WATER SHORTAGE

CONDITION OF NEW HOUSING SCHEME

HARBOUR FINANCE

PAYSHEET
 A payment of £20 13s. 11d. wages for the week was passed.

ARCHITECTS SANCTION
 In connection with the delay by the Department in sanctioning the appointment of Messrs. Ormond and Doyle as Architects for the proposed New Housing Scheme.

The Chairman said that as agreed on at the previous meeting, he phoned the Housing Department and spoke to the Secretary about the delay. The Secretary promised to have a letter before to-night's meeting of Council. The letter has not arrived.

Mr. Butler—Personally, I think and I am sure every other member of the Council thinks the delay has gone too far. People don't realise what Councils are up against in schemes such as this and whether the Councils are in Dungarvan or in Donegal, they are blamed for the delay, but it is not their delay, they are held up step by step.

Chairman—There is certainly undue delay in this case.

Mr. Butler—There was a personal promise given to you Mr. Chairman that we would have a letter before us to-night, it is a slur, not on you, Mr. Chairman, but on the whole Council.

Mr. Dahill suggested that the Clerk be instructed to call a special meeting when the letter arrives.

Mr. Byrne—You should ring them up again.

Chairman—When sanction comes let the Clerk get in touch with the Architects and ask them to report.

Mr. Butler—You can't do it any quicker than that.

APPLICATION FOR WATER SUPPLY

James Healy, Tarr's Bridge, applied for a domestic water supply.

Replying to a member, the Clerk said the applicant was outside the urban area.

Mr. McCarthy—But he is very badly off for water.

Clerk—I only wanted to point out that fact.

Mr. McCarthy—Even that he is outside the urban area, his family would want a water supply as well as anyone in the town.

Chairman—I understand he only wants a tap where it was before.

Water Inspector—The tap had to be removed as the previous tenant would not look after it.

The Clerk at this point read a letter signed by Messrs. Donoghue, Keely and Fitzgerald, complaining of the shortage of water to their houses and of the waste of water from the pump at the New Road.

Mr. Crotty—I was speaking to one of the tenants and he told me they have to go for sea water to flush the lavatories.

Mr. Mansfield—It would be a good idea if the pumps were fitted with a spring tap which you press when you want water. It would prevent waste.

After some further discussion it was decided to grant Mr. Healy's application subject to the approval of the Water Inspector, and also to remove the pump from the New Road until the summer.

Mr. McCarthy—Now that we are discussing water, we have 86 houses at Loughmore, and I am sure you could multiply that by five to find how many are living there. What will these people do if they can't get water in the summer. It will mean an outbreak of sickness and his advice would be to lock all the water closets if the improvements were not carried out before the summer.

Mr. Dahill—It would be well to ask De Lap and Waller to speed up their report and let us get on with the water scheme.

Mr. Christopher—That scheme is in the hands of the Department.

Mr. Byrne—I am afraid if they don't have water before May, the Council will get no rent.

Mr. Butler—There is no doubt but the new scheme will be ready before April or May, at any rate before the summer.

Mr. McCarthy—It should be speeded up. It is the Council who will be blamed.

Mr. Crotty—The Council are not at fault.

Chairman—The Clerk can write to the Department pointing out the danger that exists.

CONDITION OF HOUSES

Mr. Byrne—Was there any L.G.B. engineer down lately at the new houses?

B.S.—Mr. Strathan was down, but not officially. He came to see me and inspected one house with me. It was an unofficial visit.

Mr. Byrne—Those houses are in a very bad state.

Mr. McCarthy—The floors are sagging.

B.S.—There is some shrinkage.

Mr. Byrne—In some cases the tar is purging out and the windows and ceilings are on the point of collapsing.

Mr. Crotty—Are they plain doors?

B.S.—Yes.

Mr. Crotty—If the floors were tongued and grooved the tar wouldn't purge.

B.S.—It is only in one or two cases that the tar has come out liberally near the fireplace.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. Lee, Mulcahy, Noonan, and Daly appeared in connection with the Loughmore houses.

Mr. Mulcahy said that they came in connection with the bad state of the houses, which were in a deplorable state. In his house the door was a misfit and was not a proper door. The cement floor was cracked and broken. They are good houses but are not finished. It was up to the Council to see that the houses were properly finished or the ratepayers will have to pay hundreds. You heard about the "wind whistling through the trees"—you'd want to hear it roaring through the doors. I call on you gentlemen to see that those houses are finished properly; it is your duty.

Mr. Lee said that in his house the window was three-eighths of an inch out at the bottom and the door was hinge bound. The ceilings were two to one of sawdust.

Mr. Daly said that on the last windy night he had to come out of the house. He had only one back door and had to pay 7/- for a door. His children were sick on account of the draughts.

Mr. Mulcahy said that a bag with a weight on it put at the door to stop the draught would be blown through the chimney.

The Chairman said the final certificate has not yet been given. Now was the time to make complaints and to see that the houses were in proper order before being handed over to the Council. The Council would have to be satisfied that the houses were in proper order before taking them over.

Mr. Hayes said he had been told that broken tiles were put on the roofs by a person who had been working about the houses. All the roofs should be examined.

B.S.—There were two dozen tiles brought from Clonmel and put up. There may be something in what you say.

Mr. Butler—Was the man who said this on the job?

Mr. Hayes—He was about it.

Mr. Butler—It is a pity the information came so late.

Mr. Byrne said that men who had too much knowledge were got out of the way.

Mr. J. F. Foley—You mean it was a slack job?

Mr. Byrne—I do say it was a slack job, and you have proof of it now. I was standing there when a person pointed out an inferior gauge to me.

The Chairman said that if there was proper supervision this could not happen.

It was decided that a deputation of the whole Council, together with the contractor visit the houses on Thursday next.

Mr. M. Hayes, appeared before the meeting and asked that the next vacant house at Loughmore be given him. He was living in a very bad house.

Mr. McCarthy—It is the worst house in County Waterford.

Mr. Hayes said that he expected two houses would be vacant during the next two or three months.

Mr. Mansfield—You must be expecting somebody to die.

Mr. M. Hayes—I am sure there will be two vacancies. Everybody going up there is dying (laughter).

APPLICATION FOR HALL

Jim Johnson and Co., applied for the hall for the production of Variety, from March 14th to March 18th.

Clerk—That will be during Lent. What will you do?

Mr. Dahill—Were they not allowed in Lent before?

Clerk—There were no applications during Lent.

Mr. Dahill—If it is a rule we should keep it.

Mr. McCarthy—I suggest you leave the matter over until we find out if there is an objection.

Clerk—Yes; and I will in the meantime write to Mr. Johnson asking him if possible to fix an earlier date.

FREE MILK SCHEME

Replying to the Council's resolution re the extension of the age for the obtaining of free milk, the Department wrote stating that the extension could not be granted and pointing out that milk could be given to school children under the Schools Meals Scheme.

Mr. Butler said that the Council passed the resolution with the approval of the M.O. From Press reports all the Councils that had their resolution before them approved of it. The Minister should be asked to reconsider the matter and take notice of the fact that all the public bodies in the country are in favour of it.

Chairman—I am sure the Department has seen that the resolution has been adopted by other bodies.

Mr. Butler—It may not have come directly under the Minister's notice.

Mr. Byrne—I am sorry the Government will not give the poor children some concessions after all they said. It is one of the meanest tricks I ever saw.

Mr. Butler said that £100,000 was allocated for the scheme. The Council could not spend in the specified period the amount allocated from that amount to them. There is no hardship as the money is there.

Mr. Butler's suggestion asking the Minister to reconsider was agreed to.

CUNNIGAR BRIDGE

Commissioner Moykhan, and Mrs. B. M. Redmond, T.D., wrote acknowledging receipt of the Council's resolution re the building of the Cunnigar Bridge and the reclamation of the Western Bay.

AUDITOR'S REPORT

The Clerk submitted the Auditor's report for the year ending March 31st, 1934.

Arising out of the report, Mr. Christopher asked what the £400 referred to by the Auditor was for.

The Clerk stated that it was money not expended on the housing scheme in 1930, and the Council thought they could spend that money on current expenditure.

Mr. Christopher—That money will have to be transferred back again to that housing account?

Clerk—I assume it will. Probably the L.G.B. will call attention to it now.

The Auditor commented on the excess of expenditure over receipts in the harbour account and said that expenditure should be cut down in the harbour account or revenue increased by way of increased dues.

THANKS

Mrs. D. V. Stokes, wrote thanking the Board for their resolution of sympathy on the death of her husband.

CONDOLENCES

Votes of sympathy were passed with the relatives of the late Mrs. Miller, Main street, the late Mrs. Ryan, Ross, and the late Mrs. Augustine Hearne, Burgery.

HARBOUR MEETING

Mr. Curran, Harbour Master, put a statement of the harbour finances before the meeting.

Year ending March 31, 1930—Receipts—£956; expenditure—£974 9s. 10d.

1931—Receipts—£856 9s. 2d.; expenditure—£874 11s. 2d.

1932—Receipts—£943 15s. 5d.; expenditure—£989 15s. 1d.

1933—Receipts—£808 9s. 4d.; expenditure—£870 14s. 10d.

1934—Receipts—£534 19s. 5d.; expenditure—£631 2s. 2d.

Mr. Christopher—Every year your expenditure has exceeded your receipts?

Harbour Master—Yes, since 1930.

Mr. Christopher—You spent £300 less this year.

Harbour Master—Expenditure is very little for the past couple of years. We are carrying on as economically as we can. We must keep the services going.

Mr. Quann asked if there was any way the Harbour Master could suggest of improving matters. The Auditor said we must do something.

The Harbour Master said that they could not increase the dues.

Mr. Christopher asked why the B.S. and S.S.O. were paid 25 per cent. of the salaries from the Harbour Account.

Mr. Butler—The B.S. has to carry out any repairs there.

Mr. Quann—Is there any way to get over the matter?

Harbour Master—That is a very hard question.

Mr. Quann—We cannot go on losing.

Mr. Butler said that any expenditure on the harbour was done on the suggestion of the harbour master and to avoid income tax. They had to pay income tax which he held they were not liable for.

Mr. Christopher—You spent all to avoid income tax.

Mr. Butler—If we did not it would be collared.

Mr. Christopher—You put nothing away for the rainy day. This year the receipts are £900 compared with £900 three years ago.

DUNGARVAN CIRCUIT COURT.

