NEW HOUSES.

Mr. Williams, solr., to the Council, wrote on the question of whether it would be wise for the Council to adopt the suggestions in Mr. Ryan's letter on behalf of certain landlords in the Clearance Area, and after going fully into the matter said he did not think that the Council had any right to assume that the Minister will approve in toto of their scheme, and for this reason he thought it would be more prudent not to occupy the new houses until the Minister's inquiry has been held, even though it may mean a loss of revenue both to the Council and to the landlords.

CO. HOME SEWER.

Mr. Flynn, Secretary Board of Public Assistance, wrote stating that arrangements have been made to pay £400 to the Council in respect of the contract for the construction of a sewer from the Co. He also enclosed a letter from the Department regarding the liability for maintenance of the sewer, which stated that the Minister considers that the sewer should be maintained by the Sanitary Authority.

The day was beautifully fine and warm and as the Sportsfield abuts on the sea, a gentle breeze during the afternoon tempered the heat to that soothing degree which is the acme of perfection to the holiday-makers heart. The attendance broke all records. From far and near patrons came to enjoy the afternoon's sport by the sea waves, and they were more than compensated by the provision that had been made for their complete and thorough enjoyment.

For the various events, competition was very keen, and no wonder, for the prizes offered were very valuable, and were the best seen at any Sports meeting this year. The great success of the meeting was due to the organising powers of the Committee, who left nothing to chance, but made every arrangement so sound and so carefully that only the weather could have militated against the event being a record in every sense. And though all did their parts equally well special praise must be reserved for the Hon. Secs., Messrs. J. McHugh, and J. Cahill, who could not be excelled in their particular roles, and whose ripe administrative experience ensured such a delightful afternoon's sport for all comers.

The Dungarvan Brass and Reed Band, under Mr. McHugh B.M., and the Waterford Scouts' Pipers Band, (De La Salle Troop) under the conductorship of Mr. Walter Walsh, discoursed choice musical selections during the evening to the general delight.

The field was laid out to ensure the various competitors every comfort, and it was admitted on all sides that it was the best seen for years, which is a high tribute to the great work done under the supervision of Mr. J. Cahill. The programme opened with a road cycle race from Durrow to Abbeyside Railway Bridge, in which the greatest interest was taken. At the Bridge a big assembly had collected, and forming up behind the two Bands a procession of imposing dimensions marched on to the Sportsfield. There the proceedings opened with a parade of all the Athletes competing marching round the track to the lively and stirring strains of the Pipers' Band. It was a beautiful spectacular affair and evoked much applause from the spectators.

After the last event Very Rev. N. Dunphy, P.P., distributed the prizes to the successful athletes whom he heartily congratulated. He also returned thanks to all who patronised the Sports and the Committee, especially Mr. Cahill who had done such great work in having the field in such perfect order, for the excellent manner in which the whole programme was carried out.

Details.—Road Cycle Race (Durrow to Abbeyside Bridge)—1. M. Devereaux, Waterford; 2. J. Daly, Waterford. 10 completed. This proved a very exciting event and getting a handicap of 50 secs. Mr. Devereaux, Waterford won on the mark with J. Daly, Waterford a few lengths behind.

Walsh. 100 Yards (Boys under 12 years)—1. P. J. Harrington, Dungarvan; 2. J. O. Clancy, Dungarvan. This race had to be re-run as Harington and Clancy had heated, and in the final run, P. J. Harrington, who is a very promising young lad, won a great race by inches.

High Jump (Open Handicap)—1. W. Moore, (scr.) 5ft. 3ins.; 2. J. Murphy, Glenmore A.C. (3ins.) 5ft. 2ins.; 3. P. Keane, Waterford, (2ins.) 5ft. 1ins.

O'Brien, Lismore. 8 completed. This race proved the tit-bit of the evening and after a few laps had been done it was evident that the race would be between Galvin and O'Brien. When the bell sounded for the last lap a thrilling race was witnessed, and towards the last 50 yards it was thought the race would be a dead-heat, but by a great effort Galvin got over the line inches ahead of O'Brien.

220 Yards (Open Handicap)—1. E. Power, Glenmore A.C.; 2. N. Walsh, Cappoquin A.C.; 3. J. O'Connell, Waterford. 13 completed. E. This proved a very exciting race and from the start Nicholson with a handicap of 30 yds. won on the line from A. Ford, who started from scratch.

440 Yards (Open Handicap)—1. W. Moore, Monatirive; 2. P. Walsh, Glenmore A.C. 12 completed. Moore ran a great race and with P. Walsh, the scratch man closing on him a great finish was witnessed.

100 Yards Handicap (for Boys under 16 years).—1. Scout McNamara, Cahill; 2. C. Nicholson, Dungarvan. 8 completed. Scout McNamara, proved himself a stylish runner and his performance on Sunday was a credit to his Scout Master, who trained him for the event.

Pole Vault—1. C. Connor, Glenmore A.C. 8ft. 2. T. Conway, Cappoquin, 7ft. 11ins. 5 completed. This event proved one of the best in the programme, and O'Connor and Conway fought out for first place, which O'Connor won. In an exhibition jump afterwards Conway of Cappoquin cleared the bar at 8ft. 7ins. and was loudly applauded for his fine performance.

880 Yards (Open Handicap)—1. E. Power, Glenmore A.C.; 2. W. O'Brien, Glenmore A.C.; 3. P. Keane, Waterford. 13 completed. E. Power had a run away victory in this event and won in great style from a big field of competitors with O'Brien and Keane a close second and third.

Sack Race—1. P. Barry Cappoquin; 2. P. Quailly, Abbeyside. 8 completed. This event caused much amusement for the spectators as during the race several of the competitors tumbled and fell on the field. A great cheer was given for Barry, who got to the tape without once falling and was just there ahead of Quailly.

Jumble Race (Confined to Scouts)—1. Scout M. Cody, Waterford; 2. Scout T. Whelan, Abbeyside. 7 completed. This proved a novel event in the programme as each scout had to undress, race and dress again before he was declared the winner.

One Mile Race (Open Handicap)—1. W. O'Brien, Glenmore A.C.; 2. G. O'Connell, Glenmore A.C. O'Brien who started with 40 yards handicap ran a perfect race and towards the end himself and O'Connell drew out from the rest of the competitors. O'Connell with 30 yards handicap and O'Brien were now the only two showing up, and a great race was witnessed. In the last 100 yards O'Brien with a great burst passed O'Connell, who failed to close the gap, and O'Brien won a hard race for which he was loudly applauded.

The Draw for the four Valuable Gate Prizes took place before the last event and resulted as follows:—1st prize—Bicycle—Miss Nellie Daly, Ballyva; 2nd prize, Whistlet Watch, J. McEvoy, Abbeyside; 3rd prize, A Case of Pipes, W. Revinis, Glendine; 4th prize a Fountain Pen, Patk. O'Brien, Ballykerogue, Stradbally.

Rate Collector and Bailiff Kidnapped.

AND TIED TO POSTS. EARLY MORNING EPISODE.

At 5 a.m. on Saturday morning last, Mr. A. F. Quirke, Carrick-on-Suir, Rate Collector, for the County Waterford area adjoining, was aroused from his slumbers and opening the door was ordered to dress and accompany some men in a waiting motor car.

Mr. Quirke protested, and they forced him out into the car. After turning in the street the car drove away towards the Co. Waterford. Mr. Slattery, bailiff, from Clonmel, was also kidnapped on the same morning. The two men were later found tied to a door of a publichouse in the village of Rathgormack.

Details regarding the kidnapping of a rate collector and his salesman, who officiated at a sale of seized cattle, at Clonmel, show that a party of men first went to the house of Slattery, the salesman, in Clonmel suburbs, and called on him to come out, saying they were Guards. He said he did not know them, and declined to go. His family became alarmed, and his wife said: "In God's name, are you cowards not to say who you are?" Eventually the men promised that they would do no harm to Slattery, and he went with them. He was taken to a waiting motor, placed between two of the party, and blindfolded.

The party then proceeded to Carrick-on-Suir, and a call was made to the home of Mr. Quirke, who was asked to go with them. He refused and shut the door. The men went to the back door, forced an entrance, and forced Mr. Quirke to accompany them. The party then motored to Rathgormack village. On the journey cigarettes and whiskey were given to the prisoners. At Rathgormack Messrs. Quirke and Slattery were taken out and tied to posts on the roadside. Slattery still wore his blindfold.

The motor party, who were not disguised in any way, drove away at a white.

Meanwhile Slattery's daughter warned the Clonmel Guards, who set out in pursuit. A Carrick-on-Suir constable was told to stop a speeding car coming from Rathgormack, but it forced the pace, and he had to jump out of the way to avoid it. The two kidnapped men were in a rather distressed condition, but at last Slattery released his hand, and got at his match-box, and managed to burn through his bonds to free himself. He then released Mr. Quirke, and the two proceeded to the Rathgormack Police Barracks, and reported the affair. Clonmel Guards arrived and took Messrs. Quirke and Slattery home, little the worse of their trying experience.

