All Hand Work for Road Maintenance.

ABOLITION OF MACHINERY PROPOSED.

CO. SURVEYOR'S CURE.

At Tuesday's meeting of the County Council, Mr. Kiersey, T.D., presiding.

Mr. Heskin moved that all quarry work and stonebreaking for the road-works scheme 1933-34 be carried out by hand thereby giving much-needed employment. He said there were a big number of unemployed from the Tallow district present. Taking the present state of affairs in the County, he was satisfied a large part of the work done by machinery on road maintenance could be carried out by hand which would do away with unemployment to a great extent. They had a duty to the poor and the ratepayers. Last Wednesday, they had a deputation representing the unemployed before the Board of Assistance asking for an increase in the rate of assistance. Those qualified for unemployment benefit get it and others get assistance. That was all dead money and there was nothing done for it. By providing work for the unemployed they could reduce their estimate for Home help, and they would be doing a good day's work for the ratepayers. The work could be done by hand more cheaply than by machinery.

Mr. Bowen—Oh, no. Mr. Heskin then quoted figures showing that with machinery and plant and a few men it cost £4 18s. 6d., per day for an output of 40 cubic yards at 2/5d. per cubic yard, while the same sum of money would employ 16 men at 5/- per day and 98 cubic yards of stone would be broken. In another job by machinery at stone breaking he said the average daily output was 60 yards at 2/10d. per cubic yard and if broken by hand the output would be 86 yards at 2/- per yard and employment would be given to 34 men. At the above cost about 50 men could be employed per day for the same amount of money. A big amount of this work could be done during the winter months if the money were made available and the men need not be paid home help as they would if not employed. In the ranks of the hunger-marchers you have men who never worked and never will work, but here you have a body of men who are willing to work if you give it to them (hear, hear).

Mr. Greene—It is most desirable that men willing and able to work should get it and not have the humiliation of out-door relief. Honest men willing to work should get it.

Mr. Heskin—You have a memorial from the people of Tallow and the surrounding districts and a deputation is here in support of it. They recommend that the works mentioned should be undertaken with all speed to provide work and keep men and their families from destitution.

Mr. O'Ryan—We have a resolution on the books already that all work be done by hand as far as possible.

Petition Read. Martin McNamara, then read the petition of the Tallow unemployed which set out the unfortunate position of 48 workers and their dependents to the number of 74 facing the winter. They asked for work to keep them rather than become a burden on the ratepayers through Home Assistance. They suggested that the river be cleaned to prevent flooding; the carting and breaking of stones for the Kilmenny, Youghal and Fermoy roads. He understood £3,000 had been allocated to improve the sewerage at Tallow and that work, if now put in hands would help to tide them over Christmas. They also asked that only local labour be employed and that the Council discourage the use of machinery as in the past much more work would be provided, but for the extensive use of machinery.

Mr. O'Ryan said the Department of Lands was very keen on reforestation and wanted to get in touch with men who had lands fit for planting as they were anxious to start work at once. A reasonable price would be paid for such waste land.

Mr. Roche—There is no such land round Tallow.

Mr. Heskin—Why not get permission to extend the overdrift and get on with the work. If a certain amount of money could be made available the work could be proceeded with at once. It was a great necessity in every area and the Council would be doing a good day's work to try and have work secured for the unemployed.

Mr. Butler—Mr. Heskin said money must be provided and that was the right note to strike. If that Council were in earnest in their sympathy with the unemployed they should raise the money forthwith and that was the only way to relieve unemployment. You can have a deputation from every town in the County as well as Tallow. Something practical must be done and the only thing is to raise the necessary sum to carry on the work. Lip sympathy is no good for the unemployed. The Chairman said they should get an overdrift now of approximately the amount they would strike in April and have it available for work during the winter in place of next spring.

Mr. Heskin—Can the Co. Surveyor tell us what amount of money would be necessary to carry out the works mentioned in the Tallow area?

Mr. Bowen—Until the Council decides what they are going to do what is the good of that. When the Council get my estimate for work to be done they say the ratepayers are broke and that they have nothing. He was quite satisfied to say what was required, but there was no use in the Council saying one thing one day and a different thing another day. The Council must first say how much money they will give to the different works. On that point, he thought, there would be a certain amount of danger as they would spend the money in the first few months and have nothing for the rest of the year. He would suggest that certain work should be done at this time of the year, but until the Council decided how much money they would give next year it would be no use for him to discuss it.

Mr. O'Ryan—Can't we get an overdrift to do a certain amount of quarrying and breaking during the winter?

Mr. Bowen—You must look at the whole question. You will want a very heavy overdrift to carry out the works you passed last January and owing to the backward state of the rate collection.

Mr. Heskin said according to the Secretary of the Board of Assistance there would be an overdrift of the Home Assistance Account to the extent of £7,000 if what he proposed was done work would be given to the men and there would be a reduction in Home Help.

Mr. O'Gorman—There is also great unemployment in Lismore. Messrs. Paxman's Factory has closed down and a lot of men are thrown idle. They prefer to work and don't want the dole. If you give them work it will save Home Assistance.

Chairman—How much did we get from the Agriculture grant?

Secretary—You were £8,000 short.

Mr. Roche suggested that the amount of money Mr. Bowen spent on machinery be provided by an overdrift and that it be spent during the winter months. Stones could be quarried, carted and broken. No more money would be spent according to the figures given.

Mr. Bowen—The figures are wrong. Mr. Roche—it is better to provide work for the unemployed and shut down the machinery. It strikes me the Council are in favour of shutting off the machinery where the work can be done by hand.

Mr. O'Donnell—In my opinion it would be better to look for a grant than to increase the overdrift.

Mr. O'Ryan—If you approve the overdrift to-day there is a possibility it may not be called upon very largely as the Co. Surveyor would be in a position to know what about the other works. If you don't give employment you must pay out the money in Home Assistance.

Mr. Roche—If you take up the work done by machinery you can have a good deal done.

Mr. Fox—There is a difference in doing the work by machinery and by hand.

Mr. Heskin—Mr. Bowen says my figures are wrong.

Mr. Bowen—They are totally wrong. Secretary—At the 31st of March, there would be due to us from the Agricultural Grant £14,232. £12,772 was your overdrift at present, but you have payments to-day for £43,381.

Mr. Heskin suggested they apply for an overdrift of £20,000 for road works.

Mr. Bowen—Mr. Heskin's figures are totally wrong. There is no need to argue it. I am quite in favour of the objects of Mr. Heskin's resolution, but we must put it in a different way. In this County we are doing a very large proportion of work by hand. You cannot do without machinery. There are stones that cannot be broken by hand and even badly by machinery. All the rough stones that can be broken by hand are so broken all over the place. I will do it as far as possible. You cannot do without machinery. It does not reduce labour to that extent. The Governments of the countries where labour is paramount and Almighty have a large amount of machinery. I will employ labour as far as economically possible, but beyond that I cannot go and no one could expect it. Why should their work be rendered helplessly inefficient by a resolution of that sort. Machinery was not doing away with labour at all. It leaves more money to do more work and employ a lot of men. If you want to attack machinery in this fashion I would suggest that the farmers use spades to dig their land in place of ploughing it and thus give all the men employment and in place of having their clothes woven by machinery that it be done by hand also. Then everybody would be employed. The resolution should read that the Council recommend the Co. Surveyor to carry out the road works so far as economically possible by the use of hand labour. Mr. Heskin—Last year when the work was going on in Tallow, certain married men were refused work and that was greatly responsible for bringing this motion forward. Certain men were being kept out of work. I brought it before the Co. Surveyor, and he said he would inquire into it. If you don't safeguard the interests of the poor as well as the rich I don't know where we are.

Mr. O'Gorman asked if tarring were stopped would there be a big saving? All the farmers in the County were up against it. It was not fair to the public for the benefit of the motors and lorry owners. Cattle were falling on the slippery roads and farmers could not go to town.

Chairman—You won't get a man or woman to walk 10 yards to the Railway station while there are 'buses on the roads.

Mr. Roche said if tractors were taken off the roads more employment would be given.

Mr. Butler—There is no use in raising false hopes in the hearts of the unemployed. The resolution on the books already would not give any unemployed man in the County a day's work. I thought the County Council were not in earnest and now I see they are not. I had my doubts about it seeing that Mr. Greene was the seconder and he has a resolution to suspend the rate collectors warrants. The unemployed of this County are not going to get anything from this resolution and Mr. Heskin should stick to his original motion.

Mr. Greene—Mr. Butler has referred to me in rather a contemptuous manner and doubts my sincerity. I say I am sincere in the interests of the ratepayers. The public know I am sincere and he is not.

Mr. Butler—You are sincere for the ratepayers, but not for the unemployed.

Mr. Greene—I am sincere also for the unemployed.

Mr. Butler—If you were you would not have that motion on the agenda.

Mr. O'Ryan—I am as earnest as Mr. Butler about the unemployed. He changed his coat and ran away from labour and got up on a different platform and if he could get another platform now he would get up on it.

Chairman—If the motion is passed how are we to get grit to steam roll the roads? If you tie the hands of the Co. Surveyor what will happen?

Mr. Butler—I ask Mr. Heskin to stick to his motion.

Mr. O'Ryan said so far as possible stones should be broken by hand, but some stones could not be so broken.

A Tallow Man—We broke stones that the breaker could not break. Men were idle while the tractors were drawing stones and the machinery breaking them.

Mr. Heskin said by adopting the resolution there would be nothing to prevent any member coming there again and protesting against Mr. Bowen not giving more employment to the men.

Mr. Bowen—And there would be nothing to prevent you coming here and asking the Council to raise the sum from £80,000 to £180,000 to do this and create inefficient employment.

Mr. O'Ryan—In this abnormal period we should ask the Co. Surveyor to go as far as possible and do the work by hand except where it cannot be done.

Mr. Bowen—I said half a dozen times I am quite agreeable, but not to the resolution as it stands. I would go further and ask the Council to recommend that every farmer should do the same thing and do all his farm work by hand.

A Voice—And do away with milking machines.

Mr. Bowen—And milk his cows by hand and have his clothes made by hand.

Mr. Heskin—As regards milking cows by hand, I have a milking machine and I challenge any farmer in the Free State to show that he is giving as much labour as I am.

The resolution was then put and passed "as far as the work could be possibly done by hand."

Mr. Bowen suggested that the Council press strongly for a further grant.

On the motion of Mr. Heskin, seconded by Mr. O'Ryan, it was agreed to apply for an overdrift of £15,000 to carry on certain road works during the winter.

ATTACKED BY BULL. While in the act of bringing his premium Bull to Dungarvan on Wednesday for inspection, Mr. John Fitzgerald, Bayview, was attacked by him on the road and knocked down. Had it not been for the timely action of his boy in beating off the animal, Mr. Fitzgerald would have been seriously injured.

MARKETS. Meal (mixture) 17/6; middiecut 17/-; flour 15/6; bran 9/- cwt.; pollard 9/-; Creamy Butter (retail) 1/2d. per lb.; coal (English) 42/6 per ton; German coal 40/- per ton; eggs 1/5 per doz; white oats 9/-; black oats 7/- per barrel.

Witness: He was very far from unsatisfactory.

Bounties to Pay Rates.

PROPOSAL AT CO. COUNCIL.

CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY.

At Tuesday's meeting of the County Council, Mr. O'Gorman, V.C., presiding.

Mr. Greene, moved:—

"That the only industry in the County being Agriculture, the Ratepayers are now in a desperate plight as a result of the economic war and to assist in averting a complete financial collapse and bankruptcy of the people, we suspend the Rate Collectors warrants for the half year ending March, 1933, and that the County services may be maintained, we call on the Government to apply for this purpose the bounties now being granted for the export of cattle and pigs, as we recognise that through inefficient administration these bounties do not reach the producer."

He said he did not intend to dilate on the dire distress existing amongst the ratepayers. It was known and there was no necessity for him to expand on it. Something must be done to relieve the distress. They had a mandate from the people and should do something for them and make a virtue of necessity. There was a great difficulty in collecting the rates. They would not approve of sending up the henchmen of the county in competition with the bailiffs to get the poor man's cow. In Carrick the previous day there was a miserable exhibition when poor men were processed for their arrears with decess in every case. He thought the Government should give full and complete derating. Now was the time for it and they should apply for the purpose the bounties on cattle and bacon. He did not mean "inefficient" administration in any invidious sense, but he thought as the bounties were not reaching the producers this was the best thing to do. He himself got none of the bounty on pigs he sold. Did they think cattle-dealers could go round and give the bounty to the people? It would not be human to expect them to do so. If the workers were in dire distress so too were the farmers and the farming community in general and shopkeepers and all others dependent on the produce of Agriculture.

Chairman—I think you should withdraw the resolution, as if the rates are not paid the Mental Hospital, County Home and Hospitals, Home Assistance and everything else would collapse.

