daily routine on the farm, when the transition from winter to summer management of live stock takes place. On the latter joyful occurrence the farmer's interests are almost entirely transferred from the farmyard to the fields for the time being, and attention is concentrated on root sowings and on one or another of the multifarious jobs which are always accumulating during the busy season.

Ordinarily, May is a month of rapid growth, when orchards and hedgerows, now in full leaf, come into blossom, when the latest of the trees-oak, beech, and ash-assume their shady summer foliage, and the corn fields and 'seeds' pass from the creeping stage to that of gracefully waving leafy verdure. Pastures, too, respond willingly to the influences of nature, by yielding an abundance of luscious herbage, and groan beneath the weight of industrious cows, sheep, and store stock. Except in the best of seasons, there is always a certain amount of anxiety towards the close of the indoor season, lest a period of shortage might occur forward for grazing heavily. Hence with what a sense of infinite relief we effect the change from winter to sunimer management of live stock! Grass day, which falls traditionally on the 12th of May, is probably the most important and welcome of dates in the farmer's year, but weather and district cause considerable variation in the time at which cattle may be atlowed out. No two farms are alike, and the condition of the pasture affords the best guide as to when grazing may be commenced. When it is seen that the pastures are developing cover does not exceed 320 square a good deep "bottom," with growth progressing rapidly, and grass of 4 to 5 inches in length is present in sufficient quantity to maintain stock without undue reliance on hay, then it may be considered time to start the grazing season. Pastures should not be grazed too closely in May, however, as the grass may receive a severe check and be slow to recover. Sometimes the effect of too close eating is noticeable for weeks, especially when dry, hard weather occurs soon after the grazing. As a result of the bareness, weeds such as daisies, plantain, and others grow the grasses to the detriment of the pasture fields for years afterwards. The system of mixed grazing with different classes of animals is being widely practised at the present time, cloths. 25 p.c.—15 p.c.

The Justice—Are these charges at and has much to commend it. From an agreed rate?—Yes, at the published rate is system is far preferable to continued grazing with one particular class of winter and spring we have had, the amount of stored-up water present in the lower layers of many soils, especimore elevated positions, is probably try-side to its summer grandeur, but not as large as would be desirable. ourable situation's would be adversely affected should a dry summer set in. A dry summer after a dry winter would have a serious effect on the yield of grass, hay, roots etc., and while we cannot to any noteworthy extent minimise the effects of the former, we can by skilful cultivations prevent the escape of a considerable amount of the reserve of soil moisture, which then becomes available for the root crops. Fearing a dry summer, therefore, that moisture which is present in the land after winter's rains must be carefully held there. To this end, land being made ready row strips at a time, so that each portion can be made ready, drilled, manured, re-closed, and sown on the same day. In the meantime, until its turn for drilling comes, the remaining part of a filed should be lightly harrowed to prevent drying out, and this opera-tion may be repeated if the interval while awaiting attention is a long one. On land which has not undergone the final tilt producing operations, before the grass becomes sufficiently sowing might advantageously be delayed for a few days after closing the drills. In this interval moisture will have risen from beneath, and the centre of each drill will be nicely moist. Just prior to sowing, a light harrow should be run over them to remove dry lumps, small weeds, etc., and provide a firm moist soil in which seeds will readily establish them-

As the season advances, a large amount of moisture conservation can be effected also by suitable tillage work between trenches with the hoe, scuffler, etc., and the benefits of such surface cultivations are many.— "MAC." in "Farmers Gazette."

BY THE WAY. The proud Portlaw pater was discussing the merits of his four-year-old gorsoon. "Why," he said. "I'm sure he'll make a great billiards player, for every time he gets hold of a piece of chalk he chalks O's all over the place, and also his favourite toy is a cannon, a nursery cannon of course." "Really," said his Fiddown friend. "Yes," went on the boastful parent. "One day his uncle came to see him, and pulling a handful of coins out of his pocket, selected a shilling and a sovereign, and asked him which he would have."

"I suppose he went for the red," anticipated his friend. 'No," replied the proud papa." What he did was to pocket both red and white and ask for the rest. We are having the need for economy drummed into our ears ad nauseam these days No doubt there is justification for the clarion call, but to make the demand of the times an excuse for petty and miserable downright meanness is inexcusable. read, Mr. Monks explained in a very interesting manner, everything contained therein. Other business matters were also considered and a long and very interesting discussion took place on the subject of—"Winter versus Spring and Early Summer Dairying."

