YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT.

THE RATES. FARMERS UNABLE TO PAY NO OFFERS FOR CATTLE. VIEWS OF JUSTICE.

Civil Bills. Undeferred Civil Bills, in which Messrs. T. K. Keane, and J. N. R. Macnamara, solicitors, appeared for the plaintiffs, having been disposed of, the Court took up the hearing of summonses for rates against farmers from the surrounding country districts.

Rates Cases. In one case the amount due was £16 and the defendant said he would pay half now, but he couldn't pay any more.

The Justice—When will you pay the other half? Defendant said he hoped to be able to pay it in about 2 months time.

The Collector said that the Court hadn't power to grant time. Something might be done if a decree were given.

The Justice (to defendant)—You had better raise the money. Defendant—I have money raised in the Bank and I can't pay it.

The Justice said he wouldn't sign the warrant for a week. In another case there was £20 due. Defendant said he had a lot of young cattle, which he couldn't sell. He might be able to do so in a couple of months.

The Justice—It appears I have no power to give time. I might delay signing the warrant.

The Collector—I know of my own knowledge that many farmers had cattle for sale at last Youghal and Killeagh fairs, but they were not even asked how much they wanted for them.

The Justice said he had to give a decree, but he might hold it over for a week or two. It was a rather curious position that while he had complete power in the matter of a Civil Bill or an Ejectment, in the present instance he had no function except to issue a warrant as asked.

Decrees were granted in a number of similar cases, in which the defendants didn't appear.

Unlicensed Dog. In the adjourned case of Sergt. Eddie Killeagh, against Thomas Pomphrett, Ballyfleming, for having an unlicensed dog, which he said he got from his sister, Guard Smyth, stated that Mrs. Cunningham denied all knowledge of the dog. She had only one dog herself.

Defendant was fined 5/-.

In replying to the Court, Sergt. Eddie said there had been no trace of the dog since.

Area Exemption Order. Supt. Donnelly, applied for an area exemption order for Killeagh, on May Sunday, hours 5 to 8. The application was granted.

Diseases of Animals Committee. SHEEP DIPPING—1933.

At a meeting of the Committee of the above, Mr. Thomas Flynn, V.C., presided. There were also present—Messrs. Jas. Daly, W. Slack, P. R. Power, and T. Hartly.

Messrs. C. P. Hynes, V.S., and R. P. Byrne, V.S., were in attendance. The Department of Agriculture notified the Committee that there was no objection to having the same Dipping regulations as last year or to the re-appointment of the Mountain Rangers employed last year at the same rate of remuneration.

Tenders For Transport, Dipping etc. For the Dipping, conveyance of tanks, etc., in Kilmachomas, Carrick-on-Suir and Waterford area, tenders were received as follows:—Mr. R. Dunphy, Grawn, at 18/- per day; Mr. T. Cunningham, Kilmachomas, at £1 per day.

Mr. Hynes, said Cunningham was the old contractor and was a very good man in every way.

Mr. Cunningham having agreed to accept the job at 18/- per day was appointed contractor.

For Dungarvan area, the following tenders: J. Barry, Goulane, at 18/- per day; J. Doherty, do., at 16/11 per day and Patk. Foley, Moonamean, at 16/- a day.

Patk. Foley's tender being the lowest he was unanimously appointed. Lismore area.—The following tenders were received:—Jas. Barry, Goulane, 23/- a day; James Lynch, West Street, Tallow, at 19/6 a day and John O'Gorman, Moonatarriv, Lismore, at 22/- a day.

The tender of Jas. Lynch, was accepted. Sheep Dip. For the Dip required for Dipping sheep in the County during the coming season, two tenders were received, viz., Mr. Burke, Cork, at 4/4 per gallon and Mr. J. J. Crotty, Dungarvan, Nicobrand Dip at 4/4 per lb. It was stated the prices were the same. The Committee accepted both tenders. Nicobrand Dip to be used in West Waterford and Burke's Dip in East Waterford.

Some routine business having been disposed of, the proceedings ended.

True Shorthorn "Character."

