Aerodrome on Comeragh
 WINTER SPORTS AND MODERN HOTEL
 WHAT COULD BE DONE

At their recent meeting the Irish Tourist Association stressed the importance of having suitable aerodromes to cater for the needs of foreign tourists and also Hotels where winter sports and amusements could be had by all who wish to have them.

In that connection Co. Waterford stands supreme as not only have we the finest and most attractive site for an aerodrome in the State, but it can be associated with an hotel which can be made the centre for all who love sport of every description from deer stalking to ping-pong. All that is required is money for the constructional work and then it will run with the ease of Guinness Brewery and with a certainty of big dividends for its investors.

It would be quite an easy matter to get land for an aerodrome, but its situation is important and to have a good take off is a matter of necessity. It is just there we win out. On the top of the Comeragh Mountains in what is almost a level plain of thousands of acres watered by sparkling streams and approached from the Kilrossanty and Kilbrin ends by a beautiful level steamrolled road is the finest site in Europe. Situated high over the sea level and having a beacon light, as a guide, erected on Cruachan, it could be seen hundreds of miles away. There would be unlimited scope for aerodromes, etc. and there could be a safe take off and landing made from any side.

All that is required to be done is to clear the surface of loose stones and level the place. In addition to the erection of a very large hotel to cater for the wants of all tourists there could be golf links, cricket courses, etc., laid out. The making of a swimming pool at the place would present no difficulty, as the Dalgan river has its source near the spot and its high level would give a never-failing supply of pure spring water for all purposes. Situated only 7 miles from Dungarvan and quite convenient to Clonmel and Waterford with the charming strand of Clonea lying almost at its feet, this site has wonderful possibilities and if only some person with plenty of money and breadth of vision came along, it could be made a reality with ease. The formation of a company to acquire the site and carry out the proposals above projected could not lose money, as the Tourist Traffic is only in its infancy and we are not yet in a position to cater in Continental style for our visitors.

A project on this or on somewhat similar lines must be carried out in the Free State before many years and we have the most natural position for such a development and every facility that mountain and sea can confer—and that is a multitude. The number of tourists who have come to Ireland this year beats all records. They will continue in increasing numbers but we must cater for them and make arrangements to have visitors supplied with sport and amusement when they are willing to pay for it.

We have at the moment, unfortunately, a very big number of men idle—first-class workers who if they got a chance would give a good account of themselves. Now here is an opportunity to get all of profitable work and have the dole left for those who are unable to do anything. Mr. Bowen, Co. Surveyor, informed the Co. Council last week that owing to shortage of money all his men were idle and all his machinery tied up for the same purpose. Now here is the chance to put men and machinery to work and work that would be profitable for the State as a whole.

If the Government were to give a grant for such a proposal, after its engineers had approved of the site, what a foundation would be laid for a concern of infinite development capable of returning all money expended on it a hundred-fold as time goes on.

This particular site has every advantage that could be mentioned. It could be purchased from its owners and occupiers by negotiation and it put in the capable hands of Mr. Bowen it could be turned into a boulevard in a short time. There is a splendid opening here for an architect of vision to draw an elaborate plan of what could be done with the place and its environment and thus put to shame the winter tourist resorts in the Tyrolean Alps or in the Blue Carpathians.

Those who have any doubt of the charms and possibilities of the place should have a look at it. It is only 3 miles off the main Waterford-Dungarvan main road and the same distance from the Clonmel-Dungarvan main road.

Those having money to invest and wishing a steady and increasing yearly dividend should consider the merits of such a scheme as proposed and see if it is feasible.

SUNDAY CINEMA
 INTERESTING SUBJECT
 DISCUSSED AND DECIDED

PERMISSION TO OPEN GRANTED

Mr. M. Morrissey, Chairman, presided. There were also present—Messrs. T. McCarthy, S. Hayes, P. Quann, J. Dahill, D. Foley, J. Christopher, (Junr.); P. O'Dwyer, P. Byrne, J. Mansfield, M. Connors and J. F. Foley.

SUNDAY CINEMA

Arising out of the application of Mr. Daniel Crotty, at a previous meeting asking the Council to grant him a seven-day Cinema license, the following notice of motion handed in by Mr. O'Dwyer, was considered:—

"That the order on the books granting a six-day license to Mr. Crotty be rescinded, and that a seven-day license be granted."

Mr. Christopher, seconded the motion.

Chairman—I would like to have as little discussion as possible as all the facts had been discussed at a previous meeting. Mr. Crotty was granted a six-day license some time ago. He would ask the members to discuss the matter without any heat, as on the previous occasion unnecessary heat was introduced.

Mr. J. F. Foley—Is the motion in order.

Chairman—It is. If any member has anything to say, I hope he will be as brief as possible.

Mr. O'Dwyer—I would ask you to put this motion without any discussion, and vote for or against it.

Mr. Quann—All the same speaking fair it is hardly playing the game.

Mr. O'Dwyer—There is nothing unfair about it.

Mr. Quann—There is no precedent for such a motion. The order we are asked to rescind was passed here some time ago by a clear majority of eight votes to six, one member not voting. In face of that it is not fair to ask the Council to somersault. There should be some explanation why the matter is being brought up again, and why the Council are asked to do this. I understand that the reason is that certain other amusements were allowed on Sunday, if that is so, the reason to say the most of it, is petty and small.

Mr. O'Dwyer—I don't agree it is petty or small; it is very important.

Mr. Quann—You should look at the matter in a calm way. To my mind, if we pass this motion we will be made a laughing stock of.

Mr. Christopher—I think we will be a laughing stock if we don't pass it.

Mr. Quann—You are covering yourself with glory (laughter).

Mr. Christopher—I can't as you are collaring all the glory.

Mr. Quann—There is no precedent for this at all. The motion was defeated before by a full Council, and it was not a snap division or anything like that.

Mr. O'Dwyer held there were precedents when the present Council was formed he handed in notice of motion. In his view it is a case of if two evils choose the lesser. We have the Cinderella dances on Sunday nights without objection, provided they are properly supervised. He saw no evil in the pictures which he thought were far better than dances held up to 2 a.m. or later in the morning.

Mr. J. F. Foley—I was at dances and I saw nothing wrong. I was there to 6 a.m.

Mr. D. Foley—Mr. Quann says we have no right to bring the matter up. I think the members who voted for the pictures have a right to bring it up, and we will keep trying and trying until we get the pictures.

Mr. Quann—The Church has no law against dances on Sunday night. The Maynooth Synod says that dancing should not be held on one night a week and that is Saturday night.

Mr. O'Dwyer—How is it that pictures are held in other places in Ireland.

Mr. Quann—They are open without the approval of the Bishops. I will not go against the authority of the Bishops. I am saying nothing about the pictures.

Mr. McCarthy—I am going by my conscience, and I would prefer to see people going to the pictures until 11 at night and going home, than leaving a dance hall at 2 a.m. and going where they liked.

Mr. D. Foley—What Mr. McCarthy means, is that the dances are a greater occasion of sin.

Mr. J. F. Foley—I was at dances and saw nothing wrong. There was proper supervision.

Mr. Christopher—Inside.

Mr. McCarthy—Where was the supervision outside. Where did they go after 2 a.m.

Mr. O'Dwyer—Put the matter to a vote.

The matter was then voted on and resulted—

For 7-day licence—Messrs. McCarthy, Hayes, Byrne, Connors, Dwyer, Dahill, Christopher and D. Foley (8).
 For 6-day licence—Messrs. Mansfield, Quann, J. F. Foley, and the Chairman (4).

Chairman—You are all probably aware that a notice of motion requires a two-third majority of the members present when the order was put on the books. On the 26th April when the order was made there were 15 members present, so it would need 10 votes to have the motion passed.

Mr. McCarthy—We have a two-thirds majority, eight votes out of twelve.

Chairman—You must have two-thirds of the members present at the time the order was made.

Mr. D. Foley—You are wrong, Mr. Chairman.

Chairman—My ruling is that the order is not rescinded.

Mr. D. Foley (heatedly)—You cannot do that over a majority vote of the Council. You are trying to be the whole Council.

Mr. Foley was then about to leave the room when the Chairman asked if he wished to go or would he wait for his explanation.

Mr. D. Foley—This is the first time I ever heard anything like that and I hope the Press will note it. The public will have a laugh at the Chairman of the Dungarvan Urban Council.

Mr. Dahill—I would like to know why this was raised to-night.

The Clerk at this stage read the section of an act dealing with the rescinding of resolutions.

The Chairman said that the section meant two-thirds of the members present when the order was made.

Mr. Christopher disagreed and said the section meant two-thirds of the members present at the subsequent meeting which was this meeting and that the portion to which the Chairman referred meant that if the number of members present at the subsequent meeting was greater than the number present at the meeting at which the order was made the motion could be passed by one vote.

Chairman—My ruling is that the order is not revoked.

Mr. O'Dwyer—The Chairman cannot put the power to rule that way against the majority of the Council.

Mr. Dahill—All I can say is that Mr. Crotty and Mr. Ryan, solr., will settle that for you.

Mr. Mansfield—We should refer it to our solicitor for his opinion.

Mr. D. Foley—If the Chairman says Sunday is Tuesday we will have to agree.

Mr. O'Dwyer referred to other motions put forward and carried, and asked why this should be different.

Mr. Christopher proposed, and Mr. McCarthy seconded, that the Council's solicitor be asked whether the voting 8 to 4 constituted a sufficient majority to carry the motion.

The Chairman said he would rule on the motion before taking the proposition.

Mr. D. Foley—Are you a Dictator or a Chairman?

Chairman—You should be more careful of what you say.

After much more heated discussion, the Chairman agreed to take the resolution and allow the matter stand over for a week, no further voting to take place.

Mr. O'Dwyer said he would dissent from the resolution as he held the motion was passed.

Chairman—I am taking the resolution as I want to act fairly. I have been called a dictator and for that reason I will let the matter stand over, although I have no doubt but my ruling is correct.

Mr. O'Dwyer—All I can say is that the Chairman acted in a very high-handed manner.

Chairman—I don't think I am taking any high-handed action, and if I am I will apologise. I would like to say that probably some members in the heat of the moment said some things that they are sorry for saying.

Mr. D. Foley—It is a foolish man would say he was sorry while he thinks he is right.

On Saturday morning, the Town Clerk accompanied by some members of the Council called on Mr. Williams, solicitor, who informed them that the majority of 8 to 4 was sufficient to carry the motion and thus the matter ended.

DUNGARVAN GOLF DANCE

The Dungarvan Golf Club intend holding their Annual Dance on 25th September next. In view of the popularity of the previous dances run by the Club for the last two years, the members intend making this dance the best that has ever been held, and one which will mark the success and popularity of the Club both with the people of Dungarvan and with neighbouring Clubs. As a large attendance is anticipated the dance will be held in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, and one of the best of the Dublin Bands will be specially engaged for the occasion.

Further particulars will be announced later.

WATERFORD CO. BOARD OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

The monthly meeting of the above was held at the Courthouse, Dungarvan, on Wednesday. Ald. J. O'Donovan, Chairman, presided. Also present—Commissioner Moynihan, Messrs. J. Cosgrave, J. Cassidy, T. Synott, P. Caulfield.

PAYMENTS

The usual monthly accounts passed for payment amounted to £4,000.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

The monthly financial statement showed a balance to credit of £4,365.

Mr. Cosgrave—The Corporation will be glad to hear you have £4,000 in hands.

Secretary—But you see we are paying out £4,000 to-day.

NURSE TO BE APPOINTED

Dr. Shipsey, reported that the nursing staff at the Waterford Fever Hospital consisted of two sisters of the St. John of God's Order doing day duty and one lay night nurse, who do about 12 hours duty each. He suggested the appointment of an extra permanent nurse as the cost would be very slight over the cost of temporary assistance required at present.

Mr. Caulfield—I think we ought to act on the report. The inquiry held there a short time ago proved that extra nurses were required. I propose we act on Dr. Shipsey's report.

Chairman—There would be very little difference between a permanent and the temporary appointments.

Mr. Synott—It would be a step in the right direction.

Secretary—You can agree to ask the Appointments Commissioners to make the appointment subject to sanction. When the Department sanction I can send on the matter to the Commissioners to avoid delay.

Mr. Caulfield's proposition was passed.

HOME ASSISTANCE

The amount of Home Assistance paid out during the month was reported to be £1,890 10s. 7d. for the previous month the amount was £1,520 10s. 0d., and for the corresponding period last year £1,908 18s. 10d.

