DUNGARVAN COURT

Held on Wednesday before Mr. Troy, D.J.

F. O. A. Applied

In the adjourned case against two young boys named Coleman and Galvin for damage to the door of Mrs. Phelan's house at Abbeyview.

Supt. Walsh said he understood the damage was since paid by the parents of the boys.

The Justice dealt with the case under the P. O. A.

Lights

Guard Enright charged Rd. Tobin Ballylennon, with cycling without a light. A fine of 2/- was imposed.

Guard Malley, Ring v. Jas. Hennessy, Ballyduff, like offence, like fine.

Guard Moloney, Ring v. Thomas Mooney Buttery Lane, like offence, like fine.

Defendant said he had a lamp but he hadn't it light.

School Attendance

Guard J. C. Leary, School Attendance officer, presided. M. O'Brien, Knockensallagh, Dungarvan, under the School Attendance Act.

Complainant said that since last August the defendant's two children had not attended school. Defendant was prosecuted by Guard Regan on December 14th last.

There is no use in talking to the parents, who are very obstinate. The case is now in the hands of the inspector of the N.S.P.C.C.

Supt. Walsh—The family are in very poor circumstances.

Replying to the Justice, Guard O'Leary said he thought it would be best to have the children sent away.

The Justice adjourned the case to allow Guard O'Leary to interview the inspector.

The Worst Luck in the World

Guard O'Leary prosecuted a man named John Moroney, Cullinstown, Kilsassany, with allowing the carcass of a dead horse to remain unburied in Scalan's yard.

Complainant said that the defendant bought the animal at the Dungarvan February fair, and that subsequently while trying with the aid of another man to catch the animal they either suffocated it or the animal broke its neck. Defendant refused to remove the carcass when told to do so, and told witness to remove it himself.

Witness got the carcass buried on Saturday and it cost £1.

Mr. Farrell, solicitor, who appeared for the defendant, said this is a case which could be described as the worst luck in the world. This poor man attended a sale in Scalan's yard and bought this animal for £5 2s. 6d., and later when catching the animal it dropped dead. It was not strangled or anything else. Defendant was very annoyed, and he thought the least the man who had got the £5 2s. 6d. should do was to bury the animal. He now admits he should have buried it.

Justice—Why did he not do so when he was asked to do it by the Guard?

The Justice said he would have a lot of sympathy with a man who lost £5 in such a manner, but this man refused to do what he was asked to do by the Guard, and instead he gave impudence to the Guard. He would impose a penalty of 10/.

Not in Court with 50 Years

Guard O'Leary prosecuted Wm. Havens with being drunk and disorderly.

Complainant said that he was requested to go to defendant's house, where he found him trying to break in the back door.

Justice—What is he? Would he be missed if he got a little holiday?

Defendant—It is my first time being in court in 50 years.

Justice—Are you sure of that? I was thinking of giving you a bit of a holiday.

A fine of 5/- was imposed.

Sergt. O'Neill summoned Nicholas Kiely, Barrack Lane, with being drunk.

Fined 5/.

Damage to Railway Gates

Supt. Walsh summoned Patrick Cunningham, Waterford, on two counts under the Road Traffic Act.

The case is the sequel to an accident at the Cappagh level crossing on February 21st, when a car driven by the defendant crashed into the gates.

Patrick Early, gatekeeper, Cappagh, said that on the morning of Tuesday, February 21st, he closed the gates at 8 a.m. for the Rosslare express. The rule of the company is that these gates must be always closed against the road.

Mr. Farrell—The railway company seem to be in a unique position in this country.

Justice—Yes.

Continuing, witness said the express is due to run through at 8.15 a.m. About 8.30 a.m. witness was standing at his door.

Justice—Then the gates were closed for half an hour?

Witness—Yes. He did not see the car until it struck the gates. He spoke to defendant, who told him the brake did not work. It was raining that morning. About 9.10 a.m. the express ran through.

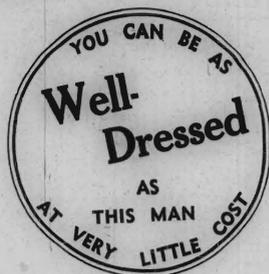

To the Justice—There is no means of knowing when the train is coming. The gate has since been repaired.

To Mr. Farrell—There was not much damage done to the gate, which is since repaired. The gate was only up about six months. Defendant gave witness his name and address, and was able to drive the car away. The morning was very windy. Defendant did all he could.

Guard King, Cappagh, said when the matter was reported to him he examined the gate. He found the bottom rail broken. Four cross-bars were bent, and the bolt bent.

She suggested that a fountain be erected on the Ardmore-Youghal road.

The matter was referred to the engineer for report.

Pump at Knockalara.

The Commissioner, Mr. S. J. Moynihan, wrote stating that further representations had been made to him regarding the inconvenience caused by the distance people have to travel for water in Knockalara area.

An order was made that the County Surveyor should send a map of the area to the Geological Survey Department to mark the spot where water is most likely to be found.

Extension of Water Supply.

Mr. T. Beecher wrote, asking that the Ballyduff Water Supply be extended to his house at Ballyduff, a distance of 150 yards. The road was now open for paving the usual water rates.

On the recommendation of Mr. Ormonde, Engineer, permission was granted to Mr. Beecher, to take a half-supply at his own expense.

Whitechurch School.

A letter from the Department of Education stated that with regard to the proposed sinking of a pump for Whitechurch School, as well as for the provision of a water supply for the locality generally, the Department would be prepared to sanction a grant of one-tenth of the estimated cost of the work, i.e. a grant of £22 10s. provided that a constant and satisfactory supply were obtained.

An order was made that the County Surveyor and the engineer in charge of this scheme, the Department of Education to be asked to contribute half the cost, as at Butlerstown, N.S., in consideration of the Board piping the supply to the School, and maintaining the pipes, and make no further charge for the supply.

Ring School Water Supply.

Rev. P. F. McGrath, P.P., Ring, wrote applying for a full water supply for the new school at Ring, and for permission to connect with the main.

An order was made, granting the application, the charge to be £1 per annum.

A letter from the Department stated that with regard to the carrying out of the Board of a sewerage Scheme for Ballyduff, the Minister had given directions that he had obtained the approval of the Minister of Finance for the allocation of a grant of proportion of the cost of the Scheme, and the grant would be available on certain conditions, one of which was that the maximum grant payable would be £800.

Tallow Sewerage Scheme

A letter from the Department stated that with regard to the above, the Minister had given directions to enquire as to what was proposed to be taken by the Co. Engineer regarding the works remaining to be done on the scheme, and also drawing attention to a previous letter sent by the Department regarding the standard of the work on the scheme, and to state that the Co. Engineer's report on the scheme should be furnished as soon as possible.

In the same matter, the Co. Surveyor wrote stating that the proper course to take would be to determine the contract as soon as possible, without releasing the sureties, and have the work completed preferably by direct labour under the supervision of the Clerk of works, and specifying a number of other items.

An order was made that the Solicitor take the necessary steps to have the con-

Cappoquin Sewerage Scheme

Mr. Bowen in connection with the above wrote, stating that he wished to refer again to his report on the water supply system. There was almost certain to be a serious shortage of water if all the premises were connected, as the existing supply was inadequate.

An exactly similar condition existed in Tallow, and the water supply question of these two towns and Lismore should be a consideration without delay.

An order was made that the Co Surveyor should report the quantity of water entering Cappoquin, and submit a further report as requested on 12/1/39.

MAHONSIDE SNIPS

Pleasing to publish that Peggy Cashin, who, as stated in another column, was accidentally knocked down and injured on the street near her home in Western Terrace, Kilmacthomas, on Sunday evening last, is now on the high road to complete recovery.

As already announced the 1938 Senior Football County Championship Final is fixed for Dungarvan, on to-morrow (Sunday) week, 19th inst. The date marks the 16th anniversary of the Burgess Ambush, when two gallant Kilsassany parishioners gave their young lives for the freedom of Ireland—Commandant Pat Keating and Captain Sean Fitzgerald (Peace to their souls). And the Kilsassany and Dungarvan teams will pay a tribute to the memory of these

Heroic Gaels on To-morrow Week—

All Kilsassany will be in the Old Borough for the Final, and the Gaels of Dungarvan will have a sincere Good Mile Salute for them. Famous footballers of forty and fifty years ago will be there. Veteran players like Patsy Wall and Jim Torpey will be delighted to meet those who are left of the good old teams of their own battling days. Will they all be there? Most Some have crossed the Great Divide during the intervening years. Sorrow will surely be mingled with joy when those who are left of the "Old Guard" will begin fighting the battles over again. One will argue he was a better man than somebody else forty or fifty golden annuses ago. They will debate the burning question of that time—was Sean a better man than Seumas, who knows? These lovable "old-timers" had their day, and when it declined they handed the playing and custody of the great Association started by Dr. Crokes to their sons and grandsons, whose duty it is to foster and strengthen the games and ideals of the eminent Archbishop and founder of the G.A.A.