We often hear a beast described as a good one, but "common"; and, again, we often hear an animal described as a "Shorthorn" when everyone knows it is a Shorthorn by birth, but there is a great deal more meant in the expression a "Shorthorn." It means that the animal possesses true Shorthorn characteristics and "character." When a beast otherwise a good one is called "common," we know that it may be all that is desired from a butcher's point of view, but lacks those high-bred characteristics that every true breeder looks for in a pedigree animal. It is a pretty well-known fact that most of the great sires in Shorthorn history have been bulls possessing true Shorthorn "character," and the same may be said of all the great breeding cows. A bull or cow may have many glaring faults, but still possess in a marked degree those characteristics that indicate the true Shorthorn, and, however good a bull or cow may be in other respects, if they possess common appearance they are not so safe to breed from as those possessing strong character, although faulty in other respects.

To anyone who has an eye for a pure-bred look, there is as much difference between a common Shorthorn Dairy cow, for example, however good a cow she may be, and a highly-bred one possessing true character as between a thoroughbred horse and a cart horse. It is the true Shorthorn's thoroughbred appearance that makes so great a mark in its offspring when mated with common cows, and that is one of the chief merits of the Shorthorn, and not other breed is so capable of transmitting its characteristics to its descendants; but if no respect had been paid to "character" in the past, that merit would not have been acquired, and if "character" is not kept in the forefront by breeders now, that great merit will not be retained.

It is said of Bates that when he went to purchase Belcider, immediately he caught sight of the bull's head over the door he determined to buy him at any cost. It is not every man who would buy a bull without seeing more than his head, but Bates was a genius and possessed that eye for "character" which every true breeder should possess, and which will seldom lead anyone astray when they have it. Belcider was practically the making of Bates' herd, so that his judgment was not at fault, and it can truly be said that no cattle possess or ever did possess "character" more than the Bates cattle, and there is no better illustration of the term to be gained than by a look at any of the old prints or paintings of some of the celebrated Bates cattle of days gone by. Although, perhaps, some of them were rather over-drawn, yet there is no mistaking the absolutely thoroughbred appearance of the cattle depicted.

In breeding stock, weak and common heads and countenances should be ignored. In a bull they never indicate the power to impress his own likeness on his progeny. In a cow, sweetness and femininity, with a look of refinement, should be sought after. "Character" is the hall-mark of purity of breed, and it applies to sheep and horses just as much as it does to cattle. All the different breeds of cattle possess certain characteristics and a certain individuality or character, without which no specimen is considered perfect. The same, too, applies to the different breeds of sheep, and each pure breed possess certain characteristics which are dear to the hearts of its adherents. It is the strong individuality possessed by specimens of our pure breeds that makes those breeds so valuable for crossing purposes, and no matter how common a beast may be mated with a pure-bred one of strongly marked character, that character will be sure to show itself in the offspring.

It is, therefore, most important that all breeders of pedigree stock should keep their herds or flocks full of character or individuality, so that no one can say at any time, "Oh! I can pick up such as these in any ordinary market." It should never be in the power of anyone to make that remark of a pedigree herd. When that is the case, then pedigree goes for nothing. Crossing has been indulged in pretty strongly of late years in Shorthorns, and although constitution, shorter legs, and better flesh have been acquired, yet style, carriage and character have not improved, and they are three very important factors in the formation and appearance of a good animal. We want to breed our Shorthorns so that they can never be lost in a crowd of ordinary cattle. If they do not show their "breed" when amongst common stock, then how can they be any better than the others? That is where "character" comes in.—Farmers' Gazette.

FARMERS' PLIGHT.

TIPPERARY T.D.'S VIEW.

Mr. Richard Curran, T.D., speaking at a largely attended meeting of the Farmers and Ratepayers' League at Emly, on Sunday, said that when he recently asked in the Dail what the farmer in the Free State could produce to-day which would pay for the cost of production, and leave him a margin to live on, the Minister for Agriculture jumbled some figures about pigs, but there was no answer to the question. Before the present year was out, if there was not a satisfactory settlement of the economic war the position of this country would be absolutely desperate. He (Mr. Curran) did not blame the Government for the low prices in the British market, but he did blame them for compelling our farmers to accept half these bad prices. It was all very well to say that our farmers were getting a better price for their milk than in any country in Europe, but the Minister had recently stated in the Dail that a Commission which inquired into the matter had found that it cost 5/11. per gallon to produce the milk. Taking that as correct, Mr. Curran maintained that, notwithstanding what the Government had done in connection with the dairying industry, the farmers were still getting less than the actual cost of production. In spite of all the warnings and signs of the times, there was no change in the mentality of the Government with a view to finishing this disastrous economic war.

