DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL

RELIEF GRANT FOR XMAS

Mr. Ml. Morrissey, Chairman, presided at a special meeting of the above on Monday last, to consider a letter from the Department as follows:—"With reference to your application for a grant for the relief of unemployment, I am directed by the Minister for Local Government and Public Health to refer to the notification of grant for this purpose issued to you and to state that the resurfacing of the Esplanade appeared to be suitable work.

A letter was read from the Department notifying the Council of a grant of £200 for the carrying out of a road scheme for the relief of unemployment.

The estimate of the B.S. for this work to be done in water macadam was as follows:—Roller coal, etc., £20; stone, £25; labour breaking and spreading stone £155. Total £200.

Mr. Byrne suggested that no roller be employed, and that the money be expended in a general repair and side clearing of roads.

Mr. McCarthy said he was inclined to agree with Mr. Byrne.

Chairman—Even that the money is in the nature of a gift, the Council would require some return.

Mr. Mansfield suggested that supplementing the cost of the roller and coal with the rates.

This suggestion was agreed to, and the B.S. was directed to have everything in readiness to start work on Monday, Dec. 9th so that the men would have two weeks work before Xmas.

A GREAT DANCE

One of the most enjoyable functions held in Lismore for many years, was the dance held in the Town Hall on Sunday night under the auspices of the Lismore Sports Committee.

Previous to the dance it was thought that the restrictions on public dancing preventing persons under 18 years from attending would hamper the dance a great deal, but the older members of the community compensated by coming in large numbers for a pleasant revival of the good old Irish dances of their youthful days.

Contingents arrived from Cappoquin, Villerstown, Dromore, Tallow, Knockanore and Ballyduff, and the local dancing enthusiasts of Lismore, and in spite of the unusually large attendance, the best of order and regularity was maintained by a most energetic committee.

The hall was specially decorated for the occasion, and a picture of invitation in itself, while the floor being like a sheet of glass made dancing rather a thrill than a pleasure. The Lismore Nightingale, Ceilidhe Band, had been specially engaged for the occasion under the baton of Mr. P. Gillen, and a most delightful programme of soulful Irish music was rendered.

The Lismore Sports Committee wish to thank their many patrons for their response.

Dancing continued with full zest until 1.30 a.m. when all present stood to attention for the singing of the National Anthem.

A left-hand man's kid glove was lost in the hall. If finder would kindly send it to the Sec., Lismore Sports Committee, it would be thankfully received.

DUNGARVAN BOXING CLUB

A largely attended meeting was held in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on Monday night last, for the purpose of forming a Boxing Club in the town.

Mr. Jas. Hayes, Square, presided.

The Chairman explained that the meeting was called by him with the object of forming a Boxing Club in the town, and he had no doubt if the club was formed it would be a most successful one, as there is a very big number of exponent of the manly art in the town and district. He next referred to the recent tournament run by a committee of which he was the President, in aid of the mortuary Church Fund and the possibility of giving some token which would not interfere with their amateur status to the local boxers who took part in the tournament in recognition for their gratuitous service.

After a short discussion this matter was deferred pending the formation of the new club.

The following officials were then appointed—President Mr. Jas. Hayes, Vice-Presidents—Superintendent Walsh; Commissioner Moylhan, Dr. D. T. McCarthy, Dr. M. Casey.

Treasurer—Mr. J. J. Hurley; Secretary, Mr. J. Christopher, U.D.C.

A small committee with power to add to their number was also formed.

LISMORE NOTES.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN HOARE, CONNA, TALLOW.

Deep regret was occasioned by the death of Mr. John Hoare, Conna, who passed away after a prolonged illness at St. Patrick's Hospital, Kermoy on Sunday last, fortified by the rites of the Holy Church.

Deceased was formerly a native of Dungarvan, from whence he came to Conna where he carried on an extensive Bakery trade, being both an enterprising and successful business man. He was Secretary of the Conna Harrier Club for several years, and to him belongs the credit of having done more than one man's share in raising the Club to the important status that it holds in the world of sport in the country.

He was a sterling Irishman whom it was a joy to meet in or out of his own home and won the confidence of everyone in all his transactions.

To the esteemed members of the family sincere sympathy is extended in their bereavement.—R.I.P.

The funeral which took place on Tuesday evening from St. Catherine's Church, Conna, to Knockanore cemetery, displayed in a most striking manner the universal sympathy evoked by his demise.

Rev. Michael Ahearne, P.P., officiated at the graveside.

The chief mourners were:—Mrs. J. Hoare (widow); Michael, William and Thomas Hoare (sons); Richard and Ml. Scanlon, (brothers-in-law); Mrs. O'Mahoney, Cork, (sister-in-law).

Amongst the general public were:—Mr. and Mrs. Cashman, Miss Scanlon, Miss N. Scanlon, Mrs. O'Regan, Wm. O'Keefe, Michael O'Riordan, N.T.; Miss Arnold, Miss Harley, R. O'Brien, N.T., Miss Dempsey, N.T., J. J. Power, etc.

DELIGHTFUL ENTERTAINMENT AT KNOCKANORE CHURCH.

In Aid Of Church Renovation Fund

One of the most outstanding amateur dramatic performances held in Knockanore, for many years was the brilliant production of that grand Patrician drama "The Breaking Day," by Rev. M. H. Gaffney, O.P., given by The Lismore Juvenile Dramatic Society at Knockanore Church on Sunday night. This was the first occasion on which the talented performers had attempted public Sacred entertainments on such an ambitious scale, but it is no exaggeration to say that they proved themselves, collectively and individually, a brilliant company and gave a superb entertainment in which dramatic ability and delightful sacred music and hymns were the chief items of the programme.

The previous Sunday night's entertainment proved such a complete success, that Sunday night's entertainment was anticipated by the absentees with the keenest preconception, for in addition to supporting a worthy object the general public had learnt to expect something unique. Therefore, it is not surprising that when the first performance of "The Breaking Day" was given on Sunday night week the Church was packed to capacity, as was also the case on Sunday night last. And before the performance began there was a feeling of certainty that the production was going to be a huge success.

The opening part of the programme was "The Sacred Concert" in which sacred hymns were rendered which reflected a genius of talent on the artists concerned.

The next part of the programme was the staging of "The Breaking Day," or "The Life of St. Patrick," in which all the different actors and actresses acquitted themselves with distinction.

The play opens with a magnificent rendering of the Veni Creator, and the Sacred music flowed smoothly on through the first act, in which St. Patrick spends in prayer on the slopes of Sléimis. The scene closed with a beautiful rendering of the "Kyrie Eleison," as an angel confronts the kneeling boy and speaks her heavenly message as the music ends.

Act two opens on the hills of Tara when St. Patrick lights the Paschal Fire on the "Hill of Slane" to King Loaghair's astonishment. And so the story goes on to St. Patrick's triumphant conclusion in the king's court.

Act three proves the climax and the death-knell. St. Patrick, now old and worn and his great uphill struggle in life completed, kneels besides a rock to offer a last thanksgiving to his Heavenly Father—"What shall I render to Him for all He has given me." And then his sacred lips are closed in an eternal silence.

The Cast included Ted O'Connell, as Joe Healy, as Milcho; Patrick O'Connell as Desmond; Mona O'Connell as Maeve; J. D. Kavanagh, as St. Martin of Tours; Betty Hynes as King Loaghair; Joe Healy as Luchra (a Druid); Patty Crotty as Trc of Dega (Druid); Kathleen Healy as The Angel Victor; J. D. Kavanagh, as The Priest Evin; R. Lawton, as The Bishop of Tassack; S. Daly as Lady of the Court.

It would be impossible to single out any one of the artists for special mention, but I can say with truth that the whole cast commanded a most striking standard of ability and talent and their performances were a brilliant tribute to the work of their coaches—Mrs. K. O'Connell and

Mr. J. D. Kavanagh, who have every reason to be proud of their performance. Rev. Fr. Morrissey, Adm., Knockanore, in a brief address expressed his thanks and congratulations to all concerned with the production of the Play, mentioning particularly Mr. Jas. Barry, Mr. J. Willoughby and Mr. J. O'Grady, who prepared the scenery so nicely, together with Mr. James Feeney, who was responsible for the artistic lighting scheme.

In conclusion, we add our own congratulations to the Lismore Dramatic Society, and all who took part, on their delightful and brilliant entertainment and the success with which it was so deservingly attended.

The performers can be assured of an enthusiastic reception on their next appearance at Lismore, which we hope will be at an early date.