Mr. Greene—I pointed to a source where the money could be had by giving us the amount spent on bounties.

Chairman—If you suspend the Collectors' warrants what becomes of your bonds?

Mr. O'Ryan—If you pass the resolution the people in the Asylum must be taken home and those in the Co. Home left out. If you interfere with the Rate Collectors' Bonds, you relieve them of all responsibility and you have no further security. Agriculture is in a deplorable condition all over the world. We got better prices for milk this year than last year.

Members—Not at all.

Mr. O'Ryan said it was not less than 4d. a gallon this year and they got a bounty. Everything had been done to come to the relief of the farmers and the farmers should do their part. This war was forced upon them and if they yielded they would suffer all the consequences. This time last year the Public Safety Act was passed because Peadar O'Donnell, preached against the collection of the Land Annuities, and any one preaching that policy would be put in Arbour Hill by the last Government.

Chairman—We are getting into politics.

Mr. Butler said if that resolution were passed it would be an order to Mr. Bowen to close down as no man could be employed. That was serious.

Mr. Greene—it is equally serious for the ratepayers.

Mr. Butler—in addition to closing up the public institutions, it would throw everyone out of work. The County services should be maintained, and he would suggest that they call on the Government for the amount paid in bounties.

Mr. Greene—Desperate diseases require desperate remedies and that is why I brought this forward. I can quite see the feeling of the Council is against me as regards the suspension of the Rate Collectors' warrants, but it is quite superfluous as the rates cannot be paid.

Mr. Roche said the bounties should go to the relief of the rates in place of the misleading way they are given at present.

Mr. Greene then withdrew his original motion and moved:—"That the Government be asked to apply the sum now given in bounties for the export of cattle and pigs as a grant in aid of the rates on Agriculture as we are satisfied such bounties do not reach the producer."

Mr. Roche seconded, and the resolution was passed unanimously.

Cumann na nGaedheal.

KILROSSANTY.

Mr. Patrick Fitzgerald, Co. Councillor, presided at a meeting to re-organise Kilrossanty Branch. Mr. Kiersey, T.D., said that Fianna Fail was endeavouring to conceal its blunders by talking about a secret agreement. There was no secret agreement. Fianna Fail knew that there was no secret agreement, but it suits their purpose to say that the agreement of 1923 was secret. The terms of the agreement of 1923 in relation to the Land Annuities were brought before the Dail in June 1923, and discussed there. A provisional arrangement was made permanent by the Land Act of 1923, which passed through nine stages in the two Houses—Dail and Senate. Again in the appropriation Act 1923, clear and open provision was made for the necessary monies to discharge payments concerning the Land Annuities, Local Loans and R.I.C. Pensions. Facts and records prove that there was no secret agreement, just as facts and records prove that there was no budget deficit last year, notwithstanding Fianna Fail statements to the contrary. The 1931-32 Budget balanced on 31st March last with in fact a surplus of £400,000. The actual figures were given in the Press. Further, the present Minister for Finance, Mr. MacEntee, had to admit in the Dail that he had misinformed Mr. de Valera and that no such deficit existed. Fianna Fail now find the people turning against them, and they are trying to retain office by misrepresenting Cumann na nGaedheal.

Mr. James Daly, Dungarvan, and Mr. Connolly also spoke. The following resolution was passed:—"That this meeting congratulates Mr. Cosgrave and Cumann na nGaedheal for introducing a motion in the Dail asking that the collection of land annuities be suspended as long as the British tariffs on Free State agricultural produce and stock are in force, thereby forcing Fianna Fail to admit the inability of the farmer to pay his land annuities."

The branch was re-organised with the following officers:—Chairman—W. Walsh; Vice-Chairman—Michl. Connors; Treasurer—Thos. Walsh; Secretary—Thos. Fitzgerald. The Committee are—Messrs. M. Veale, M. Power, P. Walsh, J. Wall, J. Torpey, J. Croty, J. Wall, J. Baker, T. Power, J. Hobbs, M. Walsh, N. Dunphy, D. Grady, E. Melican, J. Walsh.

BALLINROAD.

A branch was organised in Ballinacorney for the districts of Ballinroad, Ballinacourty, Garranbane and Clona.

Mr. Kiersey, T.D., addressed a representative meeting in Ballinacourty. The following resolution, proposed by Mr. T. Veale and seconded by Mr. T. Colender, was passed:—"That we protest against the proposal of the Government that collection of the next two instalments of land annuities should be merely postponed and that the farmers should ultimately be required to pay them a second time with interest at the rate of four and a half per cent., because a moratorium of this kind has only the effect of rivetting double payments on the farmers."

The following officers were elected: Chairman—T. Veale; Vice-Chairman: Maurice Foley; Treasurer: Mat Power; Secretary: John Higgins. The Committee are—Messrs. P. Hogan, T. Colender, M. Ryan, S. Barron, P. Meany, M. Hanrahan, P. Treacy, M. Veale, T. Power, Michl. Treacy, P. Carroll.

KILBRIEN.

Mr. Kiersey, T.D., Mr. James Daly, and Mr. Connolly, addressed a meeting in Kilbrien on Sunday. Mr. E. Cullinane, presided.

Mr. Kiersey said that no alternative markets have been found, because none exist as every sensible man knows. But the Fianna Fail Government put up a silly pretence and wasted money pretending to look for them. Finally, Mr. de Valera, had to admit in the Dail that none existed. In the Dail on August, 5th, 1932 he said:—"I should like to say now, and it is well people should know it, that I see little prospect of establishing alternative markets." But he did not admit that alternative markets could not be found until he had destroyed our only market—the British market. Fianna Fail tell us that we have the home market. Do they not realise that we produce more than can be absorbed at home and that restriction to the home market can only mean poorer prices still for our farmers? And poorer prices will remain as long as Fianna Fail remains in power. The following officers were elected:—Chairman: T. Fraher, Jnr.; Vice-Chairman: Ed. Cullinane; Treasurer: W. Cullinane; Secretary: Thos. Kirwin. The Committee are—Messrs. T. Fraher, Wm. Tobin, J. W. Cullinane, Michl. Power, Michl. Cullinane, Jas. Cullinane, John Keane, Cullinane, Jas. Tobin, Jack Tobin, Edmond Daly, Peter Walsh, and Edmond O'Brien.

Unemployed and County Surveyor.

GRIEVANCES OF WORKERS.

At Tuesday's meeting of the County Council, Mr. O'Gorman, V.C., presiding.

Mr. Heskin said there were three men on the deputation there that day who had a grievance. They were suspended from work; got no unemployment benefit and wanted to know the reason of their suspension.

One of the men (Morrison) said last July they were suspended from work and got no reason. One of them was 4½ years another 9 years and a third 13 years under one ganger. They approached the local Co. Councillor and the Co. Surveyor, and the reply they got was they did not give a satisfactory return. They were there that day to defend themselves against any charge.

Mr. Heskin—These men approached me sometime ago. I inquired from the Co. Surveyor and it seems a report was made against them to the Co. Surveyor. The ganger at Tallow was intimidated and stones were thrown at his door. These men were working for the Co. Council and if not giving satisfaction they deserved what they got, but if giving satisfaction he would like to know why they were dismissed.

Mr. Bowen—These men were not dismissed by me. I made an order that a certain man was not to work with certain other men. I had my own reason. If these men came to me I would give them my reasons, but instead they went to every Tom, Dick and Harry and got all sorts of stories. It is I am the employer and I want everyone to get hold of that fact. Every employer has a right to select his own men and to give his instructions to his men and select the men who will suit him. There is no reason why any employer should give reasons why he should not employ a certain man. These are basic principles and I stand over them. If these men came to me I would tell them anything I knew. I made an order that 3 men were not to work with a certain man, but could work anywhere else they liked. I have nothing against the men except the advantages of the Council. I don't know the men and I never met them. Hundreds of men have been left off in the last few months. There is no way out of it. Every employer has a right to select his own men and give his own orders.

Mr. Heskin—Ganger Ryan would not give him work. If there was a reason for dismissing him the facts should be given the man. There was a report that one of the men abused the new ganger and that Crowley asked for another ganger.

Mr. Bowen—I have nothing against the man, but I must have order and discipline in my job. If the men came to me I would tell them what I know.

Morrison—We are here now and we want to know what is against us? We are not going to let it drop.

Mr. Bowen—Go ahead with it.

Morrison—Are we in power to demand a sworn inquiry into this case?

Chairman—Yes, but the Co. Surveyor has full control.

The deputation also complained they got no benefits and as they were dismissed they did not apply.

Mr. Butler said they should apply for the benefit. They also said they would send the full facts to the L.G.D.

Mr. Bowen—Let it go.

The matter concluded with the understanding that the men would get work as usual.

Man: I saw a bang come through the kitchen window.

DUNGARVAN RUGBY. At the Abbesside Rugby Grounds, last Thursday, St. Augustine's Seminary, met the C.Y.M.S., Waterford and beat them by 3 tries (9 points) to a goal and a try (8 points). The visitors were the heftier team and included men who played for Munster and some of the senior clubs of the Province. Despite that handicap, the students held them well and their forwards were splendid both in the tight and on the loose. Hearty congratulations are extended to the boys of S.A.S., on their prowess.

Mr. Arrigan, was a most efficient referee.

COLLIGAN.

Mr. Kiersey, T.D., and Mr. Connolly organised a branch in Colligan, on Sunday night. Mr. J. Walsh, presided. The Officers are—Chairman: Gerald Dalton; Vice-Chairman: John Walsh; Treasurer: Richard Walsh; Secretary: Patrick Hickey. The Committee are—Messrs. P. Slattery, R. Condon, Michl. Walsh, Wm. Hannigan, Patrick Walsh, John Hickey, John Whelan, Michl. O'Shea, Thos. Hickey, Peter Walsh, and Edmond O'Brien.

Fianna Fail.

MEETING IN DUNGARVAN.

SPEECHES BY MESSRS. F. AIKEN, MINISTER FOR DEFENCE; P. J. LITTLE, T.D.; SENATOR QUIRKE, AND M. MANSFIELD.

The campaign for the Waterford bye-election opened in this constituency on Sunday, when meetings were held in Dungarvan, Lismore and Waterford.

At Dungarvan, a large assembly met on the Square, at noon, and listened to the various speeches with the closest attention.

Mr. Michl. O'Ryan, Co. Councillor, Ballynacabry, presided, and there were present on the platform—Messrs. F. Aiken, Minister of Defence; P. J. Little, T.D.; Senator Quirke, P. Ormonde, M. J. Cogan, Dr. Casey, John Power, Michl. Hickey, P. Dwan, etc., etc.

Chairman's Address.

Mr. O'Ryan, having spoken at length in Irish, said that meeting was called to give the people of the area the opportunity of hearing the Minister of Defence and others on the situation as it confronts them to-day. They were opening that day the Waterford bye-election campaign and the question for the people was having selected their own Government they should have the right to dictate their policy and to do their business in their own way without hindrance from any outsiders.

Last February, the people by a majority returned Fianna Fail to power though they were told if they did so everything unfortunate would happen. Civil war was predicted and the people were terrorised; yet in spite of all that was said common sense prevailed and a National Government was put in power. To-day they had greater peace than at any time in the last 100 years. The country was ruled constitutionally their property was safe, and no public Safety Acts or Coercion Acts were required. Every sort of a red herring was thrown across the people's path to blind them to the real facts. There was a slump in prices, but a great deal of the depression was due to the bungling of the late Government. For 10 years the Republicans preached that this slump would come and asked that it be provided against, but now see the result? When Mr. Hogan was Minister for Agriculture, he told the farmers to produce more butter, beef and bacon and eggs for England and said he would rather see preference from England than all they could do. The result was now they had to sell at prices at which they could not produce. England was becoming poorer every day. Her purchasing power was decreasing and the people of every country were sending their surplus products and ruining the prices. The "London Times" said the difference in prices from 1924 to 1931 was a reduction of 45 per cent. And according to a statement in the House of Lords the other day, the slump in meat prices since June was 40 per cent. Yet Cumann na nGaedheal will tell you that De Valera is the cause of all that and Mr. Kiersey tells you that Fianna Fail took over an ideal State. The Fianna Fail Government has come to the relief of the poor and the needy and given big grants for unemployment. Cumann na nGaedheal would do nothing to reduce the income tax on the rich man. In fact the ideal state of Cumann na nGaedheal would make the rich richer and the poor poorer, (hear, hear).

Mr. Mansfield.

