DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

THE HOUSING SCHEME

CAUSE OF DELAY.

Mr. M. Morrissey, Chairman, presided at the weekly meeting of above. Also present-Messrs. P. Byrne, P. Dwyer, J. Mansfield, J. Dahill, M. Connors, P. Quann, J. Christopher, J. Foley, J. Crotty, M. Clancy, J. Butler, T. McCarthy.

RENTS.
A resolution proposed by Mr. Hayes was read by the Clerk. The resolution asked that tenants occupying the houses at Sheare's Street, Abbeyside, and at the Terrace between Garvin's Terrace and Fair Lane, be granted a reduction in rent. A scale of reductions embodied in the resolution was follows: Tenants occupying houses for ten years have rents reduced by 1/6 per week; tenants with 7 years occupation by 1/- per week; tenants with 4 years by 6d. per week.

The Clerk stated that the matter should take the form of a notice of motion and was not in order for discussion at that meeting.

Mr. Crotty-I think the resolution is absurd. If we carry this out we will find ourselves in a queer position next ance Arears for submission to the hands of the Clerk to deal with. SEWER. Mr. McGrath, B.S., reported on the proposed new sewer at Draper's field. He estimated the cost at £660. Chairman-It was my idea when we asked the B.S. to prepare an estimate, to apply for a grant for the work. Mr. Dwyer-If we fail to get a grant. isn't there a smaller scheme?

Chairman-Yes, but it would be much better to get the bigger scheme

In reply to Mr. Butler, the B.S., said that the cost of bringing the sewer out to low water mark, would be £130 extra.

The B.S. also stated that the King St., and Rices's Street sewers would be included in the application for the grant.

Dr. Casey, M.O.H., who attended the should have been notified that the matter was being brought up.

Mr. Clancy said he did not agree with Dr. Casey, he held that when Dr. Casey had reported on a nuisance, his duty was finished there. The abating of the nuisance was a matter for en-

Mr. Crotty said that the question of a septic tank was also one for engin-

Dr. Casey said that the whole matter arose out of a report from him and that the B.S. should have consulted him before bringing the matter up. It would have saved much of the discussion to-night. As it is nobody knows where they are.

During the course of the discussion

Mr. Butler suggested that the proper thing to do would be to carry the sewer out to the current, otherwise he said they would create another nuis-

The B.S. said that it could be done by laying down a concrete pipe four feet square, and trunking it between the two dumps.

After a prolonged discussion it was agreed that the B.S. amend his plan to have the sewer carried out in accordance with Mr. Butler's suggestion. The B.S. to interview the Department engineers and report back to the Council.

LOUGHMORE HOUSING SCHEME. Chairman-Before going on with any other business, I want to make a statement re the above scheme. I considered it my duty to communicate with Mr. Sean Goulding, T.D., con-cerning the Department's delay in having the new houses occupied. You are all aware of the deplorable condition of the tenants in the condemned area, and I would like the Council to come lic Health to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 25th instant concerning the alleged delay in the holding of an Inquiry as to the propriety of confirming the Compulsory Purchase Order made by the Dungarvan Urban District Council under Part II of the Housing (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1931. With reference thereto I am to point out to you that a cir-cular letter issued from this Depart-ment on the 8th July, 1933 to all Ur-ban Housing Authorities requesting that steps be taken at once to ensure that the existing dwellings of the pros-pective tenants of the Councils' new houses be demolished concurrently with the completion of their scheme. The procedure to be followed to secure the demolition of unhealthy houses was outlined in detail in the circular and each local authority was requested to inform the Minister as soon as possible of the action proposed to be taken by them in the matter. The Dungarvan Urban District Council do not, from official records, appear to have complied with this re-

At a meeting on 2nd January, 1934 a report was submitted from the local Medical Officer of Health on the "Slum" Areas together with a map from the Surveyor showing the areas to be demolished and cleared. The Solicitor was instructed to prepare a resolution declaring the areas Clear-ated by the Council.

A map showing Areas 1 and 2 which the Council proposed to acquire was received in this Department on the 30th January, 1934. The Council were again asked to inform the Minister whether any progress had been made in the actual making of a Clearance Order. To this the Town Clerk replied on 9th March, 1934, that the plied on 9th March, 1934, that the Council were under the impression that it was desirable that an Inspector from the Department should visit Dungarvan for the purpose of fixing a valuation on the condemned property for the purposes of compensation. It may be well to point out to you that the the purposes of compensation. It may be well to point out to you that the Council had already been informed say anything about Dr. Casey that should make him feel ashamed. He by letter dated 16th January, 1934, that compensation for land acquired compulsorily would be assessed by an Arbitrator appointed under the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919 as amended. It would appear that the Council were unable to decide whether they would acquire the property by agreement or compulsorily. However they were informed by letter dated 14 th March, 1934, that they should proceed to make a Compulsory Purchase Order in respect of Clearance Areas Nos. 1 and 2 and the procedure was again outlined meeting said he had just been look- for their guidance. On the 22nd May ing over the plans and didn't see any a letter was addressed to the Council need for the septic tank shown on the inquiring how the matter then stood plan. Dr. Casey also stated that he and drawing attention to the necessity of having the Order operative on the completion of the Council's current scheme. The Town Clerk replied on in his new position. 30th May that the Order would be submitted to the Minister for confirmation in due course. A further reminder issued to the Council on 7th June. On the 8th June the Council's Solicitors forwarded a Compulsory Purchase Order executed by the Council. On examination the Order and documents submitted were found to be so faulty as to necessitate the preparation of a new Order and the service of fresh notices on the interested parties.

