I have often said to my friends that the Irishman or the Irish woman who has not been to Melleray does would be zealous promoters of the Catholic spirit, that they would act as true members of the Mystical Body of Our Lord and be always true to the Church, true to the Pope and true to the Bishops, (prolonged applause).

My next visit, according to my recollections was about forty-eight years ago, when, as a member of the Reporting Staff of the "Cork Daily Herald" I was instructed to proceed to Melleray to report the proceedings associated with "Prize Day" in the College connected with the great C'stercian Abbey.

Having emphasised the necessity for all Catholics in attending the Holy Mass regularly, and otherwise attending faithfully to their religious duties, his Lordship said to their religious duties, that this was never more necessary than that this was never more necessary than at the present time when a wholesale attempt was being made to banish all thoughts and the love of God from the peoples hearts. Never before has the Catnolic Church been so confronted by the forces of anti-Christ as at present, the principal enemy of the Church being Communism, which was showing the most implacable hatred against our holy religion, but if the people kept true to their faith, and attended Mass regiarly and paid due attention to their other religious duties, the Catholic Church would emerge triumphantly from the present insidious attack, as it had done in the past.

He appealed to the people not to content themselves with attending Mass on Sundays and Church Holidays, but also to attend the daily morning Masses, whenever possible, as this was the best bulwark they possible, as this was the best bulwark they could have against any attacks which may be made on the Catholic Church.

His Lordship then administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to the children, all of whom were very neatly dressed, after which he briefly addressed them and advised them how they should always strive to be good and faithful soldiers of Christ, and live pure and holy lives, and the spirit of the Holy Ghost would watch over them and be with them always.

He then administered the Total Abstinence pledge to all the children until the reach the age of 21 years, after which his reach the age of 21 years, after which his Lordship gave Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, which concluded the

Increased Price of Pigs—
The price of bacon pigs, which had been 73/- per cwt., dead weight for the past few weeks, was increased to 75/- per cwt., by the Pigs Marketing Board last week, and the increased price was paid by the Cappoquin Bacon Factory as from Monday.

While this abnormally high price will be welcomed by the producers and farmers generally, it will result in a big increase in the cost of living for the general public, as the cost of living for the general public, as the cost of bacon must now reach an almost prohibitive figure, which will hit the poorer classes very hard, and is, therefore, likely to restrict the sale of bacon to a considerable extent.

We understand that the Cappoquin Bacon Factory has applied to the proper authorities to increase the quota of pigs which they are now permitted to kill uncomfortable. A mych where you are act in Waterford. It is amazing how quickly they make up their cost by the saving in fuel bills.

we are changing. We are growing older. Those things, nowever miserable, belong to a time when we were younger. Almost unknown to ourselves, we like to imagine the old scenes just as we should dearly like to imagine ourselves—unchanging. No one wants to grow old, that's it!

Old times are beyond recall, but, if you can still pay a visit to the old places, do it. If you can take the "old face" with you and left the imagination supply circumstances similar to those that have gone, you can fool age itself.

We expect it was in that mood that an old gentleman once visited his former college and asked to be shown his old room. After murmuring several times, "The same old room!" he pulled aside a heavy curtain and discovered a girl hidden there.

We expect it was in that mood that an old gentleman once visited his former college and asked to be shown his old room. After murmuring several times, "The same old room!" he pulled aside a heavy curtain and discovered a girl hidden there. In great delight he exclaimed "The same old tricks!" When the student hastily explained that the girl was his own sister, he clapped his hands and shouted, "And the same old lie!"

In The Presence—

Of a large gathering of parishioners, the annual May Procession in honour of Our Blessed Lady took place after the late Mass at the Parish Church, Stradbally, on the Feast of Corpus Christi. The various incidents associated with the solemn and beautiful occasion were never more integrited.

At the Council meeting, Mr. Lynch called attentions and beautiful occasion were never more integrited.

R.D.C. was so fond of saying).

In view of the clamant demand for national and civic retrenchment, it is quite interesting to find some one with an independent thought on the subject. The gentleman we have in mind—he is Annestown Anne's aunt's spouse in Stradbally—is bold enough to declare: "The very worst form of extravagance is economy in salaries."

A kindly-hearted lady in the Kilrossanty region comes a letter putting in an en-tertaining word in defence of the cuckoo Here is what she writes:—"I know by your remark that you 'hae yer doots' about the bush cuckoo having a stainless shout the bush cuckoo having a stainless reputation. They are as great a puzzle or mystery as—'that man's father was my father's son.' But I often wonder if they are as black as they are painted. I believe that in bygone days a lonely old maid when sitting alone thinking and wondering what tale out of her own head about cuckoos being idle, cruel and all that. I have never seen two cuckoos flying together: so that means that when the male bird is flying about calling 'cuckoo' the female must be laying and hatching her eggs, and later on mothering her young offspring as only a mother can. And it shows that the male bird must be faithful and true to his chosen love or he would be tig-toying around old Erin's Green Isle with a young flapper, spinster or another cuckoo's wife. And cuckoos are supposed to feed on hairy, caterpillars. Well, I have never seen a thrush, blackbird or any other small or large bird pick up or feed on those old creeping, hairy, grannie things. A choir of small birds led by a mavis here pour forth heavenly

