DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL

MEAT INSPECTION

WATER IMPROVEMENT SCHEME

Mr. M. Morrissey, Chairman, presided at the weekly meeting of the above on Friday. Also present—Messrs. J. J. Crotty, J. Dahill, J. Mansfield, P. Byrne, T. McCarthy, Vice-Chairman; P. Quann and J. F. Foley.

Payments

Payments on the General A/c. amounting to £22 12s. 6d., and on the Harbour A/c. to £1 17s. 6d. were passed.

Loughmore Repairs

Mr. McCarthy asked whether the repairs needed at Mr. P. Lyons' house were carried out.

The B.S. said he made every effort to get a plasterer during the week but failed. He had a promise from one plasterer that he would go to the work on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. McCarthy said he hoped that a good job would be done and not on that house alone but on any house requiring repairs.

Mr. Dahill said it would make things easier for the members if the repairs were carried out.

Mr. Byrne said there would be a very big job in Loughmore one of these days on the kerline, it is getting very bad and is dangerous to walk on it now.

Mr. McCarthy said that is not a matter for this Council now. He could safely say that there was not a man sent up there since the roads were handed over.

Mr. Mansfield referred to the condition of the Council house at the corner of St. Bridget's Terrace and Mitchell street.

The Chairman said he raised that question before, and referred to the fact that two Council houses were idle while numbers of people are looking for houses.

Mr. McCarthy held that because one tenant was in hospital and the other tenant on holidays that it did not mean the houses were vacant. The rent is paid up.

Chairman—Eighteen months on holidays with no attention to the house. That house will now be requiring a lot of repairs.

Mr. Crotty said that the tenant should see that the house was looked after, fires lighted in it, etc.

The Clerk was directed to write again to the tenant.

Virginian Creeper

Mr. Crotty called attention to the Virginian creeper at Guard McGee's house, Sheares street. It is gone over the roof and will damage and lift the slates.

The B.S. was directed to see Guard McGee with a view to getting the creeper cut about a foot under the eave.

Milk Tests

Mr. R. P. Byrne, reported on two samples of milk taken from Mr. Wm. O'Donnell, Youghal Road, and the Christian Brothers, both of which were satisfactory.

Eleven Months' Letting

Mrs. Keohan, Youghal Road, wrote offering 40/- for the Council field at Youghal Road for 11 months' and asking the Council to grant it for three 11 months' terms.

On the proposition of Mr. Byrne, seconded by Mr. Dahill, the offer was accepted for the three terms.

Mr. Byrne stating that only for the fact that Mrs. Keohan had the field it would only be a commonage.

Connecting With Sewer

Mr. M. Whelan, wrote asking the Council's permission to connect a house at the top of Fair Lane with the sewer.

The B.S. said the only connection he could make would be with the Mitchell street sewer if the fall is sufficient. It would not be right to allow him connect with the Fair Lane sewer, as permission is already refused for that.

Tender For Manure

A tender from Mr. J. Foley, Kilossara, at £3 for 3 heaps of manure at the depot was referred to Mr. Walsh, S.S.O.

Housing Scheme

Messrs. Doyle and Ormonde, Architects to the new housing scheme wrote to say that they were pushing on with the necessary documents in connection with the amended plans, and as far as they are concerned there will be no delay of the scheme.

Compensation to Owners

A letter from the Department of Local Government and Public Health stated that the Council should make application for the Minister's sanction to an over-draft for the payment of the cost of acquisition of the lands acquired under the Compulsory Purchase Order for a building scheme, stating the amount required and adding that amounts in respect of compensation for disturbance occasioned to business by the operation of the Order may be regarded as portion of the cost of the lands.

The Council decided to make the ap-

Water at Strand Side North

Arising out of the report of the B.S., on the question of improving the water supply at Strand Side North, Abbey-side and Knockanmore, which stated that as requested he saw Mr. Bowen, Co. Surveyor, and he is agreeable to delay the rolling of the road for some time. A section of the water pipe is in the office for the inspection of the members. The section of pipe referred to in the report was submitted to the members for inspection, the bore being so completely corroded that no light could be seen through.

Chairman—Something must be done at once. He would suggest cleaning and re-laying the present pipe which is in very good condition, because if a 24" or 3" pipe is put down it will seriously reduce the pressure in the town.

Mr. J. F. Foley—Was this embodied in the impending scheme?

Chairman—No.

Mr. Crotty suggested a 24" pipe be put down as far as Miss Sheehan's house.

Chairman—That would be giving a 24" main to seven or eight residents, and reducing the supply from the residents on the high levels in the town.

Mr. Quann said he agreed with the Chairman. When they improved the supply to Skeehrane recently it seriously interfered with the Kilrush supply. Mr. Bowen won't delay rolling only 4 or 5 weeks at the most and if you have to order pipes you won't have them in time. The existing pipe properly cleaned ought to be good enough for the number of consumers.

The B.S. agreed that the present pipe when cleaned would not give any further trouble for the next 15 or 16 years.

Mr. Quann—Those people have a far better supply than the people in Thomas' Terrace or Mitchell street.

The Chairman then proposed that the existing 12" pipe be cleaned and re-laid as far as considered necessary.

Mr. Byrne seconded.

Mr. Crotty proposed that a 24" pipe be put down as far as Sheehan's cottage.

Mr. J. F. Foley, seconded.

The amendment was then put and defeated by six votes to two.

Water Improvement Scheme

The following letter was read from Messrs. Delap and Waller, Engineers to the above scheme.

At an interview with the Chief Engineer of the Local Government and Public Health Department, agreement was reached with regard to the scheme which we have already put before you for improvement to your water works and you will doubtless hear shortly from the Department on the subject. As the scheme involves the taking of water in Kilmahane West from the stream which flows through Monardu village up to two-thirds of the total amount passing, and also the acquisition of land for the filter site in Delish townland with wayleave for approach to same, we suggest that it would be advisable for your Council to ascertain from the users of the water in the Monardu stream between the main road in Kilmahane west townland and its junction with the Glendine river whether they would raise any objection. We trust that none will be raised, if there is, there will have to be a Local Government Inquiry which would delay the putting of the improvements in hand, as advertisements would have to be inserted in the local Press by your solicitors giving proper notice of your intention, and the holding of an inquiry.

The letter was referred to the B.S. to make inquiries.

Meat and Milk Inspection Salary of V.S.

The following letter was read:— It has come to the notice of the Council of the Veterinary Medical Association of Ireland, that a sum of £50 per annum has been offered to one of its members to carry out both milk and Meat inspection duties in Dungarvan Urban Area. As far back as 1934 the members of this Association having been informed of the number of dairies, cowsheds and slaughterhouses in the area and of the number of animals slaughtered weekly were of opinion that the minimum salary acceptable in this case should be £100 per annum and that this salary would be adequate only if the days and hours of slaughter were fixed. The decision was communicated to the member who has now been offered £50 p.a., for carrying out this work. The matter was again before a recent meeting of the Council of this Association when it was again unanimous in its decision that the work could not be carried out with satisfaction to everyone concerned at a figure less than £100 p.a.

Mr. Dahill—I don't see what control we have in fixing the days or hours of slaughter. It is a matter for the butchers.

Mr. Quann said the Council would never enforce that bylaw, even if it was passed they would not prosecute.

Mr. Crotty—Definite days for killing would be enforced.

Chairman—The main point is, he would require a salary of £100.

Mr. Quann—We have no connection with Mr. Byrne's Association.

Mr. Dahill—If it won't be done for

CAPPOQUIN ROWING CLUB.

INTERESTING CEREMONY.

"CHRISTENING" OF NEW BOAT

Prior to the start of the Regatta on last Monday evening, a very interesting ceremony took place on the picturesque grounds of the Cappoquin Rowing Club when, in a blaze of brilliant sunshine, tempered by a fresh North-West-erly breeze, the new Four-Oared Out-rigger recently purchased by the club was formally "christened" by Mrs. Villiers Stuart, Dromana, wife of Mr. Jon Villiers Stuart, the esteemed Captain of this old-established club.

All the visiting crews from Cork, Waterford, New Ross and Carrick-on-Suir, as well as all the members of the home Rowing Club and a large number of the general public were present, and the event was carried out with almost the same pomp and ceremonial as is usually associated with the "christening" of a new battleship.

Owing to the close association of the members of the Villiers Stuart family with the Rowing Club for a long number of years, a former racing boat had been christened "Dromana" as a compliment to the Stuart family, while a later boat was called "Elsbeth," the christening name of the present Mrs. Villiers Stuart, and it was, therefore, decided to name the new boat "Dromana II," so as to perpetuate the close bonds of affinity between this old and honoured Dromana family and the Rowing Club.

The new boat was laid on trestles in front of the Boathouse, and after a brief introductory and explanatory address by Mr. T. F. Olden, Hon. Sec., he then handed the customary bottle of champagne to Mrs. Stuart who broke it over the bow of the boat and formally performed the christening ceremony, whilst a number of onlookers heaving a sigh of regret, not unmixed with resentment, as they saw the precious liquor trickling over the boat and falling to the ground, while each drop sparkled and glistened like diamonds in the radiant sunshine.

Mr. Olden, in a brief address, thanked Mrs. Stuart, on behalf of the Cappoquin Rowing Club, for her great kindness in having specially come up for the purpose of performing the ceremony, and spoke of the great kindness and generosity of the Villiers Stuart family towards the club at all times, for which they would be for ever grateful (applause).

Mrs. Stuart, in reply, thanked Mr. Olden for his nice remarks towards the Villiers Stuart family, and said she felt highly honoured in being asked to perform this ceremony, and she could assure all the members of the Rowing Club that they would try to be as helpful to the club in the future as they had endeavoured to be in the past, and she wished the club the best of success with the new boat, (loud applause).

As if by a coincidence, Mrs. Stuart had the pleasure less than an hour afterwards of seeing the newly-christened boat being rowed to victory in the Junior Fours, when Cappoquin beat Waterford by six lengths for the "Villiers Stuart Challenge Cup," presented years ago by the late Major H. C. Villiers Stuart, father of the present Mr. Villiers Stuart.

£50 drop the milk as well as the meat scheme.

Mr. Quann—It seems other Councils are not taking much notice of this Association.

Chairman—Other towns all over the Free State can get it done for £50 and less. I don't see why we must be made the scapegoat of this Association.

The Council unanimously decided to adhere to the salary of £50 previously agreed on for the Meat and Milk Inspection.

High Charge For Electricity

A letter from the E.S.B. regarding the resolution of the Council asking a reduction of the charge for Public Lighting, was read and stated that the quotation submitted for the Public Lighting of the town cannot for any reasons be reduced.