Since the last election, there had been a good deal of talk about a Republic, though during the election campaign the Fianna Fail party kept the question in the background. Mr. de Valera might have his twenty-six counties Republic in the morning, but if it meant to the farmers the financial position in which they were at present, then they didn't want either a twenty-six or a thirty-two counties Republic.

Alluding to Mr. Norton's recent speech in Tipperary describing the Centre Party an anti-national, Mr. Curran said the leader of the Labour Party was largely responsible for the economic war. The marriage between Labour and Fianna Fail in 1932 did not seem to be a happy one, and if a divorce had not taken place already, it would likely be a fact in the very near future.

Mr. P. L. Ryan, Chairman, South Tipperary County Council, said the economic war was far worse than the Black and Tan war for death, fighting in the fields and on the hills, was far easier than the lingering death that was settling down over this country. The cattle trade was day by day being ruined. He had personal knowledge of the fact that thousands of young cattle were being taken away every week in lorries from Tipperary to Cork, there to be killed and dressed as Gork, and sent across to England and Scotland. If this went on, they would have dwindled to less than one-fourth the number they were at present.

Mr. E. O'Dwyer, Barronstown, said the Government in its election campaign had promised to find work for everybody, but, instead, there was unemployment everywhere, and they were now throwing the burden of unemployment over on the rates.

BOUNTY ON THE EXPORT OF SHEEP AND LAMBS.

As already announced in the Press, the Government have decided to give a bounty at the rate of 3/- per head on all sheep and lambs exported on and after Monday the 1st May.

The following arrangements as to the procedure to be followed should be carefully noted by all exporters of sheep and lambs from Saorstát Eireann:— (1) Claim for bounty will need to be made on a form (S.L.) obtainable at each Port of Inspection Office at Ports of shipment and at each Customs frontier station on an approved road into Northern Ireland, and also from shipping and railway companies. This form, when filled up by the claimant should be forwarded by post addressed to:—The Secretary, Department of Agriculture, Dublin, and the envelope should bear the letters S.L. at the top left-hand corner.

(2) The particulars in the form must include information as to the name and address of the owner to whom bounty would be payable, the port or place of export and the number of sheep and lambs exported.

(3) A Customs form No. 29 (Sale) will also need to be filled up at Ports and at Customs frontier stations in duplicate by each claimant for bounty and the particulars on this form must also include information as to ownership and number of sheep and lambs for export. These forms may be obtained from the shipping companies at Ports and at Customs frontier stations and when completed must be handed to Customs Officers at these places.

As regards export of sheep and lambs to Northern Ireland, Customs frontier stations and posts are only on approved roads.

In order to facilitate the administrative working of the Scheme it is requested that any enquiries in the Department of Agriculture as to claims, etc., for bounty should be made in writing to the Offices of the Department.

POOR FOOTBALL GAME.

DE LA SALLE, 4-6; GRACEDIEU, 1-1.

The second round tie in the junior football championship, between De La Salle and Gracedieu, produced a poor display at the Waterford Gaelic Field. At all periods during the game De La Salle were clearly superior, and took matters so easily that the event lost interest long before the finish.

LISMORE NOTES.

PROMOTION OF POPULAR TEACHER.

It affords us great pleasure to record the promotion of a popular Lismore Teacher, Mr. Patrick O'Neill, who has just been appointed as Assistant Teacher in the National School, Abbeyside, to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Mr. J. Croke, N.T.

Mr. O'Neill is a brilliant past pupil of the Christian Brothers Collegiate Schools, Lismore, and completed his training for the Teaching profession in the De La Salle College, Waterford, and had since been engaged on the Teaching Staff in the De La Salle College, Kildare, and later in the De La Salle College, Bagenalstown, Co. Carlow, filling both positions with marked ability and giving the greatest satisfaction to his employers and pupils alike.

A young and unassuming gentleman of rare charm of manner, he is extremely popular in his native town of Lismore, and his numerous friends here now join in warmly congratulating him on his important appointment to Abbeyside, where his Manager, the Very Rev. M. C. Crotty, P.P., is another brilliant Lismore man, who will find in Mr. O'Neill a worthy and efficient successor to the late Mr. Croke.

G.A.A.

