Bell, Esq.; D. Coughlan, Esq.; M. Flynn, Esq.; N. Fitzgerald, Esq.; R. P. Byrne, Esq.; V.S.; J. Hayes, Esq.; J. J. Drohan, Esq.; T. J. Flahavan, Esq.; N. Draper, Esq.; N. Connors, Esq.; T. Lynch, Esq.; N. Morrissey, Esq.; P. J. Hallahan, Esq.

Treasurers—Munster and Leinster Bank, Dungarvan.

Hon. Veterinary Surgeon—R. P. Byrne, V.S., Dungarvan. Hon. Secretary—P. J. Moloney, Duckspool, Dungarvan. Secretary—John Lynch.

Judges—Horses—Brig-General Hunt; Capt. P. P. Roche; P. Quinn, Esq.; and J. McEnery, Esq.

In fine weather and in the presence of a large attendance, the Annual Show under the auspices of the Dungarvan Show Committee was held on the well-kept enclosure at Shandon, on Thursday, and was a perfect success from every point of view. Certainly there were bigger Shows and larger attendances in days gone by, but in view of the peculiar times in which to live when highly intelligent and far-seeing people would ridicule the impossibility of running a successful Show this year's fixture was a perfect success not only in the entries and in the attendance, but financially also.

The quality of the animals shown was never higher, and the Judges were loud in their praises of the competitors. In the Hunter Class for 5 years old and upwards, 13 competed and they were the admiration of the ringside. Perfect specimens of weight carriers, all there was very little to choose between them, and when Mr. Barry won the contest from Lady McCalmont's entry, it was only by a narrow margin. The 4-year-old class brought forward 15 beautiful animals, many of which in normal times would be eagerly picked up at long figures. In the 3-year-old classes it was the same high standard and in the yearlings from a big bunch. Mr. N. Beresford, Coolnagour, was awarded the red rosette for his fine promising filly by Servitude. The Cob and Pony classes were also up to high mark, and by taking premier honours in the class for Ponies 132 and under, Miss Caroline R. Bowen, Clonea Castle, out-distanced all her opponents.

As is usual in this County, our cattle are the best types of dual purpose cattle, and this year the animals entered were as good as ever seen before. The young calves and heifers were too a grand selection and well worthy of admiration. It would be invidious to single out any for special mention as all were of high merit and a credit to the farmers of these parts.

The Committee in charge of the Show had the arrangements perfect, and everything passed off with perfect smoothness and with complete satisfaction. The Officials worked hard and energetically, and with Mr. John Lynch, as Secretary, left nothing to chance. The result justified all.

Mary Kiewan, Kilmacathomas, district, pleaded guilty at the Waterford Circuit Court, to a charge of concealment of the birth of an infant of her daughter.

Mr. Conihlan, solr., for the defendant, pleaded it was a particularly sad case, and at the time of the offence defendant was unwell and not in her right senses.

Sergt. O'Connor, Kilmacathomas, said there was nothing against the defendant previously.

Having regard to defendants age, 65 years, His Lordship decided to bind her over for 2 years.

FIXITY OF TENURE.

FARMERS WARNED.

Speaking at a Farmers meeting in Kilkenny, Mr. Dillon, T.D., said they were told they were playing England's game, and that the only reason there had not been an end to the economic war was that England did not realise that the people were behind President de Valera. President de Valera said, "Give me a clear majority and I will soon finish the economic war. The war was still going on and the people who were paying were not the people who were making the war. The politicians sitting in Leinster House were making no contribution to the expenditure; it was poor fools who believed the promises made to them who were paying. If they remained as foolish now they would go on paying for the economic war until they had not sixpence to pay, and longer.

THE LAND BILL.

Dealing with the new Land Bill, Mr. Dillon said he wanted to warn the people in this country of the principles for which the land war was fought. If the Bill passed into law as it was at present, fixity of tenure would vanish from the land. The leader of the land war gave the people of this country the right to call their homes their own.

LISMORE NOTES.

BRILLIANT LISMORE STUDENT.

It affords us great pleasure to record that Mr. Michael Foley, who has been a brilliant student of University College, Cork, for several years past, passed his final examination in Dental Surgery with honours last week.

Mr. Foley is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Foley, General Merchants, Main street, and received his early education in the Christian Brothers Collegiate School, Lismore, where he passed all his Intermediate examinations with flying colours. He later spent some years at Rockwell College, where he had a further distinguished course, and next went to University College, Cork, to complete his studies for the profession of Dental Surgery.

On Tuesday morning in the University College, Cork, he had the honour of having the Degree of Bachelor of Dental Surgery conferred on him, which marked the climax of a most brilliant Collegiate course, and we now join with his hosts of friends in Lismore in heartily congratulating him on his signal success.

SPORTS POSTPONED.

The Novices Cycling and Athletic Sports, which were to have been held at Lismore on last Sunday under N.A. & C.A., Rules, had to be postponed until next Sunday owing to the inclemency of the weather.

This was certainly hard luck on the promoters who had gone to great trouble and expense to provide a great day's sport for all, but there was no other course open to them owing to the torrential downpour of rain which fell incessantly all the day, and 2 Sports will be held on Sunday next.

The programme is an unusually attractive one, opening with an 8-mile road cycle race around Cappoquin, and finishing in Lismore, while all the usual popular cycling and athletic events are included, and we hope to see a very large attendance of spectators in order to compensate the committee for the great loss sustained owing to last Sunday's unavoidable postponement.

JUNIOR HURLING.

In a junior hurling Co. Championship match played in the Gaelic Field, Lismore, on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, between Tallow and Villierstown, the former proved easy winners on the substantial score of 5 goals 3 points to nil.

After the heavy rains of the earlier part of the day the ground was in a very soft and sodden condition, but the Tallow players made light of this disadvantage and proved too fast for their opponents in every stage of the game.

Lismore Novice SPORTS

DUNGARVAN DISTRICT COURT.

Held on Wednesday, before Mr. Troy, D.J.

Trespass Case.

Mr. McGivern, Knocknagrath, summoned Palk, Wright, Buttery street, with allowing his horses trespass on his land.

Mr. Williams, solr., for plaintiff.

Plaintiff deposed that on the night of June 23rd, he found horses on the land. He caught one and two others followed him. He put them into a house and next morning gave them up to the defendant. This thing is going on now about 2 years. In order to get the horses into the land a wall was knocked down and put up again.

Patk. Wright (Senior), appeared, and said he did not own the horses. His son, who was working owned them.

To the Justice—Wright admitted often being fined for horses wandering. A fine of 1/6 with 15/- costs was imposed.

Occasional Licenses.

Mr. Williams, solr., on behalf of Mr. Danl. Cooney, Square, was granted an occasional license (hours 11 p.m. to 4 a.m.) in connection with the Band Dance, on Horse Show Night.

Mr. Williams, was also on behalf of Mrs. Monahan, granted an occasional license (hours 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., for the Show Grounds on Show Day).

Milk Case.

Guard O'Leary, Food and Drugs Inspector, prosecuted Miss Kate Sheridan, Shandon, with selling milk from which according to the Analysts' Certificate, 41 per cent. of fat was abstracted.

Mr. E. A. Ryan, solr., appeared for the defendant.

Thomas Sheridan, replying to Mr. Ryan, said his sister was not able to attend as he was unwell. He was present when the sample was taken and the milk was sold as it came from the cows. The only way he could account for the reduction in fat was, the night was very wet and the cows were in a flush of grass.

Maudie Sheridan, deposed her brother milked the cows that morning. She sold the milk, and did not in any way interfere with it. The sample was taken about an hour after milking.

Justice—I am satisfied that there was nothing done to the milk, and will dismiss the case under the P.O. Act.

THE CHURCH'S ENEMIES.

ACTIVITY OF SECRET AGENTS.

ADDRESS BY BISHOP OF WATERFORD.

The present disturbed condition of the world and the activities of Communist and secret society agents, were referred to by Most Rev. Dr. Kinane, Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, at Waterford Cathedral on Sunday, when he preached his first sermon since his recent consecration.

THE CHURCH'S ENEMIES.

From the political standpoint the world is in a state of flux, and no man can foretell what form of Government will ultimately emerge and survive. No condition of things could be more inimical to the Church's interest or more favourable to the machinations of her enemies.

TRIBUTE TO LATE BISHOP.

His Lordship reminded the congregation that a little more than a year had elapsed since they had assembled in that Cathedral to pay their last need of respect to their late lamented Bishop, Most Rev. Dr. Hackett.

PRIESTS AND PEOPLE.

When he looked at the matter from the purely human, natural standpoint, he was almost appalled at the prospect and could see very little prospect of these spiritual fruits and blessings he so ardently desired to be the means of bestowing on them.

YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Mr. G.P. Farrell, D.J.)

Civil Bills.

A number of undefended Civil Bills and Ejectments, in which Messrs. W. R. Hodnett, T. K. Keane, and J. N. R. Macnamara, solrs., appeared for the plaintiffs were first disposed of.

Unlicensed Dogs.

Sergt. O'Beirne, charged Jas. O'Connor, of no fixed abode, with having 2 unlicensed dogs.

Complainant stated that defendant had 3 dogs—a greyhound, a Kerry Blue and a mongrel. The greyhound only was licensed.

Defendant was fined 5/- each for the two others.

Tramp Nuisance.

Sergt. Lupton, charged Thomas Hayes, vagrant, with begging on the Strand.

Replying to the Court, complainant said the man had been in custody since Monday.

The Justice (to defendant)—What have you got to say to that?—I took a couple of pints, sir, (laughter). What has that got to do with the charge—was he drunk?

Sergt. Lupton—He wasn't drunk, but he had drunk taken.

The Justice (to defendant)—What are you?—I'm a ballad-singer, sir.

The Justice—Sergt, did you hear him sing (laughter)?—No, sir, he didn't sing, and he had no ballads.

The Justice—Something to be thankful for (laughter).

Where do you belong to?—Lismore, Co. Waterford. Where do you live?—From town to town. Have I seen you before?—I was here 12 months ago. What happened then?—You let me off with a caution.

Sergt. Lupton said defendant was there last August and he cautioned him to leave the town.

Sergt. O'Beirne, said the people were complaining that the place was over run with those beggars. The defendant was a professional; he did nothing else but beg and when he got a few drinks his custom was to lay down in the middle of the road. He had similar previous experience of him at Middleton.

The Justice—Is there any prison record?—There is nothing down, sir.

(To defendant)—You seem to have kept out of jail?

The Sergt.—He says he has been in all the jails (laughter).

Defendant was sentenced to 14 days imprisonment.

