Many people do actually price [Second-hand Cars ? without seeing or testing them-in all cases giving wrong prices for them.

Sometimes a "buyer" will express considerable surprise at the thorough examination and test I give his car before quoting on it; but some day he will think better of me, and incidentally make a mental note that a USED CAR bought from me will be a good specimen.

Reconditioned and Guaranteed Cars are overhauled in perfect order.

Call in and see the high-pressure greasing. All jobs have their prices plainly marked, and all Ford Repairs charged at the Standard Ford Prices.

One of the many important subjects dealt with and discussed at great length from almost every possible point of view at "Rural Week" organised by that Readers of the "Observer" have informed as that during the summer just ended they have encountered on the will age of Ardmore was the decline in marriages with the Rural Districts. Severall reasons were learnedly propounded for this unfortunate state of things, and various remedial measures suggested. It is to be fervently hoped by all true lovers of the country that something tangible of the country that something tangible in learned controversialists take call on unative Legislature to tax all eligible bachelors? It is nothing selection to see young boys and girls excluding their ments even, to prepare them selves for the future, while only a very small number from the town, with all those advantages at their very doors spend their time fooling around, doing no good for themselves or for anybody else, including their parents, many of whom had to suint themselves frequently to feed and clothe them. The trouble with many of the rising generation is that unless they can plainly see some immediate, tangible benefit to be obtained by the acquisition of any brach or branches of education, they turn up their noses at the thought of the labour and time involved and satisfy their consciences with the question "What good is it?" Now that is where they make the mistake. Time and again teachers have been asked whether again teachers have been asked whether they could recommend a boy or girl capable of doing so and so. Back to Earth Again! Just one little stroke and the rarened atmosphere of All-Ireland expectancies in which we had moved for several weeks past vanished. Once again, we have been baulked but this time the aftermath of defeat is brightened by renewed hope and determination. There is no despondency, no dejection, and no reason for any. The Deise nurlers just failed to overnaul the victorious "Dublin" team in as spirited and breathless a finish as the most voracious audience could wish to see. Really, the game was saved from colourless mediccrity by the desperate, determined, but belated rally of Waterford which threw Dublin into a state bordering on panic and transformed the forty thousand wildly-excited spectators into a seetning mass hungry for that sensational lastminute goal which meant glory for the Deise, But it never came and our hurlers must begin the All-Ireland quest all over

On Sunday 11th September, 1938 On the hour's play the Metropolitans were the superior side; except for the first ten minutes and the last five, they dominated the exchanges, especially at midfield. The figures and the photographs of the game tell their own tale. The winners got away with a lot of cunning obstructive 100 Yards for Boys under 12 years.

Obstacle Race for Boys under 12 tactics which tended to mar the spirit and lower the standard of the game. Although the Waterfood defence, on the whole, was very sound, the backs were inclined to crowd too much and were often caught out of position and only the wildness of the Dublin forwards deprived them of more scores. Our centre-field was beaten to a frazzle. Our front-line of attack saw little enough of the ball and made the most of what they got. Our half-line of forward: were completely off colour. Team-work was consipicuous by its absence. But the most surprising feature of all was the superior speed of the Dublin fifteen. Some critics have it that the Deise lade were overtrained. No! They weren't overtrained but they were Overawed. It must be admitted that about a half-dozen of the team were jumpy and nervousthe occasion proved too much for them. Undress Race for Secuts in Uniform On the other hand, another half-dozen mostly backs, rose to the eccasion so magnificently that they almost succeeded in wiping out the shortcomings of the shaky ones. Two of the team were dead-meat from the opening whistle and could never raise a gallop. And yet, withal these flaws, the Waterford team went within absence of cohesion all round and breakdown of the mid-field robbed the Deise of the All-Ireland title.

To Mick Curley's superlative goalkeeping is due the chief credit for holding Dublin to such a narrow margin. His display was absolutely marvellous and has if not previously disposed of by Private never been excelled in the history of Ail- Treaty, the above House and Premises in Ireland Finals. Hickey, too, rose gal- the following Lots:—
