DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

Mr. Ml. Clancy, and subsequently Mr. J. Butler, Chairman, presided. Also present—Messrs. T. McCarthy, Wm. O'Donnell, D. Foley, M. Griffin, T. Power, and B. Dee.

HOUSING SCHEME.

The Clerk informed the members that he had made an application for an instalment of the Housing Loan some time ago, but had not yet got it. There is a further certificate from the Architect to-night, leaving about £3,000 certified as due to the contractor.

Chairman—What amount of an instalment did you apply for?
Clerk—£2,000.

Chairman—Make application immediately for another. It is not our fault, but the fault of the Board of Works.

Mr. O'Donnell—That is no joke of a load for the contractor to be carrying. What amount is paid to the contractor up to now?

Clerk—£5,708 is paid, and there is a further £3,070 certified as due.

The Clerk was directed to make application for a further instalment of the loan.

RATE COLLECTION.

The Clerk reported 79 per cent. of the first moiety rates collected and lodged, and 23 per cent. of the second moiety.

OLD HOSPITAL ROAD.

The B.S. was directed to procure a roller to roll in the stock on the above road as soon as the contractor had all the stone delivered.

GLENDINE WATER.

The Caretaker reported a good supply of water at intake, but no overflow.

CONNECTING WITH SEWER.

Mr. Foley referred to the new sewer in course of construction at Coolagh Road and said the backs of certain houses in the area were a disgrace with no sanitary arrangements and no privacy for the tenants. The people responsible should be made connect up with the sewer.

Mr. McCarthy—Can we compel the parties responsible to connect?

Chairman—Yes.
Mr. Power—There is no good in allowing the road to be broken the second time it should be all finished now.

Mr. Foley—When can you compel them?

Chairman—You can do so immediately by making an order. The S.S.O. will get the order carried out.

Mr. Griffin asked is it possible to connect if the houses are lower than the pipe.

Mr. Foley—There is no question of that. I know a level as well as Mr. Griffin, and the houses are higher by six inches than the pipe.

An application to connect with the sewer was read from Mr. J. Cahill, Coolagh Road.

The application was granted subject to the approval of the B.S.

PHYSICAL CULTURE CLASS.

Mr. Lanigan, Chief Executive Officer, Vocational Education Committee, wrote applying for the use of the Hall for one hour on two days a week for the purpose of holding physical culture classes for the pupils of the school.

Mr. McCarthy—If you grant it, you should insist on rubber shoes being worn owing to the vibration.

The application was adjourned for a week for a report on the question from the Borough Surveyor.

REMOVAL OF POLES.

A letter was read from the E.S.B., stating that they would carry out the alteration of poles at Loughmore provided the cost is borne by the Council.

Mr. Clancy—What is the cost?
Clerk—About £5.
The Council decided to have the work done.

ROOFING TILES.

A report was read from University College, Cork, on tests made by them on the tiles sent by the Clerk in connection with the Loughmore Housing Scheme.

The report stated that the tiles comply with the requirements of the L.G. Department's specifications.

APPLICATION FOR HOUSES.

Mr. Jim Butler, Coolagh Road and Mrs. Foley, Thomas's Terrace, wrote applying for houses on the Loughmore scheme.

The letters were referred to the Rent Collector.

BAD RANGES.

Complaints by J. Harrington and Mrs. Weeks, on the state of their ranges were made.

The B.S. was asked to report.

MEAL MIXTURE.

WHAT DEHULLING PROCESS DOES FOR FARMERS AND FEEDERS.

Under the Cereals Act, a certain proportion of home-grown grain has to be mixed with maize and as the percentage of the native article has now been increased the necessity for the dehulling of oats has become more and more apparent.

Dehulling means the taking off the complete skin of the oat leaving only the pure oatmeal for mixture purposes. The result of this process is evident when you consider that Oats are the most nutritious of all Cereals. They are rich in nitrogenous matter and mineral substances and are peculiarly rich in fats, the only other cereal which can at all compare with them in that respect being Maize. Maize is richer in fat than any cereal except oats, containing twice as much of this important constituent as wheat or barley.

In order to provide an excellent mixture of oatmeal and maize, A. Moloney and Sons Ltd., Dungarvan, have just installed a dehulling plant at their mills. The oats enter this machine through a shoot and in the first process the outer skin is removed; next the grain is passed into the Aspirator where the hull or skin is separated from the groat (pure oat) and later the groats pass through a grading cylinder where they are finally graded and purified. The whole process is most interesting and perfect in its simplicity. The dehulling being completed the groats are pure oatmeal and fit for human consumption. When mixed with maize you have a perfect mixture of pure oatmeal and maize which for feeding purposes should have excellent results. Such a meal has never before been put on the market, and we are sure it will be fully appreciated by the Farming community.

The analyses of maize, groats and barley are as follows:—

Maize: Moisture 12.47 per cent.; oil 4.53; albuminoids 8.87; carbohydrates 74.49.

Groats: Moisture 12.5; oil 6.19; albuminoids 11.47; carbohydrates 66.84.

Barley: Moisture 12.0; oil 1.9; albuminoids 10.1; carbohydrates 69.5.

Analyses of maize, groats and barley go to prove that in Oil, Albuminoids and Carbohydrates, a combination of maize and groats will give a far higher percentage of the essentials of a high-class feeding mixture than when maize is mixed with any other cereal.

Farmers and Feeders are advised to see this dehulling process for themselves and appraise its worth in the manufacture of this new meal mixture, absolutely pure and certain to give complete satisfaction to all users.

THE LIFE BOAT SERVICE.

WHIST DRIVE AT MONATREA.

A most successful Whist Drive, organised by the Youghal Branch of the Ladies' Life Boat Guild, was held at the Hotel Monatrea near Youghal, on Thursday, Nov. 22nd. The fine dry evening attracted visitors from as far away as Dungarvan, and the local inhabitants turned up in full strength. Unfortunately a counter attraction in Youghal prevented some of the townspeople, who otherwise would have been present, from attending.

The large Dining Room of the Hotel made an ideal card-room, and Mrs. O'Donovan, had spared no pains to make it bright and comfortable.

Play commenced soon after 8.30 p.m. half way through there was an interval for a very welcome cup of tea, and the party did not break up until nearly midnight.

Among the prizes were two fine turkeys, and the winners, in true sportsmanlike spirit, put them up for auction for the benefit of the lifeboat funds and one purchaser, not to be outdone in generosity, put the bird up for auction again to help the lifeboat.

Mr. Chappel of Youghal, with his two sons, acted as M.C., and stewards, and under their guidance the function ran with the greatest smoothness and good humour.

BOUNTY ON PERIWINKLES.

The Government has decided that bounties on periwinkles, mussels and fresh water eels exported after Dec. 1st shall be paid equal to the customs Duty actually paid.

HOUSING.

A letter was read from the Minister for L.G. and P.H., asking information on (a) Housing Scheme now being carried out, (b) Housing Schemes being formulated by your local authority for the provision of houses. Your special attention in the matter is required.

The letter was referred to the Clerk to reply.

CONDOLENCE.

Mr. McCarthy, proposed, and Mr. Clancy, seconded, a vote of sympathy to Mrs. M. J. Walsh, Church street, on the death of her mother, Mrs. McCarthy, Emmett street.

FIANNA FAIL.

MEETING AT KILBRIEN.

ADDRESS BY MR. LITTLE, T.D.

Two Fianna Fail meetings were held to take place in Kilgobinet and Kilbrien. Owing to a misunderstanding the Kilgobinet meeting was not held as Mr. P. J. Little, T.D., went straight on to Kilbrien. There was a large attendance at the Kilbrien meeting, and the Touraneena Fire and Drum Band was present. Mr. Michl. O'Ryan, M.C.C., presided.

In the course of his address Mr. Little said that the reason for his coming before them was to ask their cooperation in furthering the work of the Government. In 1931 there were, he said, 21,000 acres tilled, but some time back Ireland had 300,000 acres under tillage. The aim of Fianna Fail was to develop agriculture and to place Ireland in the position she was in in the past. The Fianna Fail policy was not revolutionary, but was a sane policy, designed to build up the country on normal lines.

Speaking of the United Ireland Party Mr. Little said that it was a pathetic party, because they backed up everything that caused a split in the country, and they were walloped every time. They were really insignificant in the life of the country, but they were doing a lot of harm. If they wanted to help the country they should help the policy of the Government. There was an enormous lot of time wasted in keeping the country quiet, because the Government did not want to be too hard. If the energy, Mr. Little continued, given to the U.I.P. and Blueshirts was devoted to the country's cause it would hasten prosperity.

Referring to the controversy between Mr. de Valera and Mr. Thomas, he said England could do nothing to Ireland as the Government was acting in a perfectly legal way. It was necessary before a member of the Commonwealth was put out that the Council of the Commonwealth should do so. "In fact," declared Mr. Little, "if Ireland could get the Council to do so England could be put out of the Commonwealth."

In South Down the register was 10,000 and it was hoped that Mr. de Valera would get 10,000 out of that. At present, he continued, the country was deprived of a large area for taxation and industry by the Border. It was up to them to keep the spirits of their friends in the North up, and let them see that they stood for a united Ireland. He advised those who had not done so to take advantage of the quota. At present, he said, it was compulsory to use four per cent. of Irish flour in the making of bread, but as the growing of wheat progressed it was hoped to increase the percentage, until they were dependent on their own wheat. In 1931 there were 21,000 acres of wheat grown, in 1933 there were 52,000 acres grown. The Minister, who had gone very thoroughly into the matter, advised the growing of white oats. There was also 33 1-3 per cent. of home feeding stuffs mixed with the imported stuffs. Their imports had been brought down enormously.

In reference to the cattle trade, Mr. Little said that England was bound, owing to her investments, to import Argentine chilled beef. Also in England depression had reduced the purchasing power of the country. England herself was getting back to the land, and it was futile for them to depend on that market.

Mr. Little apologised for the non-attendance of Mr. Sean Goulding, T.D., who, he said, was quickly recovering from his recent accident.

The Chairman also addressed the meeting.

MEETING AT BALLYMACARBRY.

IRISH FARMERS.

VIEWS OF MR. DERRIG, T.D.

On Sunday evening, a largely attended Fianna Fail meeting was held at Ballymacarbry, Mr. Ml. O'Ryan, Co. Co., presided and the meeting was addressed by Mr. T. Derrig, Minister for Education, and Mr. P. J. Little, Parliamentary Secretary to the President.

The speakers were escorted to the village by a torchlight procession and were accompanied by the Touraneena Fire and Drum Band.

In the course of an interesting speech Mr. Derrig, Minister of Education, made a strong appeal for support for the Irish language. He said the Government were introducing from this year onwards a bonus system for children in the Irish speaking districts. That bonus was not a great deal, but it was a mark of the Government's sincerity. It was the language which distinguished the country as a separate nation.

