DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

Mr. M. Morrissey, T.D., Chairman, presided at the weekly meeting of the above on Friday last. Also present: Messrs. T. McCarthy, Vice-Chairman; S. Hayes, J. Dahill, P. Byrne, J. F. Foley, J. J. Crotty, and J. Christopher.

Week's Wages
A pay-sheet for £17 6s. 7d. week's wages was presented and passed.

Oleosts for Workmen
Mr. Wm. O'Mahony, scavenger, wrote asking for a supply of oleosts for himself and a cover for the horse.

Mr. Dahill—Think all the employees should be provided with oleosts.
Mr. Crotty—Don't they get them?
Chairman—Yes.

Acknowledgments
Letters acknowledging resolutions of sympathy passed by the Council were read from Mr. Nicholas O'Connor, O'Connell Street, and from Mr. Patk. Browne, O'Connell Street.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, Contractor for the new water supply scheme wrote enclosing insurance policies covering all the men employed by him on the above scheme. The policies were considered satisfactory.

Housing Grants
The Department wrote notifying the payment of £22 to Mr. Patk. Burke, Abbeyside as first payment in respect of one house and a final payment of £42 to Mr. M. Moloney, Springmount, in respect of one house.

Overseers for Cows
The County Medical Officer of Health, wrote reporting on three applications received for registration under the milk and Dairies Act for Mr. G. Crotty, Abbeyside; Mr. Thos. Sheridan, Shannon, and Mr. Maurice Keohlan, Youghal Road. The report advised the granting of the necessary registration, when alterations and improvements suggested by the Veterinary Inspector were carried out.

Chairman—We can do nothing, but mark this note.
Mr. Byrne expressed the hope amidst laughter, that when the Chairman next went to the Dail that an overcoat be supplied for every cow.

Tenders for Range
Two tenders were received for a range for one of the Council's houses, viz., Repe, Moe, Flynn, £7; M. Moloney and Co., quoted for 3 ranges at the following prices £6 15s. 0d., £6 9s. 6d., and £6 5s. 0d.
Messrs. Moloney's tender was accepted.

Housing Scheme
Messrs. Doyle and Ormond, Architects, reported as follows on the tenders received for the new housing scheme:—We have examined the tenders received for the proposed Housing Scheme and attach a schedule on which the various alternative tenders for each contractor are set out.

A perusal of this will show that for the 78 houses the tender of Messrs. H. and C. Hamilton, Waterford, is the lowest at £28,499 12s. for asbestos-slated roofs, breeze floors, against Mr. McGrath's tender at £28,537 17s. 6d., for same roofs and joisted floors. We therefore recommend the acceptance of the tender of Messrs. H. and C. Hamilton for this section of the scheme.

For the 61 houses, the tender of Mr. Thos. McGrath, at £22,080 17s. 3d. is lowest. This includes asbestos slated roofs and joisted floors against Messrs. Hamilton's tender of £22,463 15s. 2d., for same roofs with breeze floors. We therefore recommend the acceptance of Mr. McGrath's tender for this section of the scheme.

Mr. Crotty said he thought it was decided by the Council, that we would not have breeze floors?

Mr. McCarthy—It was definitely.

Mr. Crotty—Mr. Doyle was here when we accepted the tender, and he was told we had enough of breeze floors.

Mr. McCarthy—It is a wonder Mr. Doyle did not come here tonight. He was here when the tender was accepted. The Clerk at this stage read the order made when the Council accepted Mr. McGrath's tender. The order was:—"That the tender of Mr. Thos. McGrath for asbestos slated roofs, joisted floors and earthenware glazed pipes be accepted."

Mr. Crotty—That is correct.

Mr. Christopher—What is in Mr. Doyle's report?

Chairman—That the tender of Messrs. Hamilton for asbestos roofs and breeze floors be accepted. He (Chairman) said he could not understand the report. For the erection of the 78 houses, the architects recommended the acceptance of a tender for breeze floors and for the 61 houses they recommended joisted floors.

Mr. McCarthy—What is the difference in price between the two tenders for the 78 houses?

Chairman—£38.

Mr. Christopher—The Department will not turn down joisted floors for £38. Mr. Dahill's—What was Mr. McGrath's tender for breeze floors?

Mr. Crotty—Even if he was cheaper we did not want breeze floors.
Chairman—This is the Architects report asked for by the Department and we must send it on.

It was agreed to send on the report, with a special recommendation from the Council, that the order made on the acceptance of the tender of Mr. McGrath, be joisted floors be adhered to by the Department.

Forgotten Road
Thos. Power and Co. wrote drawing attention to the very bad condition of the roadway at the entrance to the brewery premises. The condition has been brought about by the constant cutting of the surface water from Fair Lane. At present it is causing considerable damage to our vehicles. When we reported this matter to the Co. Surveyor he informed us that this road was not included in those recently transferred to him by your Council.

The B.S. said Mr. Power called on him and drew attention to the matter and he (Mr. McGrath) advised Mr. Power to see the County Surveyor. This bit of road was not marked on the transfer of roads to the County Council. Tomorrow or after you will have further new roads when the housing scheme is completed and the County Council will have to take them over.

The B.S. was asked to interview Mr. Bowen on the matter.

Water Works Scheme
Land Owner Stop Work Until Money is Paid

Mr. Jas. F. Lenzhan, Clerk of Works, Waterworks Scheme wrote:—Please bring to the notice of your Council that Mr. Dalton, the occupier of the land on the eastern end of the dam that is being erected by Mr. J. Fitzpatrick, Contractor, is objecting to the intrusion of the said dam on his property. He has this day prevented the Contractor's workmen from working on his (alleged) property.

Mr. Williams, also wrote, stating that Mr. Dalton called on him and complained that his lands had been entered by the Contractor and cuttings made, though the purchase money had not been paid to him. He says he will stop the work until the purchase money is paid.

Mr. Dalton, in reply to the Justice, said he was not able to pay anything since he was out of work, having only worked 14 days. He expected to be able to pay £3 on Saturday next.

Mr. Farrell said it is a most extraordinary case. The account is for a coffin supplied to the defendant. This man can come into the fairs and go drinking and never make an attempt to pay. He is a horse trader.

The Justice said since the making of the order on May 19th there would be about £2 due.

The Justice addressing the defendant said:—"You made no attempt since the instalment order was made on May 19th to pay off anything. Now you find yourself facing a term in jail."

The Justice committed defendant to 14 days in respect of the 1st instalment due the week of May 19th; the warrant not to issue if defendant pays £2 before 10th November.

Unlicensed Bull
The Minister for Agriculture, prosecuted Patrick Quarry, Kilrusk, with the keeping of an unlicensed bull.

Mr. Farrell, solr., defended.

Mr. D. J. Ryan, Livestock Inspector, deposed to visiting the premises and finding this bull which in his opinion was calved in May or June 1936.

To Mr. Farrell—Witness said he could tell to within a month the age of a calf. Witness said the animal was not a particularly good one for a bull. It may be a sickly calf for 3 or 4 months. Defendant had another licensed bull.

Mr. Farrell said his client made the mistake (through ignorance of the regulations) he thought the calf could be 12 months before he should be inspected.

Justice—There are forms sent to farmers explaining all this.

Mr. Farrell—It would take a solicitor to understand some of these forms.

The case was dismissed under the P.O. Act, the defendant to pay 5/- expenses and 20/- costs.

Insurance of Car
Superintendent Walsh, prosecuted Ed. Doherty, Mary Street, Dungarvan, for driving a car without an Insurance policy being in force and also driving without a driver's licence.

Serjt. Vanham, Ring, deposed that as

RING NEIGHBOURS IN TROUBLE

"I'LL GIVE YOU A SKELP THAT WILL PUT YOU IN JAIL"

Held on Wednesday before Mr. S. J. Doyle, D.J.

ANNUAL LICENSING SESSIONS
This being the Annual Licensing Sessions, all the publicans licences (with the exception of four) were signed.

With regard to the four, Superintendent Walsh said no business was done in these premises during the year, and he is asked to have them adjourned to next Court. No applications were received in respect of premises licensed by P. J. Moloney, Main street and Patrick Ormonde, Square.

The four cases were adjourned.

Transfers
Mr. A. R. Farrell, solr., on behalf of Mr. T. C. Williams, solr., applied for the following transfers of licences—Mr. Clancy Main street, from the late Mrs. Clancy; Mrs. Johanna Daly, Square, from the late James Daly and Mr. Mea. Griffin, Abbeyside, from the late Mrs. Alice Griffin.

There being no objection all the transfers were granted.

Mr. L. F. Lanigan, solr., on behalf of Mr. E. A. Ryan, solr., was granted a transfer of the licence held by the late Mr. Halpin, Cross Bridge street, to Mrs. M. A. Halpin.

Dance Licences
A renewal of the Dance Licence was granted in respect of the Pike Hall. The number of cinderella dances being increased from 3 to 10, on the application of the Secretary, Mr. Paddy Keyes.

Renewals were also granted for the Hennebry Hall, Ring, Ocean View Hotel; Town Hall, Dungarvan and a temporary licence was granted to Wm. Fitzpatrick, Kilsheehan, Hon. Sec.

Removal of Fences
In the case of James Curran, Friary street, v. O'Connell, Mary Street, in which a settlement with plaintiff's solr., (Mr. L. F. Lanigan) was arrived at in July last, on defendant offering to pay £3 and costs.

Mr. Lanigan, now stated that defendant subsequently refused to pay.

A decree for £3 and costs was granted.

Commitment Order Sought
John Prendergast, Mitchell street, Dungarvan, sought a commitment order against Patk. O'Donnell, Glendalligan, Kilsrosary, in regard to his failure to pay an instalment order of 1/- a week made against him by the court in May last.

Mr. A. R. Farrell, solr., for applicant. Applicant examined by Mr. Farrell, said he never received a payment since the order was made, and he now sought a commitment order.

Defendant, in reply to the Justice, said he was not able to pay anything since he was out of work, having only worked 14 days. He expected to be able to pay £3 on Saturday next.

Mr. Farrell said it is a most extraordinary case. The account is for a coffin supplied to the defendant. This man can come into the fairs and go drinking and never make an attempt to pay. He is a horse trader.

The Justice said since the making of the order on May 19th there would be about £2 due.

The Justice addressing the defendant said:—"You made no attempt since the instalment order was made on May 19th to pay off anything. Now you find yourself facing a term in jail."

The Justice committed defendant to 14 days in respect of the 1st instalment due the week of May 19th; the warrant not to issue if defendant pays £2 before 10th November.

Unlicensed Bull
The Minister for Agriculture, prosecuted Patrick Quarry, Kilrusk, with the keeping of an unlicensed bull.

Mr. Farrell, solr., defended.

Mr. D. J. Ryan, Livestock Inspector, deposed to visiting the premises and finding this bull which in his opinion was calved in May or June 1936.

To Mr. Farrell—Witness said he could tell to within a month the age of a calf. Witness said the animal was not a particularly good one for a bull. It may be a sickly calf for 3 or 4 months. Defendant had another licensed bull.

Mr. Farrell said his client made the mistake (through ignorance of the regulations) he thought the calf could be 12 months before he should be inspected.

Justice—There are forms sent to farmers explaining all this.

Mr. Farrell—It would take a solicitor to understand some of these forms.

The case was dismissed under the P.O. Act, the defendant to pay 5/- expenses and 20/- costs.

Insurance of Car
Superintendent Walsh, prosecuted Ed. Doherty, Mary Street, Dungarvan, for driving a car without an Insurance policy being in force and also driving without a driver's licence.

