DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

CARTERS AND RELIEF GRANT.

Mr. J. Butler, Chairman, presided at the weekly meeting of the above on Friday. Also present—Messrs. D. Foley, Mee, Griffin, J. McEvoy, B. Dee, and T. Power.

WAGES.

A sum of £9 12s. 10d. payment towards wages for the week was passed.

APPLICATIONS FOR HOUSES.

A number of applications for new houses in course of construction at Loughmore were before the meeting and were referred to the Rent Collector.

SUB-TENANT SEEKS TENANCY

A letter was also before the meeting from a man named John Crotty, looking for the tenancy of a house in Mitchel street, until recently occupied by Miss Cooney, whose lodger he was. Crotty later appeared before the meeting asking for the tenancy and stated that he had no place to go with his wife and child.

Chairman—We have already referred your letter to the Rent Collector. Mr. Foley—You would not allow a discussion on it.

Chairman—It is not our business. We gave the letting of our houses over to the Rent Collector.

Crotty—Mr. O'Meara (Collector) told me the Council had the doing of it.

Clerk—I don't know if Mr. O'Meara said any such thing, but I would advise you to leave the house.

Crotty—I will not leave it.

Clerk—Very well young man, you will find that there is some law and order in the country yet.

RELIEF GRANT.

The following was read from the Abbeyside Cumann Fianna Fail:—The above Cumann wish to protest against the action of the Council in disposing of the Christmas Relief Grant by giving the contract for the carting of the stone to one man instead of employing the carters direct, and so giving much-needed employment to the most deserving cases. We are of opinion that the Council are acting in this matter contrary to the conditions of the grant, and wish to state that we intend to inform the Government of it.

Mr. Foley—That is the opinion of our Fianna Fail Club, and it is my opinion too. Mr. Condon has a 12 months contract with this Council and he should not have anything to do with a relief grant.

Chairman—I know absolutely nothing about it. What is the position?

B.S.—I acted in good faith, as we have no quarry and it would mean delay to get permission to enter the quarry. I gave the job to the Contractor and told him to employ the carters from the list I gave him from Mr. Brennan, which I handed to Mr. Condon.

Chairman—Is this system proceeding?

B.S.—No, it is changed since this evening.

Mr. Foley—Was there any reason for the change. Was there a wire from the Department or an official from the Department down?

B.S.—No.

Mr. Foley—Was there any man down?

B.S.—There was a Mr. Brown down this evening, but not about that. The reason for the change is I met Mr. Condon this evening over this talk and he immediately agreed to stand down.

Mr. Foley—I am very slow to believe what I hear outside, but I heard this evening that Mr. Farrell, solicitor, had a wire from the Department.

B.S.—I heard nothing of it.

Mr. Griffin—Now that all the carters are going to work, are you going to put extra men in the quarry to keep them going?

Mr. Dee—How much money did we get in the grant?

B.S.—Only £250.

Mr. Dee—It is not worth talking about.

Mr. Foley—I would like to know why some of the people at this Council have horses drawing the stones if they think it is not worth talking about.

Chairman—I don't know what you mean?

Mr. Foley—To put it in plain words Mr. Dee has horses drawing the stones.

Mr. Dee—I have no horse there.

Mr. Foley—If so, I am sorry and I withdraw.

Chairman—Is the new arrangement that all the carters get to work at 1/3 a yard?

B.S.—Yes.

At this stage a deputation from the carters came before the Council.

Mr. Moylan, their spokesman, said, now that they can go to the quarry in the morning in defiance of the Council, (a Council that did not consider him with a wife and six children) When all the carters go to the quarry in the morning, there won't be enough stone quarried to give them two yards a day.

Chairman—We have nothing to do with that. We can't send men there without permission from Mr. Flynn.

Mr. Moylan again referred to the Council's action in giving the contract to Condon, and asked what they thought of him after all his time working on the quay and all over Ireland and England as a carter to think that he should now go to Condon and ask him for a job.

Chairman—The Council will ask the B.S. to go to Mr. Flynn and ask him to put on all the men he possibly can. This Council can't go into private property.

Mr. Moylan asked if Condon is to be paid for the work done out of the grant.

A member of the deputation said it was unfair that Mr. Flynn's two constant men in the quarry are now employed under this relief grant. The deputation then withdrew and a deputation from the stone-breakers wished to be heard.

Chairman—What do they want?

B.S.—I don't know, except it is the price.

Chairman—What are they getting?

B.S.—1/8 a yard.

Chairman—What rate did we pay in recent grants?

B.S.—1/2.

Mr. Griffin—Is it by the yard they are paid?

B.S.—Yes.

Mr. Griffin—That is most unfair you have some men breaking stones such as sailors, who never did such work before and they would not break a yard in a day. These men should be put at some other work.

B.S.—There is no other work at present.

Mr. Power—We gave the B.S. the job of doing these roads at an estimate, and we should see that they are done at that estimate and not have him coming back for more. After all an increase of 6d. a yard on the last grant is a good thing.

The deputation now came before the meeting and in reply to the Chairman said their grievance was that owing to not being used to such work they were unable to earn a reasonable wage.

Chairman—Under the last grant we paid 1/2 a yard, we increased that to 1/8.

Mr. Power—For what road was the 1/2 paid?

Clerk—Under Mr. Bowen on the Shandon Road.

Mr. Power—This Council must show some results for the money. An increase of 6d. is not too bad.

A member of the deputation said the Council paid 2/2 a yard for stone breaking. The 1/2 on the Shandon Road was for breaking with sledges.

Chairman—If we were employing you on Council work you would be paid 2/2, but this is a relief grant.

One of the deputation asked why a weekly wage was not given as in Youghal and Carrick-on-Suir.

Mr. Griffin—As I suggested a while ago, put the competent men breaking and get some other work for these men. When the spreading of the stone starts all these men should be put at that work.

Mr. Power—Why are the men compelled to use small hammers this time?

B.S.—We won't have any chips for the top such as they had on the Shandon Road, so the stone must be small. Some of the men broke eight yards to-day.

Mr. McEvoy—A lot of the stone going out is very dirty.

After some more discussion the Council decided to give 1/9 a yard to the breakers.

FREE MILK SCHEME.

A letter was read from the Ministry referring to the Council's letter of the 8th inst, transmitting copy of advertisement inviting tenders in connection with the Free Milk Scheme. The Ministry wish to draw the Council's attention to the conditions of contract and to his letter of approval, which clearly implied that the contractors should be cow-owners. In these circumstances, I am to state that the present contracts under the Free Milk Scheme should be discontinued as from the 31st inst, and suitable arrangements made for the supply of milk by contractors possessing cows, whose premises, dairy cattle, and method of milk production have been favourably reported on by the Veterinary Inspector, quotations in the first instance to be obtained from local cow-owners. I am at the same time to enquire what officer is administering the Scheme and whether any remuneration is being paid for extra service in connection therewith.

The Council decided to invite tenders from cow-owners as from Jan. 1st.

REPORT OF B.S.

The B.S. reported on the matter of the erection of a small pier at Abbey-side to afford shelter for boats as suggested at a previous meeting by Mr. Griffin.

The report stated that the pier could be extended from the corner opposite the National School, at Abbeyside towards the bridge for a distance of at least 40 feet. The probable cost is £120.

Mr. Griffin said there were several small schemes such as this being carried out at present along the West coast of Ireland, and at which over 3,000 men were employed. He suggested asking the Department of Fisheries for a grant for the work. The Council approved.

USE OF HALL.

The Eire Oge H. and F. Club were granted the use of the hall for a dance on Tuesday Dec. 19th. Abbeyside Church Improvements Committee, were granted the Hall for Wednesday, January, 10th 1934.

DUMP AT CAUSEWAY.

The Law Agent G.S. Rly., wrote: "With reference to your Council's letter of the 23rd. October last, I herewith enclose draft agreement granting your Council permission to erect a gateway in the Company's fence at Abbeyside and you might kindly return the document to me approved at your earliest convenience." The matter was adjourned to next meeting.

SYMPATHY.

Mr. Griffin, proposed and Mr. McEvoy, seconded, the following resolution, which was passed in silence: "That we tender to the members of the family of the late Patrick Power, Abbeyside, our sincerest sympathy on the loss they have sustained by the death of their father."

SISTERS OF MERCY, CAPPOQUIN.

FORTHCOMING ENTERTAINMENT

The announcement that the pupils of the Sisters of Mercy, Cappoquin, will give an Entertainment at the Young Men's Society Hall, on January 7th, has been received with much interest and is being eagerly looked forward to by all sections of the public, but particularly by lovers of good class stage performances. This is the first time in many years, if not in the history of the School that an entertainment, open to the public, has been promoted by the Sisters. But the ability of the members of the Community to train their pupils is well known, for at the many Concerts held in Cappoquin, some of the most appreciated items have been rendered by girls instructed at the convent.

The programme at the forthcoming Entertainment is of a highly diversified nature and will cater for all tastes. It embraces vocal solos, duets and trios, instrumental items, dances, a gay Opera, an amusing one-act Comedy, and a Scriptural Play. The performers, some of whom are of very tender years, are all local and are undergoing a thorough preparation. The scenic and lighting effects are in the hands of experts, and every accessory incidental to a high-class performance, is being carefully attended to.

The prices of admission are arranged to suit all pockets, and apart from the merits of the performance, the object—to raise funds to help in the building of the New Secondary School (now nearing completion)—will appeal to all. It is confidently expected that the people of Cappoquin and surrounding districts will avail of this opportunity to show in a practical manner their appreciation of the good work of the Sisters of Mercy.

DEATH OF MR. M. SHEEHAN

At the County Home, Dungarvan, Mr. Michael Sheehan, Kilrossanty, breathed his last in his 78th year, after a protracted illness. Noted for his ever-cheery disposition, the deceased was a general favourite throughout these parts, and his funeral to Kilrossanty old cemetery on Monday was a splendid tribute to departed worth. Rev. W. Kehoe, P.P., Kilrossanty, officiated at the graveside.—May he rest in peace.

Sad Fatality at Lauragh.

MAN KILLED BY HORSE.

THE INQUEST.

On Friday last, a sad fatality occurred at Lauragh, Cappoquin, when an unmarried labourer named Michael McGrath, aged 60 years in the employment of Mr. Ml. Prendergast, Lauragh, lost his life through the horse he was working at the time running away. The deceased was an honest upright and respected man and his sad end is deeply regretted by all who knew him.

On Saturday afternoon, an Inquest into the circumstances of his death was held by Dr. M. F. Moloney, Coroner.

