DUNGARVAN'S NEW FACTORY
 TO BE OFFICIALLY OPENED BY MINISTER OF INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE

THE OFFICIAL OPENING OF THE DICKENS LEATHER COMPANY'S FACTORY, WILL BE PERFORMED BY MR. SEAN LEMASS, MINISTER FOR INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE, ON MONDAY NEXT, 3rd. MAY, AT 1 P.M.

THE DICKENS LEATHER COMPANY LIMITED
 The Chairman and Directors of The Dickens Leather Co., Ltd., extend a cordial invitation to the General public to attend the Official Opening of the Tannery at the Esplanade on Monday, May 3rd., at 1 p.m. (Summer Time).
 The ceremony will be performed by Mr. Sean Lemass, Minister for Industry and Commerce.
 In order to co-operate with the decorative scheme, all who can are requested to display as much bunting as possible throughout the Urban Area.

THE COMMITTEE OF THE DUNGARVAN DEVELOPMENT AND INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION WISH THAT THE PEOPLE OF DUNGARVAN DISPLAY BUNTING ON MONDAY, MAY 3rd., AS THE MINISTER FOR INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE WILL BE OFFICIALLY OPENING THE TANNERY ON THAT DAY.

each and 20,000 Ordinary Shares of £1 each.

The result showed the confidence of the people in the projected industry, as when the list opened on Tuesday, October 29th., 1935, they had to be closed down immediately, being heavily over-subscribed.

The Factory is ideally situated on the edge of the Harbour and the Offices are well ventilated and lighted. The employees number over one hundred, and the weekly pay roll in the neighbourhood of £300.

In the production of the neatly finished fine leather required by the Factory, hides, skins, etc., come from all over the Globe—far away China, Africa, the near East, South America and Europe, all are suppliers of the raw material required by the Factory in the manufacture of its products.

The various types of leather manufactured include—semi-chrome box calf, willow calf, linings for all types of boots and shoes, clothing and gloving leathers, etc.

The Managing Director, Mr. Reginald Dickens, is one of the most important lining leather manufacturers in England. Under his guidance and supervision, the industry in Dungarvan is progressing rapidly, and his one aim, is that the finished products here are not only up to the English standard but surpasses that standard in many of the varieties manufactured here.

The Chairman of the Company is Mr. Kennedy O'Brien, Glendalough, Dublin.

The local Directors of the Company are—M. A. Casey, M.B., Dungarvan, and P. J. Moloney, Managing Director of A. Moloney & Sons.
 The establishment of this Factory has proved a great boon to the workers of Dungarvan, and it is pleasing to announce, that they fully appreciate the steady and lucrative work which has been given them. The co-operation and good feelings that exists between the Management and the work-

MOTOR AMBULANCE IN ROAD SMASH CHARGE AGAINST DRIVER DISMISSED

At Cappoquin District Court, before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L., a serious motor accident which occurred on the main road between Cappoquin and Dungarvan on the night of Nov. 19th, in which the Dungarvan motor ambulance, driven by Thomas Power, Mary Anne, was involved in collision with a motor car, was held to be the fault of the latter. The ambulance was seriously injured, and a man named Thomas O'Gorman, was seriously injured, had a sequel when Superintendent Quinn, Lismore, summoned Thomas Power, the driver, under 51 of the Road Traffic Act for dangerous driving on the occasion. The case had been listed for hearing before two previous Courts, but had to be adjourned, as the injured man was not sufficiently recovered to be able to give evidence before now. Mr. M. M. Hally, solr., Waterford, appeared for the defendant, and Mr. A. R. Farrell, solr., Dungarvan, held a watching brief on behalf of the injured man, Thomas O'Gorman. John Cullinane, Tour, Cappoquin, was examined by the Supt., and stated that he was at the Dungarvan fair on November 19th with Thomas O'Gorman, who purchased some cattle there, and they were both walking home towards Cappoquin behind the cattle, and reached Croughane, about 2 miles outside Cappoquin, about 7 o'clock that night. Witness then saw the lights of a motor vehicle coming against them from the Cappoquin direction, and before they had time to get the cattle out of the way the ambulance dashed into them and killed one of the heifers, and also struck O'Gorman and knocked him down. Both the heifer and O'Gorman were then carried along by the ambulance for a distance of about 40 or 50 yards, and on looking back witness saw an object dropping off the ambulance, and on going back he found Thomas O'Gorman lying injured on the road. The driver of the vehicle then pulled up and came back to O'Gorman and rendered all assistance, and later had him conveyed to Dungarvan hospital in a passing motor van. Replying to further questions by the Supt., witness said the road was dry at the time, as it was a fine dry night. Cross-examined by Mr. Hally—Witness said they had both left their homes for the fair about 4 or 5 o'clock that morning, and he had three drinks with O'Gorman in Dungarvan during the day, and he had a couple of drinks by himself besides. The driver of the vehicle was of his own age, and was driving very fast. They were driving five heifers in a bunch in front of them, four behind and one black. The four led heifers were on the grass margin on their right and side of the road, coming from Dungarvan direction, and the black was on the road, and it was this one that got killed. Mr. Hally asked witness would any accident have occurred if the cattle and O'Gorman had been on their proper side of the road, and witness said there would be no. Witness was further asked was it not the usual practice when two men were in charge of cattle coming along the road to have one man walk in front and the other remain behind, and why was not this precaution taken on that night? Witness said they didn't consider it necessary, as they had met very little traffic before the accident. In reply to further questions, witness said it would take about 3 hours to walk with cattle from Dungarvan to the place where the accident happened. Mr. Hally commented on the late hour at which they were coming home, considering that the fair was finished early in Dungarvan, and suggested that witness must have been tired that night and had only a hazy recollection of what had happened. Witness said he had a clear recollection of everything, as he and O'Gorman had their dinner together in Dungarvan, and were in proper condition when they started for home. Thomas O'Gorman, Coodelane, Lismore, the injured man, was next examined by the Supt. He said he remembered the night of Nov. 19th when he and John Cullinane were driving the cattle home from Dungarvan Fair. He saw the lights of a motor car approaching about a half-mile away, and as it got nearer, he saw it was the ambulance and he shouted to the driver "go easy," but he was then struck on the chest and knocked down, and he remembered no more. He was a patient in Dungarvan hospital until early in January this year. In cross-examination, Mr. Hally, asked him why he had not driven the cattle on their proper side of the road, and he said he did not get time to drive them out of the way before he was knocked down. He was also asked why one of them did not walk in front of the cattle, but his reply was inaudible, and Mr. Hally commented on the unsatisfactory nature of his answer. The Supt. said it should be remembered that the ambulance had received a serious fracture of the skull on the occasion, and it is his duty not to be very clear, and if it was a minute that he was able to give his evidence to what he said. Supt. Dalton, Cappoquin, stated that on receipt of a report about the accident he proceeded to the scene at 7.30 that night, accompanied by Guard O'Mahony, and when they arrived at the spot, the defendant Thomas Power, approached them and told him that the injured man had been removed to Dungarvan hospital. The ambulance was then on the grass margin on the left, of 50 feet side of the road, but 250 feet away from the point of impact. The carcass of the heifer was also on the left side of the road, 114 feet from the point of impact. He saw human bloodstains on the road, which he learned were O'Gorman's, these being 91 feet from the point of contact. The width of the road was 28 feet at the point of the accident, and there was a grass margin of 3 feet on the left side facing Dungarvan, and a similar margin 11 feet wide on the right side of the road. He saw some broken glass on the road 18 feet from the point of impact, and also hoof marks, as if the heifer had been dragged along some distance after being struck. The heifer was dead on the road-side at the time, and it appeared as if its neck was broken. On examining the ambulance he found the shield of the radiator bent inwards, and also saw that the glass of the right-hand lamp was broken. He then interviewed the driver, who made a voluntary statement to him after being cautioned, in the course of which he said that he was accompanied on the ambulance by Hannah Hally, hospital attendant, and was driving at about 35 miles an hour and did not see the cattle until he was between 3 and 5 yards from them, and as he had not time to swerve to the other side, he applied his brakes hard, but the ambulance struck one of the cattle, and he believed that it had also struck the man behind. He said he believed that where the bloodstains were on the road was the point where the impact had occurred. Cross-examined by Mr. Hally, witness said that everything he saw would indicate that the ambulance was travelling on its own side of the road. Witness was next questioned as to the focus of the headlights on an undulating road like this, and Mr. Hally suggested that the headlights on a car going up a slight incline would not show an object in a hollow immediately in front, but witness said that from a test he had made with Guard O'Mahony he found that the lights would show for a distance of 200 yards. Replying to further questions, he said the road was damp that night, and the lights would not show so well on a damp tarred road as they would on a dry road. Mr. Hally—Don't you think when two men were driving cattle along the road at night it would have been the better and safest plan to have one man travel in front of them? Witness—Well, it would be a sensible thing to do. Guard John O'Mahony, Cappoquin, generally corroborated Supt. Dalton's evidence, and said he found some animal hairs on the bumper of the ambulance. Guard Fitzpatrick, Waterford, a motor expert, gave evidence of having examined the ambulance in Mr. M. J. Sargent's Garage, Cappoquin, on November 24th. Having given various technical details, he said he found the front brakes good, but the back brakes were in a bad condition, the entire brake power being only about 25 to 30 per cent. effective, which the usual percentage was about 80. Supt. Quinn said that closed his case. The Defence. Mr. Hally, in opening the defence, said the driver's case was that he was travelling along carefully on his own side of the road at about 35 miles an hour when those two men came along, carelessly driving the cattle on their wrong side of the road, which would prove a veritable "trap" for any driver. Thomas Power, defendant, was then examined by Mr. Hally and stated that he had 15 years experience as a motor driver, and had been driving the ambulance for the past 3 years, and had never been involved in an accident before this. On the night in question he was returning with the ambulance from Newcastle, after driving a patient home from Dungarvan hospital, and was driving along carefully on his own side of the road, and did not see the cattle until he was only about 5 yards away from them. He had no time to swerve to the opposite side of the road, so he jammed on the brakes as hard as he could, but the ambulance went on and struck the heifer, and he then got frightened and "I lost my head," and that was why he did not pull up more quickly. He had examined the brakes within the previous week and found them all right. Cross-examined by the Superintendent—the brakes were held up the ambulance in about 70 yards when travelling at the rate of 35 miles an hour. When asked to explain why the ambulance was 250 feet from the point of impact, witness explained that after the accident he tried to start the ambulance and go back for the priest and doctor for the injured man but after travelling for about 10 yards he found the engine would not work, and he could not go any further. He believed that when O'Gorman was found on the road was the place where he was struck, as he did not think he had been carried any distance after the accident. Replying to further questions, he explained that when going up a slight hill immediately in front of him, as they would be focused over it, and that was why he was unable to see the cattle until he was within 5 yards of them. Hannah Hally, Hospital Attendant, who accompanied the driver, said Power was driving very carefully on the left-hand side of the road, and was not going very fast. The ambulance was almost right on top of the cattle before they saw them, and there was no time to swerve to the opposite side. She went back to the injured man after the ambulance had stopped, but she did not get to him. She then took a stretcher out of the ambulance and placed O'Gorman on it, and she accompanied him to Dungarvan hospital in a motor van. To the Justices—They had been to Newcastle with a patient, and had a short delay at her house at Mohonah as they were on their way back to Dungarvan hospital. Mr. M. J. Sargent, Motor Agent and