HOLIDAYS

A number of the Board's Officials were granted the usual annual holidays.

CO. HOSPITAL STOCKTAKING

Arising out of the minutes of the Co. Hospital Committee at which a man named Quinlan was appointed stocktaker by the casting vote of the Chairman.

Mr. Cosgrave asked if the Chairman of the Board had a casting vote.

Secretary—Yes.

In reply to Mr. Cosgrave, the Secretary said anything done at the Committee in Waterford was only a recommendation and could be upset by the Board of Assistance.

Mr. Cassidy proposed that Mr. Butler be appointed to this position. He did so as Mr. Butler was a married man with a family and unemployed.

The Chairman said four years ago he had a proposition to upset a decision of the Co. Hospital Committee in the case of a man with eight children and getting assistance. He pleaded hard for that man, but the then Chairman refused to accept it, as it would be creating a precedent. For that reason he would not accept the proposition.

Mr. Cosgrave said that what happened in Waterford was only a recommendation. He would second Mr. Cassidy's proposition.

Commissioner Moynihan said that the Board of Assistance made changes on other rulings by the Waterford Committee.

Mr. Caulfield said Quinlan was Fianna Fail. He knew Butler had got this through Fianna Fail, as he worked them. He remembered a time when it was not fashionable to be in the one camp with De Valera in Waterford. Old Maurice Quinlan acted as Chairman to the meetings when it was unsafe to hold a meeting in Waterford and the meeting was held outside the city. Maurice Quinlan was the man who acted as Chairman. Quinlan was never behind the bushes, but Mr. Cosgrave was behind the bushes, and he would tell Mr. Cosgrave more before he was much older.

Mr. Cosgrave said he was tied to no party. He voted for young Quinlan at the Mental Hospital.

Mr. Synott—I came here with an open mind. I am not tied to any party.

The proposition was then put and resulted—

For Mr. Butler—Messrs. Cosgrave, Cassidy, Synott, and the Commissioner (4).

For Mr. Quinlan—Messrs. Caulfield and the Chairman (2).

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

THE OPENING DANCE

The opening dance of the season under the auspices of the Rowing Club was held in the Boathouse on a recent Sunday night, and the large attendance from various parts of West Waterford showed how popular the Rowing Club social functions are with all classes.

The splendid dancing floor and the perfect arrangements made for the comfort and enjoyment of the dancers, have been mainly responsible for this great popularity, and the success and enjoyment which were such marked features of the opening Cinderella augur well for all future dances to be held during the winter months.

RETURN OF THE EXILES

It has often been a subject for comment that no matter how happy or prosperous Irish boys or girls may become in the great cities of America, or any other country to which they had been forced to emigrate, through lack of suitable employment at home, there is always a yearning to revisit the land of their birth at the first favourable opportunity and meet once again "The Old Folks At Home," as well as many of the old friends they had known in their earlier years.

We have seen many such cases in this district alone within recent years, and only last year we had such a visit from Mr. "Fonce" Begley, who had been absent in America for over 30 years.

Within the past month or two we have had several such arrivals of young ladies and gentlemen in this area, amongst the more recent arrivals being the Misses Madge and Bridie McGrath, Boberbery, Cappoquin. Although only about 53 years in America, these young ladies by their great enterprise and ability have been able to amass sufficient money to enable them to come home for a lengthy holiday now, and their numerous friends are delighted to see them looking more healthy and charming than ever, and join in wishing them a most pleasant and interesting holiday within the shadow of the Knockmealdown mountains and amidst the picturesque surroundings of their native Boherbery.

BACK FROM HOLIDAYS

Rev. T. Dunphy, C.C., has recently returned from his annual holidays and all are glad to see him looking such a picture of health and energy after his well-earned respite from his arduous spiritual duties in this extensive parish.

A most zealous and kindly priest who never spares himself in looking after the spiritual and temporal welfare of all classes of the parishioners, Father Dunphy enjoys the love, confidence and respect of the people to a remarkable degree, and the wish of all is that he may be spared for many years amongst us to continue the noble and saintly work which he has so unsparringly carried on since his appointment as C.C. of Cappoquin.

ON DUTY AGAIN

Mr. J. P. Kelleher, P.C., our courteous and highly-efficient Stationmaster has resumed duty this week after his point an additional nurse at the Lismore Hospital.

The Secretary explained that there were two nurses at Lismore. The Head Nurse had to be on duty during the day so that it would be impossible to have alternative day and night duty.

Mr. Caulfield—And at times there are only two or three patients.

Mr. Cosgrave—They are trying to force a nurse on us at Lismore, and they won't give permission to appoint a nurse in Waterford.

Commissioner Moynihan—The Department seem struck on this, but I don't see why the position could not be met by getting in a temporary nurse for a period to relieve the night nurse.

After some more discussion the Board decided to ask the Department to approve of the appointment of a temporary nurse for 3 months, as this in addition to a month's holidays would in their opinion be sufficient relief for the night nurse.

STOCKTAKING

For the position of stocktaker at the Co. Home, Dungarvan, there were three applicants, viz., Jas. McGrath, Brook Lodge, Cappagh; Laurence Flynn, Pike, and Ml. Parks, Bally-Guff.

Mr. L. Flynn was appointed on a vote.

Mr. J. F. O'Donnell, was appointed stocktaker at Lismore Hospital.

SESKINANE DISPENSARY

As no tender was received in reply to advertisements for contractors for repairs to the above, the Board made an order to have the Engineer get the work carried out. Cost not to exceed estimate.

annual holidays. During his absence he had an able substitute filling his place in the person of Mr. F. X. O'Brien, of the Southern Relief Staff, who is a native of Lismore and a member of one of the oldest and most honoured families in the town of St. Carthage.

GARDA NEWS

Sergeant Dalton, G.S., who is in charge of Cappoquin Station, is at present away on his annual holidays in Co. Meath. In the meantime the station is in charge of Guard O'Mahony, who has been stationed in Cappoquin for over 9 years, and who is the senior Guard here at present. On several previous occasions Guard O'Mahony has deputised for various Sergeants during their absence, whether on duty or on holidays, and he has always performed his responsible duties, with all the tact, courtesy and ability which have made him so popular in Cappoquin.

Guard Tormy, Ballinamult, who had been on temporary duty here for several months since the transfer of Guard Teehan on promotion, has returned to Ballinamult and has been replaced by Guard Diviney, Cappagh. Guard Diviney had been stationed in Cappagh for a considerable time where he always proved himself to be a most active, but courteous and tactful Peace Officer, and he was extremely popular with all classes of the public there who now sincerely regret his departure from the district.

AN IMPORTANT WORK

We are informed that a very useful and important work has recently been completed in the Clogheen area by the steam-rolling of the main road from the village of Clogheen to the famous "V" on the main road to Mount Mellera and Cappoquin.

The money for this work we understand, was contributed by the Road Control Board, and it is now felt that in order to complete the job, the steam-rolling should be continued from the "V" to Boola Cross, so as to link up with the steam-rolled roads leading to Mount Mellera and Cappoquin. There is always a large volume of motor traffic between Clogheen and other parts of Tipperary leading on to Cappoquin, en route to Cork, and also in connection with the Rosslare-Fishguard Railway Service between Cappoquin and London.

Motor traffic over a rough mountain road, such as exists between the "V" and Boola Cross, can hardly be described as either pleasant or economical, and it would be a great boon for all if the steam-rolling of this road could be completed over the entire route.

Mr. Bowen, the energetic Co. Surveyor, has long since earned the prayers and blessings of all motorists for the splendid roads he has provided through the principal parts of the Co. Waterford, and if he can see his way to attend to the stretch of the Clogheen-Cappoquin road in question he will deserve the further prayers of the people living at both sides of the Knockmealdown Mountains.

NO SPORTS THIS YEAR

In view of the fact that successful sports meetings have been held in such isolated country districts as Millstreet and Boola quite recently, many persons are wondering why there should be no sports held this year in Cappoquin, which was the centre of such sporting activities for several years past.

Well, the explanation is very simple. For years past Messrs. M. J. Sargent and M. F. Walsh, have acted as joint Hon. Secs. for the Cappoquin sports committee, and only last year they were instrumental in having three sports meetings held here, including the Munster Championship Athletic and Cycling Sports, the most important fixture of its kind ever held in Cappoquin.

The previous year we had two sports fixtures, the Co. Waterford Inter-Club sports, and the Open sports at a later date, and nobody can deny that all those important fixtures brought large crowds of people to the town which resulted in a great gain to certain classes of the traders in Cappoquin. Yet, year after year, all the heavy "spade work" in preparing for those sports was left almost entirely on the shoulders of Messrs. Sargent and Walsh, who had nothing to gain by them, while with a few honourable exceptions, those who stood to gain most never went near the sports-field to give the slightest assistance in any way.

In the face of this lack of interest and support, who could expect Messrs. Sargent and Walsh to carry on the work of previous years.

MARKET PRICES

The price of fat pigs at the Cappoquin Bacon Factory this week was 44/- per cwt., dead weight.

There is a marked increase in the prices of pigs for several weeks past and it is gratifying to see the employees working overtime.

Eggs 11d. per dozen.

DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

At the weekly meeting of the above Mr. M. Morrissey, Chairman, presided.

PAYSHEET

A paysheet amounting to £17 8s. 5d. on the general account was passed. On the Harbour account £2 14s. 10d. was presented.

Mr. Hayes said as acting Secretary to the Irish Transport and General Workers Union, he objected to the passing of the paysheet as the Harbour Master had employed seven non-union members. He spoke to the Harbour Master about it and the Harbour Master said he had forgotten to order to employ union men. He spoke to the men and they are all agreed to join the Union. He reminded the Harbour Master that Mr. McCarthy had to bring this matter to his notice before. The Harbour Master offered to pay the men himself.

Chairman—I think it is a matter for the Union and the men to come to an arrangement.

Mr. Hayes said it was one for the Council. They had an order there, and if it were passed over lightly, he would take the matter to the Department.

Chairman—I am not passing the matter over lightly. Are you prepared to hold over the paysheet for a week?

Mr. Hayes—I don't want to deprive the men of their money in view of the undertaking given.

Chairman—Mr. Curran and the other officials are well aware of this order.

The paysheet was then passed.

RATE FOR COMING YEAR

On the proposition of Mr. Mansfield, seconded by Mr. Dahill, the rate for the year 1935-36 amounting to 17/9 together with a domestic water rate of 1/- in the £ was struck and the warrant signed.

CLEANING FAIR LANE

Mr. McCarthy referred to the condition of Fair Lane, and said it would be a good job for the residents there if there was a procession every week. It was cleaned up before the procession some months ago, before that it was not cleaned since the procession 12 months before. An order should be made to have the men go there and they should be made to go there. It is a disgrace and if it was down Main Street or the Square it would not be left there one minute.

Mr. Dahill asked if there was a sewer there.

Mr. McCarthy said all he asked at present was to have the place swept.

Chairman—We should make an order to have the same attention given to Fair Lane as to other streets.

Mr. Byrne said the present staff was not big enough to cope with the work. Dungarvan is a big town.

Mr. Dahill—We are after striking the rate now.

An order was made to attend to Fair Lane.

WATER

On the recommendation of the Water Inspector it was decided to cut off the water when necessary from 9 p.m. to 7 a.m. Proper notice to be given to the public.

Mr. Mansfield—What conditions will people be in who are at present depending on tanks to fill overnight? Water Inspector—They are not getting it now.

GRIFFIN'S PARK

A letter was read from Mr. John Griffin, Strand Hotel, Abbeyside, stating that the portion of the old dump which was not included in that lot to him is overgrown with weeds and most unsightly. He would undertake to make and keep it presentable if given to him for the cleaning. No payment asked.

Mr. Dahill—Give it to him.

Mr. McCarthy—I object.

Mr. Dahill—He only wants to clean it.

Mr. McCarthy—He wants to rail it in. We gave that place as a Park for the purpose of Abbeyside and it turned out to be a Park for one. Anyhow we will want that place for a dump again. The dump opposite the Shandon Dairy is fast filling up. The letter was marked noted.

DANCING

The Dungarvan G.A.A. were granted the stall for a Celloid Mor on August 18th, and the Dungarvan Carnival Committee for a Cinderella dance on Sunday September 8th.

