DUNGARVAN CIRCUIT COURT.

CLONEA STRAND.

INTERESTING CASE.

WHEN LAND BECAME VALUABLE.

On Wednesday, His Lordship, Mr. Justice Sealy, opened the Circuit

Court, for Dungarvan. In the Title Jurisdiction case of Mr. D. Crotty, Garage, Dungarvan, against Mr. James Fennessy, Merchant, Clonmel, which was for damages and an injunction to prevent defendant trespassing on his field at Clonea strand and the removal of a gate erected there and a chimney, the had removed the pipe. defence was that the plaintiff was not the owner of the plot in question. The case was adjourned from the land. last Court to allow the defence to be amended. Mr. Budds, B.L. (instructed by Mr. E. A. Ryan) for the plaintiff and Mr.

Esmonde, B.L., (instructed by Mr. O'Reilly) for defendant.
Mr. D. Crotty, said he was the owner of a plot at Clonea on lease for 99. years, which he bought from the late Mr. McGuire, Clonea Castle, who was anxious to have the place developed. In the near future witness intended to build some nice bungalows there. During the last few years he gave people sites for camping. Prior to 1931 he gave some people permission to camp there including the defendant. The next year witness charged a rent for the sites. The defendant then erected a house on the adjoining land Witness had a notice put up there-"Trespassers will be prosecuted: This is private property." Later he found a road made over the plot by John Flynn, and he was charging for cars going there, but witness stopped that. Defendant built a hut on Foley's the lease. Before the date of that land and a gate was erected in the lease this land was a commonage and boundary wall. The wall was there in 1913 and where the gate was erected portion of the wall was taken down. A chimney pipe which was overhanging his land had been re-

Cross-examined by Mr. Esmonde-In building the wall the defendant did not build it as wide as the old foundations. I didn't stop people going along the place, but I will now as I am going to build on it. I often told people it was my ground. Bathing does not go on in my land at all. part of this plot later. To further questions, witness said it would be possible to put gardens know men and money would make anything (laughter). Mr. Esmonde said on the map of 1841, the plot of Mr. Crotty's at Clonea did not exist at all, but did in the 1925 map. To Mr. Budd-Subsequent Ocean View Hotel being advertised very many came to Clonea. Prior to the war I don't think the Clonmel people knew where Clonea was at all. John J. Crotty, son of the plaintiff, gave evidence of huts being put up on the plots. By Mr. Esmonde-We put up notices that the place was private pro-

Mr. Ormonde, B.E., proved maps of the place. There was a bank of shingle in front of the plot and the boundary wall behind.

For the defence, Mr. Esmonde said they could build a wall so long as they did not encroach on the plaintiff's land and the defendant did not in his enjoyment of the sea.

Mr. M. Foley, B.E., Clonea, produced maps of the plot in question when going bathing in the summer.

To his Lordship—It was on the oc-casion of the Donkey Derby being run at Clonea and Flynn was out of employment a few of us decided to have a barrier put up and charge cars 1/-. A local man came along and said they had no right to put on a charge and tore down the barriers and spoiled the whole thing (laughter). Mr. Crotty, recalfed, said Mr. Mc-Guire showed him the plot of land he was taking. Witness described the bounds, which were the old wall and the beach. Mr. E. A. Ryan, solr., said he witnessed the deed. He could not swear the map was on it at the time. It was Mr. Williams, drew up the lease. The area outside the wall was 1 acre, 1 rood, 7 perches.

His Lordship asked if the public had any right to this place over which they wandered for 25 years? Mr. Esmonde said there was no evidence that Mr. McGuire was the owner of this land, except that he gave belonged to no one. His Lordship-This was all Me-

JUDGMENT.