POPULAR DUNGARVAN BANK MANAGER

VALUABLE PRESENTATION FROM CORK FARMERS UNION

Mr. J. B. Bowen, who was recently appointed Manager of the Provincial Bank of Ireland, Dungarvan, was entertained to supper and given a valuable presentation by the Dance Committee of Cork Farmers Union before he left Cork to take up duty as Manager at Knockanore Branch. The presentation was a solid oak sideboard and dining-room Suite to match.

Mr. D. P. Forde, B.L., presided at the function at which there was a representative attendance of members of the Cork Farmers Union and others. The toast of the health and prosperity of the guest of the evening (Mr. James Bowen) was proposed by Mr. Dan Cronin, an active member of the Cork Farmers Union and Hon. Sec. of the dance committee.

The speeches bore testimony to the long and honourable association of Mr. Bowen and his family with the activities of the Cork Farmers Union and with every aspect of agriculture in Cork.

Special tributes were paid to Mr. Jas. Bowen's services to the Farmers Union; the Shorthorn Breeders' Society and other bodies connected with the farming and cattle industries. Mr. Bowen's efficiency and courtesy as a Bank Official, were also dwelt upon.

The Chairman (Mr. Forde, B.L.) said it would ill-become the farming industry in Cork not to avail of that opportunity to pay the warmest possible tribute and to show in the most generous possible way their appreciation of the services rendered by Mr. Bowen and all his family, to the farming and allied industries in Cork. Nothing they could say that night would express their feelings of pleasure at Mr. Bowen's appointment to the Management of such an important branch of the Bank.

Mr. E. Wall, said he could speak with intimate knowledge on behalf of the farmers who frequented the Provincial Bank in Cork of Mr. Bowen's solicitude for their welfare. All their troubles and difficulties appeared to vanish when they got in touch with Mr. Bowen at the Bank. His (Mr. Walls) impression on his dealing with Mr. Bowen was that Mr. Bowen was first and foremost a farmer and a friend of the farmer and after that a Bank official (applause).

Other speakers at the function were Messrs. J. O'Byrne, Secretary Munster Agricultural Society; W. A. Mullaney, P.C.; P. Coakley, B. Downing, E. J. Cussen, J. A. Hennessy, Jas. Horgan, W. Twomey, W. J. Richardson, P. D. Leahen.

Returning thanks for the presentation and acknowledging all that had been said by the speakers, Mr. Bowen said he was very proud to admit that as Mr. Wall had said he was first and foremost a farmer, and after that a bank official (applause). Thanks to the example given him by his late father and to his own intimate knowledge of the importance to Ireland of the farming, dairying and cattle breeding industries, he had as a practical farmer, and in whatever way he could do it, helped the farmers by acting in an official capacity in their Union. That always gave him the feeling that he was first and foremost a farmer. In his new sphere of work in Dungarvan he would always keep in mind the great importance of farming and allied agricultural interests to Ireland, and would continue to be first a farmer and a friend and helper of the farmers and after that a bank official. It was, he assured them a great wrench for him to part with so many life-long friends in Cork City and county. He could assure them that he will always be interested in their welfare. The memory of the kindness of that night's function would abide with him as long as he lives (applause).

WATERFORD LADY TO MARRY BRITISH M.P.

Miss Doreen Christian Goff, daughter of the late Sir Herbert William Goff, Bart., Glenville, Waterford, is to marry Mr. Michael Wentworth Beaumont, Conservative M.P., for Aylesbury, on December 30. Miss Goff is an expert horsewoman and is a familiar figure at all the important Shows in Ireland. The marriage will take place quietly from Lord Donoughmore's seat, Knocklofty, Tipperary.

GOVERNMENT POLICY

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

At the Fianna Fall Ard-Fheis in Dublin, on Tuesday only one nomination had been received for President of the Organisation, and that nomination was Mr. de Valera (applause).

President de Valera, who received an enthusiastic reception, returned thanks for his re-election, and spoke for an hour and a quarter. He said the Government had to take decisions on matters which seemed to them best for the community as a whole, and some section of the people was bound to be adversely affected. Referring to a resolution regarding social credit, the President said that every body knew that the present system was not worked well. Some time ago he was shocked to find it was possible for a cinema to get a large loan and that it was not possible for an industry to get a large loan. His first inclination was to say: "Confound the bankers and those who control credits in that form." But he asked himself why was that? Banks would lend £90,000 to set up cinemas but would not lend such a sum to build some industry that could be made a success. It was not the banks that were responsible. It was because people would go to the cinemas, because people were prepared to spend their money and a portion of their time in order to get their amusement. Let them beware of the old plan of finding a scapegoat, and heaping upon him sins that did not belong to him. It was not the banks that were wrong, but the system. He wanted the Ard Fheis and the organisation to think calmly and not find fault with the Government on a matter of such vital importance. The Government was proceeding cautiously, setting up a Commission, representative of their people. When the Government got the findings of that Commission, it would examine them from an angle of the good of the people as a whole. The Government had shown in the past that they had the courage of their convictions. He had still an open mind with regard to monetary control.

It was humanly possible, the Government had carried out their promises. If there had been a change in any respect since they came into office, it was not because they were telling the people that they intended to do things that they did not mean to do, but because when in office they were able to get more detailed information about certain matters than when in Opposition. There was no change in regard to their policy concerning the Senate. The Senate was certainly going, as at present constituted. That was the last specific changes they had promised to do. Everything they could do would be aimed in the future, as it had been in the past to try and secure that State, and would have the freedom that the majority of the Irish people desired (applause). He could not see the majority of the Irish people in a position to get complete independence without wishing that independence to be in the Republican form.

In the economic sphere, Fianna Fail had promised that they would try to make the country as self-supporting as possible—reasonably, of course. The old jibe that the new factories were back lane factories was no longer able to get a laugh from anybody, no matter how they might be opposed to them. The farmers were getting the home market, and the young people capable of going into industry were getting employment in factories. That policy of course, had not been completed.

He was at one with anyone who said it was much better to find work for those unemployed than to give any form of assistance. What they wanted in order to get a scheme of public works going properly was to get a consciousness into their people that by giving a living wage, and not merely a dole to people who would be put into that in building roads, draining land, etc., that the extra they gave gave would be worth while.

Referring to his colleagues on the Executive Council, the President said each had only one mind—to serve the country to the best of his ability. If they did make mistakes, they were not made through wilful neglect of the people's interest, but through ordinary human weakness. People, he said, who had travelled through many countries and had visited this country, had confessed that in their opinion there was no country in the world at the present time better off than we were. He had listened recently to a broadcast on St. Andrew's Eve, setting out things that had been done by men of Scottish blood. He thought that on next St. Patrick's Day, should have a broadcast on the same description, setting out what had been done by Irishmen. Such a list would be far longer than that which had been accomplished by Scotland, which was a colony of their. They in this country had a nation to be proud of, and it should be the aim of everyone of them to try to make the nation in the present worthy of what its past had been. At Geneva he had said they were a distinct nation, and so they were. This nation would ultimately be as free as the people in this island wanted it to be. That was no wild dream.

They had seen efforts made to build up organisations of a different character. He believed they were exotic as far as this country was concerned. There was no national root for them in this country, and he was perfectly certain that no such organisation could exist for any length of time. There was no country in the world in which there was such liberty of opinion as there was here. The Government did not want to see people in prison, but if people tried to intimidate their neighbours and interfered with them by force, it was the Government's duty to prevent them from doing that. If the only way to prevent them was by sending them to prison they would have to go—though the Government was sorry for it. They wanted to see the young people in their movement, but there were some people advocating the Youth movement by which they wanted to exploit the youth. The youth were the most sacred trust of the country, and he hoped they would not allow themselves to be exploited. He would not like to see them made the tools of any individuals and used as instruments to carry out the ends of those individuals. He saw the greatest danger in any movement of that sort.

Referring to the case for the retention of land annuities, he appealed to the delegates to get people to realise that there was at least a good case, and that if there was any doubt, at least this country should get the benefit of it. There was one thing that had emerged, and that was that there was no longer a hope that this country could be crushed. The farmers had reacted magnificently. The people could look to the future with far greater confidence than at the last Ard Fheis. He had lost any doubts or fears he had that this country was going to be broken by those economic sanctions.

BONMAHON COPPER MINES

THREE APPLY FOR MINING RIGHTS

An application by two Englishmen and a Norwegian for the mining rights of eleven townlands in Co. Waterford has been lodged with the Free State Department of Industry and Commerce, which has directed the Mining Board to meet and consider the application on December 27.