The pretty Gaelic field in Lismore, will be the venue of two important matches in the first round of this year's Co. Championships on next Sunday, when Cappoquin and Lismore meet in Minor Hurling, and Dungarvan will play Ballycunnane, Clashmore, in Senior Football. The ground has been most carefully laid out by the local Gaels for these two great contests, and with all the arrangements in such capable hands, everything will be found in perfect order, and there should be a big gathering of Gaelic followers from all parts present to witness what promise to be two most interesting and closely-contested games on the occasion.

FITZGERALD FOR BIKES. DUNGARVAN

CAPPOQUIN DISTRICT COURT.

RIVAL POLITICIANS IN CAPPOQUIN.

"WHERE WERE YOU IN 1922?" INTERESTING ASSAULT CASES.

At Cappoquin District Court, before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L., two assault cases were heard which aroused great local interest and attracted a crowded Court.

Thomas Walsh (Junr.) and Richard Walsh, Bailica, (brothers), summoned James Mason and Michael Mason, Cappoquin, (brothers), for assaulting them on Sunday evening, February, 5th., and there was a further summons against John O'Shea, Cappoquin, for using abusive language towards the complainants on the same occasion.

Mr. T. C. Williams, solr., Dungarvan, appeared for the complainants, and Mr. A. R. Farrell, solr., do., represented the three defendants.

Mr. Williams, in outlining the case, said his two clients were sons of a most respected farmer, Mr. Thomas Walsh, of Bailica, Cappoquin, and were both young boys, Thomas being only 17 years of age, and Richard only 23 years.

On Sunday evening, February, 5th., some time after the General Election, the two Walshes, who were accompanied by a young man named Patrick Veale, Cluthahina, walked into Cappoquin, and as they were passing down by the Cross, near the Square, they saw James Mason, John O'Shea, and some other young men standing near the Cross. No word passed between them, and the two Walshes and Veale then proceeded about 50 yards down the Main Street, and stopped outside the shop of Mr. Doyle, a photographer, where they stood to admire some photos in the window.

James Mason soon afterwards followed them down, and coming over to the window asked them what they were looking at in an aggressive manner and next assaulted the two boys, subsequently following them into the private house of Mr. M. F. Walsh, Peace Commissioner, where they were further assaulted by James Mason and his brother, Michael, as a result of which Thomas Walsh received a bad black eye for which he had to be afterwards treated by Dr. Wm. White.

Mr. Williams asked that the assaults were entirely unprovoked and uncalled for, and when the Justice had heard the evidence, he would ask him to inflict severe penalties on the defendants.

Richard Walsh, in reply to Mr. Williams, stated that on Sunday evening, February, 5th., he and his younger brother, Thomas, accompanied by Thomas Veale, were passing down the town and saw James Mason, John O'Shea and some others standing at the corner, near the Square. Having gone some distance down the Main street, they stopped outside the window of Doyle's photographic shop and were looking at some photos in the window when James Mason and John O'Shea came down and Mason asked his brother, Thomas, what he was looking at. Thomas replied that he was not looking at anything, and Mason then said to him "Where were you in 1922?" and his brother replied that he was hardly born then. Mason then struck Thomas on the chest and also assaulted his brother, Thomas, without any reason, and a woman named Mrs. Driscoll, then came on the scene and called Thomas Kelleher, who tried to separate them, and eventually put witness and his brother into Mr. M. F. Walsh's house opposite.

Mick Mason had arrived on the scene before this and assaulted his brother, Thomas, and when they had been put into Mr. Walsh's house for safety the two Masons followed them into the house and again assaulted them there. John O'Shea, who was with James Mason from the start, used abusive language towards them, and when Mason was assaulting them said "Give it to them, now," or words to that effect.

Cross-examined by Mr. Farrell, solr., witness said that he and his brother were supporters of Cumann na nGaedheal, while the Masons were supporters of Fianna Fail, but neither witness nor his brother had taken any prominent part in the recent General Election.

To the Justice—They had been on fairly friendly terms with the Masons before this, but they did not salute James Mason or his friends when passing them that night, as he and his brother and Veale were walking down the middle of the street, while the others were standing on the footpath.

To Mr. Farrell, solr.—Witness said he was quite positive that neither he nor his brother made any offensive remark to James Mason when they were passing down the street.

Thomas Walsh, who gave his age as 17 years, corroborated his brother's evidence in the main.

When James Mason came down to Doyle's window and asked him what he was looking at and he replied that he was not looking at anything, Mason said to him "Where were you in 1922?" and he replied that he was hardly born then. Mason then struck his brother on the chest and also struck witness, and Mick Mason then came on the scene and caught him by the throat from behind and swung him around.