A separate communication on the subject of charges for private lighting will be forwarded in due course.

The letter was noted.

Sheares Street, Abbeyside

The Commissioner, Co. Council, wrote stating that no money was at present available for the widening of the road at Sheares street, as recommended, and asking to know if the required amount would be estimated for next year.

It was decided to ask the Commissioner for an estimate of the cost.

New Pound

Arising out of the visit of the deputation who attended the previous meeting to the Council's yard at Cody's Quay, for the purpose of ascertaining whether it would make a suitable pound.

The B.S. in his weekly report estimated the cost of erecting a proper shed in the yard at £20 and the cost of concreting the whole yard £50.

It was decided to have the shed erected.

CAPPOQUIN REGATTA

HUGE ATTENDANCE AND BRILLIANT SPORT.

Revived after a lapse of two years, the Cappoquin Regatta on August Bank Holiday proved a wonderful success. All the crews entered for the event, with the exception of Clonmel, including Cork B.C., Lee B.C., Waterford B.C., Carrick-on-Suir B.C., and New Ross B.C., turned up to fulfil their engagement, and such a large number of visiting crews from Munster and Leinster have not been seen at any similar fixture in Cappoquin for many years.

The result was that the various races were witnessed with more than ordinary interest, and the huge crowds which lined the "Rock Road," as well as the enclosure on the Quay, were treated to a most enjoyable evening's sport.

Owing to the large number of crews competing, and the difficulty in getting them away from one "Ship" at the Boat House in quicker time, some inevitable delays occurred for which the officers and committee of the Cappoquin Rowing Club were not to blame.

Owing to the lateness of the tide, it was well after 5 o'clock before the boats could go down the river for the start of the first race, but, despite every difficulty, the entire programme was completed soon after 9 o'clock.

The race for Fours, confined to members of the Cappoquin Rowing Club, produced two very promising young crews, one of which was stroked by Master Willie Sargent, and the other by Master Michael Sargent, both sons of Mr. M. J. Sargent, a former brilliant coxswain in the club, while most of the other members of both crews were also sons of other former coxswains viz.: Mr. R. J. Curran, Mr. J. Lacey, and Mr. J. F. Crowe, which shows that the spirit of their fathers still lives on in the boys of to-day.

The Cappoquin Rowing Club deserves great credit for their enterprise and sportsmanship in running a Regatta this year, with all its attendant trouble and expense, because early in the year the club had to purchase a piano for the dance hall and later a new Four-Oared-Outrigger at heavy cost, while they were also faced with the heavy expense of sending crews to the New Ross, Waterford and Cork Regattas, and it required no small amount of pluck to face the further expense of running a big regatta, but we hope the great success which attended the fixture has proved ample reward for all.

The two gentlemen responsible for this great achievement are Mr. T. F. Olden, Hon Sec., and Mr. L. D. Dunne, Vice-Captain, without whose untiring energy and sportsmanship this event would have been impossible, and they, as well as all the other members assisting with them, now deserve to be warmly congratulated on the wonderful success which has crowned their efforts.

The responsible duties of Starter were capably performed by Mr. M. J. Sargent, while Mr. Ion Villiers Stuart, the popular Captain acted as Judge, receiving valuable assistance from Mr. R. J. Collier, V.P., and Mr. W. J. Baldwin.

ST. BRIGID'S WELL BREWERY

Go Ahead Dungarvan Industry

THOMAS POWER & CO.

IN the long and honourable history of industrial progress in Dungarvan, the name of St. Brigid's Brewery, stands in the front rank.

A century ago its products were known the world over, but in the progress of time and decentralisation of the Brewery business the manufacture of beer was diverted to the large centres. Nevertheless, St. Brigid's Well Brewery kept on the progressive track and following the trend of the times adapted itself to the manufacture of lighter drinks in which it excelled and still excels.

Purchased by the late Mr. Thomas Power over 50 years ago, and with his great progressive mind and practical business capacity, he established in addition to a large bottling business the mineral water factory as well as a cider industry, which developed along extensive lines until adverse conditions led to its discontinuance some years ago. But though the cider industry ceased to exist, all the other activities of the firm were continued on more extensive lines with the consequence that the name and fame of the products of the firm increased by leaps and bounds.

Recently the control of the firm was taken over by Mr. Paul I. Power, son of the late Mr. Thomas Power. The new proprietor is one of the youngest men in Ireland in control of such a large concern, but he possesses that vitality, energy and practical business capacity which count for success and judged by the progress made by the firm since he took over charge, he is proving his worth in no halfway manner.

The sparkling waters of St. Brigid's Well, are electrically pumped to the mineral water plant which is one of the most modern that could be found and equipped with all the latest machinery. Everything is done under the most hygienic conditions. The cleanliness, neatness and up-to-date methods used are only exceeded by the existences of the manufactured minerals. The proprietor purchased at the Brewers Exhibition, London last year some wonderful bottling and corking machinery, which has to be seen to be duly appreciated. In the large and spacious factory can be seen the various processes for the manufacture of high-class minerals and the syrup rooms, so like laboratories, are most interesting and educational.

Perhaps the best tribute that could be paid to the high quality of the products of this firm is that contained in a letter from a director of a London firm in which he says:—

"The cleanliness of the factory and the hygienic conditions under which your mineral waters are being manufactured are excellent. At the same time the quality of the Mineral Waters being produced, both in bottles and syphons reach a very high standard. This applies equally well to sweetened minerals and soda waters."

At the Bottling Stores section of the premises are immense quantities of Guinness's X X; Bass's Ale, as also all the well-known Irish Ales, which are bottled by skilled workers under ideal conditions. The bottled goods are then stored in underground cellars where they mature in a cool and regular temperature. In winter the cellars are heated. Wines and whiskies of all the popular brands are bottled—in fact, every wine that one could ask for is here to be had.

At present Mr. Power is carrying out considerable improvements to cope with the extension of his business. He is giving considerable employment and as time goes on more assistance will be required. That he may succeed and prosper is the wish of his countless friends.

BLACKWATER FISHERIES.

BOARD AND WITHDRAWAL OF A RESOLUTION.

RECENT CONFERENCE IN DUBLIN.

At the meeting of the Lismore No. 4 Board of Fishery Conservators at Tallow, County Waterford, Mr. J. Kennedy, Chairman, presided. Also present—Messrs. W. Baldwin, W. Dunne, W. O'Neill, E. E. Hey, Lord C. Cavendish, T. E. Montgomery, E. P. Maxwell, I. V. Stuart, Capt. H. Smyth.

Mr. Baldwin appealed for the further intervention of the Board on behalf of the Droamore fishermen, whose fine had been reduced to £2. They had a very bad season, and being unable to pay the fine, would have to go to jail.

The Clerk said he had received a letter from J. Sullivan, secretary of the Villierstown Branch of the Blackwater Tidal Fisheries Association on the same subject. These fines had been reduced from £10 to £2, with other cost cuts.

Mr. Maxwell said he did not agree with all proposals, but he did with some. The major did not consider that he was in the wrong.

Chairman—He wants to dictate to everybody. He is not going to do so. After further discussion, Mr. Montgomery seconded Mr. Maxwell's proposal.

Mr. Hey proposed an amendment that it be not withdrawn. This was seconded by Mr. Baldwin.

A poll there voted for the amendment—Messrs. Baldwin, Hey, Villiers Stuart, Dunne, Capt. Smyth, Lord Cavendish and the Chairman—(7). Against—Messrs. Montgomery and Maxwell—(2).

Did not vote—Mr. O'Neill. The proposal was therefore defeated. Referring to a query, Mr. Dunne said they had a very bad season.

The Clerk said the salmon season made up for it. Owing to the small amount to credit in the bank and the fact that the rates were only coming in very slowly, it was decided to curtail the staff at various points for the present.

Shannon Fisheries. A letter was read from the Shannon Fisheries (proprietors E.S.B.) stating that the decline in the run of salmon into the Shannon had been very marked during the past couple of seasons.

They could not prove to their satisfaction that that had been brought about by operation of the Shannon Power Scheme. He would be greatly obliged if the Board would kindly let them know if a similar decline had been noted in the rivers in their district for the same period, and, if so, to what they attributed the cause.

Had there been any marked fluctuations from one season to another in the past year? Did the salmon fishing fall in their experience, to a very low ebb during any particular season or seasons? (Signed) Liam Forde.

The Chairman said that a similar decline had been noted in other rivers. The Clerk was directed to supply any information available.

The Clerk said he would like to know the opinion of the Board as to what help they had received from the Civic Guards in their endeavours to preserve the river fisheries, making special mention of Guards Kiernan and Harle, of Villierstown, and Sergeant Berkeley and Guard Farrelly, Banteer.

On the proposal of Mr. Maxwell, seconded by Mr. Montgomery, it was decided to convey the thanks of the Board to these officials, and the Clerk was directed to bring the matter before the proper authorities.

A Resolution. Regarding the letter from Major Longfield, adjourned for consideration from the previous meeting at Fermoy, the Clerk said he had received a further letter from the major, in which he expressed the hope that those responsible for the resolution in question would, in view of the facts which had been made clear, have the decency to set the whole unfortunate business right by withdrawing the resolution.

Mr. Maxwell thought it would be better to withdraw the resolution. It would appear that the proposals complained of were not sent by the major to the Conference of Irish Fish Conservators.

Chairman—My impression was that Major Longfield sent the resolutions to Mr. Drohan asking him to forward them to the Conference.

Mr. Maxwell—He sent them through Mr. Doohan, but he sent a copy to the Chairman and Lord Cavendish.

Chairman—Mr. Drohan sent me a copy. The major made a mistake, and we are all liable to err at times.

Mr. Maxwell proposed that the resolution be withdrawn, as it stated that Major Longfield attempted to do something behind the backs of the Board, and evidently he did not mean to do that.

Mr. Hey said as the proposer of the resolution in question, having seen the major's letter to Mr. Drohan asking him to forward the proposal to the Conference, he was not prepared to withdraw it.

Mr. Baldwin—it seems the major wants to knock them all out. Mr. Dunne said the buyers, despite the major's criticisms, had as much interest in the success of the fishery as any others.

Chairman—We must forget and forgive many things. If they got an apology from the major, the resolution might be withdrawn.

Clerk—Were the proposals that the major sent me read at the Conference? Mr. Hey—They were on the agenda and had been previously sent to the Minister for Agriculture.

The Chairman—That is the hurtful part of the business. Clerk—We asked the Secretary to the Conference to withdraw them. Mr. Hey—That was to late.

Mr. Maxwell—The general feeling of the Board seems against withdrawing the resolution. I am prepared to be in a minority.

