SENIOR HURLING FINAL AT WATERFORD

Portlaw, 3-1; Dungarvan, 0-3.

PORTLAW WREST SENIOR HONOURS ON FIRST ATTEMPT

On Sunday last at the Sportsfield, Waterford and before a very large crowd, Portlaw and Dungarvan met in the Senior Hurling Final...

The weather conditions were ideal, and the De La Salle Pipers' Band played the teams on to the field...

Dungarvan were in hard luck as J. Murphy and S. Whelan were unable to play out for their side...

Portlaw winning the toss decided to play against the wind and with a strong sun in their eyes...

Play opened up briskly with Dungarvan breaking away, and Portlaw returned for a long drive by Harney to be cleared by T. O'Gorman...

Portlaw again sent wide. Moynan doubling on the pack-out sent to Noonan who skinned the Dungarvan back line...

Portlaw sent wide and Sullivan (Portlaw) was sent to put in great work at centre field...

Portlaw sent three wides in succession and J. Hunt was a stone-wall in the Portlaw defence...

At the other end Christy Moynan was holding the whole forward line at bay...

J. Hunt saved his side under pressure and Portlaw conceded a "70" which was nicely centred by Moynan and again cleared...

A series of wides at both ends was now the order of play, which continued at a terrific pace...

Barron sent the pack-out to Halpin who just missed the posts. Bluet saved well in the Dungarvan goal...

After 15 minutes of very exciting play Noonan pointed for Dungarvan. At this stage C. Moynan (Dungarvan) was the best hurler on the field...

His long drives always kept the Portlaw backs under pressure. D. Power equalised with a point for Portlaw...

P. Daly (Dungarvan) retired injured. E. Power coming on as substitute. Mick Hickey saved well in the Portlaw full-back position...

Portlaw eventually lashed in a goal. Fierce play now followed at a very fast pace and Barron sent wide for Dungarvan...

Portlaw lashed home another goal, and the Dungarvan goalkeeper Bluet saved twice in quick succession...

Portlaw leaving the scores: Portlaw 3-1, Dungarvan 0-3. The winners were a very even lot...

CAPPOQUIN NOTES

SUNDAY NIGHT PRACTICE DANCES.

It will be good news to the younger generation in Cappoquin and the surrounding districts to hear that the popular "Practice Dances" in the Boathouse Hall were started on last Sunday night, October, 10th and will continue each Sunday night until the end of the season; the hours being, as usual, from 8 o'clock till 11 p.m.

Splendid music will be provided each night, and as the change is only made each for three hours' enjoyable dancing, it is no wonder that "Ponny Hops," as they are called have proved so popular for years past, and we have no doubt they will prove equally so during the coming winter.

AN ENJOYABLE EVENT.

At the conclusion of the Hogan Benefit Concert on last Sunday night week, a grand dance followed, for which a lively programme of music was provided by the "Dungarvan Accordion Dance Band," augmented on the piano by Miss Eily Mullins, Cappoquin. It was reminiscent of old times to have some songs introduced at intervals between the dances, the vocalists being Miss Margaret Cahill, Cappoquin, and Misses Joe Barron and Joe Walsh, do., while a welcome space of variety was introduced by a couple of stirring recitations given by Miss Sheila White. There was an unusually large attendance, and the proceedings proved most enjoyable, while the receipts helped to considerably swell the "Hogan Benefit Fund."

A GENEROUS ACT.

During an interval at the Concert on Sunday night week tickets were sold amongst the audience for £1, in aid of the "Hogan Fund," and when the first ticket was drawn it was found that the lucky winner was Dr. Wm. White, Derrin House, the esteemed and skillful M. O. of Cappoquin.

The genial Doctor refused to accept the £1, and asked that it be added to the fund for Mr. J. Hogan, and when this was announced from the stage by Mr. F. X. O'Leary, N.T., loud cheers and applause greeted the action of Dr. White, which was only in keeping with his past record for decency and generosity in Cappoquin.

OMITTED.