The applicants named are Nils Erik Lenander Orkla, director of Lekken Verk, Norway; Arthur Broughton Edge, of Lynton Lodge, Rickmansworth, Herefordshire, described as a mining geologist; and Laurence A. Impey, of Great Kollright, Manor, Chipping Norton, Oxford.

They ask the right to mine for copper, lead, iron, iron-stone, cobalt, tin, antimony, bismuth, and any materials suitable for the manufacture of any kind of ware. The townlands specified in the application are Ballingarry, Ballyfaran, Ballynahilla, Brenan, Dunbrattin, Kilduane, Kilmurkin, Knickane, Rathague, Slevean, and Tankardstown.

Any persons claiming to have any interest in the minerals mentioned are notified to give evidence when the application is heard by the Mining Board.

PRESIDENT AND ECONOMIC WAR

"NO NEGOTIATIONS"

In the Dail on Wednesday, Mr. J. Keating, asked the Minister for External Affairs if, when negotiations were re-arranged for a settlement of the economic war and the other matters in dispute between the Governments of Britain and the Free State, he would inform the farmers of the Free State of such reopening of negotiations so that such of them as still had livestock and other farm produce to sell might have an opportunity of holding back till the abolition of the penal tariffs imposed by the British Government improved the prices for agricultural produce and livestock in the home market.

President de Valera said he had already told the Deputy definitely that no negotiations were in progress.

"I hope," said the President, "that no farmer will be tempted to speculate on the result of any negotiations which may at any time be entered into, and I hope especially that no farmers are now being circulated by the stories which are being current for some reason which I cannot understand. These rumours are without any foundation whatever."

WIDOWS AND ORPHANS

Dr. Ryan, replying on behalf of the Minister for Local Government, informed Mr. J. P. Pattison, that January 3, 1936, would be the first appointed day for the payment of non-contributory pensions for pre-Act widows and orphans under the Widows and Orphans Pensions Act, 1935.

The number of pensions under that Act received up to December 2, was 138,719. Thirty-three claims had been withdrawn. 5,020 had been determined, and 13,699 applications were awaiting decision. Up to the 2nd December, 318 applications for widows' pensions had been sanctioned for payment. No applications on behalf of orphans had been sanctioned. Applications by widows totalling 4,627, and 32 orphans' applications, had been rejected.

FOWL MARKET

At the Dungarvan Fowl market this week Turkeys sold at 9d. per lb. and geese 4d. to 5d. per lb; eggs 1s. 6d. per dozen.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES.

Important Development In The Bacon Factory

As will be seen by advt. in another column, the Cappoquin Bacon Factory will begin the purchase of porkers on next Monday, 9th inst., and will continue the purchase of same on every succeeding Monday until the end of the season.

Farmers should understand that Monday is the only day of the week on which they can be taken, and they should also remember that all animals must be delivered at the Factory not later than one o'clock each Monday. This is a most important development on the part of the Factory, which has hitherto confined itself to the purchase and killing of bacon pigs, and as this fine concern is now nearing the end of its 28th year of trading here, it is a healthy sign that it is now only expanding its activities in this important respect, and everyone interested in the success of this great industry will hope to see it still further expanding and developing its business in every branch as the years go by.

Mrs. Keane, wife of the popular founder of the Factory in 1908, and her son, Mr. R. L. Keane, Belleville Park, as two of the principal Directors have been paying close attention to the working of the Factory for many years, and have received invaluable assistance from Mr. James Lincoln, the courteous and experienced Manager, and it is a great tribute to their rare business ability that the concern has been kept going so successfully despite adverse conditions and keen competition from older firms, and we beg to warmly congratulate them on this latest proof of the reward of their efforts in still further developing the business of the only concern which has provided such welcome employment for a large staff of townspeople for well nigh 30 years.

The price of fat pigs which had been fixed at 52s. per cwt. had been fixed at 52s. per cwt. up to Nov., 30th has now been increased to 54s. per cwt. for first grade pigs from Dec., 1st with proportionate reductions for lower grades and these prices will continue until the middle of February.

No Dance Next Sunday Night

So as to avoid clashing with the C.Y.M.S. Concert, there will be no Practice Dance held in the Boathouse Hall on next Sunday night, but the usual dance will be held on the following Sunday night (and continued every future Sunday night until the end of the season. When the above announcement was made by Mr. James Daly, a member of the Rowing Club, in the course of last Sunday night's dance, it was greeted with sighs of despair by the ladies and vigorous groans by the members of the sterner sex present, which proved that the Sun day night dances are so popular that the patrons felt depressed at the very idea of having to sacrifice even one night's dancing, even under the exceptional circumstances explained to them.

It is a remarkable fact that although in many parts of the country to-day the people feel depressed and downcast over the sad plight in which they find themselves as a result of the economic war and subsidiary causes, such a feeling of depression has not yet permeated the atmosphere of Cappoquin and its surroundings, and this fact will be fully established both at the Concert on Sunday night, and the Race Dance the following Wednesday night, to say nothing of the dances and other entertainments to follow, which shows the stern stuff of which the young people here are made. Cappoquin's motto seems to be, "This time enough to bid the devil good-morrow when you meet him," and long may this fine spirit survive in our midst to chase dull care away and extract sunshine even out of the deepest gloom!

A Big Improvement

The new Post Office in the Main St., was officially opened for public business on last Saturday and Miss Mary Nugent, the new Postmistress, was warmly congratulated by all on the splendid arrangements which she has made for the comfort and convenience of the general public. The former Office was most unsuitable in some respects, the greatest defect being that the Telephone Box was situated just inside the entrance door to the office counter, and at right angles, so that confusion and collisions were all too frequent between the public, and many a "prayer" (unfit for publication) have we heard, and perhaps, uttered ourselves, over this clumsy and inconvenient arrangement.

All this is now changed, and Miss Nugent is to be complimented on the improved arrangements to be found in the new Post Office.

RIBBON BUILDING

Dr. Ryan, replying on behalf of the Minister for Local Government to Mr. Dillon, said the Town Planning Act, 1934, contained all necessary powers concerning ribbon building. It was not going on all over the country, as the question suggested.

ORIGINAL DIFFICULT TO READ

BLACKWATER FISHERIES.

At the usual monthly meeting of the Lismore or No. 4 Board of the Blackwater Fishery Conservators at Tallow, there attended Messrs. J. Kennedy, Chairman; E. E. Hey, T. G. Montgomery, W. Dunne, T. Murphy, W. O'Brien, Carey Joyce, W. O'Neill, W. Baldwin, Capt. R. Holroyd Smyth, Major Longfield, J. Kent, Messrs. T. Drohan, Clerk and Inspector and W. Buckley, Assistant Inspector, were also in attendance.

Awards to Bailiffs.

A letter was read from Department asking for a statement on the grounds upon which it was proposed to make the awards to bailiffs in each case, together with the records of the men in question, and asking why the matter was not dealt with in the fishery year during which the service of some of the men were apparently terminated, and also whether the total amount proposed to be paid had been provided for in the estimates and whether it would cause excess.

Major Longfield said that in view of the fact that the Board had reduced the bailiffs wages they thought it only fair to make amends by giving a bonus to those men who had done good work during the season. Did not the Guards get a portion of the fines imposed?

The Clerk said that a third of the fines was given into a fund from which the Guards received a portion. Hereupon, the members of the R.I.C. also got a share. The total amount involved was about £11.

Major Longfield—It seems very hard that the unfortunate bailiffs should get nothing. What is sauce for the goose ought to be sauce for the gander.

Conference and Conservators.

A letter was read from the Secretary of the Conference and Irish Fishery Conservators in connection with the annual Meeting to be held on the 12th prox.

On the proposition of Major Longfield the Chairman and Mr. R. Gore Annesley were appointed delegates.

Recent Convictions.

Some discussion took place on a recent fishery conviction at Kanturk, and a resolution was passed unanimously commending the action of Guards Sexton and Byrne in connection with the case.

The Clerk was directed to forward copy of the resolution to head quarters. The Department wrote stating that in the case of Christopher Brown who had been fined £10 and £1 cost at Fermoy for a breach of the Fishery Laws that no mitigation could be granted of the penalty and that the law must take its course.

December Meeting.

The Clerk said their next meeting would be Christmas Day and he suggested that they should hold a meeting on the 18th to enable the men to get their wages, as had been the custom.

This was unanimously agreed to.