SLAUGHTERHOUSES

Dr. Casey in his report on the Slaughterhouse of Mr. J. J. Morrissey, said, "Referring to my previous reports in this case and to the ground space covered by the various buildings in this yard (slaughterhouses, cattle and sheep houses, piggeries and stores) and their close proximity to one another, I am of opinion that there is a great danger to public health, both by direct and indirect contamination if this applicant is granted a licence, and allowed to keep and fatten pigs in these premises in which his slaughterhouse is situated. I strongly recommend that your Council withhold granting this licence for cattle and sheep to be slaughtered on these premises until you get a guarantee from the applicant that he will not house pigs in the various houses in this yard."

Mr. McCarthy—Suppose Mr. Morrissey built a wall in his yard. It is not fair to take away a man's busi-

WATERFORD V. CORK GREAT HURLING GAME VICTORY FOR HOME TEAM MOYLAN, FITZGERALD AND CURLEY THE HEROES OF THE DAY

On Sunday last in glorious sunshine and before a large attendance Waterford and Cork met in the Munster Junior Hurling Championship. These teams met a fortnight previously at the same venue when after a very strenuous game the result was a draw of 13 points each—Cork scoring 2 goals 7 points and Waterford 3 goals 4 points. The greatest interest was taken in the replay and as each team was out to win no chance was lost to secure victory.

The field arrangements were perfect. Mr. Fraher, had the pitch the acme of perfection. Apart from the entrancing interest of the game the delightful and picturesque setting of the Gaelic grounds was a charm all on its own and was most beautiful for the leisurely enjoyment of a warm afternoon.

The teams lined out under the capable whistle of Mr. Wm. Gleeson, Limerick. From the start it could be seen that Waterford were the better combination and though the Cork men played well they lacked the finish usually associated with their county in hurling games.

Waterford played with great judgment and dash and possessed better speed than their opponents. They stayed the course better and with more luck in scoring would have put up many more flags.

All their players were good and could not be much improved on, while they had three outstanding performers who are fit for any All-Ireland feat. We allude to Christy Moylan, Dungarvan the hero of the day; Tom Fitzgerald, Ballylemon and C. Curley, Tallow.

Moylan was here, there and everywhere. Deadly in attack and accurate in striking the ball, he did great work and proved himself the best hurler in the County. Indeed no combination in the land could boast a better hurler. He was injured under sad conditions in the second half, but we are happy to say he is fit as ever again and ready for the fray. Fitzgerald displayed wonderful accuracy in scoring. Steady of head and hand, he out-manoeuvred his opponent every time and got the ball to the right point. His driving was sure and his attack safe. Curley as back and a stonewall Jackson, and gave no chance whatever to the Cork forwards. He is a strong line of defence in himself and a terror to his opponents.

The hurling exhibition given by Waterford and Cork on Sunday last was clean and open. It was a typical game of the olden days of 15 to 20 years ago. The game was very lively. The ball travelled to and fro with little ground work, which made it very enjoyable. The overhead work really good and with accurate striking—in this the wings gave a splendid exhibition—no enthusiast of the game could have asked better.

Waterford well deserved their victory and we hope they will have equal success next Sunday when they meet Limerick in the Final round of the Munster Championship at Mitchelstown or to put him to exorbitant expense.

Mr. O'Dwyer—Why does it not apply to other slaughterhouses? Chairman—It does.

Mr. O'Dwyer—I don't think so. Mr. Christopher—Others got licences without carrying out the recommendations.

Chairman—If I thought that was so I would not favour granting licences. Mr. Christopher—But they did; not as regards keeping pigs, but as regards water and other things.

Chairman—We asked for a report from our M.O., and I don't like going against that in his absence. Mr. O'Dwyer—It looks very like as if Mr. Morrissey is being victimised.

Chairman—We will hold this report over to this night week and ask the M.O.H. to attend. This agreed to.

STONES ON STRAND

Mr. J. F. Foley, referred to the order made regarding the stones on the strand opposite the esplanade.

B.S.—The stones are collected in heaps to be drawn away. Mr. J. Foley—I understand that when the tide is in the heaps are a danger to the boatmen.

B.S.—They will be drawn away tomorrow.

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. J. F. Foley, proposed a vote of congratulation to Mr. D. Foley, on the occasion of his recent marriage and expressed the wish that Mr. and Mrs. Foley would enjoy long years of nuptial bliss.

Mr. Christopher, seconded. The Chairman said he was sure every member of the Council wished to be associated with that resolution. The resolution came from the right quarter and he hoped it would act as a headline to be followed by the proposer and seconder (laughter).

Mr. D. Foley, replying, said he was very thankful to Mr. J. Foley for his good wishes also to the other members of the Council.

town. Sunday's final score leaving Waterford winners by 1 goal 5 points to 1 goal might easily have been turned into a far bigger score had the home team a little more luck in scoring.

The Waterford team was drawn from Dungarvan, Mount Sion, Ballyin, Lismore, Portlaw and Dunhill.

THE GAME

Waterford forced an over, and Cork returned, to be beaten by Hogan. Cork took possession from a centre-field tussle for Mountain to check the movement. A long ball from Houlihan gave Waterford an opening for O'Leary and Coughlan to clear a dangerous situation. Finnegan and Young were doing good work in the centre for Cork. Buggy (Waterford) supported by Hickey, sent Waterford in, but the Cork backs quickly transferred and getting to the other end the forwards sent out. A free to Waterford was held up, and after a sharp encounter Cork shot over the line. Waterford were standing up to the opposition very determinedly, and making good use of their chances with frequent raids in Cork's territory. A sideline free, taken by Fitzgerald (Waterford) just missed being a score. The Cork defence was being tested severely, but Cusack and O'Leary averted the impending danger. Waterford were next forced to concede a seventy, but it was poorly taken, and Waterford again put pressure on the Cork backs. Cusack replied with effect. Casey (Cork) sent in some good balls, but Waterford's defence was sound. The movement resulted in a free to Cork and an over. C. Moylan forced an entry into Cork's grounds, but Casey, Corbett and Murphy were responsible for a smart clearance. Mountain was giving Cork a lot of opposition. The Cork net was in jeopardy on more than a couple of occasions. The backs were excellent, and Cork's forwards breaking away from a performance by Young the Waterford net escaped by inches by D. Moylan (Glen Rovers). The match was being fought on the tightest of lines, the marking being exceptionally close.

After twenty minutes play the first flag went up—a point to Waterford by Fitzgerald. Fitzgerald was dangerous in the next movement but nothing eventuated. A movement by Cork was aided by a side line free, which wound up in a wide. A nice combined display was spoiled near the close of the half by one of the Cork forwards shooting wide. The short whistle went with the register standing—Waterford, 0-1; Cork, Nil. Waterford had most of the play.

THE SECOND HALF

The second stage of the game was resumed with an invasion by Waterford, and a return. Some hard tackling was the order. Corbett and Lynch replying effectively to the rushing tactics of Waterford.

Cork, putting up a big fight, gained an entry and the capture of Waterford's net. The scorer was Moylan. At this stage the referee had to caution a Cork player.

The game was resumed with Waterford taking charge and going on to a point (Hickey). The same side had all but secured a goal in the next test. With but a point dividing the rivals the excitement was feverish and when it was followed by a goal, giving Waterford two points lead, Waterford's supporters went wild with delight.

The goal was made by Daly, and concentrating on Cork's territory, Houlihan added a point to Waterford's register. A seventy to Cork was wide of the mark. Continuing the offensive, Cork had another wide before Waterford were away for another point (Daly). The score was now taken to Waterford, 1-4; Cork, 1-0.

At this stage a substitute had to be found for Houlihan (Waterford), who met with an accident. The game was restarted with a point to Waterford by Fitzgerald off a free. Tough clashes now became the order in all departments of the game, Cork striving hard for scores against a strong and resourceful backline which never appeared to weaken under the strain. There was no doubting the merit of Waterford's win by 1-5 to 1-0.

The result was received with wild scenes of enthusiasm by Waterford's followers.

Waterford—D. Hogan, P. O'Connor, E. Fitzgerald, J. Ormond, J. Ryan, P. Duggan, M. Skehan, J. Buggy, C. Curley, J. Mountain, C. Moylan, M. Hickey, M. Houlihan, J. Ryan, E. Daly.

Cork—G. Andrews, P. Corbett, P. Lynch, D. Cusack, D. O'Leary, P. Murphy, J. Coughlan, (St. Anne's), F. Casey, M. Finnegan, J. Young, D. Moylan, D. McCarthy, T. O'Connor, J. Flannery, D. Cotter.

WHEAT

The Department of Agriculture intimate that the Minister for Agriculture has ascertained from the Sale (home-grown wheat) Certificates furnished to him that the average price of home-grown wheat sold during the sale (wheat) season ended 31st July, 1935 is 17/5, per barrel. As the standard price per barrel for that sale (wheat) season is 20/-, the rate of wheat bounty payable to registered wheat growers in respect of home-grown millable wheat sold during that season in accordance with the provisions of the Agricultural Produce (Cereals) Act, 1933 is 2/7 per barrel.

St. Deuglan of Ardmore

BY D. O'BRIAIN, M.A.

The quiet, unpretentious village of Ardmore lies nestling by the sea in County Waterford, about eight miles from the historic town of Youghal, and some fourteen miles from Dungarvan. Like most things quiet and calm it is deep, but particularly so in its historic and ecclesiastical associations.

It was in Ardmore, prior to the coming of St. Patrick to Ireland, that St. Deuglan founded his church and monastery, remnants of which can be seen even to this day. The Round Tower of Ardmore is one of the finest in Ireland: the well-preserved ruin of a tenth or eleventh century church, with its famous hagio-graphic inscriptions and designs; and ogham stones, give silent but conclusive proof of a time when Ardmore was a centre of learning and sanctity.

There is a beauty there hard to find elsewhere: the broad Atlantic casting its waves with a cultured technique on a shore of glassy smoothness, the beautiful strand unknown but to a few; the many haunts of lover, poet, and philosopher; the mid-bracing air to recuperate the weary, to bring to the aged the memory of a day that was, and the glorious landscape stretching southwards towards the historic shores of County Cork; westwards to the world-famed Blackwater; northwards towards the Knockmeadow Mountains, and eastwards to the Ocean of Irish sorrows—the Atlantic—all those things bear testimony to the beauty of Ardmore.

Saint Deuglan is the patron saint of that hallowed spot, and indeed, of the entire Diocese. His feast-day falls on the 24th of July. It is a day of general rejoicing, of prayer, and song and wine in Ardmore. Thousands flock on that day to the "Well" of Deuglan to perform "rounds" and to pay homage to the saint. Formerly a great pattern was held in the village, but, unfortunately, many became too merry, and it was found necessary to denounce the merriment, and, hence, the pattern is but a name. Some enthusiastic Gaels organise a Feis for the occasion, and thus aid in some way to carry on the proud tradition of an ancient past.

Saint Deuglan was born in the parish of Lismore, at a place called Dromroe, quite close to Cappoquin. On the night of his birth a ball of fire was seen ascending to heaven from the house in which he was born. It descended again in the form of a fiery ladder, with hosts of angels ascending and descending upon it. By accident the head of the infant was struck against a stone in the house, but instead of the infant being injured it is the stone that suffered, for a round cavity the size of the head was sunk into the stone itself. On hearing of the wonderful occurrence Saint Colman hurried thither from his monastery at Old Chapel, about six miles on the Dungarvan side of Ardmore. He baptised the infant, and his parents, who were Pagans, were also baptised by him. He then predicted that the young Deuglan would yet be known far and near, and that his name would be revered for ever in Ireland. And so it came about.

At an early age the young lad was placed under the care of a learned philosopher and holy man to be instructed. That was the command of Colman. There were then combined the two great essentials for success, namely, a splendid and learned teacher and a clever student.

Deuglan remained under the care and protection of his tutor—Dionna—for many years. Then he repaired to Rome to receive the orders of Bishop from the Pope, so that he might return to preach the faith in his own land. On his arrival in Rome he was shown every honour that possibly could be shown to him, for his fame for holiness and learning had already reached the ears of the Pope.

On being ordained Bishop he returned to Ireland. On his way home through Italy he met Saint Patrick, who was on his way to Rome to receive the orders of Bishop also. A close and lasting friendship sprang up between the two saints—a friendship broken only by death, and no doubt, united in eternal life. The saints parted with solemn promise to meet again, and so they did. On St. Patrick's arrival in Cashel, Saint Deuglan set out to pay him homage. An angel of the Lord, we are told, came to Deuglan and told him to make his submission to Patrick. Having done so St. Patrick declared that henceforth Deuglan should be the Patrick of the Decies.