In our report of the Race Fund Dance last week, we omitted to mention that the beautiful decorations in the Boathouse Hall on that occasion were carried out by Mr. James O'Dwyer, whose tasteful and artistic work was greatly admired.

The gay and festive appearance of the Hall must have infused fresh life into some of the dancers on the occasion, because when a couple of Irish Jigs were being danced, we saw some of the best "Jiggers" ever before seen in the Hall, and we hope to have a repetition of this invigorating display in the very near future.

In our report of the Benefit Concert, also in this issue, it should have been stated that the piano accompaniment for Mr. Joe Walsh's two humorous songs were beautifully played by Mr. John Regan, junr., but all the other accompaniments were played by Miss Eily Mullins, as stated in the report.

"THE FLIGHT TO ENGLAND."

The flight of hundreds of young men and young girls from various parts of the Free State to England is now assuming alarming proportions. Scarcely a week passes without groups of young men and women, the bone and sinew of our race, quitting the shores of their native land, as if it were some plague-stricken spot, and seeking in a foreign land the means of livelihood which are denied them at home.

A POPULAR CLERGYMAN.

The Rev. A. H. Thompson, B.A., T.C.D. has been appointed as Protestant Curate to the Ven. Archdeacon H. S. Burkill, M.A. Rector, Cappoquin, and is the first Curate to the Archdeacon to reside in Cappoquin, as all previous Curates had resided in Wiliersdown, which, with Whitechurch, is also under Archdeacon Burkill's control.

The Rev. Mr. Thompson, is son of Dr. J. A. Thompson, Creswick, Maguire's Bridge, Co. Fermanagh, and after a brilliant course in Trinity College he was ordained in Waterford on July 14th, this year, by the Right Rev. Dr. Harvey, D.D., Bishop of Cashel, Emly, Waterford and Lismore, and this is his first appointment. He is now staying at "Barron's Hotel," Cappoquin, and since taking up his duties here he has proved himself to be a most active and zealous Clergyman in every sense of the word. A young gentleman of tall and athletic build, he is a lover of all forms of healthy and legitimate outdoor sport, while his kindly, courteous and unassuming manner has already made him a warm favourite with all classes of the people of Cappoquin, and he gives every promise of enjoying in a short time the wonderful popularity which Archdeacon Burkill has enjoyed for almost the past half century in this town and surrounding districts.

The Recent Benefit Concert.

Mr. James Hogan, ex-Bandmaster, wishes to express his very sincere thanks to the members of the Committee who so thoughtfully organised the recent Concert for his benefit in Cappoquin, and also to the various artists who so kindly gave their valuable services on the occasion. He feels particularly grateful to his old and loyal comrades in the Brass and Reed Band for having so generously made a substantial financial contribution towards the fund; to the members of the Lismore Dramatic Class for their kindness in lending their scenery and stage effects for the occasion, and lastly, to the kind and generous people of Cappoquin and all the surrounding districts who so loyally patronised the Concert, and helped to make it such a great financial success.

Great Progress With Drainage Scheme.

Remarkable progress is being made with the work in connection with the Main Drainage Scheme, which was started here about 6 months ago, and which is giving remunerative employment to a large staff of workmen at present.

The new sewerage pipes have been laid down, and the excavations filled up in several streets in the town already, including Twig Lane, Chapel street, Mill Street, Green Street, Castle street and Upper Main street, and work was commenced only recently in Barrack street, which is the longest street in the town. Some of the quickest work seen in any part of the town has been carried out in this important thoroughfare, and despite the narrow nature of the street, a passage sufficient for one-way traffic has been kept open, and those in charge of the work are taking special precautions each day to cause only the slightest inconvenience to the people living at both sides of the street, which is greatly appreciated by the inhabitants.

If we can only get a proper Water Scheme completed for the town, after the present scheme is finished, Cappoquin will then be one of the best-equipped towns in Munster, and a place "fit for heroes to live in."

Death of Mr. Patrick Power, Lismore.