A letter was received in the Department on the 22nd June inquiring if the Council could let the houses comprised in their current scheme prior to the confirmation of the Order. By letter dated 28th June it was pointed out to the Council that if the houses were let prior to the confirmation of the Order, difficulty might be experienced in preventing the re-occupation of the vacated houses, and furthermore, that the matter was one entirely for the Council, who should clearly understand that in order to qualify for the higher rate of subsidy it is impera-tive that the houses vacated by the prospective tenants of the 86 houses in the current scheme be demolished. A letter was received from the Council's Solicitors on 28th July enclosing a map of the Clearance Areas and other minor documents in connection with minor documents in connection with the new Order. By letter dated 1st August the Council were asked to fur-nish the Department with the new Order and relevant documents. A re-minder in this connection issued on the 4th September. Meanwhile the Council by letter dated 1st September requested that the date of the Inquiry he fixed as soon as possible in order out above it does not appear that any delay in dealing with the matter was occasioned by this Department. Furthermore, it is evident that the present unsatisfactory position has result ed from the failure of the Council to carry out the instructions of the De partment as conveyed to them in the circular of the 8th July, 1933.

I am to add, that provided the Council ensure that the vacated houses will not be re-occupied, no objection will be raised by this Department to the letting of the new houses prior to the confirmation of the Order.—Mise, le meas,—L. P. McCarran, Runai.

After a protracted discussion it was decided to ask the landlords of the houses in the slum area to give a guarantee that the houses would re-main unoccupied on condition that they would be allowed a half-year's rate subject to sanction of the Depart-

However, I am delighted that our M.O.H. is not going away, he will still be with us doing his good work, but in a higher sphere. There is a great future before him and I am sure the whole Council, will agree with me when I say that our M.O.H. will be one of the leading lights in Public Health work in a short time. No words of mine can do justice to the services rendered to the poor of Dungarvan by our M.O.H., and I wish to tender to him our heartiest congratulations, and wish him every success

Mr. Clancy—I gives me great pleasure to second this resolution congratulating our M.O.H. on his pew appointment. I agree with everything said and I must thank Dr. Casey for his trouble and energy on behalf of the poor children of the town. He came here to our meetings night after night explaining to this Council the advantages and necessity of tubercule free milk supply. Eventually he succeeded in his request and to-day Dungarvan is probably the only area where tubercule free milk is delivered to the necessitous poor. On the Children's Health Committee his services were most valuable. To-day it is a delight to visit the clinic and watch the methods adopted there during lunch hour. I say that the poor of Dungar-van will sadly miss our M.O.H. whose services were at their disposal at all times. It gives me great pleasure in econding this vote of congratulation and our wish for his every success.

Cappoquin Technical School

SUCCESSFUL WHIST DRIVE

Through the kind permission of the Co. Waterford Vocational Education Committee a most successful Whist Drive and Dance were held in the new Technical School, Barrack Street, Cappoquin, on Sunday night, and were patronised by large numbers of ladies and gentlemen, not only from Cappoquin, but also from Lismore.

Dungarvan, Youghal and many other outside districts in West Waterford.

Both events were held for the purpose of providing an enjoyable social evening for the public in the town and surrounding districts, and the object which the promoters had in view was more than fully attained on the occasion

All the arrangements were carried out under the personal supervision of Mr. J. Lanigan, Chief Executive Officer, Dungarvan, Mr. Thos. Halpin Headmaster of the new Technical School, Miss E. Flynn, Instructress in Domestic Science, do., and Mr. T Maher, Instructor in Rural Science, rate subject to sanction of the Department.

After an interval for tea, during which the whist tables and chairs were removed, the dance was held in the two large class-rooms on the ground floor, the splendid new floors proving admirable for dancing purposes. Between 60 and 79 couples at ended, and all were loud in their praise of the perfect dancing floors, and the spacious accommodation provided in the new building, which most of those present only saw for the first time. Splendid music was supplied by the talented Nightingale Orchestra, Lismore, under the baton of Mr. P. Gillan, conductor, and in accordance with the condition laid down by the Vocational Education Committee, many Irish dances were introduced during the programme and were greatly enjoyed by all.

Mr. J. McCarthy, B.A., proved a most courteous, tactful and efficient M.C., and under his able management dancing was kept up with rare vigour until 4,30 a.m., the event proving one of the most brilliant, lively and enjoyable social functions held in Cappoquin within recent years, for which all those responsible deserve to be warmly congratulated.