Of a verity, the sterling Chairman of the County Board, Mr. M. V. O'Donoghue, B.A., will refer what promises to be an enthralling "big ball" encounter. Both Kilsassany and Dungarvan are sporting for a good game, and a fine exhibition of football is assured. While the issue lies in the lap of the gods let "Miss Becht Fein" unfeignedly say: "May the best team win."

The Pike of Dungarvan—

On Sunday next the following members of the Pike football club will line out against Dungarvan, at 2.30 p.m. at the Gaelic Field—

FARMERS' MEETING

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of West Waterford Farmers was held in the Town Hall, Dungarvan on March 4th.

At the beginning of the meeting Mr. Denis Heskin was unanimously appointed Chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Heskin said that the farming community was in a sad position, and had been labouring under a heavy burden over the period 1924-1939.

There had been a wave of depression since the war, and the economic war had reduced the farmer to penury.

They had come together to see what could be done. He wasn't there for notoriety. He had a wife and ten children and men to keep. He didn't care what Government was in power, but he felt he was worthy of support. (Applause)

Concluding, Mr. Heskin read a letter from Mr. Little, T.D., who expressed his regrets that he could not attend, and his hope that much valuable assistance would be given to the Agricultural Commission.

Mr. McConville, the next speaker, said that Mr. Broderick, T.D. could not attend the meeting as he was on the Agricultural Commission.

Continuing, Mr. McConville said that the first thing they should do was to make people realize what the position was. No kept the towns and cities going. No country could exist without an export trade. That trade was agricultural produce in Ireland's case. He didn't think that the towns realised that. He wasn't opposed to industries, but in Dungarvan new industries had been started, but nobody had done anything for the biggest industry of all, Agriculture.

They had been plunged into an economic war for pure party politics, and at present farmers were in debt. He had received a letter from a farmer lately who wrote that he was in arrears with his rent and rates, his stock had died and that he was faced with starvation.

People who run factories were able to put a price on their stuff, but farmers couldn't do that.

The first thing they needed was de-rating and a moratorium, and a long term loan, covering a period of 60 years at about 2 per cent. To make the loan safe for the Government, the land would be security, and in this way the money would be dead safe.

It was impossible to make anything on milk as the cost of producing it had gone up to the devil. They could not produce milk under 8d. per gallon. It was their duty to get money from other people who hadn't suffered as they had.

The present pig scheme was a great farce. There were far too many grades and classes of grades. Under the new scheme in England, feeding stuffs cost 8/6 per cwt, and the producer received 70/- per cwt dead weight. There was a good margin of profit on that, but they were offered the bacon-curer made an average profit of over 14 per cent in the last few years, but no pig producer got that.

Mr. Redmond, T.D., who received a tremendous ovation, said that they had come together to find the best way in which they could put the case of the farmer before the Commission, which was outside politics. On the farmer rested the responsibility and this was his chance. They might say that they had no faith in Commissions, but she felt that this was not the case as far as the present Commission was concerned. She had got helpful suggestions from the Commission concerning dairying, tillage, poultry, etc. and they wanted evidence from the meeting which was being held to-day.

The Commission realized that the farmers were the best judges, and they were anxious for their report. Their object to-day was to select farmers, the farmers who strove to make ends meet, and it was their duty to select that kind of man. The farmer who has to do his own work and contend with difficulties was the best man to select, and they could not select themselves. They couldn't be bowled out by the Commission when they had facts over which they could stand.

It was for them to suggest and table out a few headings, absolutely irrespective of politics. Mr. Broderick, T.D. was on the Commission and couldn't attend. Mr. Morrissey, T.D. had attended, and they were all there as in order to get the best results. One point would be to ask the Government for fifty of tenure for the farmer which he hadn't at the present time. His land was vested in the Land Commission, and that fifty of tenure was gone which had been won by their ancestors in days gone by. (Applause)

Farmers couldn't get mortgages on their land. Their circumstances were entirely different from those of farmers of the lowlands and this should be taken into consideration.

The fact that there was such a large meeting showed that they had confidence in the Commission. This was an opportunity they never had before of placing their grievances before the Commission. One grievance was the arrears in annuities and a relief in this would certainly be a great relief for them. It was up to them to work that out themselves. Funding would be a good thing over a long period. The question of loans was a matter for their suggestions too.

The farmer was the backbone of the country and when he was down and out, the whole country was down and out. He could not accept the statement which had been made about the Irish language. Loss of their language meant the loss of their nationality.

The Government was most anxious to do its best for the farmers. Many members of his party were farmers, and they were doing their best to put farming on a sound basis.

Mr. Thomas Flynn said they had come together because the farmers' backs were up against the wall. Mr. Murphy of University College, Cork had found in 1934 that at the end of the year farmers had less than their own farm labourers. That was in 1934, so what was the situation now. All legislation was against the farmers. Farmers were now receiving £80 when they formerly received £100, and where they had paid £100, they were now paying £160, as the cost of living had gone up by 60 per cent. They must get money and a reduction in overheads, as well as full de-rating funding of the annuities and a long term loan. If they stuck together as one man they would get these things. If they didn't, they deserved to be where they were.

Mr. Declan Conway said that Mr. Flynn had summed up the whole thing very well. Farmers were feeling the pinch, and there was no need of a Commission or an enquiry to find that out. It was only marking time like what they used to get in the old days from England.

The extermination of the rural population was a serious thing. Who would replace in the future those men who were present today? Not alone were the farmers going, but the farm labourer as well. Their Constitution was all very good, but poverty was no freedom. The Commission was a waste of time and money, and the sooner the farmers turned a deaf ear to politics, the better. (Applause)

Mr. Heskin said he wished to thank the T.D.'s and the audience for attending the meeting.

MULCAHY'S DUNGARVAN

Land Deeds now, for that reason. This was an important point, which had been lost sight of, but she hadn't lost sight of it.

It would be a great boon to farmers and while it would cost nothing it meant a lot to farmers. Farmers were suffering from nothing but shortage of money, not politics, nor depression nor anything else. At present there was an agricultural loan which could only be got by people who didn't need it and not by those who were down and out. Mr. McConville's loan suggestion was a good one.

De-rating would be one of the things which would probably be accepted by the Commission. But it had been argued that de-rating would not be enough. Some sort of funding of the annuities was also needed.

It might be asked where the money for this would come from, but fifty of tenure would mean that the value of the land would be increased, and besides a lot of money which was being spent in other ways could be spent to better advantage on farmers. She had nothing to say against the Irish language, but a lot of the money spent on it could be spent better on the farmer. There were also pensions and army expenditure, while nothing could be found for the farmers.

Lip service was no use for them. They needed workers and suggestions. The expenses incurred by the Commission would be met by the Commission, so that they need not worry on that score. They should cut out politics, and do something for themselves. There was money for everything and they were the people who had to pay, whether they had it or not. They could put up a good case, better than anybody else. They shouldn't say that it may be for years and it may be forever. The Commission was really getting a move on.

Mr. Michael Morrissey, T.D. said he was pleased to see such an assembly of farmers present. Different speakers said the meeting was non-political and that was only right. He knew the difficulties which had beset farmers over a number of years and which weren't the making of any Government. A lot of complaints of farmers were due to world conditions.

A Voice—And politicians. Mr. Morrissey—And perhaps politics. Continuing, Mr. Morrissey said it was their duty to obtain the support of all. The Commission had been set up at the request of the Opposition Party in the Dail. He was there as representative of the Government party, and could assure them that the Commission was no hoax as the Government realised the farmers' difficulties.

There were several interruptions at this point, and the speaker said he would reply to questions after the meeting. The Chairman said they did not want any interruptions. (Applause)

Continuing Mr. Morrissey said that they had sad experiences of Commissions. They were confident, however, that this one would make a searching enquiry into conditions, and he would give them an assurance that the Government would implement their recommendations. He wouldn't say anything about how the money was to be found. It was for them to make a case for the farmers of West Waterford. His idea would be to form a working Committee to work out a programme, sit out points, look for evidence and draw up recommendations.