ARDMORE REGATTA.

On Wednesday 22nd August the Ardmore Regatta Committee held their popular fixture, the event of the season in the pretty seaside resort. For some time past the Regatta Committee worked energetically to make the day a most enjoyable one and it is largely due to their efforts that the Regatta was so successful. Unfortunately a temporary gloom was cast on the sport by the loss of Mr. Pollock's boat when rounding the flagboat in a squall. A speedy rescue was effected, and the crew were brought safely ashore, little the worse for their adventure. The weather throughout the greater part of the day, was ideal, but towards the close of the Regatta it became bitterly cold and showery. On this account a few events were suspended. The fireworks at night proved an immense attraction. The Ardmore Pipe and Drum Band rendered a selection of national airs during the display.

Subsequently a very successful dance was held in St. Declan's Parochial Hall. This concluded the events of the day. The following are the names of the members of the Committee, events and prizewinners.— Committee.—President—William Mocker, Treasurer—John Galvin, P.C.; Starter—Matthew O'Brien; Jas. P. C.; Starter—Thos. Walsh; Moloney, Jas. Quain, Thos. Walsh, Patk. J. Mocker, Secretary. Sailing Race (combined)—1. P. Fitzgibbon. Five completed. Four-oared Boat Race combined—1. P. O'Neill; 2. J. ANOTHER AGRICULTURAL INSTRUCTOR.

In connection with the appointment of a second Agricultural Instructor for the Co. Waterford, a letter was received from the Department stating that the Ministry was in sympathy with the proposal, but was unable to get a supplementary fund for the purpose at present. They suggested putting the matter before the Co. Council. This was agreed to.

An application for a Winter Agricultural Class to be held at Fews school during the coming winter months was adjourned to the next meeting.

Premiums for Border Leicester Rams were awarded to Messrs. I. V. Stuart, Dromana and T. Connors, Faha.

WATERFORD HURLERS WIN.

AND QUALIFY FOR FINAL.

At Ennis on Sunday, Waterford met Galway in the Semi-Final of the All-Ireland Junior Hurling Championship. With the exception of a few lively bouts in the final stages of the game, the play was dull and never reached championship standard. In the first half Waterford played with the advantage of a fairly strong breeze but this advantage was nullified to a great extent by faulty shooting. At half time Waterford led by 1 goal 3 points to Galway's 1 goal 2 points.

Galway appeared to be the stronger team, and it was generally felt that that change-over would see them victorious. However, as events proved, Waterford had not shot their bolt. In the second half they not alone defended well, but forced the pace. Galway secured 2 goals 2 points, to which Waterford replied with 3 goals 2 points, leaving them the winners.

Two Waterford players received injuries which necessitated their leaving the field and the calling in of two substitutes. Curley, the Waterford goalie, played a fine game, and effected some very clever saves. Others outstanding for the winners were O'Mahony and Creed, who did most of the scoring. Donnelly, Keane, Regan and Keogh. For Galway, T. Burke, was the best marksman, ably assisted by J. Mahon, M. Donnellan and J. Leahy. The referee was Mr. Barry Blake, Ennis.

The remains were removed by road from Thurles to Dungarvan Parish Church on Thursday evening and the interment took place in the adjoining cemetery on Friday in the presence of a large gathering of mourners, relatives, friends and the general public. The chief mourners were Mrs. Flaherty (wife), Mrs. Flaherty (mother); Misses N. and J. Flaherty and Mrs. P. Lepnox (sisters); Mr. Jas. O'Gorman (father-in-law); Mrs. O'Gorman (mother-in-law); Mrs. J. Patterson, Mrs. M. Morrissey, Mrs. J. Slattery, Miss E. O'Gorman (sisters-in-law); P. O'Gorman, M. O'Gorman, Jas. O'Gorman, John O'Gorman, T. O'Gorman and E. O'Gorman (brothers-in-law); Mr. O'Mahony, Chairman, Dungarvan Council; J. Slattery (Manager, M. Roche's Jewellers, Cork.) and J. Patterson, E.S.B., Dungarvan (on brothers-in-law). Others present were Mrs. Summerville, Mr. and Mrs. Brewster, S. Callaghan, Mrs. Godsell, Mrs. M. O'Gorman, Mrs. P. O'Gorman, Mr. M. O'Mahony, Manager Avon Tyre Co., etc., etc.

The last prayers at the graveside were read by Very Rev. Canon O'Brien, P.P., V.F., and Rev. M. P. Hearn, C.C. The funeral arrangements were most satisfactorily carried out by Mr. P. Burke, Undertaker, Dungarvan.

Cattle Seizure at Dunhill.

SERIOUS ROADSIDE CONFLICT. SEVERAL FARMERS INJURED. TWO SHOTS FIRED.

Violent scenes occurred in connection with the seizure of cattle for annuities near Dunhill on Wednesday and as a result of the clash between the farmers and the Guards and bailiffs several men were injured. The scenes lasted all the way from the lands from which the cattle were taken to Kilmeaden station where the farmers made a determined effort to recover the cattle. Sticks and hurleys were used and the Guards made repeated baton charges. Two shots were fired in the air to frighten off the farmers. After a considerable delay the cattle numbering 13 of which 5 belonged to Mr. Frank Murphy, and 8 to Alice and Edward Hartley, were put on board the train at Kilmeaden and conveyed to Dungarvan Pound, under a heavy escort of Guards and detectives. The seizures were made by Messrs. English and O'Neill of the Registrar's Office, who were accompanied by about 80 Civic Guards and detectives under Supt. Dennehy, Tra-more.

Trees were felled across the roads at various points on the way to Kilmeaden. These obstructions were removed by the aid of cross-cuts and hatchets, manipulated by the Guards. All the time a big gathering of farmers pursued the cattle and their keepers. Many of those following wore blue shirts. About half a mile from Kilmeaden station a determined effort was made to rescue the cattle. A large herd of cattle was driven at a fast pace along the road towards the seized cattle with the apparent intention of forcing them through the ranks of the Guards when all the cattle would get mixed up together. Seeing what was about to happen the Guards were lined up in files across the road and met the oncoming cattle with a baton charge which drove the cattle over the hedges at each side. Another attempt having failed to drive the cattle through the ranks, the Guards and the farmers came into conflict. Sticks and hurleys were freely used by the farmers, while the Guards worked with their batons. The fight was carried into the fields adjoining and very many blows were dealt and received by the participants. At the Railway station there was a hostile demonstration by a crowd, and the names of several men were taken. A number of young men were medically treated for their injuries. The cattle will be sold at the Dungarvan Pound on Friday at 11 o'clock.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN FLAHERTY.

TRAVELLER'S SAD END.

Deep regret was occasioned in Dungarvan as well as in the many centres where he was so well and popularly known, at the early death of Mr. John Flaherty, Commercial representative of the Avon Tyre Co., which occurred rather suddenly at Hayes' Hotel, Thurles, last Thursday, following a heart attack.

The deceased was a very popular young man with all who knew him not only his commercial colleagues, but with the general public as well. Until a few years ago he represented the Cork Distillers Co., in the South. He was married to an esteemed Dungarvan lady—Miss O'Gorman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O'Gorman, Mary street. To his bereaved widow and young family, and all the members of his family deep sympathy is extended in their bereavement.—R.I.P.

The remains were removed by road from Thurles to Dungarvan Parish Church on Thursday evening and the interment took place in the adjoining cemetery on Friday in the presence of a large gathering of mourners, relatives, friends and the general public. The chief mourners were Mrs. Flaherty (wife), Mrs. Flaherty (mother); Misses N. and J. Flaherty and Mrs. P. Lepnox (sisters); Mr. Jas. O'Gorman (father-in-law); Mrs. O'Gorman (mother-in-law); Mrs. J. Patterson, Mrs. M. Morrissey, Mrs. J. Slattery, Miss E. O'Gorman (sisters-in-law); P. O'Gorman, M. O'Gorman, Jas. O'Gorman, John O'Gorman, T. O'Gorman and E. O'Gorman (brothers-in-law); Mr. O'Mahony, Chairman, Dungarvan Council; J. Slattery (Manager, M. Roche's Jewellers, Cork.) and J. Patterson, E.S.B., Dungarvan (on brothers-in-law). Others present were Mrs. Summerville, Mr. and Mrs. Brewster, S. Callaghan, Mrs. Godsell, Mrs. M. O'Gorman, Mrs. P. O'Gorman, Mr. M. O'Mahony, Manager Avon Tyre Co., etc., etc.

The last prayers at the graveside were read by Very Rev. Canon O'Brien, P.P., V.F., and Rev. M. P. Hearn, C.C. The funeral arrangements were most satisfactorily carried out by Mr. P. Burke, Undertaker, Dungarvan.

Present—Messrs. P. J. O'Gorman, P.C., Chairman; M. Ahern, R. Power, E. P. Lynch, W. O'Sullivan, T. Scully, J. Forrester, J. Daly, D. McCarthy, R. Savage, E. W. Condon, T. K. Keane, Mr. J. N. R. MacNamara, Mr. M. Cashman, R. C. Farrell, Vice-Chairman, Capt. C. Watson, J. Whelan.

