It was announced on behalf of the Executive of the Beet Growers' Association on Wednesday, that the efforts to reach a settlement of the dispute had ended in the rejection by the Executive of the terms offered. Mr. M. J. Corry, T.D., who took a prominent part in the negotiations when asked what was the cause of the breakdown said: "It can be stated very simply. We were offered a wholly uneconomic price and the farmer is going to insist on being paid for his labour."

EAGLE FIGHTS THREE ANIMALS An eagle which became locked in a stable at Novara fought with a dog, a donkey, and a cow, and after wounding all three, knocked down a man. Successfully evading men who had hunted it with rifles, the eagle flew in a stable window. A child saw what had happened and closed the opening. The dog attacked the bird, but was wounded and retired to a corner, where it set up a terrific barking. Becoming maddened at its forced imprisonment the bird then attacked the other two animals, inflicting serious wounds. A peasant hearing the noise, went to investigate. He opened the window and the bird flew away, after having knocked him down with a blow from its claws.

No liability arose under this clause of the agreement.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES

Death of Mr. Wm. Lawless—A member of one of the oldest and most respected families in Cappoquin—Mr. William Lawless—passed to his Eternal Reward on last Saturday morning.

The late "Bill" Lawless as he was known to his countless friends in Cappoquin, was a remarkable favourite with everybody in the town, and his death after a brief illness, and at the comparatively early age of 52 years, is now sincerely regretted by all, and the deepest sympathy of the general public is extended to the bereaved family.

Funeral Services—The funeral services for the late Mr. William Lawless, will be held at 2 o'clock on Sunday, the 20th inst., at the residence of the late Mr. Lawless, in the town of Cappoquin.

Several beautiful wreaths were laid on the grave, including the following:—"In loving memory, from Hannah Joe," "In affectionate remembrance, from Michael and Josie," "With deepest sympathy, from Andrew O'Keefe and family, Cappoquin," "To dear Willie, from Maureen O'Leary," "In loving memory, from Mrs. B. Cunningham and family, Cappoquin," "With deepest regret, from Kitty," etc.

The funeral arrangements were admirably carried out by Mr. P. Walsh, Undertaker, Cappoquin.

Soiled Eggs—From the important advt., which appeared last week from Messrs. J. O'Connor and Sons, Cappoquin, J. Foley, Dungarvan, and other Egg Exporters in the counties of Waterford and Cork, producers should now be able to see that soiled eggs cannot be accepted from them at any price in future, because by accepting same, the merchants are liable to heavy fines under the Regulations made by the Department of Agriculture.

Bacon, butter and eggs from Ireland have always commanded the highest prices in all the markets across Channel owing to their superior quality, and surely it should be a National and Patriotic duty on the part of our egg producers today to see that their carelessness or negligence, will not now lose for their country the proud reputation which it has so deservedly enjoyed in this respect in the past.

By the way, we are glad to see that Messrs. J. O'Connor and Sons, Cappoquin, have now erected a spacious new shed in their extensive Egg and Poultry Stores here, the work having been efficiently carried out by Messrs. Graves and Co., Waterford, so that their important trade in those lines can be carried out in the cleanest and most hygienic manner in future.

Hurling Still Alive Here—The Cappoquin Hurling Club duly exhibited a Junior Hurling Team at the G.A.A. meeting in Dungarvan on last Sunday, but did not affiliate any football team for this year.

Hurling, undoubtedly, being the fastest and most spectacular game, has made a greater appeal to the Gaels of West Waterford than Football in recent years, and it is therefore, not surprising that the Cappoquin Gaels have now decided to concentrate on it for this season, although football is the oldest Gaelic game in the County Waterford, but we fear, it can never again reach the high standard of perfection and excellence which it enjoyed when the Erin's Hopes and Shandon Rovers, Dungarvan, as well as the Blackwater Ramblers, Lismore, and Clashmore were in their glory nearly 40 years ago.

Mount Melleray's New Church—Although in the initial stages of the building of the New Public Church at Mount Melleray are now well under way, the solemn ceremony of the laying of the foundation stone has not yet been held, and we are informed that this event is not likely to take place until after Easter, when the ceremony will be performed by a high dignitary of the Catholic Church.

In the meantime, clients of St. Philomena can help the good work by forwarding subscriptions to Mr. M. J. Sargent, Hon. Sec., Cappoquin.

THE LIFE OF ST. CARTHAGE LISMORE

By Fr. Carthage McCarthy, O.Cist., Mount Melleray Abbey, Cappoquin. (Brown and Nolan, 4/-)

If given the alternative of reading a 'Life' of some saint or a popular work of fiction most people would, we are sure, choose the latter. Regrettable though their choice may be, it is still understandable since most of us feel that as the heights of sanctity are reached only by the few, the lives of those privileged few are too exalted to interest the many.

