DUNGARVAN URBAN COUNCIL.

At a meeting of the Dungarvan Urban Council on Friday, April 26th, Mr. J. Dahill took the chair, the other members present being Messrs. P. Byrne, P. O'Dwyer and M. O'Connor.

PAYSHEET.
A paysheet of £16 1s. 7d. was read and passed.

In reply to Mr. O'Dwyer the Clerk said that nothing had since been heard of the increase in the remuneration of the Council's employees.

After another discussion the Clerk said that the Council's finances were in a most unhealthy state. In spite of his warning, their funds were overruled.

Following a discussion it was decided to meet the more urgent of the Council's obligations.

RECONSTRUCTION OF HOUSE.
Patrick Nagle, Cross Bridge Street, wrote enclosing a plan for the reconstruction of a house in O'Connell St. and requesting permission to start the reconstruction as soon as possible.

The letter was referred to the Borough Surveyor.

WALL AT QUAY STREET.
A letter from A. Moloney and Sons, Ltd., requested permission to lower a wall between the Council's yard and their store at Quay Street, where they intended to erect a new store, was referred to the Borough Surveyor.

REQUEST FOR HALL.
T. J. Moloney, for "Funland," wrote asking if the hall could be had for one or two weeks including Sundays from May 6th at £2 per week.

It was decided to reply that Sundays were excluded.

DEMOLITION ORDERS.
Mr. A. B. Farrell, solicitor, on behalf of Mr. Maurice Keohan, Voughal Road, with reference to two houses, formerly occupied by Messrs. Sandford and Drumney in respect of which Demolition Orders had been served.

The owner, he stated, was Mr. Keohan, who is in Canada. His client informed him that he wants to use these houses which are in excellent repair as storehouses for manure, turps and potatoes, and was willing to remove the inside partitions and give an undertaking that they would not be used for human habitation.

The letter was referred to the Council's solicitor.

CEILIDHE.
The use of the hall, for a ceilidhe on Friday night, May 3rd from 8 to 11 p.m., was granted on the application of Mr. Johnson.

A similar application by the Accordion Dance Band for a practice dance on Wednesday, May 1st, 8 to 11 p.m. was also granted.

A letter from Thomas Foley, New Line, Abbeyside, concerning water shortage on his land was referred to the Borough Surveyor.

DUNGARVAN MAN'S SUCCESS.

It is pleasing to note that in the list of successes in the Final Law Examinations held recently, the name of Mr. Patrick J. Morrissey, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Morrissey, O'Connell St., Dungarvan, occupies a prominent place. This success of Mr. Morrissey's is but the culminating one of a long list since the commencement of his school career. A student of the Christian Brothers' Schools, Dungarvan, he obtained honours in the Intermediate Certificate, 1933, Matriculated in 1934, and obtained honours in the Leaving Certificate in 1935. His four years' apprenticeship were served with Mr. Austin R. Farrell, solicitor, O'Connell St., Dungarvan. In the meantime, in the 1938 Intermediate Law Examination he obtained 5th place with 86 per cent., 2nd place in his Final Irish Examination, 1939, with 175 out of 200 marks, and was in each of three years a National University exhibitioner and prizewinner. In the Law Society Lectures and examinations he received honours, and in his most recent examination obtained 9th place.

With this imposing list of successes to his credit, Mr. Morrissey should do well in the career he has chosen, and we join with his many friends in wishing him every success and happiness.

VISIT OF MASKED RAIDERS.

Waterford Woman Injured

Grove Cottage, Newtown, the residence of Mr. Thomas Power, garage proprietor, The Quay, was visited on Monday night by three masked men who attempted to raid the house, but fled after a scuffle in which Mrs. Power, Mr. Thomas Power's wife, was injured.

The alarming incident took place at about 10.15 p.m. Mr. Power was away from home, and the only people in the house were his wife and a neighbour, Mrs. Murphy.