WARNING.

This week a diamond-studded ring was found in a jackdaw's nest near Kill. It must have been taken from an adjoining bedroom. The feathered thief is outside the jurisdiction of the Courts, and in all probability will never be indicted, but meanwhile we are warning our readers not to leave their jewel cases where crows can have access to them. On this subject we offer our sympathy to the lady who dropped her valuable ring into the food she had prepared for her chickens. Some one of the birds swallowed the precious hoop of gold, but which of them? That is the rub, and what steps the woman is going to take to recover her costly band is still a matter of speculation. The problem is so far-reaching that it might be necessary to kill every chicken in the flock before the ring is located.

BREVITIES.

Now that we are being reminded of he approach of winter with its long nights and its darkness it is good to find the streets of Kilmacthomas adequately lighted by electric current supplied from the powerful dynamo set in Mr. P. Kiersey's bakery estab-lishment, and that nothing can be said of the distribution of the number of public lamps available.

Due to the abnormal heavy rainfall over the week-end, all springs and pumps in the whole wide community which had almost gone completely dry, are now up to their usual levels and there is no scarcity of "Adam's Ale" in our midst.

The listeners in of these parts were right well pleased with the broadcast of last Sunday's All-Ireland Senior Hurling Final from Croke Park, and all were in high glee over Limerick's great win for Munster.

The team to represent Clonea-Power against Dunhill, at Ballyduff Lower on to-morrow (Sunday) in the first round of the East Waterford Junior Hurling League, will be selected from the following:—W. Whelan, (Capt.): P. Power, Dempsey (4); Moore (3); Whelan (3); M. Keane, T. Walsh, P. Flynn, D. Kirby, J. Gahan, Keafing (2): and J. Brazil. These players are requested to be in Glonea village at 1 p.m. with hurleys and togs.

FARM CLASSES.—A very high standard of merit obtained in the majority of the entries in these classes. Almost without exception the farm premises were excellently laid out and yards, haggards and pass ways were clean and free from weeds. Despite the nature of the season, all crops were well forward and demonstrated the advantages of thorough and clean cultivation, headlands, where not sown, were small and free from weeds and all seasonal operations were well advanced.

Live Stock in general were of good quality and in good condition, houses were of good—as a rule of modern type and were clean and lime-washed Kitchen gardens were attached to most of the holdings and were producing a useful range of vegetables and fruit.

In a few cases only grassland was found to be weedy, badly fenced and badly cared. As a rule grassland was clean and fences sound, trim and neat. Many entrants deserve special credit for recent improvements to farm ter belts and for the planting of fruit

OUR PIG POPULATION. IMMEDIATE ACTION CALLED FOR Mr. D. J. Broderick, Drumcollogher,

Chairman Saorstat Pig Feeders and Breeders Association, wrote as follows to the Committee and enclosed copy of

A Chara,—I would respectifully call the attention of your members to enclosed copy of letter which I addressed to the Minister for Agriculture on the of the industry here calls for your attention. The imminence of legislation to control the industry and the complete ignorance of pig breeders and feeders of any of its provisions as dis-tinct from the intimate knowledge of same possessed by Bacon Curers and 'others' calls for immediate action on the behalf of Pig producers.

A Chara,—The grossly unfair treat ment being now meted out to the pis producers in the Saorstat by both the Bacon Curers and the Grain Millers calls for the closest scrutiny and prothe Government which in one instance handed over the home market (quite one instance and the parties and the procession then properly) ducers certainly look for protection to or sheep as well. The general quality properly) and subsidies the export to an amount no lesser than the British animals showed every evidence of in- penal tariffs in the case of Bacon which in the case of Millers shut out Clonmel, wrote offering burnt lime at 2/6 per barrel ex-kiln and 3/6 per bar-kept. Where bees were kept they were a home market which is, I maintain being managed on quite modern lines. | being shamefully exploited at the ex-

An almost increditably high standard Briefly the position at the moment is obtained throughout this class. All as follows—Bacon Curers in Limerick cottages were tastefully laid out and South of Ireland generally are paying 50/- per cwt. top price for suitable Bacon which is a drop of 10/- per cave. within the past month. Now the prewalks and fences were neatly kept and sent wholesale price of Bacon varies from 90/- to 94/- per cwt. which is an average advance of 7/- per cwt: on the prices prevailing in July. This margin of 42/- per cwt. between Pig prices and Bacon prices is unheard of and is really unjust to the producers and bears no comparison with the 22/6 per cwt. difference suggested in paragraph III page 85 of the Pig Industrial Tribunal Report. Turning over then to production costs, we find the Flour considerable profit from that "side Millers advancing prices of Offals by 50 % within the past six weeks. Pol As more than half the entries in this lard and Bran moved up from £4 10s. class reach championship standard, it to £7 per ton. This is almost wholly it is a matter for regret that it is pos- unwarranted, but possible only because combines control this vital business. The position of the pig producers calls for the closest attention and since the industry is most widespread in its character its importance to the State cannot be over estimated