Supt. Walsh, Dungarvan, appeared for the authorities, and Mr. E. A. Ryan, solr., for Mr. Prendergast, the employer of the deceased.

Mr. Ml. Prendergast, Lauragh, deposed to indentifying the body of the deceased Michael McGrath. He had been in his employment. On Dec 15th he was carting stones until dinner hour and afterwards went to fodder cattle. He had a horse and cart. Witness next saw him about 3 o'clock near Mr. Wylie's on the side of the road. Patrick Wylie and another man were with him at the time. Witness spoke to him, but he appeared to be unconscious. He made inquiries as to what had occurred. He had the Priest and Doctor sent for immediately. Deceased, who was unmarried, was about 8 years in his employment. He had been a farmer previously and sold out his farm. He was working with a horse aged 16 or 17 years for the past 12 months. That animal was never known to run away.

Mr. James Maher, Ballintaylor, who is in the employment of Mr. Ryan, Lauragh, said on Friday, he was carting manure and saw the deceased pass down the road foddering cattle. Witness was speaking to him when returning. Deceased went on ahead of him on the road and witness went into a field. Witness heard the animal running down the road and ceased shouting and roaring in the cart and saying "wo" to the horse. Witness came back to the road and Patrick Wylie called him down and sent him for Mr. Prendergast. He saw the deceased lying on the road.

Patrick Wylie, Lauragh, deposed that on Dec. 15th, he was sitting in his house and saw a horse and cart dashing past on the road. There was no driver on the cart. He knew the horse to be Mr. Prendergast's. He ran out on the road and saw a man lying on the roadway about 25 yards away. He went to his assistance and recognised the man as Mr. McGrath. He was at the right side of the road lying face downwards. Witness turned him over. He was unconscious. He loosened his clothing and said an Act of Contrition in his car. He bathed his temples with water and called for help. A man came cycling down the road whom he did not know. He was speaking to deceased before the occurrence. Deceased was perfectly sober. Witness didn't know how the accident occurred or what frightened the horse. There was a slight trace of blood from the left eye.

Dr. Linchan, M.O., Kereen, deposed he saw deceased at 7.45 p.m. on the 15th inst. He was accompanied by Sergeant Lee, Cappagh, and Guard Jackson. There was a cut, half an inch long near the right eye and traces of blood on the right side of the face and a streak of blood in the right eyeball. He had a lacerated wound near the knuckle of the little finger of the left hand; 2 bruises with scratched surface in the inner side of the left thigh. In his opinion death was due to shock and cardiac failure following the injuries he received. The wheel did not pass over him and he did not appear to have been dragged.

A verdict was returned in accordance with the medical testimony.

The Jury passed a vote of sympathy with the relatives of the deceased with which the Coroner, Supt. Walsh and the solicitor associated themselves.

The funeral of the deceased Ml. McGrath, took place on Sunday last to Grange, Co. Tipperary, and was largely attended.

KILMATHOMAS AMATEUR DRAMATIC CLUB.

The above will produce "The Young Man From Rathmines" and "The Workhouse Ward," at the Hall, Kilmathomas, on the night of Saturday, January 6th. (Little Xmas), in aid of the Parochial Debt. The cream of Kilmac's own vocalists, instrumentalists and step-dancers (including specially trained classes from the local Convent School) will support the comedy card, so that the event bids fair to eclipse anything of the kind previously brought off in our dainty Deme. A "bumper house" is confidently anticipated.

WATERFORD CO. BOARD OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE.

The monthly meeting of the above was held in the Courthouse, Dungarvan, on Wednesday. Mr. D. Coghlan, and subsequently Mr. Ml. Curran, V.C., presided. The others present were Messrs. J. Kiersey, J. Butler, J. Donovan, D. Heskin, M. F. Walsh, Jas. Cosgrave, J. O'Regan, Wm. Stack, P. Caulfield.

KNOCKANORE DISPENSARY.

Mr. Heskin raised the question of the refusal of the Department to sanction the purchase of the house from Mrs. Mary Collins, as a dispensary, and said in view of the fact that the building of a labourer's cottage cost £300 to £350, he would ask the Board to ask the L.G.D. to reconsider their decision and allow the Board to purchase the premises. The building of a new dispensary would easily cost the Board and the ratepayers £400 or £700.

The Secretary read a letter from the owner of the house, pointing out that she was prepared to carry out all the necessary repairs.

Mr. Heskin said this house was a teacher's residence for a number of years, and should be good enough to act as a dispensary. There was no sanitary accommodation and Mrs. Collins is prepared to put this in. He, therefore, proposed that they ask the Department to reconsider their decision.

Mr. Walsh seconded the proposition which was passed.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

The monthly financial statement showed a credit balance of £3,081 15s. at the end of the month.

HOME ASSISTANCE.

The Secretary reported the amount of Home Assistance paid out during the month was £3,126 14s. 8d., for the preceding month the amount was £3,018 and for the corresponding period last year £2,699.

EXTRAS FOR XMAS.

Mr. Cosgrave proposed that an extra 2/- be given to recipients this week, as it was the usual procedure.

Replying to the Chairman, the Superintendent Assistance Officer said that last Christmas the extra 2/- came to £180.

DUNGARVAN DISPENSARY RESIDENCE.

Mr. Spreadborough, Engineer, reported on the repairs necessary to doors, windows, roof, etc., in the above, the probable cost of which is £28 10s. There is other work required such as internal renovation, the probable cost of which is £15 more or less.

Mr. Cosgrave—Leave it over to the new Board in June.

Secretary—It is being put off for a number of years.

Chairman—We would be doing a good thing in doing the £28 10s. job. It was agreed to direct Mr. Spreadborough to have the work involving £28 10s. carried out by direct labour.

TEMPORARY APPOINTMENT.

Dr. White, (Junn.) Cappoquin, was appointed temporary to the Ballymacarbery Dispensary District as from January 1st, pending the permanent appointment.

BUTTER FOR XMAS.

Arising out of the minutes of the Co. Hospital Committee, Waterford, in which a suggestion was made that butter be substituted for margarine during Xmas.

It was decided to grant butter as an extra.

NEW CO. HOSPITAL.

Arising out of the report of the Architects, Messrs. McDonald, Dixon, and Downes, in which they recommended the demolition of the present Union buildings and the erection of the New Co. Hospital thereon. The Committee recommended that the old building be allowed stand and a site be acquired for the new Hospital.

Mr. Donovan said that the suggestion of the Architects was monstrous. They suggested to knock down a building with accommodation for 240 and to build one for 70 people. Where would the rest of the people go to. The officials in Dublin wanted looking after. It would be the height of madness for any Board to carry out the Architects suggestion and demolish the present building. He would write to Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, and lay all the facts before him. They didn't want grandeur, but wanted a place to look after the poor, sick and infirm.

Mr. Kiersey agreed with what Mr. Donovan said.

Mr. Butler said that the new site should be adjacent to the present building in order to avoid dual control.

It was agreed to get offers for a site adjacent or within reasonable distance of the present buildings.

DUNGARVAN HOSPITAL.

The following report was read from the Dungarvan County Home and District Hospital Committee:—

"We, the Dungarvan County Home and District Hospital Committee approve of the Architects suggestion to build a New District Hospital on a new site within reasonable distance from the County Home and the erection of a proper Infirmary attached to the County Home."

In support of this recommendation, we wish to point out that this arrangement would provide additional accommodation in the County Home by utilising the existing District Hospital building; this however would be inadequate without the addition of an Infirmary to supply suitable accommodation for the medical and bed-ridden cases in the present County Home, which is hopelessly overcrowded and on various occasions admission to same had to be actually refused to deserving people.

The report was approved, and it was decided to send a copy to the L.G.D. and the Architects, also to invite tenders for sites adjacent.

A similar order was made with regard to the Lismore Hospital.

TURF.

A letter was read from the Minister Local Government and Public Health, stating that a grant has been made available by the Government for the purpose of providing turf for necessitous households in certain large Urban Areas. The amount provisionally allocated from the grant for the supply of turf in the Waterford County Borough is £874, and it is suggested that the services of the local Assistance Officer be employed for the purpose of the Scheme, I am, therefore, to request the authority of your Board to utilise the services of that official in accordance with the Minister's suggestion.

The Board made an order stating that they had no objection to the Assistance Officer giving any assistance in the Turf Scheme, which he is willing to give, which will not interfere with the duties of his office. They cannot give him any instructions, as the work required of him is obviously outside the scope of his duties as an official of the Board.

APPLICATION FOR INCREASE.

Michael Power, attached at District Hospital, applied for an increase of salary from £200 per week.

The matter was ordered to be put on the agenda for next meeting.

APPOINTMENT OF AMBULANCE DRIVER.

Arising out of the request of the Board at the previous meeting that the Department be asked to reconsider their decision with regard to the appointment of Mr. B. Keane, as ambulance driver at the Co. Home and District Hospital, Dungarvan, the Ministry wrote stating that the Board must comply with the provisions of the Department with regard to age. The Board should now take steps to have a new appointment in this matter.

The Board decided to re-advertise the position.

NEWTOWN F.F. CUMANN.

At the second annual general meeting of the Newtown Cumann, Fianna Fail, the following officers and committee were elected for the coming year:—Chairman—Mr. Edmond Drohan; Hon. Treasurers—Messrs. James Wall and Patrick Lonergan; Hon. Secretary—Mr. William Lenihan; committee—Messrs. James Lenihan, Wm. Wall, Jas. O'Brien, John Morrissey, Edward Veale, Rd. Norris and Patrick Mooney.

The Secretary reported that the Club had a total membership of 46 members. Resolutions were passed Congratulating President de Valera on winning the South Down election and pledging whole-hearted support to him on his fight in the economic war; Calling upon the Executive Council to release all political prisoners before Christmas Day; Calling upon the Minister of Industry and Commerce to re-open the Kilmacthomas Woolen Mills, which has been closed for many years; Pledging support to the "Irish Press"; Congratulating Mr. Little, T.D., Parliamentary Secretary to the President, on the honour recently conferred on him by the Pope; Calling upon the Minister for Lands and Fisheries to have the Croughan and Comeragh Mountains acquired under the re-afforestation scheme.

A KILL ITEM.

On last Sunday night a most successful dance was brought off at the local Hall, under the auspices of the Kill Social Club. Upwards of ninety couples patronised the function, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the entire attendance, the music and supper being voted unbeatable.

LISMORE DISTRICT COURT.