Mr. Michl. Mansfield, said at the recent election Fianna Fail made certain promises and gave pledges of what they would do if returned to power. They made these promises with the full knowledge of the responsibilities. They promised to remove the Oath; to deal with unemployment and the Annuities. They kept the Annuities and the others had gone. The Government knew the farmers were hard hit as no one could deny that there was not a falling off in business in recent years. English industry was falling rapidly since the war. Previous to the war the British flag was in every port, but since then foreign peoples were supplying their own needs. Even England is trying to produce the food she wants herself. She has a Wheat Scheme, and she has put a tariff on our goods. She is trying to get out of paying her debts to America though she is under a moral obligation to do so though we are not. They would not pay her any more annuities. In the coming bye-election it would be a question of voting for Ireland or for England. They were at war with England, but were they doing their part? They had a crowd going round telling England what to do. Unless they stood up to this fight and won it they would be a disgrace to future generations, (hear, hear).

Mr. Little, T.D.

Mr. P. J. Little, T.D., said when arranging for that meeting they assumed their opponents would make some show, and move the writ for Waterford, but to their surprise they found the other cock would not fight. They don't seem to want to go before the people. As to their policy they were prepared to be judged by the people. They had made certain promises and they would see them through. To-day they were fighting against the old enemy. The struggle now was an economic one and to win it they should develop an economic policy independent of England. As to the Land Annuities, the Irish people have come to their view—those in favour of England and those for Ireland. They were satisfied as to their moral claim to the Annuities and to pay it over would be robbing the Irish people. This was a new phase of the old fight between Ireland and England. They had a big task to tide over the economic struggles at the moment because England had made an unjustified attack on them. It was an act of unjustifiable violence against a fellow European Nation according to impartial outsiders. They knew that economic collapse was coming in England, but they did not think it was coming so soon. It was there now and they had lost their markets in England and they should make up their minds to change their whole economic system as far as possible. Their tariffs too would hit England as they want Irish cattle and must get them. They should have a big economic change and develop their own industries and in that development he thought the duty of an Opposition would be to show they were more constructive than the Government and help on the people to a new prosperity. He referred to the statements of Mr. Cosgrave in the Dail last week and said the remarks made were worse than in the days of the Cairion Crows. Foreigners whom he recently met in this country said Ireland was the one country in Europe at the moment with the biggest prospects for industrial development. They said they had gold mines and fortunes were to be made by men of initiative and capital, who would start building up their industries. That was not idealism or patriotism, but common sense. He thought the £ would fall lower than it was at present and that was another reason why the people should invest their money at home in developing their industries and giving employment.

Urban Council's Action?

Dungarvan is a good centre, and you should have industries started here. We want to spend £5,000,000 as rapidly as possible in building houses for the workers, but we cannot do it without proper co-operation, and that co-operation we are not getting in Dungarvan. We are ready to have the Scheme developed as quickly as you can go ahead. We are not getting that co-operation from the Dungarvan Urban Council that we should get. We have been told there are some people who want to sell their land at an exorbitant price for houses and because of that the whole housing Scheme has been delayed. I don't want to start any quarrel, but I say get on with the work and you here in Dungarvan co-operate with the Government in getting the fullest possible advantages of the housing scheme and of the money made available for your benefit, (hear, hear). Our policy is a National one and behind it is the National spirit of Sinn Fein. That is the policy which will help you to get employment, decent food and proper conditions for the workers and that is the only form of Nationalism and Patriotism take. (Applause).

Mr. Aiken, T.D.

Mr. Aiken, Minister of Defence, said they asked every man and woman to give them a hand in carrying out the policy and pledges of the Fianna Fail Party. Under that policy every man and woman should be able to live in happiness and prosperity in his native land. They were prepared to protect industry so that men of capital would be able to get a fair return for their expenditure and enable their workers to be paid a decent wage. When they started out they held that every man and woman able to work should have work and if given the opportunity they would put that policy into operation. They had made £5,000,000 available for housing and they wanted that sum spent in the shortest possible time. In the country people were living in houses not fit for cattle. They relied on the local bodies to give them the co-operation they expected to acquire land, etc., and if the local authorities would not do that and give them the co-operation they asked, then the local authorities would have to go, (hear, hear). Knowing that in certain districts there were people unwilling to go ahead with the work and were not building houses, the Government would take steps to secure powers to enable them (the Government) to take over the scheme where the local people would not go ahead with it. The Housing Board was now set up and it would go ahead in spite of any local authority. Under their policy of securing decent living conditions it was necessary to retain at home the money which heretofore went abroad and in 2 or 3 years people would find that out of every 100 articles they required 90 could be made in the Free State. They should see that every requirement of theirs was made at home. The farmers would now get the money they had to pay for wheat and flour and the town workers would get the money they heretofore paid for boots and clothes. By that policy every section of the people would benefit when all their goods were manufactured at home. He hoped the farmers would take advantage of the production of more farm produce. If they go ahead with the work and give more employment they will get decent prices for their wheat oats and barley. No matter what the Government did they could not guarantee the farmer would get 10/- a cwt. for beef or 15/- a cwt. for pork next year. Every farmer should do his utmost and he was being encouraged by getting seed wheat on loan; loans for heifers and other things and there was no excuse for them under any head. The people gave them authority to retain the land annuities and they had retained them. John Bull has seen his last penny of them. They were giving the farmers the opportunity of funding their land annuities for this year and next May and June at 4 1/2 per cent. If the farmer cannot pay he should write to the Land Commission and have the amount in arrears spread over a number of years and 4 1/2 per cent.

would be charged on it. "We are not going to give the farmer his land free" said Mr. Aiken. The farmers have an asset and for their own security it was necessary they should pay something for it. They wanted them to pay their annuities now. They had no intention of forgiving farmers any of the land annuities. They must pay as much as they can afford. During the coming few months a scheme would be prepared for a permanent reduction in land annuities. They didn't want the farmers to pay any more than they could afford but to pay as much as they could. Farmers should bear in mind that while they were a very important section of the community they were not the whole people and you have people in towns also. The farmers cannot get scot free while the working people and the poor are in such a bad condition.

Their policy could not be objected to by any man. It was a fair policy. He referred to the increased benefits granted to Old Age Pensioners and said 30,000 of these poor people were in a better position now than when Cosgrave was in office. They had 14,000 houses in different stages of construction and in another year they would have 30,000 to 40,000 built. If work could not be provided they were prepared to see that the people would not starve. Dealing with those who hinder them in carrying out their policy and who, some people think should not be allowed freedom of speech, he said he did not believe in that policy or in making martyrs. If those who said to the people that the farmers should pay their annuities to England were put into jail, people would say they had something to hide. They were prepared to state their case to any fair court, but they were not going to law with the devil and the court in hell. Parnell once said he should examine his conscience when the English Press praised him. To-day the C. na nG. Party should examine their consciences after the reception Mr. Cosgrave's speech got in the London papers in regard to what he said about this country and the slanderous remarks he then made. The way to treat him (Cosgrave) was to make him go on the platform and let the people deal with him. Let him there defend his anti-National action. The Government had a very big task before them to build up the prosperity of the State and no friend of the Irish people should do anything to play into the enemy's hands. The British want to see trouble in this country, but they would not have it. The Government wanted the good wishes of the people for their success. As to liberty of speech he said he held the C.N.N.G. Party should be made defend their actions in public, and they were prepared to give them every platform to enable them to do so. If C. N. n. G. think they have the support of the people it is strange they were not asking the people to show it. There were vacancies in Waterford and East Cork for several months and C. N. n. G. has not moved the writs for them. If they thought they had any chance of the people declaring in their favour the writs would be moved long ago. They know the Irish people do not favour their anti-National policy. They are afraid of the people and he was convinced that as time went by the people would see that the Fianna Fail policy was the correct National one. They were not afraid to face an election at any time. They promised the people to do certain things and they put their promises into effect and he was sure the people of the 26 Counties would endorse their policy. Between now and the day of the election, the people would be thoroughly organised so that every man and woman would go to the poll and vote for Ireland. They wanted to give England her answer. They would not allow their people to starve. They should insist that England would not get the annuities. They had no gold mine to pay £5,000,000 a year to England. They had to pay in cattle, butter, bacon and eggs, etc. There was no reason why they should starve because England would not buy their goods or could not pay for them. Why not kill their own bullocks and eat them? Even if they could not produce wheat in competition with the Argentine or Canada, there was no reason why they should not grow it. They were giving subsidies to beef, bacon, butter and eggs. They were giving the farmers £4,500,000 by funding their land annuities. By their policy they were providing industry and employment which was much needed. Until the factories are built he hoped the Urban Council would go ahead with the schemes of houses, sewerage and other schemes so as to be ready for industrial development when the time came, (hear, hear).

Senator Quirke, also spoke and said Fianna Fail had delivered the goods. He criticised the C. na nG. Party, the Farmers Defence League and the White Army. When the day of election came round every man should get his neighbour to go and vote for F.F. were acting along National lines.

Mr. O'Ryan, returning thanks to the people for their attendance said he hoped the men of Waterford in 1932 would strike the same blow for freedom as they did in the election of 1829 when Beresford was ejected at the poll.

Meeting in Lismore.

ADDRESSES BY MESSRS. SEAN LEMASS, MINISTER FOR INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE, MESSRS. H. FLINN, T.D., AND J. GOULDING, T.D.

Messrs. Sean Lemass, T.D., Minister for Industry and Commerce; Hugo Flinn, T.D., Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister for Finance; and Sean Goulding, T.D., spoke at a public meeting held on Sunday at Lismore. Mr. Philip Cunningham, Co. Co., Ballyduff, presided.

Mr. Lemass in the course of his speech, said the object of the Government's party's meeting through the country was so that they could not lose touch with the people they represented, as their predecessors did. The system of Government, as existing, was a democratic system, wherein all power and authority came from the common people. That Government had assumed office on a mandate from the people, and it was in carrying out the programme which the people authorised it to put into operation. If at any time the people decided that this programme should be modified or altered in any respect, or that the Government's policy in their view needed altering then there was no one to question—and no member of the present Government would question—the people's right to decide. These meetings were held so that should the people so decide they would so decide with the full knowledge of the facts. The mandate sought by Fianna Fail was definitely and clearly put before the people before the General Election. In addition, it was published in the Press in a series of numbered paragraphs wherein the precise programme was set out. With regard to the Oath of Allegiance, there was nothing in the Treaty which prevented them from removing this from the Constitution, and in no way could it be held to be a fair interpretation of the legal facts that the removal of the oath was a breach of the Treaty. The Dail having passed the Bill to remove it, refused to accept the amendment of the Senate, and after eighteen months that Bill would automatically come into force. He did not know if there would be anybody in the country who would advocate the retention of that oath for its own sake. He had asked in the Dail whether or not the Cumann na nGaedheal Party would, at the next General Election, ask from the people a mandate to restore the oath, but he could not get an answer to that question. He repeated the question now and advised the people to make sure when a General Election did take place that they knew what that party stood for in this respect before deciding to support it. Only the Cumann na nGaedheal Party said the oath was responsible for the present difficulties between Great Britain and this country. No member of the British Ministry had said so, nor did he think any member of the British Government would so attempt to confuse the Constitutional status of one of her Dominions as to maintain that no Dominion could amend its Constitution by its own action, and without securing the consent of the British Parliament.

At no time during the negotiations arising out of the financial dispute did the question of the oath arise, nor could it arise, because it was not a matter in which the British Parliament, representing only the British people, could be involved.

Reviewing the Land Annuities situation the Minister said the Government was willing to put their legal opinion to the test by withholding the annuities. The suspense account was established so that the money would be available in the event of a judicial tribunal determining it should be paid. He recounted what took place regarding arbitration, and subsequently negotiation. The negotiations were never started, he said, because the British Government continued to put forward what purported to be legal arguments to rebut the legal arguments on the Free State side, and the discussions which took place were but mere repetition of what had previously taken place by correspondence, and did not get any nearer a solution of the difficulty. The political position here was factor that made any hopes of a settlement much more remote.

In the ultimate financial settlement of 1928 the Cosgrave Government had let down the nation by entering into commitments which could have been avoided, and which were not necessitated by the Treaty. Only the narrow circle of the Ministry knew of the secret agreement of 1923, and it was a noteworthy fact that apparently the lawyers who advised the Cosgrave Government that the country was legally bound to pay the annuities didn't themselves know of this agreement, because in their published opinion they made no mention of it. Mr. Thomas made it clear that the British relied upon the agreement which could never be recognised as binding on the Irish people, who could only be bound by the Act of the Dail.

"I would like to reveal one thing arising out of the recent negotiations in London, said the Minister. "Agreement upon the main issue was not achieved, as you know, and, possibly was not possible, but it became quite clear from the discussions there that agreement could have been reached upon one matter, and this was that the legal opinion upon which the Cosgrave Government pretended to act—given it by its hand-picked lawyers, was all nonsense, and not even the British Government dared to present that case. They relied entirely on the agreement of 1923. An Englishman, a Conservative, and one of the foremost Constitutional lawyers in the world, gave it as his considered opinion that the English case was unsustainable."