In no other country in Europe are Catholics reminded of the glorious heritage of faith as in Ireland. In every parish, some ruined Church or Monastery carries the mind back over the centuries to the days when saintly men laboured with zeal to lay the foundations of the faith which we cherish. Yet, it is a matter for regret that our knowledge of these holy places does not often extend beyond a vague association with them of a saint or hermit.

The introduction has been written by the distinguished Jesuit historian, Fr. John Ryan, M.A., D.Litt., in whose words we commend this book to a wide circle of readers. "All that Lismore did" writes Fr. Ryan "to promote the honour of God and to perpetuate the memory of St. Carthage is described delightfully in Fr. Carthage's pages."

LADY'S CLAIM

"That he was not an expert in stockings" was the statement made by Judge Sealy at Waterford Circuit Court, when a lady's torn stocking was exhibited for examination during the hearing of an action in which Mrs. Mary Morrison, Coolbeck street, Waterford, claimed £300 from Messrs. R. A. Merry, for injury which she alleged she sustained when she cut her leg with a nail on defendant's premises on the 6th March last.

KILMATHOMAS FARMER'S CLAIM

A decree for £35 was given at the Circuit Court today in the case in which Roger Shanahan, farmer, Kilmathomas, claimed £60 from Michael Lennon, Bonmahon, farmer, for the alleged loss sustained as a result of the trespass by defendant's bull on the lands of the plaintiff at Kilmurrin.

Mr. Macnamara said his attention had been called to the state of McCurtainstown.

The Chairman said it was the intention of the Council to do those places properly at an early date.

The Town Superintendent was instructed to carry out temporary repairs.

Arrears of Rent

A long discussion took place on the question of arrears due by the Council's tenants ranging up to 21 weeks.

It was decided to take proceedings in one case if not settled within a week.

Some of the tenants being fishermen, the Chairman asked if there was anything doing in that line.

Mr. Lynch—it is even worse than last year.

Officials at Meetings

The question of the attendance of officials at the meetings of the Council having been raised.

The Chairman said that the Town Surveyor was a part-time official, and he (the Chairman) did not think he was bound to attend the meetings.

Mr. Macnamara—Are the part-time officials to wait on the lobby outside on the off chance that we may require them?

Mr. Broderick said there was no necessity for that. It was ridiculous to expect the part-time officials to attend on the off chance that they might be wanted. They would be ready to oblige the Council if required. They could have the Town Superintendent and the Water Curator when their reports were being read.

Mr. Power said he did not want the Town Surveyor to attend every meeting.

The Chairman said that the Town
Superintendent and the Water Curator were in attendance at every meeting. He did not think they should ask the other Officers to attend. If they were wanted the Town Clerk could notify them.

Mr. Broderick—If anything in connection with their positions arose.

This was agreed to unanimously.

A Press Report

The Town Clerk called attention to the report in the Press of their previous meeting. One member asked what were their officials doing and the chairman replied:

"That was the question." He was an official of the Council and he felt that those remarks reflected on him. He thought they should be contradicted by the Council.

Mr. Savage said that the members who had been present would remember that the matter arose out of a question as to the work being done on the Relief Scheme. It had nothing whatever to do with the work of the office.

The Clerk said it was necessary to haul up an official of the Council, his position should be specified. It should not be mentioned generally, as if it were meant to include all the officials.

Mr. Daly said the matter arose out of his question regarding the advisability of having a general report on the condition of the roads. It had no connection whatever with the work of the office.

The Chairman said that if any of their officials were wanting in the discharge of their duties, he would certainly say that it could not apply to their Town Clerk.

Mr. Power said in making the remarks referred to he did not mean the Town Clerk, who was one of the ablest and most attentive in the country, (hear, hear).

Mr. Savage said he had presided at the previous meeting and the discussion arose out of complaints regarding some of the work being carried out under the Relief Scheme, the supervision of which was severely criticised. There was no reference whatever to their regular officials.

The Clerk thanked the speakers for their kind remarks.

Acknowledgment

A letter was read from Sister Mary Mercy O'Keefe, Co. Home, Cork, thanking the Council for their vote of condolence on the death of her brother.

Resolution re Creameries

The Clerk read communications from a number of Urban Councils stating that they had adopted the Council's resolution re Co-Operative Creamery, Stores, etc.

Sewer Extension

A letter was read from the Local Government Department regarding the proposal to spend £520 in extending the main sewer at MacCurtainstown for the purpose of developing sites for housing, stating that there were no funds at present available out of which a grant could be made for the development of a housing site. The amount provided for the current financial year had been fully allocated.