Sympathy.

The Chairman said they had learned with regret, from the Obituary column of the "Examiner," that an esteemed member of a Youghal family, Mrs. C. J. Hurley, sister of the local Press Correspondent, had died in New York. He proposed a vote of condolence with the family.

Mr. Daly, seconding said he had known the deceased lady in New York. Anybody from the old county was cordially welcomed in her home. Messrs. Power, MacNamara, and other members associated themselves with the proposition.

Clearance Areas.

The Clerk suggested that, in order to facilitate and expedite any further housing schemes, they should consider and decide on places to be declared Clearance Areas.

Mr. Whelan proposed Power's Lane as a start-off.

Mr. Keane thought they ought deal with the slums in the order of their insanitary condition.

The Chairman said they would be doing nothing out of the way in naming Power's Lane first.

The Clerk said that the Dr. had given Power's and Buckley's Lanes in the South Ward, Hurley's Lane, Chapel Lane and Gille's Hill in the Centre; and Kenny's, Pender's and Raheen Lanes in the North.

Mr. Savage—Stick to the doctor's report.

The Chairman said they didn't do so last time. They were hampered by the number of houses to be dealt with. He would like to distribute the houses between the different wards.

Mr. Savage said they ought not introduce the question of wards—leave it to the doctor.

Mr. Forrester said they had the Dr.'s report before them and they should act on it. It would be only sending the fool farther to put the matter off.

The Collector will in addition be entitled to the fees prescribed under the Electoral Act, 1923, as amended by the Jurors Act, 1927. The duties of the office will be those prescribed by the Public Bodies Orders, 1925 to 1929.

The appointment to the position (which is part-time and non-pensionable) will be made pursuant to the Public Bodies Orders, 1925 to 1929, wherein the duties of the position are prescribed, and the appointment will be subject to the provisions thereof and to the sanction of the Minister for Local Government and Public Health. The amount of the approximate yearly warrant for the District is £16,492 0s. 0d.

Two approved Personal Sureties in a Bond with Warrant of Attorney attached for the sum of £1,700, together with a Bond of an Approved Guarantee Society in the sum of £4,200 will be required. The Commissioner will have to be satisfied that the Applicant appointed is competent to keep the Books and Accounts appertaining to the position and has a reasonable standard of general education or, if required by the Commissioner, he must pass a suitable examination test.

An essential qualification for the appointment is an adequate knowledge of Irish, subject to the provisions of the Local Offices and Employments (Gaeltacht) Orders, 1928 to 1934. Applicants should be over the age of 21 years.

Applications from persons disqualified by Article 96 of the Public Bodies Orders, 1925 will not be entertained. Dated the 27th day of August, 1934.

J. H. O'SULLIVAN, Secretary, Co. Council of Waterford, County Secretary's Office, Dungarvan, 27th August, 1934.

After a very protracted discussion, Mr. Keane proposed that they ask the Dr. to submit a list of slums in the order of "desmerit," irrespective of wards and that they act upon his report. Mr. Savage, seconded.

Ultimately Mr. Whelan withdrew his proposition and Mr. Forrester his opposition and the proposition was passed unanimously.

Band Promenades.

A letter was received from the Hon. Secretary North Abbey Band, offering to give promenades in the Green Park at £2 10s. each performance.

The Chairman said they had a like offer from the League of the Cross Band.

It was decided to postpone the matter till next season as it was running so late.

Capt. Watson, proposed a vote of congratulation to their reverend Bishop, Most Rev. Dr. Browne, on his attaining the 40th year of his episcopate.

Mr. Whelan, seconded.

Messrs. Savage, Keane, Forrester, the Chairman and other members and the Clerk having associated themselves with the proposition it was passed.

Lay-Out Plan Approved.

The L.G. wrote approving of the lay-out plan for the erection of 28 houses.

On the proposition of Mr. Whelan, seconded by Messrs. Power, and Forrester, the Clerk was directed to invite tenders, to be considered at their meeting on September 6th.

The question of a Clerk of Works having been raised it was decided to deal with it on the same occasion.

Suggested Rope Industry.

Mr. Power said that a local man had been in communication with the Department of Industry regarding the starting of a rope and net making industry in the town, and that a reply had been received that the financing of such a project would be a matter for local enterprise. In view of the fact that a large amount was spent yearly on the import of ropes and nets in connection with the local fisheries, something might be done by getting into touch with the Gaeltacht Commission, who might give some help in the way of machinery, etc.

Mr. Daly reminded them that the Sullivan family had carried on rope-making for over half a century. The Council should try to get it going again.

The Chairman said they would be all delighted to see it succeed.

The Clerk was directed to write to the Gaeltacht Commission on the subject.

Strand Carnival.

Mr. Ahern said he had been asked by the Strand Church Fund Committee to invite the Council's co-operation in the Carnival next week.

Mr. Savage said it was going to be on a vast scale and would prove a great attraction to visitors. The Committee were doing their best to help on the good cause.

Mr. Whelan said the Council would cooperate in every possible way.

The Chairman said he was sure all the members would help.

Fishermen's Grievance.

Mr. Power asked had any reply been received to the Council's resolution regarding the fishermen's complaint against the Lismore Castle Fishery Authorities.

The Clerk—No, Sir.

Mr. Power—That certainly is an extraordinary state of things.

Home Assistance Committees.

A letter was received from the South Cork Board of Public Assistance regarding the suggested appointment of a local Committee to deal with Home Assistance cases, stating that they decided not to appoint any such Committee in their district.

The Chairman—That saves us a lot of trouble.

Acknowledgment.

A letter was read from Mrs. Mary Harrington, Cork Hill, thanking the Council for their kind vote of condolence on the death of her husband.

Suggested Sewerage Scheme.

The Town Surveyor wrote suggesting that a Consulting Engineer should be called in in connection with the plans, etc., of the proposed new main sewerage scheme.

The matter was adjourned.

PLUCKY DROWNING RESCUE.

Thanks to the gallant action of Mr. Myles O'Byrne, (son of the late Dr. and Mrs. O'Byrne, Kilmacthomas), a young lady, whose name has not transpired, was saved from possible death by drowning, at Newtown Cove, near Tramore, on last Sunday. In the late afternoon the young lady, who was evidently unable to swim, proceeded beyond her depth and was seen to disappear beneath the surface of the water. The alarm was raised, and when she re-appeared, Mr. O'Byrne, who was one of a party of visitors who observed her perilous plight, was sufficiently close at hand to reach her with a few strokes and convey her to safety. God luck to the brave rescuer.

CONVALESCENT.

The people of the whole wide parish will be pleased to learn that Mrs. Arthur Hunt, Rockmount, Kilmacthomas, is now on the high road to a speedy and complete recovery from the effects of her recent regrettable accident.

DUNGARVAN SALE

SEIZED CATTLE MINISTER'S NAMES FOR PURCHASERS.

At the Dungarvan Pound last Friday 12 cows and 5 two-year-olds, seized for Land Commission Annulments, were put up for sale. The cattle seized belonged to the following:—Messrs. Thomas Hally, 12 cows; John Dower, 7 cows and James Cullinan 5 two-year-olds. These farmers belong to Fenor and Dunhill area. They were seized on the previous Tuesday and after much commotion were put on the train at Carroll's Cross and sent to Dungarvan under heavy escort.

On Friday morning there was much commotion in the town as several lorry loads of Guards arrived to take up duty at the sale. They numbered about 150 and were formed up in columns on the Quay near the Pound and its precincts, while many were also on duty around the Courthouse and Co. Council Offices.

A big number of farmers from Fenor, Dunhill and surrounding districts and other areas in East Waterford were present, very many of them carrying sticks. Mr. J. English, Assistant to the Co. Registrar, conducted the sale. A limited number of farmers were allowed to enter the saleyard, but any who carried sticks had them taken up at the gate by the Supt. and a Sergeant before being let in. These sticks were returned to their owners after the sale. Amongst those at the sale was Mr. N. Wall, T.D.

Twelve cows, the property of Mr. Thomas Hally, were put up singly. When a bid of £1 came from some stranger at one side of the yard another bid of a "tanner" came from the other side. Mr. English said he should insist on shilling bids. The cow was sold to a man named "O'Neill" for 25/- who bought a second at 21 and two at 30 each. The other cattle in this lot were bought by men who gave the names of "Rutledge," "Dr. Ryan," "MacEntee," "Frank Aiken," "M. P. Lynch." Immediately each sale was effected the cattle were branded with raddle with the names of the purchaser and the price, the operation being performed by some farmers from East Waterford.

The amount due by Mr. Thomas Hally for annuities and costs amounted to £24 12s.

The cows and their buyers were as follows:—

Lot 1—Mr. O'Neill, 25/-; lot 2 Mr. Rutledge, 20/-; lot 3 Mr. Rutledge, 21/-; lot 4 Mr. O'Neill 20/-; lot 5 Dr. Ryan, 20/-; lot 6 Mr. Rutledge 10/-; lot 7 Mr. Aiken, 16/-; lot 8 Mr. MacEntee, 28/-; lot 9 Mr. O'Neill, 30/-; lot 10 M. P. Lynch, 36/-; lot 11 Mr. Rutledge 31/-; lot 12 Mr. O'Neill 30/-.