Mr. Villiers Stuart said there was

WEST WATERFORD HURLING CHAMPIONSHIPS

Two Disappointing Games at Cappoquin

On Sunday afternoon what had promised to be two interesting matches in connection with the Junior Hurling Championships of the West Waterford Division were played in the Sportfield, Cappoquin, but in each case the match proved to be more or less a one-sided affair, the victors in both instances winning by very big margins.

The weather at the outset was fairly fine and bright, but a strong South-westerly gale blew along the field towards the road end which rendered anything like even play out of the question.

During the progress of the games several heavy showers fell which made the pitch slippery and greasy, and it was no uncommon sight to see nearly a half-dozen players slipping and falling at the one time which robbed the play of much interest.

There was a very large crowd present, as each of the four competing teams had a big following, this being particularly so in the case of Ballyduff, as nearly every man, woman and child from the pretty little village and surrounding districts came to cheer their yet unbeatable Junior Hurling team to a still further victory.

The first match was between Dungarvan and Ballyin (Lismore), who had met previously, when Ballyin won by a comfortable score, but as a result of an objection by Dungarvan, a replay was ordered, and Dungarvan now completely turned the tables by beating their opponents by the big score of 8 goals 4 points (28 points) to 1 goal 5 points (8 points), which showed a complete reversal of form.

The second match was between Ballyduff and Cappoquin, and this was another replay, as when the teams first met in Tallow, Ballyduff won after a brilliant game, but an objection by Cappoquin having been sustained, a replay was ordered, and the second meeting between those rivals on Sunday only resulted in Ballyduff repeating their victory by a much bigger margin, the final score now being 4 goals 7 points (19 points) for Ballyduff, against 1 goal 3 points (6 points) for Cappoquin.

Details:—

Dungarvan v. Ballyin. Playing towards the road goal with a strong wind in their favour, Dungarvan quickly attacked and soon had the green flag raised for a goal, and this was repeated a few moments later.

Ballyin rallied gamely and tried hard to stem the aggressive tactics of their opponents, but they could make no headway against the strong wind, and Dungarvan continued to bombard the Ballyin net in relentless fashion, the half-time whistle found Dungarvan leading by 6 goals 1 point to nil.

Ballyin were expected to show much improved form with the wind in their favour in the second half, but all they could do against the splendid defence of Dungarvan was to register 1 goal 5 points, while Dungarvan scored 2 goals 3 points against the wind, thus emerging easy winners of a rather one-sided game on the final score:—

Dungarvan—8 goals 4 points. Ballyin—1 goal 5 points.

Mr. Joe Mason, Cappoquin, proved a most efficient and impartial referee. The Dungarvan team was as follows:—

Moylean, James Waters, Michael John Bluel, James Waters, Michael Moylean, Wm. Stack, Wm. Keohane, Patrick J. Morrissey, Liam Morrissey, M. Landers, Ed. Power, Wm. Coleman, P. Brett, M. Fraher, Ed. O'Brien, Jas. Curran and Pk. Noonan.

Ballyduff v. Cappoquin. Although playing against a stiff breeze, Ballyduff were the first to open the scoring with a point, which was followed by a goal and a further point before Cappoquin got settled down and scored their first point.

Several vividly having followed at both ends, Cappoquin then launched a vigorous attack, and a great shot for a goal was beautifully saved by the Ballyduff custodian, but Cappoquin again returned to the attack and were rewarded with their second point. A third point to Cappoquin seemed to get more heart into their play, and a grand shot for a goal just missed by a narrow margin. They were again in hard luck a few minutes later when another shot for a goal again went wide, and after some fast play up and down the field, the half-time whistle found Ballyduff leading against the wind on the score:—

Ballyduff—4 goals 2 points. Cappoquin—3 goals.

With two points in arrears and playing against a strong wind in the second half, Cappoquin were set a stiff task to hold their own, and soon their backs were kept busy in resisting a determined attack by Ballyduff in the course of which W. Rea, the Cappoquin goalie, won loud applause for the clever manner in which he frustrated a shot which seemed to be a certain goal.

Cappoquin then brought play down the field, but were only able to send wide owing to Ballyduff's splendid defence. The latter, however, quickly drove the leather up the field and shot a beautiful goal, which was followed by a point soon afterwards.

Ballyduff next added a goal, which gave them a lead of three clear goals, but the Cappoquin forwards were not disheartened, and playing with great vigour and judgement they soon shot a lovely goal, which reduced the lead to 2 goals.

This proved to be Cappoquin's last score, however, for they could never afterwards pierce the Ballyduff defence and had to be content with sever-cause nothing would more effectually destroy the prospects of saving the language than that those who advocated it should all belong to one school of thought.

What was desirable was that people of a great variety of views and political convictions should be united in standing by the language.

He could emphasize more than the lecturer had done that Ireland was part of Europe, and that even the things that were definitely Irish were related to similar institutions, views, or customs on the Continent.

They must examine all these matters with the feeling that they were not a people apart, but that they were part of the European community playing a part in the progress of that community and bound to be influenced by the movements there, and to a large extent to participate in them.

He did not agree that the capitalist scheme had been a complete failure, while it had faults and defects it had, in fact, by thought, conferred great material benefits on humanity.

So far as Ireland's economic future was concerned it must for a long time to come be closely related to that of Britain.

Mairtin Ua Fearthaigh, B.A., University College, Galway, presided over a large attendance of delegates.

He said it was the duty of the university student to try to realise the important part which Ireland could play in giving a lead to Europe in the solution of the economic problems confronting them.

Irishmen had played a considerable part in the development of economics as a science, and the principles first enunciated by Cantillon, who was of Irish extraction, formed the basis of the physical school in their own days.

James Connolly might be counted among the important economists.

Referring to the dominance of the theories of laissez faire in Europe, the speaker said it was an Irishman, Prof. J. E. Cairnes, who was mainly responsible for stating the weakness of that system.

It was clear that the masses would not lie down any longer under the injustice of the Capitalist system.

The revolutions and rebellions taking place all over Europe implied that the economic and social system prevailing heretofore had failed.

They in Ireland should take heed of the lamentations of Europe. They had a chance to avoid the misfortunes that had troubled the Continent.

Dealing with the influence of Europe on Ireland, the speaker said that Ireland had received one idea which it would be worth developing—the co-operative system, the features of which should be studied by those in authority.

If such a system were to be developed honestly and scientifically here it might well prove to be the economic salvation of those elements in urgent need of it—the farmers and the workers.

Speaking of the influence of Europe on our trade unions, he said the Irish unions were modelled on the lines of those in Europe, and our workers acted in the same way as those of Europe. They were not to be blamed, since they had no alternative.

They could not follow the old economic system here any longer, nor was it right to ask their people to be satisfied with it.

New Enthusiasm. Mr. Blythe, in proposing thanks to lecturer, said the Congress was an excellent thing, and a sign of the new tide of enthusiasm which was arising amongst the young for the Irish language.

He was glad to find them discussing economics in Irish, because, until lately, there was too much of a tendency to confine the use of Irish to talks about the weather and subjects of that kind.

Mr. Blythe said he agreed with some things in the paper and disagreed with others. It was a good thing that those of them interested in Irish should not be of one mind on other subjects, be-

WEST WATERFORD HURLING CHAMPIONSHIPS

Two Disappointing Games at Cappoquin

On Sunday afternoon what had promised to be two interesting matches in connection with the Junior Hurling Championships of the West Waterford Division were played in the Sportfield, Cappoquin, but in each case the match proved to be more or less a one-sided affair, the victors in both instances winning by very big margins.

The weather at the outset was fairly fine and bright, but a strong South-westerly gale blew along the field towards the road end which rendered anything like even play out of the question.

During the progress of the games several heavy showers fell which made the pitch slippery and greasy, and it was no uncommon sight to see nearly a half-dozen players slipping and falling at the one time which robbed the play of much interest.

There was a very large crowd present, as each of the four competing teams had a big following, this being particularly so in the case of Ballyduff, as nearly every man, woman and child from the pretty little village and surrounding districts came to cheer their yet unbeatable Junior Hurling team to a still further victory.

KILMATHOMAS NEWS.

POPULAR GUARD BEREAVED—

His troops of friends and well-wishers locally extend their heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved popular Guard Rice, G.S., Kilmathomas, in his bereavement occasioned by the death of his father, Mr. Joseph Aloysius Rice, B.L., Dublin, which sad event occurred on the 30th ult., after a short illness, and at the comparatively early age of 43 years.

AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES—

Messrs. Peter O'Connor, solicitor, Waterford, the old long jump world's record holder; Percy Kirwan, Kilmathomas, (another world's champion all-round athlete of over thirty years ago), and his brother, Roddy Kirwan, manager, National Bank, New Ross of the famous Kerry Gaelic Football Team of 1908-1909, are together in attendance at the Olympic Games in Berlin.

CLOSED—

The very successful woodwork classes conducted at Kilmathomas for the past few months by the County Vocational Educational Committee's efficient and esteemed manual instructor, Mr. Donald Lynch, were closed last week for the usual holiday term.

BONMABON MINES—

Mr. N. F. Phelan, Stradbally, has obtained the contract for the sinking of shafts in connection with the mining of copper and other minerals in the Bonmahon area, just begun by the Syndicate created for the purpose.

PLEASE TO PUBLISH—

That Sean Colbert, of the Stradbally Gaelic Football Club, who had a shoulder dislocated in his team's recent set-to with Sliah-Gua, at the Gaelic Field, Dungarvan, is almost fit as ever again, and in all probability he will be engaged with the "village" representation against either Fenor or De La Salle in the County Final a few weeks hence.

AS WE GO ON TO JOURNEY'S END—

We sing life's song from day to day— What is the song you sing, my friend, To gain God's grace along the way?

A TIP FOR FATHERS—

At Stradbally on Sunday a toddler—about three years old—stumbled and fell. We expected the parents to rush over and pick the youngster up. But they did nothing of the kind.

SHELLS—

"Put it to your ear and you'll hear the tide coming in!" mothers tell their children. And at this time of the year the beach of every seaside resort is thronged with children listening through the big whorled shells to the "tide coming in."

ONCE HAD, ALTHOUGH THEY ARE STILL BEING MADE IN DUNDURAN AND A FEW OTHER PLACES IN OUR ISLE.

A custom that is practically dead is that of placing a shell on either side of the fireplace in dining and drawing rooms, although they may yet be observed at the front doorways of suburban villas. In the gay Nineties, with their tendency for excessive ornament, the shell was everywhere in evidence.