WEST WATERFORD HUNT BALL.

(Before Mr. L. A. Conroy, Deputy D.J.)

Mr. T. C. Williams, solr., Dungarvan, applied on behalf of Mr. Joseph V. Conway, "Morrissey's Hotel," Cappoquin, for an occasional licence for the West Waterford Hunt Ball, to be held in Dromana House, on Wednesday night, January 17th, and for which Mr. Conway has been appointed caterer.

The Justice—For what hours do you require the licence?

Mr. Williams—From 10 p.m. on the night of January 17th to 5 a.m. on the morning of the 18th.

Supt. Quinlan, Lismore, stated that there was no objection, the application was granted.

Civil Bills.

A large number of default Civil Bills were heard at the suit of Messrs. W. & G. Hadden, Dungarvan, against defendants in Cappagh, Cappoquin, Villierstown and other places for shop debts varying from £4 to £14, all of which were undefended, and decrees, with costs, were granted in all cases.

Mr. T. C. Williams, solr., Dungarvan, appeared for the plaintiffs.

Mrs. Bridget Moore, Merchant, Main street, Lismore, sued Bridget Byrne, for £17s. 10d. and Hannah O'Brien, for £14s. due for shop goods, and decrees for the full amounts with costs, were granted in both cases.

Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, appeared for the plaintiff.

Ejectment Case.

The Lismore Estates Co., Lismore, sought an ejectment order against Michael Feeney, in respect of shop premises held by him in Main street, Lismore.

Mr. E. Carroll, solr., Fermoy, who appeared for the Estates Co., said the defendant held the premises at a quarterly rent of £5, and he owed the sum of £26 10s. 0d. up to October 1st, 1933.

Defendant, however, had promised to give up possession of the premises on December 31st, 1933.

Evidence of the amount due having been given by Mr. Henchcliffe, Clerk in the Estates office, Lismore Castle, the Justice gave a decree for possession, not to issue until January 1st, 1934, so as to enable the defendant to vacate the premises, as promised, before that date.

Claim For Trespass.

John Gleeson, farmer, Knockalara, Cappoquin, brought a Civil Bill for £10 against John Corbett, a neighbouring farmer, for the alleged trespass of defendant's cattle, and loss and damage to plaintiff's heifer and field of mangolds to the extent claimed.

John Corbett had a counter-claim against John Gleeson for damage alleged to have been caused to a thoroughbred colt, his property, by a mare of Gleeson's which trespassed on Corbett's land.

Mr. Wm. R. Hodnett, solr., Youghal, (for Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solicitor, Dungarvan) appeared for Gleeson, and Corbett was represented by Mr. A. R. Farrell, solr., Dungarvan.

John Gleeson, stated that on March 1st, he found five head of cattle belonging to Corbett trespassing on his land, and as he was driving them back they attacked a 3½-years-old heifer of his, which was in calf, as a result of which she had a dead calf later which he estimated as a loss of £5 to him.

On October, 15th., he found three head of cattle belonging to Corbett in his field where he had turnips, mangolds and kale planted and they damaged his crops to the extent of 30/- by eating and "scoping" out a large quantity of his mangolds.

Cross-examined by Mr. Farrell, solr., Gleeson said that a quantity of his hay was burned last July, but he did not blame Corbett for that, and it was not since then that he and Corbett had become bad friends.

In the course of further cross-examination, he admitted that he had recently brought cases against two of his neighbours, Mrs. McGrath and Miss Barron, and said he would have more of them up at the next Cappoquin District Court. He denied being unpopular in the district at present, or having many enemies there.

Mrs. Gleeson, wife of the plaintiff, gave corroborative evidence about the injury to their heifer in March, and also the damage to their mangold crop in October.

Emphasising the loss caused by the injury to the heifer, she told the Justice "She was a lovely heifer, your Worship, and her father was sold for £60 at the Dublin Show." (laughter).

Asked by Mr. Farrell, solr., in cross-examination, what would she say if he produced a witness who would prove that she and her husband were seen actually driving Corbett's cattle from his field into their own mangold field on Sunday morning, October, 15, she replied that such a statement would be "perjury and calumny," if sworn by anyone.

When later questioned about the damage caused by their mare to Corbett's thoroughbred colt, she replied: "It wasn't a gelding at all, but a yearling filly, and she couldn't be a thoroughbred, as you'd want to have the father and mother thoroughbreds in order to have the foal a thoroughbred." (loud laughter).

John Purcell, farm labourer, examined by Mr. Hodnett, said he was employed by Jack Gleeson, pulling mangolds this year and he found a number of them "scoped" and injured, as if they had been eaten by cattle.

Steady Castle and its Tragedy.

The commotions of the seventeenth century were favourable to the gangs of outlaws who infested the rural districts, to which they were a pest and a terror, robbing and murdering by night, and taking shelter by day in bogs, or among rocks, or in mountain recesses. The part of the county of Waterford of which I write (the parish of Modeligo, in the barony of Decies Without Drum) was frequented by a band of robbers, whose captain was a desperado called in Irish "Uathine" (pronounced Oo-ah-nee), which being translatable into "Green" I shall term him by that name, for the convenience of such readers as are not gifted with the Irish tongue. This man had long and greedily desired the plunder of Sledy Castle; but all his plans for effecting an entrance were defeated by the caution of the widow, who, quite alive to the dangers of the times, kept garrison with an unrelaxing vigilance. The gate was always locked, and the keys in the lady's possession; the moat was always full, and the drawbridge never lowered without strict precaution; no ingress or egress permitted to any person whatever after nightfall; and when it happened that the matron Chateleine was absent, a near relation, in whom she could confide, was appointed commandant for the time. To attempt swimming the moat would induce the double risk of being drowned, or espied and shot by the sentinel; but even were it effected, it would have proved useless, as the height and narrowness of the castle windows precluded escape. But Green was not to be diverted from his purpose by difficulties; he knew that the pillage of Sledy would amply repay time spent and pains lavished, and he determined to await his opportunity.

At this period he had established his headquarters at a "Lis" (a circular flat green mound, surrounded by an earthen grass grown ditch) on the borders of a stream, and lying four miles distance from Sledy. Experience had proved to him that he had little chance of succeeding in his design upon the widow's stronghold, without the aid of domestic treachery. The servants generally were faithful, being followers or fosterers of the family. There was, however, amongst them a kitchen-maid, on whom he hoped to work through the means of love and vanity—two dangerous sentiments for a weak female head, and a base female heart. The scullion was just the fit idol for a villain, being the meanest and least cultivated person in the household, and the farthest removed from comprehending anything of loyalty or honour. Green had among his band a man, who acted as his lieutenant—a remarkably handsome young man; him the outlaw tutored to throw himself in the way of the kitchen maid, as she went and returned from Mass, and to profess himself her lover. They met thus, young Green and the scullion, on Sundays and holidays; and the fine words and fine person of the pretended suitor gained so much on the wretched woman, that she entered into all his views, and promised to watch the first favourable opportunity for his stealing into the Castle, and make it known to him by a preconcerted signal. In consequence of this agreement, Green, the elder, moved his band nearer to Sledy, for their night quarters, establishing them about a mile from the Castle, at a huge rock, called in Irish "Carrig na Chodha" (pronounced Carrig na Hullah) i.e., Rock of the Sleep, and popularly termed in English, "the Sleepy Rock," which is a corruption of "the Sleeping Rock,"—a name given to the place by the peasantry, from the circumstance of Green taking his repose there, while his sentiments were on the watch for the promised signal from the castle. The Sleepy Rock is the chief of a group of stratified conglomerate rocks, laid bare near the summit of a hill called Eagle Hill. These rocks lie on the side of the ancient road between Clonmel and Dungarvan, and present numerous shelves and recesses, shaded by superincumbent masses, and partially clothed with tufts of heath and fern, grass and wild flowers. It is about a mile from Sledy. Upwards of three miles from the rock is a kind of pass, called the "Dhu Clea (Dubhdh Cloidh)," i.e., the Dark Fence, which seems to have been a kind of fortified road between two woods; from thence Green's "Lis" is a mile distant.

Among the wild crags of the Sleepy Rock, the outlaws made their midnight lair beside their watch-fire. The whole district was then densely wooded, and frequented by the wolf and wild cat, the fox, badger, hedgehog, and weasel, the eagle, raven, hawk, and kite, and occasionally visited by wild geese and ducks, cranes, and sea-gulls. All of these, except the wolf and wild cat, are still denizens or visitors of the locality. The night scene at the Sleepy Rock must have been one well suited to a pencil such as Salvator Rosa's; the dark thick woods—the savage crags—the still more savage figures grouped amongst them, round their fire, with their wild glib of hair hanging over their faces, their pointed barrad caps, their straight "trouse," and rude brogues, and long frieze coats, with skirts divided into four—the pistols and skein (dagger-knife) in the girdle; and over all the ample frieze cloak, of which Spencer speaks so angrily—"The Irish mantle, a fit house for an outlaw, a meet bed for a rebel, an apt cloak for a thief . . .

The outlaw being, for his many crimes and villainies, banished from the towns and houses of honest men, and wandering in waste places far from danger of law, maketh his mantle his house, and under it covereth himself from the wrath of heaven from the offence of the earth, and from the sight of men. When it raineth, it is his pent-house—when it bloweth, it is his tent—when it freezeth, it is his tabernacle." Wrapped in such serviceable mantles, the banditti at the Sleepy Rock reposed round their fire, while the watchful sentinel kept watch for the long-expected signal from their ally in the castle.

Leaving these worthies, we shall return to the fair sisters of Sledy. They had become acquainted at Clonmel with three English officers, whose names and whose rank tradition has not preserved, though one of them is said to have been a member of a noble family. The acquaintance between these officers and the young ladies soon ripened into mutual and warm attachment, which promised to terminate happily in the union of the three couples; for, upon the suitors laying their pretensions before the mother of the fair maidens they were favourably received, and encouraged to hope for the hands of their lady-loves. From this we may naturally infer that those military men were themselves persons of some consequence and property; for though daughters might be won by the gay trappings, and the masculine beauty and accomplishments of suitors, whose "all of wealth was love," parents (especially the parents of heiresses) are seldom so romantically inclined.