Very deep regret has been caused by the premature death of Mr. Patrick Power, Church street, Lismore, which occurred at his residence, after a brief illness, on Thursday, 7th inst.

Deceased, who was aged only 34 years, belonged to one of the most respectable families in Lismore, being son of the late Mr. Maurice and Mrs. Power, whose family at one time conducted one of the largest Victualling Establishments in the town. He was brother of Miss "Peg" Power, New York; Mrs. K. Power, Rosslare Harbour; Miss Josephine Power, Farnham, Surrey, and Miss B. Power, Church street, Lismore, and was connected with several of the oldest families in the district. A young man of active and athletic build, he was one of the most prominent sportsmen in Lismore, being a brilliant handball player and keen angler, who, by his upright and honourable character and rare charm of manner, had won the respect and esteem of all classes in his native town.

His death at the early age of 34 years has robbed the town of one of its most popular inhabitants, and the deepest sympathy of all is felt for his afflicted sisters and other relatives in their sad bereavement.

On Friday evening the remains were removed from his late residence to St. Catharine's R.C. Church, Lismore, when the funeral proved a striking tribute of respect to his memory, as it was attended by all the leading people of the town, as well as by many from Cappoquin and other districts.

The coffin was received at the Church by Rev. T. O'Gorman, C.C., and after Requiem Masses for the repose of his soul on Saturday morning, the interment took place at 2 o'clock on that day in the Parochial cemetery, Lismore, when there was another very large attendance of mourners from Lismore and many other parts of the surrounding districts.

The sad cortege was headed from the Church to the cemetery by Rev. T. A. Murphy, C.C., who read the final prayers at the graveside.

The chief mourners included:—Mrs. K. Power, Rosslare Harbour; Miss Josephine Power, Farnham, Surrey; and Miss Bridget Power, Church St., Lismore (sisters); Michael Power, Lismore (uncle); Patrick Power, Rosslare Harbour (brother-in-law); Edmond Leahy, Araglen, Mrs. Lawless, Camphire, Patk. Whelan, do.; etc., (cousins and relatives).

Cappoquin Bacon Factory

REDUCTION IN WORKING STAFF

Something like consternation was caused in Cappoquin on last Friday evening week when it was learned that ten of the employees of the Bacon Factory—eight men and two women—had to be dismissed owing to slackness of work in the Firm.

Some of these employees had been working there for over 25 years, and as several of them are now rather advanced in years, and only badly able to take up any other kind of work, even if such were available in the town, it was felt that nothing but dire necessity would have caused the Management of the Factory to dispense with their services, as it has always been their aim, as it was the aim of the founder of this industry, the late lamented Col. R. H. Keane, to afford the greatest possible amount of employment to the people of Cappoquin.

We have frequently complained that owing to the Quota system introduced by the Figs Marketing Board, this Firm has been very unfairly treated by not being allowed a sufficient Quota to enable the Factory to work to full capacity each week, and although repeated applications for an increased Quota have been made, they have been turned down, so that it was inevitable that some reductions in the staff should take place, sooner or later, as the small number of pigs which the Factory is now allowed to kill would not justify the retention of the same staff as was necessary when the Firm was working to full capacity.

That this view was correct is now borne out as a result of an interview which our Cappoquin Correspondent had with Mr. R. L. Keane, Managing Director, during the week, when he supplied the following authoritative statement for publication:—"The Figs and Bacon Act imposed a quota on production of all Factories, the quota being allocated monthly. For some time past the quota allotted to this Firm has been steadily reduced, until it became impossible to keep on our full staff, which was capable of dealing with over 500 pigs per week even when working on short time.

All the staff have been employed for many years, and it was, therefore, with the greatest regret that the services of ten employees had to be dispensed with. It is hoped that if a larger production quota is allotted to the firm, those employees who have been dismissed can be re-engaged, but at present the reduced staff is quite adequate to deal with the very small production quota now permitted.

