Late V. Rev. D. Canon Whelan, D.D., P.P., Cappoquin.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SCENES.

Solemn and highly-impressive scenes of sorrow and mourning were witnessed in Cappoquin on last Friday on the occasion of the funeral obsequies of the late Very Rev. D. Canon Whelan, D.D., P.P., Cappoquin, whose death took place after a rather brief illness in Maypark Nursing Home, Waterford, on the previous Wednesday to the inexpressible grief of his parishioners and a large circle of relatives and friends in every part of the Co. Waterford.

The late Canon Whelan was a priest of many outstanding qualities in every sense of the word. A sound theologian and a classical scholar, he had made his mark in his earlier years both in Maynooth and St. John's College, Waterford, where as Professor, and later as President, he showed administrative qualities of the highest order.

During his all-too-brief period of 63 years as Pastor of Cappoquin, he had endeared himself to all classes by his kindly and generous disposition, while his great work for the spiritual and temporal well-being of the large flock committed to his care will long be remembered, and should ensure that his revered name and memory will remain enshrined in the grateful hearts of his parishioners in Cappoquin.

In addition to wiping off the heavy Parochial debt to which we referred last week, he also provided new seats for St. Mary's Catholic Church, and also a set of kneeling cushions for the Communion rails, bought a new Silver Sanctuary Lamp, a new Pascal Candlestick and also a valuable set of Altar Candelsticks; he also purchased a beautiful solid silver Ciborium, had electric lighting installed in the Church, renovated the exterior of the building, and carried out many other useful works which proved his great generosity and his unbounded zeal for the improvement and welfare of the parish.

Before his health broke down some months ago he had practically completed plans for the entire renovation of the interior of the Church, and he also intended carrying out certain elaborate improvements at the entrance to St. Declan's Cemetery in Dromroe, but the hand of death having now stayed his activities in these respects it is to be hoped that the good work which he has left unfinished will be completed in due course by his successor.

Despite his great erudition and high priestly qualities, the late Canon Whelan was the most modest and unassuming of men. He loved to do good by stealth, and his charity and kindness to the poor were outstanding traits in his lovable character. As Spiritual Director of the Catholic Young Men's Society he did great work in arousing a spirit of Catholic Action amongst the young men of the town and parish, and was never tired of advancing the interests and prosperity of this excellent Society, while the various Sodalties and Confraternities in Cappoquin always found in him a faithful guide, philosopher and friend.

An eloquent and convincing preacher, his sermons and discourses were a treat to listen to, and in every phase of priestly activity he was a brilliant and inspiring guiding light. He has gone from amongst us, but the many good works which he performed within the past six and a half years will remain as an enduring monument to his great worth as a Pastor, while his memory will remain green and ineffable for all time in the hearts of all in Cappoquin.

At the last Mass on Corpus Christi, the Rev. J. Rea, C.C., in praying for the happy repose of his soul, paid an eloquent and touching tribute to his memory, and said that amongst the many high qualities which he possessed, his great humility and charity were outstanding features, and he was a most saintly and zealous priest whose death they all deeply mourned now. The usual Corpus Christi Procession and Adoration of the Most Blessed Sacrament, which were to have been held on Thursday, were postponed until Sunday, and instead of the Church being in its usual brilliant and festive garb on the former day, it was heavily draped in black, relieved by large white crosses, and an air of sorrow and gloom was visible on all sides.

On Thursday evening the remains of deceased were conveyed by motor hearse from Waterford to Cappoquin when large numbers of the clergy and prominent citizens of Waterford accompanied the funeral for a considerable distance outside the city. The students of St. John's College, also attended, and thus paid a striking tribute to the memory of one who had been such an able and distinguished President of the College for so many years. Dr. V. White, ex-T.D., accompanied the funeral to Cappoquin, while many prominent people of Dungarvan, Canon Whelan's native town, and many others from various centres en route, also joined the cortege. Hundreds of the parishioners of Cappoquin met the funeral miles outside the town, while many others motored the entire journey to Waterford to meet the remains.

The Cappoquin C.Y.M.S., had made all arrangements to meet the remains at Cappoquin, and four bearers from the Society took charge of the coffin at the entrance to St. Mary's Catholic Church and bore it into the Church where it was placed on a catafalque before the High Altar.

As the remains were being conveyed into the Church, Dr. Star Gabbours, Organist St. Colman's Cathedral, Cove, who kindly volunteered his services for the occasion, played the "Marcia Funebra" from Chopin, and after the prayers, he played several features and themes of the "Liberia" and "In Paradisium" of the Gregorian Requiem Mass, the softly-swellling peals of the organ adding greatly to the solemnity of the occasion.

The remains were received in the Church by the Very Rev. Archdeacon Wm. Byrne, P.P., V.G., Ballybricken (representing the Bishop), the Rev. T. Dunphy, C.C., Cappoquin, the Rev. J. Rea, C.C., Cappoquin and several other priests, while the Ven. Archdeacon R. B. Burkitt, M.A., Protestant Rector of Cappoquin, (who was a close personal friend of Canon Whelan) was also present.

On Friday Solemn Requiem Office and High Mass was offered up for the repose of his soul before a very large congregation, while there were over 85 priests present, including nine Canons and other high dignitaries of the Church.

The celebrant was the Ven. Archdeacon Byrne, P.P., V.G., Ballybricken; deacon, Rev. M. Morrissey, Adm.; Knockanore; sub-deacon, Rev. T. Coughlan, C.C., Kilsheelan; master of ceremonies, Rev. N. Power, St. John's College, Waterford.

After the obsequies in the Church, the funeral took place to St. Declan's Cemetery, Dromroe, and provided one of the most impressive scenes witnessed in Cappoquin for many years. The members of the C.Y.M.S., Cappoquin, took charge of all the arrangements under the personal supervision of Mr. R. J. Collender, President, and the other officers of the Society, and both as regards the marshalling of the various bodies and the general arrangements nothing better had ever been seen on such an occasion.

The order of the procession was as follows:—The Cappoquin Brass and Reed Band playing the "Dead March in Saul," Cross-bearer, Rev. T. Coughlan, C.C., Kilsheelan, and acolytes; Industrial School Children, with mourning badges; and Boys of the National School; Children of the Convent School, the Clergy, marching four-deep; the hearse and coffin, members of the C.Y.M.S. and Men's Sodality of the Sacred Heart; Children of Mary, in full regalia; Women's Confraternity of the Sacred Heart; the general public, marching eight-deep, etc.

Arrived at the Cemetery gates the remains were received by the Very Rev. Canon Kelleher, President, St. John's College, who pronounced the final Absolution at the graveside, being assisted by all the other clergymen present at the funeral.

The coffin was laid in a beautiful moss-lined and flower-bedecked grave close beside the grave of the late Very Rev. P. Canon Dunphy, Canon's Whelan's immediate saintly and zealous predecessor in Cappoquin.

The chief mourners included:—Mrs. Foley, Parnell Place, Cork, Mrs. M. O'Hanlon, Western Road, do.; Mrs. Dunlea, Ballinlough Road, do.; Rev. R. J. Dalton, Chaplain, Co. Home, Cork; Patrick and Mrs. Kiely, Dungarvan; T. and Mrs. Gibbons, do.; Mrs. Keating, Gambonsfield, Kilsheelan, etc., (cousins, relatives and immediate friends).

J. and Mrs. Collender; John and Mrs. McCarthy and family; Mrs. Curran and several others.

After praying for the repose of Canon Whelan's soul at last Mass on Sunday, the Rev. T. Dunphy, C.C., expressed his best thanks to the parishioners for the manner in which they had attended the funeral on Friday and co-operated with the stewards in making the event such a successful and impressive display of public sympathy and regret.

He specially thanked the officers and members of the C.Y.M.S., for the excellent manner in which they had carried out all the arrangements, and also the members of the Band and the various Sodalties and Confraternities, etc., and said that the great order and regularity with which the funeral had been carried out proved a distinct credit to all, and a striking mark of respect to the memory of their beloved Canon.—R.I.P.

The final stages of the funeral arrangements were carried out in a highly satisfactory manner by Mr. P. Walsh, Undertaker, Cappoquin.

GENERAL O'DUFFY.

CONFERENCE WITH SUPPORTERS IN WATERFORD.

General O'Duffy, paid a surprise visit to Waterford on Tuesday evening and addressed a private meeting of U. I. P. and League of Youth branches in the committee room of the Town Hall. The proceedings lasted from 8 o'clock until close on midnight, matters of general organisation being principally dealt with.

The General's intention of visiting the city was kept a close secret and was known only to intimate supporters. On arrival in a private car he was met at the Imperial Hotel by the Mayor (Councillor Cassin) and committee members of the men's and women's branches, who escorted him to the Town Hall. Members of the League of Youth wore blue shirts. A large force of Gardaí and detectives in charge of Inspector Harle, were on duty in the vicinity of the Municipal Buildings while the meeting was in progress, but so quietly did everything pass off that their services were not needed.

From the Town Hall General O'Duffy returned to the Imperial Hotel.

At the meeting a resolution of sympathy was passed to Commandant Cronin on the death of his mother. General O'Duffy expressed satisfaction with the work being done by the organisation in Waterford. It is understood the week-end arrests of a number of Blueshirts were also discussed.

KILMACTHOMAS NEWS.

QUARRANT ORE.

The Forty Hours Adoration began at St. Anne's Church, Ballylaneen, on the morning of the 1st inst., with the celebration of Holy Mass by Rev. T. O'Shea, C.C., Ballylaneen, assisted by a crowded congregation, the majority of whom received Holy Communion. The altar was beautifully decorated with the choicest of flowers in all colours. All through the day pious worshippers visited the Church. Holy Mass was again offered up on Saturday morning, and young and old of the parish again participated in what was a great manifestation of faith.

Similarly impressive scenes were witnessed on Sunday. After the late Mass, a procession of the Most Blessed Sacrament took place. The Children of Mary Sodality, members of the Church Choir (in charge of Mrs. T. McCarthy, organist), and the Men's and Women's branches of the Confraternity of the Sacred Heart were represented in the ranks. When the processionists returned to the church for the imparting of Solemn Benediction (which concluded the Quarrant Ore ceremonies) it was difficult to find room for all in its ranks. And when the Sacred Host was raised for adoration on the chaste decorated altar by the ministering priest, Fr. O'Shea, the spectacle was so stirring and impressive in the highest degree, and must have brought joy to the hearts of all in attendance. The prayerful singing of the services by the choir enhanced the devotional effect produced on the thoughtful observer.

SOCIABLE OUTINGS.