Mrs. Driscoll then came up and tried to quell the row, but failing to do so, called Tom Kelleher, who separated them and brought witness and his brother into Mr. M. F. Walsh's house, where they were followed by the two Masons. Jimmy Mason then struck his brother Richard, and Mick Mason struck him a violent blow and gave him a black eye.

Cross-examined by Mr. Farrell, solr.—He denied that either he or his brother had used any insulting remarks about Jimmy Mason having been in the Free State Army and having now turned over to Fianna Fail.

He also denied having used any insulting language towards Dick Mason, father of the defendants.

Dr. Wm. White, Cappoquin, in reply to Mr. Williams, said that Thos. Walsh was taken to him on the night in question and he found him suffering from a bruise under the eye, like the effect of a bad blow, which would develop into a black eye.

Mr. Farrell—I suppose you are not in a position to say, doctor, whether he deserved it or not?

Witness—Oh, no; I could not say that, (laughter).

Patrick Veale, Cluthahina, was next examined by Mr. Williams, and corroborated the evidence of the two complainants. He also stated that when the latter were followed into Mr. Walsh's private house and assaulted by the two Masons, the latter were ordered out of the house by Mrs. Walsh, but refused to leave until Sergt. Rochford and another Guard arrived.

In cross-examination by Mr. Farrell, solr., witness admitted that in the course of the row at Doyle's window, Thomas Walsh took off his overcoat, but this was only to enable him to defend himself when he was struck by Jimmy Mason.

Mrs. Driscoll, Barrack street, said she saw the two Walsh boys standing at Doyle's window and saw James Mason striking Thomas Walsh. She then called Tom Kelleher, who separated them, and put them into Mr. M. F. Walsh's house for safety, and that was all she knew about the affair.

Mr. Williams—Are you connected in any way with the complainants?

Witness—I am not, sir.

Witness was not cross-examined.

Thomas Kelleher, in reply to Mr. Williams, said when he arrived on the scene the row was practically over. Mick Mason was then holding the two Walshes, as if trying to end the row, and witness then took one of the Walshes into Mr. M. F. Walsh's house in order to end the trouble. A large crowd of about 30 men had then assembled and he told them they should be ashamed of themselves for allowing such conduct to be carried on.

Cross-examined by Mr. Farrell—As Dick Walsh was going into Mr. Walsh's house he used some very offensive remarks towards Jimmy Mason and the latter then rushed in after him.

Asked to repeat the remarks used, witness said he would not like to repeat such language in Court, but he could say that it was a reflection on the members of the Free State Army, and in fact, on all the women in Ireland.

In reply to further questions by Mr. Farrell, witness said he had no doubt that if this offensive remark had not been used by Walsh the row would have been over.

Richard O'Connor, Carrigeen, was next examined by Mr. Williams, but as he was in an inner room in Mr. Walsh's house when the trouble arose in the outer shop, his evidence was not of a material character.

Mrs. Josephine Walsh, wife of Mr. M. F. Walsh, (who was away in Dublin on Court Day) stated that having heard a row on the street that night she went to the door and met Tom Kelleher taking the two young Walshes into her house for safety.

The two Masons rushed in after them, followed by an excited crowd, and after a scuffle in the shop, the Walshes were taken into an inner room and she ordered the other to leave the premises, saying it was a disgraceful thing to carry on in such a manner in anyone's house.

None of the parties left, however, until the Guards arrived, and she then got the house cleared, and Tommy Walsh was later taken out to Dr. White's for treatment for his black eye.

In cross-examination, she said she saw no blow struck in the shop, as the lights were not on at the time, but she was thrown against the counter by the violence with which the Masons and their friends rushed into the house.

This concluded the evidence for the complainants, and in opening the defence, Mr. Farrell, solr., said that he would be able to prove that the whole row on this occasion was caused by the filthy and abusive language used by the Walshes towards James Mason, who, undoubtedly, lost his temper under great provocation and committed an assault which he now regretted, but which the Walshes had entirely brought upon themselves.

James Mason, in reply to Mr. Farrell said on the night in question, he was taking some of his children into a local shop to buy some sweets for them when he saw the two Walshes, Patk. Veale and three others standing in a group near the shop. He had been in the Free State Army, and as he was coming out of the shop he heard one of the Walshes say—"He's a turncoat, as he was in the Free State Army, but now he's left it and joined Fianna Fail."