Engineer, Cappoquin, stated that the ambulance was removed to his garage after the accident, but he was not allowed to do anything to it until Guard Fitzpatrick had first examined it. When he later made a thorough examination, he found the front brakes reasonably good, but they were bad on the back wheels, and required readjustment. John Cullinane was recalled at this stage by the Justices, and asked about the condition of the heifer after the accident, and having fully explained this, the Justices next recalled the defendant, and asked him about the hour when he left the hospital to go to Newcastle, and at what hour he was due back to the hospital. Defendant explained the time he left Dungarvan, and said that Newcastle was entirely outside his district, and was strange to him as he had never been there before with the ambulance. He was not due back at the hospital at any particular hour, so he had no need to drive unduly fast on the return journey. The ambulance was 30-H.P., and weighed 36 cwt., and had been covered 18,000 miles at the time of the accident. This completed the evidence, and Mr. Hally then reviewed the facts of the case, and commented on the late hour at which those cattle were returning from Dungarvan fair, when no motor driver would expect to find them on the road. He also emphasized the difficulty of seeing dark objects like 4 red and 1 black heifers on a dark tarred road at night, and said if they had not been so carelessly driven along on the wrong side of the road, with nobody in front of them, this regrettable accident would not have occurred. He held that no case of negligent or dangerous driving had been established against his client, and he confidently asked the Justice to dismiss the case. The Justice then reviewed the evidence very fully, and said that all of this would probably have to be heard in another Court when the question of civil liability would arise. He had always tried to keep the balance even in cases of this class, where an action in the Civil Court was likely to find, and his duty in this Court was to find out who was responsible for the accident. Having taken everything into account in this case he could not say who was responsible for the accident, and he would accordingly dismiss the case against Thomas Power.

LAND SETTLEMENT ASSOCIATION CO. WATERFORD

A meeting of the Executive Committee was held in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on April 25th. Dr. Casey, presided. The Secretary, Mr. Ed. Curran, reported that he had received various correspondence from Landowners, the Land Commission and the T.D.'s relative to matters which were under discussion at the last meeting. Invitations were sent to the Hanna P.L. T.D.'s to attend this meeting and he was glad to see Mr. Sean Goulding present. Since our last meeting two farms have been divided—one in Knockanore and the other near Portlaw, and various other farms have been inspected. Negotiations are going on to acquire estates at present, and he was glad to say that progress was now being made by the inspectors from the Land Commission. The Secretary then read the various correspondence, and said that he was glad to see 20 more inspectors were about to be appointed from the Land Commission. The Chairman pointed out to the meeting that this was the best report presented to us here by our Secretary, and he was pleased to hear of the progress made by us concerning these matters, which were being handled by the Government from which all Old I.R.A. Men about to occupy a holding would be entitled to apply for a small amount, say £50 or £100, to be paid back over a period of ten years. Cases of Old I.R.A. have come to the notice of this Association who have been deprived of a holding owing to lack of capital. This Fund would prevent such cases occurring in the future. Deputy Goulding took part in the various discussions, and raised many points during the course of the meeting. He stated that Land Division was part of the Government policy, and every case must be taken to see that only suitable applicants are given land, and that there is a living on the land for these people. He had prolonged discussions with the Officials of the Land Commission re various estates recommended by this Association as suitable for division, but where the Poor Law Valuation, and the annuity on some of these were considered it was agreed that it would not be an economic proposition to divide a number of estates on your list, as small acreage said Deputy Goulding, and the cost of the necessary formalities before these could be taken over and divided, would make the annuities on them so high that the tenants could not meet them. It was stated by your Chairman that 50,000 acres have been divided in County Tipperary. Quite true, and when speaking of one of the T.D.'s from that county recently, he stated that he had had estate after estate put over to him by the present Government and they must all be financed. You are all taxpayers. Well if we do not make use of our own money for the benefit of the community as a whole, it would not be long until the burden of taxation would be greater than that which we are able to bear. The long debate on a large scale re-division, £10,000,000 expenditure was discussed, we would have to be satisfied to do for 25 or 30 years. The Minister for Finance was told that he could find a big loan, but we must be satisfied that it would mean increased taxation, and the people of this generation would be compelled to bear the whole blunt of it. If we were to have re-division, your Chairman has said that a Fund should be made available from which all Old I.R.A. men could get loans. If your Secretary will send me a copy of that resolution, I will put it before the Minister for Finance for his immediate attention. The Chairman thanked Sean Goulding for attending the meeting and for his able statement on Land Division, his pros and cons. Deputy Goulding said that Land Division in County Waterford too highly rated which makes it uneconomic to divide. The Association has already sent the Department of Lands various farms lying derelict for years on which each year brings an increase in the debt due on same. While things continue as they are, the State must be prepared to meet the cost of such derelict farms and the rates of the county must be increased the following year, to compensate for the non-collected rates. While things continue as they are, the State must be prepared to meet the cost of such derelict farms and the rates of the county must be increased the following year, to compensate for the non-collected rates. Mr. J. Crotty, Windgap, stated that it is of our duty to be coming here unless we have some representative from this County in the Dail who will give us his whole-hearted support in dividing the land. The Chairman thanked Mr. J. Crotty for his statement, and said that he was glad to hear that the Dail was now engaged in prayer, and my hat was engaged in prayer, and my hat was engaged in prayer, and my hat was engaged in prayer.

TALLOW NEWS.

The Late Very Rev. F. C. Canon Prendergast, P.P., Tallo— At a specially convened meeting of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, the President, Dr. J. O'Mahony, M.O., proposed and the Vice-President, Mr. D. J. Kelly, seconded, that the Society's sympathy be extended to the Lordship West Rev. Dr. Kinane, Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, the Canons of the Diocesan Chapter and the Priests of the Diocese, on the loss they had sustained by the death of the late Very Rev. F. C. Prendergast, P.P., the saintly Pastor of Tallo, who had laboured so long and faithfully in the vineyard of Christ. His loss to the Society, as its founder and Spiritual Director, was very keenly felt by its members. Rev. J. Corbett, C.C., acting Spiritual Director, responded in feeling terms on behalf of his Lordship and the Priests of the Diocese. The vote was passed in silence, the members standing. Death of Miss Catherine O'Mahony, Tallo— Tallo lost one of its oldest inhabitants in the person of Miss Catherine O'Mahony, Convent street, whose death took place at the Cottage Hospital, Dungarvan, at the end of last week. Deceased who was well over 80 years old, had been ailing for a considerable time, prior to her removal to the Hospital some ten or twelve days before, and though suffering from infirmity, her death came rather unexpectedly. Her remains were removed to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Tallo, on Thursday evening, and on Friday and Saturday morning Requiem Masses were celebrated for the repose of her soul by Rev. J. Corbett, C.C., and Rev. T. Murphy, C.C., who also officiated at the interment which took place in the family burial Plot attached to the Church. A large gathering of friends and sympathisers attended.

DEATH OF MRS. MEANEY, KILLINEEN

We regret to announce the death of Mrs. Meaney, Killineen, Dungarvan, which occurred at the District Hospital on Saturday last, after a brief illness, and at a comparatively young age. On Sunday evening at 4 p.m. the remains were removed to the Parish Church, Dungarvan and the funeral cottage that accompanied the remains was fully representative of the town and surrounding districts. On Monday at 11 a.m. the remains were taken to the family burial place at Knocknole, where interment took place.—R.I.P.

BALLYDUFF NOTES

G. A.— Well, the men from Ballyduff gave a good account of themselves on Sunday last. In the face of many sarcastic comments, Con Higgins and Mick Fenney weathered the storm, and proved beyond doubt that the team from the village will take some holding in the Junior County Championships this season. By the way, we will be meeting Lismore at Tallo on Sunday next, so if you want to see hurling at its best come along to the town by the Bridge. The lads here are quietly confident and are intent on reversing last year's defeat. But it will be an hour of strenuous canman work, I have no doubt, although I fancy the Ballyduff boys to win by a considerable margin. Their team has been strengthened in every possible way and has been in hard training for the past two months.

Farm Work

The recent spell of dry weather has again set all the farm implements into action. There is a general rush round here to get all the spring work over quickly, especially the sowing of the potatoes. Apparently the local farmers believe in the old saying that when potatoes are not in before the cuckoo, they will be "cuckoo spuds."

Fishing

It is indeed surprising that such large numbers of fish are killed up here with rod and line, considering the great dearth of trout in Lismore, which is open for an almost negligible period.

Sewerage

We hear so much of late about this "war on disease," and "prevention is better than cure" business, that it is indeed surprising that the greatest enemy of health, a town without a sewerage system of any kind, should be allowed to exist at all in the county. However, who repeated appeals to those responsible have been completely ignored, perhaps it is best to ignore to turn the dangers of disease, and they, too will lose effect.

Weather

The weather looks like mending up at last and perhaps, Old Moore's prediction is at fault. He prophesied a wet April and May.

"APEX"

The Knockanore delegate reported that the members of his branch who were in that area, four of whom were Old I.R.A. men.

GALVANISED WIRE NETTING

We have just completed a very big contract for Galvanised Wire Netting and we will be in a position to offer it considerably less than last season. MOTOR AMBULANCE IN ROAD SMASH

Interesting Case At Cappoquin Charge Against Driver Dismissed

At Cappoquin District Court, before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L., a serious motor accident which occurred on the main road between Cappoquin and Dungarvan on the night of Nov. 19th, in which the Dungarvan Hospital motor ambulance, driven by Thomas Power, Mary street, Dungarvan, was in collision with a number of cattle, as a result of which one heifer was killed, and a man named Thomas O'Gorman, was seriously injured, had a sequel when Superintendent Quinn, Lismore, summoned Thomas Power, the driver, under 51 of the Road Traffic Act for dangerous driving on the occasion.