The roads to Bonmahon, Annesstown, Ballydwan, and Stradbally are swarming these days with cyclists "going for a dip." There is evidence on all sides of the great revival in Irish cycling. In organised club runs, in more casual parties and in pairs, the devotees of the wheel are invading the beauty spots and the bathing places. And very sociable outings they are, too.

BREVITIES.

According to an official of the local Cumann, the sum realised at the Annual Pianna Fair Collection in Kilsrassanty parish was double the amount subscribed there last year.

Some time ago a Mid-Waterford family gave up a terrace house in a reputable district, because the report was circulated that the dwelling was invaded with spirits after midnight. A novelty in apparitions is now reported from East Waterford, where an applicant for the "dole" explained that the reason he gave up work was the bakery where he was employed was haunted. One would like to hear more of this flimsy ghost. On the whole, one would expect a butcher's shop to be haunted rather than a baker's.

It is said of a Comeragh Valley woman that she returned to a Dungarvan drapery establishment the other day, bringing back some goods she had purchased a week before. "They don't fit," she said "and I want my money back." "But, goodness gracious," began the shopman—"The woman interrupted him: "your advertisement distinctly says 'money returned if not approved.'" "So it does, my dear woman, so it does; but your money was approved. It was very good money!"

A huge crowd patronised Duffy's Circus at Kilmacthomas last week-end and the "bill of fare" was voted the best circus programme enacted locally for a considerable number of years. Beetles are the bane of Millbrook Terrace, Kilmacthomas, residents, latterly.

A letter from an esteemed Kilsrassanty reader, residing in Reading (England) arrived within the week. The writer was seemingly in a sentimental mood when he recalled this priceless sentence: "I love the bright hills and the sweet vales and the green fields of the fair land in which I was born." "The soft swelling hills of homely, comely Conteragh," he added.

THE GRAIN MIXTURE.

Dr. Ryan, Minister for Agriculture, has made an order reducing from 31 1/3 p.c. to 15 p.c. the quantity of home-grown grain to be mixed with maize for animal feeding purposes.

It is understood that the Minister has discovered that the quantity of oats in the country is considerably less than he had anticipated.

WAGES ON THE G.S. RAILWAY.

The conference between representatives of the G.S. Railways Co., and of the railway unions on the question of a new wages agreement, was resumed in the Railway Clearing House, Dublin. The negotiations promise to be lengthy.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

TRANSFER OF POPULAR SEARGENT.

Sergeant Scott, who has been in charge of Ballinamult Guards Station for the past four years, has been transferred this week to Passage East, Waterford, and his departure from Ballinamult has caused much regret. A most intelligent and highly-efficient Peace Officer, Sergt. Scott, proved most effective in checking crime and lawlessness in this area, and within the past year or two he was responsible for handling several serious cases.

IMPORTANT SPORTS FIXTURES.

Two important sports fixtures will be held in the Sportsfield, Cappoquin, next month which should prove welcome news to the business people of the town, who, we hope, will generously support the promoters in providing the necessary funds for the preparation of the ground and defraying the other expenses which must be incurred in other respects.

On Sunday, July 8th., the Inter-Club Co. Championships in Athletics and Cycling will be held here under N.A. & C.A. Rules, while on Sunday, July, 29th the Munster Inter-County Championships will be decided in the Sportsfield, and this fixture should prove one of the biggest and most attractive sporting events ever held in Cappoquin.

With every prospect of a big Regatta being held under the auspices of the Rowing Club later in the season, and with a few interesting Cricket matches also looming on the horizon, it looks as if Cappoquin will figure largely in the realm of sport of all kinds this year, but this is only as it should be, for has not the "Old Cornerstone" been always the cradle of sport in the past?

A FALSE ALARM.

Some mild excitement was caused in Cappoquin on Monday when the news came through on the wireless that a horse, "Phalaris Bay," had been drawn in the Derby Sweep by a local man under the nom-de-plume "Dote."

Blackwater Valley Co-Op. Society, Cappoquin. It was inferred at first that the lucky owner of the ticket was the Manager of the Co-Operative Society, but later inquiries showed that this was not so, as he was only the seller of the ticket to a gentleman named "F. D. Browne, Madeira House, Bristol," so this put the "kybosh" on the matter, and perhaps, it was just as well?

PROFUSE DECORATIONS AND BIG PROCESSION IN CLONMEL.

Favoured by glorious weather, the annual Eucharistic Procession took place in Clonmel on Sunday evening. The town was profusely decorated for the occasion and at various points, artistically arranged shrines were set up. In the streets occupied by the working classes especially, the decorations were exceptionally good. Practically the whole adult population and the school children took part in the procession, which was very impressive as it wended its way from St. Mary's Irishtown, through the town. Benediction was imparted in the open at the West Gate, Barrack Square, and St. Peter and Paul's Church. The Rosary was recited and hymns were sung as the processionists marched along, and the whole proceedings were very devotional and a grand public profession of Faith.

Supt. Colleran, C.G., was chief marshal.

The Very Rev. Canon Walsh, P.P., St. Mary's carried the Blessed Sacrament in the procession, and the parochial clergy and the Franciscan Fathers attended. The procession included members of the Legion of Mary, a large body of Catholic Boy Scouts under Commissioner W. Prendergast, and girls in First Communion dress.

NEXT YEAR'S C.T.A. CONGRESS.

At a meeting of the Knocknagow Cow-testing Association, Lady Osborne Beauclerk, presiding, a discussion arose on the best means of raising money to defray expenses of the Cow-testing Congress in Clonmel, January, 1935. A local working committee was appointed to get to work immediately with a view to raising funds.

STRAY BULLET'S FATAL COURSE.

Mr. Robert Perkins was set dead by a stray bullet from a police revolver while asleep on his own veranda at Phoenix, Arizona. Police officers hidden in a shrubbery were lying in wait for Louis Walsh, an alleged kidnapper, who was also killed.

ABOLISHED.

WATERFORD CO. COUNCIL. COMMISSIONER APPOINTED.

On Wednesday evening, Mr. O'Kelly, Minister for Local Government, abolished the Waterford Co. Council. The official announcement states that the Minister had dissolved the Waterford Co. Council and transferred their duties to Mr. Simon J. Moynihan, an Inspector of the Department.

Mr. Moynihan was an Inspector of the Department of Local Government of the First Dail Eireann. He returned to the Civil Service in 1929 and served for a time in the Office of Public Works, and later as General Inspector of the Department of Local Government and Public Health. Already Leix Co. Council, Kilkenny Co. Council and South Tipperary Co. Council, have been abolished and Waterford makes the fourth County Council to be wiped out.

It will be remembered that Mr. J. P. Geraghty, L.G., Inspector, held an inquiry into the discharge of its affairs by the Waterford Co. Council on May 24th and 25th., the evidence of which appeared in full in our last issue.

Notices of Election for the new Co. Council, the polling for which was to take place on June 26th., had been posted all over the several areas of the Co. Waterford during last week-end, but the election now goes by the Board.

DEATH OF MR. J. GLEESON, KNOCKALARA, CAPPOQUIN.

The death of Mr. John Gleeson, Knockalara, Cappoquin, occurred at his residence on May 30th., after a brief illness.

Deceased was a well-known farmer and a highly-respected gentleman who had sprung from a very decent stock. Some weeks ago his health broke down and he was sent to the Mercy Hospital, Cork, for treatment and he came home a fortnight ago. Having suffered a relapse, his condition became worse, and despite the best of care his death came peacefully, after he had received the last Sacraments of the Catholic Church.

A quiet, honest and industrious gentleman, the late Mr. Gleeson, was an extensive breeder of horses, and a frequent prize-winner at various Southern Shows, some years ago, while in his younger days he was a fearless horseman and a regular follower of the hounds in West Waterford and East Cork. A sound and consistent Irish Nationalist all his life, he was a generous subscriber to every fund started for National purposes and his death at a comparatively early age is deeply regretted. On Friday the funeral took place to Ballinacraha Chapel, when there was a large and representative attendance of the general public.

The chief mourners included:—Mrs. E. Gleeson (widow); Mrs. M. E. Roche, Cappoquin (sister); Patrick, and Michael O'Connell, Bridane and Thomas Roche, Cappoquin (brother-in-law); J. J. and Mrs. Morrissey and family, Dungarvan, etc., (cousins);—R.I.P.

The German Government has given formal notice of the termination of a clause representing a victory for British and other interests and the end of the discriminatory treatment hitherto accorded to the Netherlands.

FINE GAEL.

Great Meeting at Carrick-on-Suir.

GEN. O'DUFFY'S ADDRESS.

One of the biggest demonstrations yet held was that in Carrick-on-Suir on Thursday week when a procession over a mile long and escorted by mounted horsemen led Gen. O'Duffy to the town. Blueshirts in thousands were present from all parts of counties Tipperary, Waterford and Kerry.

The procession was headed by over 100 horsemen and girl riders, while a bodyguard of 20 picked Blueshirts, each 6 feet in height, was provided for the distinguished visitor. The parade to the meeting place was through the principal thoroughfares of the town, and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed throughout. While the processionists themselves, numbering many thousands of young men and women dressed in the organisation uniform, with banners flying, made a most impressive display, the people on the side-walks, and noticeably members of the farming community who had remained in town after the fair of the morning, greeted them as they passed by raising their hands in the fashion of the organisation salute. Lord Wm. Beresford marched in one Waterford contingent attired in a blue shirt. The Fair Green where the meeting was held was pretty well populated when the procession arrived there. A small group of the Green and apparently attempted to interfere with the horsemen who were forming up. The latter directed their attentions to them immediately, and the result was that there was a regular stampede before the horses. One or two other attempts at interruption occurred through the meeting, but these were of a minor character and there was nothing in the nature of a conflict between the opposing elements. A poster was displayed in prominent portions of the town calling on their followers, in the name of the local Cumann of Fianna Fail to refrain from any interference with the Fine Gael meeting.

The greatest enthusiasm was evidenced as the General arrived at the Fair Green and mounted the platform. A bugler sounded the salute and the National Anthem was played by one of the three bands which took part in the demonstration. On the platform were, amongst others, the Mayor of Waterford (Councillor Matthew Cassin), the local T.D.s, and Mr. T. F. Kiely, the world champion athlete. Apologies were made by the Chairman for the unavoidable absence of Mr. MacDermot, Mr. Dillon and Mr. Seamus Burke, T.D.s. The latter, the Chairman said, was defending Colonel Jerry Ryan, that fine Tipperary man, that day. He called for three cheers for Jerry Ryan, and these were lustily given.

Mr. R. Curran, T.D., who presided, said the meeting was an answer to the Fianna Fail Government, and to the Fianna Fail policy, that was bringing about the absolute ruination and destruction of the farming community. The fair held in the town that day was yet another index of how the country had been impoverished. The Government were selling the farmers' cattle to meet their obligations, and representative Ministers were now saying they would seize the land. He asked the farming community to remember the words of Parnell when he told them to stick to their land, and he (the speaker) appealed to them to stick to it.