Chairman-There is one point in that letter and there is no justification for it, viz., that in charging £7 10s. per ton for offals (bran) the merchants are making up for the price they paid for the grain. As to the price of bacon now it was not anything like what was stated in the letter. The Home Market would only absorb a certain amount of bacon and you can only export a certain quantity under the quota. What is to be done with the surplus? You have over production at present and merchants have more bacon at present than they can handle. The price of bran and offals is very high. It was only £4 10s. a ton some time ago and now it is £7. That is all governed by the quota. It resolves down to that and overproduction. The low price of pigs to-day and high price of feeding stuffs will drive farmers out of pig production. Of course the porbuildings, for the laying down of shel- kers now will be a relief to the bacon

The following order was made:-The Committee are in agreement ab out the price of offals being too high,

> FINED FOR KISSING WIFE FAREWELL IN MOSCOW.

A tourist has arrived in Moscov greatly surprised because he was fined 5 for kissing his wife on a train. He said that she was not feeling well and that he kissed her to cheer her up. No sooner had he done it that the guard stepped in and relieved him of the money. According to the Soviet code kissing on a train, in a taxi or in any public place, constituted "public obscenity." It makes no difference whether or not the couple so engaged happen to be married. Moscow has recently nessed a law arrival. recently passed a law ordering all taxis to carry lights inside in order to discourage such "obscenity."

AGLISH CASES AGAIN BEFORE THE COURT.

At the Cappoquin District Court, before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L., the adjourned cases arising out of a political row in the village of Aglish, Cappoquin, on the night of July 7th, when a Fianna Fail procession, headed by the Villierstown Band, got into conflict with a party of Blueshirts, were again before the Court. At the previous Court Patrick Coleman Villiers. vious Court Patrick Coleman, Villierstown, the big drummer of the band, and Frank Hackett, the side drummer, brought summonses against Thomas O'Brien, Aglish, and his son, Terence O'Brien, do., for alleged assault and also for damaging the two drums on the occasion.

Mr. J. G. Skinner, solr., Clonmel, then appeared for the complainants, and Mr. Wm. R. Hodnett, solr., Youghal, defended, and after hearing the evidence on both sides (already pub-lished) the Justice adjourned the cases for a month in order to hear the evidence of Sergt. O'Mahony, Villierstown, who was then away on holidays.

When the cases were now called, the same solicitors appeared, and as on the previous occasion, there was a large attendance of the supporters of both political parties in Court, Sergt. O'Mahony, Villierstown, examined by Mr. Skinner, Solr., stated that on the night in question he was on duty in Aglish with Detective Officer Patterson, Cappoquin, and Guard Coyle, Villierstown.

He saw a Fianna Fail procession numbering about 150 men, including the Villierstown Band and about 10 horsemen, passing through the village and going in the direction of Ballinaparka Cross, and at the same time a party of Blueshirts were approaching towards the village in the opposite direction. As the rival parties approached each other the horsemen in the procession closed in on the Blueshirts and pressed them in against the fence on the side of the road, and a man named Wm. Lennon, Clashmore, who was carrying a flag at the head of the procession, then started an argument with a man named John O'Brien of the other party whom he challenged to fight. Witness and the two Guards continued on its way towards Ballina-

When witness returned to the village he saw a party of about 40 men including about 12 League of Youth members, standing at the Cross near Mr. Russell's corner, and he directed the famous Peadar O'Donnell himself.

There were also present—Messrs R. Power, and P. B. Sheridan.

The Clerk reported that during them to go down a side street towards the leader of the recalcitrant I.R.A the Post Office, so as to be out of the way of the procession when it was returning, and the men went down there as directed. When the procession was returning, Wm. Lennon, who was still at its head carrying the tag, led the procession down the side street where the Blueshirts were, and furling the flag around the pole he got into an argument with Walter Terry, whom he challenged to fight. In the meantime the horsemen charged into the Blueshirt party and a general melee followed in which blows were struck on both sides, but he did not see the drums of the band "I lent myself to the bosses," that I fix being broken.

In cross-examination by Mr. Hodnett," solr., witness admitted that the first act of aggression that night was caused by the horsemen in the procession when they rushed the Blueshirts in against the fence, and the second act of aggression was when they turned down the side street and rode in amongst the Blueshirts where he had put them for safety.

Detective-Officer Patterson, Cappoquin, generally corroborated the Sergts, evidence, but added that when the procession went down the side street he saw Tce. O'Brien, and his father rush from behind him towards the two drums and he next saw the big drum on the ground and later heard a sound as if the drum was being kicked by somebody.

Replying further to Mr. Skinner.

solr., he said he saw a number of the Blueshirts with short sticks that night. Mr. Skinner-Did you see any of them with batons?

Witness—Well, some of them had short sticks fashioned like i crude batons and others had sticks that they had cut from the fence. Witness having been cross-examined at length by Mr. Hodnett, solr., said he did not see the defendants actually smashing the drums. Francis Hackett, was called and de scribed how the drums had come into his possession, and also gave evidence about the value of same, and the probable cost of the repairs to them, etc.