The case had been listed for hearing before two previous Courts, but had to be adjourned, as the injured man was not sufficiently recovered to be able to give evidence before now.

Mr. M. M. Hally, solicitor, Waterford, appeared for the defendant, and Mr. A. R. Farrell, solicitor, Dungarvan, held a watching brief on behalf of the injured man, Thomas O'Gorman.

John Cullinane, Tour, Cappoquin, was examined by the Supt. and stated that he was at the Dungarvan fair on November 19th with Thomas O'Gorman, who purchased some cattle there, and they were both walking home towards Cappoquin behind the cattle, and reached Cappoquin about 7 o'clock that night.

Witness then saw the lights of a motor vehicle coming against them from the Cappoquin direction, and before they had time to get the cattle out of the way the ambulance dashed into them and killed one of the heifers, and also struck O'Gorman and knocked him down. Both the heifer and O'Gorman were then carried along by the ambulance for a distance of about 40 or 50 yards, and on looking back, witness saw an object dropping off the ambulance, and on going back he found a Thomas O'Gorman lying injured on the road.

The driver of the vehicle then pulled up and came back to O'Gorman and rendered all assistance, and later had him conveyed to Dungarvan hospital in a passing motor car.

Replying to further questions by the Supt.—Witness said the road was dry at the time, as it was a fine dry night.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hally—Witness said they had both left their homes for the fair about 4 o'clock that morning, and he had three drinks with O'Gorman in Dungarvan during the day, and he had a couple of drinks by himself besides.

The driver of the vehicle was on his own side of the road and was not driving very fast. They were driving five minutes in a bunch in front of them, there being two and one black. The four red heifers were on the grass margin on their right side of the road, coming from Dungarvan direction, and the black one was on the road, and it was this one that got killed.

Mr. Hally asked witness would any accident have occurred if the cattle and O'Gorman had been on their proper side of the road, and witness said there would be no.

Witness was further asked was it not the usual practice when two men were in charge of cattle coming along the road to have one man walk in front and the other remain behind, and why was not this precaution taken on that night?

Witness said they didn't consider it necessary, as they had met very little traffic before the accident.

In reply to further questions, witness said it would take about 3 hours to walk with cattle from Dungarvan to the place where the accident happened.

Mr. Hally commented on the late hour at which they were coming home, considering that the fair was finished early in Dungarvan, and suggested that witness must have been tired that night and had only a hazy recollection of what had happened.

Witness said he had a clear recollection of everything, as he and O'Gorman had their dinners together in Dungarvan, and were in proper condition when they started for home.

Thomas O'Gorman, Cooldeane, Lismore, the injured man, was next examined by the Supt.

He said he remembered the night of Nov. 19th when he and John Cullinane were driving the cattle home from Dungarvan Fair. He saw the lights of a motor car approaching about a half-mile away, and as it got nearer, he saw it was the ambulance and he shouted to the driver "Go easy," but he was then struck on the chest and knocked down, and he remembered no more. He was a patient in Dungarvan hospital until early in January this year.

In cross-examination, Mr. Hally, asked him why he had not driven the cattle on their proper side of the road, and he said he did not get time to drive them out of the way before he was knocked down. He was also asked why one of them did not walk in front of the cattle, but his reply was inadmissible, and Mr. Hally commented on the unsatisfactory nature of his answer.

The Supt. said he should be remembered that this unfortunate man had received a serious fracture of the skull on the occasion, and his brain could not be very clear yet, and it was a miracle that he was able to give his evidence so well today.

Ernst Dalton, Cappoquin, stated that on the night of a committal about the accident he proceeded to the scene at 7.30 that night, accompanied by Guard O'Mahony, and when they arrived at the spot, the defendant Thomas Power, approached him and told him that the injured man had been removed to Dungarvan hospital. The ambulance was then on the grass margin, on the left, or grass side of the road, but 250 feet away from the point of impact. The carcass of the heifer was also on the left side of the road, 114 feet from the point of impact. He saw human bloodstains on the road, which he learned were O'Gorman's, these being 91 feet from the point of contact.

The width of the road was 28 feet at the point of the accident, and there was a grass margin of 3 feet on the left side facing Dungarvan, and a similar margin 17 feet wide on the right side of the road. He saw some broken glass on the road, 28 feet from the point of impact, and also hoof marks, as if the heifer had been dragged along some distance after being struck. The heifer was dead on the roadside at the time, and it appeared as if its neck was broken. On examining the radiator he found the shield of the radiator bent inward, and also saw that the glass of the right-hand lamp was broken. He then interviewed the driver, who made a voluntary statement to him, after being cautioned, in the course of which he said that he was accompanied on the ambulance by Hannah Hally, hospital attendant, and was driving at about 33 miles an hour and did not see the cattle until he was between 3 and 5 yards from them, and as he had not time to swerve to the other side, he applied his brakes hard, but the ambulance struck one of the cattle, and he believed that it had also struck the man behind. He said he believed that where the bloodstains were on the road was the point where the impact had occurred.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hally, witness said that everything he saw would indicate that the ambulance was travelling on its own side of the road.

Witness was next questioned as to the focus of the headlights on an undulating road like this, and Mr. Hally suggested that the headlights on a car going up a slight incline would not show an object in a hollow immediately in front, but witness said that from a test he had made with Guard O'Mahony he found that the lights would show to a distance of 201 yards.

Replying to further questions, he said the road was damp that night, and the lights would not show so well on a damp tarred road as they would on a dry road.

Mr. Hally—Don't you think when two men were driving cattle along the road at night it would have been the better and safest plan to have one man travel in front of them?

Witness—Well, it would be a sensible thing to do.

Guard John O'Mahony, Cappoquin, generally corroborated Sergt. Dalton's evidence, and said he found some animal hairs on the bumper of the ambulance.

Engineer, Cappoquin, stated that the ambulance was removed to his garage after the accident, but he was not allowed to do anything to it until Guard Fitzpatrick had first examined it. When he later made a thorough examination, he found the front brakes reasonably good, but they were bad on the back wheels, and required readjustment.

John Cullinane was recalled at this stage by the Justice, and asked about the condition of the heifer after the accident, and having fully explained this, the Justice next recalled the defendant, and asked him about the hour when he left the hospital to go back to Newcastle, and at what hour he was due back to the hospital.

Defendant explained the time he left Dungarvan, and said that Newcastle was entirely outside his district, and was strange to him, as he had never been there before with the ambulance.

He was not due back at the hospital at any particular hour, so he had no need to drive unduly fast on the return journey. The ambulance was 30 H.P., and weighed 36 cwt., and had been nine months on the road, after having covered 18,000 miles at the time of the accident.

This completed the evidence, and Mr. Hally then reviewed the facts of the case, and commented on the late hour at which those cattle were returning from Dungarvan fair, when no motor driver would expect to find them on the road.

He also emphasized the difficulty of seeing dark objects like a red and a black heifer on a dark tarred road at night, and said if they had not been so carelessly driven along on the wrong side of the road, with nobody in front of them, this regrettable accident would not have occurred.

He held that no case of negligent or dangerous driving had been established against his client, and he confidently asked the Justice to dismiss the case.

The Justice then reviewed the evidence very fully, and said that all of this would probably have to be heard in another Court when the question of civil liability would arise.

He had always tried to keep the balance even in cases of this class, where an action in the Civil Court was likely to follow, and his duty in this Court was to find out who was responsible for the accident. Having taken everything into account in this case he could not say who was responsible for the accident, and he would accordingly dismiss the case against Thomas Power.

LAND SETTLEMENT ASSOCIATION CO. WATERFORD

A meeting of the Executive Committee was held in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on Sunday, April 25th. Dr. Casey, President, presided.

The Secretary, Mr. Ed. Curran, reported that he had received various correspondence from the Minister for Lands, the Land Commission and the L.D.'s relative to matters which were under discussion at the last meeting. Invitations were sent to the Fianna Fail T.D.'s to attend this meeting and he was glad to see Mr. Sean Goulding present. Since our last meeting two farms have been divided—one in Knockmore and the other near Portlaw, and various other farms have been inspected. Negotiations are going on to acquire other estates at the moment, and he was glad to say that progress was now being made by the inspectors from the Land Commission.

The Secretary then read the various correspondence, and said that he was glad to see 20 more inspectors were about to be appointed by the Land Commission.

The Chairman pointed out to the meeting that this was the best report presented to us here by our Secretary, but there were many issues decided by us concerning which no mention was made in the various letters that have been sent to us by our Secretary. We decided that a Fund should be made available by the Government from which Old IRA's have been obliged to secure a holding would be entitled to apply for a small amount, say £50 or £100, to be paid back over a period of ten years. Cases of Old IRA's have come to the notice of this Association who have been deprived of a holding owing to lack of capital. This Fund would prevent such cases occurring in the future. Mr. Sean Goulding took part in the various discussions, and raised many points during the course of the meeting.

He stated that Land Division was part of the Government's Policy, but every case must be taken to see that only suitable applications are given, and that there is a possibility on the land for these people. He had prolonged discussions with the Officials of the Land Commission re various estates recommended by the Association as suitable for division, but when the Poor Law Valuation, and the annuity on some of these were considered it was agreed that it would not be an economic proposition to divide them. A number of estates on your list are small in acreage and it is necessary for the cost of the necessary formalities before these could be taken over and divided, would make the annuities on them so high that the tenants could not meet the same.

It was stated by your Chairman that 50,000 acres have been divided in County Tipperary, and that when speaking to one of the L.I.R.A. members that county recently, he stated that they in Tipperary have estates and plenty of them for division, whereas in county Waterford very few big estates are available. When the various schemes put into operation by the present Government are considered, and they must all be considered, you are all assured that we do not mean to use our resources for the benefit of the community as a whole, it would not be long until the various schemes put into operation by the present Government are considered, and they must all be considered. You are all assured that we do not mean to use our resources for the benefit of the community as a whole, it would not be long until the various schemes put into operation by the present Government are considered, and they must all be considered.

The Chairman stated that the Minister for Finance was still making a big issue of the big land problem, but whatever was done it would mean increased taxation, and the people of this generation would be compelled to bear the whole burden of it if it were all spent on re-afforestation. Your Chairman has said that a Fund should be made available from which all Old IRA's have not taken loans. If you Secretary send me a copy of that resolution, I will put it before the Minister for Finance for his immediate attention.