Serjt. Vanham, Ring, deposed that as a result of a report on 8th August he went to Knocknower, Ring, to investigate a motor accident. He asked the defendant Doherty to produce his insurance policy and driver's licence. Doherty said he had a certificate of Insurance in force and promised to produce both in Dungarvan the following day. On August 11th, he saw a temporary certificate with Doherty with the Alliance Assurance Co. Dublin.

To Mr. Farrell—Witness said Doherty explained that he had another hickney car and was getting the policy transferred from one car to the other and it was in the interim of getting the transfer that the accident occurred.

Guard Moloney, corroborated and read a statement taken from, and signed by Doherty on August 11th, in which he stated that he had dismissed his driver the previous night with the result that when he got a call for a car to Old Parish on Sunday he took out the car himself. He had a driver's licence up to July for the old car.

Mr. Farrell said from correspondence he had from the Insurance Company he believed they can get them to transfer the Insurance to cover the period when the accident occurred.

Superintendent Walsh said he had a letter from the Company stating the car was not covered for the period of the accident.

Mr. Farrell told the Justice the car was covered up to August 4th. The accident occurred on August 8th. The Justice said it does not look like what a big Company ought to do. This is what happens when a person takes out a car that is not properly covered. Taking all the facts into account he would impose a fine of £1 and 5/- for not having a driver's licence.

Lights
Guards Factory, Dungarvan and Guard Moloney, Ring, were complained in a few cases under the Lights on Vehicles Act. The usual fines were imposed.

I'll Give You a Skelp
Garrett Quinn, Ballyreilly, Ring, summoned John Finger, Ring, and sought to restrain his recognisances for failure to appear in court.

Mr. Farrell, for applicant.

Mr. L. F. Lanigan, solr., defended. John Griffin and Maurice Griffin, as sureties, were also extracted.

Mr. Farrell, solr., for applicant said that on June 18th and two dates in August, the defendant Finger was guilty of conduct likely to lead to a breach of the peace.

Garrett Quinn, in reply to Mr. Farrell said that on 18th June, while driving his cattle by Finger's land, one cow horned a heifer and she jumped into Finger's land. Witness had her driven out at once. Finger came down to witness and threw a spit on his hand, caught the light side of the stick he was carrying and shouted:—"You are knocking down my fences you b— robber." He made several attempts to strike witness across the fence. Witness asked him what compensation he wanted, but he wanted nothing but fight.

On 23rd August, he again met Finger, who said didn't I tell you before you b— robber that you could not take your dog through my land. He again shouted:—"Go away you robber or I'll give you a skelp that will put you in jail." He did not say where, continued witness.

Witness is afraid he will do him harm.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lanigan—Witness agreed that the heifer trespassed that day. The fence is only 2 feet high. Defendant did not protest against the trespass, and it was not witness who abused defendant. Defendant called him a b— robber and defendant's sister went down on her knees and cursed witness and his cattle. He is not afraid of Finger. He admitted striking him once.

John Finger, in reply to Mr. Lanigan, solr., said he objected to Quinn taking 3 dogs through his land where he had his cattle tied.

When Mr. Quinn's cattle trespassed witness did not attempt to strike Quinn. He never struck anyone in his life. He should not be bringing his dogs across witness land.

Mr. Farrell—That stick is a formidable looking one.

Defendant—I must have the stick, Mr. Farrell.

The Justice said the defendant was an old man whose bark was worse than his bite, but that stick of his may be leading him towards Ballybricken. The Justice advised Mr. Lanigan to get an undertaking from his client that he would not interfere or talk to Quinn again.

On defendant giving the undertaking, the Justice adjourned the case for three months, and cautioned defendant that if there is any further interference and if he had not any respect for his sureties, the application would be granted.

12/- Balance
In the case of Superintendent Walsh, v. M. McCarthy, Ballyhane, Superintendent Walsh said that there is still a balance of 12/- due by the defendant out of £2 4s. 11d.

The case was adjourned to the next Court, the Cappagh Sergeant to interview the defendant.

Informations Refused
In the adjourned case of Superintendent Walsh v. Nicholas Terry, Ballycurreen, Ring, for the alleged writing of a

DEATH OF VERY REV PATRICK O'NEILL, P.P.

STRADBALLY'S SORROW

An impenetrable pall of sorrow, searing the hearts of the people, has fallen over the united parishes of Stradbally, Clonmel and Ballymore. Their well-loved Pastor is dead, and they mourn the passing of a truly great priest, a noble and distinguished son of Dungarvan—the late Very Rev. Patrick O'Neill, P.P.

The news, which rends all hearts today, was expected momentarily, in fact, it was generally known on Monday that the revered clergyman's condition was critical. After a period of anxiety to all, the end came calmly and peacefully on Monday night.

The deceased Pastor was educated at the Augustinian Seminary, Dungarvan, and in 1895 he received Holy Orders in the Cathedral, Waterford. Though ordained for the home diocese, he went on the mission to the Lancashire Diocese of England, where he laboured for seven years, serving at Salford, Great Newwood and Bolton. In 1902 he returned to Waterford, where he was appointed Chaplain to the Mental Hospital. In subsequent years he ministered at Newcastle, Clonmel and Tramore. He was stationed at Dunhill as Parish Priest for eight years, and about eighteen months ago was given charge of the Stradbally parish, in succession to the late Very Rev. John Murphy, P.P. Passing away after forty-two years' devotion to the sacred ministry, he has left after him episcopal monuments to his wonderful zeal, great piety, and ardent love of country, characteristics which commanded the respect and veneration of almost every denomination. He very readily and willingly co-operated in every charitable and praiseworthy movement for the benefit of the people, and his powerful aid and influence invariably produced the results to which he had applied his ceaseless energy. His death was a truly holy and happy one. May he rest in peace.

On Tuesday evening the remains were removed from the Parochial House to the Parish Church of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross, nearby.

The widespread sorrow which the popular Pastor's death has evoked was further evinced by the enormous attendance of clergy and laity at the impressive obsequies held in the Church on Wednesday. The congregation was composed practically of all creeds and classes, while the presence of Most Rev. Dr. Kinane, Lord Bishop of the Diocese and so large a number of priests testified to the measure of regret felt at the loss of one who so worthily upheld and maintained the high and noble traditions of the Irish priesthood.

Following the celebration of Solemn Requiem Office and High Mass, interment was made in the Churchyard, in the presence of the largest gathering of priests and people seen there in the memory of the oldest resident of the parish.

His Lordship Most Rev. Dr. Kinane, presided at the Office and High Mass on Wednesday, assisted by Right Rev. Monsignor Byrne, Clonmel and Very Rev. Francis Canon Prendergast, Carrick-on-Suir.

The celebrant of the Mass was Very Rev. T. Canon O'Brien, P.P., Dungarvan; deacon, Rev. W. Flynn, C.C., Clonmel; sub-deacon, Rev. T. McGrath, Kilsheehan.

The Dungarvan representation was very large and every side of the town's life, business and professional was represented. What impressed our reporter more perhaps than any other phase was the presence during Requiem Mass of Canon Burkett, Stradbally, who neighbourly followed his friend to the end.

A word of special praise is due to the Rev. Fr. O'Farrell, C.C., Stradbally, who was responsible for all the arrangements and the fact that the large crowd attending the Obsequies were accommodated without any inconvenience, was in itself a tribute to the capabilities of Fr. O'Farrell.

YOUGHAL NOTES.

The Court—
The proceedings at last Friday's District Court, which didn't conclude till 5.30 furnish plentiful material to make some amongst us "furious to think" and to make many others to talk and go-sip to their heart's content or discontent, as the case may be. The truth of the old proverb "spare the rod and spoil the child" was brought home in a very striking manner. This refers in particular to a case heard at a children's Court, from which everybody, except those immediately concerned, was excluded. The District Justice (Mr. G. P. Farrell, B.L.) in the course of his remarks, gave a very plain hint, that he considered the advisability of making good the laxity of some parents in this very important matter. The widespread prevalence of what is called "juvenile crime" is giving just cause for real anxiety as to the future of some of the rising generation, including a number who have not yet reached their "teens."

He very rightly said that children of tender years could not properly be charged with "crime" because they were incapable of it. Nevertheless something must be done to put a stop to the depredations of youngsters. It would appear that the benefit of the Probation of Offenders Act, is not having much of a deterrent effect, therefore his worship said he should consider the question of the application of the birch, with or without the imposition of a substantial fine on the parents. Accordingly he adjourned the case with the object of devising some means of stemming this rising tide of "juvenile crime." At a like case heard at Talloz, his Worship said that parents or guardians, should make careful inquiries before they accepted the stories of boys or girls—unfortunately girls have been also brought to Court for these offences—as to how they came into possession of certain articles otherwise they might become accessories after the fact, themselves.

The Christian Schools—
The fine Schools of the Christian Brothers in Strand Street, are now being equipped with the most up-to-date sanitary conveniences. It is said that the project will involve a considerable sum—(Continued on Page Four)

KILMATHOMAS NEWS.

Congratulations—
To Mr. Thomas J. Power, P.C. Leamy prize in a competition of skill, conducted by an old-established Irish weekly journal of fiction, literature and general information.

Felicitations—
Are cordially extended to Mr. Laurence (Larry) O'Byrne, Ashtown, Kilmathomas, and Miss Teresa (Tess) Hogan, do, on their marriage, which happy event was solemnised in the Church of the Vincentian Fathers at Blackrock, Dublin, on Wednesday of last week (with Nuptial Mass and Papal Blessing) by the Very Rev. Fr. Shanahan, C.M., (uncle of the bride), assisted by the Rev. J. Harty, C.C. Gungahmore (cousin of the bridegroom). Mr. and Mrs. O'Byrne are the worthy members of two highly esteemed County Waterford families, and the troops and legions of friends of both, on all sides unite in wishing them length of years in the fullest enjoyment of the graces and blessings of conjugal bliss.

Annual Licensing Sessions—
There being no objection by the authorities all the public-house licenses in the Kilmathomas court area were renewed by Mr. Justice F. J. McCole, at the local monthly District Court. Patrick J. Baldwin, proprietor of the Kill Village Hall, was granted a licence to hold dances on the number of nights stated in his application, under the usual conditions. John Driscoll was granted a similar licence in respect of the Hall at Leamybrien. On the application of Mr. T. Kiersey, a.o.r., a transfer of the licence formerly held by Mr. Thomas McCarthy, in respect of premises situate at Ballynaneen, was granted to Mr. Joseph McGrath. His Worship also granted the usual exemption order for fair days at Kilmathomas and allowed wholesale beer dealers' licenses to the local vendors who made application for same. Decrees for full amounts claimed, together with the costs of each case, were given in a heavy calendar of undefended civil bills of proved fact. Arising out of the recent collision in the vicinity of the Temperance Hall Cross, Kilmathomas, in which—as previously published—in the "Observer"—two motor cars proceeding in opposite directions were involved, Mr. P. J. Wall, Counsel, owner-driver of one of the cars concerned, was now charged by Superintendent Denny, G.S., on Monday, with driving in a manner dangerous to the public safety on the occasion. Defendant admitted the charge, and said he was blinded by a strong sun and did not see the other car. His own car was an old 1927 Austin; it was never reformed, and he usually drove at a speed not exceeding 25 m.p.h. He braked three times and slowed down before taking the turn, and when the impact occurred he was actually stationary.

His Worship complimented the defendant on his candour, and asked the Supt. if there were any expenses incurred, and was told there was a sum of 18s.

On ascertaining that the defendant was willing to pay this amount, the D.J. said he was dismissing the case under the P.O.A.