In the case of Mr. John Dower, from whom 7 cows were seized the total annuities due with costs were £14 18s. 9d.

The cattle realised as follows:—Lots 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, bought by Mr. Rutledge for 26/-; 31/-; 26/- and 11/- respectively. Lot 18 Mr. O'Neill, 35/-; lot 19 Mr. Brody, 26/-.

Five 2-year-old cattle, the property of Mr. James Cullinan, Ballybrennock, were seized in respect of Land Annuities and costs amounting to £16 10s.

For these cattle "O'Neill" bid £5, the price went up to £7 11s., between that man and another buyer until £7 11s. was reached, when "Mr. Rutledge" was declared the buyer, and the cattle were branded in "Rutledge's" name.

In connection with the sale of Mr. Hally's cows, one animal was disowned by Mr. Hally, as not being his, but the Auctioneer said she was and insisted on it. Eventually, she was knocked down for 35/- to "O'Neill" which a spectator declared to be "another victory for the Government."

Immediately after the sale, the animals purchased by "O'Neill" were removed to the Railway Station by a strong force of Guards and followed by a big crowd who indulged in derisive cheering. The Guards drew a cordon across the road near the station and held back the crowd. At the station one of the owners of the seized cattle addressed "O'Neill" in vehement tones.

WIRES CUT AND RAILS LIFTED.

Early on Friday morning trees were felled across the road between Carroll's Cross and Kilmacthomas, but the Guards had these obstructions cleared away early. It was also discovered that telegraph and telephone wires were cut in the same area and all communication between Dungarvan and Waterford was cut off.

Portion of the Railway line between Kilmeaden and Carroll's Cross was also interfered with and rails were lifted. The Rosslare Express was held up for 2 1/2 hours while the line was being repaired, and all trains during the day were several hours behind scheduled time.

Protest Meeting.

ADDRESSES BY MESSRS. W. HEARNE AND N. WALL, T.D.

Subsequent to the sale, a protest meeting was held outside the Courthouse at which there was a large attendance. The speeches were listened to very carefully and there was no interruption.

Mr. Hearne, Glen, Chairman Co. Waterford Farmers' Defence Association, said he regretted to say that he felt ashamed that after the aspirations of 50 years the Home Rule they enjoyed had turned out to be not for the benefit of the country, but for its degradation and for the pauperism of the people. It was a disgrace. The policy pursued by their Government was a disgrace to the intelligence of Fianna Fail. During his short time before the public he had repeatedly requested the Government to hold a Commission of Inquiry into the position of the Farmers. The economics of to-day are based on the most prosperous period enjoyed by the farmers—the 15 years prior to 1931, and it was impossible for the farmers when prices were down by 70 per cent. to support such an economic position. Now when things are so bad through no fault whatever of the farmer, the bailiff comes along into your yard and though he knows in his heart that the farmer cannot afford to pay or meet his obligation and that, in fact, he is very often short of the very necessities of life for himself and his family, yet what does the law force him to do? To take away the only means that stood between him and hunger and want and that is his milch cow (shame). Why talk about the atrocities of Cromwell. They are nothing to the atrocities in this country at present and by a Government we would like to call our own. All we ask is what should not be denied to any free man and that is an Inquiry into these conditions. It is not a very unjust demand. That suggestion has been put to the Government before this, but without avail. It is not too late for the Government to mend their ways and once again he would repeat the request that the Government would set up a Commission of Inquiry which was not asking too much. If these seizures went on for the next 13 years, where would they lead to? It would land the country deeper in the mess. He hoped during the present recess in the Dail that the Government would consider the matter seriously and even now give the people the benefit of the Home Rule they had been looking for and hoping and longing for during the past 50 years (applause).

MR. N. WALL, T.D.

Mr. N. Wall, T.D., in the course of an interesting address said that meeting was not held for any political purpose, but to try and bring home to the people of Dungarvan what the position is and whether that position from the point of view of the farmer or the man in town should be allowed to develop or not.

They had repeatedly put up to the Government the position of the farmers. Their requests were not in the least unreasonable. They had asked that during the continuation of the economic struggle with England to relieve the farmers of all rates and annuities because the farmer's present position is that his income is reduced to one-third of what it was. None of you regardless of your political opinions would like to have your income reduced by two-thirds. It is not a fair proposition for any one and I have the greatest sympathy with any one suffering in that respect. We ask that the Government set up an impartial inquiry into our position and see if the farmers are in a position to meet the demands made upon them. They have not acceded to that request. You in the town may treat this matter lightly, but the day is not far off when you may deeply regret it. This is an agricultural country. The people of Dungarvan depend on agriculture for their living and I may tell you that the vast majority of the farming community, at least 75 per cent. of the farmers, are unable to meet their liabilities. That will have very serious reactions for everyone—for public officials and for unfortunate men who want a day's work, and particularly for the farmers themselves. Where is all that leading to? The bailiffs come and seize cattle from hard-working farmers in the Fenor area. These men do not own motor cars and they have to earn their living as hard as you and get no compensation. They merely ask for legal justice and if we get that we will be reasonable.

Politics should not be allowed to enter into this matter. It is too serious. It is an economic question and whatever we think of England we are dependent on them for our market. We have no alternative market. It happened quite recently in Carrick-on-Suir that a bailiff could not be found amongst the unemployed and there are very many here too unemployed as well as in Carrick-on-Suir. Well one of these Carrick men could not be got to do the dirty work which is a tribute to the men of Carrick-on-Suir, and I hope it will be the same when the time arises in Dungarvan.

A few days before the seizures in Fenor, a man came along and went to one of those men whose cattle were seized. That man said he was hungry and the man fed him. Yet that same man turned up the following day and seized the cattle on the man who fed him. I would rather go hungry than take a meal from a man who was to be my victim the following day.

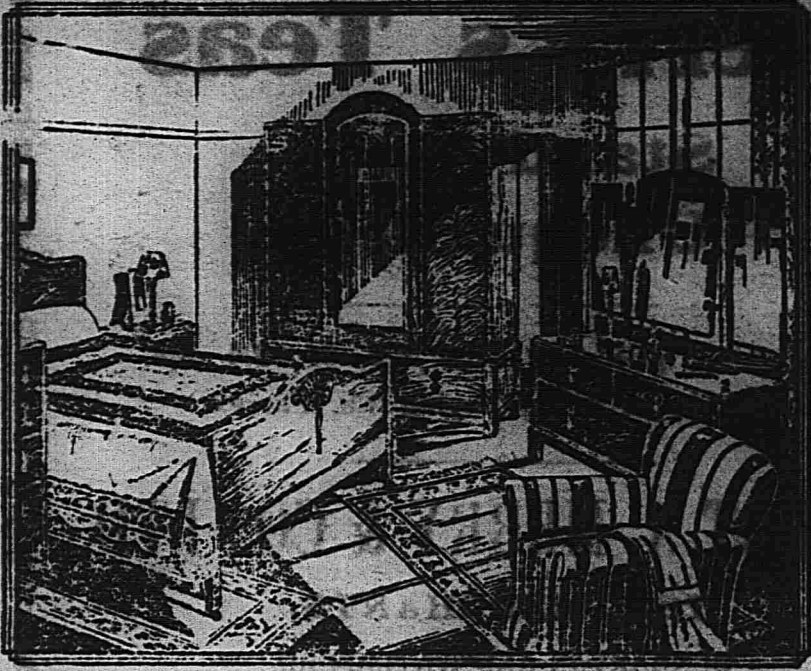

This dispute with England must be settled some day. While it lasts let everyone bear an equal burden and there would be no grievance. Let the members of the Government, all public officials and others not suffering at present hand back half their incomes and then we will all be satisfied. If it is going to be a National struggle the whole strain should not be thrown on one section of the community (hear, hear).

He appealed to the people of Dungarvan to investigate their grievance. If the shopkeepers and town dwellers believed the farmers were right let them write to the Government on the matter for we have appealed to them in vain. The only fear I have is that unless this so-called economic war is finished the country will be so poor that there will not be a living for a dog in it (applause).

Mr. Hearne, declaring the meeting at an end, said he thanked the people for their attendance and hoped the few words he said would bear fruit. It was a great pity and a great disgrace to have those farmers who had no other means whatever deprived of the only plank that stood between them and destitution taken from them. That was a terrible position and was a disgrace to the intelligence of the present Government. "I now say goodbye to you all and good day and let us hope for better times before long (applause)."