While saying Mass on his way home from Rome, a small, black bell came in the window of the church and alighted on the altar in front of Deuglan. The future saint was delighted, for he knew it had been sent to him by God. The bell was a sign of authority to preach the Christian faith. That gift of God to Deuglan is locally known as the "Dulbin Deuglan." It is supposed to have been buried after and recognised. It is now supposed to be in the possession of a certain family in Dungarvan.

On the arrival of Deuglan and his companions at the shores of the English Channel on the European side they found they had not sufficient money to take them to Ireland. It is meet to say here that many Romans accompanied Saint Deuglan on his way to Ireland, and there remained with him. One of those was the famous Roman, who afterwards gave his name to some Irish monasteries and churches.

MULCAHY'S, DUNGARVAN

The want of money to pay their way home sorely troubled the young religious, but he placed his confidence in God, rang the Duibhin, and lo, over the ocean from the west came floating towards them a boat, sail-less and mastless. God had heard the young saint's prayer, and had answered it. They immediately entered the boat and it bore them over the sea to a port in England. They landed, and forthwith the craft returned on the way it had come. Deuglan and his followers afterwards returned to Ireland, and we are told that henceforth the saint was as wise as a serpent, as gentle as a dove, and as industrious as a bee. As the bee works to procure honey, so Deuglan worked to procure souls for his Master's haggard.

On the shore at Ardmore there is a great conglomerate boulder which the scientists tell us was brought hither from the Comeragh Mountains in the ice age, and deposited there. But the following is the folklore tradition connected with that now famous stone.

On one occasion on which Saint Deuglan visited Saint David in Wales he took with him the Duibhin, or bell which was so miraculously bestowed on him on the Continent. He always entrusted it to the care of Ronan. The latter, however, for some reason, entrusted it to the care of a companion, and on the return of Deuglan and his people from Wales, the bell was left behind upon a great rock on the Welsh coast. No one gave a thought about it until the boat put far out to sea. Great was the sorrow of Ronan on learning of its loss. But Deuglan eased his fears and calmed his troubled mind by saying that the One Who gave it at first would do so again. No sooner were the words spoken than the rock was seen coming towards them at great speed, the bell being borne upon it. St. Deuglan then spoke and said: "Wherever that rock shall land, there shall be my home and my citadel, and from there shall my soul return to its Creator." Swiftly the rock passed them, and then slowed, so as to enable those in the boat to keep pace with it. It neither stopped nor sank but proceeded on its way and came to land on the shore at Ardmore, and there it remains to this day. If one creeps all fours through the passage which is under it, that person is cured from pains in the back and shoulders, provided that while proceeding under the rock he prays to St. Deuglan. If one wears a stolen garment there is no cure.

On one occasion while the saint was journeying in the Decie, he was given the flesh of a dog to eat. The Pagan who was guilty of that deed simply wanted to show disrespect to the messenger of God. Deuglan immediately discovered what had been done and rebuked the Pagan, who afterwards, with all his household became Christians.

When the plague was ravaging the land Deuglan prayed to God and the plague ceased, and then he raised again to life seven royal captives, who were in the keeping of the King of Cashel, and all seven had died of the plague. On going through Ossory the people drove him from the district. That night all of them died except two men and ten women who refused to lift a hand against the saint. On another occasion when travelling over the Comeragh Mountains, his horse became very lame, and was unable to bear his master. A herd of wild deer were grazing on the mountain side, and Deuglan told one of his servants to go and bring him one of the deer, that he would bear him to his journey's end. The servant proceeded to do as his master had bidden him, and lo, the biggest and wildest of the deer stood still and was led back to Deuglan, who mounted on his back, and the animal bore his burden calmly and quietly. On reaching the end of the journey the deer was let loose, and again returned to its herd.

On one occasion there was no salt for the baptism of an infant. The saint took a fistful of clay in his hand, and on it made the sign of the Cross. It was immediately changed into salt.

A woman who had been engaged in cleaning Deuglan's church was tempted to steal some part of the saint's vestments. On her way home that evening the ground opened and swallowed her, the garment being cast up whereupon it was immediately changed into stone. Some onlookers brought it to St. Deuglan, and it was for long to be seen in the old cemetery at Ardmore.

Those, and many others too numerous to mention, are the miracles attributed to St. Deuglan. When his end was approaching he was informed by a heavenly messenger of the day and the hour. He then repaired to his monastery at Ardmore. He had his hermit made his home at a place to this day known as Tober Deuglan, in Disert, a townland on the peninsula of Ardmore. He betook himself to that place, so as to be in peace and solitude, and thus be free to commune with his Maker.

He was buried in the graveyard at Ardmore, and in modern times a Beannachan was erected over his grave. There now remains but a cavity the shape of a coffin. The clay that held his remains is now scattered to the four winds of the world, for every exile who ever left Ardmore, bore in his possession a small quantity of the clay whereon Saint Deuglan was laid to rest.

The well, the ruined church, the tomb of Deuglan, the ogham stones, and the famous round tower still remain in calm and holy silence, grand and noble reminders to the world of to-day of an ancient past, the memory of which still lingers over the silent grandeur of Ardmore as the sinking sun sinks to rest in the calm waters of the great Atlantic. IRISH RACE HORSES FOR DENMARK

Five horses have just been shipped to Denmark to race there. They were purchased by Mr. Axel Clausen, Secretary to the Jockey Club of Denmark, during his visit as the guest of Mr. David Harvey.

Two of the five animals were the property of Mr. J. T. Rogers, of Croftanstown. One of these is Lindette, a four-year-old mare by Linby out of Dorette. She won twice this year. The other is a chestnut three-year-old filly named Dignify, a daughter of Dignified and Fleeting Sun, and was placed once this season.

Mr. Clausen has also purchased Paint Echo, a five-year-old mare by Greek Bachelor out of Rose of May, from Mr. Mangan, of Castle Bagot. This mare has two wins to her credit for 1935.

The fourth lot purchased is Mr. Fred Clarke's Fendrayton by Alien Prince from Cherub. A three-year-old filly with a win and three times placed during the season. Mr. Clausen purchased her at the Bloodstock sales. Another that fell to his bid at the sales is Roskellwell Lass, a chestnut 4-year-old mare the property of Mr. Markey. She is a Vencedor mare out of Cuba, and was twice placed.

As soon as they recover the fatigue of the journey, the five will be sent to the Turf headquarters at Flamenborg, near Copenhagen.

LISMORE NOTES

A GREAT DANCE

The opening dance of the season was held at the Town Hall, Lismore, on Thursday, 15th August, under the auspices of the Lismore Dramatic Society and proved a very enjoyable and successful social function.

The very large and representative gathering gave ample evidence of the popularity of these competent young actors and actresses. Contingents flocked from every district in West Waterford and East Cork and seldom before was such order and regularity maintained with such a large gathering of dancing enthusiasts.

LISMORE FAIR

The monthly fair held at Lismore on Wednesday, was one of the worst ever held in the town. The prices in all departments were small and little or no transactions were effected.

TERRIER COURSING MEETING

A most successful Terrier coursing meeting was held at the Fair Field, Lismore, on Thursday August 15th. This meeting was the first ever held since the organisation of this new club and speaks well for its future.

Two stakes were run off—Heavy weight for dogs over 35 lbs. First prize £1 5s., second 15s. Light weight for dogs under 30 lbs. First prize £1 5s., second 15s.

In the first stake James Stapleton's "Flos" won four heats in brilliant style and was drawn against John Keyes' "Ranger" for a most exciting final. Stapleton's "Flos" started well being the first to turn the rabbit, she avoided a jam at the second turn, and went on to win easily.

In the heavy weight stake William Cleary's "Mt. Ranger" and Bernard O'Brien's "Kerry" qualified for the final winning four heats each. An exciting course was witnessed between these two terriers and eventually Cleary's "Mt. Ranger" after turning four times killed and was pronounced winner amidst loud applause.

Light-Weight Stake—J. Stapleton's "Flos" 1; J. Keyes' "Ranger" 2. Also ran—F. Hartnett's "Shannon Castle," J. Kelly's "Jack," P. Curtin's "Oxo," J. Lawton's "Snowball," W. Noonan's "Tex," J. Hogan's "Botany Lass," J. W. O'Gorman's "Flying Ben," J. Pender's "Bridal Lady," P. Moore's "Lismore Ranger," M. Ahearne's "Dorris," R. Bible's "Flyaway," Dugan's "Peggy," P. O'Connell's "Bell," T. Landers' "Jessy," Moss Collins' "Tiny."

Heavy-weight—W. Cleary's Mt. Ranger 1; B. O'Brien's "Kerry" 2. Also ran—A. Ahearne's "Orange Blue," T. Landers' "Seldom Fed," Carthage Healy's "Catcher," M. Russell's "Black and Gold," E. Foley's "Billy," P. Keating's "Lough," Bill Power's "Escape," J. Ryan's "Padgy."

A BIG COTTON PROJECT AT CLONMEL

News has reached Clonmel that an extensive cotton factory, which will employ at the outset at least 500 persons, is almost certain to be shortly established in the town.

A Belgian firm, which is one of the largest textile manufacturers in the world, is sponsoring the project, the capital for which will be £250,000.

The old Clonmel military barracks covering an extensive area, have been selected as the site, and the Belgian expert, who made a detailed examination, has pronounced it and other local conditions vitally necessary to enterprise as perfectly satisfactory.

The factory will be the only one of its kind in the Free State and after five years working will, it is expected afford employment to 3,000 hands.

Fifty key men from Belgium will be sent over to direct operations. The establishment of the factory will, it is believed, provide an outlet for much of the coal raised at Silverdagh Collieries, Co. Tipperary.

From 1824 until 1876 a cotton factory employing more than 200 hands flourished in Clonmel. It was run by members of the Malcolmson family who also owned several extensive corn mills there.

Trip to Youghal

A few Sundays ago an excursion to Youghal was organised by the members of the Kevin Barry Fianna Fall Club, Cappoquin and proved a great success. Two motor boats, the property of Mr Thos. McGrath, Youghal, were requisitioned for the purpose, and the delightful river trip of 18 miles through the enchanting scenery of the "Irish Rhine" proved a rare and refreshing treat for all.

The weather proved gloriously fine as the party started off from the Cappoquin Quay about 10.30 a.m., and the river was as calm and unruffled as a lake during the earlier stages of the journey. Many of those in the party had never before experienced the pleasure of a river trip such as this, nor could have realised the charming scenery through which they should pass, and when the first important object of interest met their gaze they were filled with admiration and delight.

This was the stately and imposing mansion Dromana House, the historic residence of Mr. Ion Villiers Stuart, M.P.

Standing on a lofty and precipitous rock overlooking the fair and fertile valley of the Blackwater, Dromana House proves a landmark which has always attracted the attention of passengers between Cappoquin and Youghal, and with its myriads of windows glistening in the early morning sun, and its ivy-clad towers standing sentinel over "The Irish Rhine," it looked more lovely and imposing than usual on this occasion and proved a source of great attraction to all the members of the excursion party. This proved only the forerunner of the many other sights to be met with further down the river, for with the beautiful Strancally Castle, Ballinatrach House, Templemichael and many other places of historical interest, the river trip to Youghal unfolds ever-changing pictures of rare and enchanting scenery which make such a trip one of the most charming experiences of a lifetime.

The journey was enlivened by songs and choruses en route and the merry party sped gaily along until Youghal was reached in excellent time.

After partaking of some light refreshments the party split up into small sections. All concentrated on visiting the beautiful strand beyond Claycastle and enjoying the healthy ozone-laden breezes from the Atlantic, after which the many places of interest in this old and historic town were visited in turn and later in the day the entire party re-assembled and partook of a substantial dinner in one of the leading hotels in the town.

The soft shades of night were beginning to spread their grey mantle over the rippling waters of Youghal Harbour when the two boats cast off their moorings and faced their bows upriver. Harry Lauder's favourite song, "Roaming In The Gloaming," having been first sung on leaving Youghal, Mr. "Moss" Foley gave a spirited rendering of "Asleep On The Deep," and was followed by Mr. John O'Shea, whose rich baritone was heard to great advantage in his masterly singing of "The Drinking Song." Mr. P. O'Driscoll sang "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," with great feeling and expression, after which Miss O'Shea, sweetly sang a pretty number from the Musical Comedy, "Paddy, The Next Best Thing," to which her rich contralto voice did the fullest justice. Miss M. M. McCarthy's sweet soprano was heard at its best in her musical and artistic singing of "Think Of The Days That Are Gone, Maggie," while Mr. M. Whelan, the well-known Comedian gave a sparkling selection of comic songs which kept everybody in the best of humour and good spirits, and several popular songs were also given by various other members of the party.