Having heard further evidence, the Justice said as he understood the State had a number of summonses taken out against both parties for assault in connection with this row, and as these cases would not be heard until the next Court at Lismore, he would re serve his decision for the present in the cases now before him, and would give his decision in all the cases at the October Court in Lismore.

RT. REV. MGR. BYRNE, WATERFORD, REPLIES TO CRITICISM.

In a letter to the Press, Rt. Rev. Monsignor Byrne, P.P., V.F., Waterford, writes :- I have just received a and devoted friend of Soviet Russia. I confess I was guilty of a "crime" in warning the workers of Waterford against the miserable Congress of extremists which is about to assemble in Dublin, and which I described as utterly Communistic in character and as having unholy associations with the abomination in Russia. I fear in this I have stung Mr. O'Donnell most pain fully, and have set his gifted but riotous imagination on fire. It is not how ever, the "crime" I have referred to which is exclusively the product of his fertile but riotous imagination, that 'Christian Union at 111d. an hour,' etc. I shall not insult your readers by making any defence of my attitude and activity in the recent strike. would not please Mr. O'Donnell hear that I have many evidences to show that even the too kindly attitude of the workers in Waterford towards me has been enhanced considerably since the conclusion of the strike. But I ask why will not Mr. O'Donnell and those acting with him tell the workers openly that their panacea for all the hardships of the workers is nothing else, when it attains full fruition, than the Communism modelled on the Russian atrocity which is uterly opposed to the Christianity for which the workers would die and which has been condemned by the Church in the most stringent terms? Has not ultra-nationalism revealed its utter hollowness and viciousness when it would prescribe for the ills of Ireland a revolution which would drive VOLLEYS FIRED AT A CATTLE

I do not yield a single inch to Mr. O'Donnell in my sympathy for the workers and slum-dwellers in our cities, and I am ardently eager for an improvement in material conditions. But I can have nothing but contempt for an opposition to a movement which would rob our workers of that "pearl of great price," which makes even the slums themselves heaven as compared with the palaces now occupied by the "liberators" of Russia.

I repeat my exhortion to the workers of Waterford to have nothing to do with the "Republican Congress, and, should any attend, I have no hesitation in saying that they will be utterly unrepresentative as far as Waterford is concerned.

RATES IN CARRICK-ON-SUIR.

At the October monthly meeting of he Carrick-on-Suir Urban Council, the Council agreed to pay to Mr. R. Dal-ton, Rate Collector, the sum of £205 is 6d. poundage on £5,870 rafes col-lected and lodged by him.

It was stated in the course of a dis-cussion that Mr. Dalton in order to close the amount of his warrant had lodged nearly £2,000 of his own money to facilitate the Council. Eventually he had collected 82 per cent of £6,400 of the 193435 rate warrant. The Co. Councils paid their poundage to rate collectors who had lodged 50 per cent. of their warrant

IT WILL PAY YOU!

Farmers! now is your opportunity.

You have the climate; you have the soil; you have the market; and you are sure of your money. The market and the price are backed by a Government guarantee. Why hesitate. Are you in doubt that your land is suitable or that you could handle the crop? If so, ask your County Instructor for advice. He will be delighted to give you all the help you need.

Wheat has been grown in every county in Ireland.

Plough now and take your part in providing the food for your own people. They are still paying the foreigner to produce this food. Why should they not pay you instead? They will pay you £5,000,000 a year if you only grow the wheat they require.

If necessary, grow the wheat on lea. To do this successfully plough at once, carefully packing the sod and prepare a good seed bed before sowing the crop.

Wheat can also follow a manured crop and particularly sugar beet. It can follow another wheat crop or an oat crop on good land, in fact, it can be grown almost anywhere in the rotation.

Take immediate steps to get your seed wheat, and see that you get a named variety, not merely "wheat" or "winter wheat."

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR DEAD MARQUIS.

FEELING REFERENCES.

Feeling references to the memory of the late Lord Waterford were made by the Rev. Dean of Waterford in the course of a memorial service at the Christ Church Cathedral.

"It is fitting," he said, "that I should speak this morning of the death of Lord Waterford, and the wide-spread sorrow felt and expressed on all sides on hearing the sad news. His kindly, unassuming manner en-deared him to all with whom he had any dealings, rich and poor alike, for, like all the Beresfords, he was free from "side" of any kind, and no matter who it was, was pleasant and agreeable to one and all, without the least trace of condescension.

agreeable to one and all, without the least trace of condescension.

"He took a lively interest in the affairs of his parish, attending regularly the early celebrations and other services of the church, and subscribing liberally to its funds. As a parochial nominator, he never failed to attend the meetings of the Board when summoned to elect a clergyman for the parish, and took a prominent part in filling the vacancy, and securing the election of the best man for the post. He showed his love of his ancestral home by spending most of his time at Curraghmore, and found pleasure in joining in the cricket matches and outdoor sports of the young people on his estate, by whom he will be sardly missed and mourned.