There was one section of the farming community which had suffered more than any other, and that was the mountain farmers. Their circumstances were entirely different from those of farmers of the lowlands and this should be taken into consideration.

The fact that there was such a large meeting showed that they had confidence in the Commission. This was an opportunity they never had before of placing their grievances before the Commission. One grievance was the arrears in annuities and a relief in this would certainly be a great relief for them. It was up to them to work that out themselves. Funding would be a good thing over a long period. The question of loans was a matter for their suggestions too.

The farmer was the backbone of the country and when he was down and out, the whole country was down and out. He could not accept the statement which had been made about the Irish language. Loss of their language meant the loss of their nationality.

The Government was most anxious to do its best for the farmers. Many members of his party were farmers, and they were doing their best to put farming on a sound basis.

Mr. Thomas Flynn said they had come together because the farmers' backs were up against the wall. Mr. Murphy of University College, Cork had found in 1934 that at the end of the year farmers had less than their own farm labourers. That was in 1934, so what was the situation now. All legislation was against the farmers. Farmers were now receiving £80 when they formerly received £100, and where they had paid £100, they were now paying £160, as the cost of living had gone up by 60 per cent. They must get money and a reduction in overheads, as well as full de-rating funding of the annuities and a long term loan. If they stuck together as one man they would get these things. If they didn't, they deserved to be where they were.

Mr. Declan Conway said that Mr. Flynn had summed up the whole thing very well. Farmers were feeling the pinch, and there was no need of a Commission or an enquiry to find that out. It was only marking time like what they used to get in the old days from England.

The extermination of the rural population was a serious thing. Who would replace in the future those men who were present today? Not alone were the farmers going, but the farm labourer as well. Their Constitution was all very good, but poverty was no freedom. The Commission was a waste of time and money, and the sooner the farmers turned a deaf ear to politics, the better. (Applause)

Mr. Heskin said he wished to thank the T.D.'s and the audience for attending the meeting.

Continuing, Mr. Morrissey said that they had sad experiences of Commissions. They were confident, however, that this one would make a searching enquiry into conditions, and he would give them an assurance that the Government would implement their recommendations. He wouldn't say anything about how the money was to be found. It was for them to make a case for the farmers of West Waterford. His idea would be to form a working Committee to work out a programme, sit out points, look for evidence and draw up recommendations.

There was one section of the farming community which had suffered more than any other, and that was the mountain farmers. Their circumstances were entirely different from those of farmers of the lowlands and this should be taken into consideration.

DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL

At the usual weekly meeting of the Dungarvan Urban Council on Friday, March 3rd, Mr. Dahill took the chair. Also present were Messrs. Byrne, Connors, and Crotty.

The minutes having been read Mr. Byrne asked if the defects in the water supply scheme had been remedied.

B.S.—No. Mr. Byrne—Who is liable for the remedying of these defects? Has the Contractor got his money?

Clerk—A certain amount. The retention money has not been paid yet.

Mr. Byrne—What does the retention money amount to?

Clerk—About £500.

In reply to the Chairman, the B. S. said that the shortage on the previous day had been due to an oversight.

The Chairman said that people from New Chapel St. had come to him complaining of the shortage of water. After all the money spent, up to £9,000, it was strange that instead of being improved, the water supply had become worse.

Mr. Byrne—I would like to say that you won't have a domestic supply for about a month or five weeks. You can tell them that it's not the local surveyor's fault. We had the experts from Dublin, and they made a 'botch' of it.

Mr. Dahill—I think we should have them down again.

Mr. Crotty said that he agreed with this suggestion.

B.S.—I think it was an oversight of the caretaker. The water is coming alright now.

The Sanitary Inspector said that around Emmott St. and Mitchell, Street, the water supply was "a dry cow."

Mr. Crotty—Is the caretaker living in the house?

The B.S. replying in the negative, Mr. Crotty said that he thought that the caretaker should live in the house provided there was a room and the railings put back.

A Complaint A man who appeared before the Council lodged a complaint about the state of his house.

Mr. Crotty—What case is this?

Mr. Byrne—I'll explain. The statement made by the Sanitary Inspector was very unfair. This man's wife is as clean a woman as you could wish to find, but children have no mercy for beauty. The man's garden is in a bad state and would need trunking. There is a pool of water in the middle of it, and the clay is brought into the kitchen by the feet of people passing in and out. This man wants the railings put back. It will be impossible to abate the nuisance unless he gets clay for his garden, and the railings put back.

Mr. Walsh made a very unfair statement.

Mr. Walsh—Mr. Walsh will defend himself. There was water in the kitchen and there was a greynodder there. The tap was running while others were looking for water and the place was black and filthy.

The man then asked Mr. Walsh what remarks he had made about his wife.

Mr. Walsh—I don't know. My job is to keep things in order.

Mr. Byrne—I'd like to turn Mr. Walsh's attention to what would be called the higher class people in the place.

I think Broderick's passage will cause an epidemic in the town. I'd suggest an order be made that the railing be put up.

Chairman—You don't approve of the Sanitary Inspector's report?

Mr. Byrne—No.

LOUGHMORE HOUSES In connection with the supplying of doors to the above houses, Mr. Crotty said that they ought to get them done by contract.

Mr. Byrne—I'd like to turn Mr. Walsh's attention to what would be called the higher class people in the place.

I think Broderick's passage will cause an epidemic in the town. I'd suggest an order be made that the railing be put up.

Chairman—You don't approve of the Sanitary Inspector's report?

Mr. Byrne—No.

PIUS XII Appeals for Peace

On Friday morning last, Pope Pius XII having invoked the highest grace of heaven on his flock, made a fervent appeal for peace between the nations.

The following are extracts from the Pontiff's address:

"While the most profound emotion invades Our Soul and We feel ourselves overwhelmed before the tremendous responsibility to which the Divine Providence in Its inscrutable design has wished to call Us, We feel the need to make known to all the Catholic World Our first thoughts in this, Our first paternal message.

"First of all, with particular affection, We embrace lovingly the beloved Cardinals of the Sacred College, whose charity, virtue and eminent gift of mind We know through long observance.

"We then salute with special benevolence Our brothers of the episcopate.

HIS BLESSING ON MANKIND

At the same time all those who work in the missions for the diffusion of the Kingdom of Christ; those who, in the ranks of Catholic Action under the guidance of the Bishops co-operate in their hierarchical work and finally, all Our scattered brothers all over the world and especially those who suffer in poverty and grief.

"One that sees and on each one of them may the highest grace of heaven descend in beneficent fullness.

CALL FOR PEACE

We invite all to the peace of a conscience tranquil in friendships of God, to the peace of families united and harmonised by the holy love of Christ; finally to peace between the nations, mutually helped in friendly collaboration and cordial understanding for the superior interests of the great human family under the eyes and the protection of the Divine Providence.

PRAYER FOR HEADS OF STATE

"And in these troubled and difficult hours, while so many obstacles seem to hinder the arrival of that true peace which is the profoundest aspiration of men's hearts, We raise a special prayer to God for all those heads of States on whom the very great honour and very heavy burden of guiding the people into the paths of prosperity and progress repose. We have before our eyes the vision of the vast evils with which the world is struggling and to which it is our duty, unarmed, but relying on the help of God, to bring succour."

YOUGHAL COURT

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell, D.J.)

A number of Civil Bills in which Mr.
J. N. R. MacNamara, Solr. appeared for the plaintiffs were first disposed of by decrees or adjournments.

Guard Dempsey charged Messrs. P. and J. Ryan, Ltd., with selling to him a complaint purchaser an article of food, as the pulp in bulk from Messrs. Phillip and Sons, and the only material mixed with it was sugar. There was no interference with it whatever.

The Justice—How long are you making this jam?—Some years. We got it analysed from time to time to see that it was all right. We got a guarantee from the sellers.
The Justice—Would it not be for you to serve notice on the guarantors and bring them here?

Mr. J. J. Liston, Solr., Charleville, defended.

Complainant handed in a certificate of analysis showing that the sample taken contained 140 parts per million, being 100 parts in excess.

Cross-examined by Mr. Liston—This was apricot jam?—Yes.

The amount in excess was practically infinitesimal?—It was 100 parts in a million greater than was permitted.

Do you know anything about the manufacture of jam?—No.

Mr. Patrick Ryan, one of the managing directors of the firm, said the jam was manufactured in Charleville. They bought the pulp in bulk from Messrs. Phillip and Sons, and the only material mixed with it
was sugar. There was no interference
with it whatever.