Prominent English politicians were also prepared to admit this. So that although they could get Englishmen to take the attitude they had in this country, the party representing the chief Opposition, who were still prepared to take the side of the British Government, and endeavour to wreck the attempts of the administration here to secure justice for their people in this matter. The British were now playing deliberately for the restoration of the Cosgrave Ministry, believing the latter would be more amenable to British interests. If the Irish people were to accept political dictation of that kind, then even the measure of freedom they now enjoyed would become a mockery and a sham.

In connection with the drop in prices for agricultural produce, the Minister attributed this to a depleted purchasing power on the part of the British people and competition from other countries. It was an erroneous idea that blamed the Government for these decreased prices. The Irish farmers were now getting at the creameries a higher price for milk than any farmers in Europe. The methods adopted by the Government had prevented the collapse of the industry here—a collapse that would have been imminent, even though there had been no economic war between Great Britain and the Free State.

He touched on the cattle bounty and the British Government duty of 40 per cent, saying it was quite clear the British were not actuated by the sole desire to increase the pressure upon them but also to try to do something to repair the position of the English cattle producer. The Government in office before the present one was, he said, blind to the developments taking place before their eyes, and stuck blindly to the economic policy with which they had started and sent the nation into the position in which Fianna Fail found it last March.

"We hope," said Mr. Lemass, and I would not like anyone to get a contrary opinion, to be able to effect a fair settlement with Great Britain. It has always been our aim and desire to put the relations of both countries on such a basis of justice and fair play that causes of friction could not arise in the future. We are still prepared, as I told you, to submit the financial issue to arbitration by an international court. We are still prepared to meet them in negotiation and endeavour to work out a settlement if they desire it. But we are not prepared to commit ourselves in advance to the abandonment of our case, and in any case, the report from that, it would be foolish to meet the British again until it is clear that the British Government have abandoned its nonsensical idea that by some action of theirs they can force the Irish people to restore the discredited Cosgrave party. It is only necessary for the Irish people to make it clear to Great Britain that we are not going to be diverted from the path they deliberately chose by such tactics."

Mr. Hugo Flinn said the clear issue before the people was not the question of the price of cattle or the immediate issue of a little economic disturbance, but whether or not there was going to be self-government and self-control in this country. Cumann na nGaedheal was making a case for the British that the latter dare not make for themselves "Jimmy" Thomas told them they dare not fight, because he had got them by the neck, and threatened to strangle them if they dare to fight. England wanted them to have only a toy Parliament, a toy self-government, and a toy control of their own affairs.

Mr. Sean Goulding, T.D., who described the meeting as the opening of the bye-election campaign, said there was nothing Communist or Socialistic about the present Government; nor did they wish to adopt the doctrines of Carl Marks. Behind the two was a middle way, what was known as "the Christian Social Policy," and this was what the Government was following. A campaign was going on in the country by which an effort was being made to stampede the people.

Youghal District Court.

(Before Mr. A. L. Conroy, Deputy Justice).

Rates Cases.

A number of undefended Civil Bills having been disposed of, the Court took up cases of arrears of rates from the adjoining Co. Waterford.

Some had been settled after the issue of the summonses, in others payments had been made on account and time was given for the balance. In the remainder decrees were granted.

Mr. J. Condon, Collector, plaintiff, said that many of those people had never been summoned for their rates before, and it was with great regret that he had taken proceedings against them. Being called upon by the Waterford Co. Council to close his books, he had either to get the money or decrees against them.

No License.

Guard Stack charged J. Collins and W. Donoghue, driver, with using a motor car with an expired license.

Evidence having been given that the licence, covering the period complained, had been taken out, the case was dismissed.

School Cases.

Guard Downes had two persons summoned for the non-attendance of their children at school, without excuse.

Evidence having been given, and doctors' certificates handed in, his worship adjourned one case for 2 months, and the other for 3 months, to see how the children would attend.

HILL'S BREAD KEEPS FRESH THE LONGEST.

CO. WATERFORD VOCATIONAL EDUCATION COMMITTEE.

Rev. L. Egan, C.C., Chairman, presided at a special meeting of the above. The others in attendance were—Rev. M. F. Hearne, C.C., Messrs. J. O'Halloran, J. Butler, D. Coghlan, M. F. Walsh and Fear Mhor.

Financial Proposals For Year 1933-34.

The Secretary submitted the following statement showing the amount required for the academic year.

Expenditure.

Administration—In the estimate for current expenses there is no change under the heading Administration.

Instruction—The item for instruction includes your existing 12 officers and two part-time teachers, together with two new appointments as suggested by Mr. Kirwan, Department's Inspector. These are (a) an additional Instructress for Domestic Economy at £80 per annum, and (b) an additional Manual Instructor for the Gaeltacht, at £120 to £130 per annum. The latter will not be available for appointment until the conclusion of the Course of training which is being held at the Municipal Technical School, Waterford.

Maintenance of Schools and Classes—This item includes the purchase of new Equipment for the additional Instructors, with rent, cleaning, heating and lighting of rooms.

Scholarships—Twelve Scholarships for one month at Irish Colleges at £9 each.

Refer to Summer Course for Teachers. Includes proposed purchase of sites at Dungarvan and Kilmacthomas to be arranged.

The total estimate of Receipts (£13,474), assumes a rate of 2 1/2d. in the £, from the County Council, with an increase of £283 in the current payment by the Department. This would be equivalent to the additional rate of 3d. in the £.

The difference between the Annual Income—not including the balance on hands—and the proposed expenditure is £309.

I would suggest that you raise a loan of £3,000 to build a small school at Kilmacthomas and one in the Gaeltacht area. An annual payment of £212, over a period of 15 years, would meet this amount.

A suitable site, covering 1/2 acre of ground, is offered by Mr. G. Brown, of Kilmacthomas, for the sum of £100. I understand there is a probability of a free site being presented in the Ring district.

This area has been neglected for a long time, owing to the want of suitable accommodation.

Mr. O'Halloran referring to the offer of the site at Kilmacthomas said, the committee could have a site at Clashmore for nothing.

Chairman—Is that right. Maybe when we look for it, it will be different.

Mr. O'Halloran—You will get a site for £20 there.

Mr. Walsh—What was the rate last year?

Secretary—2d. in the £1.

Mr. Butler—It is within the power of the Finance committee not to put on this farthing?

Secretary—Yes.

Chairman—What do you say? Will you pass this? The Scheme seems to me alright.

Fr. Hearne—How did the expenditure work out this year?

Secretary—We finished with £914 on hands.

Chairman—If this extra expenditure is undertaken, it is necessary that you must budget for it.

Secretary—Yes. If you build schools you must equip them.

Mr. Butler—The Co. Council can knock off this farthing if they wish.

Mr. Walsh said the scheme was alright, but it was the wrong time to be increasing the rate.

Chairman—What will an extra farthing bring in?

Secretary—£280.

The Scheme was approved and the committee decided to build a school at Kilmacthomas and Ring.

The Secretary informed the members that they had an offer of a free site at Ring.

With regard to the Kilmacthomas sites of which two were approved of by the Department's Inspector, one owned by a man named Dee was offered to the committee at £200 and the other owned by a man named Brown, containing a quarter acre at £100.

The committee considered the prices asked ridiculous and decided to offer Brown £40 for the quarter acre.

Sites For Technical School At Dungarvan.

The Inspector's report on the sites offered to the committee was as follows:—(1) Site at Old Chapel Lane. This site is central, but the area available is too small and the surroundings are unsuitable for a Technical School.

(2) Barry's Stores—Unsuitable; (3) Moloney's Store—Unsuitable; (4) Galaway's Store—Unsuitable; (5) There is a very good site, the property of Mrs. Dower, available in O'Connell Street. This site is situated on high ground and in a good locality.

The Secretary said the price asked for this site is £260.

On the proposition of Mr. Walsh, seconded by Mr. Coghlan, it was agreed to offer £200 for the field.

Mr. Butler referred to the attack made on the Urban Council on Sunday last on this question, although they were offering much less for the most suitable building sites. They were only paying £140 an acre. He did not believe that the Committee will get this field for £200.

MULCAHY'S, DUNGARVAN.

Dungarvan Urban Council.

Mr. J. Butler, Chairman, presided at the meeting of the above on Friday last. The other members present were Messrs. T. McCarthy, J. McEvoy, J. Hackett, Wm. O'Donnell, T. Power, M. Keane, and J. Moloney.

Schemes Held Up.
Arising out of the minutes of the previous meeting in connection with the letter from the Department re loan of £700 for concreting footpaths.

Mr. O'Donnell said I am one who always advocated a proper scheme of footpaths for the town and I was not the only member who did. This Council decided to raise a loan of £700 for that scheme, and I was one of those who approached the Bank with a view to getting the loan to be spent on necessary footpaths.

As our Treasurers were agreeable to the loan, we thought there would be no further hitch. We submitted the scheme which in every respect was a proper one, but now we find that neither this scheme, the Housing scheme, or the Sewerage scheme are gone on with. Might I ask Mr. Chairman whose fault it is?

Chairman—Surely you know the cause of the delay in the sewerage scheme.

Mr. O'Donnell—Very vaguely—that scheme is now over two years started and it is a shame.

Chairman—The Housing scheme is held up because of the Council not being able to come to an agreement with the owners of the land. The Sewerage scheme is held up because the Board of Health cannot proceed until an agreement is reached with the owner of the land through which the pipes are to run, and the Footpath scheme is held up for the sanction of the Department, so that in either case this Council cannot be blamed.

Mr. O'Donnell—The footpaths are a bone of contention here for some time. Some members wanted to have them patched, but I for one always held it would be wrong and I advocated having all the footpaths done in one year. For this reason I was one of those who approached the Bank to get a loan, my point was that when a path is done right once, it is done for all time, and when you make a path for one, you should do so for all. The Treasurer acquiesced in our application for the loan, and I would like to know can we proceed with the work.

Chairman—You can't proceed without money and you can't get that without sanction from the Department. The Clerk has written a special letter to the Department, but we have not received any reply. With regard to the sewerage scheme the other Board are negotiating with the owner of the land. It is a question that will be discussed by another Board.

Mr. O'Donnell—But I want it discussed, and I will leave the Council if it is not. What is the delay, is it fair to ask the people of the town to walk round Father Twomey's road and see the sewerage oozing out through the wall.

Mr. Moloney—Are we going to be here all night. Is this our business?

Chairman—I think Mr. O'Donnell will satisfied with the explanation given.

Mr. O'Donnell—I am going further, this is our business.

The County Home Scheme is hanging fire. There is a party named Ml. Ryan to be negotiated with. He was asked what compensation he required, and he asked £50. You Mr. Chairman, were at the meeting and it was suggested that £5 be offered to that man to allow pipes to be run through 5 or 6 acres. I hold that Board are not in earnest, and do not know the value of land. I say by suggesting £5 they did not mean business.

Mr. Moloney—Does it concern this Council? It is a matter for another Board.

Mr. O'Donnell—Undoubtedly it concerns us, it is in the Urban Area.

Paysheets.
A sum of £15 3s. 3d., on the general A/c. was passed.

Grant A/c.
The following was submitted by Mr. Bowen, Co. Surveyor, relative to expenditure on the grant of £1,200 for the Shandon Road. Cost of labour £251 3s. 0d.; Gullies and grating £12 17s 6d. Cement, etc., £39; Co. Council for gelignite tools, etc. £26 18s. 2d. Total £329 18s. 8d. Previously certified £217 16s. 9d., making a total expended of £547 15s. 5d., and leaving a balance of £653 4s. 7d. Note—A sum of 2/- has been deducted from two stone breakers for hammers not returned.

Payments were passed.

Housing Scheme.
The Department wrote as follows:—

With reference to your letter of the 1st inst., relative to the proposed acquisition of certain lands by the Urban District Council for the purpose of a Housing Scheme, I am directed by the Minister for Local Government and Public Health to state that he is not prepared to approve of the acquisition of this land at the prices proposed. I am to add that little difficulty is experienced in other areas in obtaining suitable land for building at much more reasonable prices, and the Minister is not aware of any circumstances in Dungarvan which would justify payment at such enhanced compensation. If the Council are unable to acquire the necessary lands for this Housing Scheme by agreement at reasonable prices, they should without delay put in force the Compulsory Purchase provisions of the Housing (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1931.

Mr. E. A. Ryan, solr., wrote on behalf of his clients, Messrs. J. McGrath, Michl. Ryan, and J. Dee, as follows:—

In order to come to an agreement with the Council for the purchase of the land, our clients have agreed to accept, a price which in their opinion, and the opinion of their valuers, represents the fair value of the land, and in order to facilitate the scheme so that work might be commenced at once they have made a considerable reduction in price. Our clients are satisfied that if these lands are acquired under compulsion, they will be able to produce evidence which will satisfy an arbitrator that the lands are worth more than the sum which they have now agreed to accept. The acquisition of the lands by compulsion would entail considerable delay and expense, but as our clients have gone a long way to meet the Council in the matter, they cannot see their way to accept a lesser figure than that already agreed upon.