The Chairman thanked Sean Goulding, for attending the meeting and for his able statement on Land Division in his report and on the coming general election, and he was glad to hear that the L.D.'s were so highly rated which makes it so economic to divide. The Association has always been in favour of the L.D.'s, and he was glad to hear that the L.D.'s are so highly rated which makes it so economic to divide. The Association has always been in favour of the L.D.'s, and he was glad to hear that the L.D.'s are so highly rated which makes it so economic to divide.

By the way, we will be meeting Lisdoonvarney on Sunday next, so if you want to see harling at its best come along to the town by the bridge. The L.D.s here are quite confident and are intent on reversing last year's defeat. But it will be an hour of strenuous caman work, I have no doubt, although I fancy the Ballyduff boys to win by a considerable margin. Their team has been strengthened in every possible way and has been in hard training for the past two months.

Farm Work.—The recent spell of dry weather has again set all the farm implements into action. There is a general rush round here to get all the spring work over quickly, especially the sowing of the potatoes. Apparently the local farmers believe in the old saying that when potatoes are not in before the cuckoo, they will be "cuckoo spoons."

Fishing.—It is indeed surprising that such large numbers of fish are killed up here with rod and line, considering the great death trap at Lismore, which is open for an almost negligible period.

Mr. Joe Villiers Stuart of Dromana, and Capt. T. O. Jameson, husband of the celebrated artist, Mrs. Jameson, have been doing considerably well recently.

Sewerage.—We hear so much of late about this "war on disease," and "prevention is better than cure" business, that it is indeed surprising that the greatest enemy of health, a town without a sewerage system of any kind, should be allowed to exist at all in the county.

However, when repeated appeals to those responsible have been completely ignored, perhaps it is best to ignore in turn the dangers of disease, and they, too, will lose effect.

Weather.—The weather looks like mending up at last and perhaps, Old Moore's prediction is at fault. He prophesied a wet April and May.

PORTLAW "PICKINGS"

A pleasure is published that almost eighty per cent. of the requirements of An Sior in sole leather is now manufactured here at our capably-equipped Factory here, and that close on three-hundred hands are employed at the work.

At the moment there are more than thirty boot and shoe factories in the Free State, and between them they have created a demand, increasing month by month, for leather of various texture, toughness and quality. Harross and sole leather is being produced at the New Ross factory; the Carrick-Suir, Dungarvan and Gorey factories.

Men of means and leisure are finding that, in these days of world cruises, it is as cheap to live on the move as at one fixed centre. It costs no more to spend one's time on a liner than in a hotel. Hence the number of globe-trotters is steadily increasing. We have one friend (the worthy member of a good old local family)—who lucky fellow—has a purse long enough to permit him indulge his penchant for sight-seeing. At regular intervals he drops us a card. We have had them from various ports and inland centres; in the two hemispheres, and from places as remote as China, Persia, New York, San Francisco, and even from Alaska. One never knows what postmark his next card—always carrying cheerily message—will bear. No matter how one hants in from Mexico City and it depicts a typical plaza de toro (bull-ring) with the espada in the act of finishing off the unfortunate bull, forced to its knees through loss of blood. He relates—"I was at a most sacred shrine in Guadalupe a couple of days ago when hundreds of the faithful were engaged in praying, and my hat was stolen while I was resting in a pew!"

We must remind our roving friend that the Scriptural teaching is to watch as well as pray!

Sportlaw Sporter's grandmother's warning is still worth a radio message—"Ne'er cast a clout till May be out." In Portlaw as elsewhere, the sun smiles with seductive radiance and then creates a surprise by switching over from tropical to Arctic gear. It is like luring a victim to his doom with a bait of sugar. No matter how one may be tempted to neglect the overcoat or oilskin stick to it. That is our advice. A warm friendship should not be hurriedly dissolved.

Surely this is the latest feminine qualification for marriage—Said one Leather City citizen to another—"The woman I marry must be a good swimmer."

So that she'll know how to keep her mouth shut at the right time."

We sincerely sympathise with a troubled neighbour of ours who is looking for a house that should be increased from 2 to 5 miles.

That Commissioner Mounihan be requested to give an explanation why the second scheme of Labourers Cottages is not already under way.

That Commissioner Mounihan be requested to put into operation in the county the "Small Dwellings Act."

That the Minister for Finance be asked to have a Fund of £1,000,000 available from which Old IRA's could get loans at a low rate of interest to stock the land.

That Commissioner Mounihan be requested to secure for all cottages in County Waterford a holding of at least one acre.

There were 23 Parish Branches represented at the meeting.

They keep peeping in and out of the kitchen, and when ever he is not looking they raid thearder. They even seem to enjoy the poster which he lays down for their undoing, and they have gone so far as to run off with one of the springs created for their capture.

A Carrigrohore-side critic was cruel enough to suggest that these particular mice were myths of the imagination; but such is not the case. If any kind reader would suggest a way of remedying the trouble his advice would be appreciated. In the meantime it has occurred to us that a cat or two might cope with the situation. Cats have killed mice before now.

TALLOW NEWS.

The Late Very Revd. F. C. Canon Prendergast, P.P., Tallow—

A specially convened meeting of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, the President, Dr. J. O'Mahony, M.O., proposed and the Vice-President, Mr. D. J. Kellher, seconded, that the Society's sympathy be extended to His Lordship Most Rev. Dr. Kinane, Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, the Canons of the Diocesan Chapter and the Priests of the Diocese, on the loss they had sustained by the death of the late Very Rev. F. C. Prendergast, P.P., the saintly Pastor of Tallow, who had laboured so long and faithfully in the vineyard of Christ.

His loss to the Society, as its founder and Spiritual Director, was very keenly felt by its members.

Rev. J. Corbett, C.C., acting Spiritual Director, responded in feeling terms on behalf of his Lordship and the Priests of the Diocese.

The vote was passed in silence, the members standing.

Death of Miss Catherine O'Mahoney, Tallow—

Tallow lost one of its oldest inhabitants in the person of Miss Catherine O'Mahoney, Convent street, whose death took place at the Cottage Hospital, Dungarvan, at the end of last week. Deceased who was well over 80 years old, had been ailing for a considerable time, prior to her removal to this Hospital some ten or twelve days before, and though suffering from infirmity, her death came rather unexpectedly. Her remains were removed to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Tallow, on Thursday evening, and on Friday and Saturday morning Requiem Masses were celebrated for the repose of her soul by Rev. J. Corbett, C.C., and Rev. T. J. Murphy, C.C., who also officiated at the interment which took place in the family burial Plot attached to the Church. A large gathering of friends and sympathisers attended.

Applications For Hall

The use of the Hall was granted to the Accordia Dance Band for Sunday night April 25th and to the Dickens Leather Company Social Club on May 16th.

The application from the Band Committee for the Hall on Horse Show night July 8th was deferred.

Housing Scheme Sanctioned

The following telegram was read from the Department—Your letter of the 22nd inst., to hand. No objection to advertising for tenders for 139 houses on specification revised as stated.

The Clerk said that Mr. Doyle suggested two advertisements be issued, one for the Clearance Area portion, and the other for the M. Grath site.

Mr. Croly said he thought that was decided on already.

Chairman—We have already decided to advertise both ways—separately and jointly. It is satisfactory that we have got sanction.

It was decided to advertise both ways, and to consider the tenders at the meeting to be held on May 21st.

Clerk of Works The Chairman asked how the matter of the Clerk of Works now stood.

The Clerk—There is no information from the architects yet.

Chairman—It would be better to have that matter cleared up. The Council appointed two Clerks of Works, but since one of them had died.

Mr. Byrne—Would it not be just as well to adhere to the decision of the Department that one Clerk of Works was sufficient. The Department want to save expense.

Mr. McCarthy said he could not see how one Clerk of Works could supervise both schemes.

Mr. Croly agreed and said that unless he had a working foreman or something like that, he could not see how one Clerk of Works could do the job.

Mr. O'Dwyer—If one Clerk of Works would do, I can't see why we should expend a hundred pounds on a second. If one Clerk of Works was able to supervise a scheme in Limerick, one portion of which was a mile apart from the other, one should do here.

Mr. Croly said he would favour the one Clerk of Works, but he thought particularly in the laying of the foundations that one could not properly supervise both schemes.

Chairman—At the time we advertised for tenders before we appointed two Clerks of Works, one of those has since died. Then we had to amend the specification and we queried the Department as to whether we should readvertise for another Clerk of Works and they replied that it was not necessary, but to submit the names of the original applicants to the architects.

Mr. Croly said it was his opinion that two men would be necessary at least while the foundations were going down.

Chairman—As against that take the Board of Health. They built a scheme of 200 cottages each cottage may be a mile apart, and one man to supervise.

Mr. Croly—How many of the cottages are condemned?

Mr. Quann—Was it not on the architect's suggestion we appointed the two men? They held two were necessary for the proper supervision of the scheme.

Mr. Byrne proposed and Mr. O'Dwyer seconded that only one Clerk of Works be appointed.

After much discussion, it was decided to await the recommendations of the Architects on the original application for the position.

Cleaning Urban Roads

A letter from Mr. Griffin, Strand Hotel, referring to the condition of the road channel opposite his premises, was, on the suggestion of Mr. Dahill, referred to the County Surveyor.

Arbitration Award

Mr. Williams, solicitor, wrote enclosing a copy of the award of Mr. Troy, D.J., in the arbitration case of Mr. M. Ryan and the Council. The letter stated—"You will note that he has awarded £115 compensation and also costs and expenses. This figure includes compensation for any damage which Mr. Ryan may suffer in the future, in addition to the damages suffered by him in the past.

Mr. Williams further wrote stating that Mr. Troy's fee is £5 5s., Mr. James Hayes' fee £5 5s., and £15 15s. to cover solicitors expenses, etc.

Mr. Dahill—It is not such a rotten field after all.

Mr. Quann—Mr. Williams' field was cheap, considering this.

Mr. Croly—I hope the Council will run a sewer through my field.

Mr. Quann—There was fee-simple land up there sold at £150 an acre.

Mr. O'Dwyer—I made a suggestion to the Council to come to an agreement with Mr. Ryan at £50, but it was laughed at.

Mr. Foley said the whole thing is illegal. There was an order on the books on the matter which was not rescinded.

Chairman—Mr. Hayes' valuation was £50 and it would not be accepted by Mr. Ryan, it then went to arbitration.

Mr. Quann—There are two parties to the case. He understood that at the hearing of the case a letter was read from Mr. Ryan to the Board of Assistance, offering to accept £50.

Clerk—That referred to a certain portion. You are only subject to two-sevenths of the cost of this.

Mr. Foley said if they took his advice—

Mr. Quann objected to the remarks of Mr. O'Dwyer and Mr. Foley and said they wanted to put the blame on other members of the Council.