COMPENSATION CLAIM
 On Wednesday, Mr. Justice Sealy, K.C., opened the Circuit Court in Dungarvan.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

Mr. McDonald, B.L. (instructed by Messrs. J. F. Williams and Sons, solrs.) for applicant. Mr. McGuire, B.L. (instructed by Messrs. E. A. Ryan and Co., solrs.) for defendants.

This was an application by Daniel Hyslop, Barrack street, Dungarvan, to determine as to the amount of compensation and the duration of payment by the defendants (A. Moloney and Sons Ltd., Dungarvan), to applicant in respect of injuries received while in their employment.

Mr. McDonald, B.L., said compensation at the rate of 25/- a week was paid up to September 21st last, when payment ceased. The defence held that under the Act payment for total incapacity should be at the rate of 26/3 a week.

Applicant deposed that prior to July 13th 1934, the date of the accident, he was employed by defendants. On that date he was told to go on a lorry to the Shandon Dairy for a load. Witness trucked out the bags which were put on a small block on the yard and lifted into the lorry. While putting the bags into the lorry he hurt his back and had to give up work. His earnings were 30/- a week and he might have a boat to discharge every second week. He did not think he will ever be better. He got a job from defendants turning barley, but could not do it. He also tried trucking corn but had to give it up.

To His Lordship—He was not sure of his age, but he would be about 57 years.

To Mr. McDonald—He was employed by the defendants firm since his boyhood.

By Mr. McGuire—He was not constantly employed since boyhood and would be out during slack periods. The year prior to the accident he was only out one week. His constant wage was 30/- but he was never trusting to that, as he had boats in between. The accident happened in July 13th, and he is just as bad now as then. He did not suffer from pains or rheumatism before this. He got work in October turning barley with a big timber shovel. It is not light work. It is hard work on the back and loins and he could not do it.

Dr. Casey, M.O., Dungarvan, said he attended the applicant on the evening of the accident at his home. He was sitting on a chair and could not move. Witness ordered him to hospital and did not see him again until he came out. He examined him on January 21st and formed the opinion that light work might benefit him. He went to work but did not seem to be able for the work he got. Turning barley was not in witness's opinion suitable work, as all the movements are from the back. The applicant was not ex-rayed.

To Mr. McGuire, B.L.—Witness did not find anything to indicate that applicant was suffering before the accident. Witness treated him for bronchitis once. In witness's view there is definite restriction of his movements and he is not the same man now as he was 12 months ago. He was then a straight man. Witness could not find any improvement in him since he examined him in July, only that he is able to walk around now. As regards the light work, witness thought that it should consist of work such as stitching sacks.

Mr. M. O'Flynn, deposed he was foreman at A. Moloney and Sons Ltd. Applicant was employed by the firm nearly all the time witness was there—that was about 40 years. On store work his wages were 30/- a week and prior to that £2. When a steambot came in he would have a day out of store and get 25/- to 30/- at the boat. He was a reliable honest workman.

To Mr. McGuire, B.L.—Witness said he did not know what other light work could be offered. The bags were taken away now and repaired by the dozen. He could not say if there would be any lighter work available than turning oats.

Dr. McCarthy, deposed that applicant was under his care at the District Hospital for some time. He complained of pains in the back. To his mind he suffered from rheumatic lumbago. He had all the appearance of a person suffering from that. He admitted having a few attacks of rheumatism. He examined him on 31st August and found his muscles still hard, but there was a definite improvement in movement. Witness could not account for his not being able to turn barley. He examined him again on January 10th and found his condition still further improved. In witness's opinion the accident was merely the occasion of bringing out something that was already there.

His Lordship found that the applicant was suffering from total incapacity due to the accident and that his average weekly earnings was 30/- and made an order that arrears from September be paid as also the balance of 1/3 from the date of the accident and allowed costs.

CUTTING TELGRAPH WIRES

The Minister for Posts and Telegraphs sued the Waterford Co. Council for 16/- damage to telegraph wires at Kilmaloo, Kinsalebeg.

Mr. Ryan, S.S., appeared for applicant.

Mr. Hally, solr., represented the Co. Council.

Michael A. Hayes, 2 De Valera St., Youghal, gave evidence of repairing the damaged wires which were maliciously cut.

Patk. Murphy, Overseer, said the actual cost of replacement was 16/- and expenses to-day 15/-.

A decree for 16/- and 15/- expenses was given.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

THE MONSTER BAZAAR
 All the arrangements are complete in every detail for the Monster Bazaar to be held in the Boathouse Hall, to-night, (Friday, Feb. 8th), in aid of the funds of the Point-to-Point Races on next Thursday, 14th inst.

In addition to the comprehensive and varied list of valuable and attractive prizes published last week, several further valuable prizes have been received during the week, including a prize Pedigree 7-years-old heifer, which has been kindly presented by Mr. B. G. Usher, Cappagh; several warm travelling rugs, Ladies' and Gent's Jumpers and Pull-overs (in silk and wool), legs of mutton, bags of apples, a costly and ornamental bronze clock, bottles of superior French Wines, or rare old vintage, and a ton of coal, kindly presented by Lord Charles Cavendish, Lisamore Castle, as well as many other attractive prizes.

The entire list of prizes to be offered at this Bazaar constitutes a record for an event of this kind, and exceeds the entire number of prizes offered during the three nights' Bazaar held in December, 1933.

The admission tickets of 3d. each will entitle the holders to participate in a special Grand Drawing, for which four valuable prizes will be offered.

THE POINT-TO-POINT RACES

The Annual Point-to-Point Races will be held over the popular and picturesque Ballynoe Course on next Thursday, 14th inst., under I.N.H.S. Rules, and under the auspices of the West Waterford Hunt.

All the previous Point-to-Point fixtures held in Cappoquin proved singularly successful, owing to the large entries received from all parts of Munster for the five Valuable Stakes of £100 each, and five Silver Challenge Cups, while the general management of each meeting in the hands of the local officials and Committee has been pronounced by keen judges to be the best seen at any similar fixture in the South of Ireland. Next week's meeting promises to eclipse in many respects the best of those held previously as additional improvements have been carried out on the course year after year, so that a splendid view of the racing from start to finish is ensured owing to the removal of several trees and bushes which obscured the view at certain points.

The fences have undergone a special preparation for this year's event, and no expense has been spared in making them as safe for horses and jockeys as human ingenuity could devise. With a thoroughly experienced committee of well-known sportsmen at the head of affairs, nothing has been left to chance, and the smoothness and despatch with which everything will be carried out on Thursday should make this one of the most enjoyable and successful racing events of the year. Although the entries will not close until noon on next Monday, 14th inst., very large entries have been already received from the Counties of Waterford, Cork, Limerick, Tipperary, Kilkenny, and Wexford, so that both the Provinces of Munster and Leinster will be well represented, and large fields, keen competition and close and exciting finishes should be the order of the day.

At a meeting of the Race Committee on Monday night, with Mr. Ion Villiers Stuart, Chairman, presiding, tenders were received for a Bar on the course on Race Day from Messrs. J. Lombard, Fermoy, J. Daly, do., and J. Donovan, Cappoquin, but the tender of Mr. Lombard, being the highest was unanimously accepted.

On Race night a Grand All-Night official Race Dance will be held in the Boathouse Hall when music will be provided by Billy McSweeney's Dance Band, Waterford, (personally conducted), and with splendid catering arrangements carried out by Mr. G.

Watson, Cappoquin this should prove a glorious wind-up to a glorious day's sport. Tickets (including tax and supper), are only 4/- each.

"45 DRIVE" FINAL POSTPONED

The final rounds in the "45 Drive" organised by the Rowing Club which were to have been played in the Boathouse Hall on Sunday, Feb. 24th have now been postponed to the following Sunday, March, 3rd., so as not to clash with the finals of the 45 Drive for Parochial purposes to be held in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on Sunday, 24th inst.

In consequence of the postponement of the date for the final rounds, the date for sending in names of winning pairs in the first round, with remittances, has been also postponed from Saturday, Feb. 9th, to Saturday Feb. 16th., so that this additional week should now enable many more players to enter for this attractive and profitable event.

Death of Sister M. Gabriel, District Hospital, Dungarvan.

It is with feelings of deep regret we chronicle the death of Sister M. Gabriel Scanlan, District Hospital, Dungarvan, which occurred after a brief illness on Saturday morning last. Few were aware that the good nun had been ill and consequently the news of her demise evoked the deepest sympathy amongst all classes of the community by whom she had been loved.

As Nursing Sister in charge of the District Hospital since its inception, she had won the esteem and admiration of all who required hospital treatment by her unfailing kindness, tenderness, humility and charm of manner. She was ever at the disposal of all who needed her skillful services and under her capable direction the District Hospital has reached a standard of efficiency and comfort which cannot be excelled. Such a record is in keeping with the great and noble work carried on there by our excellent Surgeon, and the brilliant nursing staff, of which Sister Gabriel was the chief and guiding light. She is gone in the prime of life—she was only 42 years of age—and the District Hospital and the thousands of our people who go there and avail of its great and healing services will sadly miss her. She was a veritable ministering angel, possessed of all the attributes that go to make the sick feel well.

An ornament of the illustrious Mercy Order to which she belonged, and a Nursing Sister whose life was devoted to tending to the needs of the sick and incapacitated in the most thorough and finished manner, she has left behind her a memory of self-sacrifice and nobility of purpose which will survive for many a year. Sincere sympathy is extended to the Sisters of Mercy in their great loss occasioned by her early death—R.I.P.

On Sunday evening the remains were removed from the District Hospital to the Mercy Convent Chapel, and rarely has such a demonstration of public sympathy been witnessed in the town as on this occasion. Practically the entire people of the town and surrounding districts attended and marched with the sad procession, while prayers for the happy repose of her soul were on all lips. Behind the bier walked Very Rev. Canon O'Brien, P.P., V.F.; Rev. M. F. Hearne, C.C.; Rev. P. F. McGrath, C.C.; Rev. T. B. Walsh, C.C.; Rev. M. Power, C.C., and Rev. J. Hartly, C.C.

On Monday morning Solemn Requiem High Mass was celebrated in the Convent Chapel for the repose of her soul by Very Rev. Canon O'Brien, P.P., V.F.; Rev. J. Hartly, C.C., was deacon and Rev. M. Power, C.C., Abbeyside, sub-deacon. Very Rev. L. Egan, P.P., Newcastlemole, presided and Rev. P. F. McGrath, C.C., was master of ceremonies.