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

MOTOR ACCIDENT AT CAPPAGH
When returning from the League of Youth Dance in Dungarvan on Thursday morning a serious motor accident occurred at Coolmanav Cross near Cappagh. It appears that the car was driven by Mr. Hugh O'Connor, Mount Rivers, and with him were Messrs. P. Morrissey, Affane, M.L. Power, do., Misses Rita and Bridie Morrissey, Affane. Evidently through some fault of the steering, the car struck the ditch with considerable force and was capsized. Civic Guards from the West of the County going home from duty in Dungarvan during the night, came on the scene and had the injured attended to, while a Priest and Doctor were also sent for. It was found that Mr. O'Connor and the Misses Morrissey, were rather seriously injured and Dr. Casey, M.O., Dungarvan had them removed at once to the District Hospital, where it was found their injuries were not too great.

ESTATE OF FORMER OFFICIAL IN WATERFORD
Mr. Augustine Aoron Farrell, of Summerville House, Newtown, Waterford, Secretary and General Manager of Waterford Harbour Commissioners, at one time coxswain of the Waterford Boat Club and a noted sculler and yachtsman, left personal estate in England and Irish Free State valued at £1,844. Probate of the Will has been granted to his brother, Walter Farrell, of Sion Row, Ferrybank, Waterford. The testator left his property in trust for his wife and children as the trustees of the Will should determine.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION
Enrolment for whole-time Day Continuation Schools under the Co. Waterford Vocational Education Committee begins on Monday next September 3rd, at Dungarvan, Cappoquin, Clashmore and Ring Centres. At these Centres boys and girls are catered for in a very thorough manner. Manual Instruction and Rural Science classes for boys and Domestic Economy classes for girls are under highly skilled teachers, and we are sure by this time the public fully realise the advantages which these classes confer on the rising generation to give them their complete and whole-hearted support. The Vocational Education Committee are doing all in their power for the technical training of the boys and girls in the County and have had schools erected in various centres to cater for the educational needs of the people in matters technical and practical. As time goes on other schools will be provided in the centres not at present getting the advantages which these courses confer. In Ring Centre, the instruction will be through the medium of Irish, and when other centres feel equal to it they, too, will have complete Irish courses, as all the teachers being appointed by the Committee are competent to teach through the National tongue. As not more than 20 students may enrol in any one practical class, early application is necessary to ensure a place. All particulars can be had from the highly-capable Chief Executive Officer, Mr. Lanigan, at the Dungarvan Technical School, or at the centres named above.

HALL CARETAKER HELD-UP
Late on Monday night, Mr. James Veale, caretaker of the Town Hall, Dungarvan, was held up by some young men and the keys of the Town Hall taken from him. Though the door was opened, no harm was done in the hall.

FEAST OF ST. AUGUSTINE
The Feast of St. Augustine, was duly honoured at St. Augustine's on Tuesday, where in the presence of an immense congregation Solemn High Mass was celebrated. In the evening there were special devotions, and Rev. Fr. Duffner, O.S.A., delivered an eloquent oration on the life and teachings of St. Augustine. Special hymns were sung by the choir. Mrs. O'Hara, A.L.C.M., presided at the organ.

CATTLE SEIZURES AT DUNMORE EAST
On Tuesday morning Messrs. English and O'Neill, Sheriff's assistants, visited Dunmore East and seized 88 cattle on the farms of Mr. Schofield, Island View, and Mrs. M. Morris, Ballyglan. 18 cattle were taken on the first named farm for annuities of £20 and for annuities of £30. 20 cattle were taken from Mrs. Morris. Accompanied by a big number of Civic Guards, the cattle were driven to Waterford and put on the train for Clonmel Pound where they were to be sold.

LEAGUE OF YOUTH GREAT DANCE IN DUNGARVAN

The first Annual County Dance under the auspices of the League of Youth, was held in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on Wednesday night and was a tremendous success from every point of view. Upwards of 300 couples participated. They were drawn from all parts of the County Waterford and the neighbouring Counties and they made it a really "blue" event. Blue shirts and blue blouses predominated; the elaborate decorations of the Hall were blue, in fact no one could mistake the dance for anything but what it really was—a Blueshirt dance to which the boys and girls in blue foregathered from all parts of the county.

Prior to the dance a reception was held at the Commercial Hotel, which was presided over by Mr. R. Hanly. Those present were Lord Wm. Beresford, Commandant and Mrs. Cronin, T. P. Gunning, and Mrs. Gunning; Capt. Quinn; Capt. Quish; Mrs. R. Hanly, F. J. Power, J. J. Crotty; Miss Flynn, Miss Forde, Miss Gullinan, Miss Murphy, Percy Kirwan; John Butler, M. Clancy, M.L. Norris and Walter Terry. After a sumptuous repast served in the most satisfactory manner those present proceeded to the Town Hall. Commandant Cronin was escorted by a Guard of honour of Officers of the L.O.Y. Arrived at the hall, the Commandant received a wonderful reception from the assembly, while the Band played "Blueshirts Abu." During an interval Comdt. Cronin gave a brief address after which the band played the National Anthem. A wire was received from General O'Duffy, regretting that at the last moment pressing business prevented his attendance and wishing the dance every success. Mrs. Redmond, T.D., also wired regretting being unable to be present and wishing all an enjoyable time.

As already stated, the hall was laid out most artistically and appropriate to the occasion and was a credit to all associated with its decoration. The Ladies Committee were Misses Flynn, Cullinan, McGrath, Dempsey, Broderick, Mrs. Kirby and Mrs. Hanly, ably, assisted by a number of local gentlemen. The catering was excellent. In this department Mrs. Kirby, and her Committee, gave the utmost satisfaction and won the appreciation of all present. Billy McSweeney's Band, personally conducted, supplied the music and to its merry strains not a moment was lost in thorough enjoyment of the night, and when the finale came at 9 o'clock, few there were who did not regret that halt had to be called to a dance which will linger long in the memories of those who were present.

Not an untoward incident had to be recorded in relation to the event. The Civic Guards, under Supt. Walsh had made perfect arrangements for parking cars, keeping order, etc., and everything passed off just as it should. All associated with the League of Youth Annual Dance, deserve to be congratulated on the success of the event, and when the time comes round for another such night, we bespeak for it even greater success, if such can be.

DUNGARVAN SHOW

At a meeting of the Show Committee on the 23rd August, it was decided to pay all prize money now that the sanction of the Department had been received. Local winners can have their cheques by calling at the Secretary's Office. Considering the adverse circumstances prevailing it was a great achievement of the Show Committee to make ends meet and was a tribute to the careful management of the Committee and their Secretary. After 20 years, the Dungarvan Show still holds its own as one of the best run provincial Shows in the land.

NO. 191.—

JUST DOGS!

THEIR MENTALITY NOT OURS.

By "PHILOKON."

IN considering the mind of a dog, trying to fathom his mental processes and to analyse the motives for his actions, more often than not we begin with assumptions that are entirely erroneous, and having once missed the road we never get back to it again. The other day, a wet afternoon at the seaside drove me to sample the hotel library, and by lucky chance I took up a pre-war copy of "Cornhill." The first title that caught my eye was "The Mind of a Dog," by Professor S. Alexander. I had seen quotations from this article but never read it and here was a chance not to be missed.

Professor Alexander makes his views clear at the outset: "My dog is intelligent and good, as becomes a dog more so than some dogs and less so than others; but his mind is a dog's and not a man's, and it is better to be a whole dog than half a man." Time and again I have written of the danger of judging a dog's mind by our own. Perhaps it is a natural thing to do unless we remember that his world is altogether different from ours. We can no more understand his point of view than he can understand ours. The intellectual education of the Professor's dog was almost entirely technical. So is that of all dogs. We teach them to obey, to do things, using as far as possible their innate abilities. We teach them to obey, to fetch, to carry, trace other animals by the use of their noses, to sit, lie down, and do a dozen other little things, all of which may be described as technical.

We cannot make them understand why certain things happen. Again, to come back to the Professor's dog: "Roughly speaking, what distinguishes him from children is that though he learns to do things he does not learn their meaning. He can take means to ends, but he does not know why he must take them. He knows the hang of things but does not know why they hang together." This dog had acquired a vocabulary of some dozen or more words. Probably that was underestimating the number. I suspect that most dogs know the meaning of nearly twice as many, though, until we set down on paper the words they comprehend, we are apt to exaggerate.

John Galsworthy held that dogs were the only four-footers that had a glimmering of altruism, or something to that effect. At least we are agreed that they are prepared to sacrifice themselves for those they love. Their gentleness with children and puppies and the manner in which a big dog will protect a weaker friend are qualities that earn our admiration. For all that Professor Alexander would not call their virtues moral. They are mere habits and dogs have not learned the reason for them. They understand that certain things are lawful and others wrong because the fact has been impressed upon their memories by rewards or punishments. They refrain from stealing, not so much because the idea of theft is contrary to their morals as that they are aware that the act is followed by punishment if they are found out. Constant repetition of that lesson has taught them to know instinctively that they must not steal, but they have not the remotest idea why stealing is wrong. Yet those of us who love dogs feel that John Galsworthy was right in speaking of their altruism, and Professor Alexander tempers cold scientific facts with the remark about his dog: "His sympathy is not one of imagination, but of instinct refined by intercourse, and I should be very ungrateful if I did not here record the perpetual little manifestations of loving kindness which arise on his part from this rapport between himself and me."