It was now the summer of the year 1644—a year unhappily memorable for the great rebellion in the month of October. Margaret, the eldest of the sisters, could not have been more than twenty, Catherine eighteen or nineteen, and "Marie milis"—the sweet Mary—about seventeen. The three officers received an invitation from the widow to become her guests at Sledy Castle, and consequently they obtained leave of absence for a few days. It may well be imagined that on the day appointed for their arrival, the happy sisters, "the loving, lovely, and beloved," left from time to time their now desolate bower, and tripped deftly up the stone stairs to the turret top—

"Looking afar if yet their lovers' steeds Kept pace with their expectancy, and flew."—Byron

At length the expected visitors came in sight, gallantly mounted, and in military apparel, for it is but in modern times that British officers have affected to be ashamed of their distinctive garb, and escape from it into "muffin" on all occasions, as if striving to conceal their position in their country's service, like something disreputable. Whether this arises from an idea of "bon ton," or from a decay of chivalrous feelings, it is but a sorry compliment to the service, and is one of the peculiar phases of John Bullism. It not being yet the fashion in the seventeenth century for English officers to disguise themselves as civilians, the guests from Clonmel appeared in their military dress—the heavy and encumbering portions of it, the culiots and vambraes, were laid aside, but the breast-piece gleamed beneath the stout buff coat, with its deep cuffs and collar, and silver buttons; the casque shone upon the head; the broad scarf crossed the figure from shoulder to hip; the trusty belt sustained the heavy sword; the gorget protected the throat, and the iron-fingered gauntlet the hand and wrist; and the high horseman's boot, with the spur on heel, encased the leg.

After each officer, rode his servant, with his master's cloak-bag and valise, or small travelling mail. The horses' hoofs clattered merrily along the road; the welcome guests galloping onwards, soon reached the drawbridge, that was lowered in an evil hour for them, and alighted from their panting steeds that were never to bear them more.

I leave to imagination the joyous meeting—the courtesy of the stately matron, as she did the honors of her dwelling—the pleased, but fluttered, greeting of the blushing girls, and the glow of satisfaction in the bosoms of the lovers at their reception in the home of the beloved; it seemed as though Certainty were giving a pledge for Happiness to Hope.

While thus "All went merry as a marriage bell" in the state apartments, there was no lack of rude revelry and hospitality in the servants' hall. The domestics of Sledy were sedulous to offer civility to the officers' servants, and, according to their ideas, the most proper way to welcome the strangers was to treat them to whiskey at a public-house in the vicinity of the castle. For though good cheer in plenty had been ordered for the attendants of the visitors, still the Sledy servants considered "that" was the property of their mistress, and hospitality required they should do something from themselves. On this festive occasion, the vigilance of the widow had relaxed, and she entrusted the keys to another hand; perhaps she thought the addition of six men, trained to arms, formed so strong a reinforcement to her garrison, that she need fear nothing during their stay. A faintly-remembered tradition states that Pierce McGrath (the inheritor of the entailed estates after the death of the minor, Donell), who was present

YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Mr. L. A. Conroy, D.J.)

A young man named Robert Walsh, was charged with obtaining goods and money to the amount of £3 3s. 0d. by false pretences, and Miss Minnie Cashman, was charged with receiving a quantity of cement from him.

Supt. Donnelly, prosecuted, and Mr. J. N. R. Macnamara, solr., appeared for Miss Cashman.

Evidence was given by several witnesses to the effect that the accused ordered goods in the name of Mrs. Maher, for whom he had been working, and that he had converted the goods to his own use. It was also stated that he had got monies from Mrs. Maher for the purchase of others but that he hadn't paid for the goods.

In the case against Miss Cashman, it was stated that she had got quantities of cement from accused belonging to Mrs. Maher. Some of the cement had been returned later.

Accused said he didn't mean to do anything wrong. Mrs. Maher owed him £5 for extra work done by him.

Mrs. Maher recalled stated that she didn't owe Walsh anything.

Replying to the Justice, Sergeant O'Beirne, said there was nothing against accused before.

The Justice said he didn't like to send him to jail for the first time, but he couldn't tolerate the people being played upon in such a way.

Accused was sentenced to two months hard labour, not to be enforced if he paid up the amount involved within two months. He was also bound to the peace in the sum of £10.

Miss Cashman, was dealt with under the P.O.A.

AND WHY NOT? Rev. Dr. Primrose: "Do you always remember St. Patrick's Day?"

Mrs. O'Flaherty: "Faith, an' Oi do sor. That's the day me husband allus comes home wid his head bruck."

at this fateful visit, was the person to whom the matron confided her keys. The Sledy servants took a private opportunity of petitioning him to permit them a short absence to "treat" their new acquaintances, engaging that the kitchen-maid would carefully attend to the drawbridge during their temporary evasion.

Pierce McGrath suffered himself to be too easily persuaded; he unlocked the gates without the knowledge of the lady. The servants cautiously lowered the drawbridge, and, under cover of the night, stole out to the neighbouring public-house, leaving behind them only the perfidious kitchen-maid, who, with an affection of good nature, had volunteered to watch the still lowered bridge till their return. But scarcely had they departed, when she hurried up to the top of the flanking tower that adjoins the kitchen, and there displayed a light in the manner preconcerted between her and young Green. The light was but too speedily described by the sentinel at the Sleepy Rock, and Green the elder, alarmed and collected his men, and, favoured by the darkness, they set out silently for the betrayed castle.

ALLEGED PUBLIC MISCHIEF.

ARREST AT KILL.

SEQUEL TO HOLD-UP STORY.

Patrick Bolton, farm labourer, of Knockane, Kill, Kilmacthomas, was arrested by detectives in charge of Inspector Harle, at Kill, on Sunday night.

His arrest is a sequel to a recent allegation by Bolton that he had been held up by masked and armed men on the public road near Kill. Bolton complained to the Garda authorities at Kill that he had been beaten by the men after they had asked him if he were attached to the Blueshirt organisation, and that shots had been fired over his head and the affair, at the time, was being investigated by the Guards.

It will be recalled that in the Senate a couple of days ago, during the debate on the suppression of the Blueshirt organisation, Mr. Milroy called attention to, among other matters, the alleged hold-up at Kill. The Senator was informed in the House by Mr. Rutledge, Minister for Justice, that the story told by Bolton was a fabrication.

Following his arrest, Bolton was brought before a special Court at Kill, presided over by Mr. Molloy, P.C., and charged at the suit of Inspector Harle, with having caused a public mischief.

After evidence of arrest had been given he was remanded to the Kilmacthomas District Court.

The charge against Bolton is:— "That on December 10th, 1933 at Kill, Co. Waterford, he did by means of certain false statements, to wit, that on the 9th December, 1933, four men, whose descriptions he then gave, had while armed with revolvers, held him up on the public road, threatened to shoot him and assaulted him caused the officers of the Garda, maintained at the public expense for the public benefit, to devote their time and services to the investigation of false allegations, thereby temporarily depriving the public of the services of the said officers and rendering the citizens of Saorstát Eireann liable to suspicion, accusation and arrest and, in so doing, did unlawfully effect a public mischief."

ONE FOR PAT. An Englishman was accosted thus: "What will you take to stand all night on the dome of St. Paul's?"

"A beef-steak and a pint of beer," was the frank reply.

The next one accosted was a Scotsman: "Says Sandie: 'What will ye give?'"

Lastly came along Patrick, and when he was asked what he would take to stand all night on the dome of St. Paul's, he willingly answered: "Sure, an' I'd be apt to take a bad cowlid."

FORCIBLE ANYHOW. Mrs. O'Hoolihan: "This paper sez there'd be sermons in stoness. Phwat d'ye think av thot?"

O'Hoolihan: "Oi dunno about the sermons, but many a good argument has coom out av brick, Oi'm thinkin'."

COURT.

(Before Mr. L. A. Conroy).

NO LIGHTS.

Guard Kehoe, charged James Mills, Churchquarter, with cycling without a light.

Having given no excuse and there being no appearance, he was fined 2/6.

The same complainant charged John Fenton, Kilkalf, with a similar offence.

Defendant said he had a lamp, but
it went wrong.

The case was dismissed with a caution.

Guard Mulooly, Killeenagh, charged Thomas Kelly, Ballyphilip, with a like offence.

Defendant said he had a lamp, but
it quenched.

The Justice said he would let the defendant off with a caution this time.

In a like charge by the same complainant, against James Treacy, Ballyphilip, there was neither excuse
nor appearance, and he was fined 2/6.

Occasional Licenses.

Michael Prendergast, West street, Tallow, applied for an occasional license for the 26th and 27th Dec.

The Justice—What is on that day?

Applicant—Tallow Coursing Meeting, Sir.

Supt. Quinlan said there was no objection and the application was granted.

Mr. T. K. Keane, solr., Youghal, applied on behalf of Mrs. Elizabeth Keane, Mitchelstown, for an occasional license for the Palace Hotel, Fermoy, on New Year's Night.

The Justice—What are hours?

Mr. Keane—10 p.m. to 5 a.m.

Supt. Quinlan said he had received word from the Supt. at Fermoy that there was no objection.

The application was granted.

Larcenies.

Daniel Flynn, Janville, was charged with the larceny of doors, etc.,
value 12/-, the property of the Irish Land Commission, from Ballyhamlet House, Tallow.

Supt. Quinlan, prosecuted; and Mr.
E. Carroll, solr., Fermoy, defended.

Patrick E. Walsh, an official of the Land Commission, stated that that house had been taken over by the Land Commission on 28 June, 1930.

He had taken over charge of it on 19 June, 1933. He observed that the house had been pretty well wrecked and a good deal of property missing—doors mainly. On Sept. 21 last, he engaged a caretaker, named Hartigan
to protect what had been left.

Sergt. Grey, Tallow, stated that as the result of a complaint regarding larcenies of different articles of property from Ballyhamlet House, he made investigations. He visited Flynn's place at Janville and he admitted taking the doors, etc. In a statement he said he lived a mile from the house. Twelve months ago he bought three lots of firewood. He had no permission to take the door, but he took it because everybody was taking things at the time. Last April or May, he had cattle on the lands of Ballyhamlet and seeing two doors in the kitchen, he took them away.

Witness said that the accused showed him the doors and shutters and said he would keep them till they were required.

Cross-examined by Mr. Carroll—Witness said he couldn't say that they were of any value. They were ordinary doors of plain timber and two shutters. He knew nothing against the accused. He was a respectable type of man.

Mr. Carroll said the defendant had admitted at once taking the things.
There was never anything against him previously, it was his first lapse.
The place was apparently derelict and seeing others taking things he yielded to the temptation.

Replying to the Court, the Supt.
said there were no expenses.

The Justice said in the circumstances he would give accused the benefit of the First Offenders' Act, binding him to the peace in the sum of £20
and two sureties of £10 each.