In the choir were—Very Rev. N. Dumphy, P.P., Abbeyside; Very Rev. J. Gleeson, P.P., Aghish; Rev. D. Power, C.C., do.; Very Rev. F. Farragher, O.S.A., Rev. J. Duffner, O.S.A., Very Rev. T. Fitzgerald, P.P., Cappoquin; Rev. T. Dunphy, C.C., do.; Very Rev. E. English, P.P., Old Parish; Rev. J. Murphy, C.C., do.; Rev. M. F. Hearne, C.C., Dungarvan; Rev. T. Walsh, C.C., do.; Rev. J. Rea, C.C., Ballinameela; Rev. P. O'Farrell, C.C., Straubbally; Rev. T. O'Shea, C.C., do.; Rev. J. Power, C.C., Kilgobnet; Rev. H. Synnott, C.C., Armore; Rev. Fr. O'Donovan, Modeloko.

BLACKWATER FISHERIES.

AND PROTECTION OF RIVER.

BAILIFFS' BUSINESS.

Mr. J. Kennedy (Chairman) presided at the monthly meeting of the No. 4 of the Lismore Board of Blackwater Fisheries Conservators, at Tallow, on Wednesday, and the others present were—Captain R. Holroyd Smyth, Messrs. J. Kent, W. O'Brien, W. Dunne, T. Murphy, W. Baldwin, J. Hackett, Carey Joyce, E. P. Maxwell, Major Longfield, R. G. Annesley, T. E. Montgomery, I. Villiers Stuart, E. E. Hey, Lord Charles Cavendish, Vice-Chairman.

The Department wrote stating that they had received a complaint from Michael Condon, of Ronayne's Fishery Youghal, to the effect that motor vans were operating in their district buying salmon. It was alleged that these motor vans came from such distant places as Fermoy and Cappoquin, and that they bought salmon from men "who are not in a position to sell them."

The Clerk said that a similar question arose last year in connection with the same man. As he was operating in the Youghal district the Department waived their objection. The matter was left in the Clerk's hands to meet the Department's requirements.

Mr. Annesley suggested that it would be advisable to appoint an engineer to see that the work was carried out properly. Mr. Hackett did not see the necessity of going to the expense of employing an engineer on a small job of this kind.

mon in London was 6s. per lb., so that it was hardly imported. Several members said there was a lot of poaching in the Lee. That might explain the source of the salmon.

The Clerk said he was in an awkward predicament regarding the usual issue of bonuses. He had applied to the Department for them in the usual course. Receiving no reply he wrote again on the 15th January, but got no reply. As the season opened on the 1st February, and as he had to issue the licences on the 31st January, he sent a telegram a few days ago, pointing out the urgency of the matter, but still no reply was received up to that morning.

The Board decided to send a telegram to the Department from the meeting, signed by the Chairman and Vice-Chairman, asking that the licences be forwarded immediately. Major Longfield said in view of the fact that reports had been rife to the effect that the river for miles down from the Mallow Factory had been fouled by deleterious effluents from the Sugar Factory, he was pleased to be in a position to say that everything possible was being done by the capable manager of the factory to prevent anything of the kind taking place.

A small portion of the dam had given way, and that gave rise to the rumour that a lot of poisonous effluent had got into the river, but he was glad to say, that such was not the case. At the time some surface water had got into the river, but the dam was quickly repaired, and there was no cause for apprehension as a result.

A Government Inspector had gone over the place and was satisfied that everything possible was being done to prevent any deleterious matter getting into the river. The factory chemists were constantly on the watch and all necessary steps were taken immediately if any organic matter was found in the effluent. So far as could be ascertained there was not the slightest sign of dead fish being found in the vicinity. Everything was satisfactory up to the present.

The Clerk said there was some slimy gravel. Major Longfield said there was a slight muddy sediment, but it was of no consequence. Mr. Annesley said that for the moment the factory authorities were doing all they possibly could, but steps should be taken to prevent a lot of sludge getting into the river.

Major Longfield said the very capable manager was doing everything in his power to prevent sludge getting into the river. They were going to extend the factory and raise the dam by 4 feet. They would have ceased work now but for the fact that a large quantity of beet was arriving from Wexford. They might rest assured that a better man for this purpose than the present manager could not be had.

Mr. Annesley said that for the present try should not be liberated in the immediate neighbourhood of the factory, but in the tributaries and the upper reaches of the river, and the Clerk should be instructed to keep a watchful eye on the result. Replying to a question, Major Longfield said that the output of the factory was up to expectations. They had to keep on the work for an extra week owing to the beet coming in from Wexford and elsewhere.

FARMERS' FIGHT FOR NEW LANDS.

AGRICULTURE'S PLIGHT.

A new Land League of Irish farmers was formed at a meeting of Munster farmers held in Cork. Mr. W. O'Driscoll (Bandon), who presided, was appointed Chairman of the new organisation. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Cork Farmers' Association with the object of forming a non-political vocational organisation in the interests of Irish Agriculture.

Mr. O'Driscoll said that every farmer who possibly very few exceptions, had suffered a most serious decline in his income during the past few years; and the loss to the nation of more than £24,000,000 in the financial year ended March, 1934, as compared with the year 1931, was reflected almost entirely in the impoverishment of the agricultural community.

The cost of living to-day, according to statistics, was 57 p.c. greater than in 1913, and the cost of production was certainly 100 p.c. greater. Unless dairy farmers could dispose of their calves at reasonable prices, and unless feeders could realise a profit on the stores bought from dairy farmers, it would require considerably more than could be realised at the moment for butter or liquid milk to enable the dairy farmer to make ends meet.

There had been extracted from Irish farmers in the past few years a huge sum by way of penal tariffs imposed on farmers' produce entering Great Britain. The spirit of enterprise that characterised the Irish farmer in the past was dying, and the eyes of all engaged in the land were being steadily diverted to any other means of livelihood.

Mr. E. J. Cussen said that everybody now associated with agriculture must recognise that unless they pooled their interests and forgot their prejudices and stood solidly together for the protection of the agricultural community and of the individual industry would be irretrievably ruined within measurable time, and everybody dependent on the industry would be reduced to the worst possible conditions.

Large numbers of their people were faced with destitution, and the industry of the farmer was on the slippery slope to ruin. The farmers and workers of the Free State are considerably more than half of the whole population, said Mr. Cussen. "On them the country depends for its food. They occupy the key position, and they have it in their position to insist on their being given a return for their labour which would enable them to live in decent comfort, but what are the facts? The price paid for any article of farm produce is determined outside the industry, and in innumerable cases the person who passes along that article to the consumer realises more for doing so than the person who produced it."

He moved to form an organisation to be known as the "New Land League," membership to be open to every person who is dependent on the land for a livelihood; that the organisation be forthwith extended to every county and province, and that a National Executive be set up, to be composed of delegates from the provincial executives or county executives; that sub-committees of the organisation be appointed to cater for sectional interests, such as a live stock committee, dairy produce committee, pig committee, cereals committee, and so on.

Mr. Halpin, Newmarket-on-Fergus, said that until the farmers organised they would be serfs and slaves. Mr. Hartnett, Kilmallock, said that Mr. De Valera had stated when in Opposition that two-thirds of the wealth of the country was produced by the farming community, and that the other third came indirectly from the farmers. Now the farmers were the slaves of the political parties.

The first is that in many parts of the country the small farmers are liable to the larger farmers and refuse to recognise any solidarity of interest with them. The second is that the preservation of an export market for agricultural produce is intimately connected with what is called 'the national issue,' and that consequently it is impossible to find a solution for agricultural problems without first disposing of constitutional problems.

A farmers' organisation which seeks to be neutral on the question of remaining in the Commonwealth is ignoring the main factor in the future of Irish farming. Yet, if it is not neutral on this question, what hope has it of securing the support both of those who seek a United Ireland and those who seek the inconsistent ideal of a Republic? In other words an Irish farmers' organisation cannot be really comprehensive in its membership without being empty and futile in its policy.

It will only be possible for it to be genuinely non-political after the people of the Free State have taken a definite decision on the national issue. For my part I would greatly prefer even a decision in favour of a Republic to a continuance of the present ambiguous and dishonourable position, so fertile in cant and humbug, and so fatal to the consideration of practical questions on their merits.

"Meanwhile I venture to suggest that even if you proceed with your attempt to create a non-political organisation, none of our former friends should falter in supporting and strengthening the United Ireland Party. Both your interests and your honour are at stake."

DEATH OF LISMORE EX-NAVAL MAN.

Deep regret was occasioned by the death of Mr. Declan Coughlan, who died at his residence, Church Street, Lismore, recently, after a brief illness. The deceased was highly esteemed and respected by a large number of citizens. He served 24 years in the British Navy and went through the Great War, taking an active part in the Battle of Jutland. Much sympathy is extended to his bereaved wife and children.

ALLOTMENTS FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.

At this time of the year when Local Authorities in Urban Areas have before them the matter of providing allotments for the unemployed in their districts it is hoped that full advantage will be taken of the Acquisition of Land (Allotments) Act which was passed by the Oireachtas last year.

Under this Act unemployed in Urban Areas can be provided by the Local Authorities with allotments of about one-eighth statute acre in extent at a merely nominal rent—usually 1/- for the growing of vegetables for themselves and their families and can also be provided with the necessary seeds, manures, spraying materials and the use of tools, free of charge, for the cultivation of the allotments. If a Local Authority has not land at its disposal which it can let in allotments it may rent land for the purpose and in that case the difference between the amount of the rent which it has to pay the owner and the amount of the rents paid to it by the allotment holders will be met by a State Grant.

Similarly the cost of providing the seeds, manures, spraying materials and tools will be recouped to the Local Authority by means of State Grants. Consequently Local Authorities are now in a position to put this most useful Scheme into operation in their districts without imposing any burden on the local rates.