Proceeding, the Minister, replying to criticism of the Government's policy by the U.I.P., said the Government had retained £5,000,000, which formerly went to Britain, and they intended to retain it. Mr. Cosgrave and his party, instead of taking a patriotic stand and supporting the Government in the matter, went around, sounding a cry about Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall and got a great fall. At present they were trying to sap the morale of the Irish people by telling them they were losing this fight. The people were winning this fight. If the people wanted the money handed over to England again they would have to get another Government to do it, for the present Government definitely would not do it.

FARMERS ELSEWHERE.

According to the talk of their opponents the Irish were the only farmers who were not thriving and prosperous, but that was not so. In the middle-western States of America the farmers had a revolution against the low prices; and recently a deputation went from Britain to New Zealand to ask farmers there to reduce exports to Britain so as to help the distressed British farmers. Further, the British Minister for Agriculture had stated in the House of Commons that the Government would have to ask for wide and sweeping changes in the economic structure of the country in order to help the English farmers to obtain remunerative prices, and that was to be done by cutting out the import of food-stuffs into Britain.

Mr. P. J. Little, T.D., referring to recent statements by Mr. Thomas and President de Valera, said Mr. Barricade Keith, a leading Canadian lawyer had admitted that Mr. de Valera was perfectly legal in his attitude as regards separation from Britain. Mr. de Valera was acting in the best possible way and with the least amount of disturbance in the country in moving towards the Republican ideal.

Knockmahon Labourer's House.

QUESTION OF TITLE.

Effort to show title under the Statute of Limitations in regard to a labourer's cottage at Knockmahon failed in the Civil Bill Court at Waterford, when Thomas Hayes, Kildwan, Bonmahon, was given a decree for 16/- against John Kiely, Knockmahon. The amount represents arrears of rent for two years.

Plaintiff stated that he purchased the land in 1931 from Mrs. Boyle, and, in reply to Mr. O'Connor, solicitor, for the defendant, he stated that Kiely had never paid rent on application. He allowed Kiely to have the grazing of an ass on the farm.

When Mr. O'Connor suggested that Kiely did a certain amount of work for the plaintiff in consideration of the grazing of the ass, the witness said he did not look on the work in that way. Mrs. Boyle had told him that she received rent in respect of the defendant's house.

Mr. Boyle told the court that his wife sold the farm to Hayes and that witness had been acting as a manager for his wife. He had a conversation with Kiely in 1920, and as a result of that conversation Kiely agreed to work a couple of days for Mrs. Boyle each year, and that it would go instead of the payment of rent. In fact Kiely did the couple of days' work clearing a dyke. Kiely asked for the grazing of his ass, and Mrs. Boyle gave it to him.

Examined by Mr. O'Connor, Kiely said that he had been living just over ten years in the house, and a man named John Lonergan had been there previously.

When asked by Mr. O'Connor what Lonergan (who is now dead) told defendant when he was going into the house, Kiely's reply was interrupted by the Justice, who pointed out that defendant could not tell the court what Lonergan had told him, as it was inadmissible. He could not see how defendant could claim title under the Statute of Limitations when he was there only ten years.

Continuing, the defendant said he had lived in the neighbourhood for a considerable time and, before Lonergan, men named Whelan, Roche and Veale had occupied the house in turn. None of them had ever paid rent for it as far as he knew.

Kiely declared that he never made any agreement to do work instead of paying rent. He had never been asked for rent.

John Veale stated that he had been in the house for three years, about 12 or 15 years ago. He never paid any rent.

Mr. O'Connor submitted that no rent had been paid by the defendant, and there was no evidence of any tenancy.

The Justice said a claim under the Statute of Limitations was, on the evidence before the Court, absolutely untenable. There was no evidence to show whether rent had been paid in the intervening period prior to John Veale's leaving and the defendant's entering the house, and the defendant was not asked to repudiate the evidence given by Boyle. He was satisfied there was a tenancy, and he gave a decree for the amount claimed.

U. I. P.

DUNGARVAN BRANCH.

The monthly meeting of the above Branch was held on the 22nd, inst. Mr. J. Butler, U.D.C., Chairman, presided.

Mr. Ml. Clancy, U.D.C., addressed the meeting on the need of having the Parish thoroughly organised and stressed the fact that while the Branch was thoroughly represented of all classes in the Parish that they were still many in the town that they knew were with them and that should become active members of the branch. He went into the method of organisation which in his opinion should be adopted and stated that they should not be satisfied with subscriptions from non-active members, who had everything to gain by having the present regime ended as quickly as possible and having the Government of the Country taken over by the United Ireland Party.

Mr. James Daly, who followed and endorsed all that Mr. Clancy had said, and as regards organisation, he pointed out that owing to the sop held out by the present Government the difficulty of getting people that benefited or thought they benefited by the present Government to join the United Ireland Party. Numbers of the people who were in very humble circumstances were afraid to make known their views and join the United Ireland Party, believing that the benefits that they were receiving would be taken from them. He could assure the people that by joining the United Ireland Party they would not be deprived of any of the benefits received and that by helping to push Fianna Fail from the Government of the Country and by putting the Government in the hands of the United Ireland Party, they would reduce the unemployment figures and be able to secure employment for themselves.

Messrs. Wm. O'Donnell, U.D.C., and Wm. Stack, M.C.C., also addressed the meeting.

The Chairman agreed with the views expressed by the previous speakers and particularly referred to the fact of the non-attendance of prominent merchants in the town and hoped that they would become active members. He thanked those present for the large attendance of members and was glad to know that they had now got an active Branch in the Parish.

Routine business having been gone through the meeting adjourned.

WINTER TREATMENT OF DAIRY COWS.

SOME MISTAKEN IDEAS.

In town dairies, and in many country ones as well, there is a prevalent idea that in order to get the best results in the quantity and richness of the milk, fresh air is a thing to be avoided, and that a high temperature is necessary. Such a notion, however, is not only fatal to health, but is entirely useless for the purpose for which it is intended. A very careful experiment was carried out some time ago to test the effect of high, moist temperature on the yield and quality of the milk. Two lots of cows, fairly selected were placed in a shed divided into two compartments. One of these was kept close and warm, and the other was freely ventilated and cooler than the other by about ten degrees, all through the winter. The result was that there was practically no difference at all in either the quality or the quantity of the milk given. Thus we are shown once more that nature is the best guide, and that to outrage her laws will, in the end, profit no man.

How much of the tuberculosis now so common amongst dairy cows, owing to deprivation of fresh air is a question well worth serious thought. The practice of keeping cows in urban dairies like hot-house plants, excluding ventilation, and the feeding with steaming hot grains, etc., is the chief reason why such cows are rendered useless for taking back into the country for breeding purposes.

Of course, as the old saying has it, "there is reason in the roasting of eggs, and no one would argue; because fresh air is a good thing, that it is advisable to turn milking cows out in the open in all weathers, because extreme cold will certainly check the flow of milk and prevent the good feeding they may receive indoors from having its proper effect on their condition, as the food will go to the maintenance of the animal heat. There is no doubt that this well-known fact is largely responsible for the absurd idea that the hotter and more humid the temperature of the shed, the more and better would be the milk.—M. in "Farmers' Gazette."

NONOGENARIAN PASSES AWAY.

The death occurred during the week of Mr. Wm. Flynn, Scart, Kilbrien. He had passed into his "nineties" and was an honest God-fearing man respected by all who knew him.—R.I.P.

MULCAHY'S, DUNGARVAN.

TALLOW DISTRICT COURT.

POLITICAL ROW.

THE SEQUEL.

The Court was crowded during the hearing of the frequently adjourned cases arising out of an alleged political row at Ballynoe on 25th June, last.
Mr. E. A. Rice, solr., Fermoy, appeared for Timothy O'Mahony and Michael Lane, who charged Charles Lynch, with assault. The latter brought cross cases. At a previous court Lynch was represented by Mr. Skinner, solr., Mitchelstown, but today he conducted his own case. On his last appearance in the case Mr. Skinner suggested that as peace had been restored in the village, all the cases be withdrawn, but Mr. D. Casey, State Solicitor, intervened for the Attorney-General, and said if the cases were not heard and dealt with the State would take them up.

The proceedings were invested with new interest by an application by Supt. Brady, Fermoy, for the Attorney-General, to bind a number of parties to the peace for abusive and threatening language towards one John Coughlan.

Mr. Rice, appeared for the defendants.

Mr. Rice said as so much time had elapsed he would repeat the facts. A meeting of the A.C.A. was held at Castlelyons on the date in question. Whatever might be said of the A.C.A. at present, it was a legal body then. A number of men left Ballynoe that morning in a lorry to attend the meeting and before leaving, it would be proved that the defendant, an ex-R.I.C. and a publican at Ballynoe, stuck his tongue out at the men in the lorry. On their return, Michael Lane, one of the party asked Lynch what he had meant by his conduct. Lane was a British ex-serviceman, having a disability pension and was partly crippled.

O'Mahony hearing Lane questioning Lynch, turned round and saw Lynch strike Lane, knocking him down. O'Mahony took Lane away, but Lynch followed, struck Lane with his chest and O'Mahony with his clenched fist, knocking both down. O'Mahony grappled with Lynch, who came to the ground. A crowd came on and separated them. Lynch with his long experience as a police officer ought know he should not take the law in his own hands in that violent manner and that if he had a grievance he had that court to appeal to. Lynch had further experience of discipline by his service in the British and subsequently, the National Army. He might had had some semblance of excuse for his conduct on the case of Lane, but he had none whatever in regard to O'Mahony. At the original hearing the case was adjourned to give Lynch an opportunity of issuing a cross summons and he was ordered to pay 20/- costs in each case. He subsequently wrote to the Press denying that such an order was made by the Court. At the following hearing from which he (Mr. Rice) was absent, a reverse order was made for a like amount. His letter to the Press showed the mentality of the man. Lynch said he had a case also against Lane and he wanted him examined first.

Mr. Rice—I am calling him K 1.
Michael Lane then gave evidence corroborating Mr. Rice's statement.

Cross-examined by Lynch—Witness said he was at Castlelyons meeting that day. He had three or four drinks during the day and one after returning. There was no attack planned on him (Lynch) that day. There were four people at the Cross when the row took place. Witness didn't say to anyone that he was going to attack Lynch. He didn't put his hands in Lynch's face, but merely asked him why he had put his tongue out at the party. He didn't say you—
The Justice—What abusive language did you use?—I don't remember.
Lynch pressed about the language used.
The Justice—We have got all that, go on to something else.
Lynch here questioned witnesses about his and Thade Mahoney's movements, and the Justice said he was only wasting time.
Lynch—You were so drunk you don't remember anything?
The Justice—He has already denied that.
Mr. Rice—What condition was defendant in?—He looked as if he had a share of drink.
Since the issue of the summonses

Lynch came to his door at 10 o'clock on the night of 19th Sept., and hammered at it.

Lynch—How did you know it was I who was there?—By your voice.

To the Court—Witness said he lived alone, about 25 yards from Lynch.

Lynch—Are you ever alone up to 3 or 4 in the morning? (laughter)—I was alone that night.