Mr. Foley—The Council were in favour of Mr. Ryan anyway.

Mr. Dahill said Mr. Quann was a judge at one time and a d—n bad one.

Mr. Croly—That is an uncalled for remark, and should be withdrawn.

Mr. Quann was on his feet and the Chairman called order, order.

Mr. McCarthy—Mr. Quann is entitled to defend himself.

Mr. Quann said he was not ashamed to have acted as judge at that time. Mr. Dahill is not the great man that he thinks he is today. Although they were entitled to have three, only two could be got to act as judges, and Mr. Dahill was very much against them at that time.

The matter then ended.

The Egan Case

Mr. N. Wall, T.D., wrote stating that he interviewed the Minister for Justice and asked him to reconsider his decision with regard to the Egan case. He enclosed the Minister's reply for the Council's information. The reply was to the effect that the Minister was sorry he could not see his way to make an ex-gratopayment to Mr. and Mrs. Egan, but the case is not one in which an ex-gratopayment should be made out of Public Funds.

Water and Sewerage Schemes Messrs. Delap and Waller, Engineers for the above scheme, wrote enclosing draft advertisement re the appointment of Clerks of Works, and suggested that with regard to notices to be served in respect of right to enter premises for the purposes of the carrying out of the schemes the Council's solicitor should be consulted who would advise as to the necessary notices.

In a further letter Messrs. Delap and Waller, asked that a representative of their firm be present when the Council were considering the tenders.

This was approved by the Council, who also decided to have the Architects present when the Housing tenders are being considered.

CAPPOQUIN DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.)

UNLICENSED MOTOR CARS

Guard Deviney, Cappoquin, summoned Miss B. McGrath, for driving a motor car without a licence, and also for having failed to display her road tax certificate on the car.

Complainant said the car had been licensed up to September 30th, 1936, and the amount due for the quarter following, during which the car was not licensed was £4 10s. 0d.

There was no appearance on behalf of defendant, and the Justice said as the first offence governed the second one, he would convict only on the first summons and impose a fine of £20, reduced to 20s.

The same complainant summoned Ed. Doherty, Old Parish, Dungarvan, for using an unlicensed motor car, and also for having failed to display his road tax.

Mr. A. R. Farrell, solicitor, Dungarvan, appeared for defendant, and stated that the licence had since been taken out, and defendant was left off with a fine of 1/- on each summons.

The same complainant had two similar summonses against Pate, Kiehl, Tankardstown, Banaha, Co. Tipperary, for whom Mr. T. C. Williams, solicitor, Dungarvan, appeared, and he was also fined 1/- in each case, as the licence had since been taken out.

Same v. James Fitzgerald, Parnell street, Clonmel, for failing to display his licence. Defendant was fined 2/6.

Same v. Matthew Nugent, Gratlan Place, Clonmel, for the same offence. Fined 2/6. Same v. Abraham Kennedy, Knockelly, Fethard, for a similar offence. Fined 2/6.

Unlicensed Dogs

Guard Twomey, Villierstown, summoned Michael Ronayne, Dromore, Aglish, for having an unlicensed dog in his possession.

It having been stated that a licence had since been taken out for the dog, the Justice marked the case "withdrawn."

The same complainant summoned David Crotty, Dromore, for a similar offence, and this case was also marked "withdrawn," as the licence had since been taken out.

Guard Harte, Villierstown, summoned Edmond Dowry, Curradarra, for a similar offence.

Defendant appeared and stated that the dog in question was only a greyhound pup which he was keeping for Dr. Byrne, V.S., Dungarvan, who had since taken out a licence, and a similar ruling was made in this case.

Wandering Cattle

The same complainant summoned Matthew H. O'Brien, Aglish House, for having allowed a number of cattle to wander on the public road, and a fine of 2/- was imposed.

"The Lame And The Blind"

Sergt. Dalton, Cappoquin, summoned three men of the itinerant class, of no fixed abode, named Martin Carrigan, Martin Cleary and Joseph Rooney, for being drunk and disorderly in Cappoquin on the night of February 18th.

The Sergt. said this was the night of the Point-to-Point Races in Cappoquin and the three defendants were creating a big row near Owen Long's lodging house on the Quay.

One of the men had only one leg, another was blind, while the third suffered from no infirmity, but the latter had been assaulted by the lame man and was bleeding about the face.

The Justice—And I suppose the "Blind" man looked on (laughter).

The Sergt. added that the three men had to be taken to the barrack and kept in for the night owing to their disorderly conduct.

The Justice imposed a fine of 5/- on each defendant, and added that he supposed it would not be an easy matter to find those men now, as they were probably wandering all over the country.

Charge of Assault

A young man named Pate, O'Brien, Mount Stuart, summoned another young man named Thomas Foley, Lisnagriffin, for assault on January 1st.

Mr. T. C. Williams, solicitor, Dungarvan, appeared for complainant, and Mr. A. R. Farrell, solicitor, do, defended.

Complainant stated that on the date in question he found the defendant and others fencible for rabbits on his father's land and cutting down the fences with a slasher. When he ordered them to leave the land, defendant struck him with the slasher and knocked him down, and also kicked him.

Cross-examined by Mr. Farrell, solicitor, complainant admitted that he had a stone in his hand when coming towards the defendant, but he did not intend to strike him with the stone. He also admitted that he caught hold of the slasher and tried to take it from defendant, but not for the purpose of striking him with it.

His first remark to defendant was: "Get off the land, you terrier," and defendant said "You should not talk at all." The Justice—Is that true?

Complainant—It is, sir.

Patrick Crotty, a young lad, corroborated O'Brien's evidence. He heard O'Brien ordering Foley to leave the land, and Foley then struck him with the slasher and knocked him down in the briers.

IRISH SPORT—EARLY TROUT FISHING

From now on trout should be in good enough condition and the months of April and May should show almost the best fishing of the year. Those who have not done so already should now give their tackle a thorough overhaul.

Lines and casts should be thoroughly tested and if any defects are found they should be scrapped. A cast used last year should, we think, be scrapped anyway.

It is different with a new cast that has never been used. If it has been properly stored and not exposed to any light it will not have suffered in the least.

Reels should be dismantled and well cleaned and oiled. A good gun oil is suitable.

Rods should be carefully examined and all loose whippings renewed, also faulty rings, etc. A rod should get a light coat of varnish every year.

The very best carriage varnish should be used and given plenty of time to dry.

Drying takes place quicker and better in the open air. We always hang up our rods after varnishing in an open shed, and give them about a week so that the varnish will have thoroughly hardened before handling.

Flies—At this time of year wet flies are most successful, and though some anglers love to carry a fly-book containing countless numbers of patterns, there is no need for this at all.

Personally we don't want more than about six patterns for any one month, and some of these are good for several months.

The Hare's Ear, for instance, will kill trout on any day of the year on most rivers.

So will a good Black. We killed many a fine trout on a Black made of the hair of a Cocker Spaniel, taken from behind his ear.

This fly has a spot of silver tinsel on the tail and the wing is of a starling's feather.

Later in the year, during May and June, the wing is changed to the grey feather of a Mallard and it is then called the Black May Fly and is still an excellent killer.

Upon one occasion we hooked a salmon on this fly but as it was so light we soon parted company with both fly and salmon.

Other flies for spring time are March Brown and Golden Olive. In mild, warm weather an olive quill will sometimes do well, and if the weather is cold an orange wren will kill when trout will look at nothing else.

This axiom holds good also for later months, and is an excellent illustration of how susceptible trout are to the vagaries of the weather.

Our experience of fly-work on the lakes at this time of year is more limited, but the ordinary wet flies in a larger size generally do well enough.

The trouble is that on lakes one is not able to pick out likely spots as on a river, and after all, dapping with natural May fly in May and June, or with Daddy-long-legs in August, is the best form of angling obtainable in Ireland.

Outside of these special times we really prefer river fishing.

Again, we hope all our shooting friends are remembering to pay careful attention to the matter of destruction of vermin.

A sharp look-out should be kept for nests and the occupants, whether magpie or grey crow, shoot on sight.—GUNMAN, in "Farmers Gazette."

DEATH OF MR. M. DUNFORD, ENGLISHTOWN, KILROSSANY

The death of Mr. Michael Dunford, which occurred at a ripe age at his residence, Englishtown, on last Friday week caused deep regret in the district, where he was held in the highest respect.

He was an honest, hardworking and obliging neighbour, a most exemplary Catholic all his life and died a most peaceful and happy death after he had received the last sacraments of the Church. Up to the last he was an old camp follower of the Kilrossany football team.

The remains were removed to Kilgobnet Church on Monday evening and were followed by a large cortege, interment took place immediately afterwards in the adjoining burial ground.—R.I.P.

EAST CORK JOTTINGS

Kilteagh—May Sunday—

Two very interesting hurling matches are billed for next Sunday, when Castle-martyr and Aghada will battle for supremacy, and Killeagh and Ballymacoda will try conclusions.

The prizes in both matches being sets of silver medals. All the teams concerned are well-known exponents of the art of caman wailing.

Castle-martyr, perhaps, being the most prominent. Many will remember their clash with Mayfield two years ago.

Lately, however, they have lost the services of some very good players, and their revered president, Fr. O'Keefe, is now in Carrigrohilly, and is sorely missed by everybody, but particularly by the members of the G.A.A. in Castle-martyr.

Their past training, however, will stand to them, and they can be relied on to give a very good account of themselves.

Aghada are sturdy fighters and good hurkers, who are well trained, and eager and determined to lower the Castle-martyr colours.

By hard work, perseverance and strict attention to practice, they have established a proud tradition, up to which they mean to live, and if possible, enhance on this occasion.

Killeagh v. Ballymacoda—

The Killeagh team get a complete overhaul this season, and they played a very fast game a few weeks ago against Kilonrat, which many thought they were rather unlucky to lose.

On their own ground they are certain to play well.

In Ballymacoda, they have opponents worthy of their steel. A team that will not admit defeat, but will battle on whatever the odds, to the last whistle.

They are, perhaps, the toughest fighters in East Cork, and are clearly determined hurlers.

The matches, combined with the other attractions that Killeagh and Glenbowe can offer on Sunday are bound to attract a big crowd.

Killeagh Fair—

Killeagh fair on Monday last, was well stocked, and prices in all departments especially where forward young cattle were concerned, had a strong upward tendency.

Taken all round it was the best fair held in the eastern part of the county for a considerable time, and gave farmers some ground to hope for a much-needed improvement in their condition.

KILMAGTHOMAS NEWS.