The homeward trip was one of unalloyed enjoyment for all, and Cappoquin was reached just before the witching hour of midnight, which ended one of the most pleasant and successful excursions organised in the town for a long time.

Mr. E. O'Sullivan, Hon. Sec. of the Club, deserves great credit for the manner in which he had organised and conducted the excursion, while too much praise cannot be given to Messrs. Thos. and John McGrath, for the smooth and efficient manner in which they controlled the two boats and looked after the comfort and safety of their passengers during the day and night.

IN MEMORIAM

TIERNY (nee Geary)—Third Anniversary—In sad and loving memory of our dear sister Anna, who departed this life August 19th, 1922. On whose soul Sweet Jesus have mercy. R.I.P. Masses offered. There is a sad and lonely grave far away from here. Where our dear Anna was laid just three years ago. If all the world belonged to us we'd give it yes, and more. Again to see her smiling face and to speak to our fond Anna once more. Inserted by her lonely mother, sisters, brothers, nieces and nephews.

KILMATHOMAS NEWS

DEATH

After a protracted illness, borne with true Christian fortitude and resignation, Mr. Patrick Dalton, Bonmahon, passed away into his eternal reward at a comparatively young age. A native of Carrick-on-Suir, he was a well-liked neighbour, who was noted for his kind-hearted ways and unflinching good humour. Interment was made in St. Anne's churchyard, Ballylaneen, on Thursday of last week in the presence of many relatives and sympathisers. The Rev. T. O'Shea, C.C., Ballylaneen, officiated at the graveside. The sincere sympathy of the whole wide community goes out to the sorrowing wife and family of the deceased. May he rest in peace.

CONDOLENCE

At the monthly meeting of the Kilmadon Co-Operative Creamery Company, Mr. Michael O'Regan, (Chairman), presiding, it was proposed by the Chairman and seconded by Mr. R. Gamble, that the deep and heartfelt sympathy of the meeting be conveyed to Mr. John Power, Ballygarry, Kill, on the sad death of his daughter. The other members of the Committee present associated themselves with the resolution in feeling terms. The Manager (Mr. Murphy), also wished to convey the deep regret of himself and staff to Mr. and Mrs. Power and family.

FELICITATIONS

Cordial felicitations are extended to Miss Bridget Keating, daughter of Mrs. Keating, and the late Mr. Michael Keating, Comeragh, and Mr. Nicholas Quinlan, Rathgormack, who were married at Fews Church, on Wednesday of last week by Very Rev. W. Kehoe, P.P., Killorossanty. The bride is a sister of Commandants Patrick and Thomas Keating, who were killed during the troubled period. The bridegroom belongs to a family extremely popular in East Waterford Gaelic circles. Good luck to both, unfeignedly say we.

RECOVERING

His troops of friends and well-wishers will be glad to learn that Sergt. O'Mahony, G.S., Villierstown (formerly stationed at Kill), is now on the high road to complete recovery from the serious injuries he sustained when knocked down by a motor car while returning from Dungarvan to Villierstown about eight weeks ago. Immediately after the accident he was taken to the Cottage Hospital, Dungarvan, where he is still being treated under the skilful attention of Dr. McCarthy.

Miss Diana Hall, Briskey, Killorossanty, and her nephew, Master James Kelt, who were knocked down by a motor car at Garralish Cross, Kilmathomas, a fortnight ago, are both making satisfactory progress towards recovery from the severe injuries they sustained on the occasion. They are also in care of Dr. McCarthy, at the Hospital, Dungarvan.

THE "CHAIN LETTER"

The "chain letter" is again on the rounds in our midst. Here is the latest specimen: "There is an easy way of bringing in some welcome cash without loss to anyone. Address an envelope and enclose a P.O. value sixpence to the first of the following names (here five names and addresses are given). Within five days make five copies of this letter, leaving off the top name and address, and adding your own name and address to the bottom of the list. Post or present your five copies to five of your friends. In omitting the top name, send that person a P.O. value sixpence. When your name advances to the top of the list, there will be a contribution of 3,125 copies, and you will receive £78 2s 6d. This system is perfectly legal. There is no central organisation, and it is entirely one of mutual benefit. If you do not think this worth sixpence would you please return this letter to me so that the sequence may not be spoiled, and other people's profits reduced. N.B.—If everyone follows the above instructions implicitly, you will receive £78 2s 6d. in 18 days. There is absolutely no further assessment or catch."

GAELIC GARNERINGS

Mr. Fraher had his far-famed Old Borough venue in splendid heart for last Sunday's sparkling Cork-Waterford caman r-ply, which was faultlessly refereed by Mr. Willie Gleeson of Limerick. A fine crowd immensely enjoyed the fray in its every phase, and the magnificent triumph of the Decie representation was a truly praiseworthy feat. We join with the rest in warmly congratulating the successful team and trust they will take the Munster Medals from Limerick at Mitchelstown on to-morrow (Sunday).

The Secretary to the Munster Council, Mr. Sean McCarthy (Trale), was amongst the notable Provincial Gaels present at Dungarvan, and Mr. Denis Kelleher, N.T., (Cork), who is on his annual visit to Ring College, was another.

We are reliably informed that a junior hurling tournament, for a set of medals, open to all teams of the grade affiliated to the Waterford Co. Board, will be launched at Kilmathomas, under the auspices of the local club, as soon as the necessary permit for the purpose is given by the proper authority. It is expected that at least a dozen teams will enter the competition. Full particulars will be provided in a later issue.

Restrictions on Dance Hall Licences

BISHOP'S ATTITUDE

At Waterford Court last week there were several dance hall licence applications before Mr. Fahy, D.J., all of which were adjourned. Mr. H. D. Keane, solr., who appeared on behalf of Most Rev. Dr. Kinane, stated at the beginning of the court that he would have a certain statement.

The first of the applications was by Mr. Laurence O'Sullivan in respect of premises at 45a Thomas street.

Mr. O'Connor, who appeared for the applicant, stated that this was for a temporary licence, and he took it, subject to whatever objections would be made afterwards, that the granting of the temporary licence would be a matter of form, subject to the necessary publication.

District Justice Fahy said he did not feel inclined to deal with these licences extemporarily, but to wait for the annual licensing sessions, when Mr. McCabe, D.J., would be present. Mr. McCabe could then deal with the permanent applications.

Mr. Keane said he would ask his Worship to kindly adjourn all these applications until the annual licensing sessions so that all might come before the District Justice at the same time.

Mr. Fahy said that was the sensible view to take.

Mr. Keane continued to say that his ground of making the application was there might be uniformity of procedure in all these cases, and so that conditions and terms might be fixed in respect of all such applications. He thought his Worship would agree that it would scarcely be the right thing to do to ask his Lordship to attend the court on the occasion to which he referred, but the Right Rev. Monsignor Byrne, would be in attendance and give his Lordship's views on the subject, and give his reasons for what Most Rev. Dr. Kinane proposed to do. In case his Worship agreed to his application he did not propose to go into the second point which he intended to make, viz., setting out what his Lordship's views were in regard to certain degrees issued by Maynooth, and which were binding on all Bishops. That was in reference to the moral question.

Mr. Fahy said he thought it better that the applications should be dealt with by Mr. McCabe, who was more conversant than he was with the circumstances, and what the terms were upon which such applications should be granted. He also expressed the view that all these matters should be dealt with at the one time. In regard to seaside places in the Co. Wexford, they had been granted temporary licences in order to enable them to carry on between this and the annual sessions. He did hope that the views and suggestions made by Mr. Keane in regard to uniformity of conditions and terms would be carried into effect. He thought these conditions would refer to shorter hours on Saturdays and holidays, and certain restrictions in regard to the ages of people who frequented these dance halls. If possible he said there should be a prohibition, or at least certainly a lessening of the awful din caused in the vicinity of dance halls by the noise from the running of motor engines and hooting of motor horns.

7,447,328 CHILDLESS COUPLES

One out of every three married couples in the United States is childless.

That is the finding of experts of the census bureau who estimate that the percentage of childless couples, which stood at thirty-one at the time of the last census in 1920, has increased since.

The experts apply their figures to so-called "normal families" only. If divorced families or families broken up by death are included the percentage of childlessness is greater.

In this normal group there were in 1920, 23,352,000 couples, of whom 7,447,328 had no children. Couples living in towns had fewer children than those in rural districts.

The percentage of childless couples was 34.8 in the town and 25 on the farms. It is estimated that there are more childless negro families than white in proportion to the negro population which is about one-tenth of the total of the United States.

NEW ROAD SIGN

A new traffic sign compelling motorists in minor roads to come to a standstill before entering or crossing a main highway has been authorised by the English Minister of Transport. Reading "Halt at major road ahead," the new sign has been introduced to reduce the number of accidents at road junctions.

DEATH

EGAN—August 20th 1935 at Egan's Hotel, Dungarvan, Mrs. Anne Egan, Ballyegan House, Dungarvan, relict of the late Maurice Egan, of Ballinamuck.—R.I.P.

IN MEMORIAM

BRENNAN (Sixth Anniversary)—In ever-loving memory of John Brennan, Graiguearria, Modeligo, who departed this life on August, 12th 1929. Also his sister, Sister Marie, B.S., who died on June 19th, 1934. On their souls Sweet Jesus have Mercy.—R.I.P.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

DUNGARVAN FAIR.

The August fair on Wednesday was smaller than usual and demand was poor due to it being stated to the drought across-Channel. Yearlings sold at £3 10s. to £5. 2-year-olds at £5 to £7 10s. and 3-year-olds and upwards from £7 to £9. Springers sold at £0 to £13 for best class. Young fat sows sold fairly well, but there was no trade for old cows. Sheep made 30s. to 40s. and lambs 20s. to 30s.—Good strong store pigs were in good demand at 20s. and 35s. according to quality.

WATERFORD CATTLE FOR GERMANY.

During the past week over 200 bullocks from the Co. Waterford were bought by the German buyers and sent to Germany. The price paid was 22/- per cwt. live weight less 1/2 cwt. for each beast. All the animals were over 12 cwt.. At the Dungarvan fair on Wednesday the same buyer purchased some bullocks and fat cows for the same consignment.

SOUTH AFRICAN CATTLE.

In view of the war with Abyssinia the Italians are purchasing their cattle in South Africa and a contract has been signed to buy 10,000 bullocks in Bechuanaland.

WAR COMING!

Everything points to the war between Italy and Abyssinia becoming a reality very soon. Italy says she wants Abyssinia for her people to give them room to expand and Mussolini has promised them this land by fighting for it. The Abyssinians say they want their own country for themselves and will let no one take it. And as Abyssinia has plenty of corn and oil and wine and gold and diamonds and all else, it is evidently worth fighting for. The area of Abyssinia is as large as that of France and Germany combined so there will be plenty room to operate. All the women of Ethiopia are being called to the colours and will fight when they are done cooking and nursing. So taken all round there is every prospect of a good row.

All the big powers are busy arranging their own plans, and if only they do their work right, Irish farmers should have a good time helping to supply them in beef and mutton as also in good cavalry horses and remounts. In fact, there is very chance for our farmers to get compensation for all their losses of the last few years if the war develops on wide lines.

DEATH OF MRS. A. EGAN.

We regret to announce the death of Mrs. Anne Egan, Ballyegan House, Dungarvan, which occurred at Egan's Hotel here on Tuesday after a brief illness fortified by the rites of the Church. The deceased who had reached a ripe age was relict of the late Mr. Maurice Egan one of the best-known and practical farmers in the County. Sprung from a highly-respected local family the late Mrs. Egan was held in the highest esteem by all who knew her. A practical go-ahead and sterling business woman of sound judgment and shrewd commonsense. She won the esteem and admiration of all with whom she came in contact. To her son, Mr. Patrick Egan, and all the members of her family deep sympathy is extended in their bereavement.—R.I.P.

On Wednesday evening the remains were removed to the Parish Church, Dungarvan, and were followed by a large and imposing cortege representative of all classes over a wide area. On Thursday the interment took place in the family burial ground adjoining in the presence of her family, relatives, friends and a large gathering of the general public who came to pay a last tribute to her memory and as a token of the esteem which her son Mr. Patk. Egan, and the members of her family are held. The last prayers at the graveside were recited by Rev. P. F. McGrath, C.C.