Mr. Pat Quinn, cottage rent collector to the Board of Public Health, sued tenants Robert Butler, Ballyleen, Kill; Robert Power, Ballinaculla, Bonmahon; Ed. Morrissey, Lissavron, Kill, and Pat. Whelan, Killergully, Clonea, on the instructions of the Commissioner conducting the affairs of the Waterford County Council, for possession of their cottages for non-payment of rent. Mr. Quinn proved the arrears outstanding and the Court gave the requested decree for possession in each instance.

Guard J. N. Parke, Kilmaden; Sergeant B. Lynch, Stradbally; Guard P. Fitzgerald, do; Sergt. J. O'Shea, Leamybrien; Guard P. Synott, do; Guard J. A. Rice, Kilmathomas, and Guard M. Boyle, do, were the complainants in a long list of prosecutions arising from infringements of the Lights Act. A fine of 2s. was imposed in each case.

Late Mrs. Ryan, Ballintice—
Requiem High Mass for the happy repose of the soul of the above-named lady (whose widely regretted demise was chronicled in our previous issue) was celebrated in St. Brigid's Parish Church, Kilmathomas, by the Rev. W. Meenan, C.C. Fees, assisted by Very Rev. J. Coffey, P.P., Kilmathomas; Very Rev. J. Nugent, P.P., Clonea-Rathgormack; Rev. T. B. Walsh,

C.C. Dungarvan, and Rev. F. O'Farrell, C.C. Stradbally.

Gene To England—
Messrs. Edmond Phelan and Thomas Kirwan, of Kilmathomas, are among the many young men of these parts who have recently crossed the Channel, where, happily, most of them have been placed in jobs.

Did You Hear—
That the Pike (Garranbane) Hall, is now the favourite "recreation rendezvous" of the youth and beauty of the Barones on Sunday nights?

That the lads and lasses of Kilmathomas wholeheartedly enjoy the Pike Amusement Club's weekly dance programme?

That the popular Pike's commodious, comfortable and well-conducted hall will be the scene of several animated and colourful functions throughout the winter months?

That the Pike Gaels have procured a magnificent set of costly medals for presentation to the ultimate winners of their forthcoming Junior Football Tournament?

That the notice "Turt Accountant" puzzled a Vancouver visitor to Kilmathomas this week?

That she thought it meant a man who sells turf?

That Fr. Moore is going to hold a safety week soon?

That, in connection with same, the Metal Man will request public-spirited people to kindly have their accidents either before or after that week?

A Rightly Respected Reader—
Who retired recently is going to reside in the Rathgormack region, where he has built a house. Four forenoons ago, accompanied by his wife and their maid, he paid his new home a visit of inspection.

Showing the girl her new headquarters, he remarked, "And now, Nancy, you'll be living right beside the Comeragh Mountains." "Aye," said the girl, "sure I'll be the maid of the mountains."

And Now—
Writes a young Knockmahon (by Bonmahon) man in Africa in a letter Annetown Anne received from him on Monday—"I must tell you how I did not shoot my first elephant! I was taken by a colleague, an experienced hunter, into a part of the jungle where the big fellows were likely to be. Getting in touch with them was not a difficulty. Almost too soon for my liking I was informed that now was my chance. A huge brute—a cow—was rumbling towards me. I felt very like shooting there and then, but could not as I had previously been given instructions not to fire until Jumbo was within twenty yards range; otherwise I was told, my shot would only wound and enrage the animal and bring it crashing onward, out for revenge. I waited until I could wait no longer, and then—in a panic by this time—fired with the elephant, as I thought, right on top of me. The rifle's sharp report rang out, and to my surprise was followed by a second shot—like an echo. In an instant the elephant toppled down only a matter of four yards away. "You shot too soon," said a cool voice at my shoulder and swinging round I found my friend lowering his gun. Unknown to me he had been standing directly behind me ready in case of emergency. At first I was rather disappointed at my failure, but later, on estimating the bulk of the 'beast', I can assure you I appreciated to the full my companion's forethought." Annetown Anne's correspondent added piquantly—"You will agree that this is quite a change for me from shooting sandarks at the mouth of the Mahon."

"Stumped"—
More and more frequently nowadays business men are typing their names at the end of letters as well as signing them. We look forward to the day this becomes recognised as "the thing to do." It is most annoying to be "stumped" by a written scrawl, especially if a reply is necessary; everyone likes to be addressed correctly.

Talking about typing and writing, a nice Nire Valley virgin speaking to Saul Slattery last Sunday wondered at the vast difference in the nature of the letters she receives occasionally from an uncle of hers who is at present packing tea in Ceylon.

"When Uncle Dan uses a pen," said she to Saul, "his letters are dull and uninteresting, whereas when he types they are like long interesting and exciting stories."

Dear Reader—
Amongst the attractively arranged advertisements in this number of the "Observer," you will please note the interesting announcement inserted for Mr. Geoffrey Flynn, Victualer, Main-street, Kilmathomas, and—support our advertisers!

PORTLAW "PICKINGS"

You, are sure, have amongst your friends at least one "Jack of all Trades"—one who seems to dabble in almost every business. We were reminded of this type a few minutes ago when, in a letter from a friend (a native of Clonea-Power parish) in England, we read of a man who regularly carries on as a greengrocer, hairdresser, pork butcher, shoe-repairer, stationer, tobacconist, confectioner and land and estate agent. Reason he was mentioned to us was that he recently applied for a wine and spirit licence in connection with a billiard hall for which he was engaging a band! If that isn't enterprise, . . . ?

A Kilmaden man who has been round the world four times and who has visited almost every country in Europe told us in the course of conversation last night out of no end never, anywhere in his travels, seen such a lovely view of an Autumn-touched landscape as he had gained from the top of Clonegan Tower on yesterday forenoon. "From atop Clonegan I gazed on a wonderful picture of the loveliness of Nature in the month of September," he said. A spontaneous tribute that is worth remembering.

By the way, a television expert, who is Sportsworld's sole surviving second-cousin on this side of the Suir, now suggests Clonegan as an ideal spot for the Irish Free State's first television station. He points out television headquarters must be in a commanding position. If this is so, then certainly Clonegan would be about the most perfect site in the country. Whether or not Clonegan and its famous tower are chosen we shall, no doubt, hear more about the Free State's first television station in the near future.

Jack Doyle is to marry the daughter of a millionaire and retire from the ring. Not a single man of the many married and unmarried members of our flourishing Boxing Club here in the Leather City will profess to know if the "Cork-tipped" heavyweight is sacrificing a promising pugilistic career by this second matrimonial adventure. If he retires into private life and remains aloof from the gaze of hysterical womenfolk he will spare us many scenes of emotion. He is a strikingly handsome fellow, standing 6 ft. 4 ins., and he looks the very acme of physical grace and muscular strength.

This, at least, was the impression we had when he visited the Town Hall, Dungarvan, in 1933 in sight and gave an exhibition of shadow-boxing. On that occasion photographs of Jack were jealously coveted. He was the hero of the hour with suitors on his trail. Now he is the hero of one to whom he has promised allegiance and submission. "Anything she says goes" is Doyle's public confession. "If she wants me to get out of the fighting game I will." This suggests a future of peaceful domesticity.

No Sportsworld Spooner knows if the future Mrs. Doyle has an ear for melody. If she has, Jack will be able to sing for her "Mother Machree," "My Little Irish Rose," and "Love, I Give You My Heart." These are his favourite songs or were when his joined Judith Allen.

"It was at a cottage door at the fringe of Fiddown that we overheard the packman telling his story. "I have been signing my wares the length and breadth of the village," he said, appraisingly. "Well," said the bean-twig, glancing at the trinkets displayed before her. "If your stuff was so good your young would have lasted so long."

Warmest congratulations are tendered to Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald (second son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzgerald, Bally-

We have noticed "the same thing" of ourselves often. Sometimes it is the other way round, the pen producing the better material. It depends altogether on the attitude of the writer to the different modes of conveying his (or her) message.

Under the aegis and in aid of our appreciably active and progressive Hurling and Football Clubs, a monster Ceilidhe was staged at the Tannery Hall on last Sunday night. To state that the "celtic event" proved a real, red-hot function in the social annals of the Leather City is but simply furnishing a fact obvious as it is pleasing to publish. 133 songs and dances came from park, neck, and far-and-far-afar, and all danced right merrily to the delightful music supplied by Portlaw's own Ceilidhe Band. All praise to Frank Roche and his colleagues of the organising committee for this capital Ceilidhe—the right Gaelic are the helm here (More power to 'em!).

(cashin), and Miss Mary Walsh, B.A., H.Dip. (only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh, Ballyduff, near here) on their marriage, which happy event was solemnised in the Parish Church, Ballyduff, by the Very Rev. M. F. Heame, P.P., Portlaw. The bride, who looked charming, was attended by her friend, Miss Margaret Roche, as bridesmaid, and Mr. Patrick Fitzgerald, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party repaired to Ocean View Hotel, Clonea, where a reception was held, upwards of fifty guests being sumptuously entertained. The happy couple left later on their honeymoon. The bridegroom, who belongs to a well-known family of the Deise, spent a number of years in the U.S.A., where he ably filled a responsible post in the insurance sphere. His bride, who comes of a family equally known and not less liked, had been teaching in England for some time prior to her recent retirement. A most attractive newly-built bungalow at Ballycashin will be Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald's future home. Countless congratulatory cables and telegrams from the United States and England were received.

The sincere sympathy of all classes and creeds locally goes out to Mr. Henry Haughton, the efficient and energetic Clerk of Waterford County Hospital, in his recent bereavement, occasioned by the death of his mother, Mrs. Anastasia Haughton, Kilmaden. The deceased lady, who had reached a ripe age, was sprung from an old and widely respected stock. Her regretted demise happened after a comparatively short illness, to the inexpressible grief of her family and relatives. In addition to Mr. Henry Haughton, the dear departed one is survived by two other sons and a daughter—Messrs. Richard and William Haughton, Kilmaden, and Miss Margaret Haughton, do. The funeral to Kilmaden cemetery was attended by a remarkably large and representative concourse of mourners, sympathisers and friends, including many public officials in the city and county whose duties permitted them to be present. Chief relatives were—Deceased's sons and daughter; Messrs. Patrick Haughton, New Ross, and Patrick, John and Francis Burgess, Kilmaden (nephews); Mrs. Haughton and Miss Haughton, Rosbercon (cousins); Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Aspel, Michael Street, Waterford, and Mr. Ross Mayler and Mrs. Mayler Carlow.

Amongst the public in attendance were Rev. Canon Ennis, Rector of Kilmaden, and Mrs. Ennis. The County and City Officials present included—Mr. J. H. O'Sullivan, Secretary to the Waterford County Council; Mr. M. O'Flynn, Secretary to the Waterford County Board of Public Health; Mr. M. Phelan, Home Assistance Superintendent; Mr. R. Mul-lowney, Storekeeper, Waterford Mental Hospital; Mr. Robert Moloney, Home Assistance Officer; Mr. J. McGinnis, do.; Mr. Liam Rafits, Borough Treasurer; Waterford; Mr. M. Connolly, Town Clerk's Department; Mr. D. Coffey, Waterford Mental Hospital; Dr. and Mrs. Heskin, Kilmaden; Miss Walsh, Nurse Instructress, County Hospital and Mrs. Power, District Nurse.

The Rev. T. Powell, C.C., Portlaw, recited the last prayers at the graveside. Many Mass cards were received. Peace to her soul!

Held on the 16th inst., the 17th annual agricultural Show at Piltown, South Kilkenny, was favoured by fine weather, a large crowd, and excellent entries in all sections. Prize-winners included—Mr. Patrick Wheelar, Carronweil, Rathgormack; Mr. Patrick Carroll, Fiddown; Mr. John Connors, do.; and Mr. J. Powell, Portlaw.