Water Main Extension

The Town Surveyor, submitted an estimate for the extension of the 3-inch water main along the Seafield Road, at £275.

After some discussion, it was decided to ask the Town Surveyor to submit a cheaper scheme.

THE MILK AND DAIRIES
ACT

Veterinary Inspectors Salary
Grievance

MEETING AT CORK

Strong criticism of the Milk and Dairies Act (1935) and the salaries paid to veterinary inspectors under it was forthcoming at a meeting of the Munster Veterinary Inspectors' Association, held at the Windsor Hotel, MacCurtain street, Cork, on Saturday Feb. 12th. Mr. C. P.
Hynes (Lismore), presided.

In his address, the Chairman said—Since the largely attended meeting in Clonmel last year, no meeting of this association has been held, as our Hon.
Secretary, following in the wake of so many of his countrymen, obtained an appointment in Dublin. An active Hon.
Secretary in close touch with the members is an absolute necessity to our association. In fact, there are some of us who believe that a paid organiser is the only way to fill the bill.

Much work has been accomplished by us under the Milk and Dairies Act 1935, and we are probably now in a better position to assess the amount of increased duty and responsibility which has been thrust upon us, in the safeguarding of a vital and essential food from gross bacteriological and other contamination. We have been instrumental in changing many insanitary premises into decent bovine habitations with up-to-date floors, drainage, light and ventilation. We have been letting the smells out and the pure air and sunshine of the heavens in. We have had to deal with dairymen and women of all grades and temperaments, and like Father O'Flynn, we've been coaxing the sassy ones, calming the crazy ones, and lifting the lazy ones on with the stick.

We have had to out old prejudices and old-fashioned ideas and accomplish important constructional work within a given time, and without boasting, we can claim to have made the spirit of the Act a fait accompli.

Here, I think, a big measure of praise is due to the dairymen for the manner in which they rose to the occasion, and who often had to carry out expensive constructional work, where the expense could be but ill-borne. Acts and Orders are easily hatched out. In fact we need to have a craze for hatching out such legislation, but once the incubation period is passed somebody has got to be found to rear the chicken, and the chicken like the Milk and Dairies Act 1935, cannot be reared and tended for nothing. We sincerely hope that this will be remembered by the various Boards of Health and the higher authorities when fair treatment is being asked for by their veterinary inspectors, on whose shoulders the chief responsibility for a clean and wholesome milk supply falls.

As regards the election of officers, it was decided on the proposition of Mr.
Alexander, to defer this matter to a later meeting.

Mr. Cussen pointed out that it would be necessary for them to appoint a secretary at that meeting, as the office was vacant, and he proposed Mr. M. Herlihy for the position.

Mr. Lucey seconded the motion, which was passed unanimously.

On the question of increased remuneration under the Milk and Dairies Act, 1935, the Chairman said that he knew that they had been doing a lot of work since the inception of the Act, and they had been rather late in making application for an increase of salary. The work had considerably increased, and on that account they would like to have more remuneration than they were getting. He knew that many of their members had already applied to the different Boards of Health, and while some had got increases, which were not always thought adequate, others had not been offered increases.

Mr. Alexander said that last September he applied to the Kinsale Urban Council for an increase of salary and he got an increase from £35 to £400 per annum, but to date nothing had been heard about it. He also applied to the South Cork Board of Health last August, and he was informed that applications similar to his had been adjourned. He was also told that until such time as the Minister gave a decision on the matter of the appointment of a permanent inspector for the South Cork area, the Board would not be in a position to estimate exactly the extra duties falling on the local inspectors, and any increases that might be granted would be made retrospective as from 1st April. We have received nothing but promises and plenty of work," he said, "and it is extraordinary the way that we professional men let things drift."

Mr. Walsh said that before, it was said that their work was never seen, but that was now changed. They had to send in monthly reports, and their work was to be inspected, and it can be seen by anyone. "It would make you sad," he said, "to think of the way veterinary inspectors are paid."

Mr. Russell said that in his area he had no meat inspector at all, and his duties were under the Dairies Act. There were 48 applications in his area for registration, and with such a big district to cover he valued his services at more than £30 a year.

Chairman—Your salary is very ridiculous.

Mr. Russell—I would expect £300 a year for my job. My area is 123 square miles.

The Chairman—Have you made any application yet?

Mr. Russell—I have not.

Mr. Alexander said that it should be known that very much extra work was being performed by veterinary inspectors.

Mr. O'Leary said that he understood that the Board of Health for South Cork knew that they had increased duties to perform, but to what extent they did not know. Any new Act or Order, which imposed extra duties on them should mean increased remuneration for them.