Inquiries for Fishing.

The Clerk said he had received the following letter by Air Mail:—
P.O. North Joro,
Kenya Colony

Dear Sir,—I am looking for a stretch of salmon fishing on the Blackwater for March. Any information or particulars would be very welcome. I should require 2 rods, with no wading.

Yours faithfully,

R. J. Lathbury.
Mr. Hey hand in a similar letter from Ernest Morrison, North Hinchley, N. 12.

Suggested New Bye-Law.

Messrs. Barry, Sullivan and Co., Solicitors, wrote drawing the Boards attention to the unsatisfactory state of the law as regards the possession of fishing nets in the district. It was not necessary for them to stress the deprecation wrought by poachers with those nets. It was in their opinion, an absolute necessity for the protection of the river, the possession of fishing nets should be made unlawful. They enclosed for their information a draft Bye-law which they suggested ought to be passed to remedy the deficiency in the existing Law. They asked for instructions.

After some discussion, the question was adjourned to next meeting, the Clerk to convey certain suggestions to the solicitors with a view to improving the draft.

The Clerk said he believed that the bye-law would necessitate some kind of inquiry.

Cost of Hatcheries.

The Clerk read from a recent issue of the "Examiner" an extract from a report of a meeting of the Waterford Board of Conservators, including a letter from the Department to the effect that the Board could not spend any money on hatcheries.

The Clerk said they had been considering the advisability of extending their hatcheries at Mallow and Banteer and stocking them with ova from Lismore.

The Chairman—What might be the cost of the extensions?

The Clerk—About £1,000 (laughter).
The Chairman—That settles the matter, next business.

Replying to a query, the Clerk said that the hatcheries were doing very well, being stocked to the utmost and the river was teeming with spawning fish.

Mallow Factory.

Reply to Mr. Longfield, the Clerk said there seemed to be no deposit from the water in the neighbourhood of the

INSURANCE BILL IN THE DAIL

PLEA FOR A SELECT

Mr. Sean Lemass's eagerly awaited explanation of his drastic new insurance Bill affecting the property, livelihood, investments, and insurance business of people of the Free State and of the Irish interests of non-Irish companies was delivered to the Dail last week. Altogether about £400,000,000 is involved.

Moving the second reading, Mr. Lemass said that the purpose of the Bill was twofold. The first was to provide for the better regulation of insurance business and to secure more adequate protection for the insuring public; secondly, to assist Free State companies to obtain a position in which they command the utmost confidence of the public; and, finally, to secure that in due course the greater part, if not all, of the insurance business arising in the Free State would be placed with such companies.

The responsibilities on offices undertaking the business of life insurance were very onerous, and the State could not afford to be indifferent as to the manner in which they were performed. Policy-holders suffered very seriously if their funds were mismanaged or misapplied. Companies authorised to do life insurance should not, he said, be permitted to undertake other business.

To prohibit the practice of borrowing on the security of the assets representing life insurance fund, insurance companies would be required to furnish to the Minister more detailed information concerning their affairs than was contained in the accounts and returns hitherto furnished by them.

As a result the financial position of the companies could be more clearly disclosed and supervised, and better protection would be offered to the public.

It was proposed that he should get such information and explanation as would enable him to judge whether there were reasonable grounds for believing that a company was insolvent, and, if insolvent, the right to intervene and have the insolvent company wound up.

The Minister also said he would have power to fix the rates of premiums charged for any class of insurance other than life and industrial insurance.

He added that he would also have power to determine disputes between industrial insurance companies and their policy-holders. At present such disputes could be determined only in the courts, and the cost of proceedings made it difficult for the policy-holders to contest disputed claims.

The primary purpose of the measure, namely, the protection of the public, had been somewhat obscured in public criticism.

"The Government is vitally concerned," declared the Minister, "to insure that the growth of strong, stable, and properly conducted Irish offices will be fostered. It has given the matter very careful and prolonged consideration, and has arrived at the conclusion that the present Bill is the best means to that end, taking all factors into consideration."

The Minister revealed that he had intended originally to confine insurance business in the Free State to qualified Irish offices only, but said that after full consideration of all the factors he had come to the conclusion that this was not practicable or advisable in present circumstances.

The task of reversing the present position, in which a considerable proportion of the liquid wealth of the country went out of the Free State annually in life insurance premiums, was, however, a matter of building up an Irish life assurance company or companies so strong and so secure that no member of the public would have any hesitation in investing in the policies.

Referring to the suggestion that the Government should legislate to transfer compulsorily all life assurance business to Free State Companies from doing such business in the Free State or by a system of taxation, which would have the same effect, Mr. Lemass declared:—

"I may say at once that no Government could do that."

Mallow Factory, nothing but a slight discolouration.

Major Longfield said the factory authorities aimed at eliminating anything likely to do harm.

The Rates.
The Chairman asked how they stood as regards the rates.

The Clerk—Only middling.
Major Longfield—Are you hopeful of getting them in?

The Clerk—We are living in the proverbial hope (laughter). There are a number of decrees in the streets, but but it would appear there are others in before them.

Peal on River.
During a long discussion on the present conditions of the river it was stated that there was a large number of peal.

It might result in heavy losses to many of our people and produce a very serious financial crisis.

If this Bill produces the effects that are intended, then it may well be practicable," added Mr. Lemass "for some future Government to take that step."

The Minister denied that the Bill gave him power to make amalgamation compulsory. He had, he said, compulsory powers under part of the Bill, but they related only to the winding-up of insolvent companies.

Dealing with the suggestions that the amalgamation proposals would result in wholesale dismissals of staffs, Mr. Lemass said "It is my intention that persons who are dependent for their livelihood on insurance and who are affected by this measure will be fairly dealt with."

Mr. James Dillon (United Irish Party), Donegal, moved the proposal of Mr. Patrick McGilligan, asking the House to set up a Select Committee of experts to make recommendations before giving the measure a second reading.

The amalgamation means a large number of people in the business losing employment, he said.

He added that a position of the utmost gravity had been created as the result of the Government's interference. In a vigorous attack on the section of the Bill which empowered the Minister to settle disputes Mr. Dillon said that the Minister was endeavouring to substitute himself for the courts of law.

The Minister, he said, by the very nature of his office was a politician, and if this tendency of making a Minister judge jury, and executioner was allowed to develop in the country the gravest possible evils might accrue.

In a final plea to the Minister to set up the Select Committee Mr. Dillon declared that the insurance business was of such a complex and highly technical nature that he felt sure there were not more than a dozen members of the Dail who were capable of giving the measure the consideration it deserved.

The debate then adjourned.

ECONOMIC WAR NOT MENTIONED

OPENING AT WESTMINSTER

No reference to the Anglo-Saorstal dispute was made in the King's speech, which, owing to the death of Princess Victoria, was read by the Lord Chancellor, Lord Hailsham, at the opening of the British Parliament.

The State ceremonial in connection with the opening was cancelled.

FURNISHING TRADE DISPUTE

20 FIRMS INVOLVED

Twenty factories are now involved in the Dublin furnishing trade dispute.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

OFFICIAL FIGURES FOR OCTOBER, 1935.

The total number of persons (men, women and children in receipt of public assistance under the Poor Law on the last Saturday of October, 1935, was 102,148, which is 104 more than the previous month, and 1,192 less than on the corresponding day last year. The total is equivalent to 33.68 per 1,000 of the estimate population.

The number of persons in receipt of home assistance was 84,041, or 89 less than the previous month, and 995 less than on the corresponding day last year.

The average cost of home assistance was £11,686 per week, or £44 per week more than the previous month, and £243 higher per week than in October, 1934.

ON THE MEND—

The countless friends and well-wishers of Mrs. Thomas McCarthy (licensed vintner), Ballynaneen, will be glad to learn that this most estimable lady is now on the high road to complete recovery from her recent serious indisposition.

AN ANECDOTE—

This is the season of minor and major maladies, and medicos are constantly on the move. An anecdote concerning a Mid-Deise lady hypochondriac has come our way. She is wealthy and able to gratify the unquenchable propensity for professional advice about her imaginary ills. Her medical adviser tried in vain to dissuade her from the hallucinations she so sedulously nursed. But even when he remarked with a look of admiration, "What robust health you must enjoy in order to be able to stand all these complaints," she refused to be convinced. And the doctor is still sent for!

THE ESSE MAJOR COOKER is a continuous-burning heat storage Cooker designed to supplement the most modern range of an infinitesimal cost and will cater for the needs of big kitchens, where sudden or irregular meals are experienced. Its operation though simple and trouble free necessarily differs from any other range manufactured.