TIMELY RESCUE AT YOUGHAL.

A city visitor, Mr. P. Horgan, had a narrow escape while bathing at Youghal on Sunday evening. Despite the strong westerly gale and broken sea prevailing, he went for a swim under the Lighthouse. Caught by the current, he was carried along towards Clifton, where he endeavoured to reach the beach, but got into difficulties, being knocked against some submerged rocks. John Ronayne, ex-Navyman, seeing his danger, stripped partly and went out to his assistance, and he was quickly followed by a young man named Thomas Swaine.

Between them they brought him ashore safely, but thoroughly exhausted. They then carried him bodily up the cliff and on to the house he was staying in, where medical assistance was called in. Ronayne and Swaine are to be complimented on their prompt and plucky action.

blissings for the people He had given him to rule.

There were many supernatural considerations which afforded him well grounded hope that this help and grace would not be wanting, and that through them his union with that great diocese would not be altogether an unfruitful or unhappy one.

The first and most important of these considerations was that he had nothing whatever to do with his appointment. That had been entirely the act of his ecclesiastical superiors. It must therefore have been a manifestation of Divine Will in his regard and consequently he would receive abundant grace from on high to enable him discharge faithfully and efficiently the onerous duties which it involved.

Another consideration which gave him great consolation and enabled him to view the future very hopefully was the fact that he would have a magnificent body of priests ready to help him in his difficulties and cooperate with him in his efforts, and who would have a larger measure of self indulgence for his many short comings.

In the good pious Catholic people of this diocese he had a further guarantee that every effort of his for their spiritual well being could produce fruits out of all proportion to the energy expended. "You," said his Lordship, "have a wonderful reputation, and I am beginning to realise from personal experience how well founded that reputation is. The scenes which occurred in connection with my consecration reminded me very forcibly of the Eucharistic Congress last year. I cannot tell you how edified and humbled I felt by all that I had witnessed. I am convinced then that not only will you receive me as guide and ruler whom the Holy Ghost has sent to you, and cooperate with me in the discharge of these functions, but that you will pray constantly and earnestly that I may discharge them faithfully and thus will our mutual intercourse be to us both a source of great spiritual fruit and happiness."

Waterford County Board of Public Health.

ELECTION OF CHAIRMAN.

BURYING A WHALE.

£1 NOT ENOUGH.

TENDERS FOR COTTAGES.

Mr. P. O'Gorman, outgoing Chairman presided at the meeting of the Board of Health. There were also present—Messrs. John O'Donnell, Wm. Slack, Mee. Keane, D. Heskin, John Butler and Ml. Curran.

Election of Chairman and Vice-Chairman.

On the proposition of Mr. O'Donnell, the outgoing Chairman and Vice-Chairman, Messrs. P. O'Gorman and Ml. Curran, were unanimously re-appointed.

Cottage Rent Arrears.

Mr. Patk. Morrissey, County Checker reported the amount of arrears of cottage rents at the beginning of the month as £775, and at the end £980.

Mr. O'Donnell—It is gone up over £2100 in the month.

Well At Moran's Cross.

Dr. Ronayne, reported that the well at Moran's Cross (near Pilltown Cross) is surrounded by mud and stagnant water. There is a danger of percolation into the well, and I recommend an analysis of the water immediately.

The Engineer was directed to have the well cleaned and water analysed.

Ardmore Water Shortage.

On the report of the Caretaker, the Board made an order directing the Secretary to write to Jas. Quain, Cliff, Ardmore, re taking water for other than drinking purposes, before proceeding further in the matter.

Knockboy Cottage.

On the proposition of Mr. Slack, the vacant cottage at Knockboy, Ballinamull was let to Maurice Connery. The other applicants were Mrs. Blake, and Miss Oimonde.

Proceedings Adjourned.

Mr. Quinn, Cottage Rent Collector, reported that he had taken proceedings for possession of a cottage against Mr. Murray, Whitestown West.

The Justice adjourned the case for a month to allow the defendant to pay off the arrears.

The Board approved of the action taken.

Burial Of A Whale.

Mr. Patk. Keane, Cunnigar, appeared before the Board in respect of the Board's offer of £1 for the burial of the carcass of a whale.

Mr. Keane informed the Board that Mr. O'Sullivan, Customs Officer and the Guards offered him 30/- for the work. It took him 3 days to cut it up and bury it, as it weighed over 3 tons.

The Secretary, explained that the Customs Officer and the Guards thought at first that it was their duty to have it removed, and they offered this man 30/-. They later found that it was a matter for the Sanitary Authority. The Board of Health passed £1 to Keane at the last meeting, but he is dissatisfied with that.

The Board made an order granting 30/.

Damages To Car.

Mr. Michl. Mason, Cappoquin, appeared before the Board in connection with his application for £14 12s. 6d., as a result of damages to a motor car and clothes by disinfection, ordered by the Board's officials. The application was adjourned from the previous meeting pending a report from the doctor.

Secretary—Apparently the disinfection was badly carried out after a funeral at which, Mr. Mason's hearse was employed.

Dr. White's report was as follows:—Mr. Mason was aware that disinfection should take place before the car was again used, and the procedure was explained to him. In order that he could use his car earlier he carried out the disinfection himself before the S.S.O. had time to do so.

Mr. Mason—I was ordered to disinfect the car immediately it came back. I am only claiming what I am actually out of pocket, and have no claim for loss of time, the car being 8 days idle. I carried out the orders of the doctor and Mr. Ormonde. I was told by the doctor, the S.S.O., and the Guards to do it myself immediately the car came back.

Mr. Butler—Dr. White is after sending in a report here that is flatly contradicted. The only thing to do is to refer it back to him.

Mr. Mason—I am prepared to come here before Dr. White and Mr. Ormonde, and to have the Guards here.

Mr. Curran—We could not pass any money (no matter how much we are in sympathy with Mr. Mason) unless on the certificate of our official.

Mr. Mason then left the meeting intimating that the matter would not rest there.

Public Health Act.

A letter was read from the Tramore Public Health Committee, asking the Board to adopt certain sections of the Public Health Act to be made applicable to Tramore.

The Board adjourned the matter, and the Secretary was directed to suggest to the Tramore committee to look for Urban powers.

Life-Saving.

The Tramore Public Health Committee, wrote asking the Board to appoint a man as life-saver at Tramors during the period June to September, also to supply two new lifebuoys.

The Secretary said that the Tramore Committee had a man employed heretofore at £2 a week. He was paid from private sources.

Mr. O'Donnell—Did we not provide a boat for them?

Secretary—Yes.

Mr. O'Donnell—That is enough. It was then decided to supply the two lifebuoys, the other portion of the letter being adjourned.

Ballinagoul Well.

On the proposition of Mr. Curran, the Engineer was directed to have the public well at Ballinagoul put into a proper state at once.

Glendine Well.

Mr. Spreadborough, Engineer, reported the probable cost of repairs and deepening the well at Glendine school was £4 to £4 10s.

He was ordered to see that the work was carried out.

Ardmore Water.

Mr. Spreadborough, reported on the proposed supply to Ardmore, his estimate for which is £1,544 8s.

Mr. Keane—Any hope of getting a grant for this work?

Secretary—They have promised a grant for the Ring supply.

Mr. Keane—On what area will this be chargeable?

Secretary—I think we fixed the area of charge already. It will be the Youghal No. 2 area.

Mr. Keane—I thought there was a new act passed, making works such as this county-at-large charges?

Secretary—No.

New Scheme Of Cottages.

The following letter was read from the Department:—

"I am directed by the Minister for Local Government and Public Health, to state that he approves of the Board advertising for tenders for the erection of 313 cottages on the sites which are proposed to be acquired by them by agreement. The Minister will be prepared to nominate an Architect to determine the compensation payable for these plots, and an early communication will be addressed to the Board on this matter. A form upon which the Board may make application for sanction to the loan required for the erection of these cottages is enclosed.

I am to add that a number of objections has been received by the Board under the Labourers Act and the Minister will arrange for the holding of a local inquiry as to the propriety of confirming the order with or without modifications.

Secretary—That means you can invite tenders for 313 cottages for your next meeting.

The Board unanimously agreed to do this; also to advertise for two Clerks of Works, (one for each Engineer) only men with engineering qualifications to be appointed at a salary of £5 per week and travelling allowance.

The following resolution was passed:—"That we strongly condemn the person or persons associated with the bogus notices concerning employment at Glenbow Wood."

Resolutions were also passed thanking the Cork Co. Board of Health for the good work they had done in securing homes for the workmen, and asking for Government support of a new industry, which, if properly developed, would give much-needed employment in the district.

Ardmore District Court. (Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, D.J.) Foods And Drugs Act. In a case of Sergt. O'Shea, against Thomas O'Connell, for a breach of the Foods and Drugs Act in connection with the sale of butter.

Inspector Hart, applied for an adjournment, as the Sergeant was on his honeymoon.

The Justice said he was opposed to adjournments, but in that case there was a perfectly genuine reason.

The case was adjourned to next Court.

Assault. Patk. Power, Lisarrow, by his father, Patrick Power, Senior, and Patk. Power, senr., charged Mrs. Hannah Supple, Lisarrow, with assaulting by a stick, and also with abusive and threatening language.

Patk. Supple, husband of defendant, said his wife was unable to attend, and he applied for a summons against complainants. His child was under the care of two doctors.

The Justice said he would grant a summons, but the applicant should pay the C.B.O., for the service.

Replying to the Court, the applicant said his place was about 4 miles distant.

The Justice—Is it over or under the four miles?

C.B.O. Linnen—It is as much over as under your worship (laughter).

The Justice—We're just as we were. A summons was granted.

Trespass. Michael Troy, charged Nicholas Rooney, Ardmore, with the trespass of a bullock in his cornfield.

Complainant said that the animal was coming in over the fence frequently and when he made a complaint Rooney said the bullock was only walking around, not feeding (laughter).

Replying to the Court, Rooney said—I have nothing at all to say on the matter.

The Justice—What is defendant? Complainant—He is a farmer and a publican.

Imposing a penalty of 6/- special damage, and 3/6 costs, the Justice warned defendant that if he didn't stop the trespass it would cost him a lot more the next time.

Drunk. Guard Ryan, charged Thomas Hurtin, with being drunk and incapable at Clashmore, on the 31st. May.

The Justice—Is there anything against him before?

Complainant said since August '24, he had been fined for like offences and disorderly conduct, 5 times, from 5/- to 20/-. On the present occasion, he was inclined to be abusive to people in the street.

The Justice—He breaks out every three years. He was fined 5/-.