From the foregoing it can be seen that it was a matter of economic necessity that some considerable reduction should have been made in the staff, so that no blame, whatever, can be attached to the Management for having to adopt the course, they did with so much reluctance and regret.

It will also be perfectly obvious that it now remains with the Figs Marketing Board to increase the quota to such an extent as to justify the reinstatement of those employees who have been dismissed and thus enable this popular Firm to resume business once again on the same prosperous and progressive lines which have invariably characterised its activities since it was started in Cappoquin close on 30 years ago.

What about Your Share?

During the past few years thousands of farmers have made good money by growing wheat. Last year alone well over £2,000,000 was paid to our own farmers for wheat grown in this country, but—and this is the important point—it was still necessary in that same year to import foreign wheat to the value of more than £3,000,000.

There is a guaranteed market and price for all the wheat you can produce. Get your crop in now and help to keep a share of that £3,000,000 at home next year.

LATE MR. PHILIP MURPHY

The death of Mr. Philip Murphy, Michel street, which occurred on Friday October 8th, while yet in the early twenties evoked deep feelings of regret in the town and surrounding districts where he was so well and popularly known and respected. The funeral to Abbeyside Churchyard, on Saturday last, was very large and representative of all classes of the community.

Deceased was an active member of the Dungarvan Minor Hurling team a few years ago and is brother of Mr. Johnny Murphy, the Waterford Inter-County player.

DEATH OF MR. T. BROWN

The death of Mr. Timothy Brown, Colligan, which took place on Thursday week was received with feelings of deep regret by all who had the pleasure of knowing him and the deepest sympathy of the public is extended to his sorrowing wife and other relatives.

His funeral to Kilgobinet was of imposing dimensions testifying to the esteem in which the deceased and his family are held—R.I.P.

An extensive and practical farmer, upright and straightforward in all his dealings, was a general favourite with everyone who had the pleasure of knowing him and who now mourn the loss of a good neighbour and kind friend.

IRISH BEER BEST

Kilkenny Product Placed First At London Exhibition

First prize for the best naturally-conditioned bottled beer in the British Empire was awarded at the Allied Brewery Traders' Association Exhibition in London last Tuesday to Messrs. E. Smithwick and Sons, Ltd., St. Francis Abbey, Brewery, Kilkenny.

The competitions, which brought entries amounting to 7,000 bottles and ten tons of British, Irish, Dominion and Colonial beer, were so well supported that the first prize winners have a good claim to be regarded as producers of the finest bottled beers in the world.

To win a prize a brewer must show that he can not only produce a good beer, but make it fit to travel a long way.

This celebrated ale is bottled locally by Messrs. R. A. Merry and Co., and Messrs. T. Power and Co., and stocked in almost all bars in the town.

The judges have decided that Smithwick's ale is best of all this is a golden opportunity for Irish men to support an Irish industry by drinking Irish Ale.

INCH NOTES—

Threshing Days—
 Availing fully of the delightful weather of the past few weeks farmers have been working overtime at the threshing, and owners of threshing sets have something to do to keep pace with the demand for "inquirers" at the moment. Not but that there is plenty of steam power in the locality and now that operations are at an end in most of the earlier ripening districts. Many outside sets have come in. Indeed during the past week on certain days I have seen three, and even four threshing sets in neighbouring haggards. This of course resulted in the help being scarce in most cases, but in the present favourable weather it is possible to do a great deal of work with even meagre help provided it is of the right kind. In country districts where that commendable neighbourly spirit exists the men always give of their best, and the day is shortened, and the work made light with the stories, jokes and anecdotes that go freely round until the hardship of the task is forgotten in the joy and pleasure that a good deed—such as helping a neighbour to save his crops always gives.