For small families a special model is manufactured at a much reduced price and the cost of fuel would not be more than £5 per year. We are prepared to instal them and give a full guarantee with every cooker installed. Special instalment system arranged if required.

Mulcahy's - Dungarvan

CAPPOQUIN DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.)

TRANSFER OF LICENCE.

Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, Solicitor, Lismore, applied for an ad interim transfer of the licence held by the late Mr. Wm. Walsh to his widow, Mrs. Mary Walsh, for the premises known as "Walsh's Hotel," Cappoquin.

Mr. M. F. Walsh, P.C. Cappoquin, examined by Mr. O'Gorman, stated that he was brother-in-law of Mrs. Mary Walsh, the applicant in this case, and she had been carrying on the business of the Hotel since her husband's death on October 31st.

Supt. Quinlan, Lismore, said there was no objection on the part of the Guards, and the transfer was accordingly granted.

An Unlicensed Gun

Supt. Walsh, Dungarvan, prosecuted Edmond Cooney, Carrigrohane, Cappagh, for carrying an unlicensed fowling piece on Sunday, 28th October.

Mr. A. Farrell, Solicitor, Dungarvan appeared for defendant.

The Supt. said that defendant held the usual 5/- permit to use the gun for the purpose of shooting vermin on his own land, but he had no licence to use it outside his own property, as he required a £2 licence to do so.

Guard Sheehan, Cappagh, stated that on Sunday, October 28th, he found the defendant with a loaded Shotgun (produced) about 6 miles from his own land for which he held no licence. He had, however, the usual Permit which authorised him to use the gun on his own land only.

In reply to Mr. Farrell, solicitor, witness said the gun was fully loaded at the time but it did not bear any traces of having been recently fired from.

In reply to further questions, witness said that defendant was in the company of some other men at the time, but all of these had full licences to carry guns.

Mr. Farrell, said he was pleading guilty on behalf of the defendant, who had previously held the usual £2 licence, but he did not renew it last year, as he did not intend to carry the gun outside his own farm. On the occasion in question, however, he had sold a gun-dog to one of the men the Guard found with him, and he was requested to accompany them for the purpose of trying the dog, and believing that the dog would work better if he had his gun with him, the defendant brought out the gun with the other men, but did not fire a single shot out of it. Under the circumstances he asked the Justice to treat the matter as a trivial offence and deal as leniently as possible with the defendant.

In reply to the Justice, Supt. Walsh said he was not applying for the forfeiture of the gun in this case, and defendant was let off with a fine of 10/-.

Supt. Walsh had a similar case against a man named Walsh from Cappagh, in respect of an offence committed on Sunday, September 17th.

Guard Growley, Cappagh, gave evidence of finding defendant with a fowling-piece off his own land, for which he had no licence, beyond the ordinary 5/- Permit to use the gun on his own land.

Witness said that he had heard a shot fired before he met the defendant.

Defendant, who was not professionally represented, now explained that he held three farms, and he was only going from one farm to another when the owner of the land through which he was passing asked him to fire one shot at a rabbit.

The Supt. said he did not apply for the forfeiture of the gun in this case either, but he asked that a fairly substantial fine be imposed.

Defendant was fined 20/-.

No Plates on Motor Lorry

Sergt. C. Dalton, Cappoquin, summoned Peter Henley, Tallow, for using a motor lorry, the property of his father, James Henley, at Cappoquin on November 8th to which no Merchandise Plates had been affixed, although a merchandise licence had been taken out for the lorry.

James Henley, owner of the lorry, appeared and told the Justice that his sons had brought the necessary £1 to the Chief Supt. in Cork on several occasions for the purpose of getting the plates, but they were unable to get them, and only on this very day one of his sons had again gone to Cork with the money to pay for the plates, and the moment he got them they would be fixed on the lorry.

Supt. Quinlan, Lismore, had a charge against Mrs. Anne Henley, wife of James Henley, for allowing her motor lorry to be used for the carrying of goods for hire without having the necessary Merchandise licence.

Guard Devinnay, Cappoquin, stated that on Oct. 25th he found the lorry being driven by Peter Henley, son of defendant who had 27 tankards of milk which he was taking to the Cappoquin Creamery. When he questioned the driver he admitted that they had no merchandise licence for the lorry.

James Henley stated that this lorry had been taken off the road since they were fined at the last Lismore Court, and it look now as if his sons would have nothing to do only draw the Dole, owing to the way they were deprived of their employment.

The Justice told Henley that he should remember that he was in a Court of Justice now, and he would not be allowed to make any speeches here about the Dole or other matters.

Mr. Henley—I'm sorry, sir.

The Justice said as he had already fined the defendants both at Lismore and Tallow in connection with this lorry, he would deal lightly with them on this occasion by fining them only 7/6 to cover all the cases.

No Lights on Motor Lorry.

Guard Moloney, Cappoquin, summoned James Byrne, Loughmore, Dungarvan, for driving a motor lorry after lighting-up time without having either a front or rear light. The Guard said the lorry was the property of K. Williams and Co., Dungarvan.

Defendant did not appear, and the Justice said he hoped K. Williams and Co. would pay the fine which he would impose, as he considered this a rather serious class of offence.

Fines amounting to £1 in all were then imposed.

Wandering Animals.

Guard Devinnay, Cappoquin, summoned Wm. Lyons, Corraleshe, for allowing a pony to wander on the public road.

Defendant said he had the pony tethered with chains in a field, but the animal broke over the fence without his knowledge.

The Justice—it must be a very bad fence if a pony in chains was able to get over it.

Defendant was fined 1/-.

Sergt. Dalton, Cappoquin, had a similar charge against Patrick O'Shea, Affane, and he was also fined 1/-.

No Lights on Bicycles.

Guard Sheehan, Cappagh, summoned Terence O'Brien, Aglish, for having no head light and no reflector on his bicycle, and he was fined 2/6, and 1/-, respectively.

Guard Thorne, Cappoquin, v. John Greehy, Lismore. No light on bike, 2/6.

Do. v. Agnes Foley, Ballinwillling, same offence, 1/6. Sergt. Dalton, Cappoquin, v. Cornelius Smith, Ballygown, no light and no reflector, 2/- and 1/-.

Guard Moloney, Cappoquin, v. John Nugent, Ballylin, Lismore, same offences, 1/6 and 1/-. Do. v. Thomas Curran, Lismore, same offences. Defendant told the Justice that he and his son were cycling from Dungarvan, and he gave his lamp to the young fellow, as it was a bright moonlight night, and they had so much of God's light that night that it was almost a shame to light a lamp, (laughter).

Defendant was fined 1/6 in all.

Do. v. Michael Moore, Ballysaggart, Lismore, no light on bicycle.

Guard Moloney said in this case the defendant tried to ride away when he spoke to him, and he had to run after him to catch him and get his name.

Defendant said he had been in Dungarvan that evening and intended to be back before lighting-up time, but his bicycle got punctured on the road and this delayed him.

He denied that he tried to get away from the Guard, as he was riding very slowly at the time.

He was fined 3/6.

A large number of similar cases were listed at the suit of Guard John O'Mahony, Cappoquin, but Supt. Quinlan said the complaint was sick and he applied to have them adjourned to the next Court.

All the cases in which the defendants did not appear were adjourned to the January Court, the Justice saying that there would be no Court held in December owing to the Christmas holidays.

Richard Scanlan, Millstreet, and James McGrath, Modeligo, were the only two defendants to appear, and they were let off with a fine of 1/- in each case.

USE OF POTATOES IN PIG FEEDING

In pig-feeding tests in Scotland an effort has been made to use potatoes to the fullest possible extent. The young pigs received meals only until they were eating up to 2½ lbs. per head per day. This stage was reached at about 12 weeks old. After that time no additional meal was given, but as the appetite increased, boiled or steamed potatoes were offered on an increasing scale of 1 lb. per head per day each week. In some cases pigs had eaten up to 14 lbs. of potatoes each day. On this system about one ton of potatoes would produce three pigs of bacon weight. The quality of the carcasses was in no way affected by this system of feeding.

"A COUNTER CLAIM."

Christmas is coming! Entering a certain shop one day this month your simple scribber saw no signs of the proprietor. I rapped the counter, and, to my surprise, he popped up from behind it. "Sorry," he said, blushing guiltily, "I just been fixing this engine." The dear man, in other words, had been playing trains in his spare time! He usually confines his activities to the sale of cigarettes, snuff and sweets, but at Xmas delves into the toy business, maybe because it is a lucrative one, but more likely, I should say, because he himself just loves all the funny little toys which Santa Clause will soon be demanding.

