Scratch Races and Dance-A most interesting series of Scratch Races will be held under the auspices of the Rowing Club next Sunday afternoon which should provide very attractive entertainment for all lovers of aquatic sport and the fact that no less than eight crews have since kept in training, and are eager and anxious to compete in next Sunday's event, constitutes a record for the Rowing Club.

The rowing enthusiasm in evidence this season is a striking tribute to the organising powers of Mr. T. F. Olden, Hon. Sec., and Mr. L. D. Dunne, Vice-Captain, who so successfully revived the Club early this year, and it is entirely due to their energy and influence that a leaving a balance of £324 is. 8d.

Believe it or not but it was only by the proverbial skin of the human teeth t at Waterford scraped home in the Alll pland Junior Hurling Semi-Final at mis. Mayo went within a pip of bring-I off the most sensational double of the year. It would be hard to say which were the more profoundly shocked, Kerry or terford? But, whereas, mourning is the lot of the defeated Kingdom foottillers, our junior hurlers are, and ought to be, sincerely grateful that they escaped t a fate of their Kerry comrades. The I cies fifteen got the fright of their lives. dentally, the results focus attention on the wonderful progress of the Gaelie a cer in Connacht. Waterford has every cason to thank its luck and our hurling fi teen liave been taught a very valuabl le son. Widespread reports about the p. or standard of Connaught Junior Hurl ing lulled our lads into a false sense of scourity. They took the field with an easy as which reflected the supreme corfid mee they felt. This Mayo side was easy prey-just third-rate; Ah! yes! no need to be too hard on them; we would treat them to a nice lesson in fancy hurl ing. How rude the shock! How unnerving the reaction!

Our lads started off with a shot or two of the embroidered pattern hurling, but five minutes of picturesque ball-play led nowhere until Ormond doubled a fast ball for the opening point. Then the Mayo lads shawed that they held some good trumps in this hurling game too. Lying close to the Decies men, they mixed it with right good will. The Waterford Tallow will contribute to the enjoyment of prominent archaeologists attached to the hurlers made the grevious tactical mistake of trying to beat Mayo at their own v. orous close-quarters game; but, Galway in that hectic first half at Roscrea, proved that even the redoubtable Garryowen hurlers could not afford to let Connacht men call this tune. The result was that little was seen of that fast striki and accurate positioning which were the chief winning factors in our junior successes heretofore. Scores came slowly. Car forwards, O'Mahony and Greene exted ,were overmastered and outplayed by a strong Mayo defence in which the star, George Ormsby, excelled. At the recent specially convened meeting of the Co.