The Justice—How long are you making
this jam?—Some years. We got it analysed
from time to time to see that it was all right. We got a guarantee from the sellers.
The Justice—Would it not be for you to serve notice on the guarantors and bring them here?

Mr. Liston—I am entitled to plead under the section in question.

After some legal argument, Patrick O'Connor, an employee of the firm, stated that the jam was made by mixing and boiling 60 lbs. of pulp with 30 lbs. of sugar. There was no other ingredient of any kind put in.

The case was dealt with under the P.O.A., defendants to pay the cost of analysis 16s. 3d.

Guard Fottrel charged Michael O'Donoghue with driving without a license.
Defendant said he showed the license to the Guards at Killeagh.

Complainant said the Guards at Killeagh knew nothing about the license.

The Justice—Where is the document?
Defendant—It is at home.

The Justice—What people do, with documents like this is a perpetual puzzle to me.

The case was adjourned for the production of the document.

Mr. MacNamara (for Cap. Little, Solr., Middleton) applied for Examinations Order in the cases—Dunn v. O'Brien, and Fitzgerald v. Cashell.

Both applications were granted.

KILMACTHOMAS NOTES

When carting seaweed from Ballydun Cove, near Bonmahon, a workman named Charles Cuddihy, who is employed by a local farmer, found at the base of a giant rock close to the water's edge a dead eel thirty-one inches long with the tail of another eel protruding from its mouth.
The "uter" eel was only four inches longer than its victim.

A Year-Old Ewe—
The property of Mr. Thomas Keavers, farmer, Garranmillion Upper, Kilmacthomas, gave birth to five lambs (all living). The prolific animal is of the Shropshire strain.

The Cordial Felicitations—
Of their very wide circle of friendships in Mid-Waterford and South Tipperary will be extended to Miss Maureen McGrath, New St. Carrick-on-Suir, third daughter of the late Mr. Patrick McGrath, do., and Mr. Kevin Wall, eldest son of Mr.
and Mrs. Nicholas Wall, ex-T.D., Kilmacgrange, Kilmacthomas, on their marriage, which happy event took place at the Church of the Rosary at Marylebone, London, on Wednesday of last week.

Birds And Superstitions—Have always gone hand-in-hand. The people of Ballynaneen wonder what the parrot would think of the thrush that has already laid three eggs in its nest in a tree in the local old cemetery, and has thus set at naught the customs and traditions of centuries. Will this early adventure in nesting be heralded as an ill omen or a blessing? Strange things are happening in 1939 between premature nestings and winter orphans, and we are all wondering what will happen next. By the way, there is absolutely no atom of accuracy in the rumour now afloat in Annetstown Anne's area—that the cuckoo was heard beside Dunhill Castle at the heel of last week.

R. I. P.
Worthy member of a distinguished Catholic family of the Decies was the late Col. George Poer-O'Shea, brother of Col.
Richard Poer-O'Shea, Kill. From the Isle of Wight, where he breathed his last, the remains were brought by boat to Waterford, from whence they were conveyed by motor-bearer to Kill Catholic Church on Saturday of last week, wherein they were rested on a catafalque before the High Altar. The accompanying cortege on the occasion was extremely large and representative. On Monday morning Solemn Requiem Office and High Mass were offered up for the happy repose of his soul. Rev.
M. Power, C.C., Kill, was celebrant of the Mass and was assisted in the choir by the clergy of the neighbouring parishes.

Immediately after Mass interment was made in the adjoining cemetery in the presence of innumerable relations, sympatizers and friends.

Death of Mrs. Moloney—Fortified by the rites of the Holy Church, Mrs. Moloney, wife of Mr. Edmond Moloney, local sexton, passed away at her residence at Kill, on Friday of last week after only a few days' illness and at a considerable age. She was a most estimable lady, and was a general favourite of all classes in her district. The deepest sympathy is extended to her bereaved husband and other immediate relatives.
Many mourners and sympathizers accompanied the removal of the remains to the Catholic Church, Kill, on Saturday evening.
The burial took place in the church yard after the 9 o'clock Mass next morning. Father Michael Power, C.C., officiated at the graveside. Peace to her soul.

Thanks in the "light fantastic art" are eagerly looking forward to the grand and gala all-night dance coming off in the above hall on St. Patrick's Night, for which the service of a topping band has been engaged. This function promises to eclipse all similar socials previously held in the Mahon-veined pile. Vide advt.
appearing in another column, for full particulars, and—be there with the rest.

A Waterford City Reader Writes—
Mr. James Walsh, who died at his home at 79, Sleevetown, on Sunday week, after an illness of a protracted nature, bore with true Christian fortitude and resignation, was spiritually attended in his last days by the Rev. J. Power, C.C., Ballybricken. Deceased was a most popular having twenty years service; he was an active member of Sinn Fein and Old I.R.A.
Movements, and also the G.A.A., having represented Dunhill H. and F. Club on the Eastern Divisional Board for several years. He was an advocate and supporter of all things Irish. He was son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walsh, Kilmacgrange, and brother of Mrs. H. Croke, Tra-nare, and Mrs. S. O'Meara, Pickardstown.

do., and Miss Peg Walsh, Kilmowen, and cousin of Mr. William Walsh, Main Street, Carrick-on-Suir. The remains were removed to Ballybricken Parish Church on Monday evening week, and after Requiem Mass for his soul next morning the funeral took place to the family burial ground in Dunhill Churchyard. The huge cortege which followed in the wake of the bier on the occasion included many of his comrades of the Old I.R.A. and G.A.A., and several members of the Mental Hospital Suir, including Dr. Fitzgerald, R.M.S., and Mr. Fitzgerald, Mr. R. Moloney, Storekeeper, and Mr. M. Terry, (Land Steward), Father Morrissey, P.P., Dunhill, officiated at the graveside. A number of beautiful floral wreaths were placed on the grave, and many Mass cards and messages of sympathy were received.

Motor Accident At Kilmacthomas—
On Sunday last, Miss Peggy Cashin, aged eight years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Francis Cashin (postman), Western Terrace, Kilmacthomas, rushed suddenly on to the street from a yard hard by her home, and was struck and knocked down by a motor-car, which was passing slowly (fortunately for her) on towards Dungarvan. She sustained some severe facial abrasions and body bruises. The car was brought to a standstill immediately after the accident, and its occupants—a most respectable and respected Dungarvan party—rendered all the assistance they possibly could to the injured girl, who was taken to her home, where she is being medically attended.

Did You Hear—
That last point of "Lockie's" in Cork last Sunday was a laudably achieved
"leveler"?

That the clash was characterized by sparkling spasm of canna craft and full-blooded man-to-man duels?

That the Munster Champions notched a fresh record when they closed on "honours acre" terms with their Rebel County rivals to wind up at the top of Group A of the National Hurling League?

That the triumphant Deise duly-doers will face Dublin in the Final of the competition?

That within the past seven months, a Munster Championship Crown and Group League laurels have, for the first time in the annals of the G.A.A., been won by a Waterford Senior Hurling representation?

That Andy Fleming played the game of his life against the Leisiders?

That the coming mix with the Metropol-itans will be well worth traveling any distance to witness?

That within the week many Mid-Deise farmers completed the work of "digging out" their potato crops of last year's growth?

That the tubers "showed up" in a fairly sound condition after their abnormally long confinement in the clay?

That the semi-final and final rounds of the "45" Card Drive in aid of a praiseworthy Clonsilla parochial purpose will be played off on to-morrow (Sunday) evening?

That much of the flower of Fenar's figure precedes her as she walks?

That a Ballynaneen body on parenthetical legs has just bought himself a big watch, which stitches time like a sewing machine?

That in point of ornithology Kilmacgrange maidens only know two birds—the crow and the hen—and they can tell them at once, either by their plumage or by their song?

That a few extra hands were "laken on" this week by the contractor carrying out the new housing scheme in Kilmac?

Fr. M. Power, C.C., Clashmore before 17th

it is hoped they will be purchased readily and thus assist one of the oldest clubs in the Co. Waterford.

ment in aid of Parochial Funds will be held in Clashmore on Easter Sunday night. The programme will include contributions from the famous Villierstown troupe in charge of Mr. Joe Conmy, N.T. An all Irish play by the pupils of Clashmore Gaelic club in charge of Mr. Sean O'Halloran, P.C.; exhibitions of Irish steeplechasing by pupils of Mr. S. O'Sullivan's dancing class, Youghal, etc.