Having taken his children home, he walked down the street, accompanied by John O'Shea, and seeing the two Walshes at Doyle's window, he went over and asked them what did they mean by their remarks previously, when Dick Walsh told him to "Go to Hell." He then gave Walsh a push, and the latter tried to strike back, and witness then struck him on the chest.

Thomas Walsh then struck him from behind, and he struck him in return. Tom Kelleher then came on the scene and separated them, and took the Walshes into Mr. M. F. Walsh's shop opposite, but as they were going in, Dick Walsh used a most insulting remark about witness's wife and himself, and the Free State Army soldiers in general, and witness then lost his temper and followed him in and struck him.

In cross-examination by Mr. Williams—Witness said they were "lashing all round" at Doyle's window, but he denied that Mrs. Walsh had ordered his brother and himself out of her house, as the order was given to the whole crowd present.

So far as he was concerned, the row would have been all over if Dick Walsh had not used the filthy expressions towards witness and his wife when he was going into Mr. Walsh's house.

Having been cross-examined at some length by Mr. Williams, the next witness was Michael Mason, who said that having seen a squabble on the street he went down, and seeing who were involved he asked Dick Walsh to stop it, and then caught the two lads for the purpose of making peace.

When Tom Kelleher took them into Walsh's house he followed them in, and was apologising to Mr. Walsh about the trouble caused, but when Dick Walsh used the insulting remark to his brother, Jimmy, Mr. Walsh said the remark was uncalled for.

To Mr. Williams—He denied striking Thomas Walsh in Mr. Walsh's house, and he saw no blow struck by his brother.

John O'Shea stated that he was passing down the street with Jimmy Mason, when the latter went over to Doyle's window to speak to the two Walshes, and the next thing he saw was a squabble between them. When he went over, he was called an offensive name and knocked down by one of the Walshes, but he denied having used any offensive or abusive language towards any of them.

Having given the case a very patient hearing, the Justice said it was a pity this case had not been disposed of at the February Court, when it was first entered, as the holding over of cases of this kind, with anything like a political flavour, only created bad feeling through being unduly prolonged.

Having reviewed the evidence very fully, his Worship said if he thought that this had been a deliberate assault without any provocation he would have no hesitation in sending the two defendants to jail without the option of a fine, but the evidence before him showed that this was not the case.

On all the facts he was satisfied that Michael Mason, who appeared to be a peacemaker, was out of the case, whilst John O'Shea, against whom no charge of assault was preferred, was equally out of it, so he should dismiss the cases against both these defendants.

In the case of James Mason he would hold that while he had received great provocation on account of the offensive language used towards him, he still took the law into his own hands, which he had no right to do, and accordingly he would order him to pay a fine of 10/- and in addition the sum of 20/- as costs.

A SHORT HISTORY OF CO. WATERFORD.

Very Rev. Canon Power, D.Litt., University College, Cork, who is our leading authority on Archaeology and local History, has written a very instructive Short History of the County Waterford, which gives in attractive form the story of the ancient territory of the Decies from the earliest times down to the present day.

Canon Power, is an authority on his subject, and deals with the various periods in our local history from the Old Stone Age down to the years through the several invasions to the abolition of the foreigner in recent days in a masterly manner. It is a history invaluable to all who wish to learn full facts of this County and young and old will find it equally entertaining. An addendum to the History gives a list of remarkable Bishops of Waterford and Lismore; distinguished Co. Waterford men, and also the chief Antiquities of the County—Abbeys, Castles, Fortified Headlands, Prehistoric tombs, Ogham inscribed Tombs and Holy Wells.

The History is printed and published by the Waterford News Ltd., and is excellently turned out. The price is 1/-.

MINISTRY DEFIED.

CO. COUNCILS DECLINE TO STRIKE RATES.

DUBLIN, KILKENNY AND TIPPERARY ON THE WARP.

Remarkable scenes took place at Monday's meeting of the Dublin Co. Council when members assembled to consider the L.G. Minister's demand, that the rate estimate for the coming financial year should be struck.

Letters from farmers' organisations were read and deputations heard in opposition to the striking of the rate. A large crowd assembled outside the Council Chamber, in support of this attitude and lively exchanges took place between members of the public and of the Council.

We have been trampled on for 30 years, and we will not be trampled on any longer, said one of the crowd, while the leader of a deputation declared that the farmers could not pay the rates because some of them could not feed themselves.