"I am not qualified, nor is this the time and place, to speak of his fine accomplishments as a sportsman, but that they were well up to the traditions of his family is evident from what has been said and written about him.

"It is said and greatly to be regretted."

"It is sad and greatly to be regretted," the Rev. Dean concluded, "that his earthly life has come to an end, and so early and unexpectedly in the prime of life. We deeply sympathise with Lady Waterford and others of his family in thir sore affliction and bereavement, and pray that God will comfort, sustain and strengthen them in their great sorrow, and give them in their great sorrow, and give them such confidence in His unfailing love and mercy as will in time assuage their grief and help them to rise above it, and face the future with steadfast faith and courage, content to leave the soul of their loved one in the care and keeping of an all-merciful and loving keeping of an all-merciful and loving |

In order to reduce the number of accidents on our roads it is proposed to construct a new motor road connecting the principal towns in the Free-State. A beginning is being made on the main road north of Dublin. This new road will be 50 feet wide with a 5 ft. grass margin in the centre and the traffic at either side will be one way only. It will be reserved for motorists and we don't think anyone else would

When this question of fast and dangerous traffic was debated at our Co. Council a few years ago, Mr. Bowen, Co. Surveyor, suggested that one road be placed at the disposal of road hogs and that the public use the others. Had that sound advice been followed what a lot of suffering and accidents would have been avoided in the mean-Unfortunately, fast motor drivers want to be on roads of plenty traffic to show how they can speed

When Dower's Brewery was in its heyday in Dungarvan over 60 years ago, a local farmer's BLUESHIRTS DISPUTE. man when delivering barley at the brewery was given all the beer he cared to drink. He drank three large buckets and then proceeded home with his horse. Until the times got bad and beer became too dear to imbibe too freely it was nothing uncommon for a man with a thirst to do for 20 or 30 pints at a sitting.

NEW DEAN OF LISMORE . Rev. Charles G. N. Stanley, Rector,

Rev. Charles G. N. Stanley, Rector, of Kilrossanty, has been appointed Rector and Dean of Lismore in succession to the late Dean Leslie.

The new Dean was born at Moonaloo, Tallow, in 1884, was educated at Fermoy College and Trinity College. He was ordained for the curacy of Tramore in 1907, appointed to Villiers town in 1914 and to Kilrossanty in 1916. He is a great sportsman. He won the Munster Cup with the Lismore Hockey Team in 1904. While in Tramore he played with the Waterford Rugby Team and was Captain terford Rugby Team and was Captain in 1913-'14. He played with the Kilmacthomas and Dungarvan Clubs for some years. In 1930 he played with the Waterford Bohemian Hockey Club MERCY CONVENT, DUNGARVAN.

In the report of the results of the and was picked on a Munster Trial

An eighth defendant, named Jas. Kelly, availed of the bail offer, and was released pending the hearing of the charges before Justice McCabe at Waterford.

All the accused reside in the Kilmacthomas district.

The charges against them are alleged obstruction of John English, Co. Registrar's assistant, and the Civic Guards, in the execution of their duty, and with damaging Mr. English's car at Carroll's Cross, Co. Waterford.

The arrests, which were effected by Supt. Dennehy, Tramore, and a strong force of Guards and detectives, are a sequel to the conflict between police and farmers following the cattle seizures.

The men who refused to give bail were conveyed to Waterford Jail under a heavy Gardai escort.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

A story of attempted gun-running in Cappoquin, above all the places in the Free State, caused considerable excitement in this usually quiet and non-militant town early last week.

The facts of the case are very simple. The facts of the case are very simple. On Monday week the motor-driven schooner, "Happy Harry," in charge of Captain J. Hagan, Arklow, arrived at the jetty here with an unusually large cargo of 211 tons of coal from Birkenhead, England, consigned to Messrs. McCarthy and Watson, Coal Merchants in Cappoquin. Needless to say, these peaceably-disposed gentlemen had not ordered any rifles, revolvers or other lethal weapons to be included or concealed in the cargo, and great was the surprise, therefore, which both experienced when the Youghal Excise Officer soon arrived on the scene, and having boarded the vessel, told the Captain that he had been informed that a number of firearms had been concealed in the cargo, which been concealed in the cargo, which the Captain stoutly denied. Not satis-fied the Excise Officer then requested Mr. W. J. McCarthy, who was present, to unload some of the coal in his presence, and although he had not intended starting the unloading of the cargo until Tuesday morning, Mr. McCarthy complied with his request and had several cart-loads of coal discharged in the presence of the Excise Officer but as nothing incriminating was to be seen, the officer then left, apparently satisfied that everything was "O.K."

But the suspicions of the authorities were not yet completely removed, as Civic Guards Station.

Civic Guards were soon placed in charge of the vessel and had to con-tinue their weary vigil by day and night until the discharging of the cargo was completed on Saturday evening.

The ship left Cappoquin without further incident on Sunday and loaded a cargo of timber at Killahala Quay, further down the Blackwater.