The Fishing—
There has been no improvement in the salmon fishing season on the Blackwater and coastal areas. There is an unprecedented scarcity of fish and it looks as if the present season will be no better than previous ones. Several areas are contemplating giving up the unremunerative task
The Weather—
With the improvement in weather conditions at the beginning of the week farmers were busily engaged sowing wheat.
Work was never so backward at this period of the year.

The annual grand dance will be held in St. Declan's Parochial Hall, Ardmore, on St. Patrick's Night. As usual all arrangements will be perfect in the efficient hands of Messrs. J. Quinlan, J. Crowley, W. Moeckler, R. Lincoln, J. Moloney and the other members of the very capable Committee.

A leading dance band has been engaged for the occasion. The charge for admission is only 2/6 (tax included), so there should be a record attendance at the ever popular venue.

Cards for the Clashmore Parochial '45' Drive are being circulated and it is hoped they will all be played off and help a very deserving object. There are generous cash prizes and the entrance fee is only 1/-.
First rounds may be played anywhere in sixes. Final rounds will be played in Clashmore N.S. on Sunday April 30th commencing at 2 p.m.

Power, C.C., Clashmore, Messrs. P.
O'Donoghue, do., J. Dooney, do., B. Curran, do., M. Fitzgerald, do., and C. Curran, do.

Hunt Meet—
At Aglish on Sunday last the local Hunters turned out and had some excellent sport. Among those out were Mr.
Walter Terry, Mr. W. Tobin, Mr. D. Fitzgerald, Mr. W. Tobin Aglish, Mrs. Bowen,
Miss K. Cotter, Miss N. Hynde, Miss Violet
Condon, Mr. S. Ronayne, etc.

Aglish "45" Drive—
On Sunday night next at Aglish a '45' Drive, in aid of Parochial Funds, will be held in the National School, commencing at 7 p.m. There are £10 in prizes divided as follows:—First prize receive £8; second prize £2 10/0; 3rd prize £10 0. All arrangements are in the hands of Rev. D.
Power, C.C.

Knockanore Celliads—A Celliads of the local Harrier Club will be held in the Hall, Knockanore, on St.
Patrick's night. All arrangements will be in the capable hands of Mr. Jack Nell, Mr. D. Montayne, (hon. sec.) and an efficient Committee. A first class band has been engaged for the occasion and a great night's amusement is assured to all who will attend.

The Supreme Pontiff—
In thanksgiving for the election of Pope Plus XII Holy Hour devotions were held in the Church of Our Lady, training Council, Clashmore, on Sunday night. The devotions were conducted by Rev. Fr.
Power, C.C., and there was a crowded congregation. At Kinsalebeg, Very Rev. D.
Murphy, P.P., conducted the devotions.

We regret to announce the death of Mrs.
O'Shea, Post Office, Kinsalebeg.

The deceased was member of an old and respected family and deepest sympathy is extended to her daughters and other relatives in their bereavement.—R.I.P.

Miss Ann Gregory, will with Miss Hickman, be joint Master of the West Waterford Hunt next season.

The Austrian Catholic Refugees have left Ardmore for Oaagh, Enniserry, Co.
Wicklow where they are to receive a training in agriculture in preparation for their future life in Australia.

Aglish Match—
At Aglish on Sunday last under ideal weather conditions and in the presence of a big crowd the newly formed Kinsalebeg-Aglish Hurling Club lined out against the Brickey Rangers in an interesting challenge contest. In the first half play was of an even nature but in the second period the visitors were slightly superior.
The final score was Brickey Rangers, 3-1; Kinsalebeg-Aglish, 1-1.

Both teams showed lack of training and the heavy sod militated against fast hurling.

The Brickey Rangers are a young and promising combination and with training and experience Kinsalebeg-Aglish should develop into a very useful team. Mr. T.
Cotter, Aglish, was an efficient referee.

The Aglish G.A.A. Club have been fortunate in securing the use of a field ideally situated near the village.
It is nicely enclosed and with a little attention should be in excellent trim for the Clashmore-Cappoquin, County Championship match on April 10th.

"The Dungarvan Observer" SATURDAY, MARCH 1939. Pope Pius XII.

The Catholic Church, through the solemn decision of its Cardinals in Conclave, is blessed with a new Pope. For the 262nd time, the glorious destiny of Peter the Fisherman is recalled, when once more, a man is chosen as the Vicar of Christ on earth. The election of Cardinal Pacelli to the Chair of St. Peter, unexpected as it was by the world, was, if we may say so, in all humility, a happy one. Elected spiritual ruler of the world, he would as a temporal ruler have exceeded the wildest hopes of statesmen and diplomats, for his skill in diplomacy is universally recognised and admired. Allied to his gift is his renown for sanctity and austerity. He is an accomplished linguist and in close touch with the affairs, spiritual and temporal, of every country in the world. Therefore, the Catholic Church may with confidence look forward to the security of the Vatican in temporal affairs and in spiritual affairs to the continuation of the glorious reign of Pope Pius XI.

"Be ye, therefore wise as serpents, and simple as doves." Never, in the long history of the Papacy, have these words been so relevant to the struggle of the Church and the Papacy against the sinister forces of paganism and worldliness. The cynical, the pagan Nazi and the blasphemous Bolshevik cease their wranglings to combine in their expressions of hatred and mockery of the Church. Nation arms against nation, and rulers and statesmen vie with each other in their transgressions of the canons of even human order and law. All, however, are aware that the Church, in Pope Pius XII, has found a leader who is at once wise and austere, who in diplomatic skill can meet them to their own confusion. Some of these petty Napoleons have not been able to restrain their fury at the news of the election of Pope Pius XII, and their tirades are what may be expected from the slanders of Pope Pius XI, whom they dubbed, "a political adventurer." Others again, this time the Bolshevik "idealists," have sought to parade the election of Cardinal Pacelli as a set back to their ideological enemies. All, however, are conscious of the worth of the new Pope, who if it is to be hoped, will reign over our spiritual destinies for many of the anxious years ahead. His Predecessor left a world which was on the edge with nervous tears and expectation; let us hope that through the great wisdom of our new Pontiff, we may be enabled to build a new world of sanity and sanctity, a world which has not its foundations in sand, but like the Church of St. Peter, in a rock as immutable and impregnable as eternity.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES Miss "M. J. Farrell"—Miss M. J. Farrell, whose successful play, "Spring Meeting" is closing at the Ambassadors' Theatre, London, after over 300 performances, has been writing under her pen name for several years, until now she is better known as Miss Farrell than as Miss Skrine.

Living in the heart of the hunting country, her novels, like her play, are studies of Co. Wick and Co. Kildare sporting circles. She inherits her literary talent from her mother, Maire O'Sullivan, whose poems are written half a century ago, from Donegal and Antrim, created such joy in Irish circles. "The Songs of the Clans of Antrim" went round the world, inspiring song writers and musicians everywhere. Miss Farrell lived for some years in Canada, but she makes Ireland her theme. She is now Mrs. R. L. Keane, of Belleville House, Cappoquin.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the Monster Whit Drive, which is to be held at the Boathouse on Sunday week, March 19th, and which is expected to surpass any event of its kind ever held in Cappoquin. The names of two experienced gamekeepers, Messrs. M. J. Sargent and F. X. O'Leary appear as Secretaries and they have the assistance of the Parochial Lodge Committee. The chief prizes will consist of "Patrick's Hampers," filled with an assortment of the choicest goods in the form of eatables and liquors, and these will be supplemented by a number of valuable gifts of varied kinds. At an interval, tea, with cakes, etc., will be served by the Ladies Committee. Apart from the worthy object—the Parochial Fund—for which the event is being promoted, the valuable prizes offered, and the entertainment guaranteed, should induce a great many to be present. Already, support from outside centres has been promised, and intending patrons should note that arrangements are being made with a very large crowd are being made and there will be comfortable seating for all. For further particulars see, our adv. columns G. A. A. Coming Events.

That the satisfactory settlement has been reached between the Directors of the Town Park and the local G. A. A. Clubs has become early news. It is seen in the list of fixtures already arranged for this venue. At a recent County Board meeting it was decided that the junior football tie, between Tallow and Aglish on March 17th and the junior hurling between Baledare and Kinsalebeg on April 30th be played here. An Inter-County Football Match (National League) when Waterford will meet Tipperary will also be played in the Sportsfield on March 26th. From the list it can be seen that the local G. A. A. officials are determined to keep Cappoquin in the limelight and the greatest credit is due to Messrs. Joe Mason and E. Brady, delegates to the various conventions, for their work in securing these fixtures for the town. As a practical manner of showing gratitude, it is trusted that merchants and others who will benefit by these fixtures will give every support to the G. A. A. Club's sweep on the Grand National.