To the statement of a farmers' representative that "the rates will not be paid, the farmers are going to stand against them," a member of the crowd added "that's the way to talk." By 10 votes to 8 it was decided to decline to strike the rate.

At the meeting of Kilkenny County Council, it was decided by a majority to adhere to their former decision not to prepare the demand notes for the coming year's rates. A letter was read from the L.G. Minister calling on the Council to carry out its functions in regard to the rate estimate.

Tipperary Co. Council (South Riding) at their meeting in Clonmel this week again deferred striking the rate as ordered to do by the Ministry.

BOUNTY ON THE EXPORT OF CATTLE.

As already announced in the Press the Government have decided that on and after 1st May the Bounties on cattle exported will be modified.

The Bounties payable will be 35/- per head on all cattle assessed, after export, for Tariff purposes as being two years old and upwards, and 15/- per head on all cattle similarly assessed as being 15 months old but under 2 years old.

These are the only classes on which Bounty will be payable. All claims for Bounty must be accompanied by the relative Tariff receipt.

The following arrangements as to the procedure to be followed should be carefully noted by all exporters of cattle from Saorstad Eireann:—

(1) Claim for bounty will need to be made on a form (C.E.S.) obtainable at each Port of Inspection Office, at Ports of shipment and at each Customs Frontier Station on an approved road into Northern Ireland, and also from Shipping and Railway Companies. This form, when filled up by the claimant should be forwarded by post addressed to The Secretary, Department of Agriculture, Dublin C.17., and the envelope should bear the letters C.E.S. at the top left-hand corner.

(2) A Customs Form No. 29 (Sale) will also need to be filled up at Ports and at Customs Frontier Stations in duplicate by each claimant for bounty. These forms may be obtained from the Shipping Companies at Ports and at Customs Frontier Stations and when completed must be handed to Customs Officers at these places.

As regards export of cattle to Northern Ireland, Customs Frontier Stations and posts are only on approved roads. In order to facilitate the administrative working of the Scheme, it is requested that any enquiries from the Department of Agriculture as to claims, etc., for bounty should be made in writing to the offices of the Department.

FEWER CATTLE AND REDUCED EXPORTS.

BUTTER INDUSTRY.

The report of the Minister for Agriculture for 1931-32, laid on the table of the Dail, reviews the development of agriculture during that period. The area under cereals was reduced by 27,497 acres, compared with the previous year, which was a reduction of 3.5 per cent., or a reduction of 5.3 per cent. as compared with the preceding five years. The cultivation of flax fell to 647 acres—the lowest on record. There was a fall of 9,376 acres in sugar beet.

Cattle figures fell by 9,260, and the export figures of live stock were up to the average of the preceding five years. The total value of live stock exports in 1931 was £18,327,699, as compared with £20,051,482 in 1930.

Fresh veal exports fell from 25,525 cwt. in 1930 to 7,648 in 1931. Chilled and frozen meat imports increased from 2,785 cwt. in 1930 to 3,310 cwt. in 1931.

The exports of butter showed a fall of from 524,692 cwt. in 1930 to 277,742 cwt. in 1931, while creamery butter exports fell from 389,492 cwt. in 1930 to 264,034 cwt. in 1931. The home butter market was protected by a tariff on imported butter in 1930. There was a substantial increase in the exports of cream.

The sheep population in 1931, 3,575,379, was virtually the same as in the previous year. The wool clip was up to the average, but the prices continued to drop.

The number of pigs in 1931, 1,227,003, was 16 per cent. higher than in the previous year. There was a decrease in the exports of bacon and hams from £1,831,319 to £1,216,430.

The number of horses in 1931 had increased by about 2,000.

CO. WATERFORD ESTATE.

ACTION IN HIGH COURT.

In the High Court Dublin, on Wednesday, before Mr. Justice Johnson. In an action in which Michael Parks, of Ballyduff, Dungarvan, was the plaintiff, and Nicholas McGrath, of Tallow, and Mrs. Jane Parks, of Ballyduff, Dungarvan, were defendants, the defendant sought partition or sale in lieu of partition of two farms in Co. Waterford, being part of the lands of Ballyduff, containing 90 acres and 17 perches, and part of the lands of Coolroe, containing 140 acres or thereabouts, which were settled by a marriage settlement of June 29, 1867, on the marriage of Richard Parks, medical doctor, and Nano Philomena Parks.