Mr. D. Morrissey, T.D., characterised the demonstration as the greatest ever seen in the county. The interests of the workers and of the unemployed were bound up in the Fine Gael, and the reason he stood in with that party was because he realised that the policy promulgated by Fine Gael was a Labour policy, and that policy included in its scope every man of the working classes, the Irish poor, the Irish farmers and the Irish nation. He pledged himself that the first day Fine Gael turned its back on the workers of this country he would leave that organisation. President de Valera and the so-called Labour Party wanted to bring them back to the soup-kitchen and the free meal, and to degrade and pauperise the people.

General O'Duffy opened his remarks with a reference to the group on the outskirts of the meeting, which was attracting the attention of a number of the Blueshirts. It was obvious, he said, that a few people who failed to get their calves sold were trying to give trouble at the street corner. He asked half a dozen Blueshirts to stand at that corner and to allow no other Blueshirts up that street. When the General was about three-quarters through his address there was some further commotion at the same corner, and a number of Blueshirts crowded there while some Civic Guards were seen to raise their batons. The General shouted at the Blueshirts through the microphone several times to come back, and these apparently not hearing the command, still maintained their position. The General then ordered other members of the League of Youth in front of the platform to "go and push them back," but by this time the Guards had succeeded in clearing the street in question of the would-be interrupters, and from that on the meeting progressed without incident.

General O'Duffy, who was received with enthusiasm, in the course of his speech said:—England has its coal and its cotton; Germany has its metals;

France has its wines; Sweden has its timber, and we have our agricultural products. Workers, do not forget that is our main industry. It is not a matter of choice; it has been decreed by God, and the country's endeavour should be directed towards making that industry prosperous. There can be no progress in any other industry if the main industry is neglected, because even admitting that this country could become self-contained, which I do not for one moment admit, the main industry must create and maintain the purchasing power of the people. The bread of Irish life is in the soil. There is an old Spanish saying, "What is the good of butter if you have no bread to spread it on." It is a pity President de Valera doesn't think of that truth (hear, hear).

The stock yards in Belfast have been enlarged to cope with the thousands of cattle passing through them on route to England which were not calved in the Six Counties. Our exports in cattle have fallen from £201,000 in March, 1933, to £228,000 last March. Mr. de Valera says the British market is gone for ever. How can he explain that the farmers of the Free State are risking heavy fines and imprisonment night after night to smuggle their cattle into that market. They have become law breakers and smugglers to get into it, and worse still, the cattle seized by the Government for rates and land annuities in Co. Tipperary are being sent to a farm on the border and kept there until a suitable opportunity presents itself to smuggle them across. Is not the whole proceeding a public scandal against which the decent citizens of this State should combine. How much longer will this play-acting be tolerated? One of the arguments used by Fianna Fail secretly in the border counties against our movement is that if Fianna Fail were defeated smuggling would cease. My answer to that is: Yes, smuggling would cease. There would be no necessity for smuggling. Our cattle would be shipped from the port of Dublin and other Free State ports on the same conditions as from the ports of Belfast—and within the law—which certain people now pretend to respect (hear, hear).

Perhaps the most significant speech of all was made by the Minister for War, Frank Aiken. He not only refused to hold out any hope for the farmers but he threatened to take the land from them unless they comply with the Government conditions (hear, hear).

I re-echo the battle cry of Parnell: "Keep a firm grip on your holdings," and I add, no power under heaven can deprive you of your own. I saw that at a meeting in Grangemockler the Chairman said that there was an attempt to make your land the property of the State, and he advised the young men listening to him who will yet inherit their fathers' land, to "see to it that you will not be deprived of your lawful heritage" (cheers). That was sound advice—sound advice for the farmers, agricultural workers, townworkers, shopkeepers, and all depending on the soil for a living (cheers).

And how are you to see to it—by putting blue shirts on your sons and daughters, by standing yourselves loyally by the only organisation since the Land League which puts your interests in the forefront of its programme. We hear of farmers' organisations—some openly hostile to United Ireland—others friendly. Beware of Fianna Fail chicanery—united we stand, divided we fall. You have a great organisation at your back. Support it loyally, support it alone. The farmer who is not even now prepared to join with us in this struggle is an enemy of all that Parnell and Davitt stood for. They should refuse to be pawns in the Fianna Fail game any longer (cheers).

I pledge myself to-day to stand by you, come what may, and I pledge the support of the great organisation I have the honour to lead. All I ask you to do is to stand firm and determined yourselves. Some of you may be called on to make sacrifices. I fear there is suffering and hardship ahead of us, and I believe the Fianna Fail Government will continue its regime of coercion so long as they can get a considerable proportion of the people to support them, so long as the representatives of Labour in the Dail support them. They are not assured of Norton's support until the workers assert themselves and show in no uncertain manner that they do not want to see their decent, self-respecting fellow workers thrown into jail. No Labour Party in the world to-day would support a Government which is by its every act trying to break the spirit and independence of the poor (hear, hear). No movement ever succeeded in this country without sacrifice. Keep your heads erect. Surely you have seen enough of the present Government for the past two years (hear, hear). Organise, organise, organise. Do not rest content while there is one decent citizen in town or country, rich or poor, outside our ranks (hear, hear). After agriculture, our most important industry in my opinion, is our fishing industry. I have devoted as much time as I could afford to the study of this question, and have come to the conclusion that it is one of our most urgent problems. It would appear that every maritime country in Europe is more interested in our sea fishery industry than we are ourselves and they spend more money to enable them to reap the harvest which belongs to us than we do to protect it for ourselves. French, Belgian, Dutch, Norwegian, Scotch and English fishermen appear to have our coast all to themselves

FEDERAL DISTRICT COURT.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, D.J.)
A young man named Maurice Browne, Castletownroche, was brought up in custody, charged with embezzling the sum of at least £53, from his employer, Mr. P. O'Connor, Sergeant M. Malone, Castletownroche, deposed that he arrested accused at Castletownroche on the 29th May, and charged him with having embezzled the sum of about £53, while employed as Clerk or servant by Mr. Patrick O'Connor. Witness arrested accused under warrant produced. He gave him the usual legal caution and he made a statement, which witness took down in writing, and which he intended to put in evidence at a later stage. Defendant was brought before a P.C., the same day and remanded in custody for eight days or sooner. Witness's inquiries were not yet completed. The accounts concerned in the case were complicated and covered a period of three years. They had already discovered twelve customers and there might be more involved. His inquiries would, therefore, necessarily be slow. He hoped to proceed with the case at the District Court, Fermoy, on Monday, June, 11th, and he asked for a further remand. From what had already come to his knowledge, he would be in a position to give evidence connecting the accused with the said offence.

Accused declined to cross-examine, but asked for bail.
Replying to the Court, the Sergt. said the accused had been employed by Mr. O'Connor as traveller, in connection with his corn and grinding mill. His business was to solicit orders and collect accounts. Mr. O'Connor had a large number of customers in Limerick, Tipperary and Waterford, and the villages in North Cork. They had investigated twelve accounts, involving discrepancies amounting to £53. They expected to get a lot more from Mr. O'Connor. He would agree to substantial bail as he believed the accused wouldn't or couldn't abscond.

The Justice—What is your application for bail?
Accused said his mother was very bad and that was the reason he asked for bail.

Replying to the Court, the Sergt. said that the accused had no means. He was married a little over twelve months and he had to break up his home over that business. The P.C., before whom accused was first brought fixed bails at £500 and two at £250.

The Justice said there was no good in granting bail unless it was reasonable, but it must be proportionate to the nature of and evidence in the case. Bail was fixed at £100 and two sureties of £50, to be perfected at Cork Jail.

since the advent of the steam trawler, and I am told that six Spanish fishing boats have a base at Berehaven with tenders to transport the catch to Spain. If we are to reap that certain harvest we must be in a position to compete with modern enterprise and up-to-date methods. When these foreign ships are caught poaching in our waters, very substantial penalties must be imposed, including confiscation of the ships and imprisonment of the poachers. Herrings in large shoals visit our shores every winter and spring. This could be a great source of wealth, but again the harvest is reaped by the foreigner. It appears to me that as our fishermen have not the means, and as it seems we have no business men with enterprise in this direction, the matter must be made a national question.

To equip a fleet manned by Irish fishermen would involve big expenditure, but it would repay the outlay in a short time. We now come to river fisheries. No foreigner can poach our salmon or trout. Every domestic animal when the time for bringing forth its young arrives is attended to and protected. The cow, the mare and the sow are eagerly watched by the farmers. Even the litter of pups is cared for. Yet when salmon leave the Atlantic ocean and fights its way in many cases over 100 miles up our rivers overcoming every obstacle to dejoin with us its golden spawn, thousands of them are slaughtered by the spear, by lime and by dynamite. If properly protected the present £240,000 value of the salmon to the Free State could be increased to at least £1,000,000 (hear, hear).

Now, a final word to the workers. Our movement is winning. Nothing can prevent its onward march to victory. It is an Irish movement, designed to suit Irish conditions. It is a new movement with a new policy. It has not adopted the policies of the other parties which joined together to form it. I appeal to the workers to come and help us to mould a Labour policy which will be not only beneficial to the worker but beneficial to the country at the same time. Play your part in this great national effort to build up a new Ireland.

Professor Hayes also spoke.
Mr. N. Wall, T.D., Waterford, said the rule of the corner boy was not going to prevail. Referring to the seizure of his cattle, he said he was not a defaulter in regard to the payment of rates. He had never been a defaulter in regard to the payment of rates. He had never been a defaulter. He maintained he had paid his rates and annuities ten times over.

CORPUS CHRISTI.

GREAT PROCESSION IN DUNGARVAN.

The Annual Corpus Christi procession in Dungarvan, last Sunday was of very imposing dimensions, and was in keeping with the fine old Catholic spirit for which this town has ever been noted. It was a public manifestation of the love enshrined in the hearts of all for the Blessed Eucharist, and a striking tribute to the zeal of our esteemed Pastor—Very Rev. Canon O'Brien, P.P., V.F., and his worthy Curates.

Owing to the lamented death of the Very Rev. Canon Furlong, the decorating of the streets and houses did not begin until Saturday afternoon, but even in the limited time available an enormous amount of work was done. Streamers crossed the streets at various points and bunting and flags were displayed on all sides. An artistic altar was erected at the Square, and another at the entrance to the Parish Church. Flags were flown from all the windows along the route of the Procession, while very many altars were also erected on the way.