This chat is issued by THE TAIL-WAGGERS' CLUB OF IRELAND, 23, Old Abbey Street (off Marlborough Street), Dublin, C.S. The Club will be pleased to answer any enquiries submitted by Tail-Wagger Owners in connection with canine hygiene and welfare.

THE FAIR. Kilmacthomas monthly fair, held on Tuesday, was pretty well supplied in all departments, but business, due to the lack of it, was on a par with that of the July fairs here. Recent rates ruled all transactions enacted.

Tally Court.
ALLEGED LARCENY.

(Before Mr. Farrell D.J.) John Riordan, Glentane, was charged with breaking into a stable and with the larceny of a saddle, the property of James Cotter, Rathdrum, Ballynoe, value 15/-.

Inspector Tobin, prosecuted and Mr. B. J. Baylor, solr., Fermoy, defended.

Mr. Cotter stated that he missed the straddle from his stable on 21st Feb., last. He found that the window of the stable had been tampered with. He next saw and identified it, with the Sgt. on 28th July. It wasn't changed, but it fell asunder.

Witness was cross-examined at length by Mr. Baylor. He might have seen the defendant around the stable. He lived about 2 miles away, but not as the crow flies.

The Justice—What does it matter? Witness adhered to his statement that the straddle produced was the one stolen from him.

Sgt. Heraty stated that he visited Cotter's premises on 28th July.

The Justice—The 28th July! The straddle was stolen in February.

The Sgt.—He didn't report to me till the 28th July.

The Justice—Very curious!

The Sgt. stated he found the straddle at Riordan's on 28th July and recognised it from Cotter's description.

Defendant said the straddle was always there.

Mr. Baylor said the defence was a complete denial of having entered; also that the straddle in question had been the property of defendant's father who was dead.

Defendant gave detailed evidence bearing out Mr. Baylor's statement. His father put several parts on it.

Cross-examined by Inspector Tobin, witness said that was the only straddle he had.

Replying to the Court, witness said he was about 21. His father was dead 4 years. He till the farm up to that year. He worked for others now. No one lived with him.

The Inspector asked leave to recall the Sergeant.

The Justice—Certainly.

The Sgt. said in addition to the straddle produced he found another new one. There was harness in every room in the house, even in the bedroom.

To the Court—He could tackle 3 or 4 horses with what I saw.

The Justice—What were you doing with all these?—I have no other.

Where did you get the others?—I have none only the one for years.

The Sgt.—They were almost new.

Mr. Baylor—This is most unfair.

The Justice—I am dead against you. This gent is a collector of other people's harness and straddles from the evidence I have just heard.

Mr. Baylor said the man was of a peculiar mentality and perhaps had no criminal intent.

The Inspector said he had been previously convicted of stealing a feeding trough and a ladder.

Mr. Baylor made a strong appeal for leniency. The man's frame of mind and his home life were unusual.

An N.T. stated that when at school they could not teach him anything. He didn't get beyond the first standard.

The Justice—He is a little bit too tough for my taste. I think a term of jail would do him some good.

He was sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

LARCENY.
An old woman, named Elizabeth Burns, of no fixed abode, was charged on remand, with the larceny of 4/1, from the Catholic Church at Ballynoe.

There was also a fresh charge of the larceny of 2/6 and 2 ozs. of tobacco, the property of Timothy Beecher, Ballyduff.

Inspector Tobin, prosecuted.

Lengthy evidence was given by Mr. J. Leahy, and Miss Downings, Ballyduff, to the effect that 4/- had been abstracted from a box containing the Mass collections on Sunday, 10th, June. The box was in the vestry.

Mrs. Margaret Lynch, stated that she saw the accused leaving the chapel by the side door at about 1.30 that day and went to her cabin. She returned later and gave witness 2d. that she owed. She then asked for a pin for her husband and gave a 6d. bit and 3d.

Accused—Yerra, you'd swear the cross of an ass's back (laughter).

Called to order she said—I don't give a d— if ye gave me 1,700 years in jail. They're all down on me (laughter).

Replying to the Court witness said she didn't see the woman doing anything in the chapel.

Accused—I was at half 8 Mass. I didn't go near it till 10.30, when I went to look for a sup of holy water (laughter).

Miss Margaret O'Sullivan said she saw the woman inside the altar rails at 10.30. She approached witness and asked where was the holy water.

Guard McNally stated he searched accused and her husband. She had 2d. and he had 6d. There was no other money in the house.

The Justice—Have they a house? The Guard—A caravan.

In the second charge, Sgt. Bane, Ballyduff, stated he saw accused coming out of Beecher's shop. A few minutes after, Mrs. Beecher reported that she missed a half crown and 2 ounces of tobacco.

He followed accused down a lane and saw her throw something on the grass. It was a half-crown. He questioned her, but she didn't answer. He then arrested and cautioned her and she said—"Why wouldn't I take it when I found it on the counter? Accused—Oh—!—that is the damndest lie you ever told (laughter). Mrs. Bridget Beecher stated that while in her kitchen she saw that woman inside the counter. She had the pencil and half-crown in her hand. When witness examined the cash box the money was gone.

Accused—Oh! Glory be to God! She refused to be sworn, but made a rambling statement to the effect that her husband gave her the half-crown to buy food. When the Sgt. came up to her she said—Yerra to h— with ye! It doesn't belong to anybody, and she threw it in the ditch (laughter). She was 46 years travelling through Ireland, and nobody could say she ever stole a match (laughter).

Accused here created several scenes and had to be removed from the Court. Inspector Tobin—She is a terrible nuisance to the whole community.

The Justice—What am I to do with her?—She is the most troublesome woman that ever came into this Court. She was sent to goal for one month on the second charge.

In the case of Supt. Quinlan, Lismore, against Cyril Jolly, for obtaining money under false pretences, which was heard at last Lismore Court and adjourned for decision, the Justice asked Mr. J. W. O'Gorman (solicitor for defence) if he was in a position to give an undertaking that the man would return the money.

Mr. O'Gorman said they had already returned some of the money and intended making restitution to all concerned.

The Justice said that was a very peculiar case, where a man got tickets for a raffle, with no date fixed for the event. He sold the tickets for 3d. each and placed an order for a pair of blankets, the subject matter for the raffle, but didn't pay for them. A barber by trade, he took it into his head to run the raffle for his own private gain. While searching his place in reference to another charge, the Guards found the unused raffle tickets. There would appear to be some difficulty in bringing home the charge of false pretences, as the defendant had held genuine raffles previously and gave some reason for not holding the one in question. If the defendant carried out the undertaking given by his solicitor he (the Justice) was disposed to let the matter rest there. At the same time he wished to warn the defendant and all others inclined to follow his example by running raffles of that kind that they would incur very serious risks.

The case was then dismissed.

YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, D.J.)

ROW IN PUBLHOUSE.

Michael Turner, Market Square, summoned John McGrath, South Main St., fisherman, for malicious damage to his premises. He was also charged with abusive and threatening language.

Mr. T. K. Keane, for plaintiff. From the evidence it appeared that the defendant got into an argument with some men in the taproom of plaintiff's premises on Regatta Night, smashed windows and damaged doors, the repairs costing £1 16s. 9d., the plaintiff stated that he used very bad and threatening language during the night.

Having been fined 7/6 for drunkenness last day, he was now fined 1/- with 10/- costs, and ordered to pay the amount of damage claimed.

Housebreaking, Etc.

A young man named Joseph Barry, of Macroom, was charged with breaking into the premises of J. Leonard, Camp View, Hotel, and doing damage to the extent of £2 11s. 0d.

It was stated that at the time of the offence the accused was in the Free State Army, and stationed at Kiltworth.

Sergt. Hayes, Mitchelstown, deposed that he arrested the accused Joseph Barry, on 16th August, at Mitchelstown, gave him the usual caution and charged him with the offences set out in the deposition, that he entered the premises with intent to commit felony and with malicious damage £2, breaking window and breaking woodwork and glass ware. He made a statement to be produced later. Not having finished his inquiries witness applied for a remand to next Mitchelstown Court, on 28th inst., when he expected to give evidence connecting accused with the offence.

Accused said he was drunk and did not know what he was doing. He pleaded guilty.

Replying to the Court, witness said that the accused was now finished with the reserve and the Army.

Accused said when he took a few pints he lost his senses.

The Justice—That is no defence to such a serious charge. I am inclined to remand you to Mitchelstown Court.

The mother of accused said she had come all the way from Macroom and she appealed to the Justice to give the boy a chance. It was his first offence.

Replying to the Court, the Sergt. said there was nothing against him previously.

After repeated appeals from the mother, the Justice said it was an unusual course to adopt, but in view of the fact that the accused had pleaded guilty, he would deal with the case there.

The mother said she would pay the amount of the damage when she got home. She had brought only £1 with her.

He was let out under the P.O.A., in his own bail of £20 and his father's and brother's of £10 each. The amount of the damage to be paid forthwith.

A man named Jas. Keffee, was charged with the embezzlement of 19/4, the property of his employes, a local trader.