NOVA SCOTIA VISITOR.

Last week Dungarvan was visited by a distinguished priest from Nova Scotia, in the person of Father Butt. Fr. Butt's father was born in Dungarvan 400 years ago and emigrated early in life to Nova Scotia, where he married. Fr. Butt, who was accompanied by others from Nova Scotia, made a tour of the town on arrival and inspected all our beauty spots.

COLOURED SNOW.

Coloured snow fell on the Australian mountains last week. That will take some clever fellows to explain away. The waters of the Blue Nile in Egypt are rising every day and the waters in our streams and rivers at home are sinking more and more.

ABBESIDE 'PATTERN' SPORTS.

The above Sports will be held on Sunday 24th September at the Sportsfield, Abbeyside. The Committee in charge of the arrangements are devoting careful attention to every detail to provide a good days' sport. A list of the events comprising the programme can be seen in another column, and full particulars of the attractive prizes to be offered will appear later. Competitors are required to send in their entries on or before Thursday 5th September, to the Hon. Sec. Admission tickets price 3d. are now on sale and these tickets enable the holders to participate in a Draw for 25 in Prizes. A Prize of £1 will be awarded to the holder of the largest number of tickets. The Sports will open with a Comical Fancy Dress Parade open to all children under 14 years of age, for which the prizes will be 1st £1, 2nd 10/- and 3rd 7/6.

TO ARMS.

At a general meeting in Addis Ababa, the capital of Abyssinia on Wednesday at which the King and all the tribal chieftains were present, a general order to mobilise the whole native population was made. So in a few days all will be under arms and as armies are for fighting, on the war must go.

WISHED TO BE BURIED IN IRELAND.

The remains of Thomas McGrath, (53), who died in New York, were landed at Cobh from the United States liner President Roosevelt, and were taken to Grange, Co. Waterford, for interment. Deceased was born in the U.S.A., but before his death he expressed a wish to be buried in Ireland. Mrs. McGrath, wife of deceased, accompanied the remains.

PLUCKY RESCUE AT YOUGHAL.

A plucky rescue was effected at Youghal by a young man, Patrick Collins, Kenneally's Terrace, Cork Hill. The harbour was swarming with mackerel and the water-front was lined with amateur fishers. A little boy, Martin Downes, son of Det.-Officer Downes, fell into the water. Collins immediately plunged to the rescue and succeeded in bringing the boy to safety.

CORN PRICES.

This year wheat will be bought by the millers who will pay the standard price fixed for millable wheat. Barley prices are fixed same as last year. The opening price of white oats in Dungarvan is 8/- barrel.

FACTORY FOR DUNGARVAN TANNERY PROJECT.

Arrangements are being made for the opening in Dungarvan at an early date of a tannery for the manufacture of leather linings for boots and shoes, and also for semi-chrome light leather. It will be the first of its kind to be opened in the Free State.

NEWS FOR DUNGARVAN.

The site acquired for the factory is situated at the Esplanade and was previously a corn and coal store. The company are very hopeful of doing a large export trade to Norway, Sweden, Germany, and other foreign countries under trade agreements. The factory will have advantages which competing English firms have not on these markets. The processes in this branch of the leather industry are very interesting and research work will be carried on continually to improve methods now in use in England. It is hoped to be using native sheep skins in the factory in the near future. At the outset East Indian dried skins will be used.

Dickens Brothers, Northampton, one of the largest manufacturers in this line of leather goods in England, desired to subscribe the full capital, but the Department for Industry and Commerce would only allow them to subscribe £6,000.

NOTICE OF CHARITABLE BEQUESTS.

REVEREND THOMAS GIBBONS, DECEASED.

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to the Statute in that behalf that the Reverend Thomas Gibbons late of Tourneena in the County of Waterford, Parish Priest, who died on the 19th day of May 1935, by his last Will dated the 3rd day of May 1935, made the following charitable Bequests:—

To the Parish Priest at Testator's decease of St. Mary's Church, Greenock, Glasgow (a). £100 for the poor of that Parish and (b). £100 to reduce the debt of the Parish of St. Mary's, Greenock.

To the Parish Priest and Curates at testator's decease of said Parish £100 for Masses as therein.

To the Parish Priest at Testator's decease of Ballybricken, Waterford, for the poor of Ballybricken Parish, £100.

To the Parish Priest and Curates of Ballybricken Parish at Testator's decease £100 for Masses as therein.

To the Parish Priest at Testator's decease of said Parish of Ballybricken £100 as a contribution to the Building Fund for the erection of a new Church in said Parish.

To His Lordship Most Reverend Dr. Kinane, Lord Bishop of the Diocese of Waterford and Lismore to provide for an Annual High Mass to be celebrated in the Parish Church of which the Testator was Parish Priest at his decease £250, and

To His Lordship the said Most Reverend Dr. Kinane £250 to provide for an annual High Mass to be celebrated at Ballyluby Church in the graveyard adjoining which Testator desired to be buried.

To the Reverend J. English (Dublin Diocese) and the Reverend J. Keating, St. John's College, Waterford, £100 to be applied by them in the celebration of Masses which during Testator's lifetime might not have been celebrated by him although (as Testator declared) he was not conscious of any such.

To the Reverend Mother at Testator's decease of the Presentation Convent, Waterford £100 for the benefit of her Community.

To the President of the Clerical Benevolent Fund of the Diocese of Waterford and Lismore £100 for the Charitable objects of that Fund, Testator asking for the spiritual benefits to which as such donor he becomes entitled.

To the Parish Priest at Testator's decease of the Parish of Carrickbeg (Carrick-on-Suir) £50 in trust for the Poor of that Parish.

To his Executors the Testator left (a) £20 in trust for the Poor of the Parish of Tourneena and (b) £330 to be applied by them in the reduction of the Parochial debt on said Parish.

The Testator directed that the Masses for which bequests were in the said Will contained should be celebrated in Ireland and be for the intentions in his said Will declared. All the residue of his property Testator gave and bequeathed to the said Reverend John Keating, St. John's, College, Waterford, and the said Reverend John English (Dublin Diocese) in equal shares the same to be applied by them in the celebration of Masses for Testator's intentions.

Probate of the said Will was on the 13th day of August 1935, granted to the Reverend Denis Sheehan of Ballymacarberry and the Reverend Michael Ahearne of Rathronan, both of Clonmel in the County of Tipperary, Catholic Clergymen and Executors named in the said Will forth of the Principal (Probate) Registry at Dublin—of the High Court of Justice in Saorstát Eireann.

Agricultural Conditions

1st AUGUST, 1935.

Weather and Work.—The period of warm dry weather which set in towards the end of June continued almost without interruption throughout the month of July. The days were dry and warm, with bright sunshine more often than not, and during the nights there was as a rule a fairly heavy dew-fall. Heavy rains fell locally, but at fairly long intervals, and were no hindrance to the carrying out of field operations. The conditions generally were unusually favourable for the principal farm work at this season, namely, hay-making, and for the saving of turf, and farmers were busily engaged at both these operations during the month, as well as in the after-cultivation of the root crops and in the spraying of the potato crop. At the close of the month all this work had reached a very advanced stage for the time of the year.

State of Pastures and Condition of Live Stock.—Pastures generally retained a good covering of grass throughout the month of July, and afforded ample keep for live stock. Towards the end of the month, however, they were beginning to show the effects of the long spell of dry weather.

Live stock were reported to be in good health and condition.

Progress of Hay-making.—Owing to the wet weather in June the saving of first crop hay was delayed and in some cases was over-mature at the time of cutting in July which affected the quality adversely. Otherwise the whole of the 1st and 2nd crop hay was well saved under very favourable conditions, and in most cases was safely stored in winter quarters by the close of the month. Very considerable progress had also been made with the saving of old meadows. The general tenor of the reports is that yields of 1st and 2nd crop hay were somewhat lighter than last year, while those of old meadow hay were well up to average. The general quality of all hay was rather above average.

Cereals.—All cereal crops were reported to have made satisfactory progress, except oats which in some cases were stated to be ripening rather too rapidly, with the consequent probability that the ears might not be well-filled. On the whole, however, it was anticipated that given favourable weather all cereal crops would give satisfactory results. Winter wheat looked exceptionally promising, and barley was reported to be a good crop.

Very little of last year's home-grown grain except what was necessary for stock feeding purposes remained on the hands of farmers at the close of the month.

Flax.—The pulling of the flax crop began about the middle of the month and had well advanced at the close. Reports from Co. Donegal indicate that in most cases the length of the straw was satisfactory, and the quality of the fibre good. Late sown flax does not promise so well. It is reported from Co. Monaghan that flax will be only a moderate and uneven crop owing to the effects of the weather in Spring and to the fact that in many cases there has been an appearance of second growth.

Sugar Beet, Mangels and Turnips.—Sugar Beet although not so well advanced as at the corresponding period last year made good progress during the month of July, which, if continued, would give satisfactory results. Mangels also, although they grew well during the month, were still backward. Turnips generally were satisfactory and promising.

Potatoes.—Digging of early potatoes was completed during the month, and second earlies were being dug. Early potatoes were a rather light crop on the whole; second earlies are yielding about the average. Prices ranged from about 7s. to 8s. per cwt. at the beginning of the month to about 5s. to 6s. at the end.

The main crop made satisfactory progress during the month. While blight was in evidence in every district, it was held in check by the thorough spraying which was applied on most farms.

One of the most encouraging features to be recorded is the early demand for seed potatoes, especially for seed of the Arran Pilot variety which has proved a very satisfactory cropper. It is estimated that up to the moment upwards of 4,000 tons of new season's seeds has been bespoken.

Cattle.—Cattle stocks were reported to be in good health. The fairs held during the month were of medium dimensions.

The following quotations may be regarded as representing the average range of prices realised at provincial fairs during the month for the various kinds of stock mentioned:—

Calves under one month 8s. to 11 15s.; Calves, 1 to 9 months 11 10s. to 22 18s. 6d.; First-Class Stores, 9 to 12 months 22 10s. to 24 10s.; First-Class Stores 12 to 15 months 23 17s. 6d. to 26 7s. 6d.; First-class Stores, 15 months to 2 years 25 10s. to 27 10s.; First-Class Stores 2 to 3 years 26 10s. to 210 10s.; First-class Stores, 3 years and over 27 10s. to 210; First Class Fat Bullocks and Heifers 27 10s. to 213; Best Fat Cows and Bulls 24 to 27 10s.; Choice Springing Cows and Heifers 29 10s. to 213; Choice Down-calving Cows 27 to 212 15s.

Sheep.—Flocks were maintained in good health and condition. No reports of serious outbreaks of disease were received from any quarter. The markets and fairs held during the month were well supplied with sheep and lambs. Demand was fairly steady but prices were easier as the month advanced. Fat sheep realised 22s. 6d. to 40s. each according to quality; and fat lambs up to 30s. each.

Long-washed wool realised 5 1/2d. to 6 1/2d. per lb. Long-unwashed 4 1/2d. to 6 1/2d. per lb. Down-washed 9d. to 9 1/2d. per lb. Down-unwashed 6 1/2d. to 8 1/2d. per lb. Mountain-washed 3 1/2d. to 5 1/2d. per lb. Mountain-unwashed 3 1/2d. to 4 1/2d. per lb.

Pigs.—The number of pigs marketed during July was roughly speaking about the same as in June. The average top prices for those suitable for the bacon curing industry varied during the month between 46s. and 49s. 9d. per cwt. dead weight, or 34s. and 36s. 9d. per cwt. on the live weight basis. Bonhams were in plentiful supply but in rather slow demand at prices ranging up to 20s. each according to age and quality. Breeding stocks were well maintained.

Horses.—The horse trade during the month showed no special change from last month. Good class working horses were in demand at prices up to £25 each; troopers up to £30 each.

Milk.—The supplies of milk delivered to the Creameries during July were above average for the season. Milk delivered in June realised 3.86d. per gallon, with the separated milk returned to the producers. Milk collected in counties adjacent to Dublin for retail trade in the city returned 4d. to 6d. per gallon to the producers.

GROWTH OF MANGELS AND SWEDES EFFECTS OF LENGTH OF DAY

In his monthly notes on farming topics in the "Journal of the English Ministry of Agriculture," Mr. E. J. Roberts, M.A., M.Sc., of the University College of North Wales, contributes a few interesting remarks on the development of swedes and mangels at this season of the year. He points out that during August the bulky or fleshy part of the plants begin to swell and there is a general belief amongst farmers that the long dewy nights are needed for the bulbing of roots and for the ripening of corn.