His Lordship said that was a very interesting and important case for people in Dungarvan and surrounding districts as Clonea strand was becoming a very famous place for people from the neighbouring counties, who want to enjoy sea-bathing, pic-nics, etc. This traffic has arisen very largely in recent years and almost entirely in the case of Clonea owing to the advent of motor cars. In His Lordship—I think Mr. Crotty 1913, Mr. Crotty, bought this plot of would be a reasonable man to deal land on lease from Mr. McGuire for 99 years at £1 a year. As to Mr. Mc-Guire having no title to the place, no evidence was given beyond that he was a landed proprietor in the dis-Witness—He would walk into the trict. The plot now becomes valuable for building houses thereon-that was happening all round the coast and these plots which had no value are becoming very valuable now. This with the houses to be erected. You site at Clonea had become valuable and he could find no evidence to show him that the public had acquired any rights over it. That plot was no longer a commonage in anyawy. Mr. Fennessey, who bought a plot and built a hut on the adjoining land is not entitled to cross Mr. Crotty's plot and if he wants to cross over it he must pay Crotty for a licence or a right. He held the wall was a boundary wall and the defendant was not entitled to have a gate on it and it should, be closed up. He gave a decree to the plaintiff for £1 and allowed £7 7s. expenses.

An Old Man's Money.

INTERESTING OLD PARISH CASE.

At the Dungarvan Circuit Court, on Wednesday before Mr. Justice Sealy. Mr. Ed. Foley, an old returned American, aged 91 years Loskeran, Old Parish, sued his nephew, Patk. Hickey, for £193 money which the defendant had from plaintiff.

Mr. E. A. Ryan, solr., for the plaintiff and Mr. Maguire, B.L., (instructed by Mr. Farrell) for defend-

Mr. Ryan said his client who was now 91 years of age went to America as a boy and returned home 30 years ago and lived at Loskeran, Old Parish. A few years ago he sold his farm for £110 and that sum with £70 which ity to sell it. I stayed with John Kirhe had in a crevice in the wall he gave to his nephew the defendant when he went to live with him. He meant defendant to keep the money until he would want it. He also had the Old Age Pension which the defendant drew for him and a penny cf which he didn't get. Sometime ago he left Hickey's and went to live at John Kirwan's, Loskeran and later took me away. I was foolish to send he resided at present.

Breach of Promise.

FARMER WHO CHANGED HIS MIND.

In the High Court, Dublin, on Wednesday, before Mr. Justice Sullivan_ an action for breach of promise of marriage was heard, in which the plaintiff was Miss Catherine Ryan, Nire Vale, Ballymacarbry, and the defendant—Mr. Michl. Nugent, farmer, Deerpark, Ballymacarbry. There was no defence to the action and the defendant was not represented. Mr. K. Moore, B.L., (instructed by Mr. H. Shannon, solr.,) appeared for the plaintiff.

The plaintiff, said Mr. Kingsmill Moore, was now forty years old and was employed as a housekeeper at Ballymacarbery. She had known the defendant for sixteen or seventeen years, and on Easter Sunday of 1929 the courtship began, and was "clinchcontinued to be apparently on the best of terms until December of last year, and then the defendant broke off the engagement on the rather feeble pretext that the plaintiff had been a bit late in meeting him. The plaintiff was late on that occasion because she parations on behalf of her employer, who was entertaining some members

The real reason for the breaking off of the engagement was that the defendant had contracted himself to a fairly wealthy neighbouring farmer's (laughter). I lived with Hickey for a daughter whom he married on the year and nine months. They looked after me and used me good until the only son of a farmer who was well fire that they would not leave him sit the defendant she would not accept

Plaintiff gave evidence bearing out her counsel's statement. The defendant, she said, was over thirty years old. The defendant and she used to walk out together every night, and about six months after she met him he said he would marry her, and she had to vow that she would not marry anybody else. He gave her an engagement ring, a gold wristlet watch

Speaking of the occasion on which she said her employer was entertaindence of how the plaintiff came to live ing members of the U.I.P., she said with him after he had sold his place that she was half-an-hour late in meetto Killigrew for £110. It was £30 was ing the defendant on that night. Defendant was very annoyed, and when £70. Plaintiff told me to keep it as she told him that she was getting he wanted no money. Witness took supper ready for the party he told pity on his uncle. "I wouldn't min'l her that she thought of nothing but what an old man would say as he those Blueshirts. He walked away I was knocking and never since came to see her. She down the house and I put a roof on wrote to him and apologised, but he two rooms of the house and I built did not reply. He had since married a 20 ft. boiler house. The whole lot another girl. Witness had had two offers of marriage while she was engaged, one from a man who was very well off and the other from a tradesman, but said she would not break off her engagement.