Sunday was gloriously fine and warm, and the town looked its best, the plants and evergreens on the Square and the principal streets adding a very nice splash of colour. The Procession was a most imposing and inspiring one. The numbers who participated in it was very large and the precision and orderliness of the processionists were perfect. The Rosary was recited and hymns sung on the way, while the Dungarvan Brass and Reed Band, under the baton of Mr. McHugh, discoursed a choice selection of sacred music.

Special praise is due to the marshalling arrangements and the perfect and smooth way in which the procession was carried out. Rev. M. F. Hearne, as Director-in-chief, did his work with that thoroughness which he brings to bear on all matters with which he is associated, and had with him a fine lot of young men, who discharged their orders with accuracy and finish.

The Blessed Sacrament was borne by Very Rev. Canon O'Brien, P.P., V.F., and the following clergy were in attendance:—Very Rev. J. Gleeson, P.P., Aghlish; Very Rev. N. Dunphy, P.P., Abbeyside; Very Rev. T. Fitzgerald, Adm., Newtown; Rev. P. F. McGrath, C.C.; Rev. M. Power, C.C., Abbeyside; Rev. J. Murphy, C.C., Ring; Rev. J. Lynch, C.C., Kilgobinet; Very Rev. Fr. Farragher, Prior, O.S.A.; Very Rev. P. Donegan, O.S.A., Rev. Fr. Conway, O.S.A.

Punctually at 3 p.m. the Procession started from the Parish Church, the route being the same as heretofore, viz., Mitchell street, Fair Lane, O'Connell street to the Square where Benediction was given at a beautiful altar at the Market House. Thence via Main street, Church street and Emmet street to the Parish Church gate, where at a specially erected altar Benediction was given.

The following was the order of the Procession:—Cross-bearer (Rev. J. Lynch, C.C.); Children of the Presentation Convent and Children of the Mercy Convent, neatly attired and under the charge of their teachers; Boys of the Christian Brothers Schools, under the charge of the Brothers; Abbeyside School children. Then came the Children of Mary, in blue cloaks and veils; The Legion of Mary; and the Brass and Reed Band (under the baton of Mr. McHugh, B.M.); Choir; Mercy House Girls; Women's Confraternities of Dungarvan and Abbeyside; Boys' Club and Boy Scouts; Men's Confraternities of Dungarvan and Abbeyside; Members of the Urban Council; Cross-bearer; Altar Boys and then the Canopy. All along the route numbers of the faithful knelt in prayer as the Blessed Eucharist was borne past. Benediction having been given on the Square, the procession proceeded via Main street and Church street to the Parish Church, where Benediction was also given.

All the windows in the shops and houses on the route of the procession were befittingly decorated and were the object of much admiration during the day and evening.

The Procession in honour of Corpus Christi this year was one of which any Catholic town might feel proud, and was a further proof of the loyalty of our people to the undying Faith of our Fathers, which never has been shaken and never will D.V.

Death and Funeral of Very Rev. John O'Donnell, P.P.

On Friday 1st inst., Very Rev. John O'Donnell, P.P., Newtown, Kilmacthomas, was summoned to his eternal reward. He passed away at his parochial house, after a somewhat protracted illness, borne with remarkable Christian fortitude and that cheerful equanimity so characteristic of him during life.

Born at Boherawilling, Modeligo, in 1847, the late Fr. O'Donnell received his early education in Mount Meleray, and completed his studies in Maynooth, where he was ordained in 1876. Having served as a Curate in several parishes in his native diocese, he was translated from Newtown to the pastorate of Ardmore well-nigh twenty-five years ago. After spending about three years there, he was transferred to the pastoral charge of Newtown, where during the years since then his zealous and solicitude on behalf of his flock endeared him to them in a manner remarkable even in a country where the name of the Soggarth Aaron has always been held in the highest reverence and sincere affection.

The deceased was a fluent Irish speaker, and was renowned for the eloquence and power of his sermons in the native language. He had a deep affection for his mother tongue, and was a life-long supporter of the Gaelic League. On the political side he was a well-known Nationalist, and was an intimate friend of the three great leaders of Constitutional Nationalism in pre-modern days—Parnell, Davitt and the late John E. Redmond, and during the Plan of Campaign, and later in the Land League days, was prominently identified with the work of alleviating the lot of the people.

From the days of his earliest curacy, the late Fr. O'Donnell, proved himself a true pastor of souls. He devoted himself to his priestly functions with the tireless zeal of an apostle. But it is by his works of charity that he is best remembered. In him the poor and the unfortunate were always sure to find a sympathetic friend and a fearless protector. As parish priest he was able to exercise more extensively and more fruitfully the splendid gifts and talents that distinguished him as a curate. Needless to say, the parish of Newtown made rapid progress in all things spiritual under his capable administration, and his innumerable endearing qualities of head and heart had gained for him the love and affection of the people.

The deceased pastor lived and laboured under the following Bishops of the Waterford-Lismore Diocese:—

On Friday evening the remains were removed to the parish church, where in they were placed on a catafalque before the high altar. Very Rev. P. Fitzgerald, Adm., Newtown, recited the prayers for the dead, assisted by Very Rev. M. Carroll, P.P., Modeligo; Very Rev. W. Kehoe, P.P., Kilrossanty; Rev. M. Dowley, C.C., Kill; Rev. T. Ahearne, C.C., do.; and Rev. J. Hartly, C.C., Fews.

The attendance of the general public on the occasion was extremely large and everywhere tokens of the deepest regret were in evidence. Interment was made in the churchyard after the late Mass on Sunday. Fr. Fitzgerald officiated at the graveside. Mass Cards were received from the Teaching Staff of the Newtown Schools, and from the Newtown Cumann, Fianna Fail.

At the Solemn Requiem Office and High Mass, held in the parish church, Newtown, on Monday there was a large assemblage of priests and parishioners.

Very Rev. D. F. Canon Walsh, P.P., St. Mary's, Clonmel, presided, attended by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Byrne, P.P., D.D., V.G., Ballybricken; Very Rev. F. Canon Prendergast, P.P., Tallow; Very Rev. J. Canon Kelleher, S.T.L., St. John's College, Waterford; Very Rev. T. Canon O'Brien, P.P., V.F., Dungarvan; Very Rev. N. Canon Walsh, P.P., Tramore, and Very Rev. Canon Prendergast, P.P., Carrick-on-Suir.

Very Rev. T. Fitzgibbon, S.J., Dublin (nephew of the late Fr. O'Donnell), was celebrant; deacon, Rev. M. Ahearne, C.C., Powerstown; sub-deacon, Rev. D. M. Sheehan, C.C., Ballybricken; master of ceremonies, Rev. D. Power, St. John's College; chanters, Rev. J. Murphy, C.C., Ring, and Rev. J. Hartly, C.C., Kilrossanty.

In the choir were:—Very Rev. W. J. O'Connell, P.P., Dunmore; Very Rev. J. Walsh, P.P., Ballyduff Lower; Very Rev. W. Ormonde, P.P., Carrickbeg; Very Rev. W. Kehoe, P.P., Kilrossanty; Very Rev. P. Power, Chaplain, Carrigue; Rev. T. Coghlan, C.C., Kilsheelan; Rev. M. Dowley, C.C., Kill, and Rev. M. Barron, Bishop's Secretary, Waterford.

The relatives of the late Fr. O'Donnell present included: Mr. John O'Donnell, Newtown, and Messrs. Edmond and Michael O'Donnell, Boherawilling (nephews); Mrs. M. Harney, Ballydurn, Kilmacthomas, and Mrs. K. Nugent, Newtown (nieces); Mr. M. Harney, Ballydurn (nephew-in-law); Mr. P. Nugent, Newtown (grand-nephew), etc. It would be well-nigh impossible to give a complete list of the general public present at the funeral and obsequies. FIFTEEN THOUSAND KNEEL AT BENEDICTION IN WATERFORD.

Twelve thousand people took part in the Eucharistic Procession in Waterford on Sunday. The scene presented was one of the most impressive and spectacular yet seen in the history of the ancient "Urbs Intacta" from the religious point of view. The participants included the city clergy, the students of St. John's Ecclesiastical College, the various religious communities, Catholic Girl Guides, sodalities, Children of Mary, Legion of Mary, Men's and Women's Confraternities attached to the various churches, altar boys, church choirs, thousands of school children and students of the different educational colleges. Close on fifteen thousand people knelt on Ballybricken Hill when the ceremonies concluded with Benediction given at a beautifully decorated temporary altar by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Byrne, P.P., D.D., V.G., Ballybricken.

In the morning Solemn High Mass was celebrated at the Cathedral and attended by the Mayor, members and officials of the Waterford Corporation in state and fully robed. The pageant as it wound through the city streets was magnificent, and was witnessed by thousands of people, many of whom came long distances. A golden monstrance containing the Sacred Host, under a gorgeous canopy, was borne through the city thoroughfares by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Byrne, who was assisted by Rev. Father O'Connor, C.C., and Rev. Fr. Sheehan, C.C., Cathedral. Prayers were recited and sacred music rendered en route by massed church choirs. The Benediction service was sung by the students of St. John's College and joined in practically the entire open air congregation. At the Benediction just before the Sacred Host was raised in blessing the general salute was sounded by a corps of drummers and buglers chosen from the City Catholic Boy Scouts.

DEATH REFERRED.

The day after he had been told that he had to undergo an operation, Mr. Robert B. Riddell, a retired Berwick dentist, shot himself in an outburst at his home in Tweedmouth.

Mr. Cosgrave, P.P., and the Present State of Affairs.

Mr. Cosgrave said, they were in an economic war to save five millions but he computed the farmers were charged eight millions last year. Yet, when the U.I.P. stated in this country that it was unfair to charge the present scale of annuities and rates they were told they were interfering with the public services, and that they were not national. It was an injustice to the farmers to place on them a liability beyond the capacity of the industry to bear. If there was a fight on with England let them know who it was that was making the fight. There was one section in the country talking about it, but there was another section paying for it (applause). They were being told that the Government were being hampered in its policy, but who were hampering the people in making the country a prosperous State? There was not a Minister who was not telling them that the agricultural industry had slumped all over the world. Was that a time, he asked to pile such a burden upon the backs of the agriculturists?

Two years ago the taxation of the country was increased by about four millions, and last year almost the same amount was added. What had happened in these two years? There was a balance of money received by the Government over and above what was spent of over two and a half millions. From one end of the country to the other the Sheriff or the County Registrar, as the case might be, was never more busily employed than at present in taking out of the main industry upon which so many people depended more than it could give. The Government had added something like a quarter of a million to the cost of the army. Was there any danger facing them, or any reason for spending that money on young men, drilling them in the use of arms where there was no possible employment for them as soldiers? Was there any reason why they should add to the cost of the Guards?