Supt. O'Kelly, prosecuted.

From the evidence it appeared accused collected three sums amounting to 19/4 from customers on the Strand, but kept them.

Pleading guilty he was let out in his own recognisances, the amount to be paid back within 2 months.

Larceny Of Bicycle. A boy named James Harris, from the city, was charged with the larceny of a bicycle, value £6 10s. 0d., the property of Eugene Healy, Cull.

Supt. O'Kelly, prosecuted.

From the evidence it appeared that Healy left the bicycle against a ditch at Shanacoolo, Co. Waterford, while picking mushrooms. Accused came along took the machine and rode to Waterford, where he sold it for £2, receiving 12/6 on account. The bicycle was recovered by Guard Scanlan.

Accused pleaded guilty. He was let out under the P.O.A., in his own and his father's recognisances of £10, the latter undertaking to pay the 12/6 and 9/6 expenses, the bicycle being returned to the owner.

Surplus Fat Cattle.

VIEWS OF THE SENATE.

In the Senate last week on the debate of Slaughter of Cattle and Sheep Bill. Mr. Counihan said that the Senate had passed many Bills which gave the Government complete control of their industries, and now they had a Bill giving them complete control of their livestock trade. For that reason alone it should be rejected. The Bill would kill not alone the fat cattle trade, but also the stall-fed cattle trade and by so doing create unemployment among the agricultural labourers. It was sad to think that their cattle trade which they were so proud of, and which cost millions of public and private money to build up, should be destroyed in a few years by the attitude and policy of their own Government. They had in this country the healthiest stock in the world. They had the largest export trade of cattle in the world, and it was a puzzle why the Government should go out to kill it. He had been told in the Dublin Cattle Market that day that the Bill was bad and so revolutionary and unworkable that the Senate should pass it, for by so doing it would kill the Government. He would not recommend anyone to do evil that good would come out of it, and he asked the Senate to reject it.

Mr. Wilson said the object of the Bill was to try and raise the price of cattle so that the producer would get what he would be entitled to get if they had no quotas. He did not for a moment believe that Senator Counihan was expressing the opinion of the farmers. The price which the farmers were given by the cattle jobbers was one which had no relation to the price which would be obtained if there were no quotas. The position was that in the Dublin Cattle Market an export licence was worth £4, which meant that the cattle jobbers made a profit at the expense of the producer. The Bill would stop that kind of profiteering. While he did not approve wholly of the free meat scheme as a means of educating the people as to the use of fresh meat, it was desirable. The Bill was an attempt to ameliorate the condition of the farmer. It was an economic measure and had no connection with politics. The Senate, therefore, had no right to turn it down, as the Government was entitled to support in its economic policy.

Mr. Dowdall said that one of the provisions of the Bill that was open to grave objection was the clause which gave the Minister power to disclose a farmer's whole private business. Again, in some districts recently a policy had been growing up where people said they could not or would not pay their land annuities under present circumstances. The Bill under consideration provided that sales of farmers' stocks shall not take place until the time appointed by the inspector. It would be a grave error of Government policy to give any real justification for the non-payment of annuities, as people could say they were not allowed to sell their stock until a certain time, although they might have a willing buyer.

"NO MORAL RIGHT."

Mr. M. Comyn, K.C., said that any measure designed to secure for the farmer a proper return for his cattle should be welcomed. Referring to the British quota on Saorstát cattle Mr. Comyn said that Great Britain had no moral right to impose the quota upon this country. The price of cattle for home consumption, continued Mr. Comyn, should be greater than the price of cattle sold for export, as the farmer had suffered both by the diminution in agricultural prices and by the increase in the price of everything the farmer purchased, due to our own tariffs. When it came to a national question the farmers of Ireland had never considered their own personal interests, but other people in the country had made use of the events of the last year or two for profiteering to a disgraceful extent. He believed the Bill was acceptable to the farmer, and whether it benefited the butchers or not he (Mr. Comyn) had no sympathy with the butchers, as the price of meat for some time past had been far too high, having regard to the price of fat cattle. He hoped the Senate would not thwart the Minister in his efforts to solve the farmers' problems, as nobody but a courageous man would bring in a Bill of this nature.

The McGillycuddy of the Reeks said the Bill was a blow to the taxpayers. It was difficult to arrive at an estimate of the total expenses under the Bill, but, roughly they would amount to the following:—40,000 old cows, at say, £2 10s. each, would cost £100,000; factory expenses, £125,000; free meat, £480,000; office expenses and inspection, £50,000; levy on the butchers, £180,000. The total estimate, therefore, would be nearly a million pounds—about £935,000.

Mr. O'Connor said the Bill was a most unwelcome proposition, and would lead to endless confusion. The expenses of the operation of the Bill were such that it was difficult to see why the Bill was introduced at all. If the Government would devote the enormous expenses of the Bill to the provision of free meat, the people would appreciate it far more. The Bill should never have been introduced under any circumstances, and the economic war brought it about. The question of increased tillage and growing more wheat was bound up with the prices for cattle. The farmers resented interference with their common sense and experience, and it should be left to them to know when cattle were fit to be slaughtered, and allowed to bring them to the best market. It seemed that the cattle trade was anathema to the present Government, and that those engaged in it were to have no liberty. The cattle raisers and the trade were in such a deplorable condition that it was rapidly becoming impossible to carry on. The present Bill was an outrageous thing and out of bounds altogether. The Government should try and bring back prosperity to the country by opening up negotiations with a view to terminating the economic war. The general policy of the Government was bringing the spirit of the country down to a very low level. The whole industry would be paralysed by the arrangements the Bill proposed to carry through. He hoped the Bill would be rejected.

Mr. Milroy said the Bill involved the wisdom of the general policy of the Government, and the resources of the State to cope with the situation. The Bill was to nullify the effects of the imposition of the quota system, and to place the producer of cattle in the identical position he was in prior to the quota system coming into existence. That quota system left them with a surplus of unexportable cattle, value at £600,000—£10 a head for 60,000 cattle. The Minister told them that the administrative costs of the Bill would be about £200,000; so that to bring about the effects that the Minister desired through the Bill £1,200,000 would have to come out of the pockets of the taxpayers and consumers. In June last, a member of the present Government, who was a member of that House, was reported as having stated in Naas that it took 100 years to establish the cattle trade, but with God's help it would not take 100 years to destroy it. What was the purpose of the Bill? If they were to take the Minister for Lands and Forestry as the spokesman of the Government, then the policy of the Government was to destroy the cattle trade. But if they took the sponsor of the Bill, the purpose was to stabilise and perpetuate the cattle trade. The Government should make up their minds as to what policy they stood for. If the purpose of the Minister was to make six inspectors flourish where there were none previously, then the present Bill would certainly be effective. He hoped that the Minister's expectations of success in coping with the situation would be realised. The provision of the Bill symbolised a character of Government policy which was ominous, and leading them in directions the end of which no man could foresee. The Government were endeavouring to make a corner in freedom in this country. They were getting a policy of governmental control intensified and extended to such a degree that if it was not based upon and borrowed from Soviet Russia it was a very good example of the same system.

Senator Wilson had stated that the Bill was the only way to remedy the injustice done to the farmer, but the injustice done to the farmer was the injustice that was the direct and immediate consequences of the policy of the Government. The real remedy was to retrieve that blunder that had been made. He was quite certain that opportunities had arisen when the people responsible for the Government of the State foolishly and lightly embarked on the economic war.

APPROACH TO STATE CONTROL.

Dealing with the provision under which the Minister could engage in trade, Mr. Milroy said that he thought it was a very bad and undesirable form of activity. It seemed to him that such powers for Ministers were an indication of the approach of State control over the ordinary affairs and avocations of the individual. The Minister might say they did not intend to use that power, but there was a party represented in that House who if they had their way and could exercise sufficient influence on any Government would insist on using such powers in every phase of the economic life of the State. If the time came when such power existed there was statutory authority for the Government to operate without any further consultation with the legislative authority. He thought it was a dangerous precedent which was attended by very considerable possibilities of an undesirable character. It was surprising that they had had no comment by the Minister on the alternative markets he had so often spoken about. The present situation should have given a great impulse to the efforts of the Minister to secure those markets. He hoped that the veil of silence which was so conspicuous would be lifted in this respect. Approximately one and a quarter millions was to be produced from the pockets of the consumer and the taxpayer, and if the Bill failed to achieve its purpose that amount would be wasted.

MEAT CONSUMPTION.

Mr. John Dillon said that the surplus of cattle that was there last spring was gone, and in time fat cattle would disappear to a greater extent. He strongly objected to the levy of 2d per head on cattle, and 5/- per head on sheep, for he had no doubt it would fall on the producer. A far better way to help the farmers would be to remit annuities and rates.

Mr. Quirk as an ordinary farmer welcomed the Bill. It was hard to listen to some of the ridiculous statements that had been made by the Opposition. Senator Wilson had spoken from his heart and not from a political angle. He suggested to the Minister that he would do well if cattle licences were spread among the dealers so that there would be more competition. He thought the Bill was an admirable measure, and speaking on behalf of a very considerable number of farmers, he would say it would be welcomed by people directly concerned.