The Supervisor in presenting the 17th Annual Report on the work carried out in the Association during the 1re out in the 1re out i year 1931, stated that out of a total number of 146 cows on test, 140 had complete records and gave an average yield per cow of 5,924 lbs. of milk and 214 lbs. butter-fat, with an aver-

The best 3-year-old heifer is the property of Mrs. B. Condon, Tallow, a non-pedigree Shorthorn named "Beauty" which yielded 6,132 lbs. milk, 258 lbs. butter-fat and an average test of 4.22 per cent in a period which he had conducted the age test of 4.22 per cent. in a period ner in which he had conducted the of 37 weeks.

Mr. Hugh Higgins, Curraglass, had the best average for any herd in the Association, with 6,949 lbs milk, 243 lbs. butter-fat, and an average test of 3.49 per cent.

The following is an analysis of cows according to milk yields:—1 cow yield-ed over 1,000 gallons of milk; 3 cows yielded between 900 and 1,000 gallons 13 yielded between 800 and 900 gal lded between 700 and 800

tion, held on the 29th, January, all the out-going officers were re-elected for the present year. At this meeting also an interesting discussion on the subject of "Winter versus Spring and early Summer Dairying," took place. An old member of the Association who had experience of both winter and spring dairying for some years a stated. had experience of both winter and spring dairying for some years, stated that in his opinion winter dairying paid better; he gave the following reasons:—(1) that the milk yield per cow would be increased considerably; (2) that the winter cow, especially the early winter cow, would be in a stronger and healthier condition at the time of calving—thereby being better fitted for its current lactation period as well as transmitting more vitality to the calf; (3) that calves from winter cows were, in general, more robust, less liable to disease, better to thrive, more suitable for early marketing, and would fetch a higher price at any period, even at the time of birth, than the calves born in late spring or early summer months.

Thus in 1929, the average cow in the Association was up to the minimum standard in milk and butter-fat yields as required by the Department of Agriculture for Registration purposes. From the foregoing, it will be seen that the yields of the Association in 1915, were gradually increasing—which proves the value of milk recording and testing, apart even from the benefits derived through the cattle breeding schemes with which it is associated.

The number of cows presented for inspection in 1931 was 6, and only one passed for registration. The number of visits paid to member's herds during the year was 105; the number of samples taken was 763; the number of samples taken was 763; the number of samples taken was 763; the number of completely paralysed, to the

THE LATE MR GARRET COLBERT, LISMORE.

Those amongst us who can remember the wonderful athletic prowess of the men of the Co. Waterford some 40 or 50 years ago, will learn with regret of the death of Mr. Garret Colbert, Lismore, which occurred at his residence, Main street, on the 10th inst., at the age of 75 years, after a inst., at the age of 75 years, after a week's illness.

Born in Ballinwilling, Cappoquin, the late Mr. Colbert, went to reside in Lismore when quite a young lad and from his early days he took a keen interest in Irish athletics, and in fact in every form of manly sport.

Starting off with the sprinting events, including the 100 and 220 yards, he quickly won fame and prizes as a veritable "flyer" in those departments, and in a short time the departments, and in a short time the mere fact that Garret Colbert was to be a competitor at any sports meeting struck terror into the hearts of other competitors who were at the top of their 'form" at the time. Some time later he took on more ambitious events, including the 440 yards, half mile and mile, as well as the high jumps, and in all those strenuous tests of stamina he held the same un-broken record of successes as he had held in the other branches.

One outstanding feat of his as a long jumper was to jump across the lock of the Lismore canal one day for a wager, and when it is remembered that the lock is 21 feet in width, and allowed only a short run of about 4 feet on its bank for a "take-off," this wonderful jump will be all the better appreciated by the athletes of the pre-

A man of splendid physique, who stood 6 feet 3 inches in his stockings, he was able to clear the cross-bar in the high jumy at 6 ft. 2 inches, with ease, and after he had done this it was not unusual for him to walk under the bar to prove how easily he had jumped over his own hefty height.

An important Sports meeting was once being held in Lismore, under the auspices of the Lismore Protestant College, one of the items on the programme being a mile race. In view of the fact that an English Army Sergeant, who held the championship for this event in the army, had entered for this test, the late Mr. Chetwood Cur-rey, Lismore Castle, took Mr. Colbert in hand and put him through a spe-cial course of training, and as the event was confined to the two, great local interest was taken in the con-The army champion was leading during the first portion of the dis-tance, with his opponent safely holding on to him, but, apparently, the pace was too slow for the fleet-footed Garret, because when half the journey had been completed, he shouted to the leader, 'Can't you go any faster than that" to which the other rather confidently replied, "I think I'm confidently replied, "I think I'm confidently replied, "I think I'm satisfaction is assured to all. going a bit too fast for you, old chap."