Mr. McCarthy proposed sending a deputation to Dublin to deal with the matter and avoid delay. He proposed that the Chairman and Mr. O'Donnell be sent.

Mr. Power—I second that.

Mr. O'Donnell—I do not fancy going.

Mr. McCarthy—I would like you to go, you understand the value of land.

Mr. O'Donnell—This Council are generally condemned for not starting this scheme. The Council individually and as a whole did everything in their power to get this land amicably, and I say now if it has to be got by compulsion, and if this Council can't get the Department to agree on the price, it will be some other Council will deal with this scheme. It is not the Urban Council are the cause of this delay, it is the Department. I am in agreement with the deputation from this point of view, if there is not an amicable agreement there won't be a house built within the next 8 months, and I hold if the Department don't agree to the price the houses will cost a lot more.

Mr. McCarthy—I suggested the deputation because any deputation ever sent up were always successful and I have no doubt but this deputation will also succeed. We have a big number of unemployed, and it would be a grand thing to be able to tell them from the next meeting that the scheme would be started before Christmas.

Mr. Hackett suggested that when that business was settled by the deputation, they should have other schemes to put before the Department. He said the Department were giving grants for drainage purposes, and he suggested that they put the Sluice Scheme before them, also if the Department will not sanction the loan for the footpaths, let them give us a grant to do them.

Chairman—If the deputation go to Dublin, the first thing to do is to make an appointment with the Department. Then the only thing they can do is to find out what price the Department have in their minds and try to get the owners to agree to that.

Farmers' Dance Committee.

Mr. J. J. Tracey, on behalf of the above, wrote thanking the Council for their treatment of the Committee in connection with the recent dance.

Rices Street, Sewer.

A letter was read from the Ministry of Local Government and Public Health requesting to be furnished with the amended plans for the work, showing its connection as proposed with the sewer from the County Home. A specification and estimate of the cost should also be submitted.

Mr. O'Donnell—What made then write after 3 years. They must have an inspiration that I was going to bring up this matter to-night.

B.S.—The specification, estimate, etc., were submitted some time ago, but must now be slightly amended to show where the sewer will join with the sewer from the County Home.

Applications For Hall.

The following Clubs applied for the Hall during the week. Green Badminton Club, Monday and Thursday, Dungarvan Dance Club, Friday; Eire Oge H.C., Wednesday; Arcadian Dance Club, Tuesday and the Brickey Rangers F.C., for a Whist Drive, on Sunday, December 14th.

Acknowledgments.

Letters acknowledging Council's resolutions of sympathy, were read from Miss Joe Tobin, Main Street, on the death of her mother, and P. J. Shine, on the death of Mrs. Simms, Abbey-side.

Sewerage In Street.

Mr. Keane called attention to the condition of David Street, caused by sewerage matter from the back of Patrick Street, being drained into it. He said the Council some time ago made an order to have the Patrick Street residents make a drain at the back.

S.S.O.—I served the notice some time ago and Mr. Cartwright, wrote in stating that as the houses were to be demolished, he could not see his way to do so.

Mr. Keane—It was a very lame excuse for a Council to accept.

Chairman—How can you compel them to do it, the houses are condemned by the M.O.

Mr. Keane—You can compel them to abate the nuisance.

Chairman—You can compel them to close the houses.

Mr. McCarthy—We put down a concrete channel in David Street for that purpose.

Mr. Keane—I am going to propose that the matter be referred to our solicitor to tell us what power we have. It is a disgrace to have this sewerage 6 feet from the doors in David Street.

Mr. Power referred to the sewerage at King's Street, and said some of the houses there could be drained into the Sarsfield Street sewer.

S.S.O's Report.
The Sub-Sanitary Officer, reported—(1) that drainage matter was oozing through the wall at the Co. Home on (Add to Dungarvan U.D.C.), the road near Father Twomey's Well. The Co. Home Committee should be asked to expedite their drainage scheme, as being the only means of permanently abating this nuisance.

(2) The plot adjoining Mr. O'Keefe's mounment yard, at Abbeyside is in an unsanitary state as it is used by the public as a privy.

The following orders were made. The Co. Board of Assistance to be notified to abate the nuisance and a similar order to be given to the owner of the place at Abbeyside.

Sympathy.
Sympathy was voted to the relatives of the late Martin Curran, Mrs. Mulcahy, Mary Street, and Mrs. Kiely, Knockatmore.

DEATH OF DR. FOLEY, KILMACTHOMAS.

The death of Dr. Bryan Foley, at his residence, the Rectory, Kilmacthomas, following an operation on Monday evening, plunged the town and district into grief.

Dr. Foley belonged to a most respected Limerick family. He was held in the highest esteem by all classes and was of a kind and sympathetic nature. His first appointment in this County was to the M.O. ship of Bonmahon Dispensary District, but 13 years ago he was transferred to Kilmacthomas District. He was assiduous in the discharge of his onerous duties and was ever at the disposal of all who needed his medical or surgical skill. One of nature's gentlemen and the friend of the poor and the distressed, he has gone from the people he served so loyally and so well in the early fifties, and deep is the grief of all who knew his great worth and appreciated his noble services. He was associated with every form of the social life of his people and always played a man's part. He was Deputy Coroner for East Waterford and President of the local branch of Cumann na nGaedheal. He whole-heartedly co-operated with every patriotic movement to benefit the people. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss, and in their sorrow they have the sincere sympathy of the general public.—R.I.P.

On Tuesday evening, the remains were removed to the Convent Chapel, an immense cortege following, fully representative of all classes in the County. The prayers for the dead were recited by Very Rev. T. Fitzgerald, Adm.; Very Rev. T. Foley, O.M.I.; Very Rev. W. Kehoe, P.P.; Rev. M. Dowley, C.C.; Rev. M. Condon, C.C.

On Wednesday after Requiem Office and High Mass, the funeral took place to Limerick City. The cortege was the largest seen for years and bore striking testimony to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

The chief mourners were—Mrs. Foley (wife); Louis, Thomas and Bryan (sons); Mary (daughter); Mrs. Foley, Limerick (mother); Rev. Thos. Foley, O.M.I., Dublin, Rev. Louis Foley, O.M.I., Dublin, M. P. Foley, Manager National Bank, Killee, (brothers); Mrs. Dr. Burke, Blackburn, (sister); Nicholas and Thos. Hayes, Kilduane, Bonmahon, Michl. Hayes, Killoogh, Jas. Power, Carrigeady, (brothers-in-law); Mrs. Power, Carrigeady; Miss B. Hayes, Liverpool; Miss M. Hayes, Kilduane; and Mrs. J. Power, (sisters-in-law); M. Power, Carrigeady; J. and L. Power, Carrigeady, etc., etc.

A large number of wreaths were laid on the coffin.

Patrick O'Daly, late of Lindsay Road Dublin, Company Director, who died last May, left £3,915. The late Mr. O'Daly, was a native of Abbeyside, and was a great authority on the Irish Language and all matters relating to it.

PRICE OF PIGS.

Thursday 30/- per cwt., for suitable bacon pigs; others 28/- per cwt.

SALE OF COTTAGES.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Co. Council, Mr. John Roche, Dunmoon, Tallow, was appointed by the Council to give evidence before the Commission in regard to the sale of cottages to the tenants. Mr. Roche gave interesting details of a scheme he had prepared to deal with the matter in a practical fashion which will appear in our next issue. Pressure on space has crushed it out of this paper.

RE-AFFORESTATION.

In connection with the acquisition of waste land in the County for the purpose of re-afforestation and giving employment to our people referred to by Mr. O'Ryan, at the Co. Council meeting on Tuesday, we would point out that years ago when that matter was on the carpet, the Agricultural Instructor for the County was asked to make a report on the subject by the Co. Committee of Agriculture. He recommended that the most suitable place for the purpose was the Comeragh slopes from Mahon Bridge to Coolnahorne by the Carrick road. The land was available; it would beautify the countryside and employ a very big number of men over a long period and would be in due time a paying proposition. Why not have that scheme now put before the Government. It would give work to all the unemployed in the county; would relieve the rates considerably, and enhance the charms of the country beyond measure.

DRAPERY.

The best Drapery goods at special value prices at Walsh's Outfitters, Square, Dungarvan.

SUDDEN DEATH IN DUNGARVAN.

While attending 10 o'clock Mass in the Parish Church, Dungarvan, on Thursday, Miss Johanna Daniels, The Buttery, was seized with sudden illness. She was attended at once by Rev. P. F. McGrath, C.C., and Dr. Moloney, and passed peacefully away.

RELIEVE THE RATES.

The unanimous action of the County Council on Tuesday, in asking the Government to transfer the amount paid on bounties for the export of cattle, pork, etc., and which do not reach the producer, to the relief of the rates will meet with general approval. It is relief our people want and relief they must get. All classes are in need and the prospects are that the need will be aggravated during the hard winter now upon us. Money is running short and where to get any is the cause of a considerable amount of insomnia to the masses.

MESSRS. PAXMAN & CO., LTD.

The well-known firm of Paxman & Co., Ltd., Lismore, Butter, Egg and Fowl Merchants, etc., which has been for long years closely associated with the industrial life of the County Waterford, closed down on Saturday last. As a result a big number of men have lost valuable employment in the several departments of activity associated with the firm.

ANOTHER T.D. DEAD.

Mr. T. A. Finlay, K.C., T.D., died on Tuesday. He was a brilliant young lawyer and represented Co. Dublin as a Cumann na nGaedheal Deputy. That makes the 4th vacancy in the Dail, the others being in Waterford, East Cork, and Donegal.

FIANNA FAIL CONVENTION.

A Convention of Fianna Fail delegates will be held in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on Sunday, next to select a candidate for the bye-election. The Cumann na nGaedheal Party has not yet selected a candidate, but the name of Mrs. Redmond is freely mentioned. The election will be held early in the New Year.

KILMACTHOMAS PRICES.

Meal 17/-; flour 16/- bran and pollard 9/6; presto 8/6; eggs 1/9 per doz.

THE CHURCH UNCONQUERABLE.

Under the above title, a Lecture of outstanding interest will be given by Father Owen F. Dudley, in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on Wednesday, Nov. 30th, at 8.30 p.m. and in the C.Y.M.S. Hall, Cappoquin, on Friday, Dec. 2nd, at 8.30 p.m.

Father Dudley is an eminent and brilliant lecturer; a convert to Catholicity and was military Chaplain on the French and Italian fronts. He is also a brilliant author, and it will be an intellectual treat to hear him. No one should miss these Lectures, especially in the days we live in.

LATE MR. DUNPHY, SHANAKILL.

While attending a cow in his byre last week, Mr. Michl. Dunphy, Shanakill, Kilmacthomas had a fatal seizure and passed away. He was a good upright man, held in the highest esteem. His funeral to Newtown cemetery was largely attended.

KILMACTHOMAS COURT.

At Kilmacthomas Court, before Mr. McCabe, D.J., the business consisted of undefended Civil Bills in which decrees were granted and Garda cases in which the usual fines were imposed.

THANKS.

The Kilmacthomas Dramatic Club, return thanks to Mr. T. McCarthy, U.D.C., and the Dungarvan Urban Council for their kindness in reducing the fee for Town Hall on 4th inst.

DANCE AT OCEAN VIEW.

The Dance under the auspices of the Kilmacthomas Harrier Club, held at Ocean View Hotel, Clonea, on Sunday night was largely patronised and immensely enjoyed by all.

DAIRY CONGRESS.

A meeting of the Dairy Congress Committee, was held in Dungarvan on Saturday and all arrangements in connection with the holding of the Congress in Dungarvan, on January 4th, next, were perfected. Mr. P. J. Halliden, attended. A meeting of the Congress Dance Committee was also held, and everything points to the event being the greatest ever held here.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT AT ABBEYSIDE.

A highly-successful Concert and 3-Act Comedy Drama, was held in the Scouts' Den, Abbeyside, under the auspices of the local Conference of St. Vincent de Paul, and proved a real treat for the large audience present.

All the Artists excelled themselves in the different parts allotted to them, and great credit is due to them for providing such an excellent night's entertainment.

At the close of the Concert, Very Rev. M. C. Crotty, P.P., thanked the performers one and all for their great treat and said the large audience showed the appreciation given to the Concert, and hoped to have many such enjoyable nights during the season.

RECENT DEATHS.

Several well-known people in Dungarvan have passed away in the past week. Mrs. Mulcahy, Mary Street, relict of the late Michl. Mulcahy, Friary Street, and a member of the old stock from the Comeragh area was laid to rest in the Parish Churchyard.—R.I.P.