Larceny By Boy. At a Children's Court, Martin Mulcahy, aged 8 years, was charged with the larceny of a silver watch, the property of Mr. Denis O'Leary, Cork.

Inspector Hart, prosecuting, said that the larceny was reported to the Guards on Monday 3rd, and the missing article was recovered on Tuesday, 4th.

Denis O'Leary, National Health Insurance Inspector, Cork, stated that he was on holidays at Ardmore at present. On the evening of the 3rd, he went for a swim on the Strand and afterwards took a walk along the beach leaving his coat, in a pocket of which was the watch attached by a strap, on the sand. When he returned he found the watch gone and a spectacle case and penknife thrown around. He identified the watch produced as his. The glass had been opened and the hour hand was gone. The watch was value for about 17/6. He didn't find the strap.

Replying to the Court, witness said the thing happened between 4 and 5 o'clock. The usual holiday crowd was around the beach, bathing and sun-bathing. The facts showed that his coat pockets had been rifled.

The boy's father said, when questioned by the Justice, that he had known nothing about it, and had nothing to say, but that he was very sorry that it had occurred.

Guard Deasy, stated that he had received a complaint about the missing watch on Monday evening. On the following evening, he dressed in civilian clothes and concealed himself on the Strand. Some time after school closing hour, he saw that young child, Martin Mulcahy, going amongst the visitors' clothes, and having a look around especially on the women's clothes. As a result of his movements, witness questioned and searched him. He had nothing in his possession, denied taking the watch, got very indignant, and ran away home. Witness followed him and questioned him in his parents presence. He again denied, but later on said he had got it from another boy. It was hidden in a fence near the Strand.

The Justice (to the little boy)—Why did you take the watch?—I wanted to see what time it was. What did you do with the hand that is missing?—It fell off when I opened the glass.

The Justice—I can see you will need a lot of watching.

The father said he would keep a better eye on him.

The Justice (to the boy)—If you do anything like this again you will be locked up in an Industrial School for 8 years and your father will have to pay for any damage to the watch.

Mr. O'Leary said that was all right. The father was a poor man and he blamed himself for leaving the watch in his coat pocket.

The Justice said people couldn't have bathing facilities in Ardmore, and bathers should be entitled to leave their clothes on the Strand without having their pockets rifled while walking around. If the boy's parents didn't correct and bring him up properly they were going to have trouble with him. They had been treated very decently by the owner of the watch. He would let the boy out under the P.O.A. in his father's recognisances of £5 for 3 years. That was an unpleasant case for the place and he wished to give warning that if there was a repetition he wouldn't give the culprit the benefit of the P.O.A. He took that opportunity of complimenting Guard Deasy, on the very prompt and successful manner in which he had detected the offender. The case was one of great importance for Ardmore and the Guards action would have a very salutary effect on any persons foolish enough to think of interfering with other people's property.

Inspector Hart said he would bring his Worship's remarks before the proper authorities.

IRISH COLLEGE, ARDMORE.

A visit to St. Declan's—the Irish Residential—College at Ardmore, found the work well on the way to full swing. Already 120 students were at their studies and the week-end would see that number increased to 150. They included Secondary, Vocational and National Teachers, and Scholarship Holders together with Secondary School pupils and children of visitors on holidays at this picturesque and interesting Co. Waterford seaside resort. In addition a number of clergy from St. Kieran's College, Kilkenny are doing a course at present. Elementary, Intermediate and advanced classes were hard at work under capable teachers. An elementary class of 50 were schooled in the recreation hall in the garden, while another group carried on under the shelter of a broad spreading tree close by.

The instructors include—Rev. P. Swaine, B.A., President Knockbeg College, Carlow (in charge of studies); Seumas Cleirachan, M.A., Cross and Passion College, Carlow; Eibhin M. Bhric, D.E.I., Maire ni Mheara, Clonmel (music and dancing) with Michael O'Folghulda (traditional) Michael O'Conchubhair, etc. Only Irish is spoken throughout in the College precincts. The students have the advantage of being in touch with native Irish speakers with the rich bias of the Decies and their Gaelicizing is facilitated by contact with the many historical and antiquarian remains of which the locality can boast such a wealth.

OVER 100 NUNS AT RING COLLEGE.

Over 100 Nuns from all parts of Ireland are in residence at Ring Irish College, (Co. Waterford), and there are about 200 lay students in Irish-speaking houses in the district.

MULCAHYS, DUNGARVAN.

DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

Present—Mr. J. Butler, chairman, presiding. Messrs. J. Mooney, M. J. Keane, V. C., J. McEvoy, J. Hackett, T. McCarthy, B. Doe, T. Power, and M. Griffin.

Payments.

Sums of £5 12s. 9d., on the footpaths account and £21 16s. 5d., on the general account were paid.

Shambles Gate.

Mr. Mooney—I notice that the gate to the Shambles is now finished. I would like to know at what cost.

B.S.—It is in the neighbourhood of £6 13s. 4d., with the timber required.

Mr. Mooney—It seems to me a bit costly, but it will be some use. I suppose with the material it cost over £10.

B.S.—About £10. It is a good job.

Connections With Sewer.

Mr. Patk, Daniel, Kilrush, again appeared before the Council with regard to the notice to abate a nuisance on his sisters in respect of their premises at Mitchell street, by the S.S.O. The matter was adjourned from the previous meeting to allow a deputation from the Council visit the place on Sunday last.

Mr. McCarthy—Before Mitchell street was rolled there was a drain out of Daniel's premises, and I imagine the Co. Council had no right to close up that when rolling the road without acquainting this Council.

S.S.O. replying to the Chairman, said that he, on an order from the Council issued a notice to Miss Daniels to abate the nuisance. The next move in such cases where the order was not carried out was to place the matter in the hands of the solicitor.

Mr. Daniel—The old sewer was alright until the road was rolled, the old sewer was made by Mr. Beary, but since the rolling that is not working. I suggest instead of having three openings in the Main Road, that a sewer be brought from the rear of the two adjoining houses to my sisters yard, then one opening of the Main Road would do.

Chairman—That is certainly the more economical way of doing the thing, and this Council would raise no objection to that plan.

Mr. Daniel—I would be prepared on behalf of my sisters, to do the work inside the footpath, but I will not cut the road across, or have anything to do with it.

Chairman—I wonder does Mr Bowen get any such work done.

Mr. Daniel—I will see Mr. Bowen. I do not know whose duty it is, but I will see further about it. I will have nothing to do with opening the road.

The Council then made an order directing the S.S.O. to see that the nuisance is abated.

Co. Home Sewer.

Arising out of the resolution from the Board of Public Assistance asking the Urban Council as Sanitary Authority to run a sewer from the Co. Home on the basis of a 50/50 cost between the Council and the Board of Assistance.

The matter was before the previous meeting, but was adjourned for the attendance of the chairman, who is a member of the Board of Assistance.

Chairman—This Council previously decided to go fifty fifty in the construction of the septic tank and the sewer from the tank out. This resolution says fifty fifty for the whole scheme. I presume that the construction of the septic tank and out, would be two-thirds.

The B.S. explained that the estimate was £1,540 and he was of the opinion that the Council could run an independent sewer for little more than half that; besides, he went on to point out that this sewer would be better as it would have a greater fall.

Chairman—You mean that you could run a better sewer for about £400 odd.

B.S.—Yes, and it would be a better one.

Chairman—if we go fifty fifty to the septic tank or else go 100 per cent, and run an independent sewer and they go 100 per cent, and build another independent sewer. I can't see how the latter is going to be cheaper for us.

B.S.—The sewer will be a better one, it will have a greater fall.

Mr. Moloney—I can't see how it can be cheaper either.

Mr. Keane—I think it would be advisable to have an independent sewer.

Chairman—This sewer would have been built 12 months ago if the Board of Assistance had compulsory powers. They were now asking the Council to do the work because of this reason, that they had not compulsory powers.

Mr. Moloney—They originated the scheme.

Mr. Keane—Could they not make a better offer than fifty fifty to this Council?

Chairman—You could ask them.

Mr. Keane suggested that the B.S. consult with Mr. Murphy, the Architect as to the respective cost and merits of the two sewers.

The Council agreed on this and adjourned the matter.

THE LATE MR. WM. CHEASTY.

Youghal Circuit Court

CLAIMS FOR MALICIOUS DAMAGES.

His Lordship Judge J. K. O'Connor, K.C., opened the business of the Circuit Court for the East Riding of Cork, at Youghal Courthouse, on Tuesday.

Youghal Doctor's House.

Arising out of the burning of a dwellinghouse on 1st August, 1922, occupied by the late Dr. Wm. Thomas Conway, L.L.D., Aghada, there was a claim for £250 compensation by Thomas Morrison, Ballycroen, Cloyne, personal representative and next of kin of the deceased, for the malicious destruction by the fire of household furniture. A similar claim by Margaret Murphy, Travers street, Cork, was struck out.

Mr. J. J. Kavanagh, (instructed by Mr. W. St. Clair Rice, solr.) for the plaintiff, and Mr. J. F. Meagher (instructed by Messrs. Exham and Sons, solr.) for the Cork Co. Council.

Mr. Kavanagh said the fire broke out in the house between 1 and 4 o'clock a.m., on the morning of the 1st August, 1922, a fortnight after the death of the late Dr. Conway, who resided there alone. After his death the Civic Guards took charge of what was then in the house. Apparently he said a number of next of kin were disputing the ownership of the property, which was insured for the sum of £250.

Margaret Humphreys, a neighbour of the late Dr. Conway, deposed that about 4 a.m. on the morning of the fire she was awakened by Patk. Connors, who lived next door. Conway's house was then on fire, and witness sent for the Civic Guards. Dr. Conway had died on the 8th July previous. When the Civic Guards came after his death they took what valuables they could carry away, and locked the house, as the deceased had no one living with him.

Replying to Mr. Meagher, witness said the late Dr. Conway lived in the house about 20 years. He had the house as weekly tenant from witness. So far as any insurance policy on the house was concerned, it would be paid to witness.

Mr. Kavanagh—There is a different policy on the furniture.

Patk. O'Connor, who lives next door to the burned premises, deposed to discovering the fire about 3.30 in the morning of 1st August. When he got up the house next door was like a roaring furnace. The house was locked on the night before the burning.

Replying to Mr. Meagher, witness said he did not notice anyone knocking around the place on the occasion.