CONFIRMATION—

His Lordship Most Rev. Dr. Kinane, Bishop of the Diocese of Waterford and Lismore, confirmed upwards of 150 children in the Parish Church, Newtown, on Wednesday.

In his pastoral sermon, delivered to a very large congregation, after the celebration of Holy Mass, his Lordship expressed himself much pleased at the satisfactory report of the parish given him by their worthy pastor, the Very Rev. Fr. Galvin, P.P.

On Thursday the Bishop administered the Sacrament of Confirmation in the Parish Church, Stradbally, to the Children of the Stradbally, Ballynaneen, and Ballinard schools.

On Thursday the Bishop administered the Sacrament of Confirmation in the Parish Church, Stradbally, to the Children of the Stradbally, Ballynaneen, and Ballinard schools.

DEATH OF MRS. BARRON—

The death of Mrs. Mary Barron, wife of Mr. Michael Barron, Serahna, Kilmagthomas, occurred at her home on Sunday morning, in her 77th year after an illness of some months and is much regretted in her native town and by all who knew her.

THE PASSING AWAY—

Of Mr. Thomas Kelly, farmer, Ballinacorra, Rathgormack, removes an old native with family connections extending over a considerable period. He saw only the cheery side of most things, and his original comment in matters of local interest were always interesting and humorous.

THE GAELS OF MID-DEISE—

Cordially congratulate the County J.H. combination on their victory over Kerry at Dungarvan on Sunday, and wish better luck next time to the junior football representation that succumbed to Tipperary.

PRESENTATION FOR DUNHILL SOGGARTH—

It was announced at a meeting of the Dunhill N.A. and C.A. County Executive, that Most Rev. Dr. Kinane, Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, had graciously consented to the Board's presentation of an illuminated address to the Rev. D. Slattery, C.C., Dunhill, in recognition of his splendid service rendered to County Tipperary athletics while ministering in Cashel and New Inn.

in athletics during his stay in the Archdiocese of Cashel.

IT WILL INTEREST—

Regular patrons of the Pike (Garranbane) Hall of Irish Folk Dancing, as well as all others interested in the poetry of action throughout these parts, that dancing is a sure aid to longevity.

CUCKOOS, CORNCAKES AND SWALLOWS—

Were seen and heard in these parts on Sunday, which was a really delightful day out of doors.

DID YOU HEAR—

That the "Latin Quarter" of the "Half-Way" is the place where everyone speaks Latin and no one has a quarter!

KILMAGTHOMAS MONTHLY FAIR—

This fair, held on Tuesday, was pretty well supplied in all sections. Usual number of dealers, and a large number of good demand for store cattle and keen competition was noted for good animals for grazing.

GAELIC GARNERINGS—

The brace of Eastern Divisional Board bouts billed for Ballyduff (Kilmessin) last Sunday were postponed to a later date, due to the Munster Championship mixes at Dungarvan on that day.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT—

The announcement that two good matches will be brought off at the Old Pike (Garranbane) on tomorrow (Sunday), is a cheering item of intelligence.

FROM THE SECRETARY TO THE FAHA CLUB—

We have it that "Fitzie's" Fifteen will be a right well tested by capital Captain Tommy Power and Co. And gay and sportive neighbour Maurice Hurley avers that "The Midnight Rovers" will best the Cathal Bruha's!

THE "CROOKED STICK" SET—

The "crooked stick" set to be played well matched. Dungarvan and St. Anne's are spoiling for a stern struggle for supremacy, and an excellent exhibition of the matchless code is confidently anticipated.

AT THE NOW WELL AND POPULARLY ESTABLISHED HALL OF THE PIKE FOOTBALL CLUB

At the now well and popularly established Hall of the Pike Football Club a grand Concert and Ceilidhe will take place on tomorrow night, in aid of a positively praiseworthy purpose.

MUNSTER CHAMPIONSHIPS

J.H.—Waterford, 4-3; Kerry 2-2. J.F.—Tipperary, 4-6; Waterford, 0-4.

The Munster Championships were opened on Sunday last at Dungarvan with the first round of the junior events in hurling and football.

The field arrangements were perfect and Mr. Fraher, had the playing pitch the acme of perfection and with the weather beautifully fine, the big crowd who came to witness the matches enjoyed a splendid evening's sport.

FOOTBALL

Waterford got going from the throw-in and effected an entrance, but a free against them lost the advantage.

Tipperary were now making frequent raids on their opponents' lines, but Dalton was responsible for an excellent defence, which had to eventually concede a goal.

saw Waterford's forwards all out for a score. The defence withstood the weight of the attack, but was beaten for a goal.

Another big dash by the respective sides took the scope to Waterford 3-2, Kerry 2-1. Kerry were now giving of their best to wipe out the odds which had been narrowed down, and Clifford, Brosnan and Finnegan were always dangerous attackers.

The hurling was now at its best, and the spectators were pointed for continuing the game. Power pointed for Waterford. Kerry were next in possession, but the opposition of Sneyd, Gough and Higgins was not to be overcome, and moving up, Waterford rushed a goal.

WATERFORD CO. BOARD OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE.

Mr. James O'Donovan presided at the meeting of the above held in Dungarvan. Those present—Messrs. T. Cassidy, P. Canfield, T. Synnot, T. D. Connolly, J. O'Halloran, J. Cosgrave and Commissioner Moyhnan.

District Hospital
On the question of the proposed new District Hospital for Dungarvan, the draft plans of which were before the meeting from the Architects, Mr. Connolly said that when the money was going into it as they did in other counties.

Chairman—The site is all right, but the Department suggests that you get other land.
The Commissioner said he had received a letter from Mr. E. A. Ryan, on behalf of Mr. M. Ryan, stating that his client was not prepared to give more land at the road front, but would give additional land to the rear. He (Commissioner) would suggest that the matter be referred to the Department to see if the additional land was necessary, and if so, they could get the land by compulsory powers.

Mr. Connolly—Dungarvan is the first place on the scheme, and if the delay here is so long, it will take a long time to carry out the whole hospitalisation scheme.

Commissioner—There is no reason why they could not all go on simultaneously.

Mr. O'Halloran—It is sufficient for the people to be paying the present rates and not to have the extra that hospitals would put on them. Hospitals that are not needed, I saw on the paper that you will only get one-third grant.

Secretary—You will get two-thirds, that is 60 per cent.

Mr. Connolly—Why should not we get our whack of the Hospitals' Sweep as well as other counties have got.
Mr. O'Halloran—People cannot pay the present rate, and it is a shame to put another burden on them.

Increase Granted
The meeting unanimously granted an increase from 15/- per case to 21/- per case to Mrs. Murray, Maternity Nurse for County Home cases.

Painting County Hospital Wards
It was decided to get the painting of five wards in the County Hospital done by direct labour under the supervision of Mr. Jefferson.

Caretaker of Bonmahon Dispensary
The Chairman read an application for an increase from the caretaker of Bonmahon Dispensary. The Chairman explained that the lady in question had a lot of extra work to do since Kill Dispensary was closed. She only got 6/6 a week for the rent of the house. Her total payments were £17. He would suggest that she get £5 extra bringing the amount up to £22.

Mr. Cosgrave suggested that they grant an increase of 10/- per week giving her £36 a year.

The Chairman said they ought to agree with the £5, if they grant any more, other caretakers will be applying for an increase.

Mr. O'Halloran—Give her the 10/- pay for labour.

Mr. Synnot—I agree Bonmahon is a growing place and she will have extra work.

Commissioner—Probably the caretaker at Kill had only £3 a year.

On a show of hands—voted for 10/-. The Commissioner said the matter was out of order and should be put on the agenda.

Commissioner—It must be put on the agenda for the next meeting.

Thanks

Mr. Henry Houghton, wrote thanking the Board for their resolution of sympathy in his recent bereavement.

Knockanore Dispensary
It was agreed to ask Mr. Collins, Knockanore, if he would let the house used previously as a Dispensary at an increased rent. The building of a new Dispensary was put off until the information was received from Mr. Collins.

Dungarvan Dispensary
In connection with the proposed new Dispensary for Dungarvan, the Commissioner was deputed to interview the owner of the land adjoining the site already purchased with a view to purchasing it, in order to give the proposed building a greater frontage.

Eysight
Dr. Duggan wrote advising the Board to get supplies of spectacles local so as the children could be fitted on the spot.

Mr. Canfield proposed that they re-advertise and have only locals.

Chairman—Dr. Duggan cannot save you from surcharge.

It was decided to forward Dr. Duggan's letter to the Department, together with three tenders received.

Thanks

Mr. E. Kiely, wrote thanking the Board for their vote of condolence on the death of his daughter.

SPECIAL COURT AT YOUGHAL

At a two-days Special Court, held in camera, at Youghal, before Mr. G. P. Farrell, D.J., Cyril Bush, Main street, Maurice Roche, Cork Hill, Wm. Fitzgerald, do., and Jas. Ahern, do. (15/-) were charged with a serious offence on a young girl.

Supt. Kelly, Middleton, prosecuted, Mr. T. Hutch, solr., Middleton, appeared for Bush, and Mr. M. A. Harvey, solr., Cork, for the others.

The witnesses were Dr. T. Kennedy, Dispensary M.O., Eily, Dwyer, Sarsfield Terrace, a younger brother and sister of the girl, and Sgt. O'Beirne, Youghal.

The Sgt. handed in statements made and signed by all the accused. Mr. Harvey objected to two, questioning the method of caution adopted, but they were allowed by the Court, the objection being duly noted.

Cross-examined by the solicitors for the accused, the girl admitted having been intimate with others.

Evidence in the indictable charges having been concluded, the Supt. said there were sundry charges against Fitzgerald and Ahern in addition.

Mr. Harvey said that the State having closed their case, he submitted that proof of age was absolutely essential and that had not been given in the cases of Ahern and Fitzgerald. They were, therefore, entitled to a refusal of informations.

The Justice said it could be submitted now.

The Superintendent said he had handed in a certificate of birth.

Mr. Harvey—in one case only.

The Supt—I asked her her age and it is on the deposition.

The Justice—That is sufficient for me, Mr. Harvey—She is not in a position to prove her age.

The Justice—I hold she is.

Mr. Harvey said that the only evidence against Fitzgerald, Ahern and Roche was that of the prosecutrix and he submitted that having regard to the nature of her character, as disclosed by her own evidence in the box, she wasn't a witness upon whose evidence any reliance could be placed. She was a public menace. In the circumstances there was not sufficient evidence to justify their return for trial.