Contrary to general expectations Castle-martyr strongly attacked and despite a good defence got through for a goal, thus putting the teams on level terms once again. The hurling was now a treat, each side going all out for a win. The efforts of Twomey, Buckley, Lynch and Mahony for Kilmarnock being countered by Hennessey, O'Brien, Moloney, Foley and Harte for the opposing side. Castle-martyr were going great guns and soon were a brace of points' ahead, and looking all over a winning team. Kilmarnock rallied however, and Lynch had the white flag waving in a twinkling. A point now divided the teams, and the sands in the hour glass were running out. Castle-martyr were winning a great game and their supporters were jubilant. The game however is not yet finished, and Kilmarnock are not yet beaten. Headed by their captain, they swoop down the field in a last gallant effort to avert defeat. Castle-martyr checks, but are unable to stem that onslaught. A minute later the white flag is waving. The teams are on level terms once again, and the long whistle ends a memorable game. It has been officially announced that An Saorstait will not hear the postman's knock on Christmas Day or on St. Stephen's Day. There is a game called Postman's Knock. We might play it for the fun of the thing. It is very popular in parts of the country, especially with the fellows who personate the postmen.

The news of the terrible tragedy of Kilkintilloch was received with feelings of deepest regret throughout the homeland of the ten young Irish folk who were burned to ashes when trapped in a blazing house in the said district of Dumbar-tonshire, Scotland, on Thursday night of last week. All in our midst unite in praying the Light of Heaven to the souls of the victims of that horrible happening.

The sad tidings of the premature passing of gifted Gael Phil O'Neill ("Slabh Ruadh") greatly grieved us, too. Friend Phil was much amongst the kindly Kilmaden and Ballyduff neighbours during the time of the trouble, and was as well and as popularly known here and hereabouts as he was in his natal Kinsale (Co. Cork). Fluent Irish speaker; facile writer of prose and poetry; masterly player of many musical instruments; sweet singer (tenor) and graceful dancer; gay, gallant and generous-hearted always, was—sterling "Slabh Ruadh. INCH TOURNAMENT FINAL
THRILLING GAME

An exciting game ending in a draw was the result of the meeting between Castle-martyr and Kilmarnock in the Inch Tournament final last Sunday. Castle-martyr won the toss but were slow to settle down. Kilmarnock attacked but settled wide.

Buckley, Barron and Harley again carried the ball into Castle-martyr territory and McGrath just missed the posts. Play was at midfield for some time, and Moloney did useful work for Castle-martyr who now assumed the offensive, and being awarded a free which so far improved their position that they soon afterwards rushed a goal. Their triumph was short-lived however. A nice moment initiated by S. O'Mahony ended in Kilmarnock pulling off the equaliser a few minutes later, and this was further augmented by a point for which Lynch was responsible. Castle-martyr were now having the worst of the argument, and though C. O'Brien pointed for them, Kilmarnock finished the half-hour with a lead of one goal.

FARMERS AND MUSHROOMS.
The law regarding the rights of ownership of mushrooms is peculiar, and not a few farmers have incurred their legal claim by buying a few blocks of spawn. This places mushrooms within the category of a cultivated crop, and the removal of them by any but the cultivator amounts to theft.

CAPOQUIN NOTES

Grand Race Fund Dance.— A grand All-Night Dance will be held in the Boathouse Hall, on next Wednesday night, 29th inst., in aid of the Cappoquin Point-to-Point Race Fund, which promises to be one of the most brilliant social functions held here for many years.

The Cappoquin Race Fund has certainly strong claims on the support of every sporting lady and gentleman in the County Waterford, and far outside it, owing to the splendid Point-to-Point Races provided here for their benefit and amusement every year, and as the promoters never make a collection for these expensive fixtures, but prefer to rely on the proceeds of dances, concerts, or some other such form of entertainment, from which the public always get full value for their money, it is up to the sporting public now to support this dance in the most generous and whole-hearted manner, if they wish to have the popular Cappoquin Races continued in the future.

Splendid catering arrangements will be carried out by Mr. G. Watson, Cappoquin, who will supply excellent suppers on the premises at popular prices, and whose elaborate catering on previous occasions has given such satisfaction to all.

The fine dancing floor will be specially prepared and polished for the occasion, and the Hall most artistically decorated, while the cloak-room arrangements will be found as perfect as usual.

When we state that all the arrangements will be in the capable hands of Messrs. M. J. Sargent and P. Walsh, Hon. Secs., assisted by the members of the Race Committee, we know the public will take this as a guarantee of perfection in every detail, and will not fail to attend this enjoyable and outstanding dance on next Wednesday night, for which the tickets are 5/- each.

Great Benefit Entertainment.— A great Concert and Variety Entertainment will be held in the Boathouse Hall on Sunday night, October 3rd, which nobody in Cappoquin can afford to miss.

This super-entertainment will be a benefit for Mr. James Hogan, Cappoquin, in recognition of the sterling services he has rendered to the public in his capacity as Bandmaster here for almost the past 40 years. During this long period nobody could have given such valued and unselfish assistance as Mr. Hogan has rendered, as his great musical talent was always devoted to the upkeep of the Brass and Reed Band in Cappoquin, while he never spared himself when the services of the Band were required, whether for National purposes, for sport or charity, and it was owing to his great loyalty and devotion and his inherent love of music, that the Band had been kept alive so long in the town. Owing to several serious attacks of illness within recent years, Mr. Hogan's health has now been gravely affected, and he is no longer able to display that sparkling musical genius for which he had been so famous, and it is only as a mark of common gratitude that the townspeople have now decided to show some mark of their appreciation for services which should never be forgotten by the people of Cappoquin.

The programme for this entertainment is one of outstanding merit in every respect, and includes the brilliant two-act Comedy, entitled "Meet The Family," by kind permission of Abel Haywood and Co., Ltd., which will be produced by the Cappoquin Dramatic Class, which embraces some of the cleverest and most versatile amateur lady and gentleman artists in the town.

The concert side of the programme will include stirring choruses and solos by the local Mixed Troupe, instrumental solos and selections, Irish Step-dancing and recitations by well-known performers, and many other features of interest, so that apart from the worthy and deserving nature of the entertainment, the splendid programme above should ensure a packed audience on Sunday night week.

A grand Candelilla Dance will be held immediately after the Entertainment at the modest charge of 1s. 3d. per head and we hope this event will also be generously supported by all.

Mr. J. P. Olden, Hon. Sec., C.Y.M.S. is in charge of all the arrangements for both events, assisted by an active Committee so that everything is bound to be carried out in the most efficient and satisfactory manner by this popular and versatile gentleman.

The Main Drainage Scheme.— Mr. Bryan Cullen, who had acted as Foreman for the contractors, Messrs H. and A. Hamilton, Waterford, since the start of the work on the main Drainage Scheme in Cappoquin about five months ago, resigned from his position a fortnight ago, and has now rejoined the firm of Messrs. Nolan, Building Contractors, Waterford, by whom he had been previously employed for about 30 years.

During his period in Cappoquin, Mr. Cullen had proved himself a most capable Foreman, who was very popular with all the men under him, and who now wish him the best of luck in his present position.

Following Mr. Cullen's resignation, Mr. Hamilton promoted Mr. Richard Roche, Stradbally, as General Foreman over the Scheme, and as this gentleman had been already on the staff here as Head Carpenter, he is proving himself equally efficient in his more important position, and is a great favourite with the large staff of workmen, who are giving him the most loyal and faithful service since his popular appointment.

The Carpentry work necessary in connection with the various manholes and other parts of the Scheme is being ably carried out by Mr. Roche and Messrs. Luke Hackett and R. J. Barry, Cappoquin, while the important work of "Pointing" the new pipes, and laying down the manholes, is in the experienced hands of Mr. Patk. Fegan, Waterford, and Mr. James Phelan, Tramore, and with Mr. O'Carroll, B.E., still in the responsible position of Clerk of Works, the Contractors have a most capable, hard-working and trust-worthy staff at their disposal at present, and this is proved by the rapid progress being now made with this important work.

The work of excavation having now been extended to Barrack Street, this long thoroughfare presents somewhat of a Fairy-like scene with its long row of "Red Lamps" every night as "Danger Signals."

We are glad to see that no attempt is being made to completely close Barrack street to traffic so far, as one-way traffic is being left open at the Northern side of the street, and as it is intended to excavate the street only in sections, and fill in each section when the new pipes have been laid down, the inconvenience to the public, which was at first feared, is not likely to materialise, after all.

Still No Water.— "Water, water everywhere, yet not a drop to drink," is still the position in Cappoquin, and the town is at present as "Dry" as the United States once were while the "Volstead Act of Prohibition" was in force there.

The position now is far more serious than it was when we made our protest last week, as the continued absence of water, either for cooking or ordinary domestic purposes, is bound to aggravate the position still more. One very serious result of this water famine is that our local Toilet Artist has found it impossible to get sufficient water for shaving his customers.

Important Auction.— On next Thursday, 30th inst., Mr. M. F. Walsh, Auctioneer, on the instructions of the Administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. Ellen Vaughan, will offer for sale the dwellinghouse, Shop and Premises of the deceased, which are held under Lease for 99 years from Sept. 1920, at the yearly rent of £7. The premises are situated in Cook street, practically opposite the Railway Station, and close to the Sportsfield, so that they are in a most favourable position from a business point of view, and the late Mrs. Vaughan carried on a most successful shop business there for many years.

In the hands of an enterprising business person these premises would prove a most profitable investment, and we expect that there will be keen competition for the property on Thursday.

An Unusual Accident.— On last Monday evening week an unusual accident took place in the Main street. A woman named Mrs. Hoare, who resides in Millstreet six miles from Cappoquin, was coming up the street with a donkey and cart, heavily loaded with goods, and all went well until the donkey got opposite the brilliantly-dressed windows of Mr. J. Russell's Wine, Spirit and Grocery establishment, near the Protestant Church. There were several unusually large bunches of tempting grapes on view inside one of the large windows, which, apparently attracted the donkey's attention and made him feel anxious to get at them, because "Neddy" made a sudden swerve in the direction of the window, and in doing so, the iron band of the off-wheel snapped and the wheel collapsed, leaving the cart and load of firewood capsized on the side of the street. Mrs. Hoare made several attempts to borrow a spare cart-wheeled in town, but was unsuccessful, and much sympathy was felt for the poor woman owing to the long distance she had to travel to her home. It was not until some hours later that she was able to get the loan of another donkey cart, and after great trouble in transferring the load of firewood on to this, she eventually got home several hours later than she had expected, but could not remove the damaged cart until the next day.

We have often heard that by dangling a carrot in front of a donkey's nose you can lead the animal anywhere, but there must have been some irresistible flavour about Mr. Russell's fine grapes to make this epicurean "Moke" behave as it did on the occasion in question.

A SUNDAY SERMONETTE

The Forgiving Mercy of God By Very Rev. Maurice F. Heame, P.P., Portlaw, Co. Waterford.

"Be of good heart, son" (St. Matt. ix, 2).

THE scene of today's Gospel is "His Own City," Cappharnaum, so called because so much of Our Divine Lord's preaching and work was done there.

St. Mark tells us it was a house in which the miracle was performed—St. Peter's, in all likelihood, for he lived in this city by the Lake of Galilee. And the multitude which, St. Mark also tells us, filled the house "so that there was no room even at the door," was the usual motley following of friends and sympathisers, of curious persons, and of watching, unfriendly spirits, like the Scribes, so prominent in the scene today.