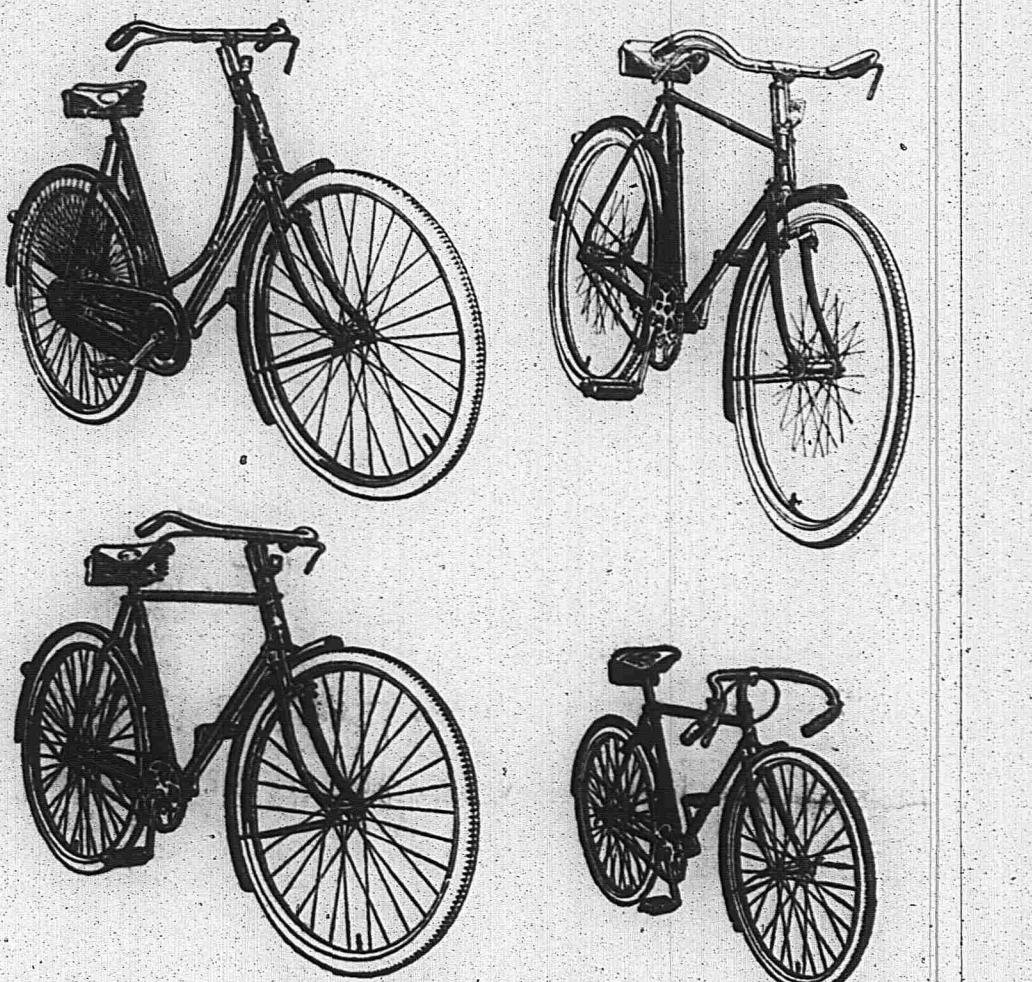

In order that the Scheme may succeed it is essential that it should be brought to the notice of the unemployed in such a manner as will elicit their co-operation. In many cases unemployed persons will not see advertisements or notices in the Press; or, even if they do will not without some encouragement take the initiative step of applying to the Local Authority for allotments. Members of Local Councils and other persons of standing in their districts can render the greatest assistance by bringing the benefits of the Scheme to the notice of the unemployed and by inducing them to apply for allotments.

FITZGERALD FOR BIKES. DUNGARVAN

are limited to affording relief in money or kind, the Scheme of allotments for the unemployed, by providing an interesting and useful occupation, has the advantage of maintaining the morale of the unemployed and their physical fitness—qualities which are subject to suffer seriously from the effects of enforced idleness. The cultivation of an allotment is not so absorbing as to interfere with the allotment holder's search for employment but it serves to fill time that might otherwise be spent uselessly, and it develops initiative. An allotment holder works directly for his own benefit and that of his family and has, therefore, a special incentive to do his best. For these reasons the Scheme is one which should command the support of all interested in the social well-being of the unemployed in our urban centres.

DEATH OF MR. P. O'BRIEN, FORMERLY OF KILMINION, DUNGARVAN.

The death in Merthyr-Tydvil, Wales, in the prime of early manhood of the above-named gentleman has evoked feelings of general and sincere regret not only in his native locality of Kilminion, but throughout the district of Merthyr, where the greater part of his all too short life was spent. At a rather early age deceased emigrated to Wales where his industry, zeal and trustworthiness coupled with a robust constitution and powerful physique found him ready and responsible employment. These rather unique qualities soon raised him to a remunerative and important position in the Iron-Smelting Works at Merthyr-Tydvil. His fellow-workers, too, quick to appreciate his native frankness and ability as well as his rare capacity to fill a social role entrusted him with the organisation and conduct of their social functions till actually at the date of his death he was Steward of the Constitutional Club in Merthyr.

His illness, borne with truly Christian fortitude, was of rather short duration. Throughout his illness the Very Rev. Canon Flood was unremitting in his attention and ministrations. Amidst many manifestations of regret the remains were borne to Fishguard en route for Dungarvan where they arrived on Tuesday week. Though early in the morning the funeral cortege from Dungarvan to the family burial place in Kilminion was of large and imposing dimensions testifying to the esteem in which the deceased and family are held. To testify further to the deep personal esteem in which he was held by his colleagues in the place of his adoption three members of the above-named club accompanied the remains to the grave on which they silently but reverently placed a wreath. The deceased leaves a young widow and a daughter to mourn him. To these as well as to his relatives in Kilminion sincere sympathy is tendered.

DETENTIONS.

Mr. D. J. Kingston, West Cork, said that many who should be present were detained by the Garda. The farmers present were there as the most law-abiding section in the Free State. The organisation stood for agriculture alone. Mr. Fallon, Cashel, supporting Mr. Cussen, said that they were not present to destroy any organisation established by the farmers. Mr. Meade, Fermoy, said that they had been fooled for years and should not be fooled any longer. Mr. Boohan held that Mr. Cussen's resolution was out of order.

MR. MACDERMOTT'S VIEWS.

Writing to the meeting expressing regret that a cold prevented his attendance, Mr. F. MacDermot, T.D., pointed to difficulties in the way of forming a vocational organisation.

NOTABLE RECORD OF CARRICK CONVENT SCHOOL.

Six of the sixty vacancies for Writing Assistants in Government offices were secured by pupils of the Presentation Convent Carrick-on-Suir. This makes a record for any one school at the Civil Service Examination. The names of the successful girls were—Nellie Bartley, Margaret Bourke, Margaret Kearns, Bridget Phelan, Teresa Kelly, Maggie Kelly.

TANNERY FOR CARRICK-ON-SUIR.

APPLICATION TO EXEMPT PREMISES FROM RATES. Carrick-on-Suir Urban Council has asked the L.G.D., to allow the Council to exempt the New Tannery Buildings from rates for two years. The application was made following a request from Mr. M. J. Quirke, solr., on behalf of the Tannery Company.

KILMACTHOMAS NEWS.

A DISTINCT SUCCESS.

The now popularly-established Kilrossanty Amateur Players presented their laughter-laden 3-act comedy, "Trader Kiernan's Dilemma," to a large and representative audience at Stradbally Convent School on Sunday evening last, in aid of a praiseworthy parochial purpose. The cultured audience thoroughly enjoyed the performance, and the highly talented actors and actresses engaged were applauded to the echo at the end of each act. The part of Trader Kiernan was filled by Mr. John Drohan, who was never at fault, and showed rare ability throughout his long and arduous appearance on the platform. Miss Hannah Power, as Mrs. Kiernan, won unstinted plaudits for her splendid acting as a person suffering from "nerves." The role of her daughter, Jessie Kiernan, was played by Miss Margaret Hayes, and this comely collection's portrayal was positively perfect personified. Miss Madge Power was cheered to the echo for her capital impersonation of the humorous but onerous part of Mary—an assistant at Kiernan's premises. Miss Power is a most attractive young actress, and her characterisation was really true to life. Mr. Maurice Dee, delightfully counterpointed Mr. Tisdall, a bank clerk, and was deservedly applauded for his excellent enactment. The very difficult role of Peter Carmody was manipulated in a masterly manner by Mr. Peter O'Connor, whose able efforts gained him rounds upon rounds of applause. As Mr. Rattigan, Mr. Joe Blevins, was outstandingly good. This naturally witty actor possesses a fine stage presence and his humour is irresistible. All praise to the brilliant Kilrossanty Players for their truly magnificent production. Between the acts of the piece a number of well-chosen concert items were contributed in the following order:—1—"Duet"—"Gipsy Countess" by Miss Nora Whelan, Stradbally, and Mr. Patrick Gleeson. (This vocal item was a veritable treat of itself and fairly brought down the house). 2—"Hornpipe"—by Mr. Christopher Lenihan, Durrow. (An admirably executed number). 3—"Songs"—"Mate O' Mine and Life's Dream is O'er"—by Mr. Berchmans Power, Graigarush. (The sweetness of this well-known tenor's voice was never heard to better advantage). 4—"Jig and Reel"—by Miss Linehan, Durrow, and Mr. Jerry Halpin, do.

These pleasing numbers were stylishly and dashingy tripped out, undoubtedly. The singers and dancers were given great ovations.

Mr. Thomas Lincoln, N.T., Stradbally, acted as M.C. with his wonted ability. Patrons of the treat included Very Rev. T. Murphy, P.P., Stradbally; Rev. T. O'Shea, C.C., do.; Rev. P. O'Farrell, C.C., do., and Rev. J. Harty, C.C., Kilrossanty.

At the close of the entertainment, Father Murphy, P.P., thanked the audience for their attendance in such large numbers and the various artists for their appreciable help. He warmly complimented the Kilrossanty Players and expressed himself as being deeply grateful to the nuns for providing the use of the school for the happy occasion.

HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL DANCE

Splendid organisation, combined with untiring energy, were the principal factors which made for the success and brilliancy which marked the Farmers' dance, brought off in Mr. Baldwin's Hall, Kill, on last Sunday night. Rarely has there been seen such a gay and numerous assembly of dancers in the well-known Kill village venue—upwards of 200 couples took the floor. And not alone from the numerical point of view must one regard the remarkable success which attended this most keenly looked forward to function. There is always joie de vivre attendant on the East Waterford Farmers' Dance which singles it out as one of those happy fixtures which afford the maximum enjoyment to all those who have the privilege of being present. Taking the statistical point of view alone, the promoting committee have every reason to be proud of themselves. It was a reward to their organising abilities, and a pointer to the popularity of their annual treat. In fact, it may be said without any exaggeration that it was an outstanding social event in the annals of the eastern end of the ancient and historic Decies. What impressed one in particular was the harmonious blend of the general colour scheme—a sign and a symbol of the happy spirit of neighbourliness which characterises the men and women of East Portlaoige. May it ever be so. The music, which left nothing to be desired, was culturally rendered by a leading Urbs Intacta Band, and the catering, being in the hands of a local ladies' committee, was par-excellence—those who partook of the sumptuous supper provided by these ladies will remember with gratitude their adequacy and efficiency. It would be impossible to give a complete list of the patrons of this year's social landmark.