Sergt. Mulvey, Whitegate, deposed to taking possession of the valuables in the house after the death of the late Dr. Conway. There was a gold medal of the Royal Antiquarian Order of Buffaloes, field glasses, 18 ten shilling notes, an American twenty dollar bill, a deposit receipt for £150. The furniture in the place consisted of a wardrobe, three tables three boxes containing a large number of books, three pictures, a writing desk, five chairs, scales and weights and other articles. Witness said he saw the place on the 31st July, it was then locked. When he attended while the fire was on, he found all the furniture had been destroyed. Witness said he found a 'drum, which had contained paraffin oil, in the debris. It would be difficult, the witness said, to set fire to the house from the outside, as it was a good slated house.

Mr. Meagher submitted that in the evidence the onus of showing malice had not been discharged by the plaintiff, and it was quite possible the fire might have occurred in an accidental way.

His Lordship said he was not satisfied the fire was malicious, and that it did not occur accidentally, but was probably caused by some passer by who, seeing the empty house, went in, discovered the paraffin oil in the drum and tried to light a lamp or fire. He would dismiss the application with costs.

A claim by Margaret Humphreys for £150, for destruction of her house arising out of the same occurrence, was also dismissed.

Ellen McCarthy, Ballyard, claimed £203 for the malicious destruction of a dwellinghouse and engine, her property, on the night of the 9th April last.

Mr. George Daly (instructed by Mr. J. L. Keane, solr.) for applicant, and Mr. J. F. Meagher (instructed by Messrs. Exham and Sons, solr.) for the Co. Council.

The fire, counsel for the plaintiff said, was discovered between 9 o'clock and 10 p.m. by some men playing cards in a neighbouring house. They extinguished the outbreak and were satisfied the place was all right when they left it. Later on that night a different part of the house was found on fire and the place was destroyed. The applicant lived for some years in America, and on returning home went to live with her brother, whose house was about a half mile from the burned premises. She bought the latter place so that she would have it to live in if her brother married, but she was not living there at the time of the fire. Her brother had trouble with the people of his deceased wife and the suggestion was that one of that family, who was not of normal intellect, had vented his malice on the brother against the idle house.

Mr. Meagher said the man, Michael Cronin, referred to, had been confined in the Mental Hospital, and was charged with the offence of setting fire to the house before his Lordship at the last Cork Criminal Sessions, but was medically certified as unfit to plead.

Evidence was given by the applicant by the men who discovered the fire on the first instance and extinguished it, and by Sergt. J. J. Mullins, who said he was of opinion Michael Connors was not normal.

Mr. Justin Condon, auctioneer and valuer, Youghal, deposed a fair price for the house would be £400.

James Kelleher, brother of the plaintiff, said when he married his late wife who was a sister of Connors, he brought £300 into the farm. His wife died five months after the marriage and the Connors family expected him to give back the farm, and had taken him to law on the matter. Michael Connors had been three times in a mental hospital.

His Lordship gave a decree for £400, with costs, to be levied off the Midleton rural district.

James Kelleher, a witness in the previous case, claimed £50 compensation for the malicious burning of four tons of straw and 12 bags of potatoes on the morning of the 13th of June last.

Mr. George Daly, (instructed by Mr. J. J. Ronayne, solr.) for plaintiff, and Mr. Michl. O'Driscoll (instructed by Mr. Alex Healy, solr.) for the county Council.

Evidence having been given of the destruction of the property, it was pointed out that the fire occurred on the morning of the day on which Michael Connors was to attend at Cork Circuit Court in connection with the previous case, and arose out of the same circumstances.

His Lordship gave a decree for £20, to be levied off the Midleton area.

TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT. NEW WAY.

Wexford Co. Council, by ten votes to eight, decided that any of their workers who had a twelve months' accumulation of unemployment stamps to their credit be disemployed immediately and their places taken by unemployed men.

40 CONVERTS TO CATHOLICISM IN BELFAST.

"In one chapel in Belfast the other afternoon, 40 Protestants were received into the Roman Catholic faith," declared Rev. F. Rupert Gibson, B.A., of Townsend street, Presbyterian Church, Belfast. He warned Protestant youths against frequenting dance halls on Sundays, where a great deal of propaganda went on.

ECONOMIC WAR AND POULTRY.

"The economic war is destroying the country, that is what is wrong," said Mr. J. Brophy, Co. C., at Kilkenny Co. Committee of Agriculture, when the Secretary reported that during the past season 9,042 dozens of eggs were produced at the 30 egg stations in the county, but of these only 2,441 settings were availed of, that was a disappointment and it seemed there was something wrong.

R. I. P.

(Written on death of Miss Morris, Dungarvan, June, 25th, 1933.)

Oh you who are fondly mourned to-day.

By many a kindly friend.

Who at last have shattered Earth's bond of clay.

And soared to your journey's end.

Who worshipped the beauty of sea and sky.

The colour of fields and flowers.

The music of laughter, the kindling of faith.

Of Faith through the passing hours.

Whose years were spent in service of love.

Mid poverty's daily strife.

Oh tell us, if now in Heaven above.

You have found the meaning of Eric!

Is the struggle and toil remembered there.

And the wearing weight of pain?

Can it be worth while—this burden of care?

For the sake of Eternal gain?

Is youth renewed and depression spurned.

With never a thought of fear?

Is friendship lasting and lover returned

As we never can find it here?

Is it all more lovely, more fresh and fair.

Than this Earth where your footsteps trod.

Is there nothing but joy and rapture there.

In that glorious City of God.

And He in this "Holy Year" of grace,

Who has taken you home to rest,

He surely won't think it out of place,

If you ask Him a small request.

Just the power to send us a word of cheer.

Just to whisper that "All is right,"

And that soon, Oh soon! we shall meet you dear.

In that Land of our heart's delight.

Where parting is past, and pain wiped out.

And tyrannys sway is o'er,

And where gloom of failure and harrowing doubt,

Can trouble our souls no more.

Where death and decay shall for ever cease.

Mid beauty and joy and truth;

And where glamour and glory and love and peace.

Shall crown perpetual youth.

KILMATHOMAS NEWS.

PATTERN OF MOTHEL.

The time-honoured Pattern of Mothel (in Clonea-Rathgormack parish took place on Sunday last, and the inclimency of the weather on the occasion did not deter hundreds of pious people from Counties Kilkenny, Waterford and Tipperary from making the annual pilgrimage. The pilgrims performed the customary devotional exercises, which included the drinking of water from the holy well, and the reciting of the Rosary while walking in the stream issuing therefrom. A statue of the Blessed Virgin, erected by the late Fr. Widger, Waterford, in 1914, now stands on the site of the 6th. century Church of SS. Cuan and Brogan. Mothel, by the way, lies about mid-way between Kilmathomas and Carrick-on-Suir.

OUR VENERABLE SOGGARTH AROOH.

The hosts of friends and well-wishers of Very Rev. John O'Donnell, P.P., Newtown, Kilmathomas, will, we are sure, be interested in the information that this Reverence, who was ordained sixty years ago, has lived and worked under seven Bishops of the Waterford-Lismore Diocese, viz., Dr. Dominic
O'Brien (1855—1873); Dr. John Power (1873—1887); Dr. Pierce Power (1887—1889); Dr. John Egan (1889—1891); Dr.
Richard A. Sheehan (1892—1915); Dr.
Bernard Hackett (1916—1932), and Dr.
Jeremiah Kinane, who was mitred on the 29th. ult. Fr. O'Donnell, who is a fluent Irish speaker, is still hale and hearty and remarkably active for his years. Fr. O'Donnell's natal spot is Boherawilling, in the ancient and historic parish of Modeligo, (West Waterford). By the way, Canon F. Prendergast, P.P., Tallow, has served as a priest under six Bishops in the home See.

A POPULAR YOUNG PRIEST.

Rev. Michael Flynn, C.C., of the English Mission, is at present enjoying a well-earned holiday at his old home at Killerguile, Kilmathomas. Father
Flynn, who was ordained in Waterford Cathedral last year, is much beloved by all sections of his parishioners for his piety, zeal, and the kindly interest he takes in every member of the flock.
His Reverence has a great gradh for hurling—he was a camanist of considerable merit in his student days.
Charlie Ware and Co's magnificent triumph at Davin Park, Carrick-on-Suir, on the 25th ult., came with unbounded joy and delight through the wireless to Fr. Flynn in his mission field in the diocese of Salford. He firmly hopes the gallant Erin's Own gorsoons may have the honour of crowning the Decies with the Munster and All-Ireland laurels within the current year of grace. Fr. Flynn is a brother of Mr. Willie Flynn, the genial

hon. secretary of the Clonea-Power Hurling Club. Here's heartily wishing this worthy Soggarth a truly pleasant vacation.

"TRUMPETER."

A cock-fighting meet was raided by the agents of authority in "Somewhere"—last week-end, to the utter and complete disappointment of upwards of five hundred fanciers, who had gathered from several counties.
What gave the show away, it appears,
was the crowing of a bird as the motor in which it was being conveyed to the rendezvous passed a village "patrol".
We have been wondering what was the motive of the particular bird in its premature carillon. Obviously it was game, or it would not have been chosen to enter the lists. Perhaps it was too game, and was crowing in anticipation of the victory it never doubted it would bring off. That "littbantams are great at crowing" is proverbial. Or it may have been one of those swagger cocks that think the sun rises to hear them crow.

Heard you the bark of the dog that is deserted by its owner who goes on holiday and leaves the animal to find for itself? We can scarcely believe that there is such an unthinking and cruel individual in all the world, but we are assured that in a particular locality—not 100 miles away—the residents have been kept awake by the woeful wailing of a terrier left to protect the house while the family is at the seaside. This is a matter which should make the inspectors of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to animals busy. We repeat that the offence seems to callous to carry credence, but the information is communicated by an enthusiast who speaks from personal experience, and who would not vitiate the grievance without just cause.

OUR JOY TO JOT DOWN.

That friend Paddy Gough, the capital Captain of the Fenor Senior Football Team, is now almost completely recovered from the effects of his recent accident on the arena of action. Paddy is a real good Gael, and "one of the best" on or off the playing pitch.

DIPHThERIA.

Within the week, a most esteemed young man of the Ballynabrogue locality was removed to the Waterford Fever Hospital, suffering from the above disease.

BREVITIES.

Upwards of 100 mid-Waterford lovers of the "manly art" availed of the cheap excursion to London to eye the engagement between Jack Peterson and Jack Doyle—the two most glamorous personalities European boxing has known for years.

We offer our heartiest congratulations to Guard John Fulham, Kill, and Miss Joan Power, Kilmurrian, do., who were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at Kill Parish Church on the 5th inst., by Rev. T. Fitzgerald, Adm., Kilmathomas. Health, happiness and prosperity attend this deservingly-popular pair, pray we.