Through the tiles of the house and lying on a bed, St. Luke says, four friends of a man sick of the palsy lowered him "into the man sick of Jesus," and, seeing their faith, He responds unexpectedly, saying to the sick man: "Be of good heart, son, thy sins are forgiven thee"; for it was not for this they had come.

The scribes scribes said within themselves, "He blasphemeth, who can forgive sin but God alone" and Jesus "instantly" answers their thoughts, saying: "Whether it is easier to say thy sins are forgiven thee; or to say, arise and walk? But that you may know that the Son of Man hath power on earth to forgive sins" (then said He to the man sick of the palsy), "Arise, take up thy bed and go into thy house. No wonder "the multitude seeing it feared and glorified God."

To all who believe in the forgiving mercy of God there is strength and comfort in the reading of today's Holy Gospel. We find there a fulfilment of our faith, born of the feeling that on this occasion Our Lord seemed anxious that there should be no result of "his water famine" is that our local Toilet Artist has found it impossible to get sufficient water for shaving his customers.

There is solace, too, for all of us poor sinners. "If we say we are without sin we deceive ourselves." Yes, our sins are our greatest worries; they cause an uneasiness of mind which is as intimate as our personality, a restlessness which is, so to speak, the Spiritual Palsy which urges us to seek the feet of Jesus and be cured. All we need is to be of "good heart," and no matter how low we have fallen, or how often—provided we use this power which God hath given to men, and with that "good heart" of sorrowing confidence, set in conformity with the Sacred Heart of Jesus, confess our sins—we are sure of hearing these words so comforting and withal so vital: "Thy sins are forgiven thee. Amen."

THE LATE MR. WM. FOLEY, MODELIGO The death is regretted by a large number of friends in counties Waterford and Tipperary of Mr. William Foley, painter, Modeligo, Co. Waterford. Deceased was a brother of Mr. Maurice Foley, Carpenter, Carrick-on-Suir and was married to a respected Carrick-on-Suir lady and had worked for a number of years in Carrick, Clonmel and other parts of Co. Tipperary, where he was greatly respected. There was a large attendance at the funeral to Modeligo on Sunday.

Holidaymakers Return to the States.— Amongst the many passengers that went on Board the M.V. Georgic on its arrival at Cobh on Sunday morning, were Mrs. G. Schwambo, and Miss Noreen Galvin, who were returning to Boston, after an extended holiday in their homeland after a lengthened absence in the States. During their stay they toured extensively through Munster, Leinster and Connaught, visiting all the far-famed beauty spots and were particularly charmed with the beautiful effects unfolded in the mountain districts of the Wicklow Hills, The Comerghs, Knockmaddons and the Galtees, and visions of the Glen of Aherlow, the Vale of Avoca, the Valley of Slievenamon, the Blackwater and Suir districts, etc., will be forever remembered. The Ring of Kerry was included in their programme, and most of the scenic parts of County Cork were visited enroute to Killarney and its lakes, beginning this trip at Blarney Castle, where its famous stone was kissed, and, its customary gift imparted.

At their mother's homestead at Caher, Tallow, they spent quite a good time, and entertained their many friends and relatives to many hours of pleasure, many of whom were present at Cobh to see them off and wish them bon voyage.

TALLOW DISTRICT COURT.

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, D.J.

License Transfers

Mr. Wm. R. Hodnett, solr., Youghal, applied on behalf of Miss Mary Fynn, Tallow, for a transfer of the license held by the late Nano Purcell.

Supt. Quinlan, Lismore, said there was no objection and the application was granted.

Mr. Hodnett made a similar application for Catherine O'Connor, in the matter of the license held by the late Kate Power. There being no objection the application was granted.

Mr. Hodnett applied on behalf of T. J. Kenry and Bernard O'Keefe, for renewals of wholesale Beer Dealer's licenses, which were granted.

Mr. J. W. O'Gorman, solr., Lismore, applied on behalf of Daniel O'Brien, for a renewal of a Dance License for the Cinema Hall with some alterations.

The Justice said he would prefer to have the requirements specified in the notices served.

Supt. Quinlan said there was no objection provided the usual conditions were complied with.

Mr. O'Gorman said that would be done.

The application was granted.

Adjournments

In a number of cases brought by the Minister for Lands and Agriculture and the Minister for Local Government, Mr. E. A. Ryan, State Solicitor, Dungarvan, applied for adjournments and all the cases were adjourned to next Court.

There was an unusually long list of cycling without lights. Sergt. Grey, Tallow, was complainant in 16, and the other complainants Guards Hagan, McDermott and Kehoe, had a number of others charged.

In a number of cases the explanation given by defendants was that they were detained at a garden party or on the way home from a dance.

Fines up to 2/6 were imposed. Sergt. Grey, charged Michael Ronayne, Tallow, with having no lights on his motor car.

The Sergt. stated that defendant gave the explanation that both bulbs had blown.

Defendant appeared and corroborated this statement.

He was fined 1/- in each case. Guard Kehoe, charged Thomas Finn, Mitchelstown, with a like offence. He was fined 1/6 in each case.

Assault

Supt. Quinlan, charged Daniel McCarthy, with assaulting one Bridget Hogan.

Mr. Hodnett, solr., for the defendant, applied for an adjournment for the purpose of issuing a cross summons.

The Supt. said he had no objection and the case was adjourned to next Court.

Licensing Case

Margaret Cotter, Barrack street, Tallow, was charged with a breach of the Licensing Act and two local men were summoned for being on the premises.

Mr. Hodnett for the defence said his client was unable to attend owing to a serious illness in her family. To shorten matters he was instructed to admit the offence. The two men charged were friends of hers and she yielded to their request. They had only one drink when the Guards came on the scene.

The Supt. said there was a previous conviction in 1935, when she was fined £1.

Defendant was fined £2 not to be recorded, and the men found on the premises were fined 5/- each.

Larceny by Boys

At a Children's Court, two boys aged 13 and 14 were charged with the larceny of rabbit traps.

Supt. Quinlan (for Supt. Higgins, Fermoy), prosecuted.

James Kenneally, stated that he set a number of rabbit traps on the lands of Cornelius Barry at Kileoran, on Sunday 22nd August. On that evening he found a number missing, and the following morning he found that seven had been taken. He reported the matter to Guard Barry, Ballyduffy. He identified the traps produced as his property.

The Justice—Are those rabbit traps or rat traps? Witness—Rabbit traps.

The Justice said he would certainly prefer to have snare traps used for the capture of the rabbits.

Guard Barry was examined. He said he took statements made by the boys in which they said that they took the traps to catch a few rabbits, but they did not intend to keep them. They told their father that the owner of the land on which they were set told them to take them.

The Justice—Why did you tell your father a lie? The boys—Because we were afraid, my lord (laughter).

The Justice said it was not a serious case, but it seemed they had not much trouble in telling a very clever story. The father questioned at length by the Justice said he believed the boys when they told him they were told to take the traps, but they afterwards admitted the truth.

The Justice warned the boys if they went on like that they would some day find themselves locked up in an Industrial School or a Reformatory. He proposed dismissing the case with a warning. When children brought home things in that fashion parents should make proper inquiries as to how they came by them. He hoped that would be a lesson to the boys and their parents and to others also. The Superintendent—Is that a dismissal under the P.O.A.?

MID-DEISE MEMS.

The community spirit prevails at Kill. I was at the Mid-Waterford Novice Cycling and Athletic Sports Meeting there on last Sunday week (writes a son of Carrick-on-Suir) and was struck by the terrific enthusiasm not just of the participants in the various events, but by everyone in the village. In an age that does not feature "team-work" outside certain spheres, where it is necessary, and in which people are inclined to go their own way, it is delightful to know that there are still such places as Kill with the folk living a "big happy family" life of contentment. Typical example of the community spirit was given me by a little boy. I asked him had he won a prize. "I didn't win anything, sir, he answered, "but Thomas—that's in the same class with me at school won the boys' race and got a grand prize."

The day may come when Banba's buses are fitted with a radio, aye, and television, too. Seemingly this development will be popular enough. Opinion is arrived at through a journey Maud Moryah made from Carroll's Cross to Cork, via Dungarvan, Youghal, Killeagh, Middleton, etc., on the last day but one. A man with a portable set in his arms boarded the bus, and prompted by a fellow-passenger switched on the Athlone wavelength. The organ recital that followed until Maud reached Glammire, she could see, was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

A contemporary contains the following "tit-bit":—"During a lengthy discussion at Sligo Corporation on the appointment of an assistant cemetery caretaker, which required two divisions, Alderman G. R. Williams said, 'We do nothing in this Council. We are like the devil shearing a pig in the dark—all noise and no wool.'"

We are reliably informed that a monster Metropolitan "invasion" of Tramore took place on last Sunday, when several special trains were run from Kingsbridge. The day was dry and sunny. After sunset, however, some heavy showers fell and the air became bitterly cold beneath a bright moon.

For the majority the cinema is a tonic; for the minority a sedative. We know a not-so-young Tramore lady who is a frequent visitor to the films and who, when asked how she enjoyed the show, replies—"It was grand; I slept all the time."

The moving picture is to many adults a lullaby. We did not know it could woo a youngster to sleep until this week when a Fenor friend of ours informed us he was an observer of the incident he relates.

"It happened the other night," he told us "in a certain city cinema. After the National Anthem had brought the programme to a close I found the house deserted with the exception of a youngster and myself. The youngster seemed oblivious to the fact that the entertainment was over for the evening. A female attendant approached the boy to find that he was in such deep sleep her efforts to arouse him failed. One with less gentle tactics, however, managed to do the needful, and the youth reluctantly shook himself into consciousness. It is the first time I saw a boy sleeping in a cinema, so I thought it was sufficiently curious for a line in the 'Observer.' It is an unusual event, and may be a contribution of special value to juveniles suffering from insomnia. But the boy referred to must have been an exception to the general rule. Maybe he thought he was playing cards and went nap!"

The Metal Man wonders when will our racing authorities raise their ban on women trainers? The New York Jockey Club has granted a trainer's license to a woman, a ban that has been in existence since the club was founded. The woman trainer is no innovation, for in some American States, in Australia and in various other countries they were allowed licences many years ago. There are, too, women trainers in this country, although they cannot obtain licences from the Jockey Club. One of the most successful gets over the difficulty by having the licence taken out in the name of her head man. She, however, supervises all the work and carries out all the duties that fall to the lot of big trainers. She has nearly sixty horses in her charge. Many women train their own horses for steeple-chasing for under National Hunt rules licences are not necessary for those who have charge only of their own animals, which are returned as "trained privately."

In Australia their Grand National has fallen to a woman trainer, who prepared precocious for the race a few years ago. Many other big steeplechases in that country went to women, who, when they were owner-trainers, were not required to apply for licences; but later a rule was introduced making it necessary for all trainers to take out licences, and these were not granted to women. There is no doubt that an experienced horse-woman is as capable a trainer as a man, and even as a jockey the woman rider can often hold her own. This has been demonstrated in our own beloved Emerald Isle, where "mixed" riders are allowed in point-to-point races, and in Austria, where some years ago a woman was second in the list of amateur riders, with the fine record of 9 winners out of 13 mounts.

The Justice—No, I will make it a clear dismissal.

Licensing Renewals This was the Annual Licensing Sessions, and there being no objection by the Guards, all the renewal certificates were signed.

between £700 and £800. The work is in the hands of that very capable firm—Messrs. John Murray and Sons, Store street. It appears that as the schools include both National and Secondary branches, the good Brothers will receive no financial assistance from the Board and will, therefore, have to face the full cost themselves. The great work done by the Youghal Christian Brothers for the education of the local boys—and, in addition, of many from the surrounding country districts, who came in from long distances by cycle, morning after morning, in all kinds of weather—is too well known to require repetition. It may, therefore be safely anticipated that when the time comes many of their past pupils and other friends will not be wanting in grateful recognition of their invaluable services.