Mr. Justice Sullivan said that the defendant had acted very badly. The defendant, having become engaged to the plaintiff in December, 1929, and continued the engagement up to December, broke it off on what, to his mind, was an obvious pretext. If the defendant were a man of very large means he would assess damages at a very large amount against him, but the defendant did not appear to have independent means. At the same time he must give fairly substantial damages against him, and while a sum of £350 did not, in his opinion, fairly estimate the loss that the plaintiff had sustained by this breach of promise of marriage, it was a sum that he thought the defendant ought to be able to pay. Accordingly, he assessed damages at £350.

GRAND ENTERTAINMENT AT LEAMYBRIEN.

On Sunday night next at the Hall, Leamybrien, a Grand Entertainment will be given by the Abbeyside Dramatic Club,. A 3-Act Comedy will be staged which is a riot of laughs from start to finish. Waterford Anglers Association. A deputation from the above Association, appeared before the meeting. Mr. Kiersey introducing the deputation, said they were present regarding the fishing rights of the Carrigavantry Lake, which is supplying Tramore. As far as he understood this Association are prepared to stock the lake, but would require a lease for a number of years. I think it would be a very good thing to give them this lease. It was the policy of the late Government, and it is the policy of the present Government too, to do all in their power to improve the fishing industry. We should give them this right at a nominal rent.

Mr. Dobbyn, for the deputation, said the Association was in being for two years. Last year they put 20,000 ova and this year 15,000 into the Knockaderry lake, they would like to do the same with the Carrigavantry lake, and we think it would be greatly to the advantage of the Carrigavantry district if there was fishing there. It given the lease the Association would put 20,000 fry into it next year and keep it stocked with fresh ova every year from their own hatchery at Wa-

Mr. Fox—The Association should get all the help we can give them. Mr. Kiersey suggested a 15 years lease at the nominal rent of 2/6 a

Mr. Patrick Quinn, Cushcam, appeared before the meeting in connection with the cottage erected on his application at Cushcam.

The Secretary explained that the Board passed the cottage, but did so under a misapprehension, as they were led to believe by the application that Patrick Quinn, was a man with a large family, whereas the applicant and a maximum charge of £5. is unmarried

Mr. Curran-How many applicants have you for the cottage? Secretary-Four. There is a man named Barry, who has a large family, he is an applicant. The other applicants were Ned Flynn, Clonea, Sean owman, Burgery and Patk. Quinn.

GENERAL O'DUFFY'S VIEWS. COMING ELECTIONS.

Speaking at a great demonstration at Charleville on Sunday, General O'Duffy paid a warm tribute to Comdt. Cronin, and, proceeding, said more, by whistling and making other noises, contrary to the Rules governing the Library.

Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, appeared for the defendant.

Mr. Albert Mills, caretaker of the Library, having given evidence of the offence, Mr. O'Gorman made a strong plea for leniency, and on learning that defendant was earning only 10/- per week as a messenger in a local drapery shop, the Justice let him off with a fine of 2/6, and administered a severe caution as to his future confice, the more perplexing became their policy. It was only a few weeks ago since Mr. O'Kelly made the people of Phibsboro' shiver and tremble when he prophesied a bloody march on the Boundary. And last Sunday the Minister for Education, speaking at Rathmore, told the people that their way to a Republic against the hostile people of Ulster were suffering from the effects of something more the longer the Government remained from the effects of something more potent than light beer.

"Here we have two members of the Cabinet with diametrically opposite views on a major question of National policy," said Gen. O'Duffy. "The country is tired of this trifling. The people want to know where the Government stand as a Government."

Then they had Miss MacSwiney's speech in Cork, where she said that the Minister for Education was impertinent and guilty of treachery.

There was also a new Republican organisation, with such leaders as Michael Price, Peadar O'Donnell, and At Carrick-on-Suir District Court on Monday, Sergt. O'Sullivan had Jas. Henehy, summoned for using a van which was not insured and for same. The Communist Party of Ireland had given its blessing to the new movement. Peadar O'Donnell had written to the Press informing the Irish people that he would not recognise the Court, and while all these theatricals were going on. President de Valera was saying that he had united all the forces behind him.