"Very well," said Colbert, "I'm in a

of his fame and "form" he had two other notable Lismore men, Tim Driscoll, and Ned Baldwin, competing SPECAIL PRICEwith him, and Baldwin later made a great name for himself as a boxer in America, so that Lismore has no rea-son to be ashamed of some of its sons who shed such lustre on the old town in those far-off days.

It is a fact worth recording that de-ceased had a brother, the late Wallace Colbert, Ballinwilling, who also held a brilliant record as an athlete about the same time, and when advancing years compelled Garret to retire from the arena which he loved so well, and which he had always adorned in the past, his son, Jack Colbert, worthily "stepped into his father's shoes" and in the course of a few years won no less than 450 prizes, several of them being for championship events, in the 100 and 220 yards, and also the high

In order to show the high state of efficiency which Lismore athletes had reached at the time, it may be mentioned that at the Presentation Col-lege Sports, in Cork in 1901, a valuable Silver Challenge Cup was put up by the late Sir Edward Fitzgerald, then Mayor of Cork, and this was first won in the 220 yards event by John A. Goode, Lismore, while it was won the following year by Maurice Mc-Carthy, Lismore, and in 1903 it was won by Jack Colbert, son of the great athlete who is the subject of this brief

The latter retired from athletics in due course with a brilliant record of victories to his credit, and is at present residing in Waterford city.

The late Mr. Garret Colbert, was one of the most charming and interesting of men in private life, and one whose modesty and unassuming character forbade him from taking any pride in his great exploits during his earlier years. He was a great fav-ourite amongst all classes of the people in the town for which he had won such honour and distinction in the past, and his death after such a brief illness is deeply regretted by all, and the sincere sympathy of the public will be tendered to the members of his family and other relatives in Lismore, read the final prayers at the TRAGIC END TO THE LINGBERG MYSTERY.

Mr. Harry Moore, the Governor of New Jersey, announces that Colonel Lindberg's baby, Charles Augustus Lindberg, who was kidnapped from his home here on March 1st, has been

The Governor said he had been informed by Colonel Schwartzkof, Chief of the New Jersey Police, that a baby had been found dead near the Lindberghs' estate.

The body was found by neighbours of Colonel Lindberg.

STORY OF THE CRIME. The discovery of the kidnapping of the baby from the second-floor nur-sery of the Lindbergh home was made at 10 o'clock in the evening of March ist last, by Miss Betty Gow, the child's nurse. A three-section ladder lay outside. A warped wooden shutter to the baby's room was unlocked, and the police suggested that the baby had been carried through it.

Tremendous feeling was aroused throughout the country, and a widespread search was at once instituted. Mrs. Lindbergh, stricken to the heart by her tragic loss, particularly in view of the fact that the baby was at the time suffering from a cold, published his diet through the Press, with a request to the kidnappers to follow it. A friend of Col. Lindbergh told the reporters that a ransom note was found pinned to the window-sill, generally reported, to demand 50,000 dollars for the baby's return, though some doubt was later thrown on this.

The police throughout the country at once got to work, and hundreds of persons, including the servants, were taken to an improvised police station within the Lindbergh estate and questioned, without result.

After five days had passed fruitlessly, Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh turned to the underworld for help, and au-thorised "Salvy Spitale" and Irving Bitz, two of its well-known characters to negotiate for them with the kidnappers. Col. Lindbergh also hired a detective from "Pinkerston's," the famous detective agency. Al Capone asked to be released from goal to help in the search. The churches through-out the nation were meanwhile offering up prayers for the baby's recovery Ther came the announcement that from the kidnappers had actually been received, and on March 27th,

Dr. Dobson-Peacock stated that he had definitely ascertained the baby was alive and well, and would, he expected, be returned within a week. Major Schoeffel, Col. Schwartkof's assistant, paid a visit to England and the Continent "on a special mission," but nothing resulted. Then on April 9th it transpired that after various comings and goings on the part of the child's father, he had actually paid the professed kidnappers 50,000 dollars on agreement to reveal the baby's whereabouts, but that they had not kept their word. Col. Lindbergh obtain money.

Col. Lindbergh, deeply disappointed, thereupon announced his willingness to resume negotiations with the kidnappers and to pay them in gold instead of notes which the numbers would be known to the police. It was then declared that the kidnappers had either been double-crossed by them or had been a victim of an un-scrupulous ruse by other criminals to had raised thir ransom demand to 150,000 dollars.