Mr. Condon said that they might be charged with apathy in that the initial stages they did not demand increases of salary. On that the profession was to be congratulated, because it agreed to do all the donkey work in the beginning without any increase in salary, and for that they deserved some appreciation. He believed that if they persisted in that they on public authorities regarding their rigidly treatment of them, because no overtures had yet been made to them for increases in salary, because they were not in a position to do so. "Before going any further, I think it is up to each county to organise for itself and then apply to a Commissioner if they are lucky enough to have one, or else let themselves to the mercy of the County Council." He added that it was difficult to say down fixed rules as regards salary. As regards meat inspection, it would be better to concentrate on that and concentrate on the position under the Milk and Dairies Act. As regards the stamping of meat, when the occasion arose, it should be made the subject of additional salary.

Having considered the matter in each county, they should apply to their respective Commissioners if they could not get on with the sanitary officers, and he considered that that would be a very big help to them.

It was then decided, on the proposition of Mr. Condon, seconded by Mr.
Brophy, that with a view to increasing the salaries under the Act, that they should be taken to organise each county and means adopted to provide satisfactory salaries for all members.

Amongst those present were—T. Alexander (Kinsale); C. O'Driscoll (Ban-don); J. Campbell (Abbeyleix); D.
Brophy, (Clonkilly); W. O'Callaghan, (Charleville); P. Barry (Malinbeg); Russell (Bandon); McDonald (Kildorrery); M. O'Sullivan, (Midleton); J.
Daly, (Cork); E. McDonald, (do.); J. J.
Condon, (Tipperary); S. R. J. Cussen, (Cork); M. Herlihy, (Cork); T. O'Leary (Macroom); J. J. Pomeroy (Millstreet); Lucey, (Cork); J. J. Walsh, (Yong-hally).

WE ARE IN A TERRIBLE PLIGHT

AGONISING HOURS OF TRIBULATION

"We are passing through dreadful trials," write Mgr. Migliorini, O.S.M., Prefect Apostolic of Swaziland to the Sodality of St. Peter Claver, "our expenses are continually increasing, but our income is decreasing. I feel the dimmest of these things, and as though they were my own. In fact I feel more than that, because I am unable to help."

Many hours of tribulation are so agonising that unless I knew it was God's will that I should go ahead, I could not find strength to face the future. My great problem is to provide food for my Missionaries. To do this, I bought a farm about the cost was great and I had not the money to pay for it. The farm would be self-supporting if only we could purchase some modern implements and a good number of cattle. But I cannot find these things, and in any case we have had a bad harvest.

"If God would help us to work the farm profitably, I should be able to provide daily bread for my hundred Missionaries, Priests and Nuns, and the 300 natives whom we always keep at the mission in preparation for their baptism.

Does not Our Lord say that if we seek first the Kingdom of God; the rest will be added unto us? God never fails, and although in my anguish I cannot see whence help will come, I know that He both can and will work a miracle for us."

Definitely, no matter how small for us, Prefect Apostolic of Swaziland will be most gratefully received by the, Sodality of St. Peter Claver, 49, North Great George's Street, DUBLIN, C.14.

RESTORATION OF OLD
HEDGES

The Art of "Laying."

A hedge forms a very useful farm fence so long as it is kept in good condition, for it not only acts as an efficient fence, but also affords considerable shelter to stock.

When hedges are not trimmed annually and given proper attention, holes and openings appear and the hedges become practically useless as a fence for sheep and cattle. With proper treatment, however, such hedges can be restored.

Overgrown, patchy hedges are often hacked down, leaving the old stumps from one to two feet high. This practice the Ministry of Agriculture, Northern Ireland, points out, is to be condemned,

SIXTY BREEDS FOR NATIONAL DOG SHOW

One-Dog Amateurs Who Surprise Experts COCKERS NOW MOST POPULAR IRISH DOG

About sixty of the world's two hundred known breeds of dogs will be seen at the Kennel Club of Ireland Annual Show in the Royal Dublin Society's bloodstock paddocks at Ballsbridge on St. Patrick's Day.

The most popular breed, it is expected, when entries close on 23rd instant, will again be seen to be the cocker spaniel, which takes 38 out of the 47 classes at this national dog show.

All the most noted commercially-run kennels of Ireland will send entries, but this year as on previous occasions, there may be surprise wins by enthusiastic amateurs from mansion and cottage alike.

There is great rivalry among the professionals, many of whom keep their best dogs especially for the national show, and also arrange so far as possible that the litters arrive early in the year in good time for exhibition at Ballsbridge.

These judges usually have their "fairs" at the ringside, who will spend hours trying to discern their methods, apart from trying to anticipate the official verdict on their own entries.