Chimney Afire!
For some years past it would appear that quite a number of persons let their flues accumulate soot to such an extent that finally they take fire. This may be a cheap method of clearing their chimneys and avoiding the cost of procuring a sweeps services, but it is a positive nuisance and a potential danger to the whole community. There have been from time to time several narrow escapes of real fire, which if not extinguished might have led to very serious conflagrations. In the interest of the public at large a stop should be put to the practice. It would appear that in other countries, persons who allow their chimneys take fire in this manner are brought before the local Court and heavily fined. As usual probably nothing will be done until a fire of the kind results in serious damage to property, if not to life. Then everybody will be asking why wasn't something done long ago. Youghal is a very old town, and many of the older houses are built in such a way that the timber—which must be extremely inflammable now—is in close proximity to the chimney flue. Here is the great danger. Let us hope it will not be a case of "shutting the stable door when the steed is stolen."

CARRICK GIRL'S SUCCESS
Miss Angela Dollard, Brewery House, Carrick-on-Suir, passed with distinction in the first division, and secured the bilingual certificate at recent final examination for National Teachers at Carysfort Training College, Dublin. Miss Dollard has secured a teaching post in Carlow.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

DUNGARVAN FOOT BEAGLES—
The Dungarvan Foot Beagle Club will open the 1937/38 hunting season on Sunday next September 26th, when they meet at Two-Mile-Brige, at 12 o'clock (new time). Hounds are in splendid condition and hares plentiful, which should ensure for the club a very successful season. The Committee wish to remind followers to close gates and not cause any injury to fences, etc. As all the farmers in the Hunt Area, without exception have offered the Club every facility, it is to be hoped that followers will appreciate the fact and see that gates, etc., are not left open. The Club will not make any collection on Sundays this season, but will rely on help from local sportsmen to provide funds.

PRACTICE DANCES—
Weekly practice dances under the auspices of the Dungarvan Brass and Reed Band will commence next week in the Town Hall. We feel sure the public will extend generous support to this worthy object, and so enable the Committee to continue its work.

DUNGARVAN GOLF CLUB—
President's Prize; an 18 hole strike Competition, open to all members, will be played on Sunday 3rd October, the prize being a valuable leather Golf Bag presented by Mr. S. J. Moynihan, President. ANNUAL GOLF DANCE—
The annual dance under the auspices of the Dungarvan Golf Club was held in Ocean View Hotel, Clonsa, on Wednesday night last and proved an unequalled success. Upwards of 90 couples were present, and with the splendid music supplied by Phil Murray's Accordion Band, and the catering arrangements the last word in perfection, a most enjoyable night's dancing was the result.

FIANNA FAIL—
The collection to defray the General Election campaign expenses, will be held at the Church gates, Dungarvan, on Sunday October 3rd. This collection was to be held at an earlier date, but owing to a local charitable collection it was postponed. It is to be hoped that the public will subscribe generously. (Adv.)

INTERESTING LECTURE AT TOURANEENA—
A most interesting and instructive lecture on the history of Catholic Spain, past and present, and its connection with Ireland, was given by the Rev. H. Conway, C.C., Ardinnan, in the Touraneena School on Sunday night last. The Rev. Lecturer dealt with his subject in a masterly manner. Illustrated lantern slide views of Spain's historical cities and churches, now alas ravaged and plundered by the civil war, thrilled the large audience present. After the lecture a most successful concert was given by local artists, which was followed by the draw for a valuable registered greyhound. The winning ticket was held by Miss Coleman, Rathgormack. The second prize—Bottle of Champagne—was won by Miss Nora Downey, Woodhouse, Ballinacult.

D. L. C. SOCIAL CLUB—
The above Club wishes to announce that their usual enjoyable weekly practice dances will begin in the near future.

"45" DRIVE—
Now that the long winter nights are coming, card-playing, which was practically suspended during the summer months will again come into its own. The first "45 Drive" of the season (in aid of the Kilrossanty Parochial Debt) for which there is £10 in prize-money, is already well under way. Tables have already been played all over the county, and those who visit the Leamybrien Hall on the two successive Sunday evenings—October 31st and November 7th—when the semi-finals and finals will be played, are sure to witness games in which the best card-players of the County will be engaged.

BOXING AT TOWN HALL—
An ambitious Boxing Tournament, which no lover of the fist art should miss, will be staged in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on next Wednesday night, September 29th. No less than 12 contests are billed, and as the contestants were matched by Garda "Boy" Murphy, close and exciting contests will be the order. The first contest starts at 8 p.m. In order to avoid disappointment the public are requested to book seats early.

CO. WATERFORD AND SOUTH KILKENNY SHOOTING MEN'S ASSOCIATION—
At a Committee meeting of the above held in Waterford last Wednesday night, a letter was read from the Minister of Justice, declaring this Association a recognised Association for the purposes of Section 15 of the Game Preservation Act, 1930. INCH NOTES

Tournament Final— On Sunday last the Inch Hurling Tournament final was played. The day was beautifully fine, and the sun shone forth with a radiance that was quite summerlike. The big crowd that thronged the Inch enclosure for the tournament final was reminiscent of the long past early days of the Gaelic Athletic Association: the days of the open fields and the huge attendances. There were people present on Sunday—quite a small number it is true, who had seen the birth of the movement and have seen it grow into the mighty, all embracing National Association of today. The story of the G.A. is a record of triumph and achievement: a story in which the names of East Cork Clubs and athletes generally is largely forgotten. Forty-seven years ago an East Cork football team won the All-Ireland Championship. A feat which tells of the manner in which the young movement found support in the Rebel County. The brilliant achievements of Dungourney in our own day need not be recounted, and is only mentioned in proof of the fidelity of the young manhood of East Cork to the National games and pastimes. With such traditions to inspire them the enthusiasm of the local Gaels is not to be wondered at, and the success of the hurling tournament was from the start a foregone conclusion. The final on Sunday was looked forward to with eager interest ever since it became known that Castlemary and Kileronat would do battle for the medals. Both teams had already shown their metal and proved their worth in many an encounter, and their meeting on Sunday was another encounter of Gaelic versus Gaelic. The match was fully-up to expectations and abounded in thrills—the last quarter of an hour being particularly exciting. When the result was eventually announced, and it was found that the match had ended in a drawn game the pent up enthusiasm of the crowd found an outlet in a burst of cheering that woke the echoes in Lis-rath across the way and could be plainly heard miles distant in Dangan and Ballynoe. It is pleasing to record that in spite of all the enthusiasm and excitement the players on both sides acquitted themselves admirably, and that the game was not marred by even a single ugly incident. Tempers were occasionally lost for a moment, but for a moment only. The demeanour of the players being in striking and pleasing contrast to others whom we have seen in far less exciting and more unimportant matches. Their next meeting will surely be a memorable one and is awaited with the keenest interest by hurling fans all over East Cork and a goodly portion of West Waterford.

The East Cork Divisional Championship— On next Sunday in Middleton, the semi-final of the East Cork Divisional Championship "B Grade" will be played. The contestants being Inch and Carrignavar. The Junior Divisional football final will also take place in Middleton on Sunday. Middleton and Sarshfield being the finalists. If the weather is favourable a good day's sport should result.

YOUGHAL MENTAL HOSPITAL

Mr. W. J. Broderick, M.C.G. (Chairman) presided at the meeting of Youghal Mental Hospital Committee yesterday, when Ald. P. J. Daly (Carrigrohane) was also present. The minutes of the previous Committee were read by the Manager and signed.

Medical Officer's Report— The Medical Officer (Dr. Twomey) reported—Since my last report there has been no death. Seven patients are confined to bed on the male side, and six on the female. There has been no case of restraint, injury or violence. The water supply was deficient on several occasions. Food supplies examined were up to standard, and the general health of the institution excellent.—M. Twomey, M.B., Visiting Physician.

Other Reports— The Manager reported, among other things, that the contracts had been satisfactory carried out during the month. The water supply was unsatisfactory on several occasions. Professor Smiddy, Director of the Combined Purchasing Section of the Department, visited the institution on the 13th inst. On 15th August, through the kindness of the Lord Abbot of Mount Mellary, a very enjoyable open-air concert was given by the Mount Mellary Sacred Heart Band. It was much appreciated and enjoyed by all. Magazines and pictorials were supplied by Miss Dunne, Market Square, Youghal. Since last meeting no death occurred, and the number in residence was 427 (250 men and 177 women).

The Land Steward reported the usual work on the farm for the season had been carried out. Threshing was in operation, and would be finished on the evening of the Board meeting, and it would be advisable to have the surplus grain disposed of after being threshed. All the reports were approved.

Tenders— Tenders were considered and recommendations for acceptance made to the Cork Mental Hospital Committee.

Cider Orchards in County Tipperary— A scheme has been approved by the South Tipperary County Committee of Agriculture to assist farmers to plant and maintain cider orchards in the Clonmel area.

TALLOW NEWS.

Tallow Coursing Club— Mr. J. J. Walsh, presided at a specially convened meeting at the Club Rooms West Street, at which there was a full attendance of members. On the motion of the Chairman, it was unanimously decided to appoint Judge, Slipper and other Officials for the two annual Meetings, to be held on November 3rd and December 27th next.

It was also agreed that the work in preparing the Coursing Field, and the laying out of enclosure should be begun forthwith, and the Hon. Secretaries were instructed to employ the same caretaker as last season.

It was unanimously decided that the Dog Trial Stake should be run off at the first day's meeting, the programme to include an Eight-Bitch Puppy; Eight All-Aged; Sixteen two-course Duffer and sixteen one-course Duffer Stakes.

The Hon. Secs., were instructed to place an order for a special stock of hares offered to the committee, same to be delivered when the grounds had been laid out, and escape erected.

Mr. P. F. Walsh, proposed, and Mr. D. Sheehan, seconded, that the Cinema Hall should be booked for the Annual Concert the date for which would be decided at the next meeting.

The Hon. Secs., announced that Club membership Cards were now available and that they would welcome applications for the same as from the 18th inst., and they hoped that the membership for 1937-'38 would exceed last year's membership by at least 100 per cent.

Tallow Republican Memorial Committee— The Chairman, Mr. T. Hancock, presided at a meeting of the above, which was held on Friday night, to consider Statement of Accounts submitted by the Hon. Treasurer, and other routine business, together with proposals for the continuation of the good work which had been begun last year, viz., the erection of suitable memorials to their fallen comrades.

Before proceeding to business the Chairman said he regretted to inform the members that he had received a letter from the Hon. Sec., in which he tendered his resignation on account of his changing his place of residence. He (the Chairman) put it to the meeting that in the circumstances, they should accept the resignation with great regret, and that the best wishes of the members be conveyed to Mr. Cody for his future success and happiness.

On the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. M. Lynch, Mr. P. O'Sullivan, was unanimously chosen to fill the vacant position of Hon. Secretary.

On accepting office Mr. O'Sullivan said he would do his best to emulate the example set by his predecessor.

The statement of accounts was then read by the Hon. Sec., to the meeting and same was considered very satisfactory.

On the motion of the Hon. Sec., it was unanimously agreed that a "45" Card Drive be started at once, the finals of which would be played off at the Cinema Hall on November 28th next, and that arrangements be made at the earliest moment possible for the annual dance to take place.

The Hon. Sec. was instructed to convey in writing to Mr. Cody, the members best wishes for his future success and happiness.

A SUPER COWSHED.