Timothy O'Mahony, shopkeeper, and farmer, Ballynoe, gave corroborative evidence. Sean Hennessy was with Lynch.

Cross-examined by Lynch—Witness said he brought a big crowd in a lorry to the Castlelyons meeting.

In your own lorry?

The Justice—It doesn't matter whose. I am not going to listen to every 2nd. detail of this business.

Lynch questioned witness about the parties in his house after their return from the meeting. Were any of them implicated in that row?

The Justice—In this case.

The only thing you heard was me speaking to Lane?

The Justice—I have heard that often enough.

Witness didn't use the language mentioned. It was foreign to him.

What abuse did I give him?—You used soldiers' language anyway.

Witness didn't plan an attack on Lynch in the lorry on the way home.

The Justice—He has denied that about ten times already.

In any row in Ballynoe did you ever make peace?

I saved the peace from you, anyway.

Were you taking over the functions of the Civic Guards?

The Justice—You needn't answer that question.

He didn't throw his house open that day. Any men who got drink paid for it.

Did you take out an unlicensed lorry?

Mr. Rice—What has all this got to do with the case?

The Justice—Nothing. I am giving him a lot of latitude because he has not a solicitor.

He didn't take charge of the village that evening—nor patrolled.

The Justice—Really I am not going to go into all this. You must obey my ruling and not waste my time. Get to something relevant or sit down.

Mee. Hurley said he saw part of the row and as far as he went corroborated the previous witnesses.

The Justice—You have given us a very fair description.

He was cross-examined at length by Lynch. Lane didn't use the word alleged.

The Justice—Was it anything similar?—There was a word used, but not that.

You were a terrible supporter of the present Government for a short time?—I couldn't be a terrible supporter of anything. Mostly living on your wits?—You can't live on your wits nowadays (laughter).

He was closely questioned as to his movements on the day after the row.

The Justice—I don't care where he went. I am not going to follow him step by step.

Lynch here put questions about pamphlets distributed in the village last January.

The Justice—What were they about?

Lynch—They contained scurrilous language in connection with the elections and this man was thrown out of F.F. Clubs on account of them.

Do you know that inside the last fortnight near Ballynoe, a man was tied up on the side of the road and blamed for these things?—I heard it.

Do you know that Mr. Hennessy had to investigate this as the F.F. Club was blamed for writing them?—No.

The Justice—I won't go into this any further. What is the name of the man who was tied up on the road?

Lynch—Edmond Mulcahy.

The Justice—That seems to clear this man of the charge you are making against him.

Matthew Flynn having given evidence.

Mr. Rice said he had several other witnesses, but he thought his Worship had heard enough.

The cross cases were then taken up.

Sean Hennessy stated, Lane came up to Lynch waving his hands and using scurrilous language. Lynch struck him not exactly a blow and he fell. Lynch and witness then walked away and Tim Mahony came on the scene. Lynch said he would get a Guard to remove that man. Lane passed some remark about "Black and Tans." Mahony stood in fighting attitude to Lynch, who lost his temper, struck him and he fell. O'Mahony got up and into Lynch with "guard up."

Daniel O'Mahony then came on. Witness went to call the Civic Guard. Returning he saw Lynch on the ground and they were making kicks at him.

Witness was charged at by three of them and struck by John O'Mahony.

Mr. Rice said that wasn't before the Court at all.

Cross-examined by Mr. Rice—Was all the evidence of the previous witnesses a fabrication?—I have only my own evidence to give. What knocked Lane down?—His disabled leg and drink.

Lynch should have known of his disability, but it was hard to stand his language.

Would it not be the proper course for Lynch to take when he saw the man's condition, to issue a summons?—I suppose it would.

John Lynch, son of Charles, stated that Lane said to him, he was going to attack his father for putting out his tongue at them. Lane then approached witness's father using bad language, and his father gave the man a shove and he fell. Soon after Lane started again. Tim Mahony standing by. His father gave Lane another shove and he fell and Tim Mahony with him. There was a five minutes scuffle on the ground.

John Storey having given evidence, Charles Lynch corroborated the story, told by Hennessy.

Cross-examined by Mr. Rice—Witness said he was 13 years in the R.I.C. and resigned when called on in 1920. He had been also in the British and National armies. He showed Lynch and with the drink he fell.

What knocked Tim O'Mahony?—He attacked me and I defended myself.

You say a determined attack was made on you that evening—why?—Because I was simply a supporter of the Government.

Were you always?—No. A twister like some other people (laughter).

That was his first time charged in a Civil Court. He didn't issue a summons at first, because that was what Mr. Rice's clients wanted.

You wrote to the Press and denied that Mr. Farrell ordered you to pay 40/- costs?—I didn't mention Mr. Farrell's name—I only wanted to find out the facts.

You wrote complaining the Guards at Ballynoe and other places?—Yes, because I had occasion.

At this stage Supt. Brady, Fermoy, said there were summonses against Lane, the three O'Mahonys and Jas. O'Brien, for abusive and threatening language towards John Coughlan.

Mr. Rice said he appeared for all the defendants. He thought the Guards would intervene only in case the civil proceedings were not gone on with.

Mrs. Lynch gave evidence of the attack on her husband.

Guard Hyland stated he was called to the scene and saw Charles Lynch on the ground with four or five men around him. He pushed them aside and saw Lane making kicks at Lynch. Guard McNally and he got the crowd away. Lynch was excited. There was a mark on his left ear, blood on his face and his collar was open. John Lynch made a rush at Hennessy and accused him of being responsible for all that trouble. Hennessy took up a stone, but dropped it when witness told him to.

The Justice—Is that the Hennessy that was examined here?—Yes, sir.

The O'Mahonys had a hold of Lynch on the ground. They were all abusing one another. Lane wasn't drunk, but had enough taken to make him anxious for fight.

The Justice—To make him cross?—Yes.

Witness saw Sean Coughlan at the Cross later with Storey. He asked Coughlan an old I.R.A. man if he wanted protection. The crowd jeered at him. Coughlan made a complaint and witness escorted him and Storey away.

Cross-examined by Mr. Rice—Lynch was excited, but he wouldn't say the man was under the influence of drink.

To the Court—Tim and Dan O'Mahony were with the jeering crowd. Lynch was on the ground when the kick was made at him. Lynch and Lane were both excited. Hennessy had no part in the row. The whole thing lasted only 4 or 5 minutes. Witness had no trouble breaking up the crowd.

Thos. Hennessy, father of Sean, having given evidence.

John Coughlan, Cullinagh, stated he arrived at the Cross after the row. There were a number of men there. Lane called him out to fight. Tim Mahony shouted, and they all said—"Shoot now." Daniel and John Mahony did nothing. Jas. O'Brien, was taking off his coat to fight witness. He wasn't struck.

Cross-examined by Mr. Rice—He gave them no cause for jeering at him. He was in the I.R.A. once, but not now. He wasn't afraid of them.

You wouldn't be afraid to walk out in the dark?—No.

Mr. Rice—Neither would I and I am in much the same position myself.

The Justice said the public didn't realise how unnecessarily difficult and troublesome commonplace cases like those were made by the importation into them of politics, to the Justice hearing them. They became long drawn out and any importance attached to them utterly out of all proportion to the facts involved. He had given Lynch more latitude than he would have given to a solicitor defending him. The latitude he abused by attacking innocent persons in his cross-examinations. After his previous career he should have known better. He observed the Attorney-General was invoked and everybody connected with the row prosecuted indiscriminately. He had given too much time altogether to the hearing of those cases. Twenty minutes would have been enough, but they were dragged out to a length interfering with the proper business of the Court. Having reviewed the evidence at length, he fined Lynch 40/- with 20/- costs for the assault and bound all the other defendants to the peace in the sum of £5.

Dermot Hallissey, aged 18, of no fixed abode—he said he was from Macroom—was charged with the larceny of a binoculars and half dozen table knives, value £3, the property of Dr. Healy, Lismore.

Supt. Quinlan, prosecuted.

Formal evidence having been given, the accused pleaded guilty.

The Supt. replying to the Court said there was nothing against him.

The Justice said he ought, but didn't like, to send him to jail. If he came before him again he would be dealt very severely with.

He was let out under the P.O.A.

Nicholas Julian, Magrancy, Co. Kildare, was charged with the larceny of a magneto and tools, value £15, the property of Thomas Healy, Springmount, Templemichael.

Supt. Quinlan, Lismore, prosecuted.

Thomas Healy, Springmount, Templemichael, farmer, deposed he was the owner of a threshing machine and 2 tractors. Accused was in his employment as driver since early in Aug. Threshing finished on the 4th or 5th. November, and he then disposed with accused's services about 9th. or 10th. Nov. The Overtime tractor was at Ballyrussell in Mrs. Carey's haggard. On 10th Nov., he examined his Fordson tractor at the house and found all the tools gone from the tool box which had been forced open. On the next day he sent his employee, John O'Keefe, to Mrs. Carey's, and as a result of what he said witness went to Youghal and made a report to the Sergeant. The magneto was missing from that tractor. He saw the articles at the barracks at Youghal on the 14th Nov., and identified them as his property.

John O'Keefe, stated that he found the tools missing from the Fordson tool box. Later he missed the magneto from the Overtime (the articles were produced and identified).

Detective-Officer Slane, stated he proceeded to Newtown with a search warrant and found the articles in a gully running under the road. He brought them to Youghal, where they were identified by Healy as his.

Sergt. Corby, Killeenagh, said he interviewed the accused at Cork. He made a voluntary statement to the effect that he had taken the articles for safety on account of the "boycott" trouble. He didn't intend to sell it.

Defendant pleaded guilty and made a long statement which was contradicted by Mr. Healy, the Justice saying, that it was a "cock and a bull" story.

He was sent to jail for two months.

Daniel Flynn, Janeville, was charged with the larceny of doors and shutters, value 12/- the property of the Irish Land Commission.

There was a similar charge against James Dunne, for two window sashes, value 2/-.

Supt. Quinlan, applied for an adjournment on both cases to next court. Both were then adjourned.

PRICE OF TURKEYS.

In the various markets of the Free State the price of turkeys ranges from 6d. to 7d. per lb.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

A GRAND OLD LADY.

Miss Bridget O'Keefe, Shanbally, Cappoquin, whose death we briefly announced last week, was sister of Mr. Eugene O'Keefe, an extensive farmer and a life-long Nationalist, and was a grand old Irish lady in the fullest sense of the word. Well read and remarkably intelligent, she was a most delightful and entertaining conversationalist, and even during her illness she retained all those fine qualities and was regularly visited by many of her old-time friends, including Senator Sir John Keane, Bart., and Lady Eleanor Keane, as she had been a close friend of various generations of the Keane family during her long and exemplary life. The Sisters of Mercy were also regular visitors, and sent a number of the Industrial School boys to her funeral as a special mark of respect to her memory, while Mrs. R. H. Keane, Belleville, Park, Mr. R. L. Keane, do., Miss Foley, Knockalara, and many other persons from the town and district were also amongst the large concourse of mourners who followed her remains to their last resting place in Affane.