DEPARTURE

After spending a happy holiday at her home at Leamybrien, Miss Kathleen (Katie) Hayes, returned last week end to London, where she has occupied an important position for the past eight or ten years. Her hosts of friends here wish her continued success and good luck.

RECENT DEATHS.

The death occurred at Kilminion, Stradbally, of Miss J. Orpen, after a protracted illness and in the fullness of her years. Miss Orpen's passing, even though at a ripe old age, caused general and deep regret, not only by her immediate relatives, but also on the part of all her neighbours and many friends. Interment was made in Stradbally Protestant Churchyard. The Rev. Canon Burkett, Stradbally, conducted the burial service.

Mr. William Holmes, farmer, Lyre, Kilmaclomras, a well and favourably known gentleman, died on Friday of last week. Remains were removed to Fews Catholic Church on Saturday evening, and the interment took place in the adjoining cemetery after the late Mass on Sunday, amid many manifestations of sorrow.—R.I.P.

Mr. Patrick Fitzgerald, Mahonbridge, Kilmaclomras, answered the Great Call on Sunday week after a brief illness and at a comparatively young age. Beloved of all who knew him, his funeral to Kilrossanty was large and representative. After Masses of Requiem for his soul on Tuesday, he was laid to rest in the churchyard. Father Kehoe, P.P., officiated at the graveside, assisted by Fr. Harty, C.C.—Peace to his soul.

THEN AND NOW

A respected reader, who is a resident of the Rathgormack region, writing within the week, reminds us that—"Matrimony was apparently looked on as a very serious business for women two hundred years ago. According to the laws of the land at that time women were not allowed to use unfair means to inveigh bachelors into marrying. To prevent them doing so, the English Parliament in 1700 enacted the following legislation: "That all women of whatever age, rank, profession or degree, whether virgin, maid or widow, that shall from and after such Act impose upon seduce or betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's subjects by means of scents, cosmetic washes, artificial teeth, false hair, iron stays, hoops, high-heeled shoes or bolstered hips, shall incur the penalty of the law now in force against witchcraft and like misdemeanours, and that the marriage upon conviction shall stand null and void." (The penalty for witchcraft in those days was to be burned at the stake. If some energetic Civic Guard resurrected this old Act, and prosecuted the ladies of the present time who practice those subtleties to trap unsophisticated youths, we fear the Peat Societies of An Saorstát would not be able to supply enough turf for those condemned to burn at the stake!)

CORRESPONDENCE.

Ballydonagh, Kilmanahan, Clonmel.

To the Editor "Dungarvan Observer"

A Chára.—According to Mr. Aiken's statement at the Fianna Fail Ard-Fheis, the Government does not propose to amend the Disability Pensions Act. As one of those affected by this decision, I shall be grateful if you will allow me to give your readers particulars relative to my case.

I was a member of a flying column during the Tan war, and was on whole-time service from the Truce to the resumption of hostilities in 1922. I served with the Republican forces during the 1922-23 campaign, and was interned from May, 1923 to May 1924. I took part in the hunger-strike, and was treated for pneumonia at the Curragh Hospital. I was discharged from the hospital totally disabled.

In September, 1921, I was medically examined and passed as being physically fit for military service. In October 1921, I contracted rheumatic fever whilst engaged in the gun-running operations on the Waterford coast. The doctor who treated me certified that the disease from which I suffer is attributable to that illness. The Army Pensions Board, however, ignored these facts, and disallowed my claim on the ground that I was treated for an illness in 1917.

Mr. Aiken stated that he would be prepared to refer very deserving cases to specialists. I applied to have my claim reconsidered, but I have been informed by a Fianna Fail Deputy that the Minister cannot do so. I have also been informed that it is open for me to apply under the new Service Pensions Act. As I did not hold high rank, I believe that I would be entitled to receive only a few paltry shillings weekly under that Act. A number of able-bodied men who held high rank will be entitled to draw over £300 per annum under the Service Pensions Act. I am not claiming half that amount, although I am totally disabled for the past ten years.

What I am demanding is a pension based on the scale set out in the Disability Pensions Act and in accordance with the certified degree of disablement; in other words, I want justice. And, if the Fianna Fail leaders cannot see their way to do justice in my case, then they ought no longer have the effrontery to claim to be the legitimate successors of the gentle Pearse.

LISMORE NOTES.

SUGAR BEET

The Beet season for the Lismore district terminated on January 26th. A total of about 3,700 tons was despatched by rail to the Mallow Beet Factory during the season. There were 245 acres under beet, producing an average of 15½ tons per acre.

The farmers of the district deserve to be congratulated on the efforts displayed by them in making this industry a success. Steps have already been taken to increase the area to 400 acres for the coming year.

LISMORE HURLING CLUB—ANNUAL MEETING

At the annual meeting of the Lismore Hurling Club, Mr. J. F. O'Donnell, Chairman, paid a tribute to the teams and officials for their co-operation during the last year. Although the team did not succeed in bringing home championship honours, yet they had achieved much as a young team. During the coming year he had no doubt that with systematic training they would be able to hold their own against any Junior team in the County.

Rev. R. Power (President) referred to the sound financial position of the club, and paid a high tribute to the useful work of their Treasurer and Secretary.

The following officials were then elected for the coming year—
President—Rev. R. Power, C.C.;
Chairman—J. F. O'Donnell; Vice-Chairman—J. Ormonde, N.T.;
Secretary—J. O'Neill; Treasurer—J. Ross; Committee—J. O'Gorman, N.T.; W. Hogan, T. O'Donoghue, N.T.; J. Ryan, P. Hickey, and M. Regan.

The meeting ended with a vote of thanks to the Chairman, Secretary and Treasurer, for the efficient way they had performed their duties during the year.

KNOCKBRACK, DUNGARVAN

IMPORTANT SALE BY PRIVATE TREATY

We have received instructions from Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming to sell by Private Treaty ALL THAT AND THOSE part of the lands of Knockbrack containing in or about 20 acres, 2 roods and 38 perches held in fee simple, free of rent for ever, P.L.V., £32.

These lands are of the very best quality, and have for many years been noted for their fattening qualities. They are in first class condition and well fenced.

Apart from freedom from rent an added attraction is that although situated within half a mile of Dungarvan, they are outside the Urban Area, and accordingly the liability for rates is appreciably low.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

MINISTER TO TOUR MOUNTAIN AREAS

On Sunday next February, 10th, Dr. J. Ryan, Minister for Agriculture, will address a meeting at the Nire at 11 a.m. After the meeting, the Minister will tour the mountain districts that lie between the Nire and Dungarvan. For some time past the Old I.R.A. in the 7th Batt. Area have been urging the Government to grant some concessions to the small farmers in the mountain districts. The farmers in these areas are hard hit as the soil is too poor to grow either beet or wheat; the big drop in the prices of yearling cattle also seriously affects them as many of them depended solely on the proceeds of the sales of such cattle to obtain farm seeds in the spring.

It is to be hoped that the Minister's tour will result in an immediate measure of relief being granted to those who are struggling so hard for an existence. The action of the Old I.R.A. has evoked numerous expressions of gratitude from the people of West Waterford.

DEATH OF MR. PETER POWER, SHANBALLY, KILROSSANTY.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Peter Power, Shanbally, Kilrossanty, which occurred at his residence on Wednesday 6th inst., after a brief illness fortified by the rites of the Church. Deceased was an upright, honest, hard-working farmer, who was held in the highest esteem by his neighbours. He had reached a good age and passed away to the deep rest of all who knew him.—R.I.P.

On Thursday the remains were removed to the Parish Church, Kilrossanty and were followed by a large cortege. The interment takes place in the adjoining graveyard this (Friday) morning.

DEATH OF MRS. B. AHEARNE, BURGERRY, DUNGARVAN.

The death of Mrs. B. Ahearne, Burgerry, Dungarvan, wife of Mr. A. Ahearne (deceased), which occurred last week at the early age of 31 years is deeply regretted by all who knew her. The interment took place in the family burial ground at Ballykerogue, Wexford. Mr. Ahearne and family beg to return thanks to all who sent Mass Cards and messages of sympathy in their bereavement.

WATERFORD HUNT RACES

The Waterford Hunt Point-to-Point is to be held at Lisnackill near Waterford City again this year. The course has been much improved since last year all dangerous banks have been remade, the boggy ground at the bottom has been drained, and the width of the gateway on to Mr. Maurice Murphy's lane has been doubled. The course may now be said to be a real galloping course.

The meeting is fixed for April 11th., and it is expected that the entries will be considerably larger than heretofore. The conditions of the races have been altered so that penalties are to date from January 1st 1935, which should encourage the old stagers to turn out.

SHOP ASSISTANTS

A meeting of Shop Assistants was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday night, for the purpose of re-organising in the town, a branch of the Irish Distributive Workers and Clerks.

Mr. James Delany, Square, was elected Chairman, and Mr. P. Murphy, Thomas' Terrace, Secretary.

A decision was reached to get in touch with Dublin headquarters, and to have an Organiser visit the town as soon as possible.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL SOCIETY

The committee of the above Society are very grateful for the generous response to their after-Mass collection on Sunday, 12th ult.

The usual monthly collection will be held after all the Masses on Sunday next 14th inst. Help us to help the poor. The smallest donations are gratefully received.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

The Dungarvan Circuit Court which opened here on Wednesday was one of the lightest on record and was an indication of the times in which we live. Money is so scarce that the ordinary man cannot afford law, whereas in times of plenty legal disputes are regular features of life. In the good old days all the barberries up and down the country were causes of trouble, but to-day the minds of the people are more worried about how to live than the amenities of rights of way.

CROSS COUNTRY RUNNING

At Limerick on Sunday next, the All-Ireland Cross-Country Championship will be decided over the Greenpark Racecourse. The distance is 6 miles and 25 Clubs have entered. It is 30 years since Waterford was represented in this race, but this year the Waterford colours will be carried by the Glenmore Athletic Club, drawn from Dungarvan and district.