There was a similar charge against James Dunne, Dunmoon, farmer, the value of the property taken being 2/-.

Mr. E. Carroll, solr., defended.

John Hartigan, Ballymore, labourer, stated he had been appointed caretaker of Ballyhamlet House last Sept.
Soon after, he missed some boards, windows and doors. He saw the articles produced, but he couldn't identify them.

Sergt. Grey, stated he searched the accused's place on Nov. 15 and in a field 150 yards from the house he found two half-window frames. Accused said he didn't know how they came there. Witness brought him to the barracks, where he charged him.
He made no statement.

Cross-examined by Mr. Carroll—
Witness said it was 8 o'clock at night
and dark when he made the search.
Guard Sheehan was with him. It was he found the things. They were not found near the "Mass Path".
From information received he had a suspicion that they were in a particular part of the field. There was nothing against the man before.

Mr. Carroll said their case was an absolute denial of any knowledge of how the things came on their lands.
But they did say that some person in the locality with an animus against accused put the window frames there and then made a complaint to the Guards. His cross-examination bore out that suspicion. The prosecution couldn't prove that the defendant at

General O'Duffy Arrested. at Westport.

EXCITING SCENES.

ARRESTED: RESCUED:
REARRESTED.

General O'Duffy was arrested, rescued, and re-arrested at Westport, Co. Mayo, on Sunday, after a series of thrilling incidents, including a long journey across country and a struggle with a police superintendent.

The General was billed to address
a meeting in the Square and large crowds had assembled to greet him.

There was great police activity in the town during the morning, hundreds of guards arriving in motor buses from Ballina, Claremorris, Castlebar, and all the surrounding towns.

Two lorry loads of military, were also stationed near the barracks.

Cordons were drawn across all approaches to the Square, and as several young men wearing berets, and
with overcoats tightly buttoned up, approached the meeting place they were stopped by Guards, and made to open their coats, with the object of seeing if they wore blue shirts.

A strong cordon of Guards was also drawn around the platform.

The General was to have been received at Sheehane Hill, some miles outside the town, by a number of horsemen, and was to have led a procession to the meeting.

At Sheehane Hill Gen. O'Duffy was met by a cordon of Guards and a large number of supporters.

He wore a Blue Shirt under his coat, and was immediately approached by the Police Officer in charge and told that he would not be allowed to address a meeting whilst wearing the Blue Shirt.

The General's supporters gathered round the car whilst he was protesting to the police officer, and then a concerted rush was made into a field
close by General O'Duffy and about ten of his supporters.

They set off across the fields in the direction of Westport, followed by the Civic Guards, and an exciting chase followed.

The pursued party, however,
adopted the tactics of breaking up into twos and threes, and eventually evaded the Guards.

In the meantime a large crowd had gathered in the Square in Westport.

A party approached carrying the blue flag of United Ireland and after some parley with the Guards were allowed to pass.

Mr. Fitzgerald-Kenny, T.D., ex-
Minister for Justice, and Mr. Nally, T.D., mounted the platform amidst cheers.

There were some scuffles in the crowd, but these were of short duration.

Further excitement was caused when 60 horsemen, their horses carrying blue rosettes rode into the Square and formed a cordon round
the meeting.

A large crowd of men had arrived and were held up by the Civic Guards.

A large section of the crowd rushed down the street, and General O'Duffy, still wearing his Blue Shirt under his coat, was the centre of the commotion.

The Civic Guards made a determined effort to prevent General O'Duffy from going any closer to the platform, and seizing him by the arms, sought to hold him at the end of the street.

The large crowd which now filled the 50 yards of the street between the cordon and the platform rendered the efforts of the Guards useless, and the General was borne along on a tide of cheering humanity up the street towards the platform.

Supt. Murray, Westport, and Supt.
Flynn, Castlebar, walked on either side of him, holding his arms, and when the Square was reached a further effort was made to stop his progress.

The Civic Guards formed around him and tried to move him towards the barracks, but the crowd got around him and took him bodily from their custody, raising him shoulder-high and carrying him to the platform, cheering enthusiastically the while.

The cordon of Guards around the platform made a further attempt to stop him, but he was lifted over their heads.

GEN. O'DUFFY SPEAKS—
Gen. O'Duffy reached the front of the platform, and, out of breath from any time took anything from Bally-hamlet. The only thing was that the articles were found on his lands. But they could have been placed there by anybody.

The accused gave evidence corroborating Mr. Carroll's statement and was cross-examined at length by the Superintendent.

After a lengthened hearing,
The Justice said there was a doubt in the case and he would give the accused the benefit of it.

The case was then dismissed.

An order was made for the return
of all the property found.

Matricide Charge.
Patrick Dalton, Lyrattin, Ballinamull, farmer, was brought up in custody, charged with the murder of his mother.

On the application of Superintendent Quinlan, the accused was remanded in custody to a special Court at Midleton (Co. Cork), on Thursday.

the struggle, exclaimed—
"You know what I would say to you if I had a chance, but I am tired after a long walk, and I have just been arrested by two of your county representatives, Conor Maguire and Paddy Rutledge, and I hope that when next they come before you—
This was as far as he got, for Superintendents Flynn and Murray with nine Guards, who had struggled on to the platform again, took hold of him, and said that he was under arrest.

Gen. O'Duffy protested hotly, and pandemonium broke loose.

The crowd on the platform surged around him and more people climbed on.

The hold of the police officers on
Gen. O'Duffy was broken.

There was danger of the platform
collapsing at this period.

The Civic Guards again seized the General, somewhat more forcibly this time, and he shouted:

"You have assaulted me. You will be charged with assault."

A Garda sergeant tried to pull him off the platform, and Gen. O'Duffy said "How dare you speak to me. Let the superintendent speak to me. You are a shame to the country."

Supt. Murray then caught him by the shoulders, but the General shook him off.

Gen. O'Duffy then appealed to the crowd for quietness, and said he was willing to go with the Guards.

Linked by Supts. Murray and Flynn, he was taken to the barracks, followed by a large crowd, shouting
"Up O'Duffy, and down with the Spaniard."

A large force of Guards kept the crowd from following him into the barracks, before which stood the military tenders.

Mr. Fitzgerald-Kenny was afterwards allowed to see him, and he said that the General had suffered no ill effects from his strenuous day.

Meanwhile, the meeting in the Square was still in progress, and the town was seething with excitement.

Some interrupters were roughly handled, and had to receive police protection.

One man was chased by about 30
people, who were shouting "Kill him, kill him," down the street past the Garda station.

He was roughly handled before being rescued by the Guards.

Mr. Fitzgerald-Kenny, addressing the crowd in the Square, said that the Executive Council had exceeded their powers in banning the blue shirts.
That could only be done by the Oireachtas.

He appealed to the crowd not to blame the Civic Guards for what had happened as they were only doing their duty.

Comdt. Kilcoyne, then began to address the meeting and opened his overcoat displaying a blue shirt. He was immediately approached by police officers and taken to the barracks.

Another man, Mr. John O'Sullivan, Cork, also tried to address the meeting in a blue shirt, and was arrested.

Important Notice.

Charge of Public Mischief

We wish to call the attention of our customers and the general public to the fact that we have erected a Walworth Patent Kiln at considerable expense to treat the native Grain which it is incumbent on us to mix with Maize.

Owing to this increased percentage to secure good sound Meal, the Kiln-drying of the home-grown Grain is in our opinion absolutely necessary. We therefore, guarantee that the quota of native Grain used by this Firm in the Admixture will be Kiln-dried. This combined with the stone grinding at our Water-power Mill at Killadangan, should secure a first-class article.

We shall supply Maize Meal with the stipulated Admixture of either OATS or BARLEY. In the case of BARLEY being used a slight increase in price will be required.

As the percentage of admixture of Home-Grown Grain fixed on July, 24th at 25 per cent, has been further increased to 33 1-3 per cent, to come into force on October 9th, the KILN DRYING of native grain is still more necessary. Combined with KILN DRYING all native grain we have been dehulling the Oats since the increase of July 24th last.

Finally, we find the percentage of moisture in the new crop much in excess of that in last season's Crop.

ALLEGED HOLD-UP AT KILL.

ACCUSED RETURNED FOR TRIAL.

At the KilmacThomas Court on Wednesday, Patrick Bolton, a labourer, aged 24 years, in the employment of Thomas Mooney, Knockane, Kill, was returned for trial on the charge of creating public mischief. The charge was a sequel to an alleged hold-up at Kill on December 9th, in respect of which Bolton complained to the Guards the following day. On December 11th, the accused made a statement to Inspector Harle, at Kill, but refused to sign it, and admitted he had been telling lies.

Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solr., prosecuted.

In his statement Bolton said:—

"The four men had revolvers in their hands. One of the men asked me was I joined the Blue Shirts and I said no. The man who was questioning me then pressed a revolver against my heart. He then asked me would I surrender to join the Red Army. He also said that if I wouldn't he would shoot me. I was going away home then. One of the men on the road said to fire after me and riddle me. When I heard the man say 'riddle him' I returned back to where the men were. I was crying. I said, 'Shoot me if you wish, shoot me fair and straight in front of my face, and don't shoot me from behind my back.'"

In reply to the Justice, Bolton stated that he did not think the matter was so serious, and when he realised how serious it was and could not give a proper description of the men who held him up, he denied it altogether.

Inspector Harle stated in evidence that he interviewed the defendant and went with him to the scene of the alleged hold-up, where Bolton pointed out part of the high fence, where he alleged the four armed men had been lying in wait for him.

"I examined the place," continued the Inspector, "and found that the furze was slashed and broken as if beaten by a stick, but it had not been crushed, while some weeds underneath were quite undisturbed. I drew Bolton's attention to this, and he said: 'Well, there are their footprints, pointing to marks on the edge of the road.' I told him I was not satisfied with his story, and he became indignant, and declared that he was telling the truth anyway. I then brought him to Kill station, and occupied three and a half hours taking a statement from him. At the close of the statement I explained to Bolton that it would be a serious matter if he signed it and any portion of it were not true. He asked me to explain the law to him a little further, and I told him that I was only looking for the truth, and if it were not true he should not sign it. Bolton then said: 'I won't sign it; it's all lies.'"

Witness added that the accused then made a second statement in which he admitted that he had not been held up, and that his first story was all lies. He further stated that he had been out late and was afraid he would lose his job. When he told the Mooney's about the hold-up, they made him report it to the Guards. "Forgive me; I am sorry," the statement concluded.