A knock was heard at the door, and Mrs. Murphy went out to open it. She found herself faced by three masked men, whose hands were in their pockets—presumably to indicate the presence of arms.

The men said that they were under orders to search the house. One of them remained on guard at the front door while the other two pushed their way into the hall.

Here they met Mrs. Power, who immediately tore their masks off. A scuffle ensued in which Mrs. Power was thrown violently to the ground, sustaining leg and arm injuries.

The raiders then made off. Nothing was taken from the house, as the men, with the exception of one who gained access to a bedroom for a moment, never got beyond the hall.

It is learned that Mrs. Power, who is also naturally suffering from a certain amount of shock as a result of the raid, is better.

The Garda authorities are conducting investigations.

NEXT SUNDAY'S MATCHES.

Fourmilewater v. Pike.

An interesting match will take place next Sunday at 3.15 p.m. (S.T.), at Dungarvan when Fourmilewater and the Pike meet in the first round of the junior hurling championship. Although Fourmilewater were beaten by Abbeyside in the first round of the championship last year they have fielded very useful teams in recent years, and have a large area from which to select players as the nearest hurling club in the area is Sean-a-Chabhair. They expect to win on Sunday as they have a hefty bunch of players who are well versed in the hurling code.

The Pike are appearing for the first time in the junior hurling championship, but after last Sunday's victory in the junior football championship they are all out for another win. As they have not yet made an appearance on the hurling field their form is not yet known, but they have never set back known to give an easy victory to any team.

Abbeyside v. Dungarvan.

Seldom has a junior championship match aroused so much interest and speculation as the match, Abbeyside and Dungarvan, billed for the Gaelic Field on Sunday next. Both these junior hurling teams are formidable combinations, and the survivors of next Sunday's game will undoubtedly be concerned in the final.

The teams met last year in the 1938 championship when Abbeyside won after a hectic hour's struggle on the score of three goals and two points to two points for Dungarvan. The two teams have trained consistently for Sunday's encounter and one thing is certain, that an hour's strenuous and scientific hurling will be witnessed. The match will be handled by Mr. M. V. O'Donoghue, B.E., Lismore, chairman of the Waterford Co. Board, the Divisional Secretary—Mr. T. A. Kyne, has made special arrangements as to stewarding etc., and we are asked specially to appeal to the onlookers to obey the stewards' orders. Granted fine weather a record crowd is anticipated. May the better team win, this, the most discussed clash of recent years, say we. The above match will be preceded by another junior hurling championship game between the Pike and Fourmilewater.

Herewith we give the view of the Chairman of both clubs as to why their teams should win.

Mr. M. Foley, M.A., Abbeyside—Our team is the stronger, the more enthusiastic and determined. Our balance and consolidated team work should be a decisive factor in our favour. We shall turn out a perfectly fit team, which I think are going to win.

WHY DUNGARVAN SHOULD WIN.
Mr. T. A. Kyne, Chairman, Dungarvan club writes—

Having been asked by the Editor to give some reasons as to why I think we should win on Sunday I have been considering the request fairly deeply. Of course I know we are going to win but to put my reasons down on paper came a bit more difficult than I anticipated. Well, this is how I worked it out. Why should we not win on Sunday? Then I put down the advantages a team usually has when it wins and considered them in relation to Abbeyside.

(1) Experience—Nearly all seasoned hurlers. Some with inter-county experience and playing for the past ten years. This looked pretty bad until I remembered that any county who had won an all-Ireland during the past five years had to depend in the young blood. (2) Strength and Weight—I had to concede this to the Village but I thought the Fraher Park is long & wide, and strength and weight don't count for much if your man gets away out of the wing with the ball. (3) Ball Control?—Well if Abbeyside had anything on Foley, Lannon, Murphy and Lenders to mention a few of our selection, in ball control, they must have some very "dark horses." If anything the honours went to us there. (4) Training and General Fitness?—Yes there is no doubt but they have been put through their paces by their Secretary. This side of team building had not been neglected by Abbeyside. Well, so had our lads and even if we did not start as

Death of Mrs. Hanora Foley, Abbeyside.