BY THE WAY—

Without intending to do so, have you ever found yourself slinging the slang of the talkies repeating well-worn film-phrases? Anestown Anne prides herself on keeping her vocabulary fairly free of canned and coined expressions; yet only on Bank Holiday last she quite blantly asked the Metal Man of Tramore to "come up and see me some time!"

SIC EST VITA—

"Those who owe us the most are the most brazen and defiant. If it were not for the ordinary people, who pay their accounts regularly, we could not stay in business at all." This was the statement of a shopkeeper to us ere-yesterday.

WE PUT IT TO YOU (SERIOUS AND NOT)—

That the Tipp forwards failed to come up to expectations at Thurles in last Sunday's chief caman clach—

That the Gaelic Field, Dungarvan, will be thickly peopled for the Garda Sports meeting on tomorrow (Sunday), and also on tomorrow week for the major Munster Council, G.A.A., fixtures of the 16th inst.

That each coming week will be crowned with six days for determined endeavour in the Bonmahon mining sectors—

That no genuine Garrahanne gentleman will ever even for a second stand for "that sort of thing" whatever 'tis—

That the members of the Youghal Branch National Leaseholders' Organisation, hereby request the Youghal Urban District Council as the representatives of the people to give the Organisation every support possible.

In declaring the resolution passed unanimously, the Chairman (Mr. R. Savage, U.D.C.) said it would be a sorry day for the country as a whole were the towns and villages to disappear from the map on account of the unsatisfactory position of the leaseholders.

In closing the meeting, the Chairman thanked the General Secretary, Mr. Mulholland, on behalf of the members for the very able and comprehensive manner in which he expounded the aims and hopes of the Organisation.

NATIONAL LEASEHOLDERS' ORGANISATION

A meeting of the Youghal Branch of the National Leaseholders' Organisation was held in the Mall House, on Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance. The Chairman (Mr. R. Savage, U.D.C.) presided. Addressing the meeting the Chairman said that the Organisation was seeking legislation fixing fair ground rents and lease rents on all houses and business premises and legislation giving leaseholders the right to buy out their ground and lease rents at a fair price either for cash or under a National Purchase Scheme spread over a period of years.

The ground landlord had all along a one-sided deal in which the leaseholder had no say whatsoever, indeed he was more often than not more like a dumb animal in the business, and in that connection it was very hard to understand the action of rather the inaction of the various Governments of Saorstát Eireann since 1921 unless they both were caught up in the magnetic field of High Finance. For instance, the recent 25 per cent. increase in valuation for Income tax purposes would lead one to believe that equity was sacrificed for revenue purposes and a further indication that the ground landlord had secured the patronage of the Government. He was satisfied the Organisation was handling the question in the proper manner, and was determined to obtain justice for leaseholders.

Mr. Ruben Hurst, Regal Cinema, Hon. Secretary of the Branch, said they had assembled to join the nation-wide demand for legislation to buy out their lease holdings. He considered it most unfair that they who took ground on lease and erected elaborate buildings at a heavy cost, should be compelled to go on paying ground rent continually for the use of the land. They should have the right to buy out the freehold at a fair price, and he was glad to see that the policy of the Organisation was to give both sides a fair deal.

Mr. Hurst said he could not see for one moment why all holders should be unanimous in joining the Organisation in their own interests to secure their rights. He was glad to see from the Constitution that the Organisation was strictly non-political, and so far as he was concerned, he would see that it remained so. He commented on a recent case in Youghal where a ground rent was sold by private treaty over the head of the leaseholder, and he thought that legislation was necessary to deal with that evil.

He expressed satisfaction with the recent success of the Organisation in carrying out negotiations for the purchase of some ground rents, particularly as the National Leaseholders' Organisation was only a month in existence today.

Mr. R. Power, U.D.C., Hon. Treas., said that the Organisation was worthy of the support of every honest man. He referred to the large amount of ground rents leaving this country annually, and he considered that the Government should have acted in the matter long before now.

Mr. Owen Mulholland, General Secretary, explained fully and freely the aims and objects of the Organisation, and answered questions dealing with the various phases of the ground rent problem as it affected Youghal, and pointed out that the heads of the proposed legislation prepared by the Organisation covered all the difficulties mentioned.

The following resolution proposed by Mr. R. Hurst, and seconded by Mr. P. Lynch, was passed unanimously:—

"That we, the members of the Youghal Branch National Leaseholders' Organisation, hereby request the Youghal Urban District Council as the representatives of the people to give the Organisation every support possible."

In declaring the resolution passed unanimously, the Chairman (Mr. R. Savage, U.D.C.) said it would be a sorry day for the country as a whole were the towns and villages to disappear from the map on account of the unsatisfactory position of the leaseholders.

In closing the meeting, the Chairman thanked the General Secretary, Mr. Mulholland, on behalf of the members for the very able and comprehensive manner in which he expounded the aims and hopes of the Organisation.

The eve of their departure was signalled to the people of Ardmore by their mid-night camp fire, when the whole Troop held a Rag through the streets which was one of the most fascinating and alluring displays ever witnessed in the town.

The whole Troop join in thanking the people of Ardmore as well as the many who gave them every facility for making their holiday such a success as it undoubtedly was. During their stay in Ardmore they acquitted themselves with distinction by controlling a big fire and rescuing many valuables, and by way of recompense and honour of their bravery a most expensive Wireless Set was presented by the owner of the Caravan previous to their departure.

was interviewed by our representative. She went to Lourdes firmly believing that she would be cured. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter O'Farrell, and had been studying the Braille system for blind for some time.

Poor Children's Excursion To Tramore?

There has been a great flutter for the past five or six years about the annual Poor Children's Excursion from Waterford City to Tramore. There is not a word in Carrick about it this season. A date in September was usually selected for the trip. About 2,000 children (many of them could not be termed "poor") were brought to the sea-side. It was stated that many of the kiddies had been in Tramore as frequently as members of the Organising Committee. However, now that the excursion seems to be over and done with (at least for some time to come) it would be no harm to take stock and ask the question was it the best possible way of giving a good day to the poor children? There were several months of organising, holding weekly meetings, reading minutes and debating all and sundry points. There was a special commissariat department which gave the impression that the children must have been eating all the time that they were in Tramore. The kiddies got so "fed up" on one day's outing that there were 2,000 jam sandwiches littered along the Strand! The whole business looked spectacular, there was plenty of fuss and commotion. But not a great deal of amusement for the children. There were two many of them on the trip. I am informed that there is a considerable balance on hands after paying the expenses of the 1935 outing which was about the best day held and was under the direction of Mayor Aiyward. I suggest that the necessitous children get a day in the Gaelic Sportsfield (where the air is just as good as that of Tramore) and give them a sufficiency of sweets, cakes, fruit, etc., and some article of clothing to help them over the winter months. A juvenile sports meeting could be organised for the occasion.

A New Waterford Factory— Preference Given To Pupils of Technical Institute—

Tradesmen here have been very busy for the past few months in fitting up the new factory at Ferrybank, Waterford City, where it is proposed to manufacture Marconi Wireless Sets. It will be the first factory of its kind. I understand in the Saorstát. The management has decided to select eighteen girls from amongst the pupils of the Day Classes at the Central Technical Institute, Waterford, who will be trained in the process of assembling wireless sets. Six cañini will at first be instructed in the mysteries of wireless mechanism, and subsequently each girl will initiate and train two of her colleagues. I think that the Directors have done a very judicious thing in deciding to recruit their original staff from the pupils of the local Technical Institute, who are very intelligent and industrious. It is anticipated that the factory will be operating a few months hence. At the moment it is not possible to state the maximum number of hands that will be employed.

Diplomas for Turkish Convicts.

A long row of men, murderers, brigands, bandits and pickpockets, lined up in the prison yard of Anatolia, to receive diplomas. These convicts had been undergoing their examinations in reading, writing mathematics, and more advanced forms of learning, in accordance with the Turkish scheme to educate the occupants of prisons.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

A WELCOME VISITOR— Rev. R. Walsh, O.S.A., Dublin, one of the most esteemed members of the Augustinian Order, is at present on a holiday in his native Dungarvan and has been heartily welcomed by his countless friends.

DUNGARVAN MARKETS— Meal (special) 21/6, middicut 21/6, flour 21/- and 22/- per 10 stls., bran 9/- cwt., pollard 8/- and 8/6 cwt., coal 40/- ton.

PRIZE WINNERS— At the Dublin Show this week we notice that nearly all the prize-winning horses at the Dungarvan Show a month ago were all in the front line, there when the awards were being made. In addition prizes in the hunting section were awarded to Mrs. Glen Browne, Tourin, Cappoquin and Mr. R. Shanahan, Kilmactomas.

ABBEYSIDE ANNUAL PATTERN SPORTS— The Annual Sports under the auspices of the St. Vincent de Paul Society will be held on Sunday, August 10th. As heretofore, the public are assured of an enjoyable day. Full details next issue.

GOOD PRICES FOR BLOODSTOCK— At the Dublin Show this week there was demand and good prices for thoroughbred yearlings big numbers ranging in price from 100 guineas to 1,000 guineas. As usual several potential Grand National winners and High-class Sprinters were picked up. Foreign buyers were plenty.

MONSTER SPORTS— The greatest sporting event of recent years will take place at Dungarvan, on Sunday next, 9th inst, when the Waterford-Kilkenny Divisional Garda Sports will be held at the Sportsfield here. For several weeks the energetic Committee in charge of the fixture have been working late and early perfecting the arrangements and laying out the grounds, and today the stage is set for a championship display of athletic skill in all branches of sport.

The entries constitute a record, whether in the Sprints, Field or Cycling events, every athlete of repute is entered and all parts of the country are represented. No doubt, many records will go on Sunday and the huge attendance who will be present will have a thoroughly enjoyable time. The programme includes the 5 mile cycle championship of Munster as well as many other cycle events; also sprint and long distance races; pole vaults; discus; high and long jump; weight-throwing, walking and relay races; tug-o-war contests, etc. In addition there will be a very special attraction in the Dublin Metropolitan Garda Band, which will discourse a musical programme of the choicest kind and in the most finished style. A perfect day is assured. Sergeant Russell and Guard Collopy, as Hon. Secs., have all details perfected to ensure complete success, and with a fine day and brilliant sunshine anticipated, the Gaelic Grounds so ideal in location, and so picturesque in their lay out, will present a scene of scenic charm and beauty unrivalled.

On Sunday night, there will be a Sports Dance in the Town Hall, at which the music will be supplied by Tyrrell's Band, Kilkenny. That should make a pleasant end to a great day.

CHRISTIAN BROS., COLLEGIATE SCHOOL, LISMORE— Once again the pupils of the Christian Brothers Collegiate School, Lismore, have proved their educational worth and added fresh lustre to the great reputation which this school has enjoyed for a long number of years.