They were asked by the present Government to pay by instalments for a Republic. He asked what was in a Republic that they had not got in their present status? Why should there not be an open and free market for their products? The reason was the incompetence of the Ministers to affect a favourable and just settlement for the people. The Government lacked the courage and true appreciation of Irish Nationality, but the people had now an opportunity of showing what they thought of Fianna Fail representation over the country (hear, hear).

Referring to the abolition of the Kilkenny County Council, he said that whatever faults the old County Council had, if they had any, the new Co. Council, which had not yet been elected, could not have committed any. The only reason why the views of the people should be stifled in that county was that Fianna Fail representation would not be up to the Government standard. The people's opportunity of showing what they thought of the Government was denied them. They had another example of the failure of the Government to appreciate how the people viewed their administration during the last two years.

In a reference to the recent trial before the Military Tribunal, Mr. Cosgrave said that a public meeting was not the place to discuss the decision of the Military Tribunal in Capt. Hughes' case, but the whole matter was being carefully considered. "For the time being," he added, "I content myself with stating the outstanding features of the decision. First, the Tribunal found that Detective Officer McNamara encouraged Capt. Hughes to the illegal action charged. Second, the Tribunal disbelieved the evidence of the detective officer in the vital matter as to the authorship of the letter which the detective officer swore he had seen written by Capt. Hughes. Third, the Tribunal saw fit to convict Capt. Hughes on the uncorroborated evidence of the detective officer, having rejected this vital part of his evidence. Fourth, this evidence with regard to the letter was the only matter on which a direct test could be applied to the evidence. That the test was applied and established that the detective officer was not a credible witness. I make no comment on these facts, save again to assure you that appropriate action will be taken" (applause).

When during Mr. Belton's speech a young man wearing a tricolour favour interrupted, Gardaí intervened and hustling him to the outskirts of the crowd prevented him from being man-handled. In his address, Mr. Belton said that the Neas cattle had been seized for a debt that had been liquidated—annuities that the British had proclaimed through their Chancellor to the world as collected. Replying to a reference to the Waterford cattle, Mr. Belton said—"I can give you the number of the South Armagh lorry that came down to Waterford and took the seized cattle across the border. Mr. Minch, T.D., said that by degrees legislation was getting around them like a spider's web. Dublin Castle was reflected in the tyranny and coercion in the country.

HEAVY MILKING COWS ON GRASS

CHEMICAL COMPOSITION OF SHORT, FRESH PASTURE.

Investigations into the chemical composition of short fresh pasture have shown that it contains a much higher percentage of digestible protein (albuminoids), and is in other respects of higher feeding value than had previously been thought to be the case. Analysis shows that short pasture of first-class quality if eaten by a dairy cow to the extent of 100 lb. or so daily, contains enough starch equivalent for the production of 5 gallons of milk and enough digestible protein for 7 gallons. This indicates that good pasture properly grazed is not a balanced ration for a heavy milking cow because it contains an excess of protein. It follows that the correct supplement should be rich in carbohydrates and poor in protein.

For many years the most popular concentrate for cows on pasture has been undercorticated cotton-cake because it was believed that this acted as a binding agent and counteracted the strongly laxative effect of fresh pasture. Egyptian cotton-cake, however, contains 22 to 23 per cent. and Bombay cotton-cake 20 per cent. albuminoids (about the same percentage as in a balanced mixture for milk production), but only 32 to 35 per cent. carbohydrates. Hence the use of this cake makes the balance of the diet as a whole even less suitable.

In several instances where the belief that starchy foods were suitable supplements to pasture has been put to the test, the results have been wholly satisfactory. As the cereals—oats, barley, wheat and maize—and many of their by-products are rich in carbohydrates, a new use has been made of these in many cases in the summer feeding of dairy herds. Numerous cereal by-products such as wheat offals, maize germ meal and cake and flaked maize are equally valuable in this respect. Further, wheat offals and maize meal are of a binding tendency.

Where a large stock of home-grown cereals is on hand, there is no reason why these should not be used for summer feeding of dairy cows if necessary. Crushed oats alone, or crushed oats with an equal or smaller proportion of barley meal, or crushed oats with 25 per cent. crushed wheat are all suitable.

After deciding on the kind of supplementary food to be used, the question arises how much shall be given according to the milk yield. The statement that 100 lb. first-class short pasture will supply enough starch equivalent for some 5 gallons would indicate that on grazing of this quality no additional feeding is necessary. There will, however, be more digestible albuminoids than are needed to provide a better balanced ration, and maintain a good cow in full milk for a long period without undue strain on her digestive system, it may be good management to limit the grazing to some extent and provide additional starchy foods.

The main difficulty lies in estimating the value of the pasture. Pasture differs in nutritive value according to the soil on which it is grown, the manurial treatment the soil has received, the individual species of grasses and clovers composing the herbage, and the stage of growth of the plants. Further, it is highly probable that the weather conditions may change the degree of maturity and the nutritive value of a pasture very materially within the course of a week or so. There is, therefore, no uniformity in the quality of pasture throughout the country, nor even in the same pasture throughout one season. Hence it is a matter for judgment, aided by a study of the milk yields and the condition of the cows, to decide the capacity of the grazing for maintenance and milk production. This capacity may range from that of the first-class pasture referred to above where supplementary feeding of a starchy nature is needed only for cows yielding, say, over 4 or 5 gallons daily, down to bare coarse pasture, where in the late summer supplementary feeding is needed for each gallon of milk. In the latter case the proportion of digestible protein in the concentrates should be similar to that in a winter ration, viz., 16 to 20 per cent.—J. M. in "Farmers' Gazette"

BALLINAMULT LADY'S DEATH.

Last week the death occurred at Manchester of Mrs. K. Bagge, a member of one of the best-known families in the Co. Waterford. Mrs. Bagge was daughter of the late Mr. Thomas Power, Caherbrack, Ballinamult, sister of the late Mr. M. Power, do., and of Mrs. McConville and mother of Miss Peggy Barnes, the expert young horse-woman. Mrs. Bagge, conducted for some years past a riding school at Manchester, where she kept a big number of high-class horses. While riding one of her own horses during practice on Whit Monday, she was thrown heavily and was rather seriously injured. She was removed to hospital and despite the best medical skill she passed away. The deceased was a brilliant and fearless horsewoman, and a general favourite. Her early death is deeply regretted, and deep sympathy is extended to her family in their great loss.—R.I.P.

DERBY SWEEP. CURRAGHMORE MAN WINS £15,000. DUNGARVAN SUCCESES.

In the Irish Hospitals' Sweep on the Derby, the Draw for which took place on Monday and Tuesday, Dungarvan and Curraghmore were the only lucky centres. Co. Waterford drew two horses—one a non-runner. Easton, who ran 2nd in the Derby on Wednesday, and who thereby won £15,000 each for the holders of his ticket, was drawn on a ticket with the non-de-plume "Snoc" which concealed the identity of Mr. James Miller, Private Valet to the Marquis of Waterford at Curraghmore. The ticket, which is shared by Mr. Miller's wife and son, was contained in one of several books bought by Mr. Miller in Waterford. Mr. Miller went across to see the Derby run this week and had the pleasure of seeing Easton run into second place and win him £15,000.

Interviewed before leaving for London, Mr. Miller said the telephone had been ringing continuously at Curraghmore since he drew Easton, and though he had numerous offers for a share in his ticket, he did nothing about it as he was so excited over the whole matter.

LADIES FIRST!
SKILL OF AN OLD HUNTSMAN.
By "PHILOKON."

The old huntsman of a West country pack of foxhounds was famed for the discipline that he was able to enforce. After the dog and bitch packs had been turned out into a paddock for exercise together, as they were about to be kennelled-up he would give the command "Ladies first!" Whereupon the dog hounds would stand aside until the bitches had passed through the gate. Imagine the time and patience that must have been expended before this state of obedience had been reached, yet the majority of men and women seem to be incapable of training a single dog to do as he is told. I heard the other day of a London Solicitor who drives from the outskirts to his office, and is accompanied by several Dalmatians, which run on the pavement by the side of his phaeton. When they come to a by-road they check until he tells them to go on.

Impetuosity has been the death of many a dog. I know a place where cross roads meet at the beginning of a London common. It is called Death's Corner because of the number of dogs that are killed there. In their haste to get on the common for a romp they run on in advance of their attendants, dash into the road, and are run over. If they had been trained properly nothing of the kind would have happened. It is the easiest thing in the world to teach a dog to stop on the edge of a pavement before stepping into the road. That was the first lesson we implanted when we had a puppy some years ago. Putting him on a lead, as soon as we wished to go across a street we paused, saying "Stop!" Before long he was steady enough for us to let him run loose, and the familiar word rooted him to the ground at once. Now it is no longer necessary to give the command at all. He stops of his own volition, and we do not worry if he is a little way in front of us, being quite sure that he will not leave the pavement until he has the order.

He has learned more than that, understanding now that as we approach traffic his place is at our heels. He may have been roaming about previously, but as he hears the danger zone he comes in, keeping behind until he is told he may go on. He is really no cleverer than other dogs, and I do not flatter myself that my wife and I are any smarter than the rest of people in training a dog. We just took a little trouble, for which we are amply rewarded by the feeling of comfort and security we have when we are out for a walk with him. It is not necessary to submit him to the irksomeness of restraint, a matter that is as annoying to the owner as the dog, and besides keeping him out of danger we are sparing drivers of cars the anxiety they usually have on seeing a dog on the edge of the pavement.

Of course, there are other accomplishments that a dog should have before it can be said of him that his manners are impeccable. He should lie or sit on being ordered to do so, and he should do it at once without compelling one to bellow at him like a Bull of Bashan. These are very simple lessons for him to master. Sitting is a more useful position than lying if he happens to accompany you shopping or in other public places.

Bottling Under Ideal Conditions.

BY MESSRS R. A. MERRY & CO. LTD.

WHY THE WHITE LABEL IS POPULAR.

"The Waterford Standard" says: We have often vaguely wondered where the excellent wines, whiskies and beers sold by Messrs. Robert A. Merry and Co., were prepared for consumption. We made a surprising discovery this week when given the opportunity of inspecting the scene of such fruitful labours.

In the seclusion of Beau street a big gate with the firm's name upon it, and in the yard and buildings behind a veritable industry has been carried on in a quiet but energetic manner for years, giving employment to at least twenty-five men all the year round.

The building itself, by the way, is the identical warehouse where a century ago John Barden and Co. imported rum and sugar, in the 19th century merchant fashion, from the West Indies. The sugar in those days arrived in large tiers, and there is still to be seen, (and still in use, though for another purpose) the platform and crane from which the heavy loads of sugar were handled.