It is with deep regret we announce the death which took place on Thursday morning of Mrs. Hanora Foley, Hermitage, Abbeyside. The deceased, wife of the late Capt. J. Foley, was a most estimable lady who was, due to her many admirable qualities, exceedingly well-liked by everyone who had the pleasure of her acquaintance and the sincere sympathy of all goes out to her sons and daughters in their loss.

In her last illness she was regularly attended by Very Rev. N. Dunphy, P.P., Abbeyside and Rev. M. P. O'Connell, S.J., so that her death—fully fortified by the rites of Holy Church to which she was ever so devotedly attached—was a truly happy one. She was mother of Mr. Patrick Foley, Capt. David Foley, Miss Hanora Foley and Mrs. Paul Quahly, to all of whom we with the general public tender sincere sympathy in their sorrow and loss.

The remains will be removed to the Abbeyside Parish Church on this (Friday) evening at 8.30 p.m. Interment will be made on Saturday in the family plot adjoining—R.I.P.

Late Mr. J. Hogan, Sheskin, Stradbally.

The death took place on Tuesday evening last of Mr. James Hogan, Sheskin, Stradbally at an early age, following a protracted illness. The remains were removed to Stradbally Parish Church and interment took place on Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock Mass.

The chief mourners were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hogan (parents), Jack, Willie and Matthew (brothers) and Minnie and Kathleen (sisters). May they rest in peace.

D.L.C. Whitsuntide Dance.

It is now getting close to the holiday period of Whitsun and we take this opportunity of reminding you that the best way to end up a glorious Whitsun is to come with the crowd to the "Dickens Leather Co. Social Club's" "Dancing Lights Carnival" dance in the Town Hall, Dungarvan. Mick O'Shea (The Irish Crosby) and his first class Waterford Band have been specially engaged for the night and provide a stage microphone and amplifier to carry the sweet strains of their music to the farthest parts of the hall. The best musicians promise to be superb, and there will also be included the renowned "balloon-barage" hats, caps and full carnival novelties with spot prizes and the dancing spotlight. All lighting effects are in the capable hands of Mr. M. Terry.

early we have the added advantage of youth to bring us up on the general fitness side. (5) Tradition?—No. I think I could not concede any points on this. True the Village took the last game and made us taste defeat but an exception only proves the rule and we would only move the rule and we would only move the rule to win. Our record is like that of a famous firm:

"ESTABLISHED 1885 STILL GOING STRONG."

This seems to cover all the angles I could look at it from and when I had added up and taken "pros" from "cons" I found that we should still win. Then I took our own selection and added the advantage which I believe they have of an accurate forward line who will make use of every ball. With a fair backline, a good middle, and an excellent forward line, I think that Dungarvan should put up such a score that when the long whistle goes Abbeyside will be several points down at least.

The Selection Committee have kept their actual placings secret but I am sure I am giving away no confidence when I say that Dungarvan's policy is based on the old saying: "Attack is the best defence." The truth of this will be seen on Sunday next and as I believe the Editor has asked an Abbeyside official to give his reasons as to why they should win I will leave you to be converted to the green and gold of the village but no matter what you read or which side you favour the real test will be decided on the playing field on Sunday. Let us hope for a clean game, a fine day and a record crowd.

BISHOP HACKETT CUP FINAL.

Carrick-on-Suir Decisively Beaten by Lismore C.B.S.

LISMORE, 5-5; CARRICK-ON-SUIR, 2-0.

Lismore C.B.S. with a keenness, stylishness and skillfulness which would put most of our junior hurling teams to shame, registered a decisive victory over Carrick-on-Suir C.B.S. at the Gaelic Field, Dungarvan, in the final of the Bishop Hackett Cup on Thursday.