In the results of the Leaving Certificate Examination just announced, and for which the Lismore school presented 12 students, 10 passed, 7 with Honours. When you consider the high standard of proficiency required for this examination and the wide range of subjects, it can be readily understood how sound and excellent has been the teaching and how close the application of the students. Year by year, Lismore School keeps forging ahead, winning higher and higher laurels in the educational world and proving its intrinsic worth in the face of the keenest competition.

We tender congratulations to Brother Mullan, the highly capable Superior and his brilliant teaching staff, and also to the pupils and wish them further laurels as time rolls by.

DUNGARVAN HORSE FAIR— Next Friday, 14th inst., will see the great August Horse Fair in Dungarvan, to which buyers from all parts of the country are coming, and as it is being enthusiastically supported by the farmers and horse-breeders of this and adjoining counties, it should be a great success.

The Fair held in February last, was highly successful and farmers and Horse Dealers were loud in their approval of the action of the Urban Council in starting these fairs, which were so badly required. Let the public give these fairs the support they deserve and the Urban representatives will see that every facility is given to buyers and sellers to get through their work in a happy manner.

BREAKING RECORDS— At the Olympic Sports, at Berlin, this week, at which 54 nations are competing, some wonderful athletic deeds were done. A Negro—Jesse Owens, from Ohio, U.S.A., broke all records in the sprinting events. He ran so fast the timekeepers could hardly take his time and when it came to the long jump, he cleared 26 feet 8 ins. In the high jump, another American cleared 6 feet 8 ins, and in the Pole Vault the winner cleared 14 feet 6 inches. Some 6 feet high women also broke many records, so it looks as if there are active people in the world yet. The Irish Free State has no athletes representing her. It is a pity, as we were always able to raise a flag in world competition and could do so again. Any one who doubts our proficiency in athletic prowess has only to be at the Dungarvan Gaelic Field on Sunday, when he will see competitors fit to shake hands with Androtheneus, the greatest athlete who ever hurled the Discus. He broke all records at Mount Olympus (Greece), before the Christian Aera.

SEAN OGLAIG Na h-EIREANN— At a meeting of the 7th Batt. area committee, West Waterford Old I.R.A. Men's Association, the following resolution was unanimously passed:— "That we call on the Government to release Michael Conway. We also call for the abolition of the Military Tribunal and the immediate repeal of the Public Safety Act."

SYMPATHY— At a special meeting of Clashmore G.A.A. Football Club, sympathy was voted to Mr. Richard Murray, Kinsalebeg, a prominent Inter-county footballer, on the recent sad death of his mother. Sympathy was also extended to Rev. D. McGrath, C.C., Kilsheelan, on his mother's death.

POPLIN TIES— You can get the best and newest designs in Gent's Irish Poplin Ties at Walsh's, Drapers, Square, Dungarvan.

DUNGARVAN GIRL WEDS IN SUSSEX— At St. Peter's Catholic Church, Storeham-by-sea, Sussex, on August 1st, Miss Trixie Trihy, daughter of Mrs. Dee, and the late Mr. Trihy, Glendine, Dungarvan, was married to Mr. Robert Challen, member of a well-known Storeham-by-sea family. Rev. Father Sproston, officiated. The bride was attended by a sister on the nursing staff of Southlands Hospital, Storeham. The honeymoon is being spent in Ireland.

NATIONAL LEASEHOLDERS ASSOCIATION— Mr. Owen Mulholland, General Secretary of the National Leaseholders Organisation, will address a preliminary meeting of leaseholders in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on to-night (Friday) at 9.15 p.m., for the purpose of forming a Branch of the Organisation in Dungarvan. The Organisation is seeking legislation to remedy the grievances of leaseholders. All leaseholders are welcome. A public meeting will be arranged later.

G.A.A. CARNIVAL DRAW— The following were the winning tickets drawn on Sunday night:— 1st prize, hamper, blue ticket No. 27, 2nd suit length blue ticket 798, 3rd, bag of flour, yellow, 24781, 4th, Sweep Ticket, brown 22671, 5th Sweep Ticket brown 22826, 6th Irish Ham brown 22292, 7th quarter ton of coal, yellow 35, 8th, quarter ton of coal, blue, 314, 9th, 10-Note, brown 22999, 10th, 10-Note, brown 22449, 7th and 10th prizes have still to be claimed.

WATERFORD V. KERRY— We understand that the majority of the Waterford Junior Football Team to meet Kerry on Sunday week, will be on holiday in Dungarvan during the week. It is hoped that the full team will be available on one or two evenings.

SYMPATHY— At a meeting of the Ballinroad Dramatic Society, on Monday night, Mr. T. Morrissey, presiding, on the motion of Mr. P. Quinn, seconded by Mr. J. Foley, a resolution of sympathy was passed to Mr. J. Flavin, on the death of his young wife, who was also a member of the club. The meeting adjourned as a mark of respect to her memory.

MILLSTREET SPORTS— DATE CHANGED— Owing to the counter attraction at Dungarvan, on Sunday, August 16th., the above Sports will be held on Saturday, August 15th., and not the 16th as already advertised. Excellent prizes will be given. Dungarvan-Clonmel bus passes the Sportsfield gate at convenient times.

GOLF— The monthly medal for July, at the Clonca Golf Links, was won by Mr. J. B. Cooke. The final of the Cunnigar Cup between Mr. M. P. Foley, and Mr. C. J. Murphy, provided a very keen game. Mr. Foley won on the 18th.

SPANISH TROUBLES— The civil war in Spain between the Popular Front Government forces and the anti-Government forces is being fought out bitterly. Terrible deeds have been done in the persecution of the Catholic Church there. Churches and Convents have been burned down in thousands and Priests and Nuns shot and their bodies thrown into the rivers.

THE BY ELECTIONS— By Elections are in full swing in Galway and Wexford constituencies. In Galway the contest is between Fine Gael, Fianna Fail and the Republican candidate. In Wexford there are four candidates, viz.,—Fianna Fail, Fine Gael, Labour and Republican.

HOLIDAYS— This is the holiday season, but owing to the inclemency of the weather, touring is not very popular. Due to the conditions of Employment Act which recently came into force and under which certain classes of workers are entitled to a week's holidays, many large concerns have closed their works to let their employees have holidays.

Now that holidays are recognised, we hope to see an amending Bill passed including in its scope holidays for farmers and their labourers, as at present they get none. It would be a very happy and wholesome thought for the Government to help those who milk the cow, follow the plough and reap the harvest.

Good Bread is the most economical energy food. Eat more Power's Bread :: It is the Best. :: Power's Bakery, DUNGARVAN

CLASHMORE SOCIAL CLUB PICNIC— About 150 members of the above club journeyed to Ardmore on Sunday last, where a most enjoyable day was spent. The large party travelled by car and cycle and Ardmore was reached at 3.30 p.m. Having assembled in the village the big crowd proceeded in a body to the Old Coastguard grounds, a picturesque situation on the cliffs overlooking Ardmore Bay, where a picnic was held. All having partaken of a splendid repast, musical items were supplied by Clashmore Accordion Band (Phair Brothers and D. Barron).

TOMORROW'S MASSIVE "MENU" AT DUNGARVAN! (By G. C. K.)

Enthusiasts for cycling and athletic tests will be treated to a truly topping "bill of fare" at the Gaelic Field, Dungarvan on tomorrow (Sunday), under the auspices of the Waterford and Kilkenny Divisional Garda Sports Committee. Capping an attractively arranged card is the 5 mile Cycling Championship of Munster, supported by sprints and marathon race; pole vault; discus; high and long jump; weight-throwing; walking and relay races, and in addition tug-o-war trials which will surely stir the chords of exhilarating excitement in the bosoms of young and old beholding them. The entries embrace the cream of our country's cycling and athletic performers of today. And—tell this to all the girls you are on talking terms with—the great Dan O'Mahony, Cork's own World's Champion Wrestler, will be there with his athletic brother from Ballydeobh. The Dublin Metropolitan Garda Band will attend—"music" the magnificent "menu".

Mr. Fraher's far-famed arena has been admirably laid out, and, in the matter of general arrangements, the peeries organisers have not overlooked the slightest detail. The G.S.R. Company are running special excursion trains from Dublin and intermediate stations at most reasonable rates. A sparkling Sports Day will be delightfully round off a real red-letter day in the sporting and social annals of the Old Borough.

See Eire's Athletics Do wonderful feats Where none win wreaths by chance— So be a "sport" Amongst the "sports" Both at the Sports and Dance!

G.A.A. NOTES & NOTIONS

By "CROTOG."

Threatening skies, frequent squalls and the clamorous wail of a Munster Hurling Final at Thurles did not prevent a large crowd from turning up at Cappoquin to witness the West Waterford Junior Hurling semi-finals. Indeed, the attendance was by far the best seen at any County Championship venue in the West this year and the "gate" must have been very satisfactory. The games themselves, which not proceeding all the while anticipated, were highly interesting. A strong westerly wind, rendered most disagreeable by blinding showers of rain at intervals, tended to scrappy and uneven forms of play.

Aided by the gate, Dungarvan piled up a huge lead without reply from Ballyin in the first half of the opening match. Their centre-field and forwards were much superior to the Ballyin defence in which the absence of Michael Murray was sorely felt. John Joe Morrissey from far out and Curran, Fraher and Liam Morrissey close in by crisp striking and clever centering, outplayed and outwitted the slower moving country lads to such purpose that the Old Boro string enjoyed an interval lead of 22 pts. to nil. Allen, Murray and Moore were the best of an overworked Ballyin defence whose morale was impaired by a somewhat indifferent display of goal-keeping.

On the resumption, Ballyin, with changed placings, made a heroic effort to stem the tide of fortune flowing so strongly against them. Murray and Moore, having moved up-field, helped their mid-field pair, Barry and Lineen, to gain complete control in that sector and to give their forwards a large supply of the ball, but the latter, weakened by the absence of Ned Daly the star inter-county full, could make no impression on the defence of Waters, Stack and Moylan. Blissett, on goal, struck his best form and cleared confidently the few weak shots which came his way. O'Connell was the only Ballyin attacker to show any knowledge of forward tactics and sent over the bar three in succession for his side. High points seem to exercise a strange fascination for him as he steadfastly refused to shoot for the goal; perhaps he was discouraged by the failure of his colleagues who, time after time again, frittered away the grandest opportunities. Power, at length, sent to the net for Ballyin's solitary goal. The match wound up on a very lame note with Dungarvan easy victors on the score of 8 pts. to 1 pt. 3 pts.