The firm of John Barden and Co. by the way, was one of the most important commercial concerns in the city. The name is carried on in Waterford by Councillor Patrick Barden, a descendant of the proprietors who for a long period conducted such a fine business in these premises which they built many years ago.

There is nothing old-fashioned about the appearance of the place nowadays, however. Efficiency, cleanliness and speed are the first considerations in the conduct of this bottling industry. Here in a huge spotlessly clean loft the work of washing bottles, bottling, corking and labelling goes on at an extraordinary speed. An inspection of the bottle-washing plant showed that every bottle receives a thorough cleansing, inside and out, and is then tested, before being sent to the bottling department. Naturally, all the firm's liquors are carefully tested for quality before being bottled, and the subsequent operation of corking is carried out with the highest grade corks.

Anent the labelling, an interesting feature is that though the firm has been in existence since 1868—it was established in Dungarvan in that year by the late Robert A. Merry—it has never bottled Guinness's Stout under the brewers' well-known brown label. Merry's is one of the few firms in the country allowed to bottle Guinness under a private label, which shows the great confidence reposed in them by the Dublin brewers whose standard is world wide.

In the bottling department at Beau Street at this time of the year immense stocks of beer and stout in condition are carried. Hundreds of dozens are bottled weekly, principally Guinness and Bass, but Irish ales are not forgotten, for Merry's also bottle Kiely's Waterford ale and also Cherry's of New Ross and Perry's of Rathdowney, together with German Lager and English ciders.

Down on the ground floor a more leisurely atmosphere exists, for it is in the vaults here that the whiskey lies maturing in bond for years under perfect conditions until it reaches the high standard required. This is a private bonded warehouse, and is designated "No. 1" in the local Customs archives. There are seven long brick-vaults, each capable of holding about 75 hogshead of whiskey, which means a total of nearly 30,000 gallons of proof spirit.

Further vaults house large stocks of wines, liqueurs and brandies, while a special warehouse is devoted to the storage of tea.

It is a cheering sign in these times of universal talk about depression to see an old established firm going ahead quietly and energetically about its business, with modern methods, preserving in these old buildings the best traditions of Waterford's mercantile life.

CORPUS CHRISTI.

YOUGHAL.

The Annual Corpus Christi Procession at Youghal was an edifying and brilliant success from every point of view. It is now 38 years since the solemn function was first initiated locally by the venerated Dean Keller—then Father Keller—and his devoted curates, a couple of whom are still prominent ecclesiastics in the diocese of Cloyne. During that long period there were only two occasions on which the sacred fixture had to be wholly abandoned—one through adverse weather conditions and another because the patriotic P.P., would not condescend to ask permission of the powers that then were. Seldom if ever was there such really beautifully summer weather experienced. A refreshing breeze from the proverbially-maligned east tempering the heat of a sun that shone throughout. During the week previous the people were afforded an unusually favourable opportunity of doing up all buildings, public, business and private in preparation for the coming of their August Visitor—and they availed of it to the utmost. The more important decorations were all in position by the previous Saturday evening, the finishing touches being given during Sunday forenoon. A beautiful temporary altar was erected for Benediction in the band stand in the Green Park by the good nuns of the Loretto Community. Another was put up on the quayside at the Ferry Slip, where Benediction was given for the fishermen, whose boats, tastefully decorated lay at anchor in the Market Dock. The other crafts in the Harbour flying gaily coloured flags and bunting.

At the appointed hour, 2 o'clock, all the bodies taking part were marshalled in processional order in the vicinity of the Parish Church, with the following bands interspersed: League of the Cross Brass Band; North Abbey Pipe and Drum Band and the Pipes Band. On the way to the Ferry Slip altar, thence to the Green Park and back to the church these performed sacred airs which were joined in by the processionists. The massed Parish and Confraternity Chords were conducted by Mr. P. M. Egan, Organist.

The following was the order of the procession—The Cross-bearer with Acolytes; Presentation Convent School Children; Loretto Convent Children; Sodality of the Sacred Heart; Children of Mary; Women's Confraternity of the Holy Family; Sodality of St. Stanislaus and Boys of Christian Schools; Guroe Contingent; Men's Confraternity of the Holy Family League of the Cross and Band; Young Men's Society; Society of St. Vincent de Paul; Parish and Confraternity choirs; Altar Boys; Torch-bearers; Flower Children; Thurifers; Sacred Ministers with Most Blessed Sacrament.

The route of the Procession was: From the Church by Campaign Place, William street, across North Main street to Brown street, Catherine street, the Quay, Market Square, Hanover street, Strand street, South Abbey to the Green Park. Returning by South Abbey, Devonshire Square, Friar street, South and North Main streets, William street, to the Church.

When all the processionists had gathered in the Church the impressive function was brought to an appropriate ending by final Solemn Benediction.

The procession left the Church with the choir singing the "O Salutaris," the Sacred Host was carried by the Rev. W. Carey, C.C., assisted by Rev. M. Twomey, D.D., C.C. The Very Rev. D. Canon Dinneen, D.D., P.P., presided with Rev. E. J. Fox, C.C., as master of ceremonies. The Very Rev. P. Canon Power, also participating.

The Chairman, members and officials of the Urban Council formed a Guard of Honour around the Canopy.

The Canopy bearers were—Messrs. W. J. Broderick, T.D., M. H. Walsh, P.C., Town Clerk; J. Whelan, U.D.C.; J. Egan, P. J. Broderick, John Power, E. Keniry, Mce. Foley, Chas. Crowley. The school girls all dressed in white with veils presented a striking scene. The boys of the Christian Schools were conducted by Rev. Bro. O'Connell, Superior, and the other members of the Community. The Confraternities, in increased numbers marched in their sections, headed by their prefects, all wearing their medals and ribbons. The League of the Cross, with their insignia were headed by their band and fine banner. The Guroe contingent were present in large numbers and the Young Men's Society made a fine display. The Children of Mary with their blue cloaks and veils formed a very striking part of the procession.

The general public, who respectfully and reverently followed the procession proper, included large numbers from the outlying country districts and crowds occupied the various vantage points along the route. Nevertheless perfect order was maintained all through, thanks in no small measure to the capable management of the Civic Guards under Sergeant O'Beirne.

"SPIKE" O'DONNELL INJURED.

"Spike" O'Donnell, the Chicago gangster, who was on the point of leaving for England on a lecture tour on "the utility of crime," received a broken hip in a slight fight. He is said to have leaped from a motor car and to have engaged in fistfights with three men, by whom he was being roughly handled when his 17-year-old son, Patrick, rushed to the rescue.

Waterford Seized Cattle

ANIMALS TO GO "OVER THE BORDER."

The final act in the drama of the seized cattle in County Waterford was witnessed at the city pound on Saturday, when the five remaining beasts were disposed of to a man, who gave his name as "O'Neill" and spoke with a sharp Northern accent. The original number of cattle seized by Mr. John McCarthy, rate collector, Waterford Council, in default of arrears of rates was twelve. They were taken from the land of Mr. Thomas Whittle, at Ballinavilla. Seven of these were reclaimed by the owners, who paid the arrears of rates due, together with poundage fees, which were for a fairly substantial sum.

The sale of the balance of the cattle was of a quiet character. There were few farmers present, and the majority of the crowd, which was not large, consisted mainly of young people with little or nothing to do. As on Thursday last, there was a big force of Civic Guards and detectives, numbering about forty. They were in command of Chief Supt. Murphy, Supt. Fahy, and Inspectors Tobin and Harle.

Prior to the auction, which took place at one o'clock, rumours were current that the cattle would be bought, and the rumours received confirmation when, as the hour of sale approached, a group of strangers approached the auctioneer's rostrum—the public footpath in this case—and evinced a much keener interest in the proceedings than the main section of the crowd. The actual buyer took up a position behind the auctioneer, Mr. McCarthy, and against the wall. Surrounding him, or in close proximity to him, were several detectives and strangers, who appeared to have come from a distance and to have accompanied "O'Neill."

A number of farmers were present, principally from Cahillier district.

Bidding was at first hesitant, but subsequently proceeded apace. The first offer was from the stranger already referred to. It was 40s. per head for the five cattle. Prior to this however, a man dressed in a brown overcoat and soft hat, asked what about the pound fees. To this question, Mr. McCarthy replied that they would have to be paid by the buyer. "How much are they?" was the next question, and by way of response the inquirer was handed a docket for the fees in question. They amounted to £9 11s. 3d. The stranger handed back the document to the auctioneer without further comment, and the sale proceeded.

There was a slight pause after the initial bid, and then a voice in the crowd offered another shilling. "Name please?" asked the auctioneer, to which the answer was "Flynn." This was Mr. Maurice Flynn, Ballinamintra, who, in response to a further query by the auctioneer, said he was bidding on behalf of the owner. Bids then rapidly succeeded each other until £1 5s. was reached, at which figure they were knocked down to "O'Neill."

At one stage of the proceedings there was a protest from Mr. Flynn. He exclaimed rather indignantly: "You asked me for my name. Why didn't you ask the name of the other man?" "That does not concern you," said the auctioneer.

Mr. Flynn was about to make a further remark when his opposing bidder said—"O'Neill."

"A good Irish name," added the auctioneer, "and I hope he will get them."

When the sale had concluded, the purchaser handed over the purchase money to the auctioneer, together with the poundage fees. The crowd appeared inclined to linger around the vicinity of the pound, but were quickly moved on by Civic Guards.

"O'Neill" entered a waiting motor car, and, accompanied by two detectives, drove away, but after a brief interval returned, followed by a large motor lorry, fitted up specially for the transport of livestock. It bore the registration number BO 7568. Within five minutes from the time the lorry backed up to the pound gate, the cattle were loaded and driven away, preceded and followed by motor cars containing detectives. It is stated that the cattle were booked for a destination across the border.

The Waterford National and Literary Club

FOUNDED FIFTY-TWO YEARS AGO BY "DERBY DICK"

(Specially Contributed by "An Seanoir.")

Thirty-eight years ago the following lines appeared in a Waterford newspaper:

"It will, we think, be generally conceded that of the many social and quasi-political institutions in the city, there is none so popular or so well and heartily patronised as the National and Literary Club, which has its location in the spacious house on the Mall, opposite the Town Hall. When it was started many years ago, during its cradle period, so to speak, it was even when the hub of a system of social life to which belonged some of the rarest and best of the many good fellows who were then in our city, and some of them still remain amongst us, and others have made names for themselves across the broad Atlantic or beneath the Southern Cross. The National and Literary Club is to-day what it always was—the central rallying point of the men of Waterford who are desirous for this country's weal from every standard of vision. Its doors are open to membership for every man, no matter before what altar he may bow, provided only that his aspirations are national."