A number of Co. Council workmen are at the moment tar-spraying the Dungarvan-Carrick-on-Suir road, between Leamybrien and Kilclooney.
The road from Kilmathomas to Bowe's Hill, near Bonmahon, is in a very bad state to-day. This is undoubtedly one very necessary work awaiting execution: that is, having it resurfaced, steamrolled and tar-painted.
We feel certain that it is only necessary to call the County Surveyor's attention to this important thoroughfare for him to attend to it with his customary expedition.

Owing to the drenching downpour of last Sabbath evening, the two-part Gaelic programme fixed for the Kill venue was abandoned, it being well-nigh impossible to play football or hurling in the heavy rain then obtaining.

We are informed that first-crop hay is selling at about 50/- per acre in Rathgormack, where, about a decade ago, £26 per acre was paid.

The violent thunderstorm experienced last moonchange turned the thoughts of many mortals from things mundane—why, men and women prayed with a fervour most edifying to notice.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

ELECTRIC STORM.
The Electric Storm last Thursday night was uncommonly fierce and for hours after sundown the rolling of thunder and the non-stop lightning—fork and sheet—illuminated the sky. Torrential rains followed. The night was one of terror for the community, and all who were out of doors are not likely to forget it for quite a long time. The storm was equally severe all over the country and many hair-raising episodes are quoted after its passing. In many centres horses and cattle were killed by lightning. In Co. Mayo a young girl was killed while reciting the Rosary in her kitchen and in the Co. Galway, an old man was killed in bed. In many parts of the country the Electric Light went out, and the darkness aggravated the effects of the storm.

In Dungarvan, the Electricity Supply gave out and the town was thrown into darkness. Big numbers attending the Cinema were marooned when the torrential rain which followed submerged the streets, but Mr. Crotty, having his own electricity supply at the Garage, was able to keep all lights on. In several parts of the town the water was feet deep and pedestrians had a big task to get home in safety. On every side it was a night of prayer for there was no hiding from the electric terror prevailing. On the Lismore Estate three bullocks sheltering under a tree were struck by lightning and killed. Near Clonnel a horse broke his neck while running for shelter.

KNOCKBOY FAMILY'S PROVIDENTIAL ESCAPE.
LIGHTNING SETS FIRE TO BED AND RENS UP CHIMNEY.
One of the most miraculous escapes from destruction by lightning ever recorded is that of Mr. Harris, Blacksmith, Knockboy, Ballinamult, and his wife, daughter and two sons. Last Thursday night when the storm was at its worst and the thunder clapped and the lightning flashed, the family were all in the kitchen. Then something happened, which must needs strike terror into the hearts of all. A flash of lightning struck the upper window of the house and entering the room set fire to the bed and the clothes upon it. Then disappearing through the floor it struck the kitchen where the family were seated and went up the chimney taking with it the chimney stack. All the tiles on the roof were also swept away. Yet, the family, were happy to state, providentially escaped only suffering from shock. Soon afterwards one of the young men going upstairs had the fire started in the room by the lightning extinguisher. For days afterwards people from the surrounding districts went to see the havoc wrought and to congratulate Mr. Harris and his family on their miraculous escape.

EXCURSION TO DUBLIN.
Last year our worthy citizen, Mr. John Butler, chairman U.D.C., organised a most successful and enjoyable excursion to the Cork Fair. This year he proposes a day's outing which is still more attractive. An excursion has been arranged by him to run from Dungarvan to Dublin on Thursday, August 10th, which is the big day in Horse Show Week. The train will leave Dungarvan at 8 a.m., will call at Durrow, Kilmacomas, Carroll's Cross and Kilmadden for the convenience of travellers and arrive at Kingsbridge at 12 noon. Returning at 8 p.m. We would add that Thursday is an open day in all shops and factories in Dublin so that all who do not go to Ballsbridge to the Show, can have equal enjoyment in exploring the wonders of the city from the Strawberry Beds to the Blue Lagoon at Dollymount and if so inclined, can call in to see our Dail at work in Leinster House. The fare is the modest one of 8s. with children at half-price. An order to give the public the utmost facilities to travel on the occasion, we hope the citizens will have a General holiday and that the Urban Council, will give the necessary sanction for same. It will be a great event and one that will be long remembered.

ERECTION OF COTTAGES.
The Board of Health are about to issue tenders for contractors for the erection of over 300 Labourers Cottages in the Co. Waterford. A local inquiry will be held in the near future into the question of erection of cottages on sites to which objection is made by the owners.

DEATH OF MR. ED. MERNIN, BALLINAMONA, OLD PARISH.
The death took place on the 5th inst., of Mr. Ed. Mernin, Ballinamona, Old Parish, fortified by the rites of Holy Church. Deceased was an upright honest man held in the highest esteem by all who knew him, and his loss is deeply felt over a wide area.—R.I.P.

CINEMA NEWS.
During the coming week the local Cinema is presenting the now famous Musical Film "Tell Me To-Night," which has enjoyed sensational success wherever shown. The film provides the finest musical entertainment yet offered by the screen, and it is difficult to know what will prove most popular—the operatic Arias from "Rigoletto," "La Traviata" and "La Boheme," or the fascinating theme song "Tell Me To-Night," sung by Jan Kiepura, whose magnificent voice has earned him the title of a second Caruso.

For those who like their entertainment enlivened by a good dash of Comedy, there is the world-famous comedian Sonnie Hale, whose brilliant work in this picture provides a feast of sparkling fun.

This is entertainment that rarely comes to the screen, and one one should miss seeing it. Tell Me To-Night will be shown on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at 8.30 p.m. and there will be Matinees each day at 3.30 p.m.

THE BIG FIGHT.

Important Notice.
We wish to call the attention of our customers and the general public to the fact that we have erected a Walworth Patent Kilm at considerable expense to treat the native Grain which it is incumbent on us to mix with Maize. Under the new Cereals Bill the quantity of this Admixture has been raised by a recent order of the Department of Agriculture from 10 per cent. to 15 per cent.
Owing to this increased percentage to secure good sound Meal, the Kiln-drying of the home-grown Grain is in our opinion absolutely necessary. We therefore guarantee that the quota of native Grain used by this Firm in the Admixture will be Kiln-dried. This combined with the stone grinding at our Water-power Mill at Kiladangan should secure a first-class article.
We shall supply Maize Meal with the stipulated Admixture of either OATS or BARLEY. In the case of BARLEY being used a slight increase in price will be required.

DON'T USE SILK HATS.
Signor Mussolini has sent a circular letter to the several secretaries of the Fascist Party at Milan in which he outlines rules of conduct for them under six heads as follows—
(1) Do not frequent the so-called centres of luxury—restaurants, theatres, etc.
(2) Go about on foot as much as possible. When it is necessary to use a motor car use one of utilitarian type or, better still, a motor-cycle.
(3) Do not appear at official ceremonies with a silk hat, on your head. Wear the simple black shirt.

(4) Do not change in any way your habitual way of living, nor your tenor of life.
(5) Keep strict office hours and listen to no matter how great a number of people with great patience and a sense of humanity.
(6) Frequent the working men's areas of the towns and be with the people not only morally, but in a practical way, especially during these difficult times."

The Economic Conference and the Timber Trade.

By Sylvestris, in "Farmers Gazette."

For some weeks now the World Economic Conference has been holding its meetings in London. No less than sixty-six nations are represented at its Councils by their delegates, and one would, naturally, suppose that by this time some concrete proposals would have emerged with the object of setting the civilised world once more on its feet. In truth the very reverse has been the case, and an expectant world has been treated to a very indifferent display of shadow boxing so far as knocking out our economic troubles has been concerned.

The truth of the matter is that national selfishness stands very much in the way. All seem to be agreed on the necessity for prompt action, and a certain amount of sacrifice—by the other fellow. The fact that there has been too much action in the past fifteen years by politicians and amateur economists seems to have completely escaped the notice of the delegates, and it would, probably, be best if they had all stayed at home and simply repealed all legislation in respect of currency restrictions, quotas, and high protective tariffs, with which they have, one and all, been busily concerned during that time.

CONTRIBUTING CAUSES.

It would be almost impossible to state every reason for our present economic troubles, but the main contributory causes are not far to seek. First of all was the Treaty of Versailles, with its creation of a patchwork quilt of small nations all over Europe. A comparison of a post-war map of Europe with a pre-war edition will show clearly what is meant. The creation of these fooling little republics meant the splitting up of larger economic units. Each new unit thus formed had to create its own government machine, and these, in the wisdom born of inexperience, loaded their unfortunate peoples with staggering tariff schedules. Nor was this all. Each government had to be paid for whether it was worth its expense or not, and a consequence of the subdivision was that, where there was one government in pre-war days over a certain territory, there might-to-day be three, or even four, with the inevitable result that either increased taxation had to be borne by the unfortunate people in order to pay for this multiplication of legislative machinery or else the quality of government and the maintenance of social services were greatly impaired. Unfortunately matters have gone from bad to worse all over Europe, and, instead of having either one or the other of these disadvantages, the unfortunate peoples have had both. This has already been recognised in Czecho-Slovakia, where there is a strong body of opinion which favours the creation of a larger economic unit formed from the Central European States. Whether this will come about or not remains to be seen, but in all probability, petty national jealousies will prevent any form of effective co-operation.

THE FUTURE UNCERTAIN.

Whatever may come out of the present Economic Conference no one can prophesy, but in all probability it will not be much. We have seen so many of these Conferences in the past few years that the business community have long ceased to have any faith in them. Business can flourish with tariffs; it can flourish without tariffs, but it cannot flourish on uncertainty, and that has been Europe's chief trouble. For some years past, in the case of those nations with notoriously unbalanced budgets, it has been impossible to predict the exchange situation many days ahead with any certainty, and commercial bills, instead of becoming due in that period, have had to be met immediately. This state of affairs has greatly restricted foreign traders, and has meant an inevitable slowing up of world trade. If the Conference can remove many of the barriers to trade, such as high tariffs, currency restrictions, quotas, and the like, and can give the business world a feeling of assurance regarding stability of world currencies, it will have done much more than ever was expected of it.

Were they to do that much the delegates could go home and leave the business world to work out its own salvation—a process which, needless to say, would not take very long.