CARNIVAL DANCE—FEBRUARY 27th.

The Dance Committee of the Children's Health Committee have had such a ready response to their appeal for prizes and novelty dances that they had difficulty in deciding how to award them. Some new and novel ideas have been decided on which will be popular with patrons. The dance on the 27th inst. promises to be the most successful yet held. The following prizes are on view at Morrissey Bros., Main street:—Boyle's Knitting Co.—Ladies Cardigan; Nanette, Main street—Permanent Wave; J. J. Hurley, Clock; J. Dunne, 50 Cigarettes; J. Barron, Cigarettes; Pouch and Tobacco; Miss Landers, Square Glasses; M. J. Cleary, Wine; Miss B. Casey, Tea Caddy; P. Dunne, Hotel Cardigan; Mrs. Power, O'Connell street, Box Chocolates; W. SPORTS CLUB DANCE

Novelty is the keynote of the Dungarvan Sports Club and former successful dances are a sufficient guarantee that next Wednesday night's function will be equally successful. Nothing has been overlooked in the matter of catering for the comfort and enjoyment of their many patrons. Varied headgear, etc., will lend a Carnival effect and statu-dancing, etc., will provide a novelty. The Silver Star Band are also anxious to make a good impression on this their first appearance amongst us.

DISQUALIFIED RACER

At Dungarvan Circuit Court, Mr. W. Browne, Temple Michael, appealed against the decision of the District Justice at Lismore in dismissing his claim for £15 stake money won by his horse Iron Duke, at Cappoquin Point-to-Point Races in February, 1934. The respondents were Mr. Lincoln, Treas., and Messrs. M. J. Sargent and P. Walsh, Hon. Secs., Race Committee.

Having heard the evidence at length His Lordship asked for the order of the District Justice and being told it had not been lodged adjourned the case to Waterford for the production of the order.

Mr. Molloy, B.L., (Mr. Hodnett, solr.) for appellant; Mr. McDonald, B.L., (Mr. Williams, solr.) for respondents. Full report next issue.

DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

At Dungarvan Circuit Court on Thursday, Mr. Roger Shanahan, Ash-town, Kilmactomas, applied for £99 5s. compensation in respect of furniture damaged by the I.R.A. in 1922.

Mr. Molloy, B.L., (instructed by Mr. Quirk, solr.) for applicant; Mr. E. A. Ryan, solr., represented the State.

Mr. Shanahan, said that his residence at Ash-town was occupied by the I.R.A. in April, May and June, 1922. He had great difficulty in getting into the premises at times and always had to get permission of sentries to enter. He locked all the furniture in two rooms, but the locks were broken and the furniture used and damaged.

Examined by Mr. Ryan—He never tried to dispose of the broken furniture which is still there. He did not send it to an auctioneer. Mr. Butler, auctioneer, went very closely into the valuation. All the stuff was purchased at Malcomson's auctions about 15 years ago.

Mr. J. Butler, Auctioneer and Valuer, Dungarvan, deposed to making a valuation of the furniture and he thought £80 was a reasonable valuation.

Examined by Mr. Molloy, B.L.—Witness said he could find nothing wrong with the revolving bookcase. The furniture was very valuable. His Lordship said he believed Mr. Sargent.

The Relation of Diet to Health and Disease in Domestic Stock.

MR E. J. SHEEHY, B.Sc., F.R.C.Sc.I.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Sheehy pointed out that many diseases of farm stock are associated with the invasion of the body by pathogenic organisms, whether they be bacteria or worms or other parasites. It must be remembered that these various organisms do not invade the body merely for the purpose of conquest or to cause disease. They take up abode there to live their own lives in comfort, and the production of disease conditions in the host body is incidental as far as the invader is concerned. Now, it has come to light that in the case of many of these pathogenic organisms the condition of the domestic animal's body determines, in the first instance, whether the invader can get access, and, in the second instance, whether, on getting in, it can continue to live. In other words, the condition of the body largely determines the animal's power to preserve health. In addition to specific diseases, farm stock suffer from various disorders which arise either from deficiencies in the feeding or from the incorrect balancing of the various ingredients of the diet. In former days the balancing of a ration referred only to the ensuring of a proper relationship between the "albuminoid" material and the remainder of the diet. Nowadays a ration is balanced in respect of "albuminoids," minerals and vitamins, and it is also judged from the point of view of its mechanical condition. The fuller the information regarding the different farm animals' requirements in respect of each of the various ingredients of a diet and the more complete the knowledge of the composition of the various feeding stuffs, the nearer approach can be made to perfection in dieting. A perfect diet is one which not alone promotes good growth, but also preserves the animal in sound health and utility to old age.

A characteristic example of a food deficiency causing disorder is the production of the condition known as rickets through the omission of a particular vitamin from the diet. A disorder of this nature frequently occurs in the case of chicks and young pigs, and is not unknown among young stall-fed cattle. Affected chicks display symptoms from the age of three weeks onwards; evidence of the disorder appears in pigs between the second and fifth month while in the case of calves the condition, when it occurs, usually becomes evident at about the age of the first year. In severe cases the limbs become weak, and, owing to their soft condition, bend under the weight of the body. The affected animal is unthrifty, and there are various other accompanying symptoms, depending on the severity of the attack.

In mild cases, perhaps, the only symptom is stiffness of gait, and in many instances the dietary deficiency while interfering with the normal progress of the animal, may not be sufficiently severe to become evident externally. The direct cause of the disordered condition is an absence or an insufficiency in the diet of Vitamin D, in the absence of which the animal is unable to utilise the lime in the food. Now, Vitamin D can be manufactured by the animal from other substances in the body provided sunlight is available. Hence the importance of direct light in the case of all animals, particularly while they are in the growing stage. Light definitely prevents the development of a rickety condition—that is to say, in this respect it maintains health. Where, as in the case of animals confined to badly-lighted houses, sunlight is not available, codliver oil, being potent in Vitamin D, acts as a preserver of health. Grass and green feeding of all kinds are similarly useful in this respect, and even hay is moderately rich in this food factor. Most concentrated foods contain very little of it. These facts, together with the nature of the diet of the different types of farm animals, explain the greater frequency of the rickety condition among pigs and intensively kept poultry than in cattle. Those who feed young cattle in dark houses very liberally on meals, together with a small allowance of hay, can, however, visualise the possibility of a non-apparent disordered condition, due to an insufficiency of Vitamin D.

A deficiency disease occasionally occurs among bonhams at three to four weeks of age. It manifests itself in one or all of the following ways: The little pig develops panting, diarrhoea appears, the skin assumes an unusual pallor, and occasionally the sudden death of an apparently healthy animal occurs. Losses from this condition are most frequent in winter. The disturbance is caused by a shortage of iron in the diet, and it can be definitely prevented by the administration of an iron solution to the bonhams. The concentration of iron in sows' milk is very low, and, unless a supplementary source of iron is forthcoming in early life, anaemia, as the diseased condition is called, may supervene. The giving of extra food in the third week is a wise precaution against anaemia, but the very best preventive is to allow the sow and little ones access to pasture, or even to a bare paddock, as soon as the bonhams can travel. A little heap of dry earth or ashes placed in a corner of the sty also serves a very useful purpose, as the young pigs, in rooting into this, consume sufficient material to provide them with the much-wanted iron.

In other parts of the world, as, for instance, in districts of New Zealand and India, where the pastures are abnormally low in iron, a disease known as bush sickness is prevalent among cattle. A similar deficiency of phosphorus in the pastures of portions of the United States and South Africa cause a very well-known phosphorus deficiency disease. Among the symptoms are the cracking of the bones of the beast, during movement, and the development of the habit of chewing bones, slates, pieces of clothes and other miscellaneous material which the animals can get hold of. Farmers in this country may have noticed similar symptoms on occasions, but, on the whole, the occurrence here is rare. The application of phosphatic manures to the land or the adoption of an improved level of feeding causes a complete disappearance of this disorder. In Ireland there is a greater danger of an insufficiency of lime in the case of house feeding, as well as in certain pastures, notably in uplands and boggy districts. Extreme cases of lime poverty precipitates a condition akin to rickets, but generally the diseased condition of the bone caused by a shortage of lime is not apparent externally, though it interferes considerably with growth, production, and breeding.

By way of illustration of the greater immunity to disease conferred on animals by full and complete nutrition, mention might be made of the lesser effect of ringworm and husk (or hoose) on calves which are in strong condition as compared with the weaker ones. The latter not alone contract these diseases more readily, but they suffer much more severely therefrom. In this connection some very interesting tests have recently been made on the relationship between nutrition and the incidence of stomach worms in sheep. A flock of sheep was divided into two groups, one of which was well fed, while the other was put on scanty fare, both being on pasture. Six months later the number of worm parasites in the strong, well-fed animals was only a fraction of the number found in the bodies of the weak and thin sheep.

While each and every constituent of a ration, by making a diet complete, is connected with the maintenance of health, there is one particular ingredient whose connection with disease resistance is so close that it has been designated the anti-infective element of food. It is called Vitamin A. Vitamin A is found in milk and butter; it is present in considerable quantity in grass and all green herbage, including green vegetables, and to a lesser extent in hay. Poor quality, badly weathered hay, however, contains very little of it, while most cereal feeds and other concentrated foods are devoid of it. Investigation has shown that, in the absence of Vitamin A in the diet, animals become highly susceptible to throat and lung infection and to the development of an ulcerous condition in the stomach. Animals on a Vitamin A deficient frequently succumb to broncho-pneumonia and have very little resistance to colds and such infective diseases as blood poisoning. On the other hand, the introduction of Vitamin A into the diet not alone raises the resistance to these diseases, and so effects prevention, but it is a potent factor in their treatment. It is, therefore, of considerable importance to ensure a full supply of this important vitamin in the diet of all farm animals, and its sources of supply should be particularly noted.

A newly-born calf is particularly susceptible to disease. Adult animals develop in their blood substances which normally help to combat it. These anti-substances are not transferred from the mother to the calf in the womb, but biestings, i.e., the first milk, is very rich in them. Hence the very special value of biestings to the calf. Calves which do not receive biestings suffer from stomach and intestinal diseases due to the activity of ordinary bacteria, which, in adults and in the biestings fed young, normally live in the food tube without injurious effect. The biestings confer on calves a degree of resistance to disease which renders the rearing of these animals much easier than it otherwise would be. Calves born of cows which are fed during the latter portion of their pregnancy period on a diet of low quality hay and water notably lack that virulence characteristic of health, and cases are on record of calves born of such cows suffering from diarrhoea or scour from the moment of birth. Occurrences of this kind are not unknown in this country in districts where cows are poorly fed over the winter period, and the foregoing discussion points the way to their prevention.

