The Show this year which will be held on Thursday July 8th gives promise of eclipsing the high standard set up in previous years. In addition to all the usual classes for Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Swine and Poultry, the Committee this year extended the Horse, Cattle and Sheep classes, while a new class—the "Harvest Festival Class" should prove of great interest. There are good prizes offered and competition promises to be very keen. All produce, including roots, vegetables and truit, must be staged on an open cart, drawn by a horse, donkey or pony. Flowers may be used to decorate the carts. All the produce exhibited must be grown by the exhibitors. Persons desirous of entering are requested to The Show this year which will be held

LIST OF SUBSCRIPTIONS TO DUNGARVAN SHOW 1936

Approaching the middle of what is called the "Merry month of June" we are still to all appearances very far off from what is usually considered "sumprogrammes. Nevertheless, all the games listed in the West Waterford Championships were duly played and in no case was there a hitch. Despite the depressing conditions and the incessant rain, the attendance at all venues were very good. No greater tribute could be paid to the teams engaged and to the popularity of the surface of victory on Sunday evening. Every, where the people were delighted with the success of the boys. Many were the success of the boys. Many were the success of the boys. Many were the success of the boys. We have success of the boys. We

The local Derby, contrary to expectations, was a drab affair. Of earnestness there was plenty but, of football skill, precious little. Yet so uncertain was the outcome that interest was maintained until the final whistle. Lismore, with a wide tery of all the final whistle. Lismore, with a wide tery of all the final whistle. Lismore, with a wide tery of all the finer boints of the game and they bid fair to make things hum pretty lively from now on in Waterford football.

Eaglish Papers And Irish News—
During the week a striking example was provided of the utter untrustworthints in the was plenty of the reports of Irish news items in English papers. In a leading English Daily, published in Manchester and London, a report appeared to the effect that owing to the disastrous failure of the salmon season the fishermen of Youghal might refuse to pay the balance due of their license—15—to the Duke of Devonshire. It was also stated that only 20 fish had been captured at Youghal Square; T. Veale, Clonea; J. J. Morrissey and Beresford, J. F. Foley, Michael Bren-