If one were to ask the question what benefits the timber trade can hope to get from the Conference the answer would be brief and to the point—"Nothing." All that the trade needs is to be left alone, as all that is necessary to its well-being has been accomplished before the Conference started sitting. Furthermore, it was done without either aid or interference from politician, banker, or economist. It has been brought about by the operation of the old economic law of supply and demand. Whether it be that demand has now equalled supply or that supply has now been reduced to the level of demand is neither here nor there. The fact remains that the two are now in the happy position of demand being greater than supply, and a firmer market tone is evident. The fact that Russia has climbed down over the imprisonments of the two British engineers and that normal trading relations are once more resumed will have little or no effect on the situation this year. The embargo on Russian imports into Britain simply had the effect of diverting Russian supplies of timber to other Continental markets. Owing to stocks being low, these were readily absorbed. Sweden and Finland had been cutting down their output for some time back, and when the embargo went on they had to meet an increased demand for their product, with the result that prices have hardened all round. Building activity in Britain is now being greatly stimulated, and the removal of the embargo will have little effect on supplies for this season, so there will be no sudden break in the market, nor need such an eventuality be expected when next season starts, as, together with renewed building activity there will be a gradual building up of importers' stocks, which will absorb all the available supplies. The embargo has been opportune for the Canadian shippers, who are now practically excluded from the U.S. market, but it need not be anticipated that they can initiate any price cutting against European supplies on account of the great difference in freights to U.K. ports.

The upward trend having taken place in prices, we may expect it to continue steadily until it reaches a point where the shippers will be assured of a reasonable profit and the importers will be able to dispose of their stocks readily.

As Sweden and Finland are to-day trading on a sterling basis, the stabilisation of currency will not arise, and Great Britain, so far as her timber supplies are concerned, is able to view the future with unconcern, and the timber trade need only take an academic interest in the discussions of the Economic Conference. In short, the business is working out its own salvation without either help or interference from outside parties.

BOTTLING FRUIT.

HOW TO OBTAIN SATISFACTORY RESULTS.

Fruit for bottling should be freshly picked, and bottled not longer than two hours after it has been pulled. Make a syrup by dissolving 1 lb. of lump sugar to each quart of cold water, bring it to the boil, skim it, and let it get perfectly cold before using. Pack the fruit in the bottles to within half an inch of the top, shake them down well, then fill up the bottle to the brim with cold syrup. Put the rubbers into hot water (new ones should be used each time), and put them on perfectly flat round the rims of the bottles, put on the glass lids, then the screw tops, and screw them down part of the way, but do not make them tight or the air will not be able to escape, and the bottles will burst.

Put the bottles in a steriliser, or, if one is not available, a fish kettle with a folded cloth put under the strainer or a zinc bath can be made to do duty if a few slats of wood are put at the bottom of the bath, and packed well with straw to keep them from touching each other. If any quantity of fruit is to be bottled a steriliser is well worth the price, as it contains a perforated tray, and this greatly facilitates the lifting in and out of the bottles.

Next fill the steriliser or bath with cold water up to the height of the bottles; in the screw top ones this is usually up to the neck. Bring the water slowly to 176 degs. F. It should take 1 1/2 hours to reach this temperature.

If you have not a thermometer, heat the water slowly until small bubbles form on the surface—that is simmering point, which is 180 degs. F., but is near enough to give satisfactory results. Next take up the bottles and place them on a wooden table and quickly as possible screw them down tightly, then leave for 24 hours. To test if they are then air-tight unscrew the metal tops and lift the bottles by the glass lids; if that can be accomplished, dry the screw tops, brush each with olive oil, replace on bottles, and store in a dark, cool, dry cupboard; they should be re-examined in a week's time, and, if any lids are not then tight, the fruit should be used or re-sterilised; there has, probably, been a crack in the bottle or the rubber was not put on flat.

If ordinary jam-pots or fruit bottles without special lids are used the process is exactly the same as for the screw top jars, except that perfectly clean, hot, clarified filtered mutton fat is poured into the bottle immediately it is removed from the steriliser. The bottles must be then covered with bladder or parchment paper. Soak the bladder in warm water, dry in a cloth to remove the surplus moisture, stretch it tightly over the top of the bottle, and tie down with damp string; the string tightens as it dries and makes a secure fastening.

Loganberries, raspberries, cherries, currants, young green gooseberries take 45 minutes; greenapples, plums, peaches, nectarines, 20 minutes, and damsons 1 hour, at 176 degs. F., counting from the time they reach this temperature after having been started in cold water. Plums should be first washed. Peaches, nectarines, and apricots should be first plunged in a bath of boiling water for two or three minutes to loosen the skin, so that it can be easily removed with a silver knife, then plunged in cold water to harden again.—L.B. in "Farmers Gazette."

SALMON DISEASE.—Salmon disease is reported to be responsible for the death of some hundreds of salmon in the River Feale. A specimen forwarded to the Department of Lands and Fisheries was found to be infected with bacillus salmonicida, causing the disease known as furunculosis, a very infectious disease.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL.

Present—Mr. J. R. Smyth, Chairman, P.C., Capt. Dunne, Messrs. D. J. Linehan, M. J. Fleming, P. J. McMahon, P.C.; T. Beausang, P. J. O'Gorman, P.C.; E. P. Lynch, Vice-Chairman; J. Whelan, A. J. Fowkes, M. D. Broderick.

Strand Amusements.

Mr. G. Barker, Strand, applied for permission to erect a control tower, etc., in connection with his new Amusement Hall.

Mr. McMahon said that Mr. Barker had done a great deal to popularise Youghal and it was always the policy of that Council to give every possible facility to men of enterprise like him. Mr. Atkins, the proprietor of the Strand Palace, had also done his share in that way, and they, the Council, were out to do the best they could for them.

Mr. Lynch said he was glad to see that they were giving a lot of local employment—a most important matter in those times.

The Chairman—Anything we can do to facilitate them, we shall do with pleasure.

The application was granted unanimously.

No. 2 Army Band.

The Clerk said he had conveyed to the No. 2 Army Band the Council's thanks for, and the people's appreciation of, the splendid recital they had recently given on the Strand and on the Green Park. He was pleased to inform them that the Band would give another free recital on next Sunday.

Mr. Whelan said he had heard both in the city and town, many expressions of appreciation of the splendid performance given by the Band.

The Chairman said he was glad to be able to endorse Mr. Whelan's statement.

It was unanimously decided to employ the Band to give another recital on some suitable date in the near future.

New Housing Scheme.

The Clerk said he had received a number of applications from persons anxious to get houses to be erected under the New Housing Scheme. It would be well the public should know that the Council wasn't in a position to give those houses to any persons they pleased. Only those out of declared slum areas would be entitled to get them.

Mr. McMahon—By the time those houses are built, the Council would be a 'thing of the past' (laughter).

The Clerk said in the circumstances it was useless for people to apply for houses.

Replying to a question.

The Clerk said that everything necessary had been done to expedite the Housing Scheme. The contractors, Messrs. Murray and Sons, had agreed to carry out the alterations suggested by the L.G.D. Inspector.

Mr. Whelan—When will the work start?

The Clerk—As soon as the agreement is signed.

Removal of Sand and Gravel.

Some discussion took place regarding the removal of sand and gravel from the Green Strand, and Messrs. Murray, builders, wrote complaining that they could not get a sufficient supply in the two days per week allowed.

The Clerk said that on 8th May, 26, the Council adopted a resolution for bidding the taking of sand or gravel from that Strand inside a certain limit. On last Tuesday he had received a complaint that material was being taken by carters inside the limit and notice was served on all local builders.

Mr. McMahon said that a lot of money had been spent securing the walls on that strand, and the indiscriminate removal of sand would undoubtedly undermine those walls. A few mornings ago he had seen 7 or 8 horses engaged in removing sand inside the limit, and he reported the matter to the Town Clerk.

The Chairman—You acted very properly.

Mr. Beausang proposed, that when building was going on, builders be allowed to get gravel every day.

Capt. Dunne said he often saw 10 lighters taking sand, and it had no effect. Why not give builders fair play?

Mr. Lynch seconded Mr. Beausang's proposition.

Mr. Broderick said it was strange that the caretaker didn't report the matter. Every possible facility should be given to builders, but they couldn't allow the retaining walls to be undermined.

Mr. McMahon said before they could accept Mr. Beausang's proposition they should first rescind the resolution on the books.

The Clerk said while it was only right and proper that they should facilitate builders, they should remember that the limit mentioned was fixed by a certified Engineer.

Ultimately Mr. Broderick handed in notice of motion to rescind the resolution on the books and to grant builders permission to take material every day on a permit from the Town Clerk, to be taken outside the limit previously fixed.

Posters on Strand.

Arising out of the question of posters on public walls and other property, the Clerk said the Council had decided to allow nothing of the kind and the Co. Surveyor had approved of their action.

Mr. McMahon said he had been in Dungarvan the previous day and he took particular note of the fact that there wasn't a single poster on any of Youghal Notes.

INDUSTRIOUS STRANGERS.

In a recent issue of a city paper, there appeared a picture of two "pearl fishers" operating in the river Blackwater in the vicinity of Cappoquin. The men were not from any part of the country, they came all the way from Bonnie Scotland. During the week another batch of strangers have been industriously collecting the succulent cockle in the Slob at the North side of the Ferry Point, Co. Waterford. They didn't hail from across the Channel, but it was learned that they had travelled many miles to dig and delve in the mud for those tasty shellfish. On one fine morning last week, they shipped no less than 6 or 7 bags of cockles across the harbour, carted them to the Terminus and thence by train to their destination where, it may be safely conjectured, they were disposed of at remunerative prices. As an on-looker put it, we here in Ireland seem prone to a tendency to cry out for a piece of the moon, ignoring perhaps, many things easily within our reach. Instead of being up and doing in our "only o' we pass resolution upon resolution, calling on the Government, or this or that body, to come along and do the thing for us. The pearl industry referred to above is a pretty old institution, for the writer has heard it discussed time and again at meetings of the Blackwater Fishery Conservators, at which it was stated by members in a position to know the facts that those strangers make a tidy bit occasionally. As regards the cockle gatherers, some years ago a number of local fishwives were in the habit of proper season of crossing the Ferry and collecting baskets full, thereby nicely augmenting what they made by the other branches of their trade.

WARNINGS TO BATHERS.

Judging by incidents that have occurred recently, both at Ardmore and Youghal, it would appear that persons going for a bath should exercise some care regarding the clothes they leave on the beach when they go into the water, and also regarding anything they leave in the pockets of their clothes. As may be seen by a report elsewhere in our columns, a silver watch was taken from the pocket of one gent, while other articles, of lesser value, were scattered around. One day last week a lady visitor from the city went for a dip, leaving a fine bathing wrap on the strand near the Sea Wall. When she came back to the spot where she had left her clothes, to her discomfort she found that her wrap had disappeared. It is said that there were a few other thefts of a like nature perpetrated also since the opening of the bathing season, but there is not the slightest doubt about the specific incidents mentioned. Therefore, if bathers can't leave their property in care of some friend, they ought keep as near as possible to them.