While on the subject of scour in young calves, mention might be made of the type of scour which is directly due to the injudicious feeding of milk. Under natural conditions the calf takes a dozen or more feeds of milk daily from its mother, while, when stall-fed, it is required to consume the entire daily milk requirements in two feeds. When excessive quantities are given at each meal, the abnormal curdling of the milk in the stomach so irritates that organ as to reflexly give rise to scour, with its accompanying characteristic symptoms. The dilution of the milk with water is a preventive of this disorder.

LORD WATERFORD'S ESTATE £30,377 ESTATE

The Most Hon. John Charles de la Poer, seventh Marquis of Waterford, of Curraghmore, Portlaw, Co. Waterford, who died as a result of a shooting accident on September 25 last, has left estate in England of the gross value of £30,377, with net personality, £30,431.

He left £200 each to the executors, £5,000 to his wife, his family jewels and the residue of the property upon trust for the first of his sons who attains the age of twenty-one and succeeds to the title.

But should there be no such son upon trust to pay to his wife such annual sum as with the income from marriage settlement funds will make

THERE'S STILL TIME TO SOW WINTER WHEAT

The Irish farmer is familiar with the best methods of cultivation of the crops that he usually grows and he is seldom in need of advice in respect of the season for sowing or the method of cultivation. For various reasons, however, farmers may be induced to introduce a crop with which they have had little experience. Wheat in many areas is a typical example. Seventy or eighty years ago when the crop was extensively cultivated in Ireland there was scarcely a farm on which it was not grown. The farmers and agricultural labourers of the period were thoroughly acquainted with the methods of cultivation in practice. Seventy years is, however, a long time and such of the experience in respect of wheat growing which was accumulated by previous generations has been lost, largely because the growing of wheat has not in some districts been practised for several years past. Moreover, methods have changed considerably in recent years. New strains of seed have been introduced; artificial manures in great variety are available and machinery nowadays plays a big part in production as in other industries. The net result is that many an experienced tillage farmer who has not been in the habit of growing wheat feels that he could do with some advice on the matter. Fortunately, the securing of assistance in this connection is a simple matter. In every County in the Saorstát there are maintained one or more Agricultural Instructors highly trained officers who are competent to advise on all matters in connection with wheat growing and farming generally. The services of these officers can be had free of cost by all residents in rural areas on application to the Secretary of the Committee of Agriculture for the County. In addition, the Department of Agriculture are prepared to supply gratis particulars of the wheat scheme and their leaflet on wheat growing.

Seeing that farmers are in a position to obtain advice and assistance on wheat growing for the asking it is not proposed in this note to enter into a detailed discussion on the subject. There is, however, one point of such vital importance at the moment that we cannot refrain from referring to it and that is that the end of the winter wheat sowing season is almost at an end and that in a week or two it will be too late to think of sowing winter wheat, except in the very early districts.

No doubt most farmers are well aware of this. It would be unfortunate, however, if even one farmer overlooked the fact that the end of the season is so near at hand. The winter varieties invariably give better returns than the spring ones and in a time like the present, when every penny counts farmers should endeavour to get in the more prolific winter varieties. To ensure success it is, however, essential that these should be sown before the middle of this month.

Wages, Etc.

A cheque for £75 3s. 6d., was passed for wages, etc., for week, on the proposition of Mr. Savage, seconded by Mr. Whelan.

Acknowledgment.

Mr. J. J. Aherne, North Main street, wrote thanking the Council for their kind vote of sympathy, and the Clerk for his expressions.

Y.C.Y.M.S. Dance

The Hon. Sec. Y.C.Y.M.S. Dance Committee, applied for the use of the Town Hall for their annual dance on the 13th inst.

The application was granted.

Lifeboat Institution

An application from the President of the local branch N.L.I., for the use of the hall to hold a Whist drive on the 12th, was adjourned in view of the Y.C.Y.M.S. dance.

Free Milk Scheme

The L.G. wrote—With reference to your letter of the 19th inst., relative to the resolution requesting the extension of the Free Milk Supply Scheme to children over the age of 5 years, I am directed by the Minister to point out that provision can be made by the Council for supplying extra nourishment to children of school going age through the medium of their school meals scheme, and it is not proposed to approve of further extension of the free milk scheme in that respect.

The Fire Brigade

The Chairman raised the question of the Fire Brigade practice, a very important matter. They had been singularly fortunate in having no fire in the town for a considerable time, but they should be prepared for all emergencies. When had the Brigade their last practice?

The Clerk—A few years ago (laughter).

Mr. Whelan—They must be pretty rusty now.

Mr. Power—It will be too late to start when a fire occurs.

The Chairman said the people looked to the Council to attend to the matter, and he suggested that they adjourn the question till next meeting and reorganise the Brigade.

The Clerk was directed to put the matter on the agenda for next week's meeting.

Republican Memorial Committee
The Hon. Sec. Youghal Republican Memorial Committee applied for the Town Hall on the 17th, at the reduced rate, to hold a Ceilidhe.
The application was granted.

The Poor Rate

The Department wrote pointing out that 90 per cent. of the Poor Rate was outstanding on the 31st inst., a most unsatisfactory position, and the Council should forthwith take all the steps necessary to enforce the collection.

A letter was read from the collector stating that he had not received his warrant and the demand notes till October and November. Since then he had collected up to the present £1,600 lodging £1,137 to the 31st.

The Clerk said the lodgment was 35% of the whole rate.

Mr. Savage—Not too bad in times like these.
Mr. Whelan said that the blame was not the collector's. The Council did not strike the rate till late, and therefore the onus was on them not on the collector.

Mr. Power—Who is responsible for the writing up of the Rate Books?

The Clerk said they were done by the staff. Formerly the Department allowed them employ outside help. The result was that they had to take them home to write up. Owing to all the extra work piled on them by the Elections, Free Milk, Housing and other schemes, it was impossible to finish them earlier.

Mr. MacNamara—It is certainly slave-driving.
Mr. Whelan—Economy at the expense of efficiency.

New Sewerage Scheme

A letter was read from Mr. H. T. Spreadborough, C.E., Town Surveyor, in connection with the proposed New Sewerage Scheme. He suggested the name of Mr. B. O'Flynn, Cork, as Consulting Engineer.

Sloblands Sluice

A long discussion took place regarding the dangerous condition of the sluice on the Sloblands.

A letter was read from the office of Public Works stating that it was a matter for the Drainage Board Trustees, of which the Town Clerk was Hon. Sec.

Mr. Savage—Then you are responsible, Mr. Clerk (laughter).

Mr. Power—If the sluice is left in its present condition somebody will get killed.

The Clerk—Or drowned.
The Chairman—It is certainly a situation.
Mr. Lynch—Who was responsible in former years?
The Clerk—The Board of Public Works through the trustees. The Board sent down their Engineer.

Mr. Whelan—If the Trustees re-

URBAN COUNCIL v. KIELY

This was a summons for overholding against Patrick Kiely, Old Castle Lane. Mr. Wm. R. Hodnett, counsel for plaintiffs said that Old Castle Lane was one of the areas in which Clearance Orders had been obtained. One of the tenants named Dempsey had been served with notice to quit, and he left, declining to occupy one of the newly built houses. The defendant subsequently took possession, evidently with the intention of "bouncing" the Council into giving him one of the new houses. The Council has a big waiting list of families having 6 to 8 children. The defendant had only one.

Defendant said he had done his best to get a house but had failed. If he were put out he would have to go on the roads.

A decree for possession was given.

LICENSE CASES

J. Ryan, North Main Street, was charged with a breach of the Licensing Act on the 3rd inst.

Insp. Ryan prosecuted and Mr. T. K. Keane, solr., defended.

Sergeant Lupton stated that at 10.42 on the night in question he found two locals and three travellers in the bar. Cross-examined by Mr. Keane, witness said he was told that there had been a Coursing Match at Dungarvan that day and there was a cup which the travellers were in a car outside.

The Justice—Was the greyhound in the bar, too?—Yes, sir, (laughter).

Guard Kelly having corroborated, Mr. Keane said there was no dispute as to the facts, one of the travellers had won a Cup which entitled him to be represented in the National Coursing at Clonmel. They started talking about the prospects and the time stole on them. Mr. Ryan and his father had been 10 years in the business and this was the first charge against them.

The publican was fined 10s. not to be recorded, and the men found on the premises 5s. each.

M. Cashman, Brown Street, was charged with a like offence at 10.37 on the same night.

Insp. Ryan, prosecuted and Mr. Keane defended.

The Inspector said it was a somewhat similar case. The man found on the premises was hiding in the lavatory.

Sergeant Lupton stated there was nobody in the bar. Going into the yard they found the man behind the lavatory door. Mr. Cashman said the man was a friend of his and that he often left him to look after the shop in his absence. He didn't find any traces of drink.

Cross-examined by Mr. Keane—Mr. Cashman was a member of the Urban Council and had to be away on Thursday nights.

The Justice—He doesn't have to (laughter).

Mr. Keane—His sense of civic duty compels him. (laughter).

Guard Kelly corroborated.

Mr. Keane said they did not dispute the facts, the man was a friend of the publican's and usually came on Thursday nights to relieve him so that he might attend the Council.

Evidence having been given in support of Mr. Keane's statement, the witnesses were cross-examined by the Inspector.

The Justice said there wasn't much in the case, but he thought the man was illegally on the premises. He therefore convicted, and as there was a previous conviction the publican would be fined £2 with no endorsement. The other defendant would be fined 2s. 6d.

Mrs. M. A. Cunningham, Market Square, was charged with a like offence.

Mr. J. N. R. MacNamara, Solr., defended.

Guard Fottrell stated that Guard Kelly and he inspected the premises at 11.20 p.m. on the 4th inst. After knocking they were delayed five or seven minutes at the door. The licensee said there was nobody on the premises. Having inspected the bar the publican and he went upstairs to the dining room, where he saw three whiskey glasses and two stout glasses. She said they had been used by visitors. Meanwhile Guard Kelly, who had gone to the back, called him down. He had three local men in the bar whom he had found in the yard.