The Old Hausts—

Everyone knows how easy it is to think of "old times" and "old places." Those times may have been dull and trying and those places far from being congenial, but the fact that they have gone for good makes it fascinating to think of them. We like to feel that the 'same old things" are still the same; haven't changed and never will. The reason for that, we believe, is we are changing. We are growing older. Those tnings, nowever miserable, beiong the fact that they have gone for good makes it fascinating to think of them. We explained, showed marked variations. Continuing the attack, Mt. Sion next forced a "70" but the shot was cleverly returned, and Mt. Sion came on again, only to send wide. North Mon. then took play up the field when a shot for a goal was brilliantly saved by the Mt. Sion custodian, but at the expense of a "70," which went wide. Fast play in mid-field followed, until Mt. Sion broke through for a point, which was followed by another point and a goal in quck succession, before North Mon. "broke the ice" with a goal. Although North Mon. attacked several times, they were always driven back, and Mt. Sion continued to have the best of the play until the scores stood at 4—4 to 1—0.

The Salmon Fishing

Mr. Lynch called attention to the record failure of that season's salmon fishing. Some of the boats had taken only 30 fish since the opening on February 1st, so that the men were at a big loss. They were called on to pay the usual license of £10 to the Duke of Devonshire. Half of that had already been paid and he suggested that the Council should try and do something for the poor men.

Mr. Daly said the Duke had not done badly that bad season. He proposed that they approach the Duke, put the facts before him and ask him to forgo the £5 due, or at least grant a reduction.

North Mon, then got a point, but no further flag being raised, the half-time whistle found the score as follows:—

The second half was fought out in the most determined fashion by both sides, although several showers fell, and the ground became so slippers that falls were frequent amongst the players. Mount Sion continued to dominate the play, practically in all its stages, and although both sides gave a sparkling display of fast, clean and scientific hurling, North Mon. were clearly outclassed, and the end of a brilliant game found Mount Sion deserving winners on the final score:

Front Strand—
At a recent meeting of the Urban District Council, pretty strong complaints were voiced by Councillor Savage, regarding the present condition of the Front Strand. It is summer fourist Season is a most upon us. At such an activation of condition—clane and dacent. But as it happens, it is just the "very contrary" Hight Yact of the yronenade or esplanade, "Farrage cughat fein," the place is in a hell of a mess. A casual stranger happening along the way would be perfectly justified in coming to the conclusion that preparations were being hurriedly made to receive and are mulciced in the ander to receive and a recombined material for the making of trenches—tark glab been made and recombined material for the making of trenches—tark glab been made and reproduced the making of trenches—tark glab been made and reproduced the making of trenches—tark glab been made and reproduced the making of trenches—tark glab been made and reproduced the making of trenches—tark glab been made and reproduced the proper store that all these "gadgets" had been defined to the world of the proper store to much for the consequence of "what good boys are we." At the meeting the decrease of the proper store that the sound here left on the spot to remind "all and Promenade, after the damase do not repeated the policy of "husb-husb" regarding any officials who displayed an inclination to neglect that the titles, and we were destributed to their duties, and we have the made the spot to remind "all and Promenade, after the damase do reporting referred to, Councillor R. Savage eloquently deprecated the policy of "husb-husb" regarding any officials who displayed an inclination to neglect that what was deed to the proper of the policy of "husb-husb" regarding any officials who displayed an inclination to neglect what was deed to the policy of "husb-husb" regarding any officials who displayed an inclination to neglect what was decreased the policy of "husb-husb" regarding any officials who displayed an inclination to neglect what was dec

The Sea Wall-After many weary months of tireless endeavour, it would appear that there is a prospect of something tangible being done regarding the necessary repairs to the Sea Wall, after the hard battering it had undergo of late. A short time ago the Urban Council were notified of a grant for the relief of Unemployment of something over £1,000. It was suggested that one of the most practical means of expending the grant would be to devote a certain portion to the repair of the Sea Wall. At present the men pair of the Sea Wall. At present the men are employed in making new footpaths in various parts of the town. This is undoubtedly a great improvement, but in altars erected in the streets. front of walls suffering from senile decay. where they put to shame their sordid sur- CARRICK-ON-SUIR MARKETS Co. There certainly is a redeeming feature to the matter in that the unemployed concerned do some useful work | Bacon pigs 51/6 cwt. light weight; Indian for the wretched pittance they receive, but meal 23/- sack; coal 2/2 cwt.; Hay 40/- to more useful in the way of work could not 18/- to 20/- ton; chickens 5/- to 6/- pair; in their way, but surely to goodness some- potatoes (old) 9d. stone. thing of more general utility could be hit upon. The Urban Council suggested acting on a hint from the Co. Surveyo: that £660 out of the Relief Grant be devoted to Store cattle and young polly stores in the Sea Wall repairs. After weeks of cognition the Local Government have agreed to allocate £450 of the grant to that desirable end. Well that is so nething to the good. Half a loaf is better than no bread. The Co. With a view to testing and knitting together the best hurling talent for our next and all-important round of the Munster Championships, Minor and Junior trials are to be staged in Dungarvan on Sunday June 13th. This is a sensible move, as few who saw our teams in the opening round, were pleased with their form and make-up.