POPE PIUS XII.

On Thursday, March 2nd, Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State since 1930, was elected Pope in succession to the late Pope Pius XI. The 262nd occupant of the Chair of St. Peter, he has taken the name of Pius XII.

The new Pope, who was 63 that day, was elected at the third ballot. The announcement of his election was received with continuous applause by a vast crowd in the square before St. Peter's. When the new Pope appeared on the balcony to give his first Papal Benediction, there were scenes of wonderful enthusiasm, which continued at the great bell of St. Peter's began to ring out.

The result of the election was first announced by white smoke issuing from the tall chimney erected over the Sixtine Chapel. Earlier in the day black smoke had twice announced that unsuccessful ballots had been taken.

Pius XII, who speaks seven languages fluently, and has travelled extensively, is the first native Roman elected Pontiff in several hundred years.

The election of Cardinal Pacelli has broken several precedents, as it took place in one day, in the afternoon, it placed a native Roman at the head of the Church, and it was broadcast by radio.

CHARACTER OF POPE PIUS XII.
Eugenio Pacelli, who was born on March 2nd, 1857, is the son of an Italian noble family which has always been in intimate relations with the Vatican. Having completed his theological studies in Rome, he was ordained in February, 1901, and joined the staff of the Papal Secretary of State.

In 1912 he was appointed Under Secretary by Pope Pius XI and continued in this post under Pope Benedict XV until April 1917, when following the death of the Papal Nuncio in Munich, he was sent to take his place.

He was consecrated Archbishop of Sardinia, and in May, 1917 arrived in Munich in the midst of Germany's struggle against the Allies.

EFFORTS FOR PEACE.
A short time after his arrival in Munich, he was received by the Kaiser at his General Headquarters at the front.

During the interview, he delivered to the Kaiser a letter from Pope Benedict XV in which his Holiness urged him to do everything in his power for the restoration of peace, and to use his influence to put an end to the deportations of the Belgians.

When a Nuncio was to be accredited to the new German Republic for the first time in 1920, the Archbishop of Sardinia was chosen by the Pope. He was at this time negotiating a new Cardinal with Bavaria.

DIPLOMATIC ABILITY.
In 1921, he took up residence in Berlin, and played a very prominent role as conciliator and spokesman for the chiefs of all the foreign missions. His great tact, his cordiality and linguistic ability made him very popular throughout Germany.

In 1929, he negotiated a Concordat between the Protestant State of Prussia and the Holy See, which because of many concessions granted to Catholics, aroused considerable comment.

YOUNGEST CARDINAL.
In December, 1929 a Cardinal's Hat was conferred on him, and in February 1930, Cardinal Pacelli, the youngest member of the Sacred College, was appointed Secretary of State, the most important post in the Vatican after that of the Pontiff.

In 1932, having negotiated for some time with the representative of Herr Hitler, who had just become Chancellor of Germany, Cardinal Pacelli signed another Concordat with Germany.

As Papal Secretary of State, he became Cardinal Camerlengo after the death of Pope Pius XI, and during the interim was virtual head of the Church.

VISITS TO BRITAIN.
The new Pope is a brilliant linguist and is a fluent English speaker. He is the first Pope who has ever travelled by air, which he did when visiting the United States in 1937 on a holiday.

He visited Great Britain early in the present century to express the condolence of Pope Leo XIII to King Edward VII on the death of Queen Victoria, and attended the Coronation of King George V in 1911.

His nephew, Marchese Guido Pacelli was a member of the Papal delegation at the Coronation of the present King.

IRISH MESSAGES TO THE HOLY FATHER.
President Hyde:—
"I have the honour to express to your Holiness, my sentiments of deep respect and my earnest hope that your reign may be long and bring peace and happiness to an anxious world."

DOUGLAS HYDE,
President of Ireland.

Mr. De Valera:—
"I beg your Holiness to accept the profound homage and congratulations of the Irish Government and people on your accession to the Throne of St. Peter. We earnestly pray that God may grant to your Holiness long years of fruitful labour in your task of bringing the peace of Christ to the nations of the world."

(Signed)
EAMONN DE VALERA,
Alderman Byrne:—
The following message was sent through the Apostolic Nuncio, Most Rev. Dr. Paschal Robinson:—
"Your Excellency,
"On behalf of the citizens and the Municipal Council, I desire to offer profound homage and fealty to his Holiness Pope Pius XII."
"Sincerely, ALFRED BYRNE, Lord Mayor, Dublin."

PROPHETIC WORDS.
The late Pope, speaking to a small group, among whom was Cardinal Pacelli, in December 1937, said that there was one among them who would be his successor. His words are now looked upon as prophetic.

In reply to the message of congratulation sent by Mr. De Valera on behalf of the Government and people of Ireland to his Holiness, Pope Pius XII, the following message was received from the Vatican:—
"To his Excellency, Mr. Eamonn de Valera, Prime Minister, Dublin.—The noble message of felicitation and prayer which your Excellency sent the Holy Father on behalf of the Irish Government and people has touched him deeply and afforded him great joy."
"His Holiness from his paternal heart imparts to your Excellency, your colleagues and the Irish people, his first Apostolic Benediction.—(signed) Montini, Acting Secretary of State."

Message to President
The following message was received by Dr. Douglas Hyde, President of Ireland:—
Citta Del Vaticano, Rome. To his Excellency, Dr. Douglas Hyde, President of Ireland, Dublin. We have received with particular satisfaction and pleasure Your Excellency's message of solicitation and good wishes, and we send you the expression of our deeply-felt thanks and cordial good-will, together with the assurance of our constant prayers for Your Excellency and for the well-beloved people of Ireland.
Plus, P.P. XII."

Waterford Co. Council

At a special meeting of the above on Tuesday, March 7th, 1939, at the County Offices, Dungarvan, Mr. S. J. Moynihan, Commissioner, Mr. J. H. O'Sullivan, Secretary and Mr. J. Bowen, B.E., County Surveyor were present.

Acknowledgment.
The Panel Nuncio and Most Rev. Dr. Kinane wrote acknowledging the messages of sympathy sent by the County Council, and expressing appreciation of these messages.

COUNTY SURVEYORS' REPORTS.
Report of the County Surveyors of Cork and Waterford to the County Council of Cork, and the Commissioner administering the affairs of the County Council of Waterford.

Youghal Bridge.
Gentlemen—We have recently examined carefully the condition of Youghal Bridge over the river Blackwater, between the Counties of Cork and Waterford.

There is a large wrought iron structure, erected in the year 1880-1883, and opened for traffic in 1883. It replaced an old wooden bridge on nearly the same site, and was erected by the Commissioners of Public Works. The cost was borne jointly by the Counties. The length of the bridge overall is 1,285 feet 6 inches, and the clear width of roadway is 21 feet.

There are 20 spans, each of 30 feet clear, 5 spans of about 100 feet clear, and a pair of opening spans which give a waterway of 50 feet at each side for vessels. The shorter spans are carried on cast iron screw piles longer spans and opening spans are carried by heavy cast iron cylinders, sunk through the bed of the river to rock or hard material. From records available these cylinders extend to over 100 feet below the roadway.

The girders carrying the bridge are of lattice type, of light sections, and likewise all floor girders are of the same type. The flooring is formed of arched plates, covered over with concrete, and finished with an asphalt surface. The opening spans are operated by hand, to allow the passage of vessels on the river.

A close inspection of the bridge has been made, following the observation of symptoms of weakness in the floor. It was found that very serious deterioration had taken place, and that in a condition to carry with any margin of safety the traffic coming on it. Calculations have been made of the load carrying capacity of all the several parts of the bridge, and based on these calculations and observations new limits of loading have been arrived at.

For a very long time a weight limit of seven tons had been fixed for the bridge, but not rigidly enforced. It is well known that loads, much in excess of this weight, have been going over the bridge for a long time. Furthermore, weights have been going at the greatest speeds of which the vehicles were capable. The result is that very serious damage has been done to the structure.

The design of the bridge originally was too weak, and in the light of present knowledge, was of a most unsuitable type. The bridge, even on its erection, appeared to have had very little margin of safety for the traffic of that time if allowed to continue. For modern traffic the structure is not only unsafe but a positive danger, without drastic limitations. The material used in the work appears to have been very good.

The deterioration of the structure has been of two kinds, first, that due to the action of the sea water, and second, that due to the action of the traffic.