Mr. James Cody, Shandon, a splendid type of Irishman, and one of the best footballers in the County in the olden days when the Shandon Rovers made history, also passed away. He was buried on Thursday in the Ballinacela cemetery amid every manifestation of sorrow.—R.I.P.

Mr. John Murphy, P.C., Abbeyside, was laid to rest also during the week. He was a well-known and highly-respected man, who during his time here earned the esteem of all who knew him.—R.I.P.

DEATH OF MISS M. MORRISSEY, WATERFORD.

A large and representative cortege accompanied the remains of Miss Mary Morrissey, sister of Dr. Morrissey, The Mall, Waterford, from the Cathedral, Waterford to Grange, on Wednesday, where the interment took place in the family burial ground. At the High Mass 35 priests attended.—R.I.P.

Mr. T. P. Sheedy, Ballybricken, Waterford, a famous oarsman, and all-round sportsman, was also buried during the week in his native Clonmel.

CLASHMORE FARMERS.

At a meeting of the Farmers of Clashmore, held in the Creamery, it was unanimously decided to form a branch of the National Farmers' and Ratepayers' League. Mr. John Flavin, was elected Chairman, and Mr. R. Russell, Hon. Secretary. The following attended and were enrolled members—Messrs. John Power, W. M. Curran, George Kennedy, T. Beresford, James Flavin, J. Troy, T. Hickey, N. Beresford, Dr. Mullane, D. Ward, P. Tobin, P. O'Rourke, Willie Dower, E. Docey, J. H. Curran, Ned Dower, Ned White, M. Foley, Mike McGrath, Mike R. McGrath, Tom Fitzgerald, R. Ahearne, W. Hayes, Pat Walsh, Maurice Curran, Pat Cunningham, James Coughlan, Tom Torpey, M. J. Kennedy, etc. Dr. Mullane and Mr. R. Curran, addressed the meeting.

FINE FOR ASSAULTING GUARD.

At Wednesday's District Court, in Dungarvan, before Mr. Troy, D.J., W. O'Donnell, Thompson's Lane, was sentenced to 6 weeks in jail with hard labour for assaulting Guard Regan. When the Guard went to defendant's house to investigate a complaint his wife complained of defendant and said he assaulted her son and threatened her daughter. Defendant took the Guard unawares and struck him in the face and knocked him down. Outside he again tried to assault the Guard. Defendant said he only caught the Guard by the legs to save himself.

A POPULAR SOCIAL EVENT.

The annual dance organised by the Social Club, at the Half-Way Hall, on Sunday night last, surpassed the expectations of its most optimistic supporters. The spacious hall kindly lent for the occasion was thronged with lovers of the light fantastic, who kept up the hilarity until the wee hours of the morning. The music by the Savannah Dance Band, was faultless, while the catering in the hands of the ladies committee left nothing to be desired. To all who helped to make the dance such a success, the committee send their grateful thanks.

DANCE YOUR CARES AWAY.

The opening dance of the Dungarvan Dance Club, last Friday night, was a great success, full of snap and pep, and merriment. The music by the augmented Dance Band, under Mr. McHugh's capable direction was delightful. Nobody should miss Friday night's dance. Admission 1/-.

THE LATE BRIGADIER-GENERAL PERCEVAL

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL IN LISMORE.

The funeral of the late Brigadier-General Claude Perceval, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., of Kilmorna, Lismore, who was accidentally killed while hunting at Seannore, near Ballyduff, Co. Waterford, on Thursday, 17th inst., took place at St. Carthage's Protestant Cathedral, Lismore, on last Saturday afternoon and proved a striking and impressive tribute of respect to the memory of a great soldier and sportsman and one of nature's finest gentlemen. After a brilliant and distinguished military career, the late General Perceval resided for a number of years at Kilmorna Hill, Tallow, but about six years ago he came to reside in the picturesque residence known as Kilmorna, Lismore.

During his residence here he became a great favourite. Of a quiet and unassuming manner for one who held such a proud record as a fearless and brilliant soldier, his kindly and genial disposition won for him the love and respect of all classes, and great was the grief felt everywhere in the town when the sad news of his tragic death was received.

Although he had attained the age of 68 years, he was a splendid horseman and a fearless rider to hounds. He took a keen and kindly interest in the welfare of the British ex-servicemen in the Lismore area, who now deeply mourn the death of a gentleman they had come to regard as a real guide, philosopher and friend. An immense gathering of the sporting men of West Waterford and East Cork, as well as all sections of the people of Lismore and surrounding districts, assembled at Kilmorna on Saturday to attend the removal of the remains, which took place at three o'clock. The funeral cortege proved an eloquent testimony of the high esteem in which deceased was held by all. While the notices that the funeral would be private had kept many persons away, there was still a great attendance of the leading huntsmen and sportsmen from various parts of Munster present. Lord Charles and Lady Cavendish, Lismore Castle, being amongst the mourners, while the large body of ex-soldiers from Lismore and district proved a special feature of an unusually large and highly representative cortege.

The remains were borne from the bier into the Church by the employees at Kilmorna, Moorehill and Headboro', and were received by the Dean of Lismore (Dean Leslie) who conducted a special and impressive funeral service.

The Chief mourners were—Mrs. Perceval, (widow); the Misses Rachael and Jean Perceval (daughters); Sir Edward Perceval and Colonel Charles Perceval (brothers); Henry P. Maxwell, Moorehill Colonel R. Smyth and Miss Smyth, Headboro' and Mrs. P. Smyth, do. (cousins). A large number of floral tributes were laid on the grave.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL.

Present—Mr. J. R. Smyth, P.C.,
 Chairman, Capt. P. Dunne, Messrs. D.
 Dennehy, E. Clancy, M. J. Fleming,
 D. J. Linehan, J. Whelan, T. Murphy,
 E. P. Lynch, Vice-Chairman; P. J.
 O'Gorman, P.C.; P. J. McMahon,
 P.C.; A. J. Powkkes, T. Harrington,
 Mrs. S. Hurley, P.C., P. Beausang.

F.F. Deputation.

A letter was read from Mr. M. J.
 Butler, Hon. Sec., local Fianna Fail Cumann, asking the Council to receive a deputation in connection with the following matters:—(1) Slum
 Clearances; (2) Housing Schemes, etc.
 There was nothing political in it.
 The meeting having consented, the following entered the Boardroom:—
 Messrs. R. Savage, J. Forrest, Senr., J.
 Forrest Junr., A. O'Byrne, and M. J.
 Butler.

Mr. Butler introduced Mr. Savage, as spokesman. He impressed on the meeting the necessity of clearing out
 the slum areas in the Urban District.
 They had an offer from the Government on a 2 to 1 basis, and they ought avail of it to the utmost limit, in the interest of their common humanity.
 They had reports from their M.O.H., some years ago as to the necessity of attending to that crying grievance.
 Their reason for not taking action at the time was the want of money, but that reason didn't hold nowadays. The Council should attack the matter with all possible optimism, which as they all knew was very contagious. There was little use in approaching a bank manager, who would meet them with a freezing face, although they were not in the depth of winter yet (laughter).

The Chairman said the question had been before the Council for a long time and they were all one with the deputation in their anxiety to deal with the matter. They had given it serious consideration and the deputation was only reminding them of what they had been discussing over and over.
 Mr. Savage pointed out that Clonakilly was building 52 houses; Fermoy 41; Dunleary 212 and a 5 years scheme besides. He appealed to them to do well whatever they did. Regarding the latest grant he thought the New Road should be properly done. As regards the Quarry Road, were the farmers in favour of it?

The Chairman asked how many houses were on the New Road. The Quarry Road would be done in water bound macadam so that it wouldn't interfere with the farmers. He suggested that the deputation should show
 some appreciation of what the Council had been doing. For some time past that Council had expended £40,000 on various works. He thought that no other town with a population of 5,000 could show such a record.

Mr. Harrington said surely the deputation didn't blame the Council for the slum areas.

Mr. O'Gorman said they had listened to Mr. Savage carefully regarding the building of extra houses. Having supposedly made a keen study of the question, perhaps he would tell them
 where the money was to come from.
 That Council would be only too glad to put up 200 instead of 20 houses, but with their borrowing powers exhausted, were they to call on the unfortunate ratepayers to face a big increase in the rates and other heavy burthens pressing on them. It was all fine and easy to talk about optimism, but looking at the rampant depression prevailing at present, could anyone see any ground for entertaining hope, not to mind indulge in optimism?

The Chairman said they could do no more than they were doing without levying an additional 3/- or 4/- in the £. on the people.
 Mr. J. Forrest, having supported Mr.
 Savage's appeal and dealt at length
 with the question of the local sewerage housing, etc., said they could get money—if not a grant—on cheap terms
 from the Government.

The Chairman assured the deputation that the Council would leave no
 stone unturned to carry out those improvements. The principal difficulty in the way was the lack of "spondu-laes," (laughter).

Having thanked the Council for their reception, the deputation withdrew.

Mr. Lynch said as regards the New Road, in addition to offering ideal sites for building, it would, if put in proper condition, afford the best approach to the mental Hospital with its proposed annexe and also to the New Cottage Hospital.

Relief Employment.
 A long and warm discussion took place on the method of employing men on the relief work. Complaints were made that some deserving workers were kept 8 weeks without a turn,
 while others were brought in every couple of weeks.

The Clerk said the Boardroom was besieged almost every day by 50 or 60
 men, rendering it impossible for him to carry out his duties. He had frequently to remain there till 10 p.m.
 He suggested that the Council should take part in the responsibility of appointing the various gangs.

Several members protested that the local Labour Exchange was not acting fairly on the matter.

It was ultimately decided that the Council should collaborate with the Exchange in taking on the men.

Gravel From Foreshore.
 A letter was read from Mr. J. F.
 Cogan, Innisfail, complaining that horses and carts were drawing gravel
 from the foreshore in the most vulnerable parts.

Mrs. Hurley said they were drawing it in front of every house and also in front of Claycastle. The residents on the Strand were in very serious danger. She had brought the matter before the last meeting, but there was nothing in the Press report about it.

 Was the Council giving the carters
 carte-blanche to take the stuff?

Mr. McMahon said on last Tuesday morning he saw 10 horses "leathering"
 away at it.
 Mr. Lynch said he saw it taken from the Strand Gap.

Mr. Harrington—What about the hundreds of tons washed up from time to time? One tide sweeps it away and another brings it back again.
 Mrs. Hurley said it was their protection. Would those living at a safe distance from the sea like people to come along and undermine the fronts
 of their houses?

Mr. McMahon said he believed it wasn't all going on the Urban roads.
 The thing is being overdone.

Mr. Dennehy—This thing should not be tolerated.

Mrs. Hurley said she saw a man taking it from the last groyne put down.

Mr. Harrington—A breeze from the S.S.E., will give you plenty of gravel.

The Chairman said that 40 years ago,
 the Railway was to be wiped out, as well as the Villas. He had been hearing the same gloomy prophecy year
 after year all that time and still no harm had been done. One tide would sweep away much more than had been taken, and another would bring it back again. Wherever it came from,
 it came.

It was finally decided to take no more gravel from the Strand, on the completion of the present steamrolling scheme.

New Grant.

A letter was read from Mr. T. J.
 O'Donovan, applying for position of Engineer in charge of the work of the new grant. He quoted a letter from the Minister of L.G. to the Midleton Urban Council, to the effect that it was contrary to the spirit of the Act to employ the local Engineers.

The Clerk said their Engineer was not a full time official and the L.G. Inspector said he was justly entitled to the position.

Replying to Mr. McMahon, the Clerk said that Mr. O'Donovan wasn't eligible for the position as he was unmarried.

The Chairman said in the circumstances, there was no use discussing the matter further.

S. & S. Land Trust.

The Clerk read correspondence from the Sailors and Soldiers Land Trust, thanking the Council for granting them a free building site at Dunne's Park, and asking the Council to extend the main sewer in connection with the North Abbey Cottages.

Replying to a member, the Clerk said the cost would be about £200.

Mr. Lynch—For buildings that we got no rates out of.
 The Council decided to adhere to their former decision.

Stone V. Concrete.

A letter was read from the L.G., suggesting that stone be utilized in building wherever it was easily obtainable.

Capt. Dunne said that was sound advice.

Mr. O'Gorman asked when were tenders to be invited for the erection of the houses.

The Clerk said they were awaiting the approval of the L.G., before inviting tenders. Massed concrete or concrete blocks were mentioned in the specification—was that to be changed?

The Chairman—If stone is available.
 It was decided to include "stone" in the specifications.

Meat Inspection.

The report of the Veterinary Inspector on his inspection of the meat for October was satisfactory.

Another Commission Shop.

Mr. Powkkes said it was recently announced in the Press that an application was being made for a license to set up another Commission Shop in the town. He thought they had enough of shops of that kind in a small town
 like Youghal without adding another and he proposed that they recommend the authorities to refuse the application.