BLOW TO CATTLE TRADE. BRITISH CUT IMPORTS.

In the House of Commons on Wednesday, it was announced that the British have decided to prohibit from January 1st, 1934 the importation from the Irish Free State of Beef and Veal, and Beef and Veal offals, and regulating from that date the importation from the Free State of fat cattle, store cattle over 6 months, dry cows and bulls for slaughter. Fat cattle will be reduced to 50 per cent. of the numbers imported last year and store cattle by 12 1/2 per cent. That means a further big reduction in the already miserable price for live stock.

DUNGARVAN FAIR.

There was a good supply of cattle on offer at the December fair, but prices were very poor and big numbers went home unsold. Weanlings made £2 to £3, 1 1/2-year-olds £4 to £5 10s., 2 1/2-year-olds £5 10s. to £7 and 3-year-olds £7 10s. to £9. Good Springers £9 to £13. Fat cows 12/- up; old cows 5/- to 10/- each. NEW HOSPITAL FOR DUNGARVAN.

The Board of Assistance having approved of the report of the Dungarvan County Home and District Hospital Committee, to have a New District Hospital erected in Dungarvan, convenient to the County Home, and to have an infirmary attached to the Co. Home, steps are to be taken at once to get on with the work.

A New Hospital is badly wanted here. As the centre of the County a Hospital fully equipped in the most up-to-date manner is an absolute necessity if we are to cater for the medical and surgical needs of the people in a thorough manner. Further more accommodation is needed at the Co. Home to cater properly for the big numbers who have to utilise it. Now is the time to solve these difficulties, and that can be done by the erection of a New Hospital standing on its own grounds, leaving all the existing buildings of the District Hospital and Co. Home available for the sick poor and the needy.

Cappoquin Point-to-Point Races.

A SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR.

The three nights' Bazaar held in the Boathouse Hall, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights last week in aid of the funds of the Cappoquin Point-to-Point Races proved a wonderful success.

Owing to the depression in the country, and the consequent scarcity of money everywhere, the members of the Race Committee felt that it would be extremely difficult to raise the necessary funds through the ordinary means for the Point-to-Point Races to be held on February, 22nd and it was out of the fertile brain of Mr. M. J. Sargent, one of the Hon. Secs., that the idea was evolved of holding a Bazaar in aid of the funds, and the results attained out of this novel experiment in Cappoquin have proved satisfactorily and have put the Committee on a sound financial basis for February's important fixture.

The attendance on the first two nights was extremely large, although mainly confined to the local people, but on Thursday night there was a record attendance when numbers of the members of the West Waterford and other Hunts were present, including Sir Ernest Goff, Bart., Waterford, the well-known cross-country rider, and many sporting gentlemen from Dungarvan, Tallow, Aghish and other districts.

The prizes offered each night were almost of sensational value, having regard to the modest price of the tickets, and included such valuable items as a beautiful Sofa, kindly presented by Mrs. Villiers Stuart; fat sheep, sides of bacon, hams, legs of mutton, half-tons of coal, loads of firewood, braces of pheasants, turkeys, geese, bottles of whiskey and Port Wine, 10/- notes, bicycles, gramophones and a splendid selection of valuable breakfast, dinner and tea Sets and many other prizes of a most useful and acceptable nature.

The various games and amusements such as Roulette, Spinning Wheels, Shooting Gallery, Push Halfpenny, Billiards, etc., proved a great attraction and were all very generously patronised each night, and the entire event provided one of the most enjoyable rounds of amusement seen in Cappoquin for many years.

The organising and running of a big enterprise like this was no easy task, but Messrs. M. J. Sargent and P. Walsh, Hon. Secs., Mr. Lincoln, Treasurer, and all the other members of the Committee had made such careful and elaborate arrangements, and worked so indefatigably during the three nights, that everything was run off without the slightest hitch.

Mrs. Villiers Stuart, Dromana, was the heroine of the whole show, as she took charge of the principal Spinning Wheel each night, and by her tireless energy and her courteous and charming personality, added materially to the general success of the Bazaar.

Other tireless workers were the Misses Freda and Dianna Keane, Bellevue Park, while amongst the gentlemen workers the laurels must be bestowed on Messrs. M. J. Sargent, P. Walsh, Jas. Lincoln, Ion Villiers Stuart, R. L. Keane, T. E. Ebrill, B.A.; J. McCarthy, B.A.; J. V. Conway, P. Cahill, R. J. Collender, M. F. Walsh, P. Keating, R. Bell, Aidan Walsh, John Regan, J. E. Crowe, J. Lacey, Michl., Paddy and Joe Mason, Jas. Ahearne, Tinter, David Kiely, Ballynoe, etc., while Mr. "Moss" Whelan, Cappoquin, was in charge of the musical department and kept the crowds entertained with a selection of music.

The Bazaar on the whole, both from an enjoyable and financial point of view, proved a record success, and the members of the Committee wish to thank all the generous donors of the various costly and beautiful prizes and in a particular manner the people of Cappoquin and other districts for the liberal and sporting manner in which they so loyally supported it during the three nights. After the close of the Bazaar on Thursday night an enjoyable Ciderella Dance was held as an appropriate wind-up to the proceedings. Splendid music was rendered by the popular "Wild Rose" Orchestra, and a most delightful time was spent by all.

A Monster Whist Drive will be held early in January, and at a later date a grand all-night dance in aid of the same worthy object, full details of which will appear in due course.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL.

Present—Messrs. J. R. Smyth, P.G. Chairman; Capt. P. Dunne, Messrs. D. J. Lynch, P. J. McMahon, P.C., D. Deanehy, W. J. Broderick, T.D., T. Beausang, T. Murphy, E. F. Lynch, Vice-Chairman; M. J. Fleming, T. Harrington, J. Whelan, P. J. O'Gorman, P.C.; Mrs S. Hurley, P.C.; E. Clancy, J. Kennedy, A. J. Fowkes.

Relief Work. At the suggestion of the Clerk, the Council took up the question of the work under the Relief Grant of £300. Mr. Beausang said they should spend the whole amount for Christmas.

Clerk.—The Council must remember that the matter is subject to the sanction of the Department. The Chairman said he believed they had 400 unemployed at present in the town.

Mr. McMahon suggested that they start with 100 men. The Clerk said they could absorb that number for a week, which would mean £150.

Mr. Harrington proposed that they do so. The Clerk then read a list of 100 names submitted by the Manager of the local Labour Exchange.

Mrs. Hurley and Messrs. Harrington, McMahon and Lynch, made strong protests to the effect that there were many names of unemployed omitted, which should be on the list.

The Chairman said they had to take the names as submitted by the Labour Exchange.

Several members said they had the names of men, whom they considered should be included in the list. Capt. Dunne proposed, that they put on 300 before Christmas.

Mr. McMahon—You can't do that. A discussion lasting over an hour took place, during which several suggestions and propositions were put forward.

Mr. Fleming said if the Archangel came down to deal with the matter, he couldn't please everybody (laughter).

It was finally decided to get an additional list of names from the Labour Exchange, to employ 150 men to start with, and to hold a special meeting to decide on those to be employed.

Salmon Yawls. A resolution was received from the local Branch Lifeboat Institution, asking the Council and the Harbour Board to request the Board of Trade, or the Fishery Department to hold an early inquiry as to the equipment of Salmon Yawls employed in Youghal Bay, and Harbour, with a view to the enforcement of life-saving appliances as necessary fittings, to inquire into the necessity for such compulsory provision and the most suitable methods thereof, having regard to the exigencies of fishing. That it was believed the loss of valuable lives might be lessened by comparatively simple precautions, such as the fitting of life-lines or grips, to the boats—and that such an order might issue if found advisable, as a result of the proposed inquiry.

After some discussion, it was decided to get the opinion of the fishermen and boat-owners as to the best means of dealing with the question.

Acknowledgment. The following letter was read and ordered to be inserted on the minutes, on the proposition of Mr. Beausang:—

Presbytery, Carmunock Street, Glasgow, 10/12/33.

Dear Mr. Walsh,—Allow me to thank you and my friends on the Urban Council for your resolution of congratulation to me on my appointment to King's Park Parish. Your kindly sentiments and those of your Council, are I know, the external expressions of "the hearts that don't forget." Your kindly interest and sincere expression of good will, will always be esteemed by me.

Again, Mr. Walsh, I ask you to accept my deep and heartfelt thanks personally and as an official of the Council. Sincerely and gratefully yours, CORNELIUS DENNEHY.

Superintendent Dennehy. The following letter was read:— Oifig an Chóimisinéara, Baile Atha Caiath, 12/12/33.

Transfer of Superintendent Dennehy. A Chara,—I am directed by the Commissioner to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 7th inst., with enclosed copy of resolution of your Council regarding the transfer of Superintendent Dennehy. The Commissioner regrets that he can't accede to the request of the Council in this case as the cancellation of this transfer would necessitate interference with others and would cause a good deal of inconvenience to the officers concerned. The Superintendent is being transferred to a very good station and will be replaced in Middleton by a very good officer.

The Commissioner is very glad to have this tribute from your Council to Superintendent Dennehy, and he directs me to thank you and through you the members of the Council for bringing the matter under notice and for the kindly interest you take in the Garda Síochána.—Mise le meas—P. Walsh, Coimisinéir, Conganta.

Resolutions From Tullamore. Resolutions were received from Tullamore Urban Council (4) urging upon the Government the necessity of amending legislation to ensure a State

The President in Kerry.

OUTRAGES CONDEMNED.

Speaking at a big demonstration at Tralee on Sunday, President de Valera said, the people of Kerry were wholeheartedly behind the Government in its efforts to secure for Ireland its rights, and he knew that they supported the Government in the steps it might have to take to maintain the discipline which was absolutely necessary to victory.

The Kerry people realised the responsibility with which the Government was charged in everything that might be necessary to maintain the unity and discipline essential for their life as a community, and essential if they were to win.

He had a long and painful list of things that had happened there within the last few months. It was disappointing to find such a list, because such a thing encouraged the enemies of the Irish people and gave them an opportunity to misrepresent the country as a whole as well as the people of Kerry.

The only names he could honestly give to the items in that list were outrages and crimes, and he had come there to ask the people of Kerry to help the Government to end them once and for all.

In the first place, the Government authority had been attacked. That Government had been freely elected by the majority of the people, and owed no allegiance to anybody except the Irish people.

Its authority was being attacked on two sides, but the Government was determined to protect and enforce that authority against anybody. The police, the guardians of order, had been attacked. It was the duty of each and every individual citizen to help the police in carrying out what was not always an easy task.