There is another matter regarding which bathers would be well advised to exercise some precaution, and that is going into the water at certain slates and stages of the tide and in certain kinds of weather. As a usual rule, there is little, if any, danger involved to bathers on the Strand at Youghal, unless a person wants to commit feld de se. None but good and strong swimmers should go into the water at any point round which a strong current runs—such as Moll Goggin's Corner for instance. Again, nobody but a foolhardy ignoramus, utterly unacquainted with local circumstances would take a plunge when the water is broken and the wind off the shore. There was a practical illustration of the truth of this a few days ago. When in doubt, visiting strangers would do well to seek information from some local person who knows how the land, or rather the water lies. This is not a matter in which one can afford to learn by experience. It might prove a very costly, if not very much worse kind of school.

Mr. Lynch—Was not permission asked for to put up a poster?

The Chairman—Yes, and it was refused.

Mr. Linehan said there was a poster on the remains of the old Sea Wall last Sunday.

Mr. Lynch said that was nothing less than defying the Council, seeing that permission had been refused. Last year certain parties out there defied the Council also.

The Chairman—We will not allow them to get away with that.

It was unanimously decided to call on the person responsible to have the poster complained of removed at once.

Mr. E. Hill of Kilmacthomas, who feeds several hundred pigs, made this test. Two lots of 30 store pigs were kept under identical conditions and fed the same balanced ration. Lot A were dosed twice weekly with Porkatine. Lot B, which were heavier to begin with, got no Porkatine.
Lot A were ready for sale four weeks before Lot B, having consumed 115 cwt. 1 st. 8 lbs. of food and gained 1 lb. live weight for every 3 1/2 lbs. of food. Lot B, though heavier at the start, took longer to fatten, consumed 125 cwt. 4 lbs. of food, and consumed 4 lbs. of food for every 1 lb. gained. The Porkatine fed pigs were healthier and threw all the time. This test is conclusive proof of the value of Porkatine. It shows that a man who fattens 100 pigs a year can fatten 43 more without additional cost except 1/- per pig for Porkatine.

Blackwater Fisheries.

At the monthly meeting of the No. 1 or Lismore Board of Blackwater Fishery Conservators, there attended Major Longfield, moved to the Chair, Lord Charles Cavendish and Mr. M. Sheehan.

Messrs. T. Drohan, Clerk and Inspector, and Mr. Wm. Buckley, Assistant Inspector, were also in attendance.

Rate Defaulters.

A letter was read from the Department stating that a reminder should be at once sent to rate defaulters calling for immediate payment of the amounts due. It need not be done in the case of old arrears, which had been the subject of correspondence between the Board and the Department. The Clerk stated that he had sent out the suggested reminders.

Poaching Report Contradicted.

A letter was read from Sergeant Duffly, Civic Guard barracks, Rathcoole, contradicting the report of alleged poaching in the river in the Millstreet area.

Destruction By Swans.

Arising out of an entry in the minutes of the previous meeting regarding the alleged destruction of fish by swans in the upper reaches of the river at Kilbarry and elsewhere.

The Chairman said that the Cork Board of Conservators had tried as an experiment the introduction of swans for the purpose of clearing away weeds in the river Lee. In so far as he knew the results had been satisfactory. From inquiries made by him, and his own experience, he didn't believe that swans were injurious to salmon. After some discussion it was decided to take no action in the matter.

Insurance Of Patrol Boat Crew.

The Clerk read correspondence regarding the insurance of the members of the crew of their new motor patrol boat.

He was directed to put the matter on the agenda for the next meeting and in the meantime to advertise inviting quotations.

Mayo Resolution.

Some discussion took place on the resolution of the Mayo Co. Council, calling on the Government to repeal Section 13 of the Fisheries Act, 1925, dealing with the allocation of fishery rates.

The Chairman expressed the view that the matter was one which the Department of Fisheries could be relied on to deal with in the best interests of the fishery.

Rate Arrears.

Replying to a question the Clerk stated that, inclusive of the old arrears, there was a sum of £203 9s. 0d. still outstanding. The collection of same was in the hand of the Board's solicitor.

Clerk's Report.

In the course of his usual monthly report, the Clerk stated that at Ardmore Court of June, 7th., he had successfully prosecuted J. Barron, and T. Keogh, for a breach of the weekly close season on Sunday, 14th. May. They were each fined £10 and costs of court. Keogh was also charged with obstructing the bailiffs and fined £1. At Youghal on 9th June, he applied and was granted the forfeiture of 202 and 110 yards of salmon drift nets seized in Youghal Bay on 3rd June. A fixed engine was found and seized in the tideway at Coolbarry, by the Youghal bailiffs on 3rd June.

Undersized Trout.

The question of the killing of undersized trout having been brought before the meeting, some discussion took place and it was unanimously decided that the attention of the Department of Fisheries be called to a resolution passed at a Board meeting held at Lismore on 24th. April, 1930, whereby the Department was asked to pass a by-law making it illegal to retain or expose for sale any trout under 8 inches long.

LIBRARY CONFERENCE.

REPORT BY CO. LIBRARIAN.

At the last meeting of the County Libraries Committee, the following report was read from the Co. Librarian (Mr. F. O. Murchadha):

I beg to submit hereunder a brief report of the proceedings of the first Irish Librarians Conference, held in Cork, from June 3rd. to June 5th, 1933.

I feel it incumbent on me to emphasise the fact that this is the first Irish Librarians Conference which has ever met; hitherto delegates from Irish Librarians attended the British Library Conferences.

For the first time therefore, in Library history, Irish Librarians were given the opportunity of exploring the avenues of further co-operation and of considering Library problems from the particular view-point of the Irish public.

The principal problems dealt with were:

- (a) How to establish a National Library Service.
- (b) Problem of Book Selection.
- (c) The National Outlook and the Library.
- (d) The Publication of An Gum.
- (e) The Library as a social service.

I will deal briefly with the more important questions which arose under each of these headings and the various solutions which were suggested.

(a) The County Libraries are at present working as isolated units each catering for the requirements of its borrowers in its own restricted area. This entails, of necessity, a large amount of duplication of copies of same books. There is at present no system of interchange of books between County Libraries.

It is proposed to establish a National Library Service whereby a general census of the available stock of all Libraries both Urban and Rural may be arrived at, and a system of mutual interchange evolved.

This would be an immense undertaking, which would necessitate the co-operation and financial assistance of the appropriate Government Department. It was suggested that the Government be asked to set up a Commission of Inquiry to deal with this matter.

(b) There was a marked divergence of view on the question of book selection for Irish County Libraries, but it was universally recognised that this pressing problem called for an immediate solution.

One aspect of the question was how to eliminate objectionable books. It was agreed that the official censorship was insufficient and that no Librarian could possibly keep pace with the present enormous output of books, if he were working single-handed. It was the duty of the Librarian to provide the best books available in all classes of literature.

There were two possible solutions suggested (1) that a panel of specially selected readers be formed for the purpose of recommending suitable books for County Library circulation, and that monthly or quarterly lists of such books be sent to each Librarian. The difficulty of public officials forming a virtual censorship board was here pointed out. (2) that the powers of the already existing Official Censorship Board be widened and that Librarians be given representation on it.

(c) The peculiar difficulties which beset the Irish Rural Librarians in relation to their reading public was ably outlined in a scholarly paper read by Professor Corkery.

The Librarians of other countries were truly representative of the cultural aspirations and national genius of the people. A natural corridor united them to the masses.

In Ireland a very peculiar and very particular set of conditions prevailed. We were in grave danger of getting out of touch with reality. The atmosphere, the view of life presented in modern English books was totally foreign and diametrically opposed to the fostering of a truly national and indigenous culture. We were unfortunately forced by circumstances to stock such books.

He suggested that an effort to stem the flood could be made in two ways, by procuring and circulation of as many books by Irish writers, dealing with Irish life, as possible, and also to procure translations from foreign languages.

(d) In a paper in Irish by Mr. O'Donovan, Librarian, Ballsbridge, the publications of "An Gum" were severely criticised. The translations were of minor books, while original works in Irish, such as "Fice Bliadan ag Fas" were refused publication. In reply it was pointed out by Mr. O'Donohue, a member of "An Gum" Board, that the original intention of "An Gum" had been to confine its attention to books in Irish suitable for schools.

(e) The only reason why the Public Library was not functioning at its full power was because of the limitations imposed on it.

The general public, and more particularly Public Representatives must be educated to a greater appreciation and recognition of the values of the Library Movement.

This could be achieved by the Association as a whole but more particularly by the individual efforts of Librarians in their respective areas. It is to be hoped that this First Irish Librarians Conference will prove very fruitful and that it is the beginning of a New Era of national construction and close co-operation between the members of the Library profession in Ireland.

NO. 132—

TEACHING YOUR DOGS TRICKS.

THEIR AMUSING WAYS.

By "PHILOKTON."

THAT some dogs are cleverer than others is, of course, a truism. In this respect they resemble human beings, but few of them are so stupid as to fail to respond to patient teaching. The brainer, or those that are blessed with a little initiative, do may amusing things without being taught. Ever since he was a puppy seven years ago our own Alsatian has insisted on a certain procedure at particular hours of the day. When he is sent to bed at night he would be sadly disappointed if one of us did not have a final game with him. Lying on his side, putting one paw over his head and closing his eyes, he pretends to conceal himself, and we have to ask: "Where's that dog?" When we have "found" him he sits up, pricks his ears and wishes us "good night."

He has bones and a dry biscuit to finish up his meal of meat, but fond as he is of them, he will not touch them unless we stay with him. If we go away, he awaits our return. Should anyone else offer him a delicacy he looks for the permission of master or mistress before taking it. The other day when we were out for a walk together we came across a pole blocking a blind road, and he jumped it instead of running underneath, as he could have done more conveniently. I discovered afterwards that his mistress always made him leap the obstacle, and he had not forgotten his lesson.

Alsations are expert jumpers, but I had no conception what they could do in this way until I saw one at a recent show clear 9 ft. 6 in. without touching the bar. A number of hunting men and farmers who were watching the performance, were amazed. A mattress was placed to break his fall. I am not sure that elderly dogs should be encouraged to take these violent exercises. A dog in jumping to catch a ball damaged a nerve in his back, and was some weeks before he recovered from paralysis of the hind-quarters.

Such familiar tricks as dying for the King, trust and paid for, and so on can be taught without much difficulty, and almost any dog will fetch the letters or one's slippers. More trouble is needed to persuade a dog to carry a penny and go to a shop for the morning paper, but I have known it to be done. One, living in a remote spot, goes several miles every morning on this useful service, and he meets the postman at the end of the drive. My own dog understands the meaning of "going to the post," running one in front to the letterbox.