The Rural Population—
 According to our friends in the towns, country people and especially the farming community are never satisfied. Well, the lot of the Irish farmer is not always a pleasant one. And it is—more often than not—difficult for him to make ends meet. His conscience is not, perhaps, so elastic as that of some of his critics, and he is anxious at all times to pay twenty shillings in the pound where his liabilities are concerned. Here, however, is his trouble: he can, and does, produce the goods, but he cannot control the market, or fix the price. He must pay the merchant and the salesman the price they ask for the seed he buys, but when, in due time the produce of those seeds is brought back to the market, it is again the merchant and not the producer who will fix the price. And very often it is a price that will not pay the seller for his expenditure and his trouble. It is not easy to look pleasant under these conditions, and if the critics of the poor farmer were put in his place they would soon dance to a different tune. There are, of course, farmers, just as there are merchants and shopkeepers who are habitual grumblers, but those are not typical of the farmers generally. And are usually those who have neither the cause nor the need to grumble at all. If you would see the Irish farmer his own natural self without boast or brag or grumble, you will find him in his shirt sleeves on threshing day in a neighbour's haggard taking cheerfully whatever comes his way in the form of manly toil in that noblest of all occupations helping a fellow man in his day of difficulty and of toil.

Tournament Final Next Sunday—
 Castlemartyr v. Kilkenny.
 Followers of Gaelic games generally, and of hurling in particular, will be glad to know that the much talked of replay for the Inch hurling tournament final between Castlemartyr and Kilkenny will take place on next Sunday 17th inst at 2.30 p.m. This will be the third meeting of those teams in the short space of five or six weeks. On the first occasion after a thrilling and gruelling game the match ended in a draw. At the second meeting—last Sunday week—the game was anything more exciting, and as likely as not, if it was played to a finish the result would have been the same. Regrettable incidents which need not now be commented on, brought about the finishing of the game an impossibility, and the referee awarded the match to Castlemartyr. It was felt, however, that this was a most unsatisfactory ending to a memorable encounter, and negotiations were opened up with a view to a replay. Castlemartyr, on being approached acted in a sportsmanlike and most commendable spirit. "To find any gratification in the possession of medals they should win them outright on the field. And this they considered themselves fit and able to do. If they failed, well, their opponents could have them, and they'd wish them joy in their possession." This was the attitude of Castlemartyr, and it is just the attitude one would expect from a club with their traditions. A club numbering amongst its patrons and supporters men with the proud record of Tom Garde and Bill Hennessy, of old unconquerable Dungeon, and having as their officers and principal players the O'Briens, Hennessys, Wades, Hartes, and Mooneyes, to mention but a few of those who are so worthily upholding the old time traditions and glories in the Castlemartyr of today.

Kilkenny were not one bit less generous than Castlemartyr. Frankly they accepted whatever blame there was going for any faults that were theirs in the previous match. Readily they made any amends it was in their power to make. Truly and openly they discussed the whole situation and fell in with any suggestions that would ease the tension. Emphatically they declared their desire and wish that the good relations hitherto existing between the local clubs should continue. This is as it ought to be, and reflects credit on both Kilkenny and Castlemartyr, and is a tribute to the respect and esteem in which the Rev. President of the Inch Club, who conducted the negotiations is held by everybody. Were it not for his efforts there would be no replay, and now that the match is definitely on it is to be hoped that all concerned will see to it that on this occasion no unseemly scenes will be allowed to spoil or mar what will no doubt be the match of the year in Inch. The local club are doing everything in their power to have the pitch in perfect order. The goal posts are being netted and the side and end lines re-marked and improved. I will avail of this opportunity to make an earnest appeal to the spectators to assist and facilitate the stewards by keeping off the pitch and doing nothing that would create disorder. To the players I would say: "Play