The Waterford National and Literary Club was then in the fourteenth year of its existence, having been founded by the late Mr. Richard Power, M.P., on December 6th, 1882.

The splendid collection of enlarged photographs (equal to first-class portraits) steel engravings, and other pictures displayed in the reading rooms, are reminders of the many brilliant Waterford men and others of a past generation who were prominent members of the National and Literary Club. A conspicuous place is occupied by the picture of Mr. Richard Power, M.P., the founder. One of Parnell's lieutenants or right-hand men, the late Richard Power was known by the sobriquet of "Derby Dick" because of a famous speech delivered by him in the British House of Commons when he moved the adjournment of the House to permit the members to attend the Derby at Epsom. It is said that Gladstone was much intrigued by the humour of that speech. Possessing a remarkable knowledge of Parliamentary and social etiquette, Richard Power was regarded by Parnell as "The Aristocrat of the Party."

And the Chief always relied on the judgment of the well little Waterford man to guide the efforts of the Irish Parliamentary Party representatives whenever doubts arose regarding correct procedure.

Side by side with Richard Power's picture is an excellently enlarged photograph of the late Edmund Leamy, M.P., B.L., who was Vice-President of the Club in its early years. Leamy was a brilliant orator, and represented East Waterford Constituency in the House of Commons in the nineties of the last century. He was the author of a delightful book entitled "Irish Fairy Tales" which was recently translated into Irish, and is now used as a text book in our Primary Schools. The late John Redmond was Honorary President of the Club during his entire Parliamentary career. His photograph (with autograph signature) occupies a conspicuous place in the Club, as well as fine pictures of Parnell, Mayor William Redmond, Michael Davitt, Thomas Sexton in his robes of office as Lord Mayor of Dublin. Sexton was one of the original group of National and Literary Club members. There is also a picture of Joseph G. Biggar, who owned Butlerstown, Castle, Waterford, where he had occasional holidays during his stormy Parliamentary life.

Amongst the many leading Waterford men connected with the inauguration of the National and Literary Club was the late Edmund Harvey, Grange, John's Hill. A Quaker in religion, and a life-long advocate of Home Rule for Ireland, Mr. Harvey was intimately in touch with the leaders of the '48 and '67 movements. The well-known English novelist Mr. Harold Begbie, has a chapter in his book, "The Lady Next Door" (it is headed, "In a Quaker's Parlour") which deals with the career of the late Edmund Harvey. Mr. Begbie was commissioned by "The Daily Chronicle" newspaper to visit Ireland and get first-hand information regarding the case for Home Rule about the year 1912. He spent a day with Edmund Harvey in Waterford. The reading rooms of the National and Literary Club contains some valuable pictures presented by Mr. Harvey. One of them is a steel engraving by William Smith O'Brien. It bears the following autograph: "William Smith O'Brien, Kilmannah Jail, August 31st, 1848." There are other splendid engravings of John Mitchell and Thomas Francis Meagher. The latter's name is written in a remarkably "bold" hand—a good index to the manly and chivalrous character of "Meagher of the Sword." The Club was also indebted to Mr. Harvey for many presents of valuable books. It is not an exaggeration to state that no other building in Waterford houses as fine a collection of pictures of Waterford worthies and illustrious sons of Ireland. An expert professional photographer assures me that the enlarged photographs (taken more than forty years ago) are perfect specimens of the camera-man's art, and could not be improved upon at the present day. Scientific developments have added to the artistic finish given to the old prints. Mr. Harvey, who lived

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL

Present—Mr. M. D. Broderick, moved to the chair—Mrs. S. Hurley, P.C.; Messrs. D. J. Linehan, D. Dennehy, J. Whelan, T. Beausang, T. Harrington, E. Clancy, M. J. Fleming, P. J. O'Gorman, P.C.; P. J. McMahon, P.C., and A. J. Fowkes.

Housing Site.
Messrs. Hodnett & Son, solicitors, to the Council, submitted for signature the agreement for the purchase of the late Mr. Lynch's field for the proposed new Housing Scheme. It had already been signed by the executors of his will.

It was unanimously agreed to have the document signed in the usual necessary form.

Minutes.
There being a lot of business to be disposed of, the minutes of the previous meeting were unanimously taken as read.

Mr. O'Gorman—How many pages this week, Mr. Clerk?

The Clerk—Over five pages, Sir.

Mr. Harrington—And the Co. M.O.H. wants a copy of all that (laughter).

A Deputation.

Mr. Beausang said there was a deputation outside, anxious to appear before the meeting.

Replying to a member, the Clerk said he had received no notification regarding a deputation.

The Chairman said he thought any deputation intending to come before the Council should have the courtesy of notifying the Clerk.

Mr. McMahon proposed that, as they had not received the deputation till the end of the meeting.

Mr. Beausang proposed, and Mrs. Hurley, seconded, that they receive them.

Mr. Fleming suggested that they ask one member of the deputation to see what they wanted and they could then decide what to do.

This was seconded by Mr. Harrington.

Mr. Fowkes asked was it the usual procedure that previous notification should be given.

The Clerk replied in the negative.

Mr. Fleming—Find out what their business is, and then decide. I propose it.

On a poll being taken, Mr. Fleming's proposition was carried by 8 to 4.

Mr. J. Forrest, Junr., was then called in and he reminded the Council that five weeks ago they had decided on going ahead with the new Housing Scheme. The deputation he represented wanted to know what was the cause of the delay.

The Clerk said they hadn't yet got the plans and it was only at that meeting that the agreement to purchase the site was received and signed.

The Chairman said they had no power to move in the matter until they got the plans.

Mr. Forrest said that he was very much surprised on reading the report of the meeting at which the last deputation waited on them in connection with the housing scheme. Mrs. Hurley was reported to have remarked that it was the Government was holding up the scheme. The deputation had left the meeting before that, but the report left the impression that they hadn't. He hoped the Press would take note of his remarks.

The Chairman asked what was Mr. Forrest's object.

Mr. Forrest said he wanted to correct a wrong impression.

The Chairman said he couldn't understand Mr. Forrest's intervention. It was the Government that had held up the scheme, and Mrs. Hurley was quite correct in making the remark.

Mr. O'Gorman asked was this propaganda. Mr. Forrest came before them for a specific purpose—to ask the cause of the delay in connection with the housing scheme. He had got his answer and should have been satisfied. Instead he began to attack a member.

Mr. Forrest (warmly)—I want to be heard.

Mr. O'Gorman said when Mr. Forrest, who was a prospective candidate for the new Council, had some experience, he would realise that there was a certain procedure to be followed in public business.

After a further lively interchange, Mr. Forrest left banging the door violently.

Mr. O'Gorman said if that was a sample of the New Council, there was a nice prospect before them. With a little experience he would probably cool off.

Mr. McMahon—Mr. Chairman, now was I right? (laughter).

Mrs. Hurley—God save us from our to be ninety years, retained his keen interest in the welfare of the National and Literary Club until his death about fifteen years ago.

There are a few of "The Boys of the Old Brigade" (associated with the Club in its cradle period) who are still active members. There is continuity with the past in the fact that on the roll of membership to-day will be found the names of many leading business men and professional men, and public representatives of Waterford City. The roll of Honorary President is capably filled by Dr. Vincent White. It is interesting to note that the efficient club steward, Mr. Tom Reale, has completed forty years of faithful service.

friends. We know our enemies (laughter).

Mr. O'Gorman—The whole thing is mere propaganda.

Mr. Beausang asked when would the houses be handed over.

The Clerk said he couldn't say.

The Chairman said whatever the other causes of delay, it was stated that the Government were going to appoint only one arbitrator for the whole Free State, so that it might be a long time before the matter was decided.

Mr. Beausang—When will Mr. Bloomer hold the inquiry?

The Clerk—I can't say.

Mr. Clancy said some people were under the impression that the Council was responsible for the delay, but it was now plain to everybody who was to blame.

Mr. McMahon—'Tis true 'tis a pity and 'tis a pity 'tis true (laughter). For over half a century I have never seen such an exhibition of muddle. If I had the smallest bit of feeling in favour of Fianna Fail, it would be killed. Their methods were simply rotten.

British Legion.
The Hon. Sec., local British Legion applied for the use of the Town Hall on the 2nd inst., to hold a general meeting.

The application was granted unanimously.

New Structures.
The Town Surveyor, submitted a report regarding an additional structure to a house at McCurtainstown referred to at the last meeting. He visited the place and was informed by the owner that as it was only an addition to the house, he didn't think it necessary to apply for the Council's permission. He (the Town Surveyor) informed the person in question that it was necessary to ask for the Council's permission.

Mr. Harrington—Ignorance of the law is no excuse.

The Clerk was instructed to write accordingly.

Youghal's Sword And Mace.
The following letter was read:—

Lismore Castle, 25/5/24.
Dear Sir,—Your letter of the 9th, ult., stating your Council's views respecting a Sword and Mace inscribed with the Youghal Coat of Arms now lying in Lismore Castle, has been placed before the Duke of Devonshire and I am instructed to say that considering the great number of years the articles have been in the custody of his family, His Grace, wishes to still retain them in the Castle here—Yours faithfully—E. E. Hey.

Mr. O'Gorman said that Sword and Mace were a link with the historic past of that old town. They belonged originally to the Corporation, to which the Town Commissioners and subsequently the Urban Council succeeded and were taken away or seized by some one many years ago. The question was how did they come into the possession of the present custodian—did some one of his predecessors purchase them? He thought they were entitled to some more satisfactory explanation than that reply.

The Chairman said he thoroughly agreed with Mr. O'Gorman. He would even go farther and assert that those interesting articles were the property of the Council. Lismore Castle was retaining something belonging to them. Anything lost or stolen belonged to the original owners.

The Clerk said he had replied as follows:—Dear Sir,—I am directed by the Youghal Urban Council to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 25th ult., on the subject, for which thanking you.

After all, you must try to appreciate that the proper custodians of those symbols are the Youghal Urban Council, successors in office to the old Youghal Corporation.

Almost everyday one reads in the Press where for sentimental reasons things are returned to their rightful custodians. Quite recently we saw where the German Government returned to the British Government Drums and Flags captured during the war.

Here in Youghal a few years ago, the late Sir Henry A. Blake, who had been Governor of Hong Kong, returned to China a pair of gates which had been taken from a township, and this township claimed ownership and rightly so. And more recently in Youghal there is the case of the Youghal Freemans Roll, which was returned to the Council by the representatives of the late Col. Romayne, for the reason that he felt that the Council were the legal custodians.

In the light of these several cases, my Council trust that the Duke of Devonshire may see his way to return to Youghal the symbols above referred to.

The meeting unanimously approved of the Clerk's reply.