Before advancing to the stage of tricks it is desirable to train your dogs in habits of obedience which, after all, are the more important. Some people object to "parlour tricks" of any sort, but they can be defended on the ground that by that means the intelligence is developed. They are but a natural progression in the path of education. Let manners come first, however, such as going quietly on a lead, following close to the left side of a lead, coming smartly to heel on call or whistle, pausing before crossing a road, lying or sitting on command and remaining recumbent until the order of release is given. At a show I saw a poodle lying down for a quarter of an hour or more during the absence of his mistress ignoring the people who passed or spoke to him. atpaw9ly YlvwP S,kaAqr

New Land Bill.

FARMERS WHOSE WORK IS UNSATISFACTORY TO BE REMOVED. MINISTER'S WARNING.

Speaking at a Fianna Fail meeting in Kilmallock, on Sunday, Dr. Ryan, Minister of Agriculture reviewed the political and economic history of the past twelve months, and claimed that the people gave Fianna Fail a mandate to do certain things which the Government had done. They had removed the Oath and retained the land annuities, as they promised. They got the Oath Bill through, in spite of the opposition of the other parties, and in spite of the fact that they were agreeable to submit the land annuities dispute to a tribunal, with an independent chairman, to which England would not agree. They had Cumann na nGaedheal and the Centre Party going round and saying the Government was responsible for the economic war. If they were good Irishmen these people would have stood by them in the fight between the two countries. Instead of that, they attempted to form a national party to embrace all sections against Fianna Fail. Although Mr. Cosgrave asked the Press representative to tell Limerick about this, the invitations were sent out from the Cumann na nGaedheal headquarters by Mr. Liam Burke, the party's chief organiser. The invitations went out in the name of the Lord Mayor of Dublin and all they succeeded in getting were Paddy Belton and Dan Morrissey, two men who had been kicked out of the parties they were in. They did not even get "Alfy" Byrne himself, who went forward for election as an independent. Seeing this move was no use, they called a Cumann na nGaedheal Convention, and Mr. Cosgrave then told the delegates that the Co. Councils were not bound to strike rates owing to the state of the country. Out of all the County Councils only one took the advice given by Mr. Cosgrave, who was himself one time Minister for Local Government, and who knew as much as anybody in the country about local government, and a whole lot more than he (Dr. Ryan) did. Had he carried his point with the County Councils, they would have no more social services, no more work on the roads, and the people could go hungry if he had his way. Cumann na nGaedheal then had another move. The A.C.A. had been formed last November or October, and Mr. Muleahy and Mr. Blythe put on blue shirts and went round the country, organising the A.C.A., to see if they could do a little damage to the Government. As far as he (the Minister) could see they were going to have as much success in this as in the other moves they made. Now there was an attempt being made to form a National Party again. "Alfy" Byrne had made another statement that the time was ripe to try a National Government once more. He was going to call them together again. "I hope," said Dr. Ryan, "he will be as successful this time as last, because there could be no better asset to the Fianna Fail Government as getting Belton and Morrissey into the Cumann na nGaedheal Party."

"They were talking about depression all over the country," he continued. "There is no place where depression is so bad as in the Cumann na nGaedheal Party. They are very depressed altogether. They are hardly able to open their mouths at all. I used hear them saying three or four years ago—and I think they say it still—that the Fianna Fail Party was composed of men of no substance—men who had no stake in the country, only fellows who wanted something, and any man who had any money or anything was in the Cumann na nGaedheal Party. Isn't it very strange that when it came to passing the rates the followers of Cumann na nGaedheal and of the Centre Party had not the money to pay them at all. We have brought in a Land Bill and we will see that those people of Cumann na nGaedheal and the Centre Party who cannot make farming pay will have their land bought from them and given to men who will make it pay. They should have no resentment against us at all, because really if we had no regard for these men we would have them in the end to become bankrupt. Instead we will buy their land, and they can retire and live on their money."

Fianna Fail, he added, were out to undo the work of Cromwell by dividing up the ranches and unencumbered lands of the country and giving it to people who would make them productive, and who would give employment. He proceeded to deal with the Land Annuities, and said Mr. Cosgrave had said at Naas, or the people of Naas understood him to say, before the last election, that if Fianna Fail kept the annuities they would be breaking the Seventh Commandment, but if he himself retained them it would be all right.

"Mr. Geo. Bennett told me in the 'Mail,'" said the Minister, "that the people were drowning the pigs in America. He couldn't give me any addresses, but I want pigs for myself— I will take them off anybody's hands who wishes it, and I'm willing to pay for them, as I don't want to see them drowned."

Fianna Fail had come before the people when the latter fully realised the position last January. They said they would fight this fight through to a finish and the people voted them back to power to continue the fight. They were trying to make the lot of the people as easy as possible in this crisis. They were halving the annuities for the farmers, had given bounties and subsidies to bring prices level, and had given 2½ millions for the relief of unemployment last year. This year they were giving again between 2½ and 3 millions, and they meant to bring in a measure in the winter to give maintenance where work could not be obtained. They gave building grants and grants for sewerage and other works. Even when the crisis was over they would not be as well off as they would wish to be, because the whole world was suffering from the depression of the times. Their opponents spoke about the value of the English market. Now the British Government proved Fianna Fail was right in calling it a declining market, because they had brought in a Bill to restrict imports year by year until they were in the position to produce everything for themselves. It was time for the Free State to get going with their own production and their own market, and be prepared for the difficulty of having no English market when it arose. They could then go along with a light heart in this fight with the people behind them (applause).

INTERESTING SCOTCH WEDDING AT MOUNT MELLERAY, CAPPOQUIN.

A very pretty and interesting Scotch wedding took place at Mount Melleray Abbey, Cappoquin, on Thursday 6th, inst., when Mr. James Breslin, eldest son of Mr. John Breslin, J.P., Bertram House, Harthill, Lanarkshire, Scotland, and the late Mrs. Breslin, do., was married to Miss Agnes Mary Murray, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Murray, Leven Villa, Airdrie, Lanarkshire, and sister of the Rev. Father Aelred W. Murray, O. Cist., Mount Melleray. The bride, who looked charming in a dress of double net bodice and sleeves applied in white satin, with Brussels net veil and pearl Juliette cap, and carried a large bouquet of crimson roses and white heather, was given away by her father and was attended by two bridesmaids, viz., Miss Eileen Small, Clones, and Miss Cathie Downie, Airdrie, who wore pretty frocks of floral ninon over organdie, with picture hats to match, and carried bouquets of pink carnations and sweet Pea.

The best man was Mr. George Breslin, Harthill, Lanarkshire, (brother of the bridegroom), and the marriage ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Father Aelred W. Murray, O. Cist. (brother of the Bride), assisted by the Rev. Father Dominic, O. Cist., Rev. David Power, Bishop's Secretary, Waterford, Rev. G. McNamara, E.L., Diocese of Down and Connor, and the Rev. H. McKee, C.C., Aughnacloy.

The happy ceremony was attended by a large number of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties and at the wedding breakfast, which was subsequently held at Mount Melleray, the following were present in addition to the bridegroom and bride:—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Murray, (parents of the bride); Mr. George Toal, Dublin, (uncle of the bridegroom); Miss Celie Toal, do., (cousin); Mrs. Givens, Rutherglen, Scotland, (grand-aunt of the bride); Mrs. J. P. Small, Clones, (aunt); Miss Madeline McKee, Armagh; Mr. P. J. McKee, B.L., Glasgow; Miss Eileen Small, Clones; Miss Cathie Downie, Airdrie; Mr. George Breslin, Harthill, Lanarkshire; Rev. Father Aelred Murray, O. Cist., Mount Melleray, (brother of the Bride); Rev. David Power, Bishop's Secretary, Waterford; Rev. G. McNamara, E.L., Diocese of Down and Connor, and the Rev. H. McKee, C.C., Aughnacloy, etc. The health of the bridegroom and bride having been duly honoured, and several felicitous speeches made by the clergymen and others present, the happy pair later left by motor for an extensive tour of the beauty spots in the South of Ireland, where the honeymoon will be spent.

KILMATHOMAS ATHLETIC CLUB.

A grand drawing of prizes, under the auspices and in aid of the above Club, took place in the local Temperance Hall in the presence of numerous ticket-holders, and resulted as follows: 1st prize—Ticket No. 885 (Mrs. Mary O'Reilly, Main street, Kilmathomas), 2nd prize—No. 26 (Miss Kathleen Power, Fahafelagh, do.); 3rd prize—No. 99 (Mr. Nicholas Fitzgerald, Fair Lane, do.). The Club hope to be in a position to bring off a sports meeting in our midst ere the end of the season.

FINDING A MARKET FOR GRAIN.

Dr. Ryan, Minister for Agriculture, received this week a deputation representing grain merchants, who urged him to take steps to secure a market and better prices for 200,000 barrels of last year's oat and barley crop now lying in their stores. Dr. Ryan said he would make an announcement in a few days as to the intentions of the Department.

SHEEP ONLY HALF DIPPED.

Speaking at a meeting of the Wicklow Mountain Sheep Breeders' Association, Mr. M. T. Byrne, who presided, said that too many people were only half dipping their sheep. A resolution was passed urging members and all flock-owners in the county to carry out the sheep dipping regulations to their full extent.

LAUGHTER.

It's pleasant as you walk along to see a smiling face. What joy it is when on the brow no worried look you trace. A feeling glad steals o'er you that one happy soul you've met— Someone who smiles upon the world because they've no regret.

Another type of man you meet who seems to never smile. He thinks that all his troubles make life just not worth while. A hearty laugh he doesn't know, he's so oppressed with care. There seems no other troubles as hard as his to bear.

A merry laugh will soothe the nerves, prolong our lives we're told— In fact, physicians tell you that at times it cures a cold! "Laugh and grow fat," is often said by those who ought to know. It relieves the mind from worry and makes one feel just so.

Some people tell us that it is a most unhealthy sign To smile or laugh at silly jokes or frivols when we dine. Too much one eats in consequence— quite fatal to the slim. It ruins the best of features and spoils the nicest skin.

But sure it's true what e're they say, to hear a good sound laugh— It never did cause trouble and increases life by half. So keep well fed what e're is said to you at any time— And use the puff when necessary and keep the form divine.

So laugh and laugh when e're you can no matter what's going on, And soon your troubles will fade out, you'll find they all have gone. The cost is nil as is the thrill, the world once more looks bright, For laughter is the remedy what e're may be your plight.