Mr. Lynch—I agree thoroughly. We have enough as it is, if not too many.
 The Chairman, and others having endorsed Mr. Powkkes's remarks, the proposition was passed unanimously.

DEATH.

A RECITATION.

Alas, the day will come when this earth we'll tread no more,
 That day of reckoning for us all when
 our spirit then will soar
 To Him, our God and Maker, the Judge of all mankind
 To whom our souls are open books,
 with errors there to find.

Ah! death will come to each and all,
 no matter where we be;
 The time is short, it passes swift, as
 you must all agree;
 Why then be keen on worldly ways?
 We must some day depart
 And those so dear to us in life we'll leave with broken heart.

The cherished child so beautiful the hope, the pride of all,
 Will feel, alas, the pangs of death and answer to the call
 When He Whose gracious will it is
 shall take that soul away,
 Though parents sob and cry aloud in anguish and dismay

The youth from one he loves so much
 must part for ever too;
 When death is hovering round her
 there is nothing he can do to save that one he loved so wed,
 helpless he must look on
 And view that form in death's strong grip when life and hope are gone.

Those eyes that shone like brilliant stars are closed for ever now;
 Those lips, like summer roses red, no
 more will love avow;
 The tongue, once heard in gentle
 speech in accents sweet and low,
 Is silent now for ever—she has left
 this world of woe.

The man who's famed and honoured
 for glorious gallant deeds, Who's hailed with great acclaim and
 pomp, with banners in the breeze,
 Is just as mortal, just as weak, as he
 who missed success,
 And death full soon will tear him
 from those things he does possess.

Observe the man of talent, a famous
 name he bore,
 He now lies on the bed of death, his days of fame are o'er;
 The trophies he has gained through life for acts so great and brave
 Are useless for adornment now on
 that body in the grave.

The proud and lordly rulers of countries far and near Imagine they should live away, and never seem to fear
 That death will firmly grip them and
 thrust them to the clay,
 Those tyrants with the golden crowns,
 then, shall not have their way.

The pleasures and the pastimes of this world will fade away,
 The time will come when in our life
 there's but a glimmering ray;
 The secret grand, so oft discussed, to
 all will be made known
 When death shall clasp us in its fold
 and the spirit will have flown.

Why then should we vindictive be
 and injure fellow-man?
 It's not worth while, life is too short,
 we'll soon have reached the span allotted to us here below; that journey
 all must take
 To the Great Unknown beyond this life—it may be soon or late.

For dust we are, and into dust we shall one day return,
 And many whom we loved so well
 we'll leave to sigh and mourn:
 The body in the cold damp earth will moulder bone by bone—
 'Tis the end of all, a hole in the ground and a scratch of a crumbling stone.

NEW ROADS.

SPECIAL GRANTS FOR REPAIRING DERELICT ROADS.

CHAIRMAN TO ASK FOR GRANTS.

Mr. John Kiersey, T.D., Chairman, presided. Also present—Messrs. P. O'Gorman, V.C.; D. Heskin, P. Cunningham, M. F. Walsh, M. McGrath, Michl. O'Brien, M. Keane, J. Halloran, Michl. O'Ryan, L. Hallahan, W. Stack, J. Butler, J. F. Moloney, John O'Donnell, D. Coghlan, W. O'Donnell, J. Power, T. Shipsey, G. Torpey, J. Walsh, T. Harly, Michl. O'Regan, P. J. Fox.

Ancient Ruins.

The recommendation of the Advisory Committee under the National Monuments Act, 1930, that application be made to the Board of Works to issue a preservation order in the case of the specially interesting Ecclesiastical remains of the Pre-Invasion period at Kilbrinny, Portlaw, Ballynatray and Clonea, Dungarvan, was approved.

Honorary Librarians.

The Co. Librarians Committee recommended as follows:—The L.G.D., having sanctioned it subject to the approval of the Co. Council that Miss Rita Clancy, Librarian, of the Dungarvan section of the County Library, be granted an annual honorarium of £20, this committee of the Co. Library recommends to the Co. Council that Miss Clancy be granted this annual honorarium since her work as Librarian has grown enormously and the care she is compelled to give to the position is more than can be expected from purely gratuitous services.

Mr. Greene said in these time they should economise in every way, small as well as large.

Mr. Fox said as these positions were honorary, if they passed this application all the others would then come along.

Mr. O'Ryan said Dungarvan had a very big percentage of all the books in the Co. Library, but yet if the positions were honorary they could not make fish of one and flesh of another.

Mr. Fox suggested referring the matter back to the Library Committee and have the whole question of Hon. Librarians dealt with.

The Secretary said the amount of work to be done at Dungarvan was more than one would expect in an honorary position.

Mr. Greene said to pass it would establish a precedent and what they would give to one they should give to another.

It was agreed to refer the matter back to the Library Committee.

New Road Wanted.

Mr. Halloran moved that the road from Glenbeg School through Glenmore to Mount Stuart near Anglim's Contract be declared a public road.

In connection with that application a large number of the ratepayers and labourers in the area were present as a deputation for whom Mr. O'Gorman, solicitor, was spokesman.

Mr. Halloran said the road was before them for the past 3 years. It was badly wanted. They should try and get it done and get over the crux that existed.

Mr. O'Gorman, solr., said they would ask Mr. Bowen to help them in the matter. He had a petition signed by 60 or 70 ratepayers. That road was between two main roads and in addition to the other users—35 or 40 children had to use it going to school daily. Also outsiders used it as it led to the house of a well-known bone-setter. The people were also prepared to widen the road to the required measure and do everything to meet the wishes of the Co. Surveyor.

Mr. Bowen said the road was not the statutory width and it was not competent for the Council to pass it as it stood. It was a useful road and should be made wide enough for 2 cars to pass. There was no use in maintaining a boreen. He thought that, and some other roads would be eminently suited for some of the unemployment grants which have been allocated by the Government for roads not in charge of the Co. Council. The Board of Works deals with these matters and then the road could be taken over by the Council for maintenance. It is a steep road for half its length it has a gradient of 1 in 10. That is a desperate hill when you come to look at it. At present you cannot pass it, but if you widen it you could.

Mr. Halloran—If the road were widened before the next meeting could it be passed then?

Mr. Bowen—You can adjourn it for 3 months and there would be no objection to it then when the necessary work would be done.

Mr. Halloran proposed, that it be adjourned, and that the deputation in the meantime widen it to the proper width.

Chairman—There is a certain amount of money allocated by the Ministry and a certain amount of that money is for the opening up and repairing of cul de sac roads and roads which the Co. Council could not take over under present statutory conditions. This is one of the roads to which that fund would apply. At the time this was under discussion, Mr. Goulding and I spoke in support of it. I think we should make application for some of that money and I will support it and Mr. Goulding, also.

Mr. Bowen said it was the Board of Works dealt with this matter.

Mr. O'Ryan—We should ask Mr. Bowen to examine these roads and formulate a scheme.

Chairman—Mr. Goulding and I will see the Ministry about it next week.

Mr. Butler made a strong plea in support of the Glenmore road and said they did not want a tarred road. They would do all the necessary widening and give the land free.

Mr. Bowen—If that road were the statutory width and complied with the requirements, the Council could pass the resolution and declare it a main road. After the road works meeting they could spend money on maintaining it.

The Chairman also asked for particulars of the unemployed in the area, as he would want such details when putting the application before the Ministry.

A Ballinamult Road.

Mr. McGrath, moved that the road leading from Thos. Barran's house at Ballinamult to Barron's Cottage at Doon, be declared a public road. He said it was a badly needed road.

A deputation was present in support of the application, for whom Mr. O'Gorman, solr., appeared.

Mr. Bowen said the same remarks applied to that road as the previous one, except that it was a great deal more important. It led to the Ballinamult Creamery and a large number of farmers used it. He would say a new road should be made there wide enough for cars and lorries to pass. It was three-quarters of a mile long and a good job should be made of it. He would recommend that the road be made and to press for the money mentioned by the Chairman. He also thought the land required should be given free.

Mr. O'Gorman said his clients would give the Council every facility.

Mr. Bowen—Let the people see that some of this money is got for this work.

This work was also left in the hands of Mr. Kiersey to try and get a grant for it.

Mr. O'Ryan said he was asked by people in Derinlaur to bring forward roads under this scheme. He would suggest that all such roads be included in the scheme Mr. Bowen will prepare for Mr. Kiersey.

Mr. Green said he was glad to hear from the Chairman that money was made available for the repair of such roads as were mentioned, and he hoped the County Waterford would not be forgotten and that a good sum of money would be got.

Mr. O'Ryan said their T.D.'s would want to know the number of unemployed in the several districts. Three or four months ago they were asked to register, but many in this county did not and the number registered is not a true index of the state of affairs in the County.

Mr. Cunningham mentioned about a road at Glendine and said he would put it on this scheme and see if they could get the money for it.

Mr. Kiersey said when he got the scheme from Mr. Bowen and the particulars re unemployment, etc., he and his fellow T.D.'s for the County would go to the Ministry and they should have a reply in about 14 days.

Co. Surveyor's Report.

In the past quarter your road contractors generally have done a fair proportion of the work required of them. The supply of stone is somewhat short of the specification, and money has been withheld in consequence. The quality of the stone supplied by contractors is generally very poor. The maintenance work on direct labour roads has been fully carried out, and generally those roads are in fair condition. However, we have on hands some roads that are badly in need of rolling, and ordinary maintenance work on those cannot be either satisfactory or economical. Owing to the changed nature of traffic, even on remote bye roads, our endeavour is now to make roads safer, by such work as widening surfaces, levelling up sides, and removal of banks and corners. Within recent years considerable improvement has been effected in drainage work and diversion of flood waters. Surface tarring for the year has been completed, and it is gratifying to record that the season has been favourable, thus enabling better and cheaper work to be done. Tar grouting of sides has been done on some lengths of main roads, and should prove effective for maintenance and for horse traffic. It is intended to continue such work in future. Steam-rolling work, financed by Council's funds, aided by road fund grants, and by improvement grants, has been completed as far as funds permit. Owing to the reduction of estimates a few lengths had to remain over for next year's work. New and improved methods are in use which we trust will prove lasting and economical.

Your Plant and Machinery has been maintained in good working order and repair. Nearly all the plant was in use for the greater part of the season. It will now be idle for some time, when a thorough overhaul of each article will take place. Nearly all repairs can now be done in our own workshops, and in addition can be done well and economically. Some much-needed improvements have been made in the repair yard. Several rollers and other articles have been lent on hire recently, to other public bodies, and contractors. It is well to secure this work, as otherwise our machines and men would be idle. A resolution comes before you relative to the use of machinery for quarrying and blasting stones. This resolution is not practicable nor desirable in its form. Furthermore, it is unnecessary, as we already do as much work by hand as it is possible to do.

The Council has been given relief grants for road works amounting to £10,900 out of a total sum of £1,000,000 provided by the Government for the whole country. This sum appears to be a very small proportion for this county. The works undertaken for this sum were steamrolling and tarring of roads leading to Mount Melleray, Ardmore, and Portlaw. The money has now been almost entirely expended, and works must close down. Unemployment will continue to be acute in each of the areas mentioned, as there is very little other work of any description to be done. It was not possible to complete the work on the Melleray and Portlaw roads, and as only a short length remains, I would very strongly urge that a small extra grant be asked for in each case. About £300 would be required for the Melleray road, and about £500 for the Portlaw road. In the latter case I have continued the work of rolling in the stone already on the road pending your decision, and I would ask that, failing the receipt of a further grant, you would authorise the expenditure of a sum from your contingencies account. The Council might consider the making of a strong appeal for further grants for relief of unemployment in the County.

A grant for relief work was obtained by the Urban District Council of Dungarvan, and at the request of the Department the work is being carried out by the County Surveyor with the County Council's plant on the usual terms.

The Provisional Road Works Scheme for the year ending 31st March, 1934, has been prepared.

Mr. Bowen said they had received only £10,900 grant out of the £1,000,000 which is very small being only 1 per cent. He thought it should be 2 or 3 per cent, and that they should have got far more than they did. The reason was that their people did not register when the notice to do so was given, while other Counties and the towns in particular had registered in large numbers and having more unemployed got far larger sums. The census of unemployment was taken in July, but today there were far more unemployed in this County than then. The Council should urge for more of that grant. Surely Waterford was more than the 40th part of the Free State and they should get a sum that would enable them to finish the works on hand. There was a lot to be done at Ardmore, but the Melleray and Portlaw jobs would not take very much to finish.

Mr. Cunningham—How much do you think you should get?

Mr. Bowen—£20,000 would not be out of the way. Some small towns have got enormous sums.

Mr. O'Gorman suggested they ask a further grant of £10,000.

Mr. Bowen—We have very able Deputies in Dublin, and if they went to the Authorities they could do much more than we could by writing. We should give our Deputies this job and see what they can do for the Council.