Mr. Hutch said the evidence of the prosecutrix against his client was not supported by the others examined, and she made no complaint as she did in other cases. No jury could convict on her evidence alone, in view of her conduct and character.

The Justice said he could deal with the youngest accused (Ahern) summarily, but he would return all four for trial before the Circuit Court. As regards the summary charges he would let them stand over.

All four pleaded not guilty, and reserved their defence.

They were allowed out on bail on two sureties of £10 each, in each case.

KILMACHOTHAS DISTRICT COURT

Mr. John O'Driscoll, Leamybrien, applied for a license to hold dances at Leamybrien Hall, between the hours of 8 and 12 o'clock, on the nights of May 16th, 23rd, and 30th. Mr. T. Kiersey, solr., Kilmachothas, appeared for the applicant.

On ascertaining that the Garda had no objection, his Worship granted the license under the usual conditions.

Fines ranging from 1/- to 2/- and costs were imposed in a heavy calendar of Garda prosecutions of the customary type. The complainants were:—Sergt. J. O'Shea, Leamybrien, Guard Synnot, do., Guard McGrath, do., Sgt. Lynagh, Stradbally, Guard Fitzgerald, do., Guard Donovan, do., Sgt. Horgan, Kill, Guard Hamilton, Kilmachothas, Guard Boyle, do., and Sgt. McGilligot, Kilmachothas.

Owing to the illness of Guard Rice, Kilmachothas, a number of cases brought on by him were adjourned for a month.

The Minister for Lands and Agriculture prosecuted Nicholas Butler, farmer, Kilmachothas, for having in his possession an unlicensed bull and an unlicensed boar.

Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solicitor, appeared for the prosecuter. The defendant, who was not professionally represented, admitted the charges, and was fined £2 in respect of each animal.

A number of farmers of the Cloosca-Rathmore district, were summoned by the Waterford County Council for having failed to cut down roadside hedges. Mr. Dove, Assistant County Surveyor, gave evidence, and all of the parties concerned were ordered to appear in Court to carry out the work without further delay.

They were fined £1 costs in toto.

For driving a motor vehicle which was unlicensed and unnumbered (two charges) on January 2nd and 3rd last, Nicholas Pover, Carrick-on-Suir, was fined £50, mitigated to 10/-, the conviction to be endorsed on his licence, which was suspended for one month.

The Justice said he would have dealt very seriously with the defendant, only that he was greatly impressed by the very convincing and attractive pleading of Mr. Power, solr., Carrick-on-Suir, who appeared for him (defendant).

Decrees for full amounts claimed, together with the costs of each application, were granted in a long list of civil bills disposed of.

Supt. Patrick Dennehy, G.S., Tramore, prosecuted a young man named John Begadon, of Waterford City, for driving a motor lorry without due care and attention on the public road, between Kilmachothas and Portlaur, on the 20th of January last. Mr. H. D. Keane, solr., Waterford, appeared for the defence.

After hearing the evidence of John Murphy, farmer, Ballyphilip, Dunhill (who swore that the lorry Begadon drove ran into his motor car at a bend in the road at Pouldrewh on the occasion, damaging the car); Mrs. Murphy, do. (who was in the car with her husband and corroborated his testimony); Guard Daly Kilmachothas (who produced a map of the scene of the occurrence, with markings showing that the motor car, with the wheel tracks it left on the road, was on its proper side when the impact occurred); the defendant (who said he was taking a lorry-load of coal to Portlaur Tannery and was travelling at from 20 to 25 m.p.h.) when he saw the motor car coming against him at Pouldrewh, and the car swerved to swerve into the side of the lorry as they were passing each other); and David Brophy (who said he was with driver Begadon as a helper to unload the coal; and he, too, thought the motor car swerved into the lorry)—his Worship intimated that he felt convinced the fault lay with the defendant.

Mr. Keane said his client had been 10 years driving and was 5 years in his present job. Begadon was a married man with three children. He strongly appealed for leniency for him.

A fine of £2 was inflicted, to be endorsed on the license, and the defendant was given two months in which to pay the fine.

Cox's Bros., Waterford, versus Michael Fleming, Boamahon.

When this case was called, Dr. Cunningham, solr., Waterford, asked that it be adjourned to the May sitting here, and the Court acceded to the request.

YOUNG MAN REMAINED ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Patk. Connell, a labourer from Macreary near Carrick-on-Suir, was remanded at a Special Court to the next District Court at Carrick, charged with a serious offence.

DAIRYING DISCOURSES

LEVY ON HOME-MADE BUTTER REMOVED

The announcement in the Budget statement of the Minister for Finance that the levy will be removed from home-made butter will be welcomed by the many dairy farmers who, for one reason or another, are still compelled to make butter on their farms. This levy was considered unfair by many farmers who did not properly understand the purpose of it. They did not realise that a similar levy was imposed on creamery butter, and that to impose a levy on farm butter would be placing the farmer at a very unfair advantage. As, however, we foreshadowed on this page, before the levy came to be imposed, it was found very difficult to administer equitably. The temptation to evade it was considerable, and a considerable proportion of the transactions being of a purely local character, it must have been difficult to discover evasions.

It will be gratifying to the home butter-makers to find that in the general readjustment of prices and levies, on all classes of butter, the Government have found it possible to discontinue this charge. Of course, the removal of the charge does not mean that the farm butter-maker will benefit to the whole extent of the levy, inasmuch as the retail price of creamery butter is being reduced from 1s. 5d. to 1s. 3d. per lb. and the sale of home-made butter, being mainly local, the price of it will be reduced accordingly. Nevertheless it should be of benefit to the farmer, as the greater the simplification of his marketing the better. Levies and such charges are under present conditions unavoidable, but while the business man and manufacturer understands how to deal with them, in the case of the primary producer they often only give the middleman the chance of making a greater profit. The maker will now know better where he stands, and, in any case, he is bound to share in the general advance of butter which is likely to take place during the coming season.

The farmers who are now mainly interested in home-made butter are those who do not reside in creamery areas, or within the large district embraced by the Leinster Milk Board. The latter have been receiving a price for milk which is above the butter value. In the case of the creamery districts there are still isolated farmers making their own butter, but the number is becoming less year by year—in fact, in the County of Limerick, the most important dairying county in the country, it would be difficult to find a farmer making his own butter. But there are, however, in the midlands, in Leinster and in Connaught, where considerable quantities of farm butter are still made, numerous persons making merely sufficient for their own use, but a great many supplying the local towns and even the cities.

Before the establishment of the Leinster Milk-Board prices of liquid milk were extremely low in that area, with the result that many farmers continued, or went back to, home butter-making. With the present remunerative prices fixed by the Board, these will go back to liquid milk, and their butter customers will be available to home butter-makers outside the area. It is probable, however, that this is a point that will not be taken much advantage of, mainly through lack of organisation. If home butter-makers had formed some sort of organisation, in each locality, it would be quite possible for them to obtain useful information on this subject, or they could do so by a comparatively small expenditure in advertising.

The lack of organisation is one of the greatest drawbacks with which home butter-making has to contend. No doubt there would be difficulties in the formation of such an organisation, principally due to the great differences in quality between the produce of one maker and another. These differences do not very much affect local sales, but when it comes to sales at a distance, they leave the farmer very much at the mercy of the buyer. On that account even a loosely-strung-together society of the makers in a district would be far better than none at all. Their bargaining power with outside buyers would be greatly increased. They could even, at a trifling rate of commission, appoint their own agent to sell for them in a distant market. It is only by combination also that they could obtain the best help and advice from the instructor appointed by the local County Committee of Agriculture. In these days the mere turning out of good quality butter is by no means sufficient. It must be wrapped and packed in a tidy and clean form, so as to make a good impression on the consumer. The buyer or selling agent will tell the maker what he wants. But if he is not capable of meeting or understanding his requirements, the buyer will simply go elsewhere.

Home butter-making may be the least remunerative form of dairying, but, if carried on efficiently, it is by no means unprofitable. Where there is a good water supply, a reasonably well-constructed dairy, an appreciation of the necessity of strict cleanliness, and, of course, the necessary skill in the making of the butter itself the results should be satisfactory. The regulations issued by the Local Government Board under the Milk and Dairies Act, 1935, are an extremely useful headline to all those engaged in the handling of milk, no matter for what purpose. These regulations are not applicable to butter-makers, but they should be adapted to the extent necessary. No home butter-maker would be expected to follow them closely, though it would be all the better if he could. But it will be decidedly to his advantage if he keeps them well in view.

The reduction—so welcome to the consumer—of the retail price of best butter from 1s. 5d. to 1s. 3d. per lb. does not of course, affect the producer, whose net price is regulated by levies and subsidies which will continue to be paid. On the other hand, it should mean an increased consumption. Butter is an article which

No. 331.—
CANINE HYSTERIA
Investigating the Cause
By PHILOKUON

THE welcome news has just come to the effect that the "Field" is about to institute an enquiry into the cause, and possible prevention or cure, of that distressing malady known as canine hysteria. My opinion was invited several months ago about the desirability of undertaking an investigation into this mysterious disease, and I had no hesitation in planning in favour of such a proceeding. I do not think that it should be beyond the resources of science to discover the cause and suggest a remedy, but the work would be too expensive for any individual or firm to conduct alone. The thing will have to be done so thoroughly, if any useful end is to be reached, that a considerable sum will be necessary.

The "Field" is therefore appealing for funds, as it did in the case of the Distemper research. The sum of £250 is wanted at first for the purpose of enabling a small committee to explore the ground before anything further is done. What steps will be taken afterwards I cannot, of course, say. The aid of the Medical Research Council, supplemented with the assistance of veterinary surgeons was invoked in connection with distemper, and that seems to be a very suitable body. However, that is looking far ahead. Personally, I am hoping that it will not need such a prolonged and elaborate investigation as was required in connection with distemper, but I may be too optimistic. We must wait and see.

Canine hysteria, worrying though it is, does not exact such a large toll of life as distemper does, but it is a serious complaint, widespread and alarming in its manifestations. As a rule, it does not end fatally, though it leaves the unfortunate sufferers in a wretched condition for a time, and it is the source of much concern to the owners of the dogs that are afflicted. From all I can hear it has not diminished in intensity, and we have been deluged with theories about the cause, most of which contradict one another. By some we are told that biscuits are responsible, and then comes the information that it has broken out among dogs that receive little but meat.