Gen. O'Duffy named 18 leaders, and said no two of them agreed. and patriotism of their leaders, and who were misguided and led astray even to the extent of taking human threw the mine into the little home of Mrs. McGrory in Dundalk, when In the case by Sergt. 'We are establishing for ourselves. Our movement is endorsed by all that is decent and best in Irish life. Guard its good name jealously.'

Gen. O'Duffy said that in the "Irisa Press" he was reported to have said at Kinsale that "we must make life intolerable for those who will not yield to our demands." He described that as "one example of yellow journalism."

The previous week it had been hinted that he went over to John Bull On the proposition of Mr. Butler, anyone else connected with our new movement has collected any funds financial strain on our supporters has been very heavy, because of the poverty to which the Fianna Fail policy has brought our people, and it is our intention to appeal to the Irish race everywhere for financial support during the coming summer.

"Mr. de Valera told the Dail that I was then engaged in studying Fascism in Italy, and when I went away for a few days last Easter the "Irish Mary Winifred Clarke; £1,000 to the Press" and back benchers of Fianna Fail, said I was over looking for money from John Bull.

"The day after I left, the "Irish Press" reported that I had left mysteriously-though I travelled in the most open fashion with five others. On the day I came back I was approached by a reporter of the "Irish Press" to know where I had been. Although very courteous, I gave no information and the next day a disgraceful leading article was imposed on the public. The people knew that, should Fianna Fail win the Local Government elections, the Government would accept it as a mandate to continue in office and to continue the economic war and to continue coercion. They knew that if Fianna Fail should win, agriculture would reshould win, agriculture would receive its death blow, and with it agricultural workers, shopkeepers, and traders would be reduced to poverty; they knew that Fianna Fail credit was gone, that there would be no money for grants for road work, for building, for poor relief, for doles, that the local bodies would be nothing more than mere puppet assemblies to carry out the dictates of the Fianna Fail Gov-

President de Valera was losing ground every day. At Clare Agricultural Committee, when a resolution was proposed congratulating him on the steps he was taking to abolish the Seanad, there was no seconder, and the motion fell through.

Other resolutions of a similar nature were marked "read." The people of Clare were prepared to follow Mr. de Valera a long way-but the last straw breaks the horse's back.

Gen. O'Duffy said they hoped to test in the High Court the powers of the Co. Registrar to seize property in respect of annuities without obtaining a decree in the Courts.

Towards the conclusion of Gen. O'Duffy's speech there was some counter-cheering from a small knot of people gathered at a corner, but Thirty there was no incident.

Comdt. Cronin thanked the people for the reception they had given him, and said the huge gathering there that day was a protest against the tyranny and maladministration of the present "I sympathise," he added, "with those unfortunate young people who believed in the honesty and sincerity ganised them had little to their cre-

The only hope for the farmer of this country now was to get as quickly as possible into tillage. Once 70,000 acres in Co. Tiperary were under wheat, and there was no rea acreage again.

Farmers this year would be assured of a market for every barrel of millable wheat and of a fixed minimum price. They would know the price before they turned a sod. This would apply to oats and barley also. The Government were doing everything they could to bring to the farmers the aid of the community as a whole. During the past financial year the British had taken from the farmer by up that loss

Having dealt with the arrangements with regard to the funding of annuities, agricultural grants, etc., Mr. de Valera said it was not true to say the farmers are being left in the front line trenches, and that they are being deserted. "The nation," he said, "is standing well behind them and helping them with all its might."

If the farmers are suffering now, in the long run it is they who are going to have the greater benefit."

Pointing out that the Government polity was to cut up the big ranch farms, he said that there was no county in which there were a greater the rates are unpaid.

the Land Act had been operative, they had divided in the county between 4,000 and 5,000 acres, and by the end of the month there would be 6,000 acres divided. They had not a staff sufficiently large to deal with the whole country at the same rate at once, but they were going to tackle those counties which needed division most, and where most was to be gained by it, and they were going to work intensively in these areas.

Referring to the talk of a general election, the President said they were not going to bother with that, but would get on with the work for which they had been elected. They wanted to try to get here at home a market for the farmers to replace, to the extent to which it could, a market that could never exist for them again.