One is at first inclined, Mr. Roberts says, to dismiss such an idea, adding that, because the long dewy nights happen to occur at that stage of growth they are not necessarily essential for the maturation processes. Recent work, however, on photoperiodism, i.e., the effect of length of day on growth processes, makes for more caution in dismissing such an idea as absurd. The dew may be unnecessary, but it is quite probable that the longer-nights may be conducive to bulbing in some species. Thus when, after great expense, a collection of South American wild and cultivated forms of the potato were grown for observational purposes in N. Russia, some of them did not form tubers at all in that locality; this was held to be due to the great length of the day in that region. Again, in experiments carried out in America, the variety "Irish Potato" failed to form tubers when exposed to 18 hours' light in each 24 hours; the best tuberization took place with 10 hours' light.

Interesting results of this kind, in which certain stages of growth seem to be correlated with length of day, have also been obtained at Aberystwyth, by Tincker, who observes that we are apt to overlook the commonplace phenomena of species flowering at about the same time year after year; he observes that "whilst temperature, rainfall and other weather conditions do cause fluctuations in the time of blossom production, spring-flowering types remain spring-flowering types and those that flower in the long days of early summer are not made to flower in the late autumn by such weather conditions."

BARLEY PRICES

The Minister for Agriculture desires to inform purchasers and sellers of barley that the Home-Grown Barley (Minimum Prices) Order, 1934, which came into operation on the 1st November, 1934, is still in force, and that, accordingly, registered oats and barley dealers are required to pay the minimum prices fixed by the Order for barley of the present season's crop. The highest price is seven shillings and sixpence per cwt. for home-grown barley, having a bushel weight of not less than 56 pounds, and the lowest price is six shillings and sixpence per cwt. for barley having a bushel weight of less than 49 pounds. Between those amounts the price falls at the rate of three-haltpence per cwt. for every pound fall in the bushel weight.

Copies of the above-mentioned Order may be obtained from the Government Publications Sale Office, 5 Nassau Street, Dublin, price 1 1/2d.

NEW FISH WITH BLUE SPOTS NAMED AFTER MAN WHO CAUGHT IT

A small, gracefully shaped fish of amber colour with blue spots is South Africa's latest contribution to science.

This fish, which is stated to be an entirely new species not known in South African waters, was discovered by Mr. H. W. Bell-Marley, principal fisheries officer for Natal. It was netted off the beach.

The fish has been classified and named by Dr. J. L. B. Smith, of Rhodes University College, Grahamstown, as a tribute to its discoverer. He has called it Taeniolarbus Marleyi.

Youghal Mental Hospital

At the usual monthly meeting of the Youghal Mental Hospital Committee, there attended—Mr. W. J. Broderick, T.D., Chairman; Rev. D. Duane, C.C., and Dr. M. Twomey, Visiting Physician.

The Manager's Report
Since last meeting two patients (one female and one male) have died and the total number in residence at present is 426 (240 men and 177 women).

The corn was ripe for cutting during the month and it was necessary to hire a machine. I shall be glad to know if a thresher may be hired as usual.

Messrs. Merricks report on cast iron cooking boiler was read and instructions asked for.

A letter was read from the Department—Combined Purchasing Section.

Doctor's Report
The doctor's report was as follows:— Since my last report there have been two deaths. Five patients are confined to bed on the male side of the house and six in the female side, owing to debility and other causes.

There has been no case of seclusion, restraint, injury or malice.

There has been no complaint of the water supply. The food supplies have been regularly examined and found up to standard requirements. There has been no case of zymotic disease and the general health of the Institution is excellent.

In the absence of a quorum all other matters were referred to the Cork Meeting.

VISIT TO WATERFORD NURSERIES

Before returning to England, after the Dublin Horse Show, Sir Hugh and Lady Nugent, Ballinacorney Castle, Athboy, and Lambour, visited the nurseries of Messrs. Wm. Power and Son at Waterford, in which they are keenly interested. Messrs. Power are carrying out a large contract at Sir Hugh Nugent's Irish seat, where the large estate and gardens are being replanted and re-converted.

DOGS AND THE CAR HAVE THEY ROAD SENSE?

By "PHILOKTON."

AN eminent counsel, knowing my besetting inclination, started discussing dogs the other day. He being a motorist, was convinced from a wide experience, that they are acquiring a road sense. His inference was that in the course of generations they were beginning to inherit instincts that make them careful in traffic. I ventured to differ from my learned friend, attributing much of the improvement that he had observed to the efforts of the Tail-Waggers' Club in the direction of persuading people to train their dogs in ways of obedience. This was presenting the matter to him in a new light, and on reflection he came to the conclusion that my contention was founded on sound principles.

Explaining to him what had been done by the Club since its inception, I told him that in my opinion the untrained dog was as great a danger as ever. No considerations of rapidly moving vehicles would prevent him turning into a road or trying to cross at the dictates of his fancy. I am constantly seeing dogs that only escape sudden death or mutilation by the skill of motorists. As far as road sense is concerned, it is conspicuous by its absence. A few breeds have it, and always have had it, the principal being chow chows, which seem to exercise a caution that is almost human when they want to cross a busy street. The bump of locality is also fully developed in them.

I am satisfied that more people than ever are teaching their dogs the elements of obedience. After all, it does not need much expenditure of time and trouble to persuade them to follow closely at heel when the conditions of traffic make it desirable. Some owners, who are either not apt instructors or have not the patience, resort to a lead, which is a nuisance to them and irksome to the dogs. An old dog that is out of control is past praying for, but any young one can be taught. First gain the confidence of your pupil, making him feel that your company is desirable. Talk to him and make a fuss of him. Then try to induce him to go steadily on a lead without struggling. If he pulls, jerk him back quietly, saying "Heel" or "Here." It does not matter which word one uses so long as it is always the same. Praise him when he goes quietly.

By the end of a week he should have mastered the lesson, and you can then release him in a quiet place. After he has romped about a bit, whistle or call "Here!" Pat him if he comes promptly and give him a bit of biscuit. If he shows any disposition to stray say "Heel!" and should he be disobedient put him on the lead. The great thing is never to relax your efforts until you have succeeded; but at the same time one should not tire the pupil by making the lessons too long, and do not make his life a boredom by keeping him in when there is no necessity for it. Whenever you are about to cross a road say "Stop!" and insist upon his waiting until you give him permission to go. In a few weeks he will check automatically. A desire to rush across a road impetuously is, I feel sure, the source of the majority of accidents. This lesson is begun most easily with a lead on the dog, though you can take hold of the collar if you wish, making him sit until the road is clear. Keep your eye on him to see that he does not stray behind to talk to a friend as you cross.

This chat is issued by THE TAIL WAGGERS' CLUB OF IRELAND, 23, Old Abbey Street (off Marlborough Street), Dublin, C.S. The Club will be pleased to answer any enquiries submitted by Tail-Wagger Owners in connection with canine hygiene and welfare.

RECTOR'S DEATH FROM STARVATION

Rev. Edward Greville Norris (64), rector of Bucknell, Oxfordshire, who was found dead in a field at Bucknell, was stated, at the inquest, to have died so strictly, because he thought he had blood pressure, that it amounted to starvation. A verdict of death from natural causes was returned.

MANY REFEREES AT ONE FOOTBALL MATCH

It did not seem to matter about a ball as long as the game went on; there was a considerable amount of trouble in these matches, for when the referee gave a decision it was always disputed, and his ruling not obeyed, said Dist. Insp. Martin at Carrickfergus when a number of persons were prosecuted for riotous behaviour at a football match in connection with a summer league. One player, it was stated, was unconscious for 48 hours following a beating. There seemed to be 24 referees on the field on this occasion, and 200 or 300 on the touchline, the District Inspector added.

BEQUEST OF £100 TO MUSSOLINI

Mr. Alessandro Novani, of Hastings, left, among other bequests, £100 to Signor Mussolini, "for him to give to such charity as he may choose. Capt. Charles Hazard Hassell, former Director of Music, Irish Guards, left "my ensisting shilling to the O.C. 2nd Notts and Derby Regiment, as a souvenir of the regiment in which I first enlisted."

Present—Messrs. P. J. O'Gorman, P.C., Chairman; W. O'Sullivan, T. Beausang, D. McCarthy, R. Savage, E. P. Lynch, J. Daly, B.E.; M. Ahern, M. Cashman, J. Whelan.

The Recent Cinema Fire

Inspector Lambert, Middleton, wrote acknowledging the Council's communication conveying their appreciation respecting the work of the local Gardai at the fire at Mr. Hurst's Cinema on the 2nd. As requested he had conveyed the contents of the communication to his authorities.

Recent Water Rent Case

Messrs. Hodnett and Son, solrs, wrote stating that they had received from the defendant's solicitor in the case of the Council v. Michael Sheehan, a notice of appeal to the Circuit Court against the decree granted at the District Court.

Acknowledgments

Mr. M. Colbert, Post Master, wrote thanking the Council for their very kind resolution of sympathy on the death of his son.

A similar letter was read from Captain C. Watson, U.D.C., in their recent bereavement.

Mr. R. Hurst, wrote thanking the Council for their resolution of sympathy on the burning of the Picture Palace. He would also like to thank the members of the Civic Guards under Sergeants O'Beirne and Lupton, the local Fire Brigade—who did great work—under the Town Superintendent, Mr. Troy, and the members of the public for their great help and also for their worthy Chairman, P. J. O'Gorman, Esq., for his personal supervision.

Fishery Commission Report

A letter was read from the Department of Agriculture (Fisheries Branch) stating that the report of the Commission on Inland Fisheries had not been published and consequently a copy wasn't available.

The Chairman—We can't go any further.

The Pacific Hotel

A letter was read from Messrs. Hodnett, solrs., re Miss Meade's application advising that it rested entirely with the Council whether or not they would remove the sign "Public Thoroughfare." What they meant to convey was that, while that sign called attention to the fact that the passage was a public one, the passage would not, of course, cease to be a public thoroughfare if the sign were removed.

Replying to the Council's two letters of the 9th inst., they had only to reiterate what they stated in their letters of the 22nd March and 4th April, 1928. The existing lamp was a public lamp and in their opinion, no private sign or advertisement should appear upon it.

It was decided to leave the sign "Public Thoroughfare" stand, and to call on Miss Meade to remove her advertisement within one week.

Bayview Cottages

Reports were read from the M.O.H. and the Town Superintendent on the condition of the sanitary arrangements at Bayview Cottages, the Strand, and the Clerk was directed to forward copies to the owner.

Extension Of Water Main

Two tenders were received for the extension and improvement of the Water Main at Parkpika, viz., Messrs. Murray and Son £145, and Mr. P. Kenneally £123 10s. 0d.

The lower tender was unanimously accepted.

A Water Connection

Some correspondence from Mr. T. O'Donovan, regarding water connections put down by him recently was read.

The meeting decided to take no action on the matter until Mr. O'Donovan complied with the usual conditions.

Letter From Mr. Nyham, Cork

The Clerk was reading copy of a letter addressed by Mr. Nyham, Cork, to the L.G., when he was called on to stop, several members saying they had heard more than enough of it.

Council's Resolution

The Clerk read letters from a number of public bodies stating that they had adopted the Council's resolution re the Belfast outrages.

Plucky Rescue

Mr. Cashman called attention to the plucky rescue by "Toddy" Collins, Cork Hill, of young Downes, on Wednesday evening. He proposed that his brave act be brought to the notice of the Royal Humane Society. It was Collins' second rescue.

Mr. Beausang, seconded. Mr. Daly said that Collins jumped in fully clothed. The Chairman—A plucky act of the kind deserves recognition. The Clerk was directed to convey the resolution to the R.H.S.

Acknowledgment

A letter was read from Park Lane, on behalf of the Fire Brigade, thanking the Council for their appreciation of their efforts at the recent fire, and also the Chairman for his kind treatment afterwards.

YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, D.J.)

DECREES AGAINST COTTIERS

The Waterford Co. Council summoned Thos. Walsh, Coolbeggan, for possession of a labourers cottage. Mr. Condon, stated that the rent was 1/- weekly and the arrears amounted to £5 2s. 7d.

A decree for possession was granted. A decree was also granted in a similar case against Wm. Murray, the arrears being £6 7s. 5d.