The chief mourners were:—

Eugene O'Keefe (brother); Miss

Bride O'Donnell, (niece); Thos. and

James Olden, Miss Lizzie Olden, Patk

Hogan, M. J. and Mrs. Sargent, A. J.

and Mrs. Sargent, Miss M. Kerfoot, and many other cousins and relatives.

VALUE OF LAND.

At a recent auction held by Mr. M. F. Walsh, P.C., of a compact farm of 21 acres, the property of the Misses Roche (deceased), at Kibree, midway between Cappoquin and Lismore, the property was purchased by Mr. R. Bell, (Sergt. J. Lismore, in trust for Mr. Michael Walsh, (Junr.), Kibree, for the sum of £140 and usual auction fees.

There are no buildings whatever on the land.

Messrs. John L. Keane, solicitors, Youghal, had carriage of sale.

Mr. M. F. Walsh, will hold an important auction at Ballycullane More, Dungarvan, on Thursday, 14th inst., when he will offer for sale a splendid holding of 28 acres of prime land, the property of Mr. John Mitchell, full details of which will be found in our advertising columns this week.

Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solicitor, Dungarvan, has carriage of sale.

CAPPOQUIN POINT-TO-POINT RACES.

The above popular annual fixture will be held over the splendid Ballynoe course, on Thursday, February, 22nd., 1934.

A Grand Bazaar will be held in aid of the Race Funds in the Boathouse Hall, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, Dec., 12th, 13th and 14th., which will provide several of the greatest attractions seen in Cappoquin for a long time.

Amongst these will be the popular games of Roulette, Spinning Wheels, Shooting Galleries, La Boula, Wheels of Fortune, and a miniature Circus, which will be run by some of the finest atoms of nature, but with which most of our readers are only too familiar.

This will be the most wonderful and sensational form of entertainment ever witnessed here, and nobody will be anxious to "flee" from such a stupendous attraction, fuller details of which will appear later. The programme will also include "Big Break" Competitions in Billiards, Singing, Dancing and Musical Competitions, Raffles and Grand Drawing of Prizes, the valuable trophies including:— Breakfast, Dinner and Tea Sets, Valuable articles of Furniture (very useful for the Shrove-tide season), Hams, Gams, Sides of Bacon, Loads of Firewood (all ways welcome, and a long list of other valuable prizes too numerous to mention.

A small charge of 3d. will be made at the door each night which will entitle those entering the Hall to participate in the principal Drawing of Prizes each night.

The attractions enumerated above should alone ensure the most generous measure of support for the Bazaar, but a further incentive will be provided by the knowledge that every shilling spent will help to swell the funds of the Race Committee and ensure a bumper meeting here next February.

Messrs. M. J. Sargent and P. J. Walsh, Hon. Secs., are in charge of all the arrangements for this great event.

ENJOYABLE DANCE AT CAPPAGH.

On Sunday night a most enjoyable dance was held in the New Hall, Cappagh, under the auspices of the Tourneena Hurling Club and was a great success.

Splendid music was rendered by the popular "Wild Rose Orchestra," Boherbery. It was generally admitted that the delightful programme of music performed by them in Cappagh was the brightest and best ever heard there. Mrs. T. Foley, Cappoquin, carried out the catering arrangements in excellent style and a great night of dancing was fully enjoyed by all.

"SUBURBIA."

We have learned with pleasure that one of the enterprising inhabitants of the town has acquired a building plot from the Cappoquin Estate Co., for the purpose of erecting a private residence in the picturesque region of Shanbally, next to the imposing Convent of Mercy, which is such an outstanding landmark there.

This is one of the most healthy suburban localities around Cappoquin, and is on the main road to Mount Mellera, and we only hope that a few more of our wealthy and progressive townspeople will emulate the example of the above gentleman and erect a number of suburban Villas overlooking that road which will add greatly to the beauty of the place and at the same time put the finishing touches to Barrack street, the home of the "intellectuals" of Cappoquin!

A JUSTIFIABLE COMPLAINT.

The strong complaint made by District Justice Farrell at the Court here last week about the damp and dusty condition of the Courthouse was fully justified on the occasion. In this cold and foggy weather the fire should be lighted several hours before the Court sits at 12 o'clock once a month so as to have the building thoroughly heated and dry before the proceedings commence. A more vigorous use of the duster after the fire has been started would be all to the good, and would render it impossible for any person to write his name through the dust on the desks, as Mr. Farrell said he could do last week. The Courthouse has only recently been renovated by the owners of the building, and we know it is not their wish that any complaints should now be made about the heating or clearing of "The Temple of Justice."

PROGRESS OF THE TECHNICAL SCHOOL.

Wonderful progress has been made in the erection of the Technical School in Barrack street, work on which was commenced about six weeks ago.

The building is being erected in concrete and has now reached the height of the first floor, which has been already laid down.

It is possible to now form a good idea of what the building will be like, when finished, and from present indications it is safe to assume that it will be a credit to the town and all associated with it.

BOUNTY ON LIVE PIGS.

The Department of Agriculture announce that, until further notice, the rates of bounty on exports of live pigs have been revised and are as follows:

Live Pigs exported through a Saorstát Port—25% of the value of the pigs as assessed after export for tariff purposes.

Live Pigs exported over the land frontier into Northern Ireland—12% of the value of the pigs as similarly assessed.

Application for bounty should be made as heretofore on the green form L.P., but it should be particularly noted that the application should, in all cases, be accompanied by the RECEIPT FOR-TARIFF PAID (whether actual or deposit). If the tariff receipt is in respect of a deposit, the applicant should also furnish such documents as will enable the Department to ascertain the value of the pigs as finally assessed for tariff purposes.

As there appears to be some misconception as to the meaning of the term "value of the pigs as assessed after export for tariff purposes," on which value bounty is payable, the Department desire to make it clear that this value is the figure on which British Customs Duty at the rate of 40% is levied.

MEETINGS AT TALLOW: TOURANEENA AND BALLINAMEELA.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES.

On Sunday successful meetings under the auspices of the United Ireland Party were held at Tallow, Touraneena and Ballinameela. At each centre there were large and enthusiastic audiences, who listened eagerly to the addresses delivered by Mrs. Redmond, T.D., Messrs. N. Wall, T.D.; C. S. Quinlan, Solicitor, and E. Fleming, County Director of Organisation.

The first meeting was held at Tallow and was presided over by Mr. T. Murphy. Very Rev. Canon Prendergast, P.P., was present.

In the course of her address, Mrs. Redmond said that it was her first time coming to the district, and judging by the numbers and the enthusiasm of the people, there was no doubt that the "West was awake." Many decent people present had voted for Fianna Fail at the last two elections, in order to give the Government the chance they asked for. But, alas! the period of disillusionment had come. The President of the Executive Council did not know where he was going, with all his posturing about a Republic. In Northern Ireland this so-called Republican was causing dissension in the national ranks by his unwanted appearance. The country was suffering for all the disadvantages of an unproclaimed Republic, whilst Germany, Holland, Denmark, and all the countries of the world were out to capture Ireland's lost advantages in the British market, and these countries were praying day and night for the continuance of de Valera's rule in the Free State.

"FLAG OF DISTRESS."

The Government, she continued, had hoisted the flag of distress in postponing the local elections. Not far away that day they had the Minister for Education addressing a meeting. What connection the Minister for Education had with a dairying county like Waterford, and what policy he had for the prosperity of its livestock industry she could not fathom. The only logical conclusion to be drawn from the flying visits of the Fianna Fail Ministers and T.D.'s was that a general election was at hand. She advised all the supporters of the United Ireland Party to get ready for the fray, and help the country get rid of the most incompetent crowd of muddlers in the world (applause).

ALL-PARTY CONFERENCE PROPOSAL.

Mr. Quinlan, said that recently a proposal had been put forward for an all-party conference, to devise ways and means of bringing about an honourable settlement of the economic dispute between Ireland and England. It was further reported that his Eminence Cardinal MacRory had agreed to preside. Yet the Government, which posed as a friend of the Irish people, through its subsidised newspaper, had scorned the proposal. The Fianna Fail Ministers or T.D.'s were greatly to blame for this callous answer to the people's demand for an honourable peace. The Fianna Fail Ministers knew in their hearts and souls that most of them would have to go back to private life unwept, unhonoured and unsung, if by any chance the economic war of Mr. de Valera's making ended.

NATIONAL DEGRADATION.

Mr. N. Wall, T.D., said national degradation was proceeding apace under the Fianna Fail. According to the President, the British market was gone for ever, but John Brown's cows were called on to do their bit for John Bull in helping him to defray the cost of the economic war. The country's trade had fallen from 168 to 55 millions in the past one and a half years; consequently the farmers' income was halved, and it was only a matter of time, if the present Government continued in office, until there was wholesale bankruptcy amongst the farming and business communities.

Later a big meeting was held at Touraneena, the speakers being met by a guard of honour of Blueshirts under the command of Lieut. Delaney. Stirring speeches were delivered by the speakers already mentioned.

In the evening a most successful meeting was held at Ballinameela, where over 100 members of the Young Ireland Association, under the command of Lieut. Terry, formed a guard of honour for the speakers.

SIX INJURED IN MOTOR CRASH.

When a car driven by John Holland, Clonmel, was returning on Sunday week from Cobb, with a Mr. Twomey, Clonmel, his four sons and a friend near Power's Cross, it skidded and crashed into the ditch, getting badly damaged. The driver escaped but all six passengers were injured, more or less seriously. They were brought to Younghall, where Dr. Kennedy, ordered them to hospital.

KILMACKTHOMAS NEWS.

AN ACCIDENT.

When a petrol-driven tractor hauling a thresher into Mrs. McGrath's haggard at Garryleish, Kilmackthomas, got stuck in the passage from the road, Patrick O'Brien, a local unmarried labourer, aged about 45 years, was amongst a number of helpers endeavouring to push the thresher out of a rut. The vehicle skidded, O'Brien, was struck and knocked down under one of the wheels, which passed over his body, severely hurting him. Dr. Walsh, Kilmackthomas, attended the injured man, who was later conveyed by motor to the County Hospital. It is stated his injuries included a number of broken ribs and a punctured lung. We learn he is progressing favourably in the hospital.

KILMACKTHOMAS BEAGLES.

The meet of the above was at Kilmackthomas on Sunday last. Mr. Hearne's farm was first visited. Hounds soon had a hare in motion, which took them towards the plantation near Mr. Flavan's house, swinging them across the Glen-the-Valley road back towards Mr. Hearne's farm again, and once more swings left-handed crossing the Fews road. Puss takes hounds and followers over a lovely country to Ballyboy, where he eluded his pursuers. On returning, a line of a hare was picked up in Mr. Dee's farm, which hounds hunted slowly for a few minutes, when the hare was eventually viewed away in the direction of Fews. He changed his course and headed for the valley of the Mahon where an exciting and exhilarating run had to be terminated owing to approaching darkness. Hounds (in charge of Mr. Jas. Bowdren, huntsman) showed the keenest possible eagerness for their work, which reflects the greatest credit on Mr. M. Harris, keeper of the pack.