He spoke of the non-payment of rates. It was not the poor farmers who were refusing to pay. In Mayo, Leitrim, Donegal, and Cavan, 90 p.c. of the rates were paid. It was rich counties like Cork, Tipperary, Limerick, Waterford, and Kilkenny where they had arrears. And some of the people who refused to pay had good balances in the bank.

The people as a whole had given back benefits to the farmers to make the farmers the Cork, in her bereavement. when she was interred at a spot with-in the Monastery grounds little separated from where repose the remains of her Abbot brother.

At the removal of the remains on Sunday evening to the Abbey Church, students of the College acted as pallbearers, while the remainder of the students marched in a body behind the coffin. The Lord Abbot, Rt. Rev. Dom Celsus O'Connell, with the community choir, received the remains at the church and chanted a Requiem

On Monday the Lord Abbot presided at Requiem High Mass: Later his Lordship presided at the burial service, the entire Cistercian community of priests and brothers assembling in the outer church around the coffin, and, following the chanting of a service there, the priests and brothers formed a funeral procession, preceding the remains to the cemetery.

The students again carried the coffin. The interment service was sung by the choir and as in the Cistercian burial rite, the Lord Abbot placed the first shovelful of earth in the grave when the coffin had been lowered.

There were present a large number of the relatives and friends of the de-ceased lady. The chief mourners in-cluded: Mrs. T. F. Keohan, Cork, (niece): Mrs. and Miss Phelan, Dungarvan); Messrs. John Phelan, and Eddie Phelan do., T. Phelan, N.T., Ring, T. F. Keohan, Cork, and J. Kcohan, Dungarvan, (relatives).

Thursday, before Mr. Justice Sealy, Mr. J. A. Lynch, sued Mrs. Fitz-gerald, and her husband for possession of a house at Emmet street, Dun-

Mr. Maguire, B.L., (instructed by Mr. E. A. Ryan) for plaintiff and Mr. McEnery, B.L., (instructed by Mr. A. R. Farrell) defended.

Mr. Maguire explained that the plaintiff let this house to the late was an old lady to remain on as tenback. When the time came to deliver up possession Mrs. Walsh was unable Dungarvan April Fair was largely to do so as the defendants refused to leave, holding they were sub-tenants of Mrs. Walsh and were entitled to continue on.

Two years ago Mrs. Walsh engaged Mrs. Fitzgerald (then Nurse Galvin) RESULT OF THE ECONOMIC WAR. while at the same time it was alleged that she allowed Mrs. Fitzgerald the use of the house at the rent which her mother was paying to the owner.

After a lengthened hearing, His Lordship held that Mrs. Walsh as next-of-kin was tenant during the time her mother was incapacitated and created a sub-tenancy for Fitzgeralds, and dismissed the suit.

Action for Rates

Urban District Council v. Lynch. Mr. McEnery, B.L., (instructed by Mr. T. C. Williams, solr.,) for plaintiffs and Mr. Budds, B.L., (instructed by Mr. E. A. Ryan, solr.,) defended. This was an action brought by the Urban District Council against John Lynch, Ballyduff, in respect of rates due on a house at O'Connell street,

Dungarvan, amounting to £25 5s. 4d. Mr. McEnery said the amount of arrears due was £38 3s. 4d., made up as follows—1931-32 rate £12 16s., 1932-33 rate £12 13s. 4d., and the 1933-34 rate £12 12s. Plaintiffs were entitled to recover from an incoming tenant arrears of 2 years rates if the outgoing tenant defaulted

Michl. O'Meara, Rate Collector, gave evidence of the arrears due, the rate struck for the various years, and the notice of rates made. The defendant, the premises on 1st December, 1933. Before the defendant went into oc-cupation witness wrote to him setting out the amount of arrears due and pointing out that he would be liable. To his Lordship-There was no demand note served on Mr. Lynch.

To Mr. Budds-Witness wrote to Mr. Lynch before he went into occupation. He had not got a copy of the letter. The demand note was served on Nicholas Draper, but witness did who have not received forms of claim not levy off Draper, as he was no for abatement, should apply at once

Mr. Michl. Dee, Church street, de posed that his mother was the landlord of the house. Mr. Draper was tenant and carried on the business up to June 1932. Witness got the key of the house after ejectment proceedings in June 1933.