Sir John Keane said the Bill was an economic proposition—a piece of jugglery. The Government had to find £200,000 to work the Bill and raise the price of cattle by another £200,000, and that was going to be passed on to the consumer and the taxpayer. There might be free meat for someone, but he did not see how they could avoid increasing the price to the other section. The Minister was only stabilising the position, which represented a loss to the farmers. The Bill was an example of unsound practice, and anyone who fell for the bait was taking a very short view. The quota was imposed in all Dominions, and not on Ireland alone. It had been stated that there should have been exceptions made in the case of this country—which had broken the Treaty, insulted the King, and done everything to repudiate and discredit Dominion transactions. He thought it was asking too much, and asking for a degree of Christianity and the principles of the Sermon on the Mount, which they could not expect. If they had been neighbourly and friendly there might be something to be said, but in view of the Government's attitude towards Dominion status, and those who fell and honoured that he did not support Senator Comyn that the imposition of the quota was a breach of the moral obligation. It was a thoroughly bad Bill, which denied the liberty to people to carry on their own business in their own way, and he could not support the measure. There was prohibition of traffic of vouchers, but he could see a healthy traffic by recipients of the free meat. Like the free milk, it would not all go to the poor. The Bill was a piece of absurd legislation, and was an example of regulation run mad. The right way to go about the matter was to get a settlement with Great Britain, and failing that there were other ways of dealing with the problem.

Dr. Ryan (Minister for Agriculture) replying to the debate said Senator Sir John Keane had succeeded again in bringing in an impertinent reference that they in this country could not get along without the British. Senator Sir John Keane had concluded his speech by saying that he felt something better could be done than the Government's proposals. Not one Senator had suggested during the debate anything better. No Senator had the courage to say that the Government should try to improve cattle prices. Both Senator Guinness and Sir John Keane admitted that the quota would remain even if the economic war was ended to-morrow. It was difficult to see why Senators opposed the Bill if they could put forward no alternative.

Continuing, Dr. Ryan said he believed that every genuine farmer in the country was saying his way. A certain number of farmers more interested in politics than in farming were going around advising the farmers generally not to pay their annuities. Every genuine farmer, however, was on the Government side.

Dr. Ryan went on to say that on the basis of 6lbs. of free meat per week to every person in receipt of Unemployment Assistance, and 4 lbs. of free meat per week to every person in receipt of Home Assistance, the cost of free meat would be £400,000 a year at 4d. per lb. The total maximum cost of the operation of the Bill would be about £600,000.

In reply to Sir John Keane, Dr. Ryan said the increase in cost to the consumer would be from 3d. to 1d. in the cities and a maximum of 1 1/2d. in the country. The question of the retail price of meat could always be referred to the Prices' Commission. The marking of cattle for slaughter was in order that only sufficient would go to the market to keep prices up to maximum under present conditions. The Bill was to help the farmer.

Answering questions, he said that the victualler would have to pay a fixed price. Exports were prohibited except by licence; and any condition could be attached to that licence including the condition that a certain price must be paid.

THE SCARECROW.

Those who have been going about the country a good deal of late will have noticed that there seems to be a dearth of that mute and disconsolate and formerly indispensable ally of the farmer—the scarecrow. Perhaps it is that the grain and other crops have been gathered in earlier than usual, thanks to the real brand of summer 1934 has supplied us with, and that, therefore, there is not the same necessity for the mobilisation and dispersal to strategic points of these bizarre and woe-begone figures which look so incongruous in harvest laden fields and gardens. Or is it that our rural proprietors have discovered that modern birds are so knowing that effigies of these tramp-like suspects are no longer deterrents? At all events, we believe that if a census of scarecrows were taken at the moment, the return would show a striking "decrease in the population." We were speculating on the reasons for the decline when a resident of the Rathgormack region to whom we confided our thoughts, advanced a far more convincing cause. She said: "There are so many freaks going about the countryside these days there is no need for any scarecrows. Mayhap a twentieth century Goldsmith may arise in or out of Mahon Valley to do poetic justice to this grave tendency—the depopulation of An Saorstát of its scarecrows. How soulful he could become as he laments:

Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
With n'er a freak to scare the birds away.
Princes and lords may flourish or may fade—
A breath can make them as a breath has made;
But these weird fakes, their country's pride,
When once destroyed can never be supplied.

How about sending this to the Daily?

BREVITIES.

After spending a most enjoyable holiday in the homeland, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whyte (Cuffeen, Killossanty) returned to New York last week-end, as also did Mr. Horace James, who had been sojourning in his native Kilmagthomas for some weeks past. The Misses Mai and Bridie Joy (daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Joy, Square, Kilmagthomas) are back from London spending their annual vacation in our midst.

A monster mushroom, picked by Mr. Thomas Scurry, Railway-road, Kilmagthomas, within the week, measured approximately nine inches in diameter.

Jovial jade rumour has it that it Ballyvoile beach on last Sunday afternoon there was a precious something that gave a comely Clonmel colleen a nasty little crawling thrill down the spine, which the lonely lady herself later discovered to be the crane-fly or daddy-long-legs.

At present it is stated that Russians have Spartan fare. But—

There was a Nire nicknamed "Chief," Whose habits astounded all belief;
For pickles and custard
He liked mixed with mustard,
And always spread jam on his beef!

Threshing operations are now in full swing over Mid-Waterford, and although the weather continues somewhat on the broken side the farmers are having the grain separated from the chaff right readily and well.

Two large omnibuses brought a merry company of Clonmel citizens and citizenesses to Bonmahon on Sunday last. The party bathed in the briny there, and left in the late afternoon like giants and giantesses refreshed.

Mr. James E. O'Toole, of the National Memorials' Committee, Dublin, has just unearthed ten Ogham Stones on the farm of Mr. Patrick Kirwan, Drumlohan, Stradbally. The "floods" are in a splendid state of preservation, the Ogham signs on each slab being easy to trace. Mr. O'Toole came to Drumlohan a fortnight ago and is still operating there. We hope to have an interesting article on Mr. O'Toole's exploration ready for next week's issue.

"SIC EST VITA"

Life is full of disappointments. While we all would subscribe to this aphorism we would agree that no one would have better title to express an opinion on it than a man in his nineties. A Kilmagthomas friend just returned from holidays fell in with a venerable gentleman—he was 92 to be exact—who related to him an amusing incident illustrative of the disappointments that one sometimes encounters in the journey through life. Here it is: "An' if there's a lie in it, let it be—sz; he is)—One very windy night a gentleman with a Shabb Gun accented called at his cottage to see if he could secure shelter for the night. As his house was full up he suggested that he could put him up in a little bungalow adjacent, and this offer was accepted. Before retiring to bed the stranger asked the old gent if he could oblige him with a tumbler of water. The old man thinking he was about to get "a little half-un," gladly provided the tumbler and put a little water into it. The visitor asked for a little more until three "little half-uns" were added. Instead, however, of taking a bottle from his pocket he put his hand to his mouth and drew out his false teeth, and deposited them in the vessel! What the old man thought as he retired to "roost" and left his visitor and his "grinders" to look after themselves need not be added.

"A CAPPOQUIN STREET."

(To The Editor "Observer.")

Dear Sir,—In last week's issue of the "Observer" I noticed that my old Cappoquin friend of earlier years, Mr. E. Pachel, who now resides in Aylesford, Kent, a County famous for its hops, "hops" off me in good-humoured fashion for my alleged offence in making the "Unforgivable Slip" of referring to Allen Street, Cappoquin, as "Barrack Street." He cites the fact that the late William Jones Troy, who lived a life of "celibate happiness" at No. 31 in the street referred to, remained Barrack street, as "Allen street" some 50 or 60 years ago, but he forgot to add that nobody then regarded as serious the idiosyncrasies of this news vendor during his life, and the name of "Allen Street" has certainly not survived sufficiently to perpetuate his memory in Cappoquin. He had such a knack for re-naming places and persons that once when a certain pretty young lady smiled amiably on him he named her "Helen of Troy," but this name had only the same ephemeral existence as the name of "Allen Street," which has long since been as dead as Queen Anne. The late Mr. Troy had about the same authority for changing the name of this street as I now have for changing Green Street into "Blue Street," Pound Lane to "Guinea Street," Mass Lane to "Tivoli Terrace," or Twig Lane to "Harbour View," and as one who has also lived a long life of celibate happiness in the street which once sheltered Mr. Troy, and where I first saw the light, the old-fashioned name of Barrack Street is good enough for me.

In the course of his mild rebuke for my "Unforgivable Slip," I am afraid my friend made a still more "Unforgivable Slip" when he suggested that I must have been "Up the identical Pole" whose mysterious disappearance I had "so eloquently" described and pathetically deplored, because inasmuch as the pole in question has not yet been discovered, it must be an invisible object to me, and I have yet to learn how to perform the physical impossibility of climbing an invisible pole!

I think my friend, "E. P." takes the bun for such a bold and mysterious suggestion.
Your Cappoquin Correspondent.