The following meet have been arranged by the Beagle Club for the present month—Dec. 3rd, Curraghmore; 10th, Georgetown House; 17th, Glen (Stradbally); 24th, Seafield; 26th, Kilmackthomas; 31st, Kilmoylan. Hour of each meet—12 o'clock noon.

THE NOVEMBER FAIR.

Kilmackthomas fair, held on Tuesday, was well stocked. Maiden cattle were best in demand and were sold at prices ranging from £2 5s. to £3 10s. per head. Other transactions enacted were at recent quotations.

DEATH OF MRS. CASEY.

The sad news of the death of Mrs. Margaret Casey, relict of the late Mr. Pierce Casey, Grawn, Kilmackthomas, was received with feelings of the deepest regret throughout these parts. During her last illness, her spiritual requirements were attended to by Very Rev. J. Lennon, P.P., Stradbally; Rev. P. O'Farrell, C.C., do., and Rev. T. O'Shea, C.C., and her death in her 53rd year was a holy one. The charm and nobility of her personality, and her unflinching charity, had warmly endeared her to the hosts of friends who followed her remains to Paha Catholic Church on Friday evening, and again on Saturday when, after the celebration of Requiem Masses for her soul, the funeral took place to Ballygunner cemetery.

The chief mourners were: Messrs. Pierce, Nicholas, Richard, Patrick, Thomas, Martin and Eddie Casey (sons); Misses Mollie, Bridget and Margaret Casey, (daughters); Miss Mollie Kennedy, Gracedieu (sister); Miss Kate Maher, Waterford; Messrs. John, Patrick and James Flynn, do., (cousins), etc.—R.I.P.

ARRESTS AT KILL.

Between two and three o'clock on Sunday morning, Supt. Patrick Kelly, Tralee, accompanied by a party of Civic Guards, arrived at their homes Gerard and Thomas Sullivan, Ballymurrin, Kill; Edward Flavin, Cahernane, do.; James Whelan, Kill village, and Patrick Cheasty, Ballycane, Kill—all young men of the labouring class.

Later they were brought before a special court in Tralee, and were charged with having conspired to erect gates and strands of barbed wire entanglements across the public road at Ballycane, Kill, on the night of Nov. 22nd, last, the occasion of a United Ireland Party dance at Kill village hall, thereby causing grievous bodily harm to Mr. William Allen, of 18, Brown's Lane, Waterford.

Sergt. Patrick O'Connor, Kill, who gave evidence of arrest, asked that the men be remanded in custody to Waterford District Court, on Friday, Dec. 1st. This request was granted and the quintette were removed in custody to Waterford prison. The event caused a sensation throughout these parts.

KILMACKTHOMAS DRAMATIC CLUB.

On Sunday week (10th inst.) the above Club will present "The Young Man from Rathmines" (a favourite of Abbey Theatre-goers), to be followed by the late Lady Gregory's laugh-lifting one-act comedy, "The Workhouse Ward," with a supporting variety concert (featuring the leading local vocalists, musicians and step-dancers)—at the village hall, Kill, in aid of the Parochial Debt. Doors open at 7.30 p.m. Programme starts at 8 o'clock punctually. Tickets—2/- and 1/-. This capital bill of entertainment should attract a capacity house. Be there with the rest.

GRAND ALL-NIGHT DANCE.

A grand all-night dance, under the auspices of the Durrwo Dramatic Club will be held in the Hall, Durrwo, on the 26th inst. (St. Stephen's Night). The services of a popular Co. Waterford Orchestra have been booked for eclectic evening. Tickets—Ladies, 1/-; gents, 1/6 (including tax). Supper

A SAD DEATH.

Mrs. O'Neill, aged 75 years, wife of Mr. John O'Neill, cottager, Ballyshunock, Kilmackthomas, was found dead in her bed on Sunday morning. She appeared to be in her usual good health when she retired on the previous night. Dr. Walsh, Kilmackthomas, Coroner for East Waterford, did not deem an inquest necessary. The late Mrs. O'Neill was a fine type of the good old generation so fast disappearing from our midst. She was buried in Newtown graveyard on Tuesday evening.

FELICITATIONS.

We join with the troops of friends and well-wishers of Guard Carroll, Kill, in offering him heartiest felicitations on his marriage recently to Miss Kathleen Harney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patk. Harney, Rathanny, Kill.

CAMAN CONTEST.

On to-morrow (Sunday) the Croughan Rangers (Kilmackthomas) will be at home to Erin's Own (Waterford) second string, in a friendly challenge, to be preceded by a minor hurling bout, Croughan v. Kilmackthomas. Mr. Mee Power, Kilmackthomas, will referee both matches.

DECEMBER.

Here we are into December, with Christmas beginning to loom up already. The shop windows, with their bright bargains, their marvels of ingenious toys, the increasing size of the gazing crowds, are sure heralds of the season. We would like to pass on a friendly hint which, if generally adopted, would help to warm up the atmosphere to something like the proper degree of temperature. The tip is: Don't pull a long face and say, "I'm afraid this is going to be a very dull Christmas." If everybody goes about with those or kindred words on his or her lips it will veritably be a dreadfully dull Yuletide. Let mass psychology attack the business from another angle, and let us resolve to engender the spirit which simply, because times are not as bright as we remember them, determines on that account to put all the more energy into the business of making other people as cheery as possible. No matter how the pendulum wags the people are brighter and better appraised than they were. A quarter of a century ago the shawl was almost a symbol of industrial grind. Now women and young girls are neatly, if not lavishly, dressed. Everyone laments the scarcity of employment, but every one recognises that the social standards of the proletariat are immensely better than they were. It is certainly a curious paradox to find evidence of comfort and enjoyment in the midst of unemployment statistics, which, viewed as a cold reflex of industry, make for disquieting thoughts. On the whole, we are an optimistic community.

IN MEMORIAM.

On Tuesday morning, Solemn Requiem Office and High Mass was celebrated at St. Anne's Church, Ballylaneen, for the repose of the souls of all of the deceased relatives and friends of the parishioners. Rev. T. O'Shea, C.C., Ballylaneen, was celebrant, assisted by Very Rev. W. Kehoe, P.P., Kilmacrossan; Rev. P. O'Farrell, C.C., Stradbally, and Rev. J. Hartly, C.C., Fews. There was a large congregation.

WEDDING BELLS.

St. Anne's Church, Ballylaneen, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday of this week, when Miss Nellie Crowle, daughter of Mrs. Crowle, and the late Mr. Thomas Crowle, Ballybaneague, Kilmackthomas, were united in matrimony to Mr. Thomas Malcahy, Lismer. Rev. T. O'Shea, C.C., Ballylaneen, officiated. The bride, was attended by her sister, Miss Mollie Crowle. Mr. William Mulcahy (brother of the Bridegroom) acted as best man.

A SWEEPSTAKE FOR ME.

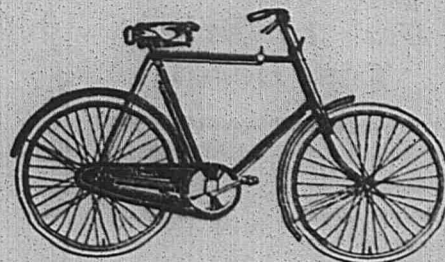

By J.B. (With an apology to the author of "Mother Machree") There's a depth in my purse that I'm longin' to fill, There's a hope in my heart that good fortune may thrill, There's a counterfoil number may win a large sum In the Irish Sweepstake when they roll the 'Big Drum.' Chorus: Sure I love thy sweet gingle oh bright silver coin, An' the rustle of Bank-notes I long to call mine: Sure I'll kiss my dear ticket a Treasure to see, God speed it—I need it—thirty thousand for me! Every misry an' care in the drear by-gone years, Will the future make bright when my first prize appears; Like the lamp of Alladin or magic of old, Sure the secret of power is the lure of bright gold.

POLICY OF DISASTER. SURRENDER OF NATION'S HONOUR.

Speaking at a meeting in the Co. Meath, on Sunday, Mr. Frank MacDermot, T.D., said that every day confirmed an observation he had long since made: that there was not a scrap of sense in Mr. de Valera's national policy. The President had a taste for power, a taste for contention, and a perfect mastery of the sort of clap-trap which qualified a politician to rank as a patriot and a hero (hear, hear). It was from these elements, and not from any study of facts of the country's material and spiritual advantage, that the Fianna Fail policy was compounded. "Just what," said Mr. MacDermot, "has that policy achieved? The removal of the Oath was to reconcile the I.R.A. Has it reconciled them? The violation of the Anglo-Irish financial agreement was to enrich the farming community. Has it enriched them? Time was when we could boast that while Ireland was a small country, and a relatively poor country, she had the wealth that consists in a good name and an unblemished reputation for fair dealing (hear, hear). The Government have changed all that. Protesting always the purity of their motives and the elevation of their outlook, they who accused others of a policy of surrender, have made a greatest and worst surrender—the surrender of the national honour (hear, hear). They have provided the British with a counterpart for British perfidy after the Treaty of Limerick.

"And where is the mess of pottage that was to compensate us? Bad as the times are, perhaps it is just as well for the ultimate good of the country that the pottage is not forthcoming." It was time, the speaker continued, that the Irish people should realise that there were a score of things in the Government's policy quite inconsistent with the tearing, raging propaganda by which they climbed into power. It was only by beating war drums, by rhetoric about the robber Empire and the hereditary enemy, by pretending that any contact or friendliness with Great Britain was a sort of treason, and that those guilty of it were tools of imperialism; that the Fianna Fail Party succeeded in inflaming the minds of a large proportion of the youth of the country.

Yet under Fianna Fail not only private citizens, but the Government continued to hold many millions of British investments, which would presumably begame worthless if we won our economic war. Our currency system still remained tied to the British. We still anxiously canvassed the British market, not only for agriculture, but also for other industries, and we spent millions a year on bounties to get in our goods there. We allowed talented young men to disgrace themselves by accepting positions in British public services, and we even passed resolutions and voted money in the Dail for furthering the work of Imperial co-operation. In other words, Mr. de Valera's private war was sheer humbug (hear, hear). We had refused to pay our debts in the ordinary way. The British were collecting them in another way, which did us infinitely more damage. We had taken action with regard to the Crown, which made cordiality of intercourse impossible, and yet that intercourse continued. It was said of King James II., a king "with one shoe Irish and the other shoe foreign," that he left long sorrow among the sons of the Gael, because after they had rallied to his cause, he would neither strike a blow nor would come to terms. Mr. de Valera with one shoe in the Commonwealth and the other shoe out of it, was bringing equal disaster upon us.