After lengthy legal arguments. His Lordship said he found Draper was the rated occupier in June 1932, and that the rate was properly struck. In his opinion there was nobody in occupation as tenant in June 1933 when the rate was struck, and he did not know really whether the Council could have struck a rate; at any rate, they struck a rate on Draper who had gone out of occupation a month be-

LISMORE BUTTER FACTORY

CLOSING DOWN.

As a result of the economic war be tween the Free State and England, and the consequent depression in trade, the old-established Butter Factory owned by Messrs. A. W. Paxman and Co., Lismore, is now definitely closing down.

Started about 45 years ago, this firm carried on a most extensive trade in the purchase of fresh butter, poultry, fowl and eggs, principally for export to the English markets, and at the height of its prosperity gave employ-ment to over 60 hands, all Lismore

In addition to this staff employed in the Factory proper, much employ ment was also provided for timberfellers and carters in conveying timber for the making of crates and boxes on the premises, but with the start of the tariff war two years ago the export trade to the English markets in all branches of business quickly declined, and Mr. Paxman, the popular Managing Director was reluctantly compelled to gradually reduce his staff in proportion to his diminishing business. Shortly before Christmas. 1932, he closed down the Factory for a few months, but in the hope that matters would improve he showed great pluck in re-opening it early in 1933 when close on 30 of the old hands were re-employed, which partially relieved the poverty and depression then prevailing in Lismore. After a year's working at a dead loss he has now found that it would be impossible to carry on any longer. and it is with the deepest regret that he has now decided to close down the premises and retire definitely from the business.

In an interview with our Cappoquin correspondent, Mr. Paxman showed great concern for the unhappy lot of the workers who would now be thrown out of employment through no fault of his, especially as there is little hope of alternative employment in Lismore, and expressed the hope that the present Government in its desire to foster industry and start new factories in the Free State, would come to the rescue of the unemployed and purchase the premises for a Creamery, or some other form of industry, as the Factory is equipped with the most expensive and up to-date plant, while there is a copious water supply near at hand, and the premises could be taken over as going concern as they stand at pre-

He is keeping on for the moment a "skeleton staff" of some seven or eight workers, under Mr. J. McBride, the courteous and efficient Manager, for the purpose of keeping the engine Sawmills and the other machinery in proper working order, and it is now felt that Mr. Sean Goulding, T.D. who is a Lismore man, and a staunch supporter of the present Government should use his undoubted influence provide them with employment ere it be too late.

Civic Guards on Licensed Premises.

INTERESTING CASE AT CARRICK-ON-SUIR.

At Carrick-on-Suir District Court on Monday, before Mr. McCabe, D.J. Supt. Colleran, summoned Guard Byrne, Templeoran, Co. Kilkenny, Guard Cullinane, Portlaw, Co. Waterford, and Guard Carroll, Piltown, Co. Kilkenny, for having been on the licensed premises of Mr. Lawlor, New Street, Carrick-on-Suir whilst on duty on the night of Sunday 11th February, at a dance in Carrick-on-

Sergt. O'Sullivan, Carrick-on-Suir, gave evidence of having detailed Guards for duty at the dance. There were Guards from outside stations ... D. Sullivan, found the three Guards and were joined there by members of the local organisation, the whole making a fine spectacular display.

Saturday evening she paid a short ber of bona-fide travellers in the bar and in the tap-room. There were two large bottles of stout, the glasses partly filled with stout on the table at which the three Guards were seated. He ordered the three Guards to leave ask themselves if the policy of Fine supporters of both sexes in the Court- the premises. When he questioned the publican, the latter stated he did not know the Guards were on duty, but knew they would be bona-fide travellers from his knowledge of where they had come from.

Mr. Quirke, solr., for the publican and for Guards Byrne and Cullinane, said there was no case to meet and no offence proved against his clients. The publican had no means of knowing the Guards were on duty. He was aware they were stationed from, 4 to 6 miles from Carrick-on-Suir and served them as bona-fide travellers.
Sergt. O'Sullivan said the men were in uniform and wore three grey coats. The publican might easily know the men would not be in Carrick-on-Suir from their stations at 12.30 a.m.