It may be added that when the ship arrived at Youghal on her way to Cappoquin, a number of detectives went on board and made a thorough search of the engine room and other portions of the vessel, but no firearms were found either there or in Cappoquin.

DOGS THAT SAVE LIFE. By "PHILOKUON."

ST. BERNARDS are often called the Saintly' breed for their association with the Hospice on the elevated Pass between Switzerland and Italy: It would be taking liberties with history however, to pretend that they had any direct connection with St. Bernard of Menthon, who founded the Hospice in the eleventh century. True, some enthusiasts have sought to prove that this was the case, though no mention of the dogs can be found before 1707. Winter Feeding of Dairy

In the winter feeding of dairy cows all foods given should be fresh and appetising. Roots, if clean enough, may be given whole, and are, perhaps, more palatable than when pulped or fingered. Treatments such as steaming, fermenting, mixing with spice or treacle are valuable aids in making food mixtures attractive, but such preparation should not be used to tempt a cow to eat food, such as bad hay and woody chaff, that is in itself low in nutritive value and digestibility. New cakes and meals may be refused by protein.

Regarding the mineral requirements to the number of inquiries which are being received from farmers in regard to the most suitable variety for sowing in different localities. It is significant, too, that these inquiries are not confined to farmers in the tillage districts, where a return to wheat growing is a comparatively simple matter. They cakes and meals may be refused by animals simply because they are new, and foods which are known to be reliable and wholesome should be in-troduced gradually, mixed with other foods to which the animals are partial. mixture of three, four, or more con-centrates is often more acceptable than a single food, and heavy meals, such used the Pass in such numbers before and gritty foods are also improved by the coming of railways.

The most plausible theory concerning their origin is that a native breed was their origin is that a native breed was crossed with the Great Dane to give finitely costive. Foods which exercise a laxative effect are roots in moderation and strength. Barry, famous a laxative effect are roots in moderation mashes, treacle and molthem size and strength. Barry, famous as the saviour of forty lives, died in 1814, and his stuffed remains are to be seen in the Museum at Berne. He looks insignificant compared with the giants of the British show bench, which have reachel their great size by selective breeding and forcing feeding. The like of them cannot be found at the Hospice, where they are not bred for beauty but for serious work. A friend of mine, unfamiliar with our aristrocrats of the show bench, bought one recently in Switzerland; which, allowing for the freightage and expense of quarantine, cost him more than a well-bred puppy would have than a well-bred puppy would have proportions of foods which will give

The class cow in full milk should not be asked to deal with such foods. The process of digestion may be aided by methods of preparation of certain foods. The grinding into meal of the cereal grains and also beans and peas is beneficial, because the digestive juices can act more quickly and thoroughly, and the cooking or steaming of starchy foods is also helpful. Foods rich in protein, however, should not be content merely to order "wheat" or "winter wheat," but should specify the particular variety which they require and should see that they get this variety. By doing so they will avoid the risk of sowing a variety which is not, perhaps, at all suitable to their particular soil. rich in protein, however, should not be steamed or cooked, because the application of heat makes protein less digestible. An indication of the awakened in-terest in wheat growing is afforded by districts, in some cases accompanied by a query as to the best make of tractor or tractor plough, thus indicating that once more some of the best wheatgrowing land in the world is to be utilised in order to produce the maximum quantity of human food. The latter may not be sown before the beginning of March nor, as a rule, not later than mid-April. Spring wheats will not withstand winter conditions, nor will winter wheats sown late in spring ripen in time. In nearly all countries the advantage of having a variety or varieties capable of being sown in spring is realised, but, although there are a number of fairly useful spring varieties available, none of them is quite as satisfactory from the point of view of yield, and also of quality, as winter varieties, and accordingly in

HANDLED SEPARATELY.

There has been a considerable amount of controversy since last year among tobacco growers as to the relative methods of curing the leaves— i.e., whether on the stalk or each leaf separately.

In a statement at Enniscorthy, Rev.
Fr. J. F. Sweetman, O.S.B., Mount
St. Benedict, Gorey, pioneer of twentieth century Irish tobacco growing, said—"In our damp climate here I algorithms and the control of the contro ways advocate leaf-curing where possible for the simple reason that the green stalk adds enormously to the moisture in the barn, to the amount of space required, and because it more than doubles the strain on the roof and wall of the building. Altogether there is a gain of fully 20 per cent to 25 per cent when the tobacco is narvested by picking the leaves from the stalks. Other things being equal, the picked leaves will have more of the so-called oil or gum, greater elasticity, and more body than those cured on the stalk. With the low price for tobacco which we are promised this year." Fr. Sweetman concluded, "this 20 per cent to 25 per cent. may just mark the difference between profit and loss to the grower.'

Mr. J. L. Keane, solr., for plaintiffs and Mr. Hodnett, solr., for Cornelius and Joseph O'Callaghan.