No doubt, the loss of Byrne, Murray and Daly was, to a large extent, responsible for the indifferent Ballyin display. Added to a feeble attack was the further handicap of a shaky last line defence. Dungarvan, much the lighter side, excelled in quick striking and neat ball control. They were the speedier team too, and availed to full of the slow laboured methods and style of their opponents.

The Cappoquin-Ballyduff duel was, by contrast, a hectic affair. From the first moment, the crowd waxed enthusiastic and volumes of cheering greeted every score and every neat touch of play of the rivals. It was early evident that the players, as well as the crowd, were keyed up to a high pitch. But, to the credit of everybody, players and spectators alike, there was no temper and no unsportsmanlike conduct. The referee, too, Seamus Hayes of Dungarvan, by his tact, sound judgement and easy control, contributed greatly to this very pleasant state of affairs. A remarkable feature of the game was the uproarious applause of the hundreds of juvenile "fans" which followed both teams. Scores of youthful Gaeils travelled the ten miles from Ballyduff by all modes—on foot, in cars, cars and on bicycles. More than one ass and-cart was commandeered and more than one quadraped pressed into service en route. It is to be hoped that the youthful delinquents will be forgiven on the strength of the great victory gained by their side.

Cappoquin had an early inkling of their fate when their forwards failed dimly to press home the advantage of a strong wind in the opening half. The Ballyduff defence, in which Pearse Higgins, O'Donnell and Hurley were the most prominent, beat off all attacks Ryan was the most dangerous of an unusually feeble Cornerstone forward line in which the veteran Joe Mason vainly strove to infuse some fire. The lighter Ballyduff pair had matters much their own way at mid-field and the frequent high centres of Mick Feeley and Flynn kept the home defence on edge. Joe Pearse, as usually, was the most incisive of the Ballyduff attackers and seized on every opportunity to test the Cappoquin goalie, young Rea, who came through many a barrage with credit. A half-time lead of 1 pt. 2 pts. to 3 pts., gave the visitors a foretaste of the sweets of victory.

Against the wind, Cappoquin regained their attack and for ten minutes threatened the Ballyduff net, on several occasions they broke through only to be banked by the coolness of Cashman on goal. Faulty finishing denied the Cornerstone brigade the scores for which they fought so earnestly. At length, a clearance up-field by Coleman put Feeley in possession to set the forwards attacking, but, Ahern, Glavin and O'Donoghue, hurling with great abandon, broke up the gathering Ballyduff assaults. Daly pouncing on a loose ball, beat Rea for the decisive score. Thunderous cheers greeted the hoisting of the green flag and the visiting contingent went wild with delight. Points came in rapid succession from Paddy Feeley, O'Callaghan and the ubiquitous Joe Pearse; Cappoquin, in a belated rally rushed through a goal per Moore. But Ballyduff were back again and the home defence in which Coffey and Glavin starred, had their hands full to stem the waves of attack. Twice the Cappoquin net fell to the all-conquering dash of Mick Feeley and his merry men before the final whistle sounded to leave them decisive victors on the score of 4 pts. 7 pts. to 1 pt. and 3 pts.

For four successive years now, the men of Gargoven have lorded it over all comers in Munster Hurling, judging by their spectacular triumph over Tipperary in Thurles last Sunday, their reign is still only beginning. Three fatal weak spots brought disaster to the Tipp side; once again, history repeated itself. Poor goal-keeping, more ineffective in fact, than at Cork last year, sapped the defensive morale of the Premier County. Maher failed unaccountably to hold the mighty Mick Mackey whose aim to exercise a hypnotic influence on all opponents and most goal-keepers. The "Cyclone" Mick is a "Flying Column" all to himself on the hurling field and just about as easy to combat. His extraordinary mobility, electrifying vision and dazzling repertoire of strokes mark him as the greatest centre forward of this hurling age. Tracy, the pivot of Tipp's attack was overshadowed all through by Paddy Cloghessy, whose air clearances were, if anything, more magnificent than usual. Still, with their forward machine out of gear, it was no mean achievement of the losers to run up a score of 4 goals and 10 points against the formidable Limerick defence. Phil Purcell's old knee trouble compelled his early retirement—a temporary misfortune as the doughty Phil was keeping the fiery John Mackey very quiet indeed.

The news that the Munster Junior Finals have been fixed for Dungarvan, on August 16th, has given immense satisfaction throughout the Decies. All the more welcome because it was so unexpected. Strong Counter, arguing that everything else notwithstanding, our delegates succeeded in convincing the Munster Council that Dungarvan was the venue and Dungarvan is the venue. Now it behoves every Gael from the Suir to the Blackwater and beyond to respond by flocking to the lovely seaside pitch forever great Dan Fraher. Waterford fighting for two Munster Crowns on the one day in Old Dungarvan! It surely must be a record. And if Waterford win—as win they will—what a day of glory for the historic Decies! Is there any Gael from the Croppys Grave to Mochuda's Bed by the Araglen's tumbling waters who would not deem it one of the greatest moments of his life to be present in that hour of triumph.

Here are the men whom the selectors have honoured with carrying the fortunes of the Decies colours of blue and white—

Football

Seamus Hayes, Liam Lyne, Michael Lovett, Frank O'Mara, Decain Goole, Michael Bodleir, Batt Casey, Liam O'Sullivan, Tom Greaney, John Clummins, Paul Russell, Michael Lynch, Donncadh O'Sullivan, Bunadh, Michael Myles and Bernard Spollen. In reserve are Paddy Gough, "Daw" Walsh, Sean Power, Sean Kirwan, Tom Connolly, Willie Barron, Seamus Ryan.

Christy Moylan is ineligible for this match having incurred the referee's displeasure in the Tipperary game recently. He will, however, be available for his Club and County on and after August 23rd next.

Hurling

Michael Curley, Michael Hickey (Capt.), Paddy Fanning, "Dotty" Hogan, John O'Gorman, Mick Skehan, Jimmie Mountain, Liam Shortall, Watt Morrissey, Tommy Fitzgerald, James Phelan, Paddy Green, John Halpin, Sean O'Donnell, James Plunkett, Dan O'Mahony, John Whelan, Bill Sheehan, Dan Waters, David Doyle, John Ryan, James Whelan, Michael Parrie, J. Healy and J. Burke and J. Murphy.

As the actual placings are not yet definitely decided, the final line-out of the teams will not be published until next week. Here are spot-lights on some of the new talent who have not yet made their bow on the inter-county stage—Sean Kirwan, Rathgormack, big and brawny, played in football trials against Wexford but did not impress. Has since shown that this was all wrong. A more than useful reserve back who now gets his chance of the lime light.

Seamus Ryan, a youthful footballer, prominent from Cappoquin, prominent as a mid-field minor in both hurling and football inter-county games. Fast and clever, he controls well and shoots accurately with either foot. A sojourner in this company will give him confidence.

Connolly is the rugged reserve goal-keeper from Fenor. Hayes's brilliance has kept him in the background so far.

Paddy Fanning, the junior full-back, from Erin's Own, was off the last day through a serious head-injury sustained in the famous game against Mt. Sion. Reported fit again and in training, his presence should help to strengthen the inner defences.

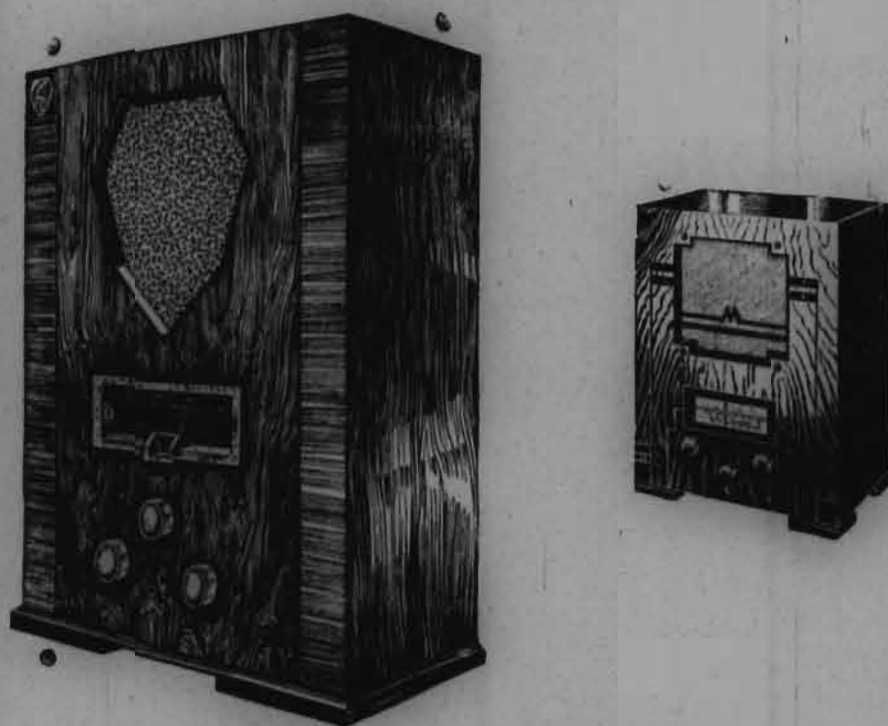

"Watty" Morrissey, St. Stephen's has claims for mid-field recognition. As pugnacious as a red terrier, his quick drawing and his close marking are his

James Whelan, Duntill, ex-husband of county minor, is also under the selectors' microscope. Much depends on his showing next Sunday against Mt. Sion.

John Pflanz, Clonsa-Power, has the reputation of being a smashing full-forward. He, too, is being kept under scrutiny.

David Doyle, Tallow, set of action for a long time through injury. His two sensational goals paved the way for the League victory over Tipperary last winter. Showing good club form in attack lately.

Dan Waters, Mt. Sion, jumped into prominence by a sterling display of defence tactics in the recent Erin's Own game. Did not strike in his only League trial against Dublin. Has lived down that impression and is now a valuable reserve defender.

Next Sunday is a comparatively quiet day in G.A.A. activities in Co. Waterford. All roads lead to Dungarvan, where hundreds of athletes and thousands of Gaeils will converge for the great Gaucha N.A.C.A.S. Sports.

At Ballyduff, the Western footballers meet Tallow in the Western semi-final. Owing to their surprise victory over Cappoquin, Ballyduff are expected to justify the favouritism they enjoy. The match starts at 4 p.m. Summer time.

PRETTY WEDDING AT TALLOW

Miss Eileen Murray, Kibbeg, Edibeg, and Robert McCarthy, Piltown, Youghal, were married on Wednesday morning, July 22nd, in the Parish Church, Tallow.