Others blame breeding for shows, alleging that inbreeding has made dogs susceptible. Yet we know that gundogs, bred and kept purely for work, are among the principal sufferers. Show dogs have nothing to do with them. I believe the best informed veterinary opinion acting upon disease is digestive system. Possibly it is right, but it gets us no nearer the prevention. The outbreaks occur among so many different classes of dogs, many of which are managed and fed with the greatest care, and are unable to offer any workable suggestion. A friend of mine who has large kennels recently bought several new dogs, which for convenience were segregated from the others. After they had been with him a few weeks they developed hysteria, but his other dogs were untouched. On enquiry he ascertained that the kennel from which they came had also been attacked. That experience makes one wonder if food was responsible. If so, why did his other dogs not succumb?

NOTE—This chat is issued by THE TAIL-WAGGERS' CLUB OF IRELAND, 23, Old Abbey Street (off Marlborough Street), Dublin, C.S. The Club will be pleased to answer any enquiries submitted by Tail-Waggers owners in connection with canine hygiene and welfare.

HOW FARM ANIMALS EAT
The various farm animals are each furnished with differently formed organs by which food is grasped, conducted into the mouth, and then masticated. By such provisions many animals of different kinds originally were enabled to live in the same pasture of feeding territories. Were all to feed in exactly the same way sustenance would soon become exhausted. The cow has somewhat thick, immobile lips, whereas the sheep, which is also a ruminant animal, has very mobile lips and the upper one is cleft. The cleft lip enables the sheep to get its teeth right down on the surface to nibble the shortest sweetest grass. The cow does not use her lips to any great extent in feeding as does the horse. She grasps bunches of grass with her tongue, draws them into her mouth, jerks them off and chews them slightly for they later have to be brought up and rechewed.
The cow has eight incisor teeth in the lower jaw only whereas the horse has six above and below. In the cow and sheep the upper row of incisors is absent but instead there is a pad or cushion of gristle tissue against which the lower incisors hold the grass while it is being torn off. The incisors of the cow normally are somewhat loose, and they are directly forward or almost horizontally placed in the mouth. Were this not the case they would cut the dental pad above. Not aware that the cow's incisors normally are loose, many an owner has, on examination, erroneously concluded that a diseased condition is present.
The cow's tongue is very rough, and so are the cheeks. On the contrary, the checks and tongue of the horse are smooth. Studding the cow's checks are long projections, or papillae, and the tongue and front parts of the hard palate are fitted with saw-like projections. These are parts of the equipment possessed by cows to make perfect mastication possible. Looking further into the cow's mouth, it will be noted that the soft palate does not hang down and prevent breathing from the mouth as in the case of the horse.
There is a cartilaginous ring around the snout of the pig, and the snout contains a special bone not present in other animals. These are the provisions for rooting to obtain food from under the surface of the ground.
It is also interesting to watch how animals chew. The dog quickly cuts meat to pieces and gulps it down. The horse chews slowly and very thoroughly in scissors-like fashion, and largely by lateral action. The cow masticates by longitudinal transverse and vertical motions.
These points will serve for a start in the close examination of animals, and if beginners would look for the things mentioned they would soon become interested in the multitude of other matters to be learned by study, keen observation and comparison. R.P. in "Farmers' Gazette"

G.A.A. NOTES & NOTIONS

By "CROTOG."

The Munster Junior Hurling and Football Championships were opened in Dungarvan last Sunday. The day was cool, but beautifully fine and the attendance was pretty good.

The Tipperary Juniors were far superior to Waterford in all the finer points of Gaelic Football. They won by a big score which would have been bigger still but for wild and aimless shooting.

At mid-field, Morrissey and Moore, though robust, were not crafty or speedy enough for their opponents. Of the forwards, Lucy and Connors were good triers but Keane and Ryan were the only two who ever seemed likely to score.

At mid-field, Morrissey and Moore, though robust, were not crafty or speedy enough for their opponents. Of the forwards, Lucy and Connors were good triers but Keane and Ryan were the only two who ever seemed likely to score.

Of course, most of our lads were making their first appearance in inter-county football. The experience will have taught them a thing or two. The chief lesson of Sunday's game is that our players must concentrate on improving their kicking and holding before they can hope to be a force in inter-county football competition.

At least half-a-dozen of the home team were failures; they were definitely below the standard. Strange as it may seem, most of them were amongst the seasoned players; the young newcomers, taken all round acquitted themselves with distinction.

At mid-field, we were beaten into a coked hat. Here the Kerry pair, Morrissey and Landers dominated the exchanges throughout. It is difficult to explain our failure hereabouts, as in physique and experience our men were certainly not inferior.

Our forwards had too much fiddling with and picking of the ball. All except hefty Jim Plunkett were offenders. Harney was fast and fiery but inclined to rave too much. Long did not impress—playing 70-70 with the ball is not hurling.

Next Sunday, the Western Junior Championships will be resumed with matches at two widely separated venues. In a splendid new pitch at the top of Pike-Bury-Leachin, two very interesting matches are on the programme. Not since the spacious days of long ago, before the foundation of the G.A.A. have hurling matches been played in this historic spot overlooking Dungarvan Bay.

Next Sunday, the Western Junior Championships will be resumed with matches at two widely separated venues. In a splendid new pitch at the top of Pike-Bury-Leachin, two very interesting matches are on the programme.

ers, is the greatest asset any concern could ask for, in meeting the competition at home or abroad.

With the employment of such a big number of young men, it was only natural that the formation of a Sports Club would be one of the first aims of the employees. This they did, and with the full co-operation of the Management, and today they have four Gaelic teams in the field competing for this year's County Championships.

The people of Dungarvan have every reason to feel grateful to the members of the Industrial Development Association, who in spite of the sternest opposition from other towns in the Saorstát—successful in establishing it in Dungarvan.

ful talent from the plains of Leamhain and it is an open secret that "Fitz" has set his heart on cornering all the Junior honours this year. The Pike Rovers Club are in charge of the venue and a memorable day's sport is a certainty.

At Tallow, Ballyin oppose the home team in Junior Football, while the hurlers of Ballyduff will try conclusions with the Lismore Juniors. These contests are causing a bit of a stir in local circles in the Far West and with parish rivalry so keen, thrills and excitement can be expected in plenty.

HARPUR BROS. SEED MERCHANTS, QUAY, WATERFORD

DUNGARVAN DISTRICT COURT.

Held on Wednesday before Mr. Troy, D.J. A large number of undefended civil bills were first disposed of, decrees were granted in nearly all cases, while others were adjourned to the next Court.

Prendergast v. O'Donnell John Prendergast, Mitchel street, sought an instalment order against Patk. O'Donnell, Glendalligan, Kilrossanty, in respect of a decree for £4 obtained by him in June 1936.

Mr. Farrell, solr., for plaintiff. Mr. Farrell, solr., stated that he had a summons served on Patk. Walsh, Kilrossanty by whom the defendant is at present employed.

Patk. Walsh, in reply to Mr. Farrell, said O'Donnell was employed by him since January at 10/- a week, with board. Defendant at one time trained horses, but to witness's knowledge does not do so now.

Mr. Farrell said his client, who is a foreman at the Dickens Leather Factory, was being constantly asked by neighbours to remonstrate with Keohan, owing to his treatment of his wife. On this day he received a letter from America notifying the death of another sister, which he took up to Keohan, and there learned that his sister was in the County Home.

Mr. Farrell said his client went up to Keohan in the interest of his sister and his motives were the best. The Justice said he did not think the defendant's motives were quite as good as all that.

Change of Hours Mrs. Nora Monahan, Clonea Hotel, was granted a change of the licensing hours on Sundays from 1 to 8-2 to 9 p.m.

Lights Guard Rafferty v. John May, Old Youghal Road, Kilmacthomas, fined 3/6. Edward Curran, Graven, Kilmacthomas, 3/6. Patk. Fleming, Curragh-roche, Villierstown, 2/.

Dog Licences Guard O'Leary v. Wm. Gough, fined 3/6. Guard McGee, v. Wm. Fennell, Knockmann, fined 3/6; Richard Kiely, Knockalara, Cappoquin 3/6; Thomas Coffey, Cauty, 3/6; J. Power, Loughmore, 3/6; Thomas Hickey, Knockroe, 1/.

Assault Charge Superintendent Walsh, prosecuted Ed. Tobin, Priory street, with an assault on Thomas Keohan. The case was adjourned from the previous Court owing to the non-appearance of Keohan.

Keohan, who now appeared, replying to the Superintendent, said that on the night of the assault he was in D. Norris's house. Tobin came in and asked witness about his (Tobin's) sister and wanted to know why she was in the County Home.

Witness told him he had better see Dr. Casey about that. Witness went out and when going in his own door he got two "clouts" from Tobin. He went into McGrath's house for a drink of water where Tobin gave him two more "clouts."

He then followed witness to O'Connell street and there was a crowd of about 500 people there, and only for Mr. Barron coming to the aid of witness, he would be in his grave today. The clothes produced were the ones he was wearing; they were all torn off him.

To Mr. Farrell—They were not bad clothes. They were the clothes he was wearing when he was knocked down by the motor car. Tobin had a few drinks in. He did not charge witness with ill-treating his wife. Witness never got people to jeer at his wife. He never remembered Tobin giving 30/- to his sister for boots and witness did not take it from her. He is getting 9/- relief at present. A man named Murphy who used to frequent the house never jeered at his wife.

Serpt. O'Neill said that Keohan appeared to be after getting a bad beating on the occasion. Keohan's wife never complained of ill-treatment. To Mr. Farrell—Keohan generally makes complaints at the barracks. The defendant, Tobin, is a well-behaved man and is in a responsible position.

Guard O'Dea also gave evidence and said Tobin is a normally well behaved young man. Mr. Farrell said his client, who is a foreman at the Dickens Leather Factory, was being constantly asked by neighbours to remonstrate with Keohan, owing to his treatment of his wife.

On this day he received a letter from America notifying the death of another sister, which he took up to Keohan, and there learned that his sister was in the County Home. Defendant bore out Mr. Farrell's statement. When he came home at first he stayed at Keohan's, but could not remain there. He gave his sister 30/- to get boots but next day she told him that Keohan got it. He complained to the Guards about the man Murphy being allowed into Keohan's house.

Mr. Farrell—Witness admitted that he struck Keohan with an open hand because of his ill-treatment of witness's sister. He was sorry now for doing so. To Superintendent Walsh—Witness said he was a boxer to a certain degree. Keohan ill-treated his sister by locking up all the food in the house. He never saw Keohan beating her.

Mr. Farrell said his client went up to Keohan in the interest of his sister and his motives were the best. The Justice said he did not think the defendant's motives were quite as good as all that.

For the assault he would impose a fine of 20/- or 14 days, and would bind him to the peace for 12 months in £50 with two sureties of £5 each or in default 2 months.