LISMORE

Its Past History

Lismore, called anciently Dunaginee, from an old fortification to the east of the town (now termed the Round Hill) to which, on his expulsion from Rathenin by King Cormac, in 631, St. Carthage fled for shelter, derived its present name, signifying: "a great house or village" from a monastery founded here by that Saint which subsequently became a celebrated seat of learning and the head of a diocese. St. Carthage, who died in 688, and was interred in his own Church, was succeeded by St. Cataldus, afterwards Bishop of Larentum in Italy, whose successors were indifferently styled Abbots or Bishops, and the school which was attended by numbers not only from the neighbouring districts, but also from remote countries, was in the zenith of its reputation about the commencement of the 8th century. The establishment continued to flourish, and such was the fame of the place, but now less than twenty churches were founded in its immediate vicinity, but in 812 it was plundered by the Danes, who from that period until 915 five times repeated their devastations. In 978 the town and Abbey were burned by the Osorians; in 1095 the town was destroyed by an accidental fire, and in 1116, 1136, and 1157, both the town and the monastery suffered from conflagration. Henry II after landing at Waterford, marched to this place, where he was met by the chiefs of Munster, with the Archbishop, Bishops and Abbots of Ireland, swore allegiance to him and gave him a charter confirming the Kingdom of Ireland to him and his heirs for ever. While here, the King chose a site, and gave the necessary orders for the erection of a fortress for its defence. In 1173 Raymond-Le-Gros, with the English army marched to Lismore with the piper he had taken in Oflaly, and after ravaging the city and neighbourhood, proceeded on his route to Dungarvan.

A castle was erected here, in 1185 by John, Earl of Morton, and Lord of Ireland. Four years afterwards it was taken by the Irish who put Robert de Barry, the Commander, and the whole of the garrison to the sword. It was, however, soon rebuilt by the King, and for many ages continued to be the residence of the Bishops of the See, until Miler Magrath, Archbishop of Cashel and Bishop of Lismore (Protestant) in 1518 granted the manor and other lands to Sir Walter Raleigh, from whom with the rest of his possessions, they were purchased by Sir Richard Boyle, afterwards created Earl of Cork. The castle was greatly strengthened and improved by the Earl, who built three other forts in the neighbourhood.

hood, one of which was at the Park, one at Ballygurran, and the third at Ballyinn, he also obtained a charter of incorporation for the town, and a grant of a market and fairs.

At the commencement of the war in 1641, the castle was besieged by a force of 5,000 Irish under Sir Richard Belling, and was defended by the Earl's son Lord Broghill (the notorious murderer of Bishop MacLellan at Carrigrohing Castle near Macroom) who compelled them to abandon the attempt. In 1643, a party of 200 insurgents, in retaliation for the destruction of Cloughen by the garrison of this place, entered the town and burned most of the thatched houses and cabins, killed 60 of the inhabitants and carried off several prisoners.

In July of the same year Lieutenant-General Purcell, Commander-in-Chief of the Insurgents at the head of 7,000 foot and 900 horse and three pieces of artillery marched to Cappoquin where he remained for four days, laying waste the adjacent country, and being there joined by Lord Muskerry of Macroom Castle he advanced to besiege the Castle of Lismore.

The town which has been greatly improved by the late and present Duke of Devonshire is romantically situated on the summit of a steep eminence rising to the height of 93 feet from the southern bank of the river Blackwater, over which a fine bridge of stone, erected by the late Duke of Devonshire at an expense of £9,000, and of which the centre arch has a span of 100 feet. The total number of houses in the town in 1841 was 385, the place has been thriving.

The Castle, which was renovated in 1812 forms an imposing object, rising majestically from the elevated bank of the river, and occupying the verge of a precipitous cliff partly clothed with wood and towering above the foliage which conceals its base.

SCHOOL MEALS

At the Carrickon-Suir Urban Council on Tuesday it was decided to adjourn until the making of next year's estimate, the adoption by the Council of the School Meals Act. It was pointed out that at a penny per meal per child per day for a midday meal with half the total cost paid by the Local Government, the cost to the local rates of their half would be £250 which would represent 2d. in the £ on the rates.

A GOOD CATCH

A Waterford City lady playing golf over the Tramore links on Sunday last was surprised when a ball she had struck straight down the fairway could not be seen. Explanation subsequently forthcoming from another player standing nearby was that a seagull had lifted the ball and flown with it just off the "beaten track" into the rough. Here it had dropped it. The first time this that we have heard of such a "birdie" on an Irish course.