"Cowshed" is a name one hesitates to apply to the impressive building at "Sindshville," a large modern farm near Copenhagen, Denmark, which was opened recently, when a hundred prominent agricultural experts dined with the cows in its super-hygienic surroundings. Designed by one of Denmark's leading architects, the new "cowshed"—to house 125 cows—is a palatial structure. It is built in a north to south direction, so that it gets the full advantage of the sun all day and is provided with large windows over each individual cow-stall. The inner walls and the floors are tiled, and the partitions between the actual cow-houses, the adjoining refrigerating room where the milk is temporarily deposited, the dairy, the machine-room and the sterilisation chamber, are of plate glass. There is a special steam-sterilisation plant to keep the milk buckets, milking stools and all other equipment germ-free, and hot and cold water is laid on—the pipes are built into the walls and there are chromium taps. There is electric lighting throughout, with concealed wiring and the light-bulbs flush with the walls to facilitate cleaning. Over each cow-stall is a glass-covered chart, showing the daily yield of each individual cow and giving details of the quality of its milk and its daily consumption of various kinds of fodder. This is the first cow-house in the world to have an air-conditioning plant, and a first-aid room for the animals. Workers in this model cow-house wear spotless white overalls, rubber boots, and, when milking the cows and handling the milk, white gauze masks.

"ULSTER MONARCH" ON TOP.

In a field experiment with mid-season varieties carried out with Wm. Colhoun, Mountjoy, Omagh, the new variety "Ulster Monarch" was the highest yielding on 17th August, giving 46 ton cwt. table potatoes, 33 cwt. seed, and 11 cwt. chaff—Total—18 ton 10 cwt. per statute acre.

LIMITATIONS OF CROSS-BREEDING

Only when Old-Established Breeds are Mated is Improvement Noticable

The marked success both in the showyard and on the block from the crossing of Aberdeen-Angus and Shorthorn cattle, and to a somewhat lesser extent the mating of white bulls of the Shorthorn breed with cows of the Galloway breed has led many persons to consider that the crossing of any two breeds of pedigree cattle is sure to result in improved produce. It may be acknowledged that the breeding of crossbreeds have even declared that the mating of sire and dam of two different breeds actually results in the production of young which are superior to both or either of the parents. If the admission is made, temporarily, that this is certain to be one of the results, we do so for the purpose of asking the question as to the cause of this beneficial outcome. The general answer to this question is that the improvement is due to the infusion of fresh blood. This would imply that our most successful of stock breeders are prone to in-breed their animals to so great an extent that their natural vigour has deteriorated, and that some other good qualities have been reduced if not entirely sacrificed.

It may be acknowledged that in the early times when pedigree stock-breeding became fashionable, and was regarded into by men possessing money, little or no knowledge of stock breeding, and an urgent desire to become known publicly for their success as buyers or breeders, and exhibitors of high-priced stock, some breeds of pedigree live stock were reduced greatly in practical value by too close in-breeding, but those times have well nigh become things of the past.

At the present time the mating of parents extremely closely bred, nor, as was the custom in olden times, incestuous breeding, is now seldom followed, if only for the simple reason that with most breeds of improved live stock this is no longer necessary to the type.

In the formation of a new breed, when animals of diverse form and character are bred together, there is sure to be a considerable variation in the form and character of the second and perhaps in succeeding generations. Then to produce similarly it may be necessary to select two animals a male and a female, of as near as possible the type and form aimed at, and closely related, and mate them, when the produce will show less variation and be likely to produce young of a similar character.

The claim that the crossing of all breeds of the same variety of stock must result in the joint produce being superior to either of the parents would appear to be difficult to substantiate. Close observers of stock breeding are of a contrary opinion, and that it is only when old-established breeds are mated together have any proofs of improvement been made. This would appear to cast doubt on the statement that the improvement is due to the infusion of fresh blood. As a matter of fact, the owners of large herds of flocks of farm live stock would be able to secure a slight change of blood by the use of a sire bred from a different strain or tribe. This would be sufficient in most cases as the fear that the animals in a self-sustained herd are likely to be delicate and somewhat shy breeders is groundless, providing that the owner has persistently drafted out of his breeding herd all those animals which showed the least sign of delicacy or inefficiency. This is exactly the same course of procedure as is followed in the animal world and by the aid of nature, the strongest and most vigorous male fights his way to the lordship of the herd, and all weakly females cease to breed or their produce is killed off, either by the severity of the climate or by other animals which prey on weakly specimens, whilst among some kinds of animals the ailing or weakly specimens are killed off by the strong ones.

Notwithstanding the continual in-breeding amongst wild animals, the various species are virile, and increase in number as fast as the amount of food is in excess of their requirements. If the improvement in the produce of sire and dam of two newly established breeds is not noticeable, does not this fact afford some proof that the mating of two animals of old-established breeds which does result in improvement is due more or less to the breeders of pedigree animals, usually making a study of early maturity, constitution, or natural vigour, and ability to the part of their stock to produce as large a weight of meat of the finest quality in the least time at the lowest cost. A continuation of this process gradually but surely increases the proportion of desired and a reduction of the undesirable qualities. As these undesirable qualities are both in quality and in kind, the actual proportion, if not the number of them is still further reduced by the mating of two animals of different breeds, and the good qualities are so much more in evidence.

The sire and dam can endow their produce only with the qualities and in the proportion possessed jointly by themselves.

BEEF GROWERS SEEK HIGHER PRICE.

It is stated that the Executive of the Irish Beef Growers Association have put forward a proposal to the Irish Sugar Company for an increase of 10s. per ton on beef supplied to the factories. A proposal it is understood, has also been made for an increase of freight charges.

CARRICK-ONSUIR DISTRICT COURT

Monday before Mr. F. J. McCabe, D.J. The Justice renewed 84 publicans licences in the Court area and gave fair exemption Orders to ten publicans in Carrick town.

There were no objections to renewal of licences or exemptions. Dance Hall licences were granted to A. Foley, Portlaoigh, T. Mahony, Carrick-ONSUIR Foresters Hall and J. Hynes, Carrick-ONSUIR British Legion Hall.

Interesting Unemployment Point— James Nugent, Milltown, Co. Kilkenny, was fined £1 and costs for having failed to notify the investigation officer of an increase in means in respect of his unemployment benefit.

Defendant admitted the charge and said he did not think it necessary to give a notice. D. Crotty, State Solicitor, Kilkenny, said when defendant got the first unemployment benefit he had a half-acre of land and repaired boots. Since then he had taken land for grazing and had stock and crops.

Stole From Fellow Labourer— Walter Keane, agricultural labourer, Portlaoigh, pleaded guilty to a charge of having taken a 70/- note from the coat of a fellow-labourer named Patk. McGrath.

Supt. Donnelly said the 70/- note represented McGrath's week's wages. He and defendant occupied the same room at a farm house.

The Justice allowed defendant out under the Probation of Offenders' Act and warned him that the case would be against him should he ever again be in Court.

Standard Rent— In an adjourned standard rent case in which James J. Healy, is the landlord, and Richard Dowley the tenant, the Justice fixed 2/6 as the 1914 rent to which the landlord may add 20 per cent. and a further 10 per cent for repairs and also a sum representing the rate of the house. He directed the landlord to refund to Mr. Dowley £2 amount overcharged.

Womens Row— After having heard the details of a charge of assault by Mrs. K. Hanlon, against Mrs. A. Dwyer, and a cross case, the Justice fined Mrs. Dwyer 1/- and 14/- costs, and dismissed the cross case.

The parties live at Greenside Carrick-ONSUIR.

Damaging Ormond Castle— The Justice administered a severe warning to four boys who were summoned for doing 7/- worth of damage to Ormond Castle, the property of Lord Ormond, by removing slates.

The Justice said if the boys damaged Lord Ormond's Castle a couple of hundred years ago, they would run the risk of being hanged in the Castleyard (laughter).

Seed Loans— On the application of D. Crotty, State Solicitor, Kilkenny, The Agricultural Credit Corporation obtained decrees against four farmers for amounts from £5 to £7 loans given to buy seeds. Cases brought by Sergt. Phelan, Portlaoigh against John Faulkner and by Guard Dennis, Piltown, against Michael Knox, for ill-treating animals were adjourned.

POPE DENOUNCES NAZIS "PAGAN" PROPHECY

Addressing German and Australian pilgrims at his summer home at Castel Gandolfo on Sunday, the Pope deplored the plight of the Catholic Church in Germany and denounced the activities of "a self-styled prophet," presumably referring to Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, head of the Foreign Department of the Nazi Party, and one of the leaders of a movement towards the old Germanic paganism.

The Pope's protest, in a brief speech to the crowd of Austrian, German, Dutch, and Belgian pilgrims who packed the Swiss Hall, was his first attack on Nazi religious policy for a long while.

The pilgrims cheered as his Holiness took his seat on the Throne. Then the Pope turned to the German pilgrims, and in a strong voice said: "What shall we say—or, better still, what shall we not say—in this grave hour for Germany; in hour so painful for the Catholic religion and for all who wish to remain faithful to Rome?"

"We extend you a particular welcome in this hour, when in your country a new self-styled prophet is acclaimed. This prophet acts and writes, as everyone knows, against all that which is Catholic and Christian."

His Holiness next turned to the Austrian pilgrims in the assembly and continued: "A special welcome also to you, for it is a grave hour in which Austria is living. We hope that Austria will remain a Catholic nation representing the Catholic Church in Middle Europe, which is so much in need of such an example."

Banned Book— The Pope's speech is understood to refer to Dr. Rosenberg; whose book, "The Myth of the 20th Century," banned by the Vatican, was enclosed in the foundations of the new stadium at Nuremberg during the recent Nazi Party Congress.

The honours rendered to the book brought a strong protest from the official Vatican newspaper, "Osservatore Romano," which declared: "The solemn proclamation of Rosenberg as the crowned prophet of National Socialism thought shows how dangerous is the road which cultural development in Germany is beginning to take."

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL

Present—Messrs. J. Whelan, moved to the Chair; R. Power, J. Daly, B.E., T. Beausang, R. Power, K. Savage.

The minutes having been signed, Mr. Daly proposed a vote of sympathy with the widow and relatives of the late Sean French, and the adjournment of the Board as a mark of respect to his memory.

Mr. Savage, seconding, said they did an honour to themselves in their action. The noble simplicity of the man endeared him to all.

When you want me I will be with you," and he gave the Church Fund Committee very valuable assistance whenever they appealed to him.

Mr. Lynch, associating, said it would be hard for the city or county to find his like and fill his place. A sterling Nationalist he stood up to the cause in the dark days of the Black and Tans.

Mr. Power said beside being a sterling Irishman, the late Sean French was a gentleman in every good sense of the word. One of his most praiseworthy characteristics was that he was kind to the poor and the labouring man.

Mr. Beausang, as a personal friend of the late Lord Mayor, asked to be associated with the proposition.

The Clerk, endorsing the remarks of the previous speakers, said he had had the pleasure of knowing the late Lord Mayor of Cork and one could not help admiring his great simplicity, capability, sterling honesty and patriotism.

He loved the poor and the workers of all classes without exception. Not alone would Cork miss him, but all Ireland.

The Chairman said, as one who had the privilege of knowing the late Sean French, he agreed with the other speakers that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to get his like again.

He held strong political views, but he never tried to impose them on anybody else. He always did his best for the city, and indeed the county of Cork, and as Mr. Lynch had said he was a great friend of Youghal.

His funeral cortege vindicated the place he held in the people of all over the country, and he (the Chairman) was pleased to see that the Council was well represented on the sad occasion.

The city, the county and the country would be much poorer for his passing.

The meeting then adjourned.

YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT.

Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, D.J.