The action of sea water has caused the corrosion of the iron-work on all exposed surfaces, more especially underneath, and in places inaccessible for painting. Lattice floor girders, arched plates, and beams are very seriously affected. The depth of the corrosion is variable, and in spots may extend right through the bars concerned. From our examinations, we conclude that a full eighth of an inch on all exposed surfaces must be regarded as destroyed. The effect of this is indeed very serious. Half inch members will be reduced to half their original area and strength. Members of 2" or 4" thickness must be taken as non-existent where exposed on all sides. Cast iron members are little affected. Brass rods, pipes and cylinders are very seriously corroded, and their weakness is reflected by side sway in the bridge under traffic.

The effect of traffic, particularly heavy and fast traffic, is to cause overstrain or fatigue in the material of the structure, reducing its strength by at least 25 per cent. High speeds add considerably to the destructive effect of traffic, especially on flooring and floor girders.

Material removed in recent repairs to the operating gear had become reduced to the condition of scrap, and gives a very clear indication of the state of other iron-work. Floor concrete is reduced to debris in places.

In order to safeguard the public, and to preserve the structure as long as possible, or until it can be replaced by a new bridge, it has been decided that the following limits must be fixed for traffic using the bridge:—

Maximum weight of any vehicle—3½ tons. Maximum weight of any axle load—2 tons. Maximum speed on the bridge—5 miles per hour. (Speed limits to apply to all vehicles over 1 ton weight). The limits have already been approved by you, and the Statutory Notices have been erected. These figures are arrived at after mature consideration and full knowledge of the condition of the structure, and with full cognizance of the seriousness of its effect on the traffic over a very wide area of the South of Ireland, but knowing also that the lives of many persons are dependent on our advice and action here we cannot risk any advice that may lead to a disaster and great loss of human life and, therefore, our advice must err, if at all, on the side of safety.

It must also be clearly understood that not only must these limits be introduced, but they must be positively enforced to the letter for 24 hours each day. For this purpose the existing law is not helpful, so that ways and means must be devised to meet the case.

The only alternative to this is the immediate closing of the bridge to all mechanical traffic.

The bridge is past repair or strengthening, and any attempt at painting would be entirely wasted.

The restrictions are imposed under the Road Traffic Act, 1933, Section 158, Statutory Rules and Orders, No. 108, dated 23rd September, 1933.

For the enforcement of the weight limits, it will be necessary to erect a weighing machine, at each end of the bridge, and compel all heavy vehicles to be weighed, and suitable machinery cost about £400 each, erected. For checking speeds—and this is of vital importance—either Guards on continuous duty must be employed, or the roadway of the bridge must be so obstructed by barriers that speeding will be impossible.

Whichever methods are adopted, it must be clearly understood that there is no alternative to the rigid enforcing of the limits except the immediate closing of the bridge permanently. The enforcement must be positive and continuous, not occasional.

It would appear that the checking of the weights and speeds of vehicles is the duty of the Civic Guards. It will involve continuous duty, day and night, and every day. If not carried out by the Guards, other arrangements must be made, which will probably entail more inconvenience to the public. A communication has been sent to the Department of Local Government and Public Health on this subject. A reply has been received saying that the enforcement of the observance of any restriction imposed is a matter for the Civic Guards.

A new modern bridge should be erected at the earliest possible moment, capable of carrying all traffic at unlimited speeds, and equipped with a modern type of opening for the passage of shipping.

The importance of this bridge in the traffic and business of the county cannot be exaggerated. It is on the trunk route from Cork to Waterford. There is no other bridge over the Blackwater between the sea and Cappoquin, a distance, by reasonable routes, of about 20 miles up the river. We are of opinion, therefore, that both Counties should immediately make strong representations to the Local Government Department for a free grant to cover the entire cost of a new bridge, and that this should be done without delay. The erection of such a bridge would occupy several years, during which traffic must remain seriously inconvenienced, if not entirely suspended, owing to the condition of the existing structure.

We ask your approval for the provision of the necessary weighing machines for the protection of the bridge, and also for the provision of such barriers or gales as may be necessary for the regulation of traffic and checking of weights and speeds.

We are, Gentlemen, Your obedient Servants.

(Signed)—R. F. O'CONNOR, County Surveyor for the County of Cork. J. Bowen, B.E., County Surveyor for the County of Waterford.

Cork and Dungarvan, Dated 20th February, 1939.

Supervision of Traffic.
Arising out of the above report, Mr. Bowen stated that Cork Co. Council had in hand a scheme for the erection of a weigh bridge at that they in Waterford could do that too.

Continuing Mr. Bowen said that they had gone to great trouble to estimate the weight which the bridge would carry, and had decided that the weight of vehicles passing over the bridge should not be more than 3½ tons, not more than 2 tons axle weight, and at a speed of not more than 5 m.p.h. He wanted to emphasize the fact that these regulations were made for very serious reasons and that their enforcement should be continuous, and not spasmodic.

He then turned to the Garda Superintendents on each side of the river on February 3 in this connection, stating that as the weight of vehicles could not be accurately judged over 1 ton, the erection of a weigh bridge would be necessary, and this would involve the placing of men on continuous duty for supervision. This was a grave duty for the protection of the public, and the supervision would be over a number of years.

The Chief Superintendents in Cork and Waterford had written back stating that the matter was having their attention.

He had then again written, stating that the supervision would have to be of a permanent nature, as only a Guard in uniform could stop vehicles.

A letter from the Minister of Justice had stated that any notice at the bridge should conform to the 1933 Road Traffic Act, and infringement of them would be a matter for the Guards.

It was now March 7th and only occasional visits had been paid to the bridge by the guards. The Dungarvan Superintendent, in whose district the bridge lay, had informed him that it had not been decided to put on a continuous guard.

If that was so they should apply to the Minister at once for the compulsory closing of the bridge. It would have to be one thing or the other. It was the Guards' duty not his. The position was extremely serious, and unless they had an assurance that the restriction would be enforced, their only course would be to close the bridge.

Mr. Moynihan, Commissioner, said that he would be lacking in his duty if he did not endorse Mr. Bowen's statement. The only course left open to the County Surveyors would be to close the bridge if the restriction would be enforced, and he would instruct the Secretary to write that the Council would make an order that the bridge be closed altogether if this was not done.

Mr. Bowen said although the notices were up, still traffic was flying through. Last Saturday he saw them doing so and on Sunday he saw them doing so again.

The Commissioner said that the notices were being ignored, and he had seen that himself.

Mr. Bowen said it was no use erecting a weigh bridge, if there was to be no supervision.

The Commissioner said that the weigh bridge would be erected provided that they got the Guards to enforce restrictions. It seemed extraordinary that when two Co. Surveyors and an official of the L. G. D. went to the trouble of investigating the matter, and drawing up regulations, that they should be ignored.

Mr. Bowen—Arising out of this report, I think something should be done about erecting a new bridge. That would take several years, even if we had the money in the morning. It will have to be a substantial structure, and I am wondering if we could have a joint committee of the two Co. Councils.

Mr. Moynihan—You want to put a joint proposal?

Mr. Bowen—Yes. You would be in order in nominating members now.

Mr. Moynihan—What action has the Cork Co. Council taken?

Mr. Bowen—None so far.

It was decided that Mr. Moynihan and Mr. Bowen should represent Waterford Co. Council on the joint Committee.

Mr. Bowen said that as regards shelter for the Guards he thought that a sub-station should be erected while superintendents were aware that both Councils would be happy to oblige them. What he had in mind was a temporary wooden building. There was a large sum of money involved, and also a matter of great importance to the traffic passing through so that expenditure on this matter would be a "mere bagatelle".

Grants for Roads.
A letter was read from the Minister for Local Government and Public Health notifying that a grant of £4,500 had been made towards the reconstruction of Co. Roads No's W. 50 and W. 22.

The estimated cost of the reconstruction was £9,000 and Mr. Moynihan said he was glad to say that the Government was giving a grant of 50 per cent of the cost.

Mr. Bowen said that work on the roads mentioned would be started as soon as possible and every available man put on it. He hoped to have it done by August.

Employment Scheme.
Mr. Bowen said that out of a grant given to Co. Waterford, they proposed to spend £1,000 on the Oldparish road, and a similar amount on the Talloo-Lismore road.

Increase of Salary.
Mr. Laurence O'Gorman, applying for an increase of salary stated that when he applied for the position, he felt sure that an credit would be given for his previous work as Assistant County Surveyor. He was disappointed that this was not so, and if he were aware of this he would not have competed for the position.