THE FERRET

"Mise hocht fein" was ferretting out some information, and I was surprised to find myself among a crowd of others watching a cage of ferrets labelled "The busiest workers in all Waterford," or words to that effect. It never occurred to me before that there is an active and continuous market for ferrets, and that the supply is not always equal to the demands. Yet such is the case. And this is the reason. The ferret is so formed that it can tunnel its way about anywhere, and it is indispensable to the hunter of rabbits. By the way rabbits are now being sold and bought at Kilmacshommes at 6d. each.

Farragher, O.S.A., John Arthur, youngest son of Mrs. Cartwright and the late W. E. Cartwright, Mountain View, Dungarvan, to Madeleine, elder daughter of Mrs. Weeks, and the late F. A. Weeks, Abbeyside.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT Mrs. Stack, Church St., Dungarvan, begs to return grateful thanks to all who sent messages and letters of sympathy and Mass Cards in her recent bereavement and ask them to accept this acknowledgment of same.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

ARRANMORE FUND

As a result of the collection in Dungarvan and Abbeyside on Sunday last Mr. O'Meara, Town Clerk, has forwarded £80 to the trustees of the Arranmore Fund in aid of those who suffered in the recent disaster.

Mr. A. Flynn, Secretary, Carrick-on-Suir Dramatic Society forwarded £15 to the same fund, the result of a performance and dance.

VALUE OF LAND

On Wednesday Messrs. Hayes and Sons, Auctioneers, had a most successful auction when they put up for sale a farm of land for the reps. of the late Mr. Patk. Curran, Ballycullane, containing 41 acres, 3 rods, 28 perches, held at an annuity of 17 8s.

After spirited competition the farm was knocked down to Mr. James McGrath, Drumshing, at £510 and auction fees. Messrs. J. F. Williams and Son, solicitors, had carriage of sale.

COLLIGAN 45 DRIVE

The finals in the above Drive will be played at Coolnasmear school on Sunday next 8th inst., at 2 p.m.

AGRICULTURAL INSTRUCTOR

The Appointments Commissioners have appointed Mr. D. Hurley, B.Agr., Sc., as Agricultural Instructor for Co. Waterford.

THE REVOLT AGAINST CAPITALISM

On Friday next, 13th inst., at the Town Hall, Dungarvan, Professor Busteded, M.A., will lecture on the Revolt against Capitalism and all who wish to know all about modern movements in Russia, Germany, America and Italy should be present. The Lecture is under the auspices of the Co. Waterford Libraries Committee, and we hope there will be a big attendance to hear the distinguished Lecturer discourse on such an interesting and absorbing topic.

FIRE IN DUNGARVAN

On Wednesday night a fire broke out in Mrs. Walsh's premises at Main St., at the time the League of Youth Dance was in progress in the Town Hall. Guards on duty outside discovered the fire before it had made much headway. A large fire extinguisher was provided in the Town Hall by Mr. James Veale and this being operated on the fire succeeded in putting it out before any damage was done. The early detection of the fire prevented what might otherwise have been serious consequences.

ABBEYSIDE BAZAAR

A Bazaar under the auspices of the United Parishes of Abbeyside, Ballinroad and Garranbane, and under the presidency of Very Rev. N. Dunphy, P.P., and Rev. M. Power, C.C., will be held in the Town Hall, Dungarvan on Wednesday Dec. 18th, 1935, commencing at 8 p.m. A big assortment of use ful and valuable prizes will be offered in the several stalls and all patrons will in addition be able to regale themselves with all the latest games. On Tuesday evening 17th inst., and also on Wednesday evening 18th., there will be parades through the town followed by a pyrotechnic display.

Admission to hall will be 6d., and that will entitle all present to participate in a draw for a valuable hamper. The draw for wireless set, Case of Cutlery, Tea Service, etc., will also take place.

LEAGUE OF YOUTH DANCE

A dance under the auspices of the League of Youth was held in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on Wednesday night. The attendance was small but the enjoyment was tip top. The music was excellent and the catering was all that could be wished for. The arrangements were perfect. General O'Duffy, arrived during the dance and was heartily welcomed by those present.

COMING DANCE

The Dungarvan Literary Club will hold their Fourth Annual Dance on Wednesday January 22nd., 1936. Full details later.

DICKENS LEATHER CO., LTD.

Work in connection with the laying out of the Dickens Leather Co., Ltd., Dungarvan, is proceeding at full speed at the Company's premises at Cody's Quay. Mr. Reginald Dickens, the Managing Director, is in charge, and he is seeing that no time is lost in having the Factory made ready to start operation at an early date.

DUNGARVAN SPORTS CLUB

The usual weekly practice dance will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 10th., subject to the consent of the U.O.C.

PACT PROLONGED

TRADE BETWEEN IRELAND AND GERMANY

The economic relations between Germany and the Irish Free State of January 1935 have been prolonged until March 31, 1936.

Carthage O'Donnell, Main Street, Lismore, who died at his residence on Friday evening, Nov. 29th., 1935, fortified by the rites of the Holy Church. Deceased had carried on an extensive business in Lismore for a considerable number of years, but his health failing him he had to retire, and he died as he lived a truly exemplary Catholic.

He was beloved both in the town and country by all who came in contact with him for his kindly cheerful manner, and his absolute integrity in all his dealings. We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to his bereaved brothers and sisters and immediate relatives. The remains were removed from his late residence on Saturday evening to St. Carthage's Cathedral, where they were received by Rev. T. O'Gorman, C.C., Lismore, Rev. T. Murphy, C.C., Rev. R. Power, C.C., do.

The funeral, which took place to the Old Cemetery, Lismore, revealed in a most striking manner the sorrow occasioned by his death. The chief mourners were:—John O'Donnell, Lismore, and Frank O'Donnell, (brothers); Ellen and Jane O'Donnell (sisters); Celia and Carthage O'Donnell (niece and nephew); Mrs. F. O'Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cahill (relatives).

LISMORE COURSING CLUB

Don't forget the 45 Drive on Sunday night at the Town Hall, Lismore. Come and win something worth talking about.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL

HARBOUR DUES.

QUESTION OF COLLECTION. PRESENTATION TO PLUCKY RESCUER.

Mr. P. J. O'Gorman, P.C. (Chairman) presided at the meeting of Youghal Urban Council. Also present—Messrs. E. D. Condon, M. Ahern, W. O'Sullivan, R. Savage, T. Beausang, D. McCarthy, R. Power, T. K. Keane, Mr. Lynch, J. N. R. Macnamara, Mr. Cashman, R. C. Farrell, Vice Chairman; E. P. Lynch, Capt. O'Connell, Mr. Carroll, Harbour Master, and J. E. Farrell, Collector, were also in attendance. The Secretary read Mr. Power's notice of motion, requesting the Harbour Master to resign his position under the Board, or his outside position. If he selected the latter, he (Mr. Power) would move that he be appointed Harbour Master and Collector, his salary to be increased from £80 13s. 4d. to £100 per annum. Mr. Power questioned Mr. Farrell about sending a solicitor's letter to Captain Hagan's employers demanding payment of Harbour dues, and asked if there were two Captains Hagan. Mr. Farrell said he did not know, and Mr. Carroll said there were two brothers. Mr. Power said Mr. Farrell also got the solicitor to write to him about dues. Mr. Farrell—You refused point blank to pay. Replying to a question, Mr. Farrell said he took the items of dues from the Harbour Master's sheets. The Chairman—The Clerk wrote to Capt. Hagan for particulars, but got no reply. In the circumstances I had nothing to put before a meeting. Mr. Power said there were others besides Captain Hagan. Mr. Lynch thought Mr. Farrell ought to have acquainted the Board before getting a solicitor to write to the owners. The Collector said he acted as he had done for the past forty years. Mr. Power—Mr. Carroll, when do you send those sheets to the Collector? The Harbour Master—Every fortnight. The Vice Chairman said it ought to be done more frequently, as a vessel might sail in the meantime. Mr. Savage asked was there any trouble from the Captain before the solicitor wrote. The Chairman—Not that I am aware of. Mr. Lynch asked was the Collector entitled to hand official receipt books to outsiders to collect dues. The Chairman said that had been done to facilitate captains. Mr. Lynch said that would not stand fire for a half-second. After a prolonged interrogation by Mr. Power regarding Capt. Hagan's and his own accounts, the Harbour Master and Collector withdrew. Board Views. Mr. Power said he did not want to victimise the Harbour Master, but he was there in the interest of the ratepayers, and he was moving that the Harbour Master be appointed whole-time officer and Collector. Mr. Forrest asked if the Harbour Master and Collector had an office, and the discussion again turned on Captain Hagan's dues. Mr. Keane said that nobody seemed to speak to the notice of motion. Mr. Power thereupon proposed his notice of motion. If he were beaten it would not rest there. Mr. Lynch seconded. Mr. Savage supported the motion, not that he wished to do the Harbour Master any injury, but to put his job on a business footing. Mr. Macnamara said the motion raised serious issues. The chief witness to the prosecution was absent. There was no denying there was some negligence regarding Capt. Hagan's dues, but that was the first complaint during a long record. Therefore, he thought that motion rather drastic, and he could not support it. Mr. Power—Do you think any man engaged in a whole time job can serve as Harbour Master in the meantime? The Chairman—That is not a question for Mr. Macnamara. Mr. Power—I put it to any member—you can't serve two masters. Mr. Lynch said the Harbour Master was not losing his job—they were improving it. The Chairman—Is there anybody being victimised? Mr. Power—Yes, if you call it that—the Collector will lose his job. The Vice-Chairman said there seemed to have been some negligence on the part of the staff, but the proposition was altogether too drastic. The remedy suggested was too expensive in view of the low state of their finances. If the sheets were given to the Collector on the arrival of vessels, it would facilitate the collection. He proposed that they make no change. Mr. Keane, seconded. Mr. Whelan said although there had been some negligence he would not go to the length suggested by Mr. Power. Both offences were of very long standing, and the man that never made a mistake never did anything. A remand might meet the case instead of the drastic course suggested. Capt. Watson agreed with Mr. Whelan. Mr. Power said that was not a matter of party, but a question of handling the ratepayers' money.