Rev. J. Corbett, C.E., Tallow, performed the ceremony in the presence of many relatives and friends, who also celebrated the Nuptial Mass at follow-up.

The bride was attended by her cousin Miss Eileen Walsh, Ballydaniel, Co. Cork, as maid of honour. John McCarthy, Piltown, nephew of bridegroom, was best man. The ceremony was followed by a reception and breakfast, when about 100 guests were present among them being John and Mrs. McGrath, Ballymuddy, Tallow, Michael Murray, Grantstown, Youghal, Michael Brown, Grantstown, Youghal, Bartholomew Fitzgerald, Strane Hotel, Youghal, John and Mrs. O'Gorman, Kibcall, Tallow; Denis and Alice Hannigan, do.; Annie Donovan, Bistepstown, Lismore; Michael and Thomas Doyle, Ballydaniel, Stranorlar; John McCarthy, Piltown; Nina, Jessie, Bridie, Cathleen and Mary McCarthy, do. Mr. Mileray Feis—August 15th.—This year it is gratifying to note that something to remind us of our grandfather's days has been initiated in West Waterford. The venue will be Ballysheehy, Mt. Mileray, and the object is to raise funds for the Mt. Mileray New Church Building Fund. It is one time that a real "fish day" has been mooted, and the local Gaeils are working hard under the direction of Mr. Seán O'Donnell, to make that success will attend the Feis, which is the first of its kind ever held in this area. Numerous entries have been already received, and favourable weather conditions are only needed to make the 15th August a red-letter day to Mt. Mileray.

Lismore Greyhound Track.—The Lismore Coursing Club have just completed the laying of a greyhound track which critics have called to be one of the best in the design they have ever seen. At the opening on Saturday night there were 70 dogs present for a trial and some very fine courses were witnessed by a large attendance of spectators. On Sunday next at 3 p.m. the Lismore Coursing Club are holding a "trial" test, and this should prove a most interesting and enjoyable afternoon's sport.

The running of dogs will be completely confined to members of the Club. Membership cards may be obtained on the grounds from the Club Secretary on the receipt of 2/6.

G. A. A.—On Sunday next at Ballyduff, Cappoquin will oppose Ballyduff in their tie in the Junior Hurling Championships of the County. The meeting of these two teams is anticipated with the keenest interest by all hurling fans, especially by those of the respective sides taking part. Sunday's match for Ballyduff means their climax match of the year and by winning it, their match with Ebstown at Tallow on Saturday week for the qualifying stages would be boosted with greater interest.

Should the usual gales, high tides and floods take place during the winter months it would be very serious as there had been no provision to protect the property on the Strand. Surely they were entitled to some consideration. That was a matter that needed immediate attention as the house property on the Strand was for many their means of livelihood.

GALWAY ELECTION

Addressing a large Republican meeting in Galway in the interests of Count Plunkett, the Republican candidate, Miss Mary MacSwiney, said that in May last year she wrote to Valera, Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly and Mr. P. J. Rutledge appealing to them to abandon coercion and return to their original conception of the Republic.

The appeal was not answered, but a reply was contained in the banning of the I.R.A. and the Bodenstown procession. When the I.R.A. and Bodenstown procession were banned she renewed her appeal to Mr. de Valera and received a reply utterly at variance with anything she thought she knew of Valera. Mr. de Valera said the letter dealt with past history and that he was too busy dealing with present day problems.

Continuing, Miss MacSwiney said that she could understand her home being raided by British and Cosgrave forces, but it nearly broke her heart when it was raided by those who claimed to be Republicans. If Mr. de Valera got on a platform in Galway before this election he should tell the people if his new Constitution was a Republic for the 26 Counties or for the whole of Ireland.

Mr. MacEntee, who threw up his hands in horror when the Coercion Act was being passed, now stood behind the condemnation to death of Michael Conway, who had declared that he had neither hand, act nor part in the shooting of Egan.

A Republican meeting was addressed in Tuam by Madame Maud Gonne McBride, in support of Count Plunkett.

When Miss Mary MacSwiney referred to the late Mr. Hogan as a member of the "Murder Gang" and a coercionist there were shouts of "Shame" and "Shut up." She made bitter references both to the de Valera Government and the Cosgrave Government, and said the present Government did not dare to look for votes in Galway until they reprieved Conway.

ASTONISHING CAUSE OF DISAPPEARANCE OF GOW'S MILK. Mrs. P. Doyle, Ballyhart, Taggart, County Wexford, was at loss to account for the continued mysterious disappearance of the milk from one of her best cows. A patient watch at last revealed the astonishing fact that the cow was allowing its milk to be regularly sucked by a three months old pig. Local farmers state that the incident is unprecedented. Several amateur photographers in the area have taken photographs of the pig sucking the cow.

NATIONAL DISCIPLINE

President De Valera's Address

Speaking at Ennisceorthy on Sunday, after the Convention to elect a candidate for to contest the Wexford bye-election President de Valera said: Last week I spoke to the people of Galway on the necessity of National discipline. I want to put the same point to you the people of Wexford, here tonight. I want you too, and the people as a whole, to realise that it is essential for any further advance that we move forward as a united body in an ordered manner. Without a well-defined objective and a planned method for reaching it, without discipline in the ranks, there can be no satisfactory national progress.

It was a recognition of this obvious fact that brought Fianna Fail into existence ten years ago, and that fact is fundamental to-day as it was then. Ten years ago the people of this part of Ireland were hopelessly divided into two almost equal sections in opposing camps with apparently irreconcilable policies. A civil war had been fought. One section had secured all the machinery of Government whilst the other section was excluded by political tests from representation or participation. That was a situation which clearly could not last. It would be settled ultimately by force or by commonsense. Which was it to be? Fianna Fail appealed to the good sense of the people. It pointed out that the use of force could only lead to a further weakening of the nation, leaving it helpless to defend itself against outside attack—a prey to its enemies. It called attention to the way suggested at the end of the civil war in 1923—the peaceful way offered by the Republican forces to the Cumann na nGaedheal Executive of the time but unfortunately rejected by them. It showed that it was the Oath of Allegiance as a political test that barred the way to acceptance of the principle of order that national policy was to be determined by the freely elected representatives of the people sitting in a national assembly. It showed that once the oath was removed it would be possible for all sections to participate through their representatives in framing the national policy and in making the laws by which they were to be governed.

Fianna Fail marked out accordingly the abolition of the oath as the first immediate national objective. The organisation was scarcely founded when it was clear that it had the support of an overwhelming majority of those who refused to accept the Treaty of 1921.

We trusted the people and our trust was returned, we abolished the oath of allegiance as we had promised and made it possible for any party or any group to put before the people any policy, political, social or economic in which they believed, with the certainty that if they secured a majority they will be handed over the machinery of government as peacefully as that machinery was handed over to us, and that they will then have at their disposal as a Government all the resources of the nation to put their policy into effect. That being so, I ask what possible excuse is there for any section seeking to secure power by force. Is it not evident that any section so minded must have the intention of trying to subject the majority to their will.

A couple of years ago one party started to build up here a military or semi-military organisation on Fascist lines. It was clear that as a Government we could not permit that to be done. If one section of the community could claim the right to build up a political army, so could another and it would be rent asunder by rival military factions. I ask you to look upon the state of Europe to-day, and guess what was likely to happen here if the shirt movement, blue or green, black or red, was allowed to go on. Each faction might claim that they, its members, were animated by the highest ideals that the system they advocated was the best political, economic or social system, that they were inspired only by love of the Irish nation and regard for the welfare of its people, but where would it all have led. Is there anyone who doubts that the nation would have been ultimately torn to pieces. This nation has too much leeway to make up to be able to afford such lunacy, and I appeal to everyone who has any love for this country or any regard for it to cease counselling or countenancing such mad courses.

The obvious way to settle our political or other differences—the only way in which they can be settled with safety to the nation—is by the peaceful way of the ballot box and through the machinery of representative government. That way is now open to every party. The part that has won the majority to its programme and gets a summons their parliament on the Hill of Tara if they so desire. They can establish any form of government they desire, but if a minority tries to have its way by force against the will of the majority it is inevitable that the majority will resist by force and this can only mean civil war.

The people supported Fianna Fail because its policy was a practical one. It kept the alternative of a free united Irish nation clearly in view but it concentrated successfully on the nearer local objective, along the way striving at each point to put upon people only the strain which people could bear, and, with which people could bear, have so consolidated the position reached that no future party is ever likely to get the nation to retrace its steps.

WEANING PIGS

It might be said that though a good deal of fuss is made about the management of a sow at farrowing, the more important time is when her young are being weaned. With the knowledge which is now available about the effect on conformation of varying planes of nutrition, it has become important to see that the nutritional level should be correct at all stages. Though it is true that there are stages when the level may be a relatively low one, it must be emphasised that in the early stages of a pig's life its feeding, writes a correspondent of "The Times," should be on as generous a scale as possible for both pork and bacon.

It is for this reason that large weaning weights are considered so important, apart from the fact that the pig which is well grown at weaning is a better proposition than one which has not thrived so well. Almost more important still than a good weaning weight is to see that growth is not checked at weaning, and it would be carried to have a pig of moderate weight taken from its mother than one of excessive weight which was allowed to get a set-back at weaning.

When pigs are run with the sow for as long as she will nurse them it is usually found that she will give milk till they are from 10 to 12 weeks old. When this is done, however, it is found that the overhead costs of the sow on each pigging become too heavy, and it is also impossible to have the sows farrowing at the same time each year. For these reasons it is usual to wean pigs at eight weeks old, which allows 115 days in-pig, 56 days suckling, and 12 days from weaning to coming on heat. It might be possible to wean at nine weeks, and still have five days for the sow to come on heat, but this is cutting things very fine and in practice it would not work out. It is said that the war the Danes managed to get five litters a sow in two years. This would necessitate weaning at four weeks old, and while this can be done with a very plentiful supply of milk it is risky business.

It follows that even at eight weeks weaning is rather an artificial process and should be undertaken only with the greatest care. Far to many producers accept weaning at this age as a natural process, and are satisfied with the second-rate results which arise from this assumption. Two things have to be done. In the first place the piglings must be taught to eat solid food as soon as possible. It is for this reason that so much emphasis is being laid just now on the use of creep feeding from three weeks onwards.

In the second place, the milk of the sow must be gradually reduced, both to accustom the piglings to doing without it and to protect the sows' udder from the inflammation which too sudden change is bound to occasion. In the last week before weaning, therefore, the milk should be gradually reduced, till on the last day she is not getting more than 5 lb. of milk. If possible the pigling should also be removed from her for longer and longer periods each day to assist in both of these changes. When these precautions are carried out there should be no need to bring the sow back five times to the litter, merely to use large doses of Epsom salts to take the milk off the sow. Nevertheless these expedients must be resorted to if necessary rather than run any risks of an inflamed udder, which often causes permanent loss.