Homes had been fired into. There had been several cases of that recently, and it was a miracle that nobody had been killed. He was sure that those responsible for such things could be counted on the fingers of two hands, and that they would be shown that they would not be allowed to act with impunity.

Citizens had been assaulted. Everybody had a right to be allowed to go about their business without interference, and nobody had a right to assault anybody.

If a citizen acted illegally there was a way to bring him to justice. They wanted ordered society, and if they had not that there was no future for the nation.

Property, proceeded the President, had been wilfully destroyed, and anybody who interfered with or destroyed another's property committed a crime, and those who committed crimes would have to be punished as a deterrent to others.

Organised groups had taken it upon themselves to decide without any legal or moral right whatever how much liberty their fellow-citizens might enjoy.

"We are," Mr. de Valera said "going to have either a democracy here under which we are going to have a Government elected by the people whose duty it is to govern in the interests of the people, or we are going to have a dictatorship of one kind or another here, in which the faction who can get the strongest support and who will have the most weapons at its disposal will be on top."

Which was it going to be? Were the people going to surrender their right to decide at the ballot-box what policy was best in the country's interests, and what Government should rule?

If they had not ordered conditions under a democracy, then they would drift inevitably first to anarchy, one section fighting another; then, per haps, chaos for a time, until one faction was strong enough to impose its will on the others.

That was the future, that was the alternative. Because he knew that the Irish people understood justice and fair play, he hoped that democracy would have no trouble in triumphing.

They had got no easy task as a Government. At the moment, their nation

Contribution of 66 2/3 per cent. of the Annual Loan Charges on all Housing Schemes for the working Classes, irrespective of whether such were for the re-housing of those at present living in the slum areas or not; (2) calling on the Government to introduce legislation to extend the period of repayment of Housing Loans advanced between 1922 and 1931, so as to enable a reduction to be made in the rents of houses erected under such schemes to a figure which in existing economic circumstances it would be in the capacity of the tenants to pay.

Both resolutions were adopted unanimously.

Workers' Wages. A letter was read from the Secretary of the local Transport Workers, objecting to the wage—30/- weekly—fixed in connection with the relief work.

The Chairman said the Council were doing the best they could for the good of all.

Mr. McMahon said that question had been already decided. The more wages they gave, the less the number of men to be employed.

The question of the Christmas holidays was raised by Mr. O'Gorman, who said the merchants were looking to them for guidance.

It was unanimously decided to open on the Wednesday after Christmas.

was being pressed by one of the biggest nations in the world, being pressed in an endeavour to make this country yield to their unjust demands. "We are not going to yield," said President de Valera, "and in order to maintain ourselves against that pressure we must organise ourselves, and to do that peace is necessary."

"If our industries are going to be built up, if we want to borrow money to build them up, we want peace and order."

"There is no use in trying to make a hero out of anybody who disturbs that order. We must face business now. We cannot have it both ways." They would like it possible, to do without prisons and courts, said the President, but unfortunately society was not able so far to get along without them.

The President referred to the meeting held in Tralee during the week, at which reference was made to prison conditions at Arbour Hill, and to the calling of a strike of workers. If prisons were necessary as deterrents, they could not, he said, be run on the lines of convalescent homes.

He had been sufficiently long in prison himself to know what prison conditions were.

Mr. John J. Sheehy, had stated at the meeting referred to that Arbour Hill out-Dartmoored Dartmoor. He (the President) had been imprisoned in Dartmoor and Arbour Hill. He knew the conditions in both.

In Arbour Hill they had a clean prison, as comfortable a one as any in which he had ever been.

The facts were that prisoners in Arbour Hill were not in solitary confinement. They were allowed to be together, and if prisoners did not avail of the conditions, the Government could not help them.

They were allowed to associate for five hours each day for exercise, including games and classes. When he and Austin Stack were in Arbour Hill they did not grumble about the conditions. They accepted them because they had been beaten in a certain fight.

There was a silence rule in operation then in that prison which did not operate now. These prisoners were not in a detention camp as if they were prisoners of war. They were prisoners, and it was necessary to maintain discipline in prisons. A comfortable temperature was maintained always in the section of the prison where prisoners were confined and prisoners could obtain books from the prison library and purchase through the Governor tobacco, cigarettes, and other articles from outside.

They believed that was the minimum hardship that could be inflicted on wrongdoers if a laughing-stock were not to be made of them.

They were asked why had not the Tralee prisoners been tried by the ordinary courts. Mr. de Valera referred to the measures which had been adopted to prevent civil courts from functioning effectively, and said the Government must have recourse in such cases to courts where intimidation would not work.

If he thought that the Government could not maintain order he would give way to those who could.

Was it going to be said that a Republican Government could not govern?

"We believe," said the President "that we have 99 per cent. of Republicans behind us here. We believe that with very few exceptions all the right-minded people of the country are with us."

"We have kept our pledges to the people. We mean to keep them, and we expect the people to support the Government they have elected."

The President read a report of recent occurrences in Tralee, where, he said, General O'Duffy was injured, his motor car burned, and the Guards attacked. Claims for damages amounting to almost £1,000 which the people of Tralee would have to pay, had been lodged in respect of those occurrences.

If that sort of thing were allowed to continue they would have pandemonium in this country in a very short time.

There were people who were very anxious to take advantage of disorder here to build up another type of organisation which would deprive the people ultimately of their liberty.

Those people could not be allowed to do that, and the Government would use all the forces at its command to see that order was kept. For that they wanted the support of the plain people.

Mr. de Valera asked the people of Kerry to see to it that order was maintained in that county. The Government had neither spite nor hatred against those in prison, but the prisoners had brought themselves to prison solely by their own actions.

He believed that the people would wholeheartedly support their Government and help it to carry out its programme.

INTERESTING GRAZING CASE.

After a long hearing at Carrick-on-Suir District Court, Mr. McCabe, adjourned for production of the conditions of sale, the case in which Mrs. Hannah Hickey, sued Daniel Kearney, for £5 damage caused to land taken by defendant from plaintiff for grazing.

The grounds of claim were that defendant meadowed part of the land contrary to agreement. Defendant said there was nothing in letting of land to prevent him from meadowing. He put a lot of manure on the land.

BLACKWATER FISHERIES.

At the monthly meeting of the Lismore or No. 4 Board of Blackwater Fishery Conservators, there attended: Mr. R. G. Annesley, moved to the Chair; Capt. H. Holroyd Smyth, Messrs. J. Kent, E. E. Hey, R. Meagher, W. Baldwin, M. O'Neill, T. Stafford.

Messrs. T. Drohan, Clerk and Inspector and W. Buckley, Assistant Inspector, were also in attendance.

Late Mr. A. Carroll, Solicitor. The Chairman referred to the death of the late Mr. A. Carroll, solicitor, who had been for many years legal adviser to the Board. He believed it would be their wish to have a vote of condolence passed to the bereaved widow and relatives, and he therefore, proposed that their Clerk convey an expression of their feelings in the matter.

Mr. Baldwin, seconded. Mr. Meagher asked to be associated with the proposition. Mr. Kent said they all desired to be associated with it.

Appointment of Officials. The following circular from the Department was read:—

A Chara.—I am directed by the Minister for Lands and Fisheries to state that he has had under consideration for some time past the machinery under which the Fishery Laws are carried out through officers employed by the various Boards of Conservators.

His attention has been drawn to several instances in which persons are appointed by Boards whose fitness for their posts is rendered doubtful owing to their being connected with fisheries which are carried on for profit in their area. The effect of making such appointments on the mind of the sporting anglers and general public is bad, as it tends to throw a doubt on the absolute impartiality in enforcing fishery laws.

The Minister attaches great importance to securing the co-operation of all classes in the protection of our National fisheries, and he fears this co-operation may not be readily forthcoming while there is reasonable doubt as to the manner in which the protection laws are being administered.

He had, therefore, decided that any future appointment of Clerk, Inspector, or Bailiff, proposed by the Board will not receive his approval unless he has been satisfied that the person proposed to be appointed is not connected by family ties or financial interests with, or is in the relation of employee of persons in the fishery district, who engage in any form of salmon or trout fishing for financial gain other than fishing with rod or line, or who own fishery rights on which angling only is carried on.

This decision also applies to persons holding licences to deal in salmon.

I am, therefore, to request that when submitting for the Minister's approval the names of persons proposed for appointment as Clerk, Inspector, or Bailiff, the Board will in future certify that the parties comply with the foregoing requirements—Mise le meas—L. C. Moriarty.

The Chairman—I believe we comply with the Department's requirements.

The Clerk said there were occasional exceptions.

The Chairman said they should comply with it completely. It was a very sound letter.

The Clerk said the Assistant Inspector and himself had sometimes to take on men not nominated by themselves. He was always in favour of getting strangers who would be entirely independent in the discharge of their duties.

The Chairman said he was sure they all agreed with the terms of the letter.

Mr. Kent—A man can't serve two masters.

The Chairman said they would have to comply with it absolutely if they wanted to preserve the river.

Mr. Baldwin said to comply with the letter in its entirety would cause hardships and unemployment in some cases. They would have to get in foreigners to carry on a home industry.

The Chairman—Who do you mean by foreigners?

Mr. Baldwin—Men outside altogether.

The Chairman—French or German? No man in the country is a foreigner.

After some further discussion, the Chairman said the letter conveyed the Department's instructions to the Board and they would have to act accordingly for the future.

In reply to a member, the Clerk said he had not yet received any reply from the Department on the question of the rate estimate, or the retaining of all the fry for the river.

Lismore Hatchery. The following letter was read:—

Estate Office, Lismore Castle, 6/12/33.

Dear Sir,—I beg to thank you for your kind offer to supply the Lismore Hatchery with some of your surplus ova to make up for our deficiency. During this last week-end there was a heavy run of spawning salmon, during which we obtained a further 154. This will now enable us to fill the Lismore Hatchery—Yours faithfully—E. E. HEY.

The Chairman—That is very satisfactory.

The Temporary Staff.

The Clerk said it was usual at that period to dispense with the temporary staff, but owing to the fact that a big lot of fish were impounded at Castletownroche and elsewhere by the lowness of the water, he thought it would be advisable to keep some of them on till the fish got a chance of getting away clear. If they discharged the men now it would leave the stranded fish at the mercy of everybody.

Mr. Baldwin said they should preserve the spawning fish at all costs. The Chairman finally suggested that the matter be left in the hands of the Inspectors, and this was agreed to.