Civil Bills

Decrees or adjournments were granted in a number of undefended civil bills, Messrs. J. L. Keane, W. R. Hodnett and W. J. Barry, Midleton, solrs., appeared for plaintiffs.

Ad Interim Transfer

Mr. F. P. Galvin, solr., Cork, applied on behalf of Mr. J. Moore, Blarney street, Cork, for an Ad Interim transfer of the license of the late Peter Troy, North Main street.

There being no objection, the application was granted.

Power v. Mansfield

This was an application by Wm. Power, Dungarvan, for an Examination Order against James Mansfield, Ballinamertina, Mr. Hodnett, solr., for applicant. The application was granted.

Foley v. Delea

Wm. Foley, Burgess, had two summonses against Denis Delea, of same place, one for damage to complainant's outhouses and one for the trespass of goats, and Mary Foley, his wife had a further summons to bind defendant to the peace.

Mr. John L. Keane, for complainant, and Mr. W. J. Barry, for defendant.

Wm. Foley, stated he was a milesman on the Railway at Burgess, and had been in possession of those houses since he came there about 18 years ago. He bought one of them from the former milesman and he built the other on the site of an old one.

The site was pointed out to him by Mr. John Curtin, who was then owner of the lands which defendant had since bought. Defendant came there only two years ago.

Evidence was given of the damage done by the defendant.

Mrs. Foley, Sergt. Eddie and Guard Griffin, Killeagh, having been examined, Mr. Barry, on behalf of Delea, produced a map showing that the building was on defendant's lands.

The defendant having been examined, the Justice bound him to the peace and ordered him to pay 20/- costs, saying he decided that a question of title was involved in the other cases and he considered they were matters for the Circuit Court. He accordingly dismissed them.

Water in Butte

Guard Dempsey, charged James Forrest, South Main street, with selling butter containing 1.9 per cent. excess water.

Mr. Hodnett, solr. defending, said the excess was very small. His client sold butter as he received it. The farmer from whom Mr. Forrest bought the butter would give the reason for the excess water.

Mr. Forrest stated he had been buying butter from Mr. Byrne for the past 40 years, and that was the first time any fault had been found with it. The weather at the time, in July, was very foggy and thundery, rendering the making of the butter difficult.

Mr. Byrne, farmer, corroborated. They had to use extra water to get the butter clear. They did their best to have it as usual, but it was impossible in the circumstances.

Mr. Hodnett said the expenses in those cases were heavy and he asked for a nominal fine.

A fine of 1/- with 1/- costs was imposed.

No Lights

Sergt. Lupton, charged Declan Lynch, aged 14½, with cycling without a light, and with having no reflector.

The Justice said he didn't like to fine a boy of that age.

He was let off with a caution.

Guard F. J. O'Connor, charged John Walsh, Grange, with a like offence.

He was fined 2/6 and 1/6.

At a Children's Court, a boy aged 9 was charged with a number of larcenies.

Mr. Hodnett, solr., appeared on behalf of the Co. Council.

Inspector Lambert, prosecuting said there were a large number of cases and witnesses, and the statement made by the accused might shorten the hearing.

The Justice—A boy of 9 years is incapable of committing a crime and he is charged with a lot of crimes. It is a matter for investigation as to whether owing to the facts he should be sent to an Industrial school without conviction.

TILLAGE

THE following interesting paper was read by Mr. J. J. Bergin, Athy, at the gathering of Muintir na Tíre at Ardmore last week.

When one discusses Irish Agricultural Policy in public it is as well to set peoples minds at ease by stating clearly that if the interests of the individual alone were considered it might be cheaper to put our land under grass and import all our grain requirements.

Neglecting the individual interest there is no denying the wisdom of endeavouring to increase the area under tillage in this country. Strange as it may appear we have about the lowest tilled area in Europe as shown by the following figures taken from Trade and Shipping Statistics, 1928, setting out the percentage of the arable area ploughed in 12 European Countries.

Roumania—72 per cent.; Hungary—72 per cent.; Denmark—65 per cent.; Germany—63 per cent.; Belgium—62 per cent.; Czechoslovakia—59 per cent.; Italy—57 per cent.; Serb-Croat-Slovene—56 per cent.; Lithuania—55 per cent.; Sweden—52 per cent.; France (1925) 58 per cent.; An Saorstát—12.7 per cent.

Increased Tillage, like wheat cultivation, must be secured by inducement and persuasion. There is no room and no necessity for compulsion. Tillage is an art and cannot be practised successfully by people who do not understand it, or who have lost the art.

Tillage calls for skill, hard work, early and long hours, many hardships and poor recompense. It serves the Nation rather than the individual. Tillage means labour on the farm and off it. Transport, distribution, implement makers, Foundrymen, Carpenters, Backsmiths, Harnessmakers, Manure manufacturers, all benefit from increased trade where tillage is practised, and their business languish in countries where tillage declines.

Tillage cannot be practised indiscriminately. The land must be suitable and skilled farm-labour must be in abundance in the district.

That explains why compulsory tillage often results in National losses rather than National gains. The land to be ploughed must be selected with care and not on a percentage basis.

The corn crop which best suits the soil must be planted. All this can be best accomplished by demonstrating to the individual that his returns from tillage will be greater than the returns from grass in a particular field or farm.

In Saorstát Eireann there are roughly 12 millions of acres of arable land and 4 millions non-arable. Only about 1½ millions of the twelve are under the plough while we still import Agricultural Products worth many millions per annum.

Wheat and Maize are two outstanding examples. When we import these commodities we give employment to the Farm lands of other countries, the machinery and Manure manufacturers, Railway and Shipping Companies, and in this way we leave our own without work.

An increase in the Area under the plough should be the concern and ideal of all of us. The State has been doing much but it has not had the results one would have expected. More and better things must be done, and if the farmers' costs cannot be lowered the prices of the products of the plough must be increased.

A people already burdened with high cost of living do not like to hear of a proposal to further increase in price of essential food-stuffs, but they can be assured that it is not always the cost of the primary but subsequent costs of manufacture and distribution that they suffer from.

In 1851, shortly after the repeal of the Corn Laws there were 429,000 acres of wheat grown in the area now Saorstát Eireann. In 1847, before the effects of the Repeal were felt the area under wheat was 744,000 acres. In 1932 the area had fallen to 21,000 acres, but since then it has increased eight-fold, but the Nation still needs 3 acres of wheat for each one grown in 1937. The cultivation of wheat declined because of the uneconomic price and not because of adverse climatic or other conditions. It decreased because the production of cattle paid better since 1846.

The late Thos. Barrington compiled a review of Agrical prices applied to 10 years ago and putting the prices of wheat and other farm products at a common basis of 100 for the year 1840 he showed that with the price of wheat at 100 in 1840 it was only 118 in 1925, or an increase of 18 per cent. which in no way compensated for the altered value of money during the 85 years that intervened.

Other commodities increased from 100 to 189 for butter, 137 for beef, 250 for mutton, and 453 for store cattle. The present price for home-grown wheat has greatly improved as compared with 4 or 5 years ago, but it is still inadequate. Recently the prices of the products of grass lands have improved and unless the price of wheat keeps step there will be little increase in the area devoted to this crop while such conditions last.

In 1914 the price of Irish wheat was about 11 per barrel or 58 per ton and the consumer of bread paid 54d. and 6d. for the 4lb. loaf which is today costing just 11/-.

When the grower got 88 per ton for his wheat the consumer paid 114 per ton for his daily bread. It cost 6/- to mill, bake and distribute bread in 1914. In 1936 the grower got 110 per ton for his wheat and the consumer pays 114d. per 4lb. loaf. 114d. for 4 lbs. in nearly 127 per ton, thus it now costs 127 per ton to mill, bake and distribute bread. It cost 6/- in 1914 and 17/- in 1936. The cost is not due to the price paid to the grower.

Oats has improved in price during the last year or two. It is more widely grown than wheat or barley. It has been sold in 1930, 1931 and 1932 as low as 5/- per barrel, or 13/- per ton. Since then it has gone to 16/- per barrel, or 18/- per ton. Its true value is about 12 per ton.

It is mostly grown for consumption on the farm and the chief market for the surplus is the Oat Millers. Oats have been bought for 15 per ton and made into oatmeal by a simple process and sold to the consumer for 120 per ton. These figures show the price the consumer is prepared to pay.

Beet is a new tillage crop. The contract price with the grower is 37/6 per ton. It ought to be 50/-. It is the most laborious crop on the farm and its harvesting and delivery entails great exertions and hardships to workers in the fields in the cold wet winter months of October to February. The Sugar Manufacturers made a net profit on last year's working of over a quarter million pounds.

If they had paid 15 per acre of beet more than the contract price they would still have a small profit. 15 per acre is roughly 10/- per ton and thus the price would be 47/6. Freight is a serious item to beet growers and this has increased. There is a 20 per cent. increase in wages, artificial manures are also increased, and even the worthless bag under the pulp is to be dearer. The area under beet will diminish if the price does not materially increase.

The grain crop is the corner-stone of tillage and when grain prices are remunerative tillage always increases, and vice-versa. The area under the plough in An Saorstát is stubbornly resisting efforts to increase it. It is a matter of National expediency, the whole Nation benefits from an increase in the ploughed land, and the Nation will not object to bear its share of the cost.

The non-agriculturist cannot have food which leaves the farms below the cost of production, and at the same time have a market for the goods he makes. Industry must depend on the power of the home-market to absorb his products. The powers of the home-market are determined by its income, therefore, an increase of prices to the primary producer is an increase in the purchasing power of Rural dwellers.

Apart from safeguarding of the market for industrial products the main consideration is the maintaining of the rural population on the land. If conditions on the land be unfavourable the people will not remain—they will flock and are flock-nately. The land must be suitable and skilled farm-labour must be in abundance in the district. That explains why compulsory tillage often results in National losses rather than National gains.

ing, to the town. There they are creating new social and economic problems. They endeavour to get work and they sometimes succeed. They take industrialists' jobs at lower rates of pay. They multiply problems of unemployment, housing, etc., and thus help to increase local rates. It is a vicious circle and a simple, and the cheapest, solution is to pay more for the primary products of the soil and, if necessary, economise in manufacture and distribution.

Already uneconomic tillage prices are having adverse effects. Producers, finding they cannot meet outgoings, are seeking new ways to economise. One way is to make use of new and costly labour-saving machinery. Large sums are going out of the country for American and Canadian farm machinery that will deal with tillage crops with much less labour.

This is how the Rural market for the products of the Urban dweller is being slowly but positively despoiled. The rural dweller is helpless. It is the Urban dwellers who must take action. They must pay the farm producer more and if there is no other recompense the Urban dweller must reduce distributing costs by getting closer to the sources of their chief food supplies.

The New National slogan should be: "Decentralise the industry and bring the people to the cheap food if we cannot bring the cheap food to the people." The job-sidleness of industrial and agricultural relations is reflected in a comparison of the percentage population in town and country, now and 100 years ago. In 1841, in Saorstát Eireann, the town population was 1,100,000 persons and the rural was 5,429,000. The rural population was just 5 times that of the towns. In 1936 the figures were 1,045,000 and 1,923,000. The rural population is now less than 2 to 1 of the urban. 100 years ago one town person served 5 rurals, now one town person serves less than 2 and the towns are all increasing in size and population at the expense of the country.

It is difficult to convince people that the decline in tillage is largely responsible for the flight from the land. That low tillage prices drive land into grass, or drive the occupier to save by dispensing with part of his labour. Nothing that State or Church can do will stop young people comparing the standards of living in town and country and grasping at that which is most attractive. Nobody would support a proposal to lower town and city standards, then in the name of God, let us all unite in raising the Rural Standard.