A Scene.
Messrs. Hodnett, solrs., wrote stating that they had an interview with the Town Surveyor regarding the structure partly erected by Mrs. Hurley at the end of her hotel on the Strand. The Surveyor was definitely of the opinion that the structure was not a conservatory. The Council were not liable for any expenses incurred by Mrs. Hurley.

The reading of this letter was followed by a long and lively discussion, ending in an extremely heated interchange between Mrs. Hurley and Mr. McMahon.

On the proposition of Mr. Clancy, seconded by Mr. Dennehy, a vote of sympathy was passed to their Vice-Chairman (Mr. E. P. Lynch) and family, on the death of his mother-in-law.

A similar vote was adopted on the proposition of Mr. Beausang second-

YOUGHAL NOTES.

THE WEATHER last week-end was in striking contrast with what prevails during the Whitsun holiday—it was simply perfect. As a result, and in spite of all the counter attractions in the immediate neighbourhood, there was a substantial influx of visitors, sometimes except "gay-bricks," "olishers," etc. A number spent the afternoon and evening in the strand, lazing, bathing (sea and sun), paddling, etc. Many availed of the trip across the harbour by the Council's motor ferryboat, "Angeline," to invade the beautiful shore at Monaree and thence promenade along the picturesque cliffs, "with the tips of their toes in the ocean," and breaking the return journey to refresh the inured man at the well-known Hotel Monaree. It would, indeed, be hard to beat this little bit of Ireland for charm and variety by land and water, and all within easy reach. Salmon fishing this year has been a decided frost, if not a bad record. Indications during the previous winter promised a plentiful stock of salmon, but, alas! the results failed altogether to come up to anticipation. The season opened very badly and remained so for several weeks. Toward the end of February there was a decided change for the better, but, unfortunately, it lasted only for a very short period. Since then up to the present there was an occasional spasmodic improvement, but nothing worth talking about. Even the few boats which year after year, without exception, made good catches, have failed to come up to the scratch this time. We are now approaching the end of May, and the season winds up on July 31st; in reality, the men give up a month or even more before that date. The peal, if there are any of them there, will begin to run soon. However, it is to be feared it would be too much to expect they will make up for a bad salmon run. Indeed, for many years past, the peal have been mysteriously becoming very scarce. The good old days when a boat would land a ever be seen again.

COMING EVENTS cast their shadows before, but this time the shadows are bright and inspiring. In preparation for the annual Corpus Christi Procession to be held next Sunday, practically the whole town, but especially the part included in the pre-arranged route, is undergoing a complete transformation externally. Painters can't cope with the wide demands on them, with the result that there is a widespread development in the way of amateur art. Well, however, the intentions are good and highly laudable. It can, therefore be seen that the procession serves a double purpose of a highly satisfactory nature, spiritual and temporal. To do honour to the August Visitor, the old town puts on a new garb, here, there and everywhere, in a manner that does high credit to the praiseworthy intentions of its people.

CARE OF THE MAIDEN HEIFER. DEVELOPING THE MILKING HABIT.

The handling of the heifer, from six to eight months of age until she is bred, is comparatively simple. There are, however, a few essentials that must be kept in mind, since the usefulness of the cow when mature is largely dependent on her proper development before the first calf is dropped. Heifers fed on a liberal ration will mature earlier than if fed on a scanty ration, and will make larger cows, but many breeders believe that a heifer, if allowed to become too fat, will develop a tendency to use much of her feed for the foundation of body fat, which will persist when she is in milk. The conclusions of many experiments, however, point to the fact that heifers that become too fat make slightly inferior cows even if they lose their fat after coming in milk. Any effect of such overfeeding while young is of little importance in determining the productiveness of a cow compared with her inherited qualities. The chief argument against such practice is the increase in cost of growing the heifer.

It is commonly believed that if the heifer calves at any early age the tendency to milk production will be intensified, but judging from the report of available data, the indications are that the highest milk yields are usually secured from cows that are well grown before lactation begins. Gestation has very little effect on the rate of growth of the well-fed heifer, but it is materially checked as soon as lactation begins, owing to the large amount of nutrients needed for milk production. Heifers fed scanty rations and bred too early are usually stunted and are generally finer in bone than those not bred until more mature.

From the time the heifer is bred until calving she should receive considerable attention in order to assure her future success as a dairy cow. Kindly treatment, frequent handling and abundant feed is necessary. The heifer should come into milk in good flesh and with udder large and full. As parturition approaches, the feeding of the heifer should be plain, without stimulating or heating food.

After calving, a bran mash should be given, particularly when the heifer is weak or exhausted, and only warm water should be given to drink. For a few days the ration should be light until any danger of milk fever is over. A heifer with her first calf should be fed liberally since she is growing and producing milk at the same time. It is probably wise not to breed the heifer again for some time after calving, as she will be free to devote all her energies to the production of milk. This will tend to establish the "milk habit."—"Farmers' Gazette."

IRISH PATRIOT'S DESCENDANT.

DEATH OF MR. THOMAS ADDIS EMMET.

Mr. Thomas Addis Emmet, who has died in London after a few days' illness, was a great-great-grandnephew of Robert Emmet, the distinguished Irish patriot. He was the second surviving son of Major Robert Emmet, D.S.O., of Moreton Paddox, Warwickshire.

Mr. Emmet, who was only thirty-four years old, was educated at Downside. He married Evelyn, daughter of Lord Rennel of Rodd. He leaves two sons and two daughters. Mr. and Mrs. Emmet spent a good deal of their time at their country residence, Amberley Castle, Sussex, where they enthusiastically engaged in farming. The funeral will take place at Arundel.

Major Robert Emmet was born in New York, the son of Dr. Addis Emmet, of that city, and his career as a soldier has been remarkable. He served with the New York Volunteer Cavalry in the Spanish-American War, and subsequently settled at Moreton Paddox. He is a major in the Warwickshire Yeomanry and in the Royal Field Artillery. He served in the World War in Egypt and in France, was mentioned in despatches, and was awarded the D.S.O. He married Louise Garland, and has another son, Captain James A. G. Emmet, and a daughter living.

Mrs. Emmet, widow of Mr. T. A. Emmet, is a woman of remarkable individuality. She was, until the recent elections, a member of the London Co. Council, and was the first woman to be appointed to the post of Chairman of Supplies, which caters for the needs of 100,000 persons. She was, indeed, the youngest chairman of a committee in the L.C.C.

She was the originator of the idea of holding the Pageant of Parliament, which is to take place at the Albert Hall this month, and she has taken a leading part in preparing for that event.

WORK SCHEMES. THE RECRUITMENT OF LABOUR. METHOD OF SELECTION.

In a statement dealing with the recruitment of labour for work financed wholly or partly from Central Funds the Department of Industry and Commerce says:—

During the past two years large sums of money have been voted by the Dail to provide a Fund for the promotion of schemes designed to relieve unemployment. Works have been undertaken by various Government Departments and Local Authorities, the cost of which has been borne wholly or partly from this Fund. The labour required for these works has been recruited through the Local Offices of the Department of Industry and Commerce. In order that the employment thus provided might be spread over as wide an area as possible all unemployed persons were advised to register at the Local Employment Exchanges or Branch Employment Offices and facilities for registration were provided at Post Offices and Civic Guard Stations for those who resided more than three miles from a local office.

In submitting men for work on relief schemes applicants were selected on the principle that when there was not sufficient employment for all the unemployed such work as was available should, as far as practicable, be given to those who, being physically fit and qualified to perform the work, were relatively in the greatest need of it. In the development of this system of preference based on the personal circumstances of the unemployed persons, rules suggested by actual experience were laid down to secure its equitable application.

These rules required that persons with some means, such as a pension, farm, shop, agency or business or Unemployment Benefit should not be submitted so long as there were other persons less fortunately circumstanced available; that 75% of the vacancies should be allotted to married men and 25% of the vacancies to unmarried men, and that in the selection of applicants for employment regard should be had to their means and burdens and to the length of time they had been out of employment.

With the enactment of the Unemployment Assistance Act, 1933, the work of Employment Exchanges and Branch Employment Offices has been very considerably increased as the administration of the Act falls mainly on these offices. It has, therefore, become necessary to relieve Employment Exchanges and Branch Offices of the duty of selecting applicants for relief schemes. This work will in future be undertaken by the employing authorities themselves upon whom will rest the responsibility for making the proper selection. With the coming into operation of the Unemployment Assistance Act, unemployed able-bodied persons who hold Qualification Certificates will be entitled to claim unemployment assistance; therefore, the reasons for selecting workers on the principle at present in operation have undergone change. The procedure has, accordingly, been modified.

In future, in the selection of men for employment on relief work, preference will be given to those in receipt of Unemployment Assistance and amongst this class to those longest unemployed. The instruction that 75% of the vacancies are to be given to married men and 25% of the vacancies are to be given to single men will remain in force. Local Offices of the Department of Industry and Commerce will co-operate with and assist as far as possible, the officers of the employing authorities but application for work on these schemes must be made to the officer in charge of the work and not to the local Employment Exchange or Branch Employment Office.

COMPLETE FREEDOM. RIGHT TO DICTATE POLICY.

"It is my honest conviction that by the methods we have now adopted and the steps we have taken since we took control of the Governmental machinery, we will be able to achieve, in the lifetime of the present generation, perhaps, in the lifetime of President de Valera, final and complete freedom for our people, without having to ask another Irishman to raise an armed hand against his neighbour or his brother," said Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, Minister for Local Government, at a large Fianna Fail meeting in Claremorris.

He made it clear that the Government intends to carry through to the full extent the mandate which he claimed they got from the people. They intended, he said, to carry through their economic and social reform until Ireland was a better Ireland, both industrially and agriculturally. When the Free State was first established, it was used as kind of ranch for "John Bull," he asserted. It was their intention to build Ireland industrially and economically, and not allow it to be merely a ranch, supplying England with cheap food products. Mr. Cosgrave's Government neglected the fundamental work for which the people thought they were elected; then, when they first put them into office. They turned their back on the big political issues, leaving the road that led to a Republic, and tried to walk with their heads up into the British Empire. Economically they did the same thing, for they turned their back on industrial revival, which they promised to put into operation; therefore, when they did not do Ireland's business properly, the people turned.

Every Act that was passed in the Dail at the present time was bringing the Government nearer and nearer towards their final objective, which is complete freedom. The Government had the right to dictate to the people what their policy should be, and to see that the people assisted them in carrying that policy through to proper fruition. He admitted that some people suffered and were suffering in the sale of cattle owing to the heavy tariffs put on by England, "but surely to God any man who believes in the right of Ireland to govern itself would not sell his country because of the three or four pounds loss on the sale of a bullock."