On the one hand, the agricultural community had become a mendicant, looking out a wretched existence with the aid of bounties, grants, doles, pensions, and relief works, which were being paid for out of the dwindling national reserves. On the other hand, the forces of disorder, sustained and inspired by the gospel of hate which Fianna Fail had popularised, were daily menacing. Where was it all to end? The Government had announced that they were no longer even looking for a settlement of the economic war. They had also declared that they wanted safeguards in the shape of British promises, before inviting the people to declare a Republic. What lay before us, except increasing confusion and deepening poverty.

In his opinion, the in-and-out position could not be much longer maintained. The twenty-six counties must soon decide whether to go out of the Commonwealth, and see what they could make of a Republic, or to stay in it, accepting it cordially, with all its implications, and working with faith, hope and charity for the reunion of the Irish nation. The decision, when taken, should be a free one—a daylight decision, with intimidation rigorously excluded, and it should be loyally accepted by members of all parties (applause). He would like to see such a decision, whatever it meant, implemented by a national Government (hear, hear).

Whether we had to face economic buffets or internal disorder, the prospects would be far more favourable if all men of good will came together and made the best of the new situation. What was intolerable was to have an ambiguous policy, leading to anarchy and meanwhile reducing the country to poverty, and causing bitter divisions and misunderstandings. Indefensible as the Government's policy was, he did not charge that there was nothing behind it but hypocrisy. He knew that the minds of many of these men, and perhaps especially of the President himself, were twisted by recollections of the past and by the tyranny of self-justification (hear, hear).

We could only hope and pray that right reason would ultimately prevail, and that the older and more generous tradition of Irish nationalism would be restored to honour, and that all sections of citizens would be brought together on a basis of effective independence, without forcing the minority into severance from their kith and kin (applause).

Important Notice.

We wish to call the attention of our customers and the general public to the fact that we have erected a Walworth Patent Kiln at considerable expense to treat the native Grain which it is incumbent on us to mix with Maize.

Owing to this increased percentage to secure good sound Meal, the Kiln-drying of the home-grown Grain is in our opinion absolutely necessary. We therefore, guarantee that the quota of native Grain used by this Firm in the Admixture will be Kiln-dried. This combined with the stone grinding at our Water-power Mill at Kiladangan, should secure a first-class article.

We shall supply Maize Meal with the stipulated Admixture of either OATS or BARLEY. In the case of BARLEY being used a slight increase in price will be required.

As the percentage of admixture of Home-Grown Grain fixed on July, 24th at 25 per cent. has been further increased to 33 1/3 per cent. to come into force on October 9th, the KILN DRYING of native grain is still more necessary. Combined with KILN DRYING all native grain we have been dehulling the Oats since the increase of July 24th last.

Finally, we find the percentage of moisture in the new crop much in excess of that in last season's Crop.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

A PRACTICAL HEN.

This week a hen of the Light Sussex breed, owned by a Ballylemon lady laid two eggs one morning. That is the proper hen to have in these days to counteract the tariff. What a pity every decent hen in the County would not follow the Ballylemon example, especially white eggs are dear and they could have a holiday then in the cheap days.

CONGRESS DANCE.

The Second Annual Dance, under the auspices of the Co. Waterford Branch of the Dairy Shorthorn Breeders Society, was held in the Dungarvan Town Hall, on Wednesday night and was the greatest success. Upwards of 200 couples were present representing all parts of the County Waterford and the neighbouring Counties. The music by Billy McSweeney and his Band, was perfect, and the catering by Mrs. Monahan, left nothing to be desired. The Ball-room and its precincts were artistically decorated for the occasion and looked charming. The Committee with Messrs. T. J. Smyth, and D. O'Dempsey, Hon. Secs., saw to the personal comfort of all the visitors. Dancing was kept up with vigour until morning.

BOUNTIES ON TURKEYS.

In reply to Mr. N. Wall (U.I.P., Waterford), in the Dail on Wednesday, Mr. Ryan (Minister for Agriculture) said he had given the matter of bounties on turkeys full consideration. Having regard to the funds available for the payment of bounties on various agricultural exports, he was not prepared to recommend an increase in the existing bounty to 4d. a lb.

TRADE DECLINE.

For the ten months—January 1st to October 31st., 1933, the decline in the value of exports from the Free State was £14,500,000. For the 12 months ended in October last, the total Free State trade showed a drop of £33,174,474, as compared with the year ended October 1931 and a fall in the value of exports amounting to £17,759,746. The fall in the value of cattle exported was £5,283,776. The exports of all live stock made £14,880,985 in 1931, while this year's value was down to £5,953,800. No wonder money is scarce when there is such a shortage in return for cattle sold.

SCARCE COMMODITIES.

Water is scarce: Money is scarce: What next? The wells that supplied our watery wants are gone dry all over the country, and in many centres there is nothing to drink for man or beast unless it is procured from a distance. Money springs, too, are drying up and at the present rate of evaporation it looks as if the Income Tax man will be unable to locate any filthy lucre in the public pocket. Now when water and money are gone is it not time for every honest man to pack up his bag too? Otherwise how can we face the multitude of officials who come to him with large bills and small bills in their bills, all wanting what he has not to give and all eager to make him do the impossible. It was some such state of affairs in the long ago that gave the camel the hump.

DUNGARVAN FOWL MARKET.

At the Dungarvan market, turkeys are from 8d. to 10d. per lb.; geese 4d. to 5d. per lb.; chickens 6d. per lb.; eggs 1/9 to 2/- dozen; rabbits 3d. each.

WHEAT SCHEME.

The Government's Wheat Scheme will cost £56,671 this year.

PRICE OF BREAD IN YOUGHAL.

The following letter appears in the Daily Press:—

Sir,—I see by your paper that the bakers here have got the Urban Council to protest against the importation of bread, but there was not a word of protest against the awful price of bread—10d. for 4lb. loaf. The bakers are all paid fine fat wages, and they will only bake a certain amount every day. It is said that is the great reason for the high price of bread. What about the unfortunate hundreds and thousands, some with very large families, whose chief food is bread, and who are depending on a casual job, or the dole or charity. Now for facts about the price. For many years local bakers have been supplying the Asylum and the Hospital at from 5d. to 6d. per 4lb. loaf, and they have to send vans and men every day up nearly a mile of hill besides, while a poor woman with, maybe, a lot of starving children on the verge of starvation, has to pay 10d., nearly twice as much. Instead of protesting against bread coming in the bread, milk, meat, coal, and other things, ought to examine their consciences on the terrible injustice they are doing God's poor.

REAFFORSTATION.

BIG SCHEME STARTED IN WEST WATERFORD.

In accordance with the Government's policy of reafforestation, an important scheme of tree planting has been started this week in the West Waterford district.

Some weeks ago, Mr. John O'Leary, an expert from the Forestry Branch of the Department of Agriculture, took up his residence in Cappoquin for the purpose of starting a scheme of reafforestation in Dromana Woods, the property of Mr. Ion Villiers Stuart, and also in Colligan Wood, which were greatly denuded of valuable trees during the Great War, and in the intervening years, before the cutting of trees was prohibited by the Free State Government, unless under permit.

If the practice of felling trees had been allowed to go on unchecked, the woodland beauty of our countryside, which has for ages won the admiration of tourists from all parts of the world, would soon have been ruined, if it had not completely disappeared, and it was a wise step on the part of the Government to check this vandalism before the country had totally lost one of its most valuable assets and charms. It is now intended to plant trees over an extensive area of 129 acres in Dromana, and 110 acres in Colligan, spruce and larch (main crop) being the principal varieties, while other varieties will also be planted according as local circumstances demand.

A good deal of preliminary work must first be carried out, such as the removal of tree stumps and the clearing of undergrowth, and this together with the work of planting the young trees at Dromana will provide welcome employment for between 20 and 30 men during the first stage of the scheme until next April, while another 20 men will be employed in Colligan wood. Work was formally started in the early part of this week, and will be continued uninterruptedly under the supervision of Mr. O'Leary until both woods have been completely replanted, when it is expected that several other depleted woods in various parts of the Co. Waterford will next receive attention.

STOP THAT CALF'S COUGH! Every year thousands of Irish calves die of this disease... COFOX The Sure Cure

A TO-AND-FRO LAW CASE. A tilt at High Court methods was delivered by District Justice McCabe, during a case at Waterford. The case began in Waterford District Court in August 1932. Then it went to the High Court in Dublin. After much legal arguments it was sent back to Waterford for rehearing. Now it is to be transferred to the High Court again. The plaintiff is Mr. Nicholas Quinlan, a member of Waterford Corporation, and the defendant is a fellow member, Mr. David Nash, who, it is alleged, while receiving home assistance unlawfully acted as a town councillor, contrary to the provisions of the Local Government (Ireland) Acts 1880-1925. The case is being fought on the point that the Temporary Provisions Act of 1932 brought the discontinuance of union relief—for the receipt of which disqualification from membership of public bodies was automatic—and that that relief was not continued under the description of "home assistance."

CAPPOQUIN DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.) SHOCKING CRUELTY CASE: TRANSFER OF LICENCE.

Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, (for Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solr., Dungarvan), applied on behalf of Michael B. Kelly, for an ad interim transfer of the licence held by Mrs. N. Barron, for premises in the Main street, Cappoquin, which have recently been purchased by Mr. Kelly. The deed of purchase having been handed in, and there being no objection on the part of the Guards, the transfer was granted.

Shocking Case Of Cruelty. Supt. Sean Quinlan, Lismore, prosecuted Patrick Hickey, Ballinagilke, Ballinamut, for cruelty to animals by wounding two cows, the property of John O'Brien, his brother-in-law, with a "slasher."

The case had been previously twice adjourned on the application of Mr. T. C. Williams, solr., Dungarvan, on behalf of the defendant, when it was now called, neither the defendant nor his solicitor appeared, and the Supt. informed the Justice that Mr. Williams, solr., had now withdrawn from the case.

The Justice asked what were the facts of the case, or was it one which he could try in the absence of the defendant?

The Supt. said that the defendant was caretaker of a farm belonging to Mrs. O'Brien (his sister), who was sister-in-law to John O'Brien, and when three head of cattle belonging to the latter went into the land of Mrs. Mary O'Brien, Hickey attacked them with a "slasher" and badly wounded two of them, the third escaping with minor injuries. The Supt. added that there was a dispute between John O'Brien, the owner of the cattle, and his sister-in-law and brother-in-law (defendant), about the ownership of the farm, and this was the cause of the whole trouble.

The Justice said this was too serious a case to try in the absence of the defendant, and he asked what did the Supt. propose to do in the matter?

The Supt. said the only thing to do was to have a warrant issued for Hickey's arrest and he could be brought here in custody for the next court.

Sergt. Scott, Ballinamut, said that defendant was a rather peculiar individual and would not attend the Court unless he was brought in on a warrant, as he had failed to attend also on two previous occasions.

The Justice said the difficulty was that this application for a warrant should have been made when the case was first before the Court in October, and not at this stage, when it was called for the third time. The best way out of the difficulty which he saw was to have a fresh summons issued against defendant for the January Court, and should he fail to attend then, he would issue a warrant so that he could be brought up in custody at the February Court.