The aceting of Cork and Tipperary in Senior Hurling next Sunday at Thurles has little of the old-time compelling glanour associated with those famous Munster rivals. Rebel County hurling is passing through a lean time and, though having a wealth of material from which to build a senior side, they are more hopeful than confident against Tipp. The latter have a pretty problem to face. Coppey, Treacy a pretty problem to face. Cooney, Treacy and Coffey, their three most accomplished players, are engaged next Sunday at midday in the Duohn Senior Hurling Final. Cooney with the Collegians and the other two with Young Irelands. All Tipperary is wondering can they make Thurles in time after a gruelling hour in Croke Park and a ninety mile race against the clock. And if they can do it, how will they play after such an ordeal? These considerations give a note of uncertainty to Sunday's game which makes it all the bigger. day's game which makes it all the bigger puzzle. Though Johnny Leahy's team are fancied to ret to the Munster final and farther this year, few would be keen on their chances if they have to find substitutes for their declared players.

stitutes for their declared players. Local football rivalry will fill the Cappoquin Gaelic field on Sunday next to see the perennial duel between the homesters and their Lismore neighbours. The Cornerstone team include some useful kickers in English, Glavin, Early, Walsh and Des. Scanlan; Donoghue, Lane, Moore. Sargent and Healy and Co. will provide strong opposition. The meeting of Faha and Pike Rovers in the second round of the junior football championship will be a novel attraction next Sunday at the charming little seasid venue of Stradbally. All mid-Waterford will flock there to see this question of parish supremacy decided; a rousing en-counter is promised for it would be almost impossible to get two sides so evenly matched as those neighbouring rivals.

Morrover, being the opening match on the new Stradbally pitch, it should draw a record crowd of Gaels from the valleys of the Comeraghs. The Rovers are an enconsiderably by participation in the Daly Cup competition. Neveretheless, Faha, abiy coacned and led by the jovial Maurice Conners, confidently await the referee's Next Sunday too, "Moss" Connery has another chance of lowering Fitzy's colours in the replay of the junior hurling championship match, Kinsalebeg v Cathal Brugha's. On their home grounds at Clashmore, the Kinsalebeg hurlers will make a great fight to wrest the honours on this occasion. Now that the Cathal Brugha's control wrest the honours on this occasion. Now that the Cathal Brugha contain can utilize the valuable services of the Burke brothers, regraded junior at last Co. Board meeting, he does not care a pin whether Youghal Bridge is open or not. A splendid game is assured with the outcome very problematical. The venue is a very convenient one situated as it is in the centre of a strong Gaelic area which includes Villierstown, Piltown, Ardmore, Grange Ballycurrane and Ballinameela. A hurling match is of such rare occurrence in these parts that there should be a great hosting in Clashmore field next Sunday when the teams line out at four o'clock (Summer time).

openings and opportunities enough to pile up a huge sco.e but they were either too show to puli or eise lashed harmlessly wide. They had well over a dozen overs in each haif. Individually, they played some powerful huring, especially on the ground. E.g. Jim Moloney was the greatest back on the neid, his striking, anticipation and tacking being well-nigh perfect. Pacay Grant was a sound full-oack while at mid-fleid Morrissey was too strong and too resourceful for the bull-charging tactics of his opponent, young McGrach of Campaire. Connonly, small but sturdy and eitus we, showed his Limerick schooling by his clever wing tactes. Mackey snowed good attacking form at times, but on the whole, there was not a good shooting forward in the whole Gleann habilitance.

The Tallow defence withstood terrific pressul, innoughout. The veteran Heney and a school-noop prodisy in McCarthy hung back assault after assault ably assisted by the rickey brothers. Cronin proveu aimself a tough handful and Lukey McCarthy, though early in the wars, huried a fine storming game to the last. Of the forwards, Ryan, though shooting a neat point, tacked initiative. # CROTTY'S GARAGE DUNGARVAN

(Established since 1900)

WE have been catering for the motoring public for thirty seven years but never before has such value been offered in the light car class as the amazing : : : :

... MORRIS EIGHT ...

Never before has a car of such modest horse power possessed so many big car features. The MORRIS EIGHT is virtually as big as an ordinary Ten and has definitely established an entirely new standard in economical motoring : : : : : : : : :

With unrivalled performance-roominess-comfort and economy you will marvel that so attractive a car can be produced at so low a price, but a trial will convince that the MORRIS EIGHT passes any test with flying colours : ::