Cross-examined by Mr. MacNamara, witness said it was about two minutes after they knocked when defendant answered from a top window, and about five minutes when she opened the door. When questioned she said she didn't see the men at all.

Guard Kelly said he saw through the letter box one of the men coming down the stairs behind Mrs. Cunningham.

commend the work, will the Board of Works do the necessary repairs?

The Chairman said the trustees should point out the extreme urgency of the work, as grave danger was involved.

The Clerk was directed to write accordingly.

Sympathy

On the proposition of Mr. Daly, seconded by Mr. Power, a vote of sympathy was passed to the widow and family of the late Mr. Wm. Farrell, Frogmore.

Strand Church

Mr. Savage referred to the New Strand Church, project, which was now taking practical shape. He thanked the Council for their past co-operation and appealed for their presence and support at the meeting to be held next Tuesday.

ham. Witness went round to the back and found the three young men in the yard.

Cross-examined by Mr. MacNamara, witness was positive he saw the young man with Mrs. Cunningham. He brought them into the bar. They denied they had a drink on the premises. One of them said "it is a frightful thing a man can't have a drink without being disturbed." (laughter).

Why didn't you say this before?—I wasn't asked.

The Justice—How did you get into the yard? It was open.

Mrs. Cunningham stated that her brother came on a visit about 8.45 and left at 11.5. He had a half-whiskey, a stout and a Bass. She had also a lady visitor, who had soda water. She served nobody and let nobody in since closing the place. About 10.30 three men called and asked for a drink, but she refused. The yard was let to a man, who stabled a horse there and left it open. When the Guards knocked she opened after three or four minutes. No man came down the stairs with her. She was alone in the house at the time.

Cross-examined by the Inspector—She closed sometimes at 9 o'clock. She took about two or three minutes to open for the Guards. A person could not see through the letter box—there was no light. Her brother had whiskey, stout and beer—that accounted for the glasses.

Wasn't that a bad mixture?—I gave him what he asked for.

The men brought in from the yard by Guard Kelly were not customers of hers.

To the Court—She had not much experience of licensed business being in it only since April last. The men knocked at the front at 10.30 and came to the back at 10.45, but she refused to open.

Do you think that the Guard would fabricate a case against you by saying he saw you coming down the stairs with one of the men?—I had no light.

Would any Guard in his sane senses do the like? Since I opened there, if I only lit a light they entered immediately. How often—Once or twice a week.

Guard Kelly recalled, said when he found these men in the yard and brought them into the kitchen, he met no obstruction.

Defendant said she opened the door for the Guard.

The Justice said he didn't believe the story of the defence. He did not want to hear any more.

Evidence was given by defendant's brother and a young lady visitor that they saw no one in the house up to 10.30 or 11.

The Justice—I convict in this case without the slightest hesitation.

Replying to the Court, Sergeant O'Beirne said that the Guards visited the premises six times since she opened.

Mr. MacNamara made a strong appeal for leniency in view of the small amount of drink involved not long after closing time, and the fact that it was not on Sunday.

The Justice—It was 11.20. In all the circumstances I am unable to certify that the offence is trivial.

The publican was fined £1 to be recorded, and the other defendants 5s. each.

Guard Fenlon charged Thos. Griffin with using an unlighted cycle.

Defendant said he was with some chaps who had lights.

Fine 1s. 6d.

Guard O'Connor charged James Hagan with using an unlighted pony and cart and with having no reflector. He was a poor man.

Fined 1s. and 6d.

ALL SORTS OF TERRIERS EVERYBODY'S DOGS

By PHILOKUON.

It might be thought that one terrier would be as good as another for going to ground after fox or badger, or destroying vermin on the surface. Men, however, thinking otherwise, have invented new breed and varieties, some of which have been brought into being to satisfy the taste of an individual. The Sealyham, now so popular, is an example in point. The late Captain John Edwardes, a Pembrokehire squire, was not satisfied that ordinary terriers were game enough for him, and so he mixed up several breeds and made the Sealyham, which was far different then from what it is now.

The Norwich terrier which is being pushed at the moment is another that has been manufactured. Although it is only two years since he obtained recognition by the Kennel Club, men in East Anglia have been engaged since 1880 in breeding small red terriers that were from 10 to 14lb. in weight, and are endowed with great courage. One cannot see that they are likely to be more useful than a Border terrier of a small working Cairn, but they have come to stay, and no doubt in course of time we shall see more of them.

The Lakeland terrier is another that is comparatively new to the show bench, although dogs of this description have been used in the Fell Country for many years doing work that is far more arduous and dangerous than that usually assigned to fox terriers.

Hunting on the Cumberland and Westmoreland mountains is often carried on in weather that taxes men, hounds and terriers to the utmost; and besides the rigours of the climate, the Lakeland terriers have to be prepared to follow the big hill foxes wherever they may take refuge. Many of them go to ground in this way and never return, getting wedged among the rocks.

The majority of our terriers are the cultured specimens of common dogs of the country. Until the advent of shows no particular care had been exercised over their breeding, the only object being to get strong dogs that would perform any duties required of them. Now they are among the aristocracy of the shows, many of them having been bred to a high degree of perfection, and the best sell readily at remarkably high figures. Fox terriers Cairns and Scottish are among the leaders numerically. In some of the Cairn classes at the recent shows of the National Terrier Club we had as many as 26 competitors.

Cairns, although they were known in Scotland for at least a century and a half, were only brought to the show bench about the year 1900, and no one imagined then that they would gain such an extraordinary popularity, not only among exhibitors but with the general public as well. Possibly the reason is that they are small, smart and hardy. They have won a distinct place for themselves in the hearts of all classes, and there seem to be no limits to their possibilities of expansion. Scottish terriers, too, are on the crest of a boom.

This chat is issued by THE TAIL WAGGERS CLUB OF IRELAND, 23, Old Abbey Street (off Marlborough Street), Dublin, C.8. The Club will be pleased to answer any enquiries submitted by Tail Wagger Owners in connection with canine hygiene and welfare.

HYMENEAL CHIMES.

The parish church, Ballyduff Lower, was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Miss Margaret (Baby) Hurley, only daughter of Mrs. Hurley and the late Mr. Hurley, Amber Hill, Kilmacdonagh, and Mr. Percy Kirwan, Drumlohan, Stradbally, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony (with Nuptial Mass) was performed by the Very Rev. J. Walsh, P.P., Ballyduff-Portlaw. The bride, who looked charming, was attended by Miss Nellie Dunford, Rathmeaden, Kilmacdonagh, and Mr. Percy Kirwan (brother of the bridegroom), acted as best man. After the ceremony, the wedding party motored to the Bridge Hotel, Waterford, where fifty guests, including the Rev. J. Lynch, C.C., Ballybricken (cousin of the bridegroom), were entertained to breakfast. The happy couple left later on their honeymoon to Cork and London. Numerous beautiful and suitable wedding presents were received, as well as

SAD TIDINGS.

American exchanges to hand have news that will be read with feelings of genuine regret throughout these parts, more particularly in Clonsa-Power, where Mr. Robert Hurton first saw the light less than half a century ago. He has passed into his eternal reward, to the inexpressible grief of his amiable wife (formerly Miss Mary Dee, of Briskley, Kilmossanty) and family, and his remains are buried in the Catholic cemetery hard by the home of his adoption in New York City. The deceased was of a gay, light-hearted disposition and was a general favourite of all who knew him at both sides of the Atlantic. Prior to his emigrating, he was a conspicuous camerist, plavine with the famous Clonsa-Power senior sets of his hey-day. May he rest in peace.

The able committee in charge of the feature was:—Messrs. J. Kiersey (President); R. J. Gamble (Vice-President); P. Cummins (Treasurer); L. Veale, (Secretary); M. Cummins, D. Cummins, J. Cummins, W. Cummins, E. Cummins, D. Kiersey, P. Nugent, J. Kelly, M. Darnody, R. Wall, J. Gough, E. Drohan, T. Whelan, and S. Kenny.

Officials of the County Committee of Agriculture in attendance were:—Messrs. J. O'Dwyer (Secretary); P. O. MacEneaney (Agricultural Instructor) and P. O'Shea (Horticultural Instructor).

At the invitation of the deservedly popular President of the Organising Committee (Mr. J. Kiersey), Fr. Galvin, P.P., signalled the start of the competition at 11 o'clock a.m.

On announcing the results, the speaker, Mr. Fahy, briefly addressed the patrons of the feature, whom he thanked for their presence in such huge numbers, and for the lively interest they evinced in every phase of the work. On behalf of his colleagues (Mr. Twomey) and himself, he thanked the promoting committee for asking him to judge the competition, and went on to say that their task was very difficult, as only a few points separated the winner from the next best, not alone in the championship class, but in the other classes as well. The competition was so keen and the standard so uniformly high that they (the judges) wished they could give a prize to everyone of the ploughmen seen in action. The speaker confidently anticipated that Waterford and Cork teams at the All-Ireland competitions in Mallow could keep the prizes in Munster between them.

Mr. J. Gough called for three cheers for the judges, and the call was lustily responded to. The various prize-winners received their awards to the accompaniment of vociferous applause. At a dinner held afterwards in Mr. and Mrs. P. Dunphy's delightful home at Newtown, Mr. J. Kiersey, (President of the Ploughing Match Committee) submitted the toast of The Judges. Mr. Twomey, responding, said that the standard of ploughing had improved considerably since he previously judged in Co. Waterford. Promising the toast of the President of the County Waterford Ploughing said he came there that day fully bent on winning the beautifully designed gold medal so generously offered by Mr. Kiersey, and he was glad he won it. Having paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Kiersey's many sterling qualities, he said he would treasure the medal more than any of the ploughing trophies he had won in and out of the county over the past twenty years. He was proud of the fact that Mr. Kiersey was one of the ten men appointed on the Joint Committee of the National Ploughing Association of Ireland.

As Mr. Kiersey rose to respond, the company sang "He's a jolly good fellow." Mr. Kiersey, in the course of his reply, warmly complimented his colleagues of the Competition Committee on their organising abilities, and thanked Mrs. A. McGrath for her kindness in placing a field at their disposal gratis for the contests.

A meeting of the Committee was held subsequently, when the following team was selected to represent Waterford at Mallow:—Michael Kavanagh, Martin Coffey, and James Kelly. Sub: Pat Cummins.

Mr. Laurence Veale, Ballyshunock, was appointed team manager. Mr. John Walsh, Loughdaheen, was nominated in the Waterford panel of Judges.