Open poll, three voted.—For the amendment—Messrs. Macnamara, Farrell, Watson, Keane, Whelan, McCarthy, Cashman, Ahern, Condon, and the Chairman—14. Against—Messrs. Savage, Daly, Forrest, Beausang, Lynch, Power and O'Sullivan—7. Mr. Power—There is a touch of consistency about the voting. The Chairman—On both sides. Mr. Lynch proposed a vote of thanks to Capt. Hagan for his action in the matter. Mr. Beausang seconded. Mr. Savage asked to have the proposition unanimous. After a short discussion this was agreed to. Harbour Master's Explanation. The Harbour Master appeared before the meeting, and having asked for permission to make a personal explanation, said that the Press reports of the previous meetings left some people under the impression that he was lacking in his duty as Harbour Master. He would like to contradict that. It went so far that he understood his position was being canvassed for. There had been no charge against him, and in all fairness that should get publicity also. Mr. Power—What are your duties? The Chairman—Don't answer the question. Mr. Carroll asked for permission to make a personal statement, and he has made it. The Collector also entered the room, and some interchanges ensued between him and Mr. Power regarding alleged unfair pressure on certain ratepayers by the Collector. The ordinary business of the Council was then taken up. Plucky Rescue. Mr. Thos. Collins, The Mall, attended to receive the parchment certificate of the Royal Humane Society for bravery. The Chairman said the Council were very glad to pay that tribute to young Collins for his plucky act in rescuing young Downes from drowning last August. Eye-witnesses had held him that he had acted a brave man's part (applause). As representing the town, it afforded him (the Chairman) great pleasure to present him with the certificate. Mr. Power said that Collins had the heartiest good wishes of the Council, who all appreciated his brave act. Mr. Macnamara said it gave him great pleasure in complimenting young Collins for his brave act, the latest but, he was sure, not the last of a long list of similar acts. Mr. Collins returned his sincere thanks for all their kind remarks. He only did what he deemed the duty of any man (applause). The report of the committee appointed to wait on Mr. W. J. Verlin, solr., regarding the boundary wall between his place and the field on which the Council had erected 28 houses to contribute £85 towards the erection of a wall, etc., between, at an estimated cost of £65. On the proposition of Mr. Macnamara, the report of the committee was adopted, an amendment by Mr. Lynch that Mr. Verlin should go fifty-fifty, not being seconded. A letter was read from Supt. Kelly, Middleton, stating that the local Guards would parol the front of the Presentation Convent Schools in the morning and afternoon, to prevent children rushing across the road in front of motors. Letters were read from the Northern and Royal Exchange Insurance Companies repudiating any liability for the payment of remuneration to the members of the local fire brigade, who assisted in limiting or extinguishing recent fires and referring them to the insured parties. The Chairman and other members condemned in very strong terms the action of the companies in question. They said that the men had run great risk in saving the companies perhaps thousands of pounds, and that was their thanks. The Clerk was directed to make inquiries as to what had been done in other centres. A resolution was received from the City of Cork Vocational Committee in favour of the use of home-manufactured bricks in the erection of public buildings. On the proposition of Mr. Whelan, seconded by Mr. Power, the resolution was unanimously adopted. Mr. Power said that Youghal could boast of having the best brick in Ireland made locally. A circular was read from the Department regarding the recruitment of labour on unemployment schemes. The Chairman said that it appeared from the circular that they had nothing to do with the section of men. It was all in the hands of the Labour Exchange. Street Trading. Messrs. Hodnett, solrs., wrote stating that they had heard from the Department of Justice, in connection with the proposed bye-laws to deal with street trading compulsorily. It would appear that it would not give the Council any power to interfere. In the circumstances, it was for the Council to say whether it would be worth while going to the expense of adopting the Act in question. It was decided to take no further action for the present. Mrs. S. Hurley, Esplanade Hotel, Strand, submitted plans of her proposed extensions. Mr. Power said that Mrs. Hurley had hoodwinked the Council before, and she was trying it again. On the proposition of Mr. McCarthy, the plans were referred to the Deputy Town Surveyor, and if he didn't ap-

JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT.

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, D.J.

CIVIL BILLS

A number of undefended Civil Bills in which Messrs. W. R. Hodnett, T. K. Keane and J. N. R. Macnamara, solicitors, appeared for the plaintiffs were first disposed of. Daly v. McCarthy. This was an adjourned case of overholding. Mr. Macnamara for defendant. Mr. Macnamara said that all the rent and cost had been paid up to date. Plaintiff said he wanted the house for his own use. The Justice—You don't want the house to live in? I don't, but I want to stop her in it. The Justice said that under the Rent Act plaintiff could only get the house for his own occupation. The rent having been paid, he could not grant plaintiffs application. The case was dismissed. Road Transport Case. In the adjourned case of Supt. Kelly v. Thomas Long and the Glashmore Creamery, for an offence under the Road Transport Act. Mr. Hodnett, for defence, said the Justice was good enough to adjourn the case to enable him to look into the point about the milk. He was afraid that his contention that milk was not merchandise would hardly hold water. The Justice—Don't use too much water laugher. Mr. Hodnett said they had forwarded application signed by 28 farmers from the district concerned asking the Minister to grant Long a licence to carry their milk to Glashmore, but he had refused. In the circumstances he could not push the case farther. It only showed that little credence was to be given to the fairy tale picture of the happy condition of the Irish farmer, as depicted by a Deputy recently. In addition to all their troubles, their means of transporting their milk to the creamery had been taken from them. The Justice said he had nothing to do with that aspect of the matter. Reply to the court, Mr. Hodnett said that his client had discontinued carrying the milk, and they were endeavouring to make other arrangements. In the circumstances, he asked the Justice to deal leniently with the case. Long was fined 5/- and the Creamery 1/-. Guard Smyth, Killeagh, charged David Ahearn, Gortmagappal, labourer, with the non attendance of his son at school. Complainant said the boy was 12½ and lived 2½ miles from the school. He was in the 4th class. The mother said he refused to go to school. Mrs. Ahearn said she had to keep him at home. She had five others going to school. Fining Ahearn 1/5, the Justice said that if the boy refused to go to school he would be sent to an Industrial School. T. FLYNN & SON. FAMILY BUTCHER. SQUARE, DUNGARVAN. USEFUL TIPS