Mallow Hatchery. The Clerk reported that the Mallow Hatchery was packed out. They couldn't carry any more.

The Rates. The Chairman asked how they stood as regards the rates.

The Clerk said they were pretty good as compared with other years.

The Chairman said they were not behind last year in the rates. He couldn't understand how the tide-way people, who paid no rates should suggest that the farmers should be dunned with an extra rate and he hoped that the Fishery Commission would find some way of making the tide-way fishermen liable for a rate. They shouldn't try to dictate to the farmers what rate they should pay.

Mr. Baldwin—They are paying a rate of £10.

The Chairman—Do you call that a rate?

Mr. Baldwin said it was paid to the Lismore Estates Co.

Mr. Hey—We are paying out four to five times more than we receive.

The Chairman—They are not paying anything towards the preservation of the river.

Mr. Baldwin said between rent, license and gear, every boat in the tide-way cost £60. He agreed that 10/- in the £ was enough.

Mr. Meagher said it was very unfair on the part of the tide-way people to dictate to them what rates they should pay. Owners in their district had their valuations increased 75 to 100 per cent, and they were assessed on that. They tried to let their fisheries, but couldn't do so. Farmers would be only too pleased to pay their rates if they could let their fisheries.

The Chairman said Mr. Baldwin referred to the £10 paid by the net fishermen, but they would not pay it unless they thought they would get their money's worth. The farmers' only chance was to let their fisheries.

The Clerk said that the tide-way men up to Youghal Bridge paid £10 a year rent, and above the Bridge £7. In addition they paid the Conservators Licence £3, and had to fit a boat and gear. Also there were some heavy ratepayers in the tide-way.

Mr. Stafford—All the fisheries could be left if we had the same Government as before.

Mr. Kent—Never mind the Government.

Mr. Stafford—We are here to thresh out these things. I paid my rate as long as I received money for my fishing.

After further discussion, the subject dropped.

Finances. Replying to the Chairman,

The Clerk said that after paying that day's cheques, they would have a credit balance of £237—a lot better than last year.

The Chairman said that on January 1st last they had only £23 to their credit.

GAELIC ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

NATIONAL HURLING LEAGUE.

INTER-COUNTY MATCH AT LISMORE.

On Sunday afternoon an important Junior Hurling match was played in the Gaelic Field, Lismore, when teams representing South Tipperary and West Waterford met in their tie in the National Hurling League Competition.

The day held dry, but was dark and hazy, and the final stages of the game were played in very defective light.

There was a very fine attendance of spectators present, and despite the wet and sodden condition of the pitch they were treated to a splendid exhibition of hurling on both sides, although play was inclined to be on the rough side on a few occasions, but the referee, by firmness and tact, succeeded in keeping the players well in hand.

South Tipperary had considerably the best of the play in the earlier stages, and established a substantial lead, but towards the close the West Waterford representatives showed up to much better advantage, and a great match resulted in a win for the visitors on the final score:—

SOUTH TIPPERARY 3-3
WEST WATERFORD 2-0

Mr. Pax Whelan, Secretary, Waterford Co. Board, proved a most efficient and impartial referee.

Prior to the League match, the Minor Hurling Final for West Waterford was billed to take place between Dungarvan and Lismore, but Lismore were unable to field their full team, and at first decided to give Dungarvan a "walk-over."

In order not to disappoint the spectators, however, they eventually decided to field a "scratch" team, and although the latter put up a plucky fight, they were no match for the better-trained and more scientific Dungarvan players, who emerged easy winners on the score:—

DUNGARVAN 8-2
LISMORE 2-0

Mr. J. Lyons, Dungarvan, refereed this match.

Treatment of Grass Land.

MANURING AND GENERAL MANAGEMENT.

Ten or fifteen years ago it would have been much easier to write dogmatically about the "proper" manuring of grass land than it is to-day, when a vast amount of experimental work is still in progress. It is too early yet to attempt a synthesis of all this work, and only certain general statements can safely be made.

Undoubtedly in the past the application of the single name, "grass," to the almost innumerable associations of the various plant species found on grass land, has been a big impediment to progress; fortunately, it is now recognised, not as a single crop but as a large number of different crops, each representing the result of years of competition for light, food, and air between the many plants originating from the seeds, sown and unsown. In the communities of plants brought together by accident or design there will be found instances of mutual toleration or even affinity, and also of competition or incompatibility. Ultimately there results in old pasture a fairly stable state of balance between species, a balance determined by the average effects of many local influences, including the prevailing management.

If a fresh influence or factor be brought to bear on one of these plant associations the balance will, of course, be upset, sometimes to an extraordinary degree. In some instances a quite revolutionary change for the better can be brought about by introducing mechanical cultivation and manuring, and it has been shown that quite different types of grass land can be produced from the same "seeds" mixture simply by exercising control of the grazing. Older and more familiar examples are the use of basic slag (or other phosphates) clover; the former alters the balance by changing the food supply; the latter first alters the competition between the plant species and then other important factors.

Since very different influences may bring about great changes, the farmer who is not satisfied with a particular piece of grass must view its improvement as a special problem to be solved; no solution is applicable to all cases.

(a) If the soil is waterlogged it must first be drained.
(b) If the land is in a district where notable results have followed from liming, advice should be obtained on the desirability of applying lime. Over much of the country lime is probably not of much importance on grass land, but in some districts it is a leading factor in improvement.
(c) For a matted pasture drastic harrowing must be employed; many useful implements for this purpose have been designed in recent years. In some parts lime may help to dissipate the mat.
(d) If the species present are not satisfactory and previous attempts to improve the grass have failed, renovation with wild white clover and perennial ryegrass or other grasses should be considered. In some instances the drastic measure of ploughing and reseedling may be the quickest way to success.
(e) Invariably the management policy should be reviewed. One sound rule is to graze down closely once per year, if possible by mixed stocking, e.g., cattle, sheep, and horses together or in succession.
(f) Last, and probably least in importance, is the choice of manures. In the years when dung is not used, phosphates can be employed in the autumn or winter, and on many soils the phosphate should be combined with potash salts. The choice of phosphate can be between superphosphate, basic slag of high citric solution, and finely-ground mineral phosphate, the decision being determined by reliable local experience. Where potash also is advisable the standard grades of potassic superphosphate, potassic slag, and potassic mineral phosphate enable the farmer to apply both mineral elements without the trouble of mixing them himself.

FEEDING ROOTS TO DAIRY COWS

ALLOWANCES FOR ECONOMIC.

The recommendations which can be made regarding the feeding of roots depend entirely on local soil and climatic conditions. Where roots can be grown successfully and fit into the rotation, some provision should be made to include them in the ration of the dairy cows. On heavy wet land and elsewhere where roots cannot be produced satisfactorily arrangements must be made to do without them. In such cases silage is an excellent substitute, and beet pulp can also be used to advantage where other succulent feeds are scarce and not available.

There is a great variation in the amount of roots fed to cows, and, un-

DOG SHOWS FLOURISHING.

A HOBBY FOR WOMEN.

By "PHILOKON."

BIRMINGHAM brought an end to the important dog shows of the year in an appropriate manner. In common with most of the other important fixtures it recorded a substantial advance on last year, and exhibitors are looking forward to 1934 with every confidence. One has to admit that the outlook three years ago was not so hopeful, the condition of industry being reflected in the diminished support given to shows. Then confidence began to return, and in the past few months nothing but success has to be reported. Perhaps the most encouraging sign of all is the number of new exhibitors that are appearing. People are still economising to some extent by entering their dogs in fewer classes, but more dogs are being exhibited.

To those who do not understand the procedure at shows this may seem a contradiction in terms, so let me explain. The real test of the success of a show is in the number of dogs benched rather than in the entries. Under the system of classification in vogue it is possible to enter a dog in several classes, sometimes in as many as half-a-dozen or more. Exhibitors as a rule are no longer putting their dogs in all the classes for which they are eligible, as heretofore, but more dogs are being entered. We are probably getting a higher average of dogs per class than ever before, and this has the effect of making shows more interesting to visitors.

As far as one can see there have been no striking changes during the year in the relative popularity of the respective breeds. Cocker spaniels still contribute the biggest number of entries, though it does not follow that their class average is as good as a few others. Alsatians, which were dominant a few years ago, then had a setback, from which they are now recovering, and other favourites are fox terriers, especially the wires, Irish setters, Pekingeses, Scottish terriers, and chow chows. Most of the dogs are doing well, especially Labrador, golden retrievers and English springers, and the various terriers at ways form a strong section. Among the newer breeds Elkhoums, which owe a good deal to the support of Lady Irwin, are conspicuous.

Big dogs, as one would expect, were the worst sufferers from the war, but they are recovering satisfactorily, the most notable being Great Danes and borzios. The adhesion of the Marquess of Londonderry is helping to call attention to bull mastiffs, which were recognised as a distinct breed a few years ago. Their progenitors bulldogs, and mastiffs, which are again doing better, but, turning to the other side of the picture, one has to regret that the handsome collies are deplorably below their position at the beginning of the century.

Perhaps the most significant change to be noted since the resumption after the war is the extraordinary influx of women exhibitors who to-day far exceed the men. At every show they are in a considerable majority, and it has to be admitted that they are in every way as capable of breeding, rearing and exhibiting dogs.

This chat is issued by THE TAIL-WAGGERS' CLUB OF IRELAND, 23, Old Abbey Street (off Marlborough Street), Dublin, C.8. The Club will be pleased to answer any enquiries submitted by Tail-Wagger Owners in connection with canine hygiene and welfare.

KILROSSANTY F.F. CUMANN.

At the Annual general meeting of the above Cumann, the following officers and committee were appointed: Chairman—Mr. Michael Keating; Vice-Chairman—Mr. Sean Kirwan; Hon. Treasurers—Messrs. Pierce White, and Patrick Barry; Hon. Secretary—Mr. T. J. Power, P.C. Committee—Messrs. John Drohan, Martin Curran, Michael Brown, James Brown, Edmond Moroney, John Dalton, and James Donovan.

References were made to the large turf areas in the district, and a sub-committee was appointed to draw up schemes to be forwarded to the Government with a view to having the industry developed.

A suggestion was made that the new road stretching along the foot of the Comeragh mountains for several miles should be taken in hand and completed. It was mentioned that the road passes through large tracts of land suitable for tree-planting, and quite close to the parts where the turf peat can be got; and that, apart from its usefulness in these respects, it would be a valuable asset in the development of the tourist traffic.