It was stated that there was also house property in Cappoquin and in the City of Waterford comprised in the marriage settlement, but that no trace of it could be found.

Mrs. Parks was sued in her personal capacity and as executrix of the late Mrs. Catherine Cullinane of Ballyduff.

The plaintiff, the defendant, Mrs. Mary Jane Parks, and the late Mrs. Catherine Cullinane, it was further stated, were children of Richard Parks and Nano Philomena Parks, and as such became entitled to the two farms settled by the marriage settlement.

The defendant, Nicholas McGrath, is the present trustee of the marriage settlement.

Mr. Justice Johnson asked whether the action could not be settled without having a partition suit, but the parties intimated that they wanted a sale of the lands. However, in view of the judge's remarks, it was suggested that the plaintiff might be in a position to purchase the interest of his two sisters, Mrs. Mary Jane Parks and Mrs. Catherine Cullinane, and that the parties might be able to negotiate a settlement.

Declaring that the trust of the marriage settlement should be carried out, Mr. Justice Johnson held that the property comprised both farms. He directed no inquiry about the house property in view of the fact that the plaintiff's solicitor had made a search without result, but he made an order for the usual inquiry for incumbrances and an order for sale. He allowed all parties their costs of the suit, including any costs reserved by previous orders.

Mr. M. J. Connolly, B.L. (instructed by Mr. Henry D. Keane), appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. J. L. Esmond, B.L. (instructed by Messrs. E. A. Ryan, and Co.) for the defendant Nicholas McGrath; and Mr. P. J. McEnery, B.L. (instructed by Messrs. J. F. Williams and Son), for the defendant, Mrs. Mary Jane Parks.

NEW CHURCH AT KNOCKAVERRY, YOUGHAL.

Strand House, Youghal, 27/4/33.

(To The Editor "Observer.") Dear Sir,—At a meeting held recently in Youghal, it was proposed, and I believe passed unanimously, to build a church at Knockaverry costing about £8,000.

For the following reasons I think this decision is premature:—

(1) In view of the mushroom growth of house-building at Knockaverry I think it would be unwise, as a church which would cost so much would obviously be one of definite capacity. Suppose it were built to hold say 500, it might be found in a few years to be much too small—or the opposite might be the case.

(2) It is easy to see how the expansion of Knockaverry may be influenced in various ways, for instance—closing down of the railway.

(3) The times are inopportune for collecting such a large sum.

(4) I think I am right in saying, a church which would cost so much is not likely to be completed before another three summers had passed (perhaps more) and, apart from the above considerations, this is a long time to wait, as one is already very urgently required.

I suggest a church of timber and galvanized iron for the present. It would cost only a few hundred pounds, and would be built in a few months.

Such Catholic Churches are common at English sea-side resorts where the population varies much—Yours truly,

BOY ATTACKED BY A COW.

On Monday, a boy named Devine, aged 11 years was attacked by a cow in a field on the farm of Mr. D. Drohan, Ballynevin, near Carrick-on-Suir. The lad was badly injured in the head, back and arms. It appears that Devine and other boys went into the field to look at a young calf and he was set upon by the cow. He was removed to Waterford County Hospital.

INTERESTING DEVELOPMENT IN CARRICK-ON-SUIR HOUSING SCHEME. At Carrick-on-Suir Urban Council meeting on Tuesday, the Clerk read a letter from the L.G. Department sanctioning the Council's proposal to increase the contract for houses of Mr. R. B. Nolan, Waterford by £15 per house. The matter arose out of correspondence from Mr. Nolan at recent meetings and deputations to the Council from local Trades Council urging upon the Council to see that the Trades Union rate of wages of 40d. per hour for labourers and 1/7 per hour for tradesmen was paid by the contractor. Mr. Nolan stated in letters sent to the Council that he had based his tender on the wage of 9d. for labourers and 1/7 for tradesmen and intimated that he would pay the 10d. and 1/7 if the contract price was increased £15 per house. Messrs. P. Costin and Son, Waterford, to whom the contract for building 46 houses was given at the last meeting wrote stating they would pay the 10d. and 1/7 per hour if the Council would allow 4/- per week per man engaged at the work while it lasted in addition to the contract price accepted at the last meeting. The Council declined to accede to Messrs. Costin's request on the ground that they had been told that they should pay 40d. and 1/7 per hour.