The reason he mentioned the January Court day would be during Christmas week, and he did not propose to hold any Court during the Christmas holidays, as he considered it would be inconvenient for practitioners and litigants alike to do so, unless under very exceptional circumstances.

An order to this effect was accordingly made.

Arising out of the previous case, Thos. Hickey, the same defendant was summoned by Peter McGrath, nephew of John O'Brien, owner of the injured cattle, who applied to have Hickey bound to the peace.

Mr. W. R. Hodnett, solr., Youghal, appeared for Peter McGrath, and said he believed this was a case which the Justice could hear in the absence of the defendant, and the Justice agreed to do so.

Peter McGrath, in reply to Mr. Hodnett, stated that his uncle, John O'Brien, owned two farms, the outside one being about a half mile away from the home farm. On September, 4th, as he was proceeding to the outside farm he saw five cattle belonging to his uncle on the road, and two of them were bleeding.

As he was driving the cattle along the road to the outside farm he saw one of Mrs. O'Brien's fences open and he sent his collie dog up to prevent the cattle from going into Mrs. O'Brien's field. Hickey then rushed out with a "slasher" in his hand and abused him, finally threatening to knock his head off with the "slasher." Witness then got afraid of him and ran away.

On September, 7th, as witness was again passing along the road he saw defendant following him inside the fence and he had something like a stick or a pitchfork in his hand, and witness again ran away.

Mr. Hodnett—So that for the second time you thought "discretion the better part of valour" and again ran away? (laughing).

Witness—I did, sir.

Answering the Justice in regard to the relationship between witness and Hickey, McGrath created laughter by saying—"His sister is married to my uncle's brother."

The Justice—So that his sister is married to your uncle, then?

Witness—She is, sir.

Replying to further questions, McGrath said he was afraid of Hickey, as he was likely to attack him at any time.

so it was a clear case of binding the defendant to the peace.

The Justice asked Sergt. Scott if he thought Hickey could get two independent sureties for £10 each in the district?

The Sergt. said he did not think so, but he believed his sister, Mrs. O'Brien would go bail for him for £20.

The Justice then bound defendant to the peace for 12 months in his own personal bail of £10 and two independent sureties of £5 each, or, in default, one month's imprisonment, and ordered him to pay 20/- costs.

Unstamped Insurance Cards. The Minister for L.G. Department, summoned a farmer named David Denn, Bawnfaun, Cappoquin, for having failed to stamp the National Health Insurance cards of his workman, Ml. Cahill.

Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, (for Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solr., Dungarvan), prosecuted, and the defendant was represented by his son.

Michael Cahill, labourer, and Mr. Maurice Mortell, Insurance Inspector, having given evidence in support of the prosecution, defendant's son said that Cahill had not been regularly working for his father, as he had been nine weeks absent working for Father Carroll, P.P., Modeligo, and spent a further week working for Mr. Thos. Walsh, Bailica.

Mr. Mortell told the Justice that apart from the specific period for which the defendant was now summoned, there was a Civil Bill pending against him for £3 4s. arrears which would be heard at the next Lismore District Court.

The Justice told defendant's son that his father was adopting a stupid policy by failing to stamp his workman's cards regularly, because had he done so he would avoid all the costs which he now had to pay. He then imposed a fine of 10/- and costs in the present case.

Motor Cyclist Charged With Reckless Driving. Guard Wm. Moloney, Cappoquin, summoned Patk. Moloney, Kilmacaden, Co. Waterford, for recklessly driving a motor cycle, and he was further charged with having failed to obey a signal to stop on the same occasion.

Complainant stated that at 7.35 on the night of Nov., 5th, he was on duty near the bridge, beyond the Boathouse when he heard a motor cyclist coming along the road from the direction of Lismore. At the same time there was a motor car coming across the bridge towards Cappoquin, and fearing there would be a collision he signalled to the motor cyclist to stop until the motor car had got clear. Instead of stopping, the motor cyclist only accelerated and flew past him up the town, and witness then followed him up and found him getting petrol at Mr. Sargent's garage, and on questioning him he admitted that it was he who had passed by the Boathouse some time previously.

The Guard added that there was a pillion rider on the back of the motor cycle, while a man on a pedal bicycle was riding beside the pillion rider and had his hand on his shoulder for the purpose of helping the push bicycle along. There was no light on the push bicycle, and the Guard now suggested that the reason the defendant accelerated in passing him was in order to get the man with the unlighted bicycle clear of witness.

Defendant was sworn, and denied that he saw the Guard's signal to stop on the occasion. He also denied having accelerated when passing the Guard, and said the machine he had was a B.S.A. 1924 model which was not able to do more than 20 or 25 miles per hour. He rode slowly all the way from Lismore.

Defendant cross-examined by Supt. Quinlan, denied that he was in a hurry to get home that night, and said if he was he need not have waited to get petrol in Cappoquin, as he had plenty in the tank to take him home.

Patk. Power, the pillion rider, having given similar evidence, the Justice asked defendant what his occupation was, and he said he was only a labourer.

Justice—Only a labourer, and yet you are able to keep a motor cycle.

Defendant said it was only an old "crook" and could be seen outside the Courthouse now.

The Justice said it was well for the defendant he was not in a position to pay a heavy fine, for if he were he would impose a very substantial fine, as he had just listened to some of the hardest swearing on his part that he had listened to for a long time. He imposed a fine of 10/- for reckless driving and dismissed the second charge, which he said was covered by his ruling on the first summons.

No Lights. Guard Buggy, Villierstown, summoned Daniel Coleman, Aglish, and Michael Foley, Currodarra, do., for using bicycles without lights after lighting-up time.

The Guard said both defendants were poor men.

The Justice—You don't wish me to fine them heavily then?

Complainant—No, sir.

Both defendants were then let off with a fine of 6d. each.

The same complainant summoned James Guiry, Tubrid, for driving a donkey and cart without a light at Aglish.

Defendant said he was employed by Lady Musgrave, Tourin, and was returning from Ardmore on the night in question and thought he would be able to reach Cappoquin before dark where he intended to get a lamp.

The Justice said in view of all the accidents that took place on the roads at night it was a very serious offence to be driving a donkey and cart without a light, and he was inclined to impose a heavy fine for this class of offence.

Addressing the defendant he said—I suppose Lady Musgrave will pay whatever fine I put on you now?

Defendant—She will not, sir, as she is not responsible in any way, and I will have to pay the fine myself, as I alone am to blame.

The Justice then imposed a fine of 1/6, and said that at all future Courts he would have to substantially increase the fines for unlighted vehicles, more especially unlighted bicycles, which were a great danger to the public at night, and the number of those offences had been greatly increasing here for some time past.

Guard Sheehan, Cappagh, summoned Thomas Murray, for having no light on his bicycle on Sunday night, and he was fined 2/6.

Guard Teehan, Cappoquin, v. Jas. Reid, West street, Tallow, for a similar offence.

The Justice at first imposed a fine of 2/6, but later reduced it to 1/6, as the defendant had travelled a long journey in order to appear in Court.

Guard John O'Mahony, Cappoquin, v. Patk. O'Shea, Affane, for using an unlighted motor van on October 2nd.

Defendant said he was waiting to get in some money before he could pay the tax, and when he had got the money he took out the licence immediately.

The Justice said he believed defendant's statement, and let him off with a fine of 6d., and a similar fine on a second summons for having failed to display his licence.

Guard Teehan, Cappoquin, summoned Peter Henley, West street, Tallow, for failing to produce his driver's licence while driving a motor lorry. It was stated that he had since taken out the licence, and a fine of 2/6 was imposed.

Instalment Order Against a Debtor. Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, (for Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solr., Dungarvan), applied for an instalment order against Mrs. Annie Sullivan, Cappoquin, on foot of a decree obtained by Mr. Patrick Walsh, merchant, Cappoquin, against defendant for shop goods sold and delivered.

Evidence of defendant's means was given by Mr. John O'Donovan, (Managing Clerk in Mr. E. A. Ryan's office), from which it appeared that she was drawing 22/- weekly as wages in the Cappoquin Bacon Factory and her husband, who is an ex-British soldier, has a pension of 28/- per week from the British Government, while he was also frequently employed by the Waterford Co. Council in the local quarry.

Defendant failed to appear, and the Justice made an instalment order for £1 per month, the first instalment to be paid on that day month, and he further ordered the defendant to pay 20/- costs.

State Of The Courthouse. In the early part of the proceedings, Mr. Farrell, D.J., complained very strongly about the damp and dirty state of the Courthouse, and said he could write his name with his finger on the dust on the desk where he was sitting. All the seats and desks were reeking with dampness as well, and he would like to know when the fires were lighted here on the mornings of the Court, as it didn't appear to have been lighted long enough to remove the dampness which made it unsafe and unhealthy for anybody to sit here for any considerable time. He then directed the Clerk to write to the Co. Council calling attention to the matter.

Mr. M. F. Walsh, P.C., Cappoquin, a member of the Co. Council (who was in court) said the Co. Council were paying Sir John Keane, a rent of £10 per year for the Courthouse, and they were not responsible in any way for the cleaning or heating of the building, as this was a matter entirely for the landlord or the premises.

The Justice thanked Mr. Walsh for his kind information, and then directed the Clerk to call the landlord's attention to his complaint, and request him to have better arrangements made in future.

FRAUDS BY AN EX-T.D. Henry Coyle, of Geesala, Co. Mayo, formerly a T.D., for North Mayo, was sentenced at the district court Belmullet, to six months' imprisonment.

He was accused of issuing worthless cheques drawn on the Munster and Leinster Bank to John McGeehan and Michael Barrett, of Geesala, with intent to defraud, and of obtaining by fraudulent means goods to the value of £3 from John McGeehan.

Evidence was given that Coyle represented at the Munster and Leinster Bank, Ballina, that he was about to establish a linoleum and jute factory at Blacksod, and that he was expecting a large sum of money from a Scottish concern to finance the project.

A cheque book was issued to him on the understanding that he was not to issue any cheques until there was money lodged to meet them.

The money never came.

Sir,—Being interested in Geology, and desirous of obtaining a sample of sand from the coast of Cork (for examination I mentioned the matter to the Secretary of the Irish Tourist Association, who comes from your town, and he suggested I should apply to you direct.

Gas Stokers Holiday.

A letter was read from the Minister of L.G., stating that he wasn't aware of any power which would enable him to sanction the Council's proposals to grant a week's holidays with full pay to the Gas Stokers.

Mrs. Hurley said that was very unfair considering their awful work. The Ministers and their Secretaries look holidays.

Mr. Dennehy agreed. Mrs. Hurley—The Council's letter may never have reached the Minister. The Clerk said he feared there was no way out of it.

Turf Scheme.

A letter was read from the Department inviting the co-operation of the Council in their Peat Development Scheme, and suggesting that in connection with Housing Schemes grates and ranges suitable for the burning of turf should be provided.

The Chairman said the letter was too late to be dealt with in the present scheme.

Mr. Dennehy—The most suitable place to burn turf is on the bare heath.