The plaintiffs case was that the defendants' father, who died in 1926, had held the house yearly at a rent of £8, he to do all repairs. After his death his daughter, Mary, continued to pay the rent. In April 33, she enfered into a new agreement to pay 17/6 monthly. Cornelius had married and left the house some 16 years ago, Joseph remained in the house, but did not pay the rent and lived largely on his sister. Mary had given up the key but Joseph would neither pay nor leave the house.

Mr. Hodnett said that the yearly tenancy, to which all the members of the family succeeded had not been determined legally, and couldn't be sent. They hadn't even been consulted about the new agreement, which he contended wasn't valid in the circumstances. Furthermore, all through, Cornelius who was partner with his father as builder and contractor, had possession of a stable in the yard:

NEW HOUSE RENTS TOO HIGH.

DISCUSSION AT CARRICK-ON-SUIR URBAN COUNCIL.

When the Engineer (Mr. Lonergan) submitted to Carrick-on-Suir Urban Council at the October monthly meet ing his report on the clearing of the slum areas and transfer of persons from Ballyrichard Road into the 47 houses just completed by the Council a long discussion followed in the course of which it was stated that those who are to be transferred into the houses have intimated that they cannot pay 5/- a week rent and rates combined for new houses or even less than that figure and that their present rents are from 1/6 to 2/3 a week with a few cases of 2/6, 2/9 and 3/-.

Mr. Barry said in all Europe there is nothing so bad as the slums at Grey-step St. Garriel on Single Photos stone St., Carrick-on-Suir. They are mere heaps of filthy slums thrown to-gether and are the by-word of all who have ever seen them when passing th ough the lown. Mr. ken ey, Mr. Murphy, and other members said the Council must attack the slum problem and it must be faced up to boldly.

The Chairman (Mr. O'Driscoll) said they all agreed that 4/6 to 5/- a week was far too high for these poor people. By adopting the Clearance Order they could get tenants who would be prepared to pay the rents fixed for the new houses and later on they could provide houses suitable from the not afford to pay high rents.

It was mentioned in the course of the discussion that the valuation of the houses occupied at present by whether is 25/- and the valuation the new houses is £6.

It was decided on the proposition of Ir. Kenny to fix the rent less the rates 1/9 a week and to ask the L.G. D., reduce the valuation on the new houses or to defer placing a valuation on them for the present.

FACTORS OF IMPORTANCE IN POTATO-GROWING.

Although climatic conditions cannot be entirely eliminated in connection with the success of the potato crop, much may be done in the cultivation and manuring to improve both yield and manuring to improve both yield and quality.

Systematic and judicial spraying, for instance, will prevent, or, at any rate, check, ravages of "blight," and heavy manuring should always be given, so that, when other conditions are favourable, a yield need not be lost through the want of sufficient nourishment in the soil.

Potatoes do best on the easy-work-

Potatoes do best on the easy-working friable land or on the dark fem soils; they are not a suitable crop for the heavier clay lands, and it is seldom that a good yield can be obtained from them. Moreover, on these latter, irrespective of quantity, the quality is never, good, the potatoes not having the same mealy texture when cooked as when grown on the more friable soils.

The land must be clean to start with, as there is not time in spring with, as there is not time in spring before planting to set about cleaning foul ground. Deep autumn cultivation should be given, and by this means weeds are checked and less work is required. Cultivating and harrowing are then generally sufficient before the ridging plough is sent through the soil, though, of course, if the land has run together and "named" on the surface, a spring-"panned" on the surface, a spring ploughing may be necessary in order to get a good tilth. A dressing of farmyard manure should always be given, if possible, as, apart from the manurial benefits, its mechanical effect is very great. It provides the organic matter, which assists so materially in retaining moisture in the upper layers. retaining moisture in the upper layers of the ground. For those farming large areas of potatoes, where it is impossible to provide farmyard manure for all the area, other organic manures should be given. This can he done by previously growing a green crop, such as mustard or rape, and ploughing it in during the winter.

To supply all the plant food required by a potato crop with farmyard manure alone would necessitate the application of very heavy dressings, indeed. Far better is it to give the crop 12—15 tons of farmyard manure, and make up with a suitable artificial dressing, for not only is a heavy yield obtained, but the tubers are of much better quality. The artificial manure should be of a general nature, including nitrogen, phosphate, and potash. Phosphatic manure is in most cases best applied as superphosphate. Where Chilean potash nitrate is used the nitrate of soda may be omitted, as potash nitrate contains in addition to nitrate of potash, some 14 to 15 per cent. nitrogen in the form of nitrate of soda. When using the combination of superphosphate, sulphate or muriate of potash, and nitrate of soda, it may be necessary to apply a further dressing of Chilean nitrate later, especially if no farmyard manure has been used. Likewise, an additional dressing of potash nitrate may also be given in the case of the superphosphate/potash nitrate combination, as his second application of quick-acting nitrogen and potash will have an ex-tremely beneficial effect on the crop. The appearance of the crop, however, will show whether this second application of Chilean nitrate or potash nitrate is required or not. If the haulm is of a pale green or yellow colour, it is a sign that this additional quick-acting plant food is required, and the second dressing should be