The Justice said he could not hold that wearing uniform and three gray coats would indicate the Guards were on duty. If he were the publican and knew the men to be bona-fide travel-lers from his previous acquaintance with their coming to the house, ne would serve them with the drink as travellers. He held that no offence was proved and dismissed the case

SYMPATHY.

At a meeting of the Show Committee held on Friday last, Mr. Arthur Hunt. President, occupied the chair. There were also present—Messrs. N. Morrissey, S. J. Power, N. Fitzgerald, J. A. Lynch, J. J. Crotty, Jas. Hayes, P. A. Walsh, P. B. Sheridan, T. Lynch, J. J. Morrissey, and J. Lynch, Sec.

Sympathy.
Mr. Hayes proposed:—"That we the Dungarvan Agricultural Show Committee, beg to tender the expression of our sincere sympathy to the relatives of the late Dr. M. F. Moloney, Dungarvan, Mr. Patk. Connors Curraheen, Kilrossanty and Mr. Thomas Crotty, Ballinakill, Kilbrien, in their recent bereavements." Mr. Fitzgerald, seconded the resolution. Chairman-I am very sorry the occasion has arisen for this resolution of sympathy. Every one knew of the great kindness of the late Dr. Moloney to the poor. Mr. Pat Connors, was a very old friend of mine and a great sportsman and excellent horseman. I also knew the late Mr. Thos. Crotty. He too, was a real good sportsman in every way.

The resolution was passed in silence All standing.

Statement Of Accounts. The Secretary submitted the statement of accounts and balance sheet of last year's Show, and after all payments had been made, there was a credit balance of £50 3s. 11d.

On the question of Judge's Expenses it was stated that four of the Judges gave their services free, and on the motion of Mr. Hayes, seconded by Mr. Crotty, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to them for their kind-

As to the financial position, the Chairman said it was wonderful that they had come out of last year's Show with such a substantial credit bal-

On the motion of Mr. Crotty, seconded by Mr. Sheridan, the statement of accounts and balance sheet were unanimously adopted.

This Year's Show Chairman-If you propose to hold a better foundation than last year. Is it your intention to go ahead with it ? Mr. Hayes-I think we should.

Mr. Power-If it goes down we can-not build it up again. Mr. Hayes-If you let it drop it is finished.

On the motion of Mr. Frayes, seconded by Mr. Power, it was agreed to hold the Show this year, and the date was fixed for Thursday, 19th July.

Officers, Re-elected. The officers of the Show Committee with Mr. A. Hunt, President, were unanimously re-elected.

Judges. High tributes were paid to the Judges at last year's fixture. It was held that three Judges would be sufficient for the Horse classes and it was unanimously agreed to invite Brig. General Hunt; Capt. Roche, Wexford and Mr. P. Quinlan, Fethard, and ask them to judge the horses again

For the cattle classes-Messrs. T. O'Sullivan, Cloughduv, and J. Lawler, Naas, were appointed.

The Committee then proceeded to draw up the Prize List for the coming Show, and each class in the various sections were gone through at length and most carefully, and everything possible was done to ensure full scope for entries under every head and to cater for the needs of everybody.

DEATH OF MR. A. S. McCOY, SOLR., WATERFORD.

On Friday last the death took place at his residence, Upper Newtown, Waterford, of Mr. Archibald S. Mc-Coy, solr., at the age of 83 years.

Deceased was a member of the well known legal firm of Messrs. Dobbyn, Tandy and McCoy, and was for long years solr., to the Waterford Co. Council; Waterford Mental Hospital and G.S. Railway. He was a keen and shrewd lawyer, whose opinion was very highly valued.

On Monday the funeral took place from his residence "Leoville" Upper Newtown, to the cemetery John's Hill. an addition to being of imposing dimnsions, the cortege was representave of every interest in the city brass mountings—had a particularly community—religious, professional, municipal, commercial, etc. All the members of the legal profession in Waterford, and any from the county and adjoining counties of Kilkenny, Tipperary and Wexford were present, as well as members of the Waterford as well as members of the Waterford Ross (sister); Mrs. J. McCoy (sister-in-Corporation, Waterford Co. Council, law); Lieut-Comdr. J. A. McCoy, and Waterford Mental Hospital Committee, and representatives of the Great Miss McCoy and Miss N.