Mr. Halloran said a number of men were unemployed in Ardmore and now with Christmas coming on something should be done. There were 5 or 3 miles of road yet to be done there and the men now on Home Assistance should have work. They should get a grant and it would relieve the rates.

Mr. Walsh proposed, and Mr. J. O'Donnell seconded, that the Melleray and Portlaw roads be finished.

This was passed.

Mr. W. O'Donnell asked how much was spent on the Portlaw road?

Mr. Bowen—£2,000 approximately, and £4,000 on the Melleray road.

The following resolution was proposed by Mr. O'Ryan, and passed unanimously:—

"That as the unemployed people in the Co. Waterford did not register on the appeal of the Government and as the registered unemployed do not represent half the people really out of work, and consequently our County did not get her fair proportion of the grant for the relief of unemployment, we hereby ask that these facts should be taken into consideration by the Ministry and that we should get at least another £10,000 by way of grants and that extracts from the Co. Surveyor's report on the matter be forwarded to the Ministry and our T.D.'s."

Cappoquin Pound.

In connection with the application of the Cappoquin Estate Co., for a right of way to the Pound Garden, Mr. Bowen, said they had a pound in Cappoquin, but had no pound-keeper no more than in Portlaw or Lismore. The request made was reasonable and would not interfere with any one, and further the Estate Co., would reduce the rent of the Pound in consequence.

The application was granted.

The Commissioners of Public Works asked the consent of the Council to have the Co. Surveyor act as their agent surveyor in the carrying out of minor relief schemes.

Mr. O'Ryan—We should facilitate them in every way.

Mr. Bowen—I have signified my willingness to assist them.

The Co. Council approved.

Erecting Schools.

The Minister for Education wrote re £8,000 loan to enable the Vocational Committee to build Technical Schools in Dungarvan and Cappoquin.

Chairman—We adjourned it on account of the scarcity of money.

Mr. Greene said £3,000 of that loan would be refunded to the Council and under present circumstances and to give more employment they should approve it now.

Mr. Walsh agreed. The matter will be finally approved next meeting.

Mr. Fox asked had any move been made with regard to Mr. Bowen's 20 year scheme of road making in the Free State which was before them and of which they approved? It was a great scheme and would give a lot of work.

Chairman—Nothing came of it. It was sent to the Government at the time.

Abbeyside Plot.

In connection with the plot of land at Abbeyside, purchased by the Council as a site for a Tuberculosis Hospital and which they now have for sale, the solicitor to the Council wrote that the former owner had not the right to pre-emption and he suggested they take tenders for it.

Mr. Butler said sometime ago the Council agreed to sell it to the Urban Council as a building site, but the L.G.B. objected and now that the Department's point was waived, he thought the Co. Council should sell it to the Local Authority.

Mr. Curran said Mr. Butler's claim was very vague and the feelings of the local authority would be fifty-fifty.

Mr. Butler—What would be fifty-fifty?

Mr. Curran—The feelings of the members of this Council or the Urban Council would be fifty-fifty.

Mr. Butler—The Urban Council are unanimous.

Mr. Curran—The people who sold this plot should have the right to pre-emption.

Mr. O'Ryan said the Council sold this plot before to the Urban Council to have houses built on it and they should give it to them now. In Urban areas it was hard to get sites and they should give it to them.

Mr. Cunningham seconded.

Secretary—Your Solicitor says the plot should be sold to the highest bidder.

Mr. O'Ryan—Subject to sanction I propose we give it to the Urban Council I want to facilitate public bodies.

Mr. Curran—There is an order on the books that Mr. Hayes, Auctioneer sell it.

Mr. Heskin—I suggest we give the Urban Council the preference of it.

Mr. O'Gorman—Provided a fair price is got.

Mr. Butler said if put up for auction some person would buy it and try and sell it to the Urban Council at an enhanced value which the tenant would later have to pay.

Mr. Greene said the plot cost the Council £75.

Mr. Heskin—I think the Urban Council should get it.

Mr. Curran—And what about the people who have the right to pre-emption?

Mr. Heskin—That land is required for the housing scheme.

Mr. Curran referred to an attempt now to grab the plot.

Mr. Heskin—I am not grabbing it, and I never grabbed anything.

Mr. Curran—I am a Waterford man and you are not.

Mr. Heskin I was bred and born in this county and I am as good a man and as good a representative as you are.

Mr. Curran—The Currans are in Dungarvan and Abbeyside for hundreds of years and if you come outside the door I will prove I am a better man than you.

After further talk, Mr. O'Ryan proposed that the plot be given to the Urban Council for £25 for building purposes.

Mr. Curran proposed it be advertised for sale for building purposes. The amendment of Mr. Curran was carried on a show of hands by 10 to 8.

Agricultural Members.

Messrs. Hugh Walsh, Crinaughtane, P. Quinlan, Ballymacarby; John Donovan, Knockanore and Wm. Stack, Dungarvan were appointed to vacant places on the Agricultural Committee.

Money Refused.

Mr. O'Ryan—A ratepayer from Clonmel district went to pay his rates after October 1st, and his first moiety would not be accepted.

Mr. O'Gorman—The rate collector could accept it, but we can't force him. Mr. Cunningham—It shows the collectors have no sympathy with the ratepayers.

The Knitting Craze.

We have a very attractive selection of KNITTING WOOLS in Viyella, Visylla, Sunya, Ramada and other brands. PATTERNS ON REQUEST.

Waterford County Committee of Agriculture.

HEIFER SCHEME.

APPOINTMENT OF AUCTIONEERS. COTTAGE AND SMALL FARMS. PRIZE WINNERS.

Mr. Thos. Flynn, V.C., and subsequently Mr. N. Fitzgerald, Chairman, presided. There were also present Messrs. D. Coghlan, P. R. Power, M. McGrath, J. Daly, M. Curran, and P. B. Sheridan.

Sale Of Heifers.

In connection with the Loan Scheme for purchase of Heifers, the Secretary read a letter from the Department of Agriculture, stating that Sales would be held in this County as under:—Waterford, November, 20th; Dungarvan, November, 30th and Lismore, December, 1st.

Chairman—Is there any communication about the Auctioneers?

Secretary—No.
Chairman—Do you know who is the Auctioneer for Lismore Sales?

Secretary—No.
Mr. Daly—The Secretary has no intimation whatever of the fact that the Auctioneer proposed here at the special meeting by me—Mr. James Hayes—has not been sanctioned. In the public Press and on the placards we have seen that the Auctioneer appointed is Mr. Ryan. As the proposer of Mr. Hayes and without in any way consulting him, I feel I have done him a certain amount of injustice seeing that his prestige has been affected by the fact that he has not been sanctioned by the Ministry. Mr. Hayes is a most respectable man and very influential in the County. He has been associated with the public life of this County for very many years and not only does he enjoy the confidence of the people of Co. Waterford, but he has a very wide circle of friends in many parts of the Saorstát. In justice to Mr. Hayes, seeing I was his proposer and that he has been turned down though we have had no official intimation of the fact we should at least ask the Minister for Agriculture for the reasons that prompted him to appoint another Auctioneer in his place after this Committee had recommended him.

Mr. Flynn—Would you couple with the name of Mr. Hayes, the names of Messrs. T. G. Flahavan and M. F. Walsh, who were also recommended by us?

Mr. Curran—Certainly.
Mr. Daly—I am not aware of the fact that any other person was turned down. I have no information but what I have seen in the public Press.

Mr. Curran—According to the Press Mr. Flahavan was not appointed either.

Mr. Daly—We should ask the Minister for the reasons that prompted him to turn down the recommendation of Mr. Hayes. We had confidence in the men we selected and selected the best men. Where is the object in asking us to recommend Auctioneers if there is no regard paid to our recommendation and if the Ministry lack the ordinary courtesy of giving us any intimation of why our recommendations were turned down and others appointed. I don't say there is anything political in this. The rebuff to the Committee rankles in my mind and is something the Committee cannot very well stand for in the absence of an explanation.

Mr. Greene—The principle behind Mr. Daly's remarks is sound and sound so far as our character here is concerned.
Mr. Power—What motive had the Department in asking us to recommend and then to turn us down?
Mr. Daly—Mr. Hayes was proposed by me and others were also proposed. We were satisfied we selected the very best men.

Mr. McGrath—Ask the Department why they asked us to recommend the names of Auctioneers under the circumstances.
Mr. Daly then moved the following resolution:—"That this Committee having in accordance with the request of the Minister for Agriculture unanimously recommended the appointment of the following Auctioneers in connection with the Scheme of Loans for the purchase of Heifers—Messrs. Hayes, Walsh and Flahavan—and as this Committee has been entirely ignored in so far as not having had even the courtesy of an official communication of the fact that the Ministry has appointed others, we request in justice to those recommended that the Minister should state his reasons for not accepting the recommendations of the Committee."

Mr. Greene, seconded and said they look upon us to my mind as incompetent tools.
Chairman—It is not confined to the Co. Waterford. It has happened in other Counties also.

Mr. Daly—In proposing Mr. Hayes, I proposed a man who had considerable experience and who had made a success of every thing he handled. In the interests of the Scheme we were simply doing our best.
The resolution was put and carried unanimously.
Thanks.
A letter was read from the County Limerick Committee, thanking the Co. Waterford Committee for giving them the services of Mr. O'Shea, H.I., as Judge of their School Plots, etc., and thanking Mr. O'Shea for his good work.

Nominations To Mares.
In connection with the extra £100 allocated for nominations to Mares in the coming year, Mr. Curran said there was no great necessity in trying to improve the half-breeds of the county. He thought they should concentrate on the Thoroughbred horses and the Irish Draught. He also suggested that they ask the Judges to select the right type of thick deep-set Mare.

Secretary—Each February, the Department send down a circular asking for the views of the Committee on the Schemes. That would be the time to raise the question.

Mr. Curran—It is very important that the right type of mare should be selected if we are to have the best results.

Chairman—At the last Fair in Tallow, there was not a colt you could buy for a working horse.

Mr. Curran—You could get them in the County. There is a good Irish Draught Sire standing near Dungarvan.

On the proposal of Mr. Curran, the Nomination of Mares were fixed at £3 for Thoroughbreds and Irish Draught Sires and £2 for Half-breeds.

Premium Boars were granted to several applicants.

The All-Steel Raleigh!

The local Agent at Dungarvan, J. B. Cooke, has received the following letter from Dublin:—

DEAR SIR—We regret that owing to the recently imposed tax on complete cycles our deliveries for the past month have been seriously dislocated. We have pleasure in announcing, however, that arrangements have been made for the assembly of all machines for the Irish Free State at our Dublin Depot under skilled supervision. We have decided not to make any alteration in our existing prices, and we will make every endeavour to reduce the accumulation of orders with as little delay as possible, for which we crave your kind indulgence.

Yours faithfully,
THE RALEIGH CYCLE CO.,
S. GUY, Irish Manager.

RATE COLLECTORS DIFFICULTIES
(To the Editor "Dungarvan Observer").

Sir,—Referring to proceedings at Youghal Court reported in your issue of to-day.—It is mentioned, that "many Ratepayers were summoned, who had never defaulted previously." I have collected the Rates in that Division for a period of 33 years, and even during the troubled times, I experienced no such difficulties as at present.

The total of the Rates to be collected in the Division of Templemichael for the half-year ending September 30th, 1932 was £805 6s. 3d. I was allowed take credit for the Second Moiety payments amounting to £483 10s. 8d., but even with this permission, I was compelled to pay out of my own pocket a sum of £323 17s. 8d., for Rates which I found it impossible to collect. My remuneration for this Collection will be about £17, out of which travelling and office expenses; Postages, and cost of Fidelity Bond have to be provided.

The system which compels Poor Rate Collectors to pay out of their own pockets, (especially in times of crisis) stands condemned by the figures I have given.

I have thought it right to place the above facts before you, as affording a side light on the difficulties with which Poor Rate Collectors are confronted. It must be obvious, that such a state of affairs cannot continue, as Collectors will not be able to shoulder the financial burden under such conditions as now prevail.

JUSTIN CONDON,
Nov., 23rd, 1932.

WE HAVE AGAIN AND AGAIN warned our customers on the absolute necessity of potato spraying. It has been conclusively proved during the past few years that not only has spraying prevented potato blight, but it has almost doubled the crops in every instance. It also improves the quality of the potato by extending the period of growth, thereby allowing the crops to come to maturity.

The necessity for spraying this season may be more urgent than usual. The present weather is proving favourable for the spread of the disease which has already made its appearance in the South of Ireland. We stock the latest types in horse and knapsack sprayers, and we also keep large stocks of sulphate of copper and washing soda. We shall be very pleased to answer any enquiries regarding quantity to be used per acre, and will quote special low prices for cash for sprayers or spraying materials.