The present trend in milk and butter prices makes it imperative to eliminate every possible source of waste or inefficiency in production, and as teat and udder troubles occur chiefly among cows in milk, the heavy yielding animals being the most susceptible, losses from these diseases may be very serious, especially as they may be not only temporary but even permanent. The same attitude to adopt in all udder troubles is to look upon them all as contagious and to deal with them as a possible channel of infection, for even cases of simple teat injury caused by accidents may be the starting point of infection and may develop seriously. Teat injuries must be dealt with according to their nature, but under all circumstances strict cleanliness and antiseptic measures must be followed. As so often happens with teat injuries, a milk syphon must be used, but it should always be sterilised properly, is one of the most fruitful sources of udder trouble following on teat injury. Teats which have weak sphincter muscles and which allow the milk to leak out of the teat when the udder is full—which means there is frequently a drop of milk hanging to the end of the teat—are very liable to teat and udder inflammation. Then, again, rough milking may injure the teat and start inflammation. Accident must be treated according to the nature of the accident, but all sore or swollen teats should be washed carefully before milking or stripping with some warm water, mild non-irritant disinfectant, and after milking they should be dried and rubbed over with boracic acid ointment. A separate milker should handle all cases of sore teats or udders. Pressure should be relieved by stripping the udder frequently. Writing on the subject in "The Farmers Weekly" (South Africa), Mr. S. B. Woollatt, F.R.C.V.S., pointed out that there are three main channels of infection of the udder, namely, through the teat, through the skin (abrasions, wounds, etc.); and by the blood of lymphatic vessels. Simple infection of the udder is most commonly experienced with heavy milking cows in robust condition, lacking in exercise. Cows with big fleshy udders are more subject to it than others. It is a condition brought about chiefly from the fact that very heavy milkers have been brought to a more or less artificial state. The udder functions abnormally, and it starts very often to function before the time of parturition, when no relief is given. Apart from the danger of congestion, an udder in this state is far more liable to injury. The congestion must be relieved, and this is best done by massage, rubbing in of camphorated oil and frequent stripping to relieve pressure in the milk sinuses. This must be done even before the cow calves, if the state of the udder demands it. Simple congestion of this kind is due to an abnormal activity of a more or less artificial organ and must not be confused with congestion, which may be acute and is the forerunner of an acute septic inflammation of the udder, which may occur at any period during lactation. Inflammation of the udder—mastitis or garget, as it is commonly known—has its starting point in one or more quarters of the organ usually in one quarter, and, as before stated, it may be due to infection through the teat skin or vessels. The first signs of the trouble are often a little blood in the milk or a sore and swollen teat. If acute and extensive, the quarter may be from the outset hot, hard and painful, or the whole udder may be involved, when the cow shows marked sickness, being feverish, with a staring coat and being off her feed and sometimes constipated. In many cases laxatives and febrifuges should be given, as well as treating the udder with fomentations, massage and the rubbing in of camphorated oil, the affected quarters in particular being stripped constantly. If the udder is large and at all pendulous, it should be suitably suspended and protected. In all cases, keep from contact with the cold floors or ground. The cow should be isolated and a separate attendant provided. The material from the affected quarters should be carefully collected and destroyed. It is a very wrong practice to milk this highly infectious material on to the floor of the cowshed. Camphor is very good for all udder troubles. It is given in doses of two to three drachms dissolved in oil or spirit, and given diluted in gruel. In bad cases give it two to three times daily. Camphor is secreted through the udder and acts on the cause or garget. It may be given in linseed oil, which is good as a laxative as well as being nourishing. Linseed oil, however, should only be given once daily in moderate doses, or excessive purging will result. Linseed oil in itself, beyond acting as a laxative and being nourishing in proper doses, does not effect the course of mastitis. The safest rule in dealing with teat and udder troubles is to look upon all cases as infectious and treat them accordingly, and also to look upon all cases of old udder trouble with suspicion. Experience shows that where a herd is self-contained, that is, where no outside females are brought in, udder troubles, as with many other troubles, tend to disappear and to become less virulent, due to an immunity being acquired. In any case, it is unwise to introduce into a herd any female with a suspicion of old udder trouble existing.—Farmers' Gazette.

MILK YIELDS AND BODY MEASUREMENTS. SOME AMERICAN OBSERVATIONS. Some interesting observations on the relationship between the measurements of different parts of cows and their milk-producing ability are given in the "Journal of Dairy Science," by Mr. F. H. Garner, as a result of recordings in the milk yields and taking detailed measurements of 461 pedigree and grade Holstein cows in Minnesota, U.S.A., recently. With regards to measurements indicating mammary development, Mr. Garner points out that the blood leaves the udder by six different veins, and that only two of these, the so-called milk veins, are visible. Where the veins turn suddenly upwards, some six to twelve inches from the forelegs, the milk-veins are produced. The question arose as to whether the milk-veins were larger on bigger cows, not because of higher milk yields, but to be proportionate to the frame of the cows. It was found that the size of the cow did not materially influence the size of the milk-well. Measuring size by the height at the hocks, and holding this figure constant, a positive correlation was obtained between size of milk-wells and milk yields. Mr. Garner concludes that the total area of the milk-well will take the tip of the middle finger of a normal man, and although one would never attempt to judge a cow by one point alone, the size of the milk-wells is probably the best single point indicating milk-producing ability. He believes that there may be a close relationship between the size of the milk-wells in parents and the milking capacity of their daughters. Mr. Garner also found that it was important that a cow should have a long body, the relationship here being not much, but nevertheless significant. He found that the height of the hind-quarters of the cow was more highly correlated with milk yield than the height of the fore-quarters. The coefficient of correlation between yield and width at the hocks was also significant, and bears out the opinion of judges who prefer a cow with a large pelvis girdle. With regard to constitution, a significant correlation was obtained between the circumference of chest and milk yield, but not between depth and width of chest, though the writer concludes that these last two measurements could not be so accurately made as the first. "Capacity" was measured by the width of barrel at the thirteenth rib, and by the circumference of barrel and again a significant correlation was obtained.

G. A. A. NATIONAL HURLING LEAGUE. WATERFORD v. GALWAY.

Galway, 2-3; Waterford, 1-0.

At Gort on Sunday Galway won over Waterford by 2-3 to 1-0. The winners had good service from some of the more seasoned players in Gill and Harney, but they had a good sprinkling of youth, all of whom were prominent.

At centre-half back Burke starred, but Deely, Donoghue and Leahy were absent. Waterford after their long morning journey, played well, McGrath, Greaney, Goode, Ryan, Skeehan, and Doyle being outstanding. Tom O'Meara reappearance in the Galway citadel lent confidence to the home hurlers.

Reilly's goal in the second half, which put the issue beyond doubt, was a neat effort from Gill's sideline pucker. Reilly hooked the ball over his head into the net.

For ten minutes, owing to a high cross-wind both teams were feeling their way. Gill's free, when Keely was fouled, reached Icklam, who made no mistake with his shot to give Galway first blood—a neat goal. Fast play with exchanges even followed a drive from Gill came up field, and Harney improved it, but McGrath and Hogan beat of the Galway raid.

Again Gill sent up and Icklam sent over the bar. Burke beat off a Waterford's innings. Mahony placed Murphy, who crashed home a goal. Harney was prominent in a Galway raid, but Ryan saved well.

Greaney's free 40 yards was cleared by Burke. A free to Galway by Gill was cleared by McGrath. Clarke beat off a Waterford raid, and then Greaney's 70 went wide. Galway led at half-time by 1-1 to 1-0.

Galway dominated the play in the second half, but Waterford fought hard to the end, and at times it looked as if they might pull the game out of the fire.

A great point by Harney from Gill's sideline pucker showed great judgement in the high wind. Ryan in Waterford's goal, saved brilliantly from Icklam's drive. The Gills combined well to stem Waterford attacks, and the last score of the match came when Reilly had a goal for Galway.

HOME-GROWN CEREALS. Fifty Per Cent To Be Used In Maize Meal Mixture. MINISTER'S ORDER

Having regard to the heavy yield of oats and barley of the present season's crop, the Minister for Agriculture has made an Order under the Agricultural Produce (Cereals) Act, 1933, requiring registered maize millers, as from the 9th December, 1935, to increase from 33 1/3 per cent. to 50 per cent. the proportion by weight of home-grown cereals to be included in maize meal mixture.

Maize millers who use oat kernels only in the manufacture of maize meal, mixture will, as from the date mentioned, be required to incorporate 35 per cent. by weight of such kernels in that mixture.

The Minister has also made special arrangements with registered dealers in oats and barley who are participating in the oats and barley purchasing scheme brought into operation last month which should enable all stocks of oats and barley as yet unsold to be taken off the hands of growers at the prices already announced.