Mr. Moynihan said that if the advertisement for the position had stated this, others with similar qualifications might have competed, and Mr. O'Gorman might not have been appointed at all. As his service had been satisfactory he would give an increase of £30, or two increments, subject to the approval of the Department, as from Jan. 1.

Application from Training School.
An application was made from St. Kevin's Training School, Glenree, for an increased contribution towards the maintenance of children.

It was stated that Waterford Co. Council maintained two boys at the institution each per week.

An order was made for an increase of 2/- to 7/- each per week, as from last October.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL

Present Messrs. M. D. Broderick, T.D. Chairman, R. Power, J. R. Smyth, P.C. and J. Daly, B.E.

YOUGHAL BRIDGE The following letter was received from Dungarvan, 28 Feb. 29.

Dear Sir, Your letter of the 24th inst. addressed to the Commissioner administering the affairs of the County Council of Waterford has been handed to me.

Very briefly the position concerning this bridge is that it is no longer fit to carry the unlimited weights and speed of vehicles to which it has been subjected heretofore.

After very careful examination and the fullest possible consideration of all possible aspects of the case, it has been decided that the greatest weight of any vehicle that can be allowed to cross the bridge is 3 1/2 tons.

The necessary statutory notices have been created under the Road Traffic Act 1933, and these restrictions must be rigidly enforced at all times.

There is no question of repairs, or of strengthening the bridge in any way as this would be impossible.

The joint report of the Co. Surveyor will be considered by both Committees at an early date, when the question of a new bridge will arise.

You will realize clearly that the lives of the public as well as the existence and continuation of the present bridge are dependent on our advice to the Councils, and while we are most anxious to facilitate the public as far as possible, we cannot risk any liberty of traffic that may lead to a disaster.

Yours faithfully, J. Bowen, B.E. Co. Surveyor.

During a discussion which followed it was pointed out that while the bridge linked up the Counties of Cork and Waterford, attention was drawn to the fact that it was very largely used as an artery for trade and tourist traffic between the South and North of Eire.

The Clerk was directed to communicate with the Waterford and Cork Co. Councils, the Waterford and Cork T.D.s, the G.S.R. and the Irish Tourist Association, in order that they might exert their influence in expediting the building of the bridge.

On the proposal of Mr. Power, seconded by Mr. Daly, a vote of sympathy was passed to Mrs. Toohill on the death of her husband.

A similar vote was passed to the bereaved and sisters of the late Mr. Bill Bennett, on the proposal of Mr. Smyth, seconded by the Chairman.

Hurling Match at Killageh— Bishop Roche Cup—

Youghal hurling team travelled to Killageh last Sunday to keep their appointment with the latter club in the Roche Cup, which is being pushed forward with great vigour at the moment by the Committee in charge.

Although cold, the weather was cold and hard on Sunday, and was a welcome change from the rainy weather we have experienced for so long.

Tommy Foley too, had to cry off through illness, as also had Pat Walsh. The absence of these players made the issue a doubtful one for the local team.

Youghal were handicapped by the fact that the brothers Michael and John Collins were not in a position to take part in the match.

Remember that when you buy a Raleigh you get a machine controlled throughout by the manufacturer and not just an assemblage of standard parts.

ARDMORE COURT

(Before Mr. G. P. Farrell)

Arising out of a collision between a motor bus and a lorry, Superintendent Walsh, Dungarvan, charged John Walsh, 113 High St., Cork, with dangerous driving at Mivellin, Ring, on January 17th last, and William O'Connell, Harbour View, Cork, was similarly charged.

The Superintendent applied to have both cases adjourned to Youghal Court on 10th inst.

The application was granted. Guard Cooper, Ardmore charged James Street, Chapel St., Dungarvan: 1—With driving a small public service vehicle for carrying passengers for reward without a driver's license, and 2—With failing to wear in the manner prescribed by the Regulations the badge ordered by Part 7 of the Road and Traffic Act.

Defendant was fined 2/- in each charge. Patrick Burke, Mary Street, Dungarvan, owner of the vehicle in the previous case was charged with employing Street. He was fined 1/-.

Guard M. J. Browne charged Michael Quinn with using an unlighted vehicle front and rear. He was fined 1/- in each case. A number of cases were adjourned.

EARLY SPRING— Successful gardeners plan ahead—that is one reason why they are successful. An early Spring does not catch them unprepared.

Some garden experts have predicted an early Spring, so, like good campaigners, they have purchased their simple but needs already and the assurance of July weather in March would not hurt them a bit.

They are prepared. You too may need a spade, a rake, a digging fork or a trowel. A spade gives somewhat work when anything more than a bucketful of earth has to be moved; a rake saves so much backaches and so many minutes that can be turned to productive work; a digging fork is indispensable for it saves you. Merely cutting away the roots of your horticultural hopes, a trowel is the indispensable companion of the digging fork and the necessary small brother of the spade.

WOOL BALL

ALTHOUGH 3 doses of CUREOX will surely cure the worst case of wool-bait in 12 hours if taken in time, it is useless to prevent a disease so quickly fatal. You are unlikely to catch cases of wool-bait when they happen at night. A few doses of CUREOX twice a week to each lamb will keep them completely free from wool-bait. Read what Mr. Kelly says:—

"My lambs were dying rapidly until I started using CUREOX. I have proved in the best possible remedy for wool-bait."

D. J. KELLY, Dryst, Ballinacorney. (We neither asked nor sold for this.)

YOU GIVE CUREOX A TRIAL Approved by the Dept. of Agriculture. Of Chemists and Merchants, Dublin 28, 15, 16, 18, 21 and 23, or from BELLS OF WATERFORD, post 6d. extra. KEEP A BOTTLE HANDY. CUREOX USE BELLS GREAT ANIMAL CURES

YOUGHAL NOTES

Urban Council— Only four members out of a total of 21, turned up to the weekly meeting on Thursday night which was very wet. If it were required, this shows the absolute absurdity of having 21 Councillors, with not less than 10 wards, if you please.

North, Central and South, for a town—many of the overseas visitors call it a village—having to be elected to represent some 5,000 of a population. We are supposed to be "free" of the old regime, with all its "red tape" and legal minutiae, but in view of the above facts, who is so bold as to say that we are really free. Over and over again, suggestions have been made that nine to eleven Councillors would be adequate to carry on the administration of local affairs, but then the law—the old English law—adopted by our new Home Government, is trotted out by our so-called "free Institution" to say that no reduction in the number of representatives can be made without an elaborate and costly method laid down by some foreign statute.

Victorian, or Gregorian or Edwardian "rights of life." If ever there was a case in which the "law is a hindrance"—and there are many, too many, to be quoted as examples—this is certainly an outstanding instance. People may talk till they're hoarse about "red tape" or the regime that is supposed to be dead and gone, but it certainly appears that if we have got rid of the much abused "red tape" of the past with all its many faults, and failings the country is cursed with an equal amount if not more of "green tape."

The New Fishery Bill— Put forward by our own native Government has aroused a regular whirlwind of opposition here, there and everywhere, judging from reports in the press. This Bill may, indeed, be modified somewhat in its passage, which promises to be a somewhat stormy one, through the Dail, but in fact of the evident fact that "yes" men will their fine fat monthly stipend that say "No" to anything that our native Deputies put forward, it may be taken for granted that the Bill will be duly enacted by the usual compliant majority.

If any of the latter dare say "booh," they are marked men. Similar arguments apply to the now notorious Revaluation Bill.

Dr. J. J. Curran— An old member of an old and respected Youghal family, Dr. John James Curran, died at a fine old age at his residence, South Abbey, on Sunday night. Dr. Curran was the eldest son of the late Dr. James Curran, who for many years was one of the most prominent medical men in the vicinity. Dr. John Curran spent some twenty years as M. O. in Killageh district, where he earned wide respect and esteem. He had family relations with prominent Co. Cork families, one sister having been married to the late Mr. Wm. Hodges, Solr. Youghal, and another to Mr. D. L. O'Connell, Vice-Chairman of the Cork Co. Council. He lost his only son in the tragic disaster of the R. 101 some years ago.

The Fishing Season— Continues to be spasmodically fairly satisfactory. It opened very well, compared with other recent years, but after a short time it slumped badly, and for days at a stretch poor men braved the elements in bad and bitter weather, with little or no result.

Then a good turn came again, followed by another slump, and so on. However, it would appear on the whole that the season locally compares favourably with that in other rivers. One pleasing feature was that the prices realised—opening at 2/6 and upwards per lb., although there was naturally somewhat of a drop—held fairly well. This would seem to indicate that there have not been any heavy takes in the Scotch and English rivers, and others that supply the English markets.