Mr. Lynch—Where is the turf around here? The Chairman—The nearest source is Rathmore and the cost of bringing it in would be prohibitive.

Home Assistance.

The Secretary, South Cork Board of Public Assistance, sent the following replies to the Council's queries:—(1) There are no general rules governing Home Assistance. The Board are responsible for the administration and they have discretionary powers; (2) Persons entitled to Home Assistance are—(a) persons permanently disabled by old age or infirmity; (b) persons temporarily disabled by sickness or accident; (c) Widows with one child or more; (d) lunatics; insane persons and idiots; (e) destitute able-bodied persons out of employment; (3) A recipient can hand order for Home Assistance in kind to any trader (this condition is printed on the Official Order); (4) The Board have not ordered that recipients should go to any particular shop; (5) The Assistance Officer is bound to get all facts in connection with an application for Home Assistance.

Mr. Philip Magner, H.A. Officer, wrote re report in "Cork Examiner" of their last meeting. He enclosed a letter, a document written at the request of the people signing it and a blank voucher, the form in use for Home Assistance in kind. He had always done his duty as Assistance Officer, as directed by his authorities. The "letter" contradicted the statement in the "Examiner" report about the private letter from America. The Relieving Officer never read the private correspondence referred to. The document signed by a large number of persons in receipt of Home Assistance in kind, stated that they were never asked by the Home Assistance Officer to take their vouchers to any particular trader. The instructions were to read the instructions and go where they liked. Mr. McMahon said he believed those documents were signed under duress. He was signing vouchers for poor people for the past 10 years and his only motive was to get fair play for them and a little civility. If his action effected that his work was well done.

Mrs. Hurley—Are you going to let this go without an inquiry? Those documents were signed under duress.

Mr. Beausang said a statement without proof was not satisfactory. That thing was no business of theirs.

The Chairman agreed. Mr. Murphy said the people could go where they liked.

Mr. McMahon—As a public Board, we are entitled to deal with the matter. We are ratepayers.

Mrs. Hurley—Of course it is our business.

Mr. McMahon—I am satisfied I got what I wanted.

The Chairman—That finishes it. Mrs. Hurley—Why have we not a Committee here to deal with the spending of the money?

Mr. McMahon—We have done enough for the present.

Town Hall.

The following applications for the use of the Town Hall and Green Rooms were received:—Youghal Ladies Hockey Club for a Dance on St. Stephen's Night; The Bohemian Band, a Dance on the 28th; The Nursing Association for a Whist Drive on the 29th December; The Boy Scouts, for a Raffle in the Green Room; The Post Office to hold an Examination for Telegraph Messengers, on 12th, Dec.

On the proposition of Mr. McMahon, seconded by Mr. Dennehy, all the applications were granted.

Sand From Foreshore.

A report was read to the effect that J. Gleeson, Mill Road, and Thos. Long, Cork Hill, were found taking sand from the foreshore. They put it back when ordered. Long was caught a second time.

Mrs. Hurley—Isn't there an order on the books that anybody found taking sand would be prosecuted?

Mr. Murphy said those men were never caught before. Give them a chance.

Mrs. Hurley—If you don't do something the people on the Strand will refuse to pay rates.

Mr. Murphy—Let the Clerk write and give them a warning.

Mrs. Hurley—You were the man to propose prosecutions, when the Harries were left off.

Mr. Murphy—People are taking sand and gravel for the last 40 years, and it is the same foreshore still.

The Clerk—That is not the point. You must make a definite order.

Mr. McMahon—On the last occasion Mr. Broderick proposed, and I seconded, a prosecution, but Mr. Broderick withdrew. I said even if it happened again there would be no prosecution, and there you are.

Mr. Lynch said it was the first time those names were before them. He proposed they deal with them under the First Offender's Act (laughter).

Mr. Murphy, seconded. Mrs. Hurley—How long is the Council going to keep on with this tomfoolery? I propose they be prosecuted. There being no seconder for Mrs. Hurley's amendment, the proposition was passed.

Price Of Bread.

A deputation of local bakers headed by Mr. J. Forrest, Junr., waited on the Council in connection with the importation and selling of bread from outside.

Mr. Forrest said that at present 25 per cent. of the bread sold locally was imported from Castlemartyr and Cork. In view of the fact that there were bakers idle in the town, they asked the Council to protest against that importation.

The Chairman—Have you many bakers idle? Mr. Forrest—About six, and there are others on part time.

The Chairman said that charity began at home and personally he could not understand why bread should be brought in. Were the prices the same? Mr. Forrest said not in all cases. There were about 5 different importers—Messrs. Abernethy and Hennessy, Castlemartyr, were charging 10d. per 4lb. loaf and Thompson's, Cork 11d.; Sweetland's, Cork were charging 8d. The Youghal price was 10d.

The Chairman said that all they could do was make a protest. He did not see why bread should be brought in while local men were idle. Youghal bread had a good name.

Mr. Lynch said they should enter a strong protest against the bringing of bread into Youghal. The money should be kept at home. As regards the Cork bread selling locally at 8d., he would like to know what wages the makers were paying their men. It was most unfair to have strangers coming in and competing against local men who had to pay rates. The Youghal people who bought that bread should be ashamed of themselves.

Mrs. Hurley said those strangers should be hunted out and the people who bought the bread should be boycotted.

Mr. Beausang—It is disgraceful. Mr. McMahon said it was very hard lines that the occasion for such a protest should arise at all. He proposed that they call on the people supporting those outsiders to remember that it was their duty first to help their own neighbours.

Mr. Dennehy, seconded. Mr. Lynch said the proposition should include the vans bringing in groceries, etc.

This was agreed to. Mr. Murphy said the bakers should do something themselves to protect their own interests.

Mr. Fowkes said that subject had been before the Council several times. If the Press took a note of the matter, he believed it would have a good effect.

Mr. Forrest—If the Council's action doesn't have the desired effect, we intend to picket all shops selling outside bread.

The proposition was passed unanimously and Mr. Forrest, thanked the Council for their action.

The deputation then withdrew.

Cinema Crowding.

Mr. Linchan asked was there any report from the Town Supt. regarding the crowding of the passages in the Picture Palace recently.

The Clerk read a report to the effect that on the night of the 12th inst., the passage in the Picture Palace had been blocked with chairs.

The Town Supt. said he objected to the putting of the chairs in the passageway, but there was no action taken.

Mr. Lynch—Why are people so foolish as to go into the cinemas in such circumstances?

Mr. Whelan said it was an exceptional night.

Mr. McMahon said he objected to any exceptions in such a vital matter.

Replying to Mrs. Hurley, the Chairman said the law required that all exits should be kept free.

After some discussion, it was unanimously decided to warn the Proprietor that the Council would take drastic action if there was a repetition.

YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT.

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L., National Bank v. Fitzgibbon. This was a Civil Bill for £22 15s. 6d. balance with interest, due on foot of a Promissory Note.

Mr. J. J. Ronayne, solr., Middleton, for plaintiffs, said that defendant had been security on a bill for £35 for his brother, who had defaulted. Defendant had admitted that the amount was due and had paid £16 on foot, but suffering like other farmers from the effects of the economic war, he was unable to pay the amount now sued for. He (Mr. Ronayne) suggested a decree for the amount, payable £3 monthly.

Defendant said he couldn't pay anything like that at present. If the times mended he would pay it off as quickly as possible.

The Justice said the defendant would have a claim against the principal on the bill.

Defendant—He is my brother, sir. A decree was formally granted, payable £1 monthly up to 1st May, 1933, and £2 from that date.

A number of cases in which Messrs. Hodnett and Macnamara, solrs., appeared for plaintiffs were adjourned on the applications of the latter.

Andrew Griffin, Greeneloyne, was charged in outsidy with house-breaking and the larceny of cigarettes from Mr. M. Barrett's Cigar Divan, on the Strand.

Supt. Dennehy, prosecuted. Formal evidence of arrest having been given defendant was remanded in custody to next Court.

CAMOGIE. CO. CHAMPIONSHIP. Youghal team were at home to Middleton, in the Sports Field, Copperalley on Sunday. The weather was fine and seasonable, but a bit hard. The homesters played with quite an unexpected dash and skill that snowed the visitors under. In the first half, they had it all their own way in spite of a determined opposition, ending with 3 goals 1 point to nil. During the second half both sides made one score, the final being

YOUGHAL 4-1.
MIDDLETON 1-0.
Mr. J. Ronayne, Middleton, acted as referee.

HE WAS A STRANGER. Schoolmaster: "Who made you?" Patsy O'Toole: "Sure, sor, Oi dunno."

"Well, who made all the pretty trees and flowers that grow outside of your house?" "Dunno, sor, Oi jist moved here about a week ago."

NO. 152.—

HOUNDS THAT HUNT BY SCENT. THE USE OF THE NOSE.

By "PHILOKOUON."

WINTER is the season in which hounds that hunt by scent, or dogs that use their noses in finding or retrieving game are of the greatest service to men. For a considerable part of the year at least, all of them, hounds or dogs, are more or less pensioners, except in so far as they may be required for breeding. Like horses, they eat their heads off for some months, but when they get to work they more than compensate for the trouble and expense to which they have put their masters. Pointers and setters, the first to be called upon, have the briefest period of usefulness, beginning when the summer is at its height. Nowadays we do not find much for them to do after grouse shooting is over, and the number of dogging moors is limited, so it can be imagined that if it were not for the encouragement given to them by field trials or shows they would be in danger of growing fewer and fewer.

Retrievers and spaniels are in far greater demand, and there is no doubt that field trials have been the means of improving their working qualities. Far more proficient dogs are to be seen now than in the pre-trials days, when shooting men had not the incentive to train their dogs to the same extent or improve them by breeding only from the cleverest. All these dogs depend principally upon their noses. Unless they had wonderful scenting powers to inform them of the presence of game ahead pointers and setters would be worthless. It is very fascinating to see them quartering the ground backwards and forwards waiting for that elusive thing called scent to impinge upon their olfactory nerves before they pause abruptly and assume that cataleptic state that is called pointing. How did man train them to take up such an attitude? I imagine that our ancestors noted the instinctive pause as the dogs winded the game before drawing up to it, and developed it by education. Many centuries ago the setting or crouching spaniel helped men to take partridge in nets, and after the invention of firearms his peculiar powers were valuable in another direction.

Three hounds especially minister to our sports during the winter—the fox-hound, the harrier, and the beagle, and to a far lesser extent the basset, which is also a hare-hunter. By watching the work of any of these we get some idea of the remarkable quality of their olfactory nerves that enables them to follow the line of the hunted animal. I doubt if the nose of the fox-hound is as refined as it was at the beginning of last century, before the desire for pace across country had set in. Horses and hounds were slower in those days, but hounds did not run out of scent as easily as they do now. Men and women with sporting instincts who have no opportunity of hunting can get amusement by using a bloodhound to hunt man, or even training their own particular companions to use their noses in retrieving dropped articles or tracking to hunt strangers and not merely their own friends if they are taken in hand early enough. Tracking is part of the programme at their trials.