One possibility of getting the full efficiency of the sow's milk for 10 or 12 weeks, and at the same time keeping two litters a sow, has not yet been fully investigated, and might form a very fruitful line of investigation. If the sow could be induced to come on heat without stopping yielding her milk there would be the possibility of keeping the pigs on her for longer than eight weeks. Usually, of course, she does not come to the boar till her milk has quite disappeared, but this is not always the case. One occasionally finds a sow, particularly one with small litter, coming on heat while still suckling, and if she is served there is seldom much trouble about her not holding to the boar. A case of this kind is accidental and believed to be caused by a short supply of milk. Other causes have been noted where heat has been brought on by only cutting down the food supply suddenly after it has been raised to a very high level, and, although there has been a slight loss of condition on the part of a litter for a few days, the final weaning weight has been entirely satisfactory.

COAL CATTLE PACT'S AID TO FREE STATE

Shortage of cattle, combined with the extension of the coal-cattle pact between Great Britain and the Irish Free State, has brought profit-making back to the cattle trade, according to Mr. Michael J. Cooke (chairman), speaking at the half-yearly meeting of the National Bank, Limited, in Dublin. Rising prices, however, especially when accompanied by a shortage, may be yet a further hindrance to the recovery of those farmers whose stocks were dispersed in the last few years. Trading conditions generally, said Mr. Cooke, appeared to be improving, and as business is now conducted much more on a cash basis than formerly money is circulating more freely. Sales of lands were few, and lack of goodwill remained a very big obstacle to the bank with it; he must take every shilling to the sheriff's office.

The board of the bank, Mr. Macken continued, should deal with frozen debts in a considerate manner.

YOUGHAL TRAINING CAMP

VOLUNTEER SPORTS

An enjoyable and successful sports programme was gone through at the Volunteer Camp at Summerfield, Youghal, on Wednesday week, in delightful weather. It being half-holiday, a large number of townspeople availed of the occasion. Captain Heston, O.C., camp, was sponsor, and he was assisted by Comdts. M. O'Neill and O'Connell, Capt. Leane, Lieuts. Byrne, Dunne, Stapleton, Glavin, Buttiner, Butler and Murphy.

The Pipes' Band of the 4th Battalion Regiment of Rifles, Cork played during the evening. Details—100 Yards—Vol. Lynch (8th Cycle Squad), 1; Vol. Donegan (4th Cycle Squad), 2; Vol. Twomey (10th Cycle Squad), 3. 80 Yards—Vol. Hanrahan (5th Squad), 1; Vol. Fleming (9th Cycle Squad), 2; Vol. Foley, 3.

Inter-Squad Shooting Competition—7th Cycle Squad, 1, 85 points; 10th Cycle Squad, 2, 84 points. 220 Yards—Vol. Donegan, 1; Vol. C. Twomey, 2; Vol. J. Murphy, 3. 440 Yards—Vol. R. Hanrahan, 1; Vol. Twomey, 2; Vol. P. Foley, 3. 50 Yards—Corporal Coffey, 19ft. 1in., 1; Vol. Conside, 18ft. 5ins., 2; Long Jump—Corporal P. Coffey, 18ft. 9ins., 1; Vol. D. Coffey, 2; Vol. Conside, 3.

Inter-Squad Relay Race—7th Cycle Squad (Volts. J. Murphy, P. Chalane, T. Riordan, T. O'Regan), 1; 4th Horse Squadron (Volts. M. Donegan, M. O'Gorman, J. McCarthy and M. O'Shea), 2.

An exciting and hotly contested Inter-Squad tug-o-war rounded off the proceedings in great style, loud cries of "Up Kerry," "Up Cork," being heard on all sides. In the final tug the 7th Squadron (Cork) beat the 8th (Cork). Lieut. Byrne acted as starter and Lieut. Murphy as umpire.

When the farmer had money he deposited it with the bank. To-day the Irish Millants he could not run to the bank with it; he must take every shilling to the sheriff's office.

"TYPE" IN CATTLE

Nearly all farmers are familiar with the word "type" as applied to various classes of farm animals, as for example, in cattle we have the beef type and the dairy type. These terms are applied to animals of the same kind, but possessing different physical characteristics. For instance, an animal that would conform fairly closely to the beef type differs very much in conformation from one that conforms to the dairy type. They would differ in outline and in form, thus causing a vast difference in their general appearance.

In the case of the beef animal we have one conforming in body more or less to the parallelogram, compactly built, with widely sprung ribs, giving it a broad, level back and a great width of loin. The shoulders are broad and well filled at the level, and, although there has been a slight loss of condition on the part of a litter for a few days, the final weaning weight has been entirely satisfactory.

This characteristic has been developed by the breeders of this particular type. Over a century ago Bakewell commenced improving the common types of cattle with the view to improve their fleshing qualities and to make them mature at an earlier age. The type of animal that he commenced with was rather long of body, upstanding, angular and rough and very slow in maturing. To accomplish his end he gradually changed the conformation of these animals through selection and by practising the rule of "breeding the best to the best" and the best to him meant cattle that were short of leg, were squarely built, compactly made, carrying an abundance of natural flesh and that were capable of maturing at an early age. As time went on the cattle with which he worked began to take on a different appearance and to conform more nearly to WATERFORD.

Feeder's know by experience that animals of certain type are more profitable as feeders than animals of a different type which lack some of the characteristics of form in which the first excel. For instance, a low set, blocky beast conforming closely to beef form will tend to fatten more readily than a more upstanding animal with a flat rib and sharp angular shoulders. Both of these animals may be perfectly healthy and equally strong from a constitutional standpoint, but the food consumed by these two animals is utilised in a different way. In the first case it is turned into flesh and fat, for the main part on the outside of the body, the back and loin and quarters.

The change was not entirely confined to the form, for with it animals of this improved type proved to be able to utilise their food to much better advantage than could the original rough and rangy sort. When he said "utilise their food to better advantage" we mean that they attained a marketable weight from one to two years earlier than was formerly the case. Thus we see that conformation has a direct bearing on the ability of an animal to utilise its food. An animal of faulty conformation is usually one that cannot make the best possible use of its feed.

An animal of faulty conformation is usually one that cannot make the best possible use of its feed.

In many breeds of sheep and among pigs also, this relationship between the conformation of the animal and its ability economically to utilise food can be seen. A.M.S. in "Farmers' Gazette."

DEISE DOINGS

CHRONICLED AND CRITICISED

By CARRIG NA GAEDHEAL (Specially Contributed.)

A Blank Bank Holiday

The Bank holiday on Monday August 3rd was a more or less blank day for many people. The majority of the business houses in Waterford were closed while some of the large factories were doing work as usual. The city looked dismal and deserted, more so than if there was a general order in force—Shops shut. There was an invasion of Tramore by thousands of children. I have never seen such a multitude of kiddies on the strand except on the days of the Poor Children's excursion. That reminds me that 95 per cent. of the children (the poorest of the poor) in Waterford get a day or two at the sea-side every summer. The great problem confronting the Public Health Authorities nowadays is to provide adequate playing grounds for children, so that they can get plenty of fresh air and healthy exercise. Child welfare schemes and school medical inspection schemes, dental clinics and eye and ear clinics, etc., cost a big lot of money. The provision of facilities for recreation for children should be part and parcel of these Public Health schemes. There is a tract of 400 acres of marshy lands close to the city—the Killybary Bog—which would (if drained) provide a happy playing ground for all the children in Waterford.

An Impartial Chairman

The Kilmacthomas correspondent of "The Observer" has frequently mentioned certain alleged activities of "The Metal Man." Perhaps he has never heard that the "Metal Man" was once proposed for the Chairmanship of the Waterford Board of Guardians. The 87 Guardians were present from Counties Waterford and Kilkenny and the Waterford County Borough. It was a foregone conclusion that the outgoing Chairman, Mr. X would be elected. And when the question was put: "Is there any other candidate?"—A member, who disagreed with the ruling of the Chairman (on many occasions) proposed that "The Metal Man" be elected on the grounds that he would be strictly impartial. The other qualification was: "his" expert knowledge of coast erosion.

The Good Shepherd Laundry—Takes The Shine Out of Competitors

One of the most commodious and best-equipped motor vans seen "on the road" in the County and City of Waterford is that belonging to the Good Shepherd Laundry. The Good Shepherd Laundry is one of the most elaborate and up-to-date concerns of the kind in the County of Wex. All the latest machinery has been installed. The plant is worked by electricity. The cleaning and pressing of clothes is a speciality, and garments that would, in the ordinary course, be relegated to the cast-off shelves can be made to look like new when put through the modern process in vogue in the Good Shepherd Laundry. The most delicate fabrics, lace curtains, table covers, etc., are renovated and laundered with the least wear or tear being caused to the texture. In the gloss and make-up of collars, cuffs and shirts the Good Shepherd Laundry takes the shine, I think, out of their competitors. A collar will keep bright and fresh for a week—a shining testimony to excellent laundry work. There is no need for people in these parts to send their laundry orders to places one hundred miles away.

The Site For New Co. Hospital—Favoured by Local Government Department

Following a lengthy discussion the Waterford and District Workers' Council at their monthly meeting on Tuesday, July 28th, decided to oppose the hospital amalgamation scheme, the delegates impressing the opinion that the workers of the city would prefer to see the County and City Infirmary extended. According to the official summary of the proceedings as furnished by Mr. C. O'Rourke, Secretary, there seemed to be a very definite objection to the proposed hospital being built on the present County Hospital site. The Secretary was directed to send a letter of protest on behalf of the Council. I think it should be up to the members of the Workers' Council to suggest an alternative site. The position is this: The Medical experts of the Local Government Department favour the site of the present County Hospital. The members of the Waterford County Board of Assistance had to agree to that site, otherwise the Hospital Sweestakes grant of £60,000 for a County Hospital would be lost as far as Waterford is concerned. The building scheme when it materialises, will provide an abundance of employment for a couple of years.

A Complaint About The County Hospital

Arising out of the above discussion, it was decided to request the County Hospital Committee to ensure that relatives of patients who are dangerously ill or likely to die should be notified at the earliest possible moment. As one who has twenty years experience of the working of the County Hospital, I can truthfully say that there is no need whatever for the Workers' Council to send such a request to the County Hospital Committee. The Matron is most careful and scrupulously exact in sending notification to persons whose relatives are dangerously ill. The Waterford County Hospital is, in my opinion, one of the best managed institutions of the kind in