Fortune Telling Charge

Richard O'Doherty, alias O'Leary, of no fixed residence, was charged with fortune-telling by palmistry and otherwise at Claycastle, Youghal, on 31st July and also with vagrancy.

Defendant said he was ready to leave when he got the summons.

Sergt. Lupton asked for an adjournment. There was a witness coming from Cork, and there was another case against him.

Defendant handed up a bundle of documents to the Bench.

The Justice—What does this disclose?

Defendant—It is a record of my character in business.

The Justice—Could you not withdraw this case?

Sergt. O'Beirne—We would like to have a decision on this palmistry.

The Justice—Why make him the victim?

The Sergt.—He has been making a living out of it for months past, and last year also.

The Justice—He doesn't seem anxious to appear in a leading case to be handed down to posterity (laughter). If he wants to go, why not let him?

The Sergt.—He was given an opportunity for the last two months, but didn't go. He has been also noticed by the Urban Council.

Sergt. Lupton said he asked the defendant who said he was removing.

The Justice—Are you going by road?

Defendant—Yes in my caravan.

Inspector Lambert, said he was not conversant with the facts of the case, but defendant was served with the summons eight days ago, and it was not till that morning he said he was leaving.

The Justice—I am in favour of letting this man go. I will hear the case without the witness from Cork.

Sergt. O'Beirne stated that Sergt. Lupton and he entered defendant's caravan on 31st July. There were two ladies inside sitting at a table opposite defendant. Questioned, he said they were "friends" of his. He told one that "she had musical talent" (laughter). They got the ladies names.

Replying to the Court, defendant denied taking money. He knew the ladies in Cork.

Witness said they had the defendant's van under observation and he seemed to be doing a fairly good trade. He was there since the end of June. He saw six ladies on one evening and four on another coming out of the van.

The Justice—What do you say?

Defendant—I have a big lot of friends. The Guards can't prove anything against me.

The Sergt.—We are not looking for an excessive penalty, but to have the matter decided.

Sergt. Lupton said he had the van under observation since 1st July. Defendant had a notice up "Fortunes told free to buyers of my goods" (laughter).

The Justice—What goods?

Witness—That is what I don't know. He was selling little cards for 1/- each—"lucky cards" he called them (laughter).

The Justice—Did you get one of them?—I didn't, sir (laughter).

Witness said that on August 8th he asked defendant what goods he was selling and he replied "soft goods" (laughter). Witness asked to see some of them, but he said he was out of them.

The Justice—During the period you found no goods there, did you see people going in?—Yes. On one Wednesday evening I saw four ladies leaving. They refused to give their names and addresses, but I got them since (laughter).

The Justice—What is your means of livelihood?—I am a licensed pedlar. Why don't you stick to peddling—you are a Northern?—From Donegal. I was in Cork, Thurles and other places. The advertisement was my honest attempt to keep with in the law (laughter).

The Justice said he should hold that the defendant was guilty of a breach of the law. He would let him off under the P.O.A. binding him to the peace in the sum of £5, he to leave the place at once.

Sergt. O'Beirne said as regards the second charge, he was willing to withdraw it.

The charge of vagrancy was therefore, marked withdrawn.

Sand From Foreshore

In the case of the Urban Council against James Keohane and his son for taking sand from the foreshore, adjourned last day for decision.

The Justice said he had made up his mind that he could deal with the charge as it came before him, because there was consequential damage to the property of the Urban Council.

Defendant said he was called on to supply the stuff in a great hurry.

Mr. Hodnett—Didn't you get a chance only the previous week from the Council.

Defendant—I got their letter six hours after being caught.

Mr. Hodnett said he had been in-

Practical Rural Training

Much has been said about the need for more specialised education for children in country districts to fit them for rural occupations. But at least some of our country schools are finding room in their curriculum for practical training in branches of farming. Calf, lamb, pig, poultry and rabbit clubs have all been run with success by the pupils at Worfield Endowed School, near Bridgnorth, while gardening and bee-keeping are also among their activities. During the last five years, according to "The Farmer and Stock Breeder," over £300 worth of stock has been reared by the school, and over £90 profit has been distributed among the scholar-members of the various clubs.

Silage For Pigs

We cannot feed hay to pigs, but the grass can be kept for winter pig-food if made into silage. As Mr. H. R. Davidson, however, points out in "The Farmer and Stock Breeder," it is essential that the grass should be cut very young. He recommends that where a clamp silo is used the width should be about 14ft. and if on flat ground the clamp should not be more than 8ft. high. Grass should be carted as soon as cut and chaffed before blowing into the silo in the usual way. If the carts can be taken over the clamp so much the better, while the addition of a gallon of molasses to every ton of grass is another improvement. The best way to feed silage is to mix three parts of silage with one part of dry meal which is balanced as a ration. It can be assumed that silage is a balanced ration in itself. Silage, however, should only be fed to mature pigs as it is bulky stuff to digest.

Advantages of Early Ploughing

"Hit the plough to the binder," expresses an ideal regarding autumn ploughing. Apart from the stubbles being easier to tackle directly the corn is off, early ploughing leaves the land in a state receptive of autumn rains. On the drier side of Britain, writes Mr. J. C. Fletcher, in "The Farmer and Stock Breeder," the importance of accumulating this supply of soil moisture cannot be over-estimated. Ploughing aerates the top few inches of soil and aeration hastens the decomposition of the remains of the previous crop. Weed destruction is another important item. Seeds of annual weeds are encouraged to germinate but never allowed to mature and perennial weeds are at their weakest with root stocks practically exhausted after producing foliage and stem to compete with the growing corn. Even in a wet autumn, burying the weeds checks their growth for weeks and makes spring cultivation much more simple.

Drafting The Egg Scheme

A Joint Committee of the N.F.U. and the National Poultry Council have commenced the drafting of an Egg and Poultry Scheme. In the forefront of their plan, says "The Farmer and Stock Breeder," there must be adequate regulation of imports, coupled with a compulsory scheme for the organisation of the whole industry. The Committee have decided that the Scheme must be national, but there will be area committees elected by producers, whose votes will be regulated by the number of poultry they own which are over two months old. Direct sales from producer to retailer will be allowed subject to such safeguards as the prevention of undercutting, but it seems likely that the sale of eggs by auction will be prohibited. A charge of something like 14d. per 120 eggs will be levied by the Board.

Fewer Canadian Cattle

Prices for livestock in Canada are said to be the best since 1930 and the improved trade with U.S.A. implies that still fewer cattle will be sent from Canada to Great Britain. "The Farmer and Stock Breeder" records that there has already been a striking reduction this year. In the first six months of the year, the number of Canadian cattle arriving here was only 6,124 head compared with 23,438 head in the corresponding period of 1934. In the month of June only 61 head of cattle reached Britain from the Dominion.

Typical Pig Rations

It is not really good practice to feed the suckling sows and young pigs together. At this time a ration good enough to suit the young pigs would be more expensive than the sows need. "The Farmer and Stock Breeder" invariably advocates feeding the young pigs separately behind a "creep," and when this is done they can be given the same ration as is advised for weaners. The following table gives the constitution of suitable rations:— Flaked maize—Sows parts 45; Weaners parts 25; Porkers parts 15; Baconers parts 15. Barley meal—Sows parts 15; Weaners parts 15; Porkers parts 30; Baconers parts 45. Bran—Sows, 10; Weaners—10; Porkers—10; Baconers—10. Weanings—Sows 35; Weaners 50; Porkers 45; Baconers 25. White-fish-meal—Sows 10; Weaners 10; Porkers 10; Baconers 5.

Large Litters of Pigs

One of the foremost considerations of the pig breeder is the securing of large litters from his sows. This is a problem that is at the moment causing considerable anxiety amongst breeders of pure-bred pigs, inasmuch as the number of small litters from pure breeds are reported to be increasing. These reports point to a grave error on the part of breeders, namely the use of boars and sows from small litters.

Fecundity, or the power to produce young, is inherited in pigs just as it is in poultry, and it is as unwise to use boars and sows from small litters as it is to breed from low egg-producing hens mated with a cockerel whose parents were from a poor egg-laying strain. Successful poultry breeders realise the importance of using only breeding stock of proved fecundity, knowing that this characteristic is transmitted to the off-spring. In pig-breeding, however, one frequently finds a young boar or gilt from a litter of four or five kept on for breeding; such methods, undoubtedly, tend to develop strains of habitually small litter-producing pigs, and are responsible for most of the present outcry regarding this defect. The individuals of a small litter are more likely to find their way into the breeding herd than are those from equally well-bred large litters, since the former nearly always look better on account of their having received abundant milk, and they consequently attract the prospective purchaser. Rather should the boars and gilts for breeding be selected from large litters of vigorous, healthy pigs, especially if the mothers habitually produce large litters.

The breeder who selects his breeding stock from small litters is introducing the factors for low production into his herd. The sows which throw small litters should, therefore, be fattened off, and none of their off-spring retained for breeding, while the golden rule of the progressive pig

Winter Quarters

During the next few weeks the poultry section of the farm will need a certain amount of extra time in making provision for the pullets. On most farms there is a certain number of old birds to be cleared out, and as the houses become vacant they are filled with pullets. This, writes Mr. H. Howes, in "The Farmer and Stock Breeder" is where portable houses score—they allow opportunities of getting on to clean land, which is beneficial to both fowls and ground. In selecting the birds for each house it is well to remember that best results follow when the flock is of the same age and breed. Any bird showing the slightest sign of weakness should be discarded. Good production is impossible unless constitutional vigour is evident.

Milk Payments Deferred

In consequence of the poll on the Milk Scheme, the Milk Marketing Board announces that it will not be possible for the pool payments for the month of July to be paid until after August 20. The position has arisen, it is understood, owing to bankers' unwillingness to advance the funds for the pool payment until some more definite indication is forthcoming of the continuance of the Board. As a rule, states "The Farmer and Stock Breeder," the Board receives payment for milk on or about the 17th of the month, and usually makes payments to producers round about the 11th of the month. So that for about six or seven days it is necessary for the Board to have recourse to the bank for financial assistance over the period. Reference to the income and expenditure account of the Board presented to the last annual meeting of producers shows an item of £3,533,000 under sundry creditors, representing the Board's liability to producers in respect of milk sales in the month of March last. This, presumably, is the figure in the main, which the bank would in ordinary circumstances advance until the money comes in from the purchasers.

Markets At A Glance

Fair quantities of new English wheat have been offered at Mark Lane, but the milling demand has been quiet, business being done generally on the basis of 21s. to 21s. 6d. per quarter. Home-grown barley, being winter grown, does not attract much attention from maltsters, who are disposed to wait for the spring-grown crop. Oats have been a disappointing market for growers, and have been freely offered. Feeding stuffs as a rule are a little cheaper, and oil cakes are unchanged.

Even best beef has barely maintained its value, and increasing offerings of fat lamb made trade better for buyers. According to "The Farmer and Stock Breeder" one of the effects of the hot weather is to create a better market for good milking cows, many farmers having to buy to make good the drop in milk yield on account of drying-up pastures. Store sheep prices mostly of lambs, have eased for the same reason, as most farmers would like to see rain on their pastures before increasing their stocks. Fat pigs maintain their prices, and store pig values tend to improve.

Holiday requirements have stimulated the egg trade in a number of centres, supplies tending generally lighter.

In the potato market a firmer trend has resulted in prices hardening to the extent of from 5s. to 10s. per ton in the principal centres.

breeder should be to select both boars and gilts for breeding only from large litters. It frequently happens, however, that the breeding stock is purchased and the purchaser cannot get particulars regarding the number of brothers and sisters of the animal purchased.

This will be remedied when pig breeders are educated to understand the importance of fertility and that the phenomenon is inherited. No thing short of drastic changes in the present system of registration of pigs will effect satisfactory educational reform. The ideal to be aimed at as the advertisement in all cases of the number of litter mates of the animal for sale, and further the number of litter mates of the sire and dam.

When the pig-purchasing public will regard with suspicion an animal about which the owner does not advertise information regarding the number of litter mates, a big battle will have been won for the pure-breeds of pigs and the whole industry strengthened thereby. In Canada, each breeder, when making application for the registration of the progeny of pure-bred pigs, must give particulars as follows:— 1. The number of pigs in the litter. 2. The number of each sex. 3. The date of farrowing.

With such particulars at its disposal, the Society is enabled to make the Herd Book a veritable storehouse of information relating to the fecundity of every branch of the breed represented, and the would-be purchaser will have available in its pages all the particulars he requires.—R. in "Farmers Gazette."