From the throw-in Lismore were away and had a goal within the first minute of play by John Lineen. A Carrick attack was withstood by W. Broderick and again play veered rapidly to the Carrick goal where a wide resulted. M. Fives atoned with a point for Lismore, following which four keen Lismore attacks were beaten off by the skill and resource of the Carrick goalie, Shelly. At this point a lovely movement by the Carrick forwards carried the attack into the Lismore goalmouth where the goalie, McGrath, the Cork minor goalkeeper last season, saved well, but an inadvertent stroke by a Lismore player sent the ball into the net. For Lismore Fives notched a point from a most difficult position, and following a beautiful shot from middlefield Duggan who centred well, P. Vaughan added a goal. P. McCarthy stopped another Carrick raid, and after some exciting bouts around the Carrick goal another grand goal was registered for Lismore.

The Carrick forwards were very useful and had they received more opportunities might have given a good account of themselves. Following some desultory play and a number of wides at both ends the half-time score was:—Lismore, 3-2; Carrick, 1-0.

At the change over, two Lismore major scores resulted in quick succession per Vaughan and Bransfield, who initiated the second goal, and Fives added another point. Wides were numerous before another point for Lismore was sent over. Carrick's only score in this half came when Power, following a lightning attack for Carrick sent in a goal. The standard of play was not now as good as in the first half, and the full-time whistle showed no further change in the scores which were, Lismore, 5-5; Carrick-on-Suir, 2-0.

Lismore were best served by P. Vaughan, McCarthy, Fives, Willoughby, Broderick, O'Gorman and Hancock, the best of the Carrick lot being Shelly, Hahissey and Phelan.

The Lismore Captain, Joe Duggan was presented with the trophy by Rev. Fr. McGree, O.S.A., the Friary, Dungarvan, amid acclamation from the team followers from Lismore, which fields seven G.A.A. teams this year.

Lismore C.B.S.—C. Willoughby, J. O'Donoghue, J. O'Gorman, J. Forde, F. McCarthy, M. Fives, E. Foley, J. Duggan, J. Bransfield, J. Linneen, P. Hogan, W. Broderick, P. McCarthy, T. Hancock, T. McGrath.

Carrick-on-Suir C.B.S.—E. Wall, W. Hahissey, E. Walsh, M. A. Whelan, J. Hayes, P. Flynn, T. Shelly, J. C. Power, S. Power, J. Curry, W. A. Walsh, W. Power, R. Norris and P. Cooney.

Death of Shaun Golin.

Shaun Golin, winner of the 1930 Grand National, has died at the age of 20 years. Last Wednesday Shaun Golin escaped from his box and galloped round a paddock until exhaustion stopped him. It was his last fling, and a few hours later he died. He has been buried close to the gallops where he was trained for his Liverpool triumph.

RESEEDING IS BEST GRASS IMPROVEMENT

In considering the question of the ploughing-up of old grassland and reseeding direct to grass on the upturned sod, particularly in all-grass dairying districts, a much more forceful campaign would appear to be necessary.

It is, in principle, a sound economic proposition? All the evidence goes to prove that it is, even under peacetime conditions, when supplies of imported animal feeding stuffs are unlimited.

Grassland dairy farmers who have started to, have continued to break further fields each year. If it is economically practicable proposition in peacetime, surely it is even more so under present wartime conditions.

Why, then, do not more people adopt this practice? The reasons would appear to be several. First, the farmer has been driven by past experience, to adopt a conservative attitude to new developments. He has found little unanimity of opinion amongst those who advised him. Moreover, many have had no opportunity of inspecting those fields where it has been carried out.

Again, one finds relatively few people who are good judges of grassland, as grassland has, generally speaking, never been regarded as a crop. Those, therefore, who can fully appreciate the productive capacity of a reseeded pasture are in the minority. It is fairly safe, too, to say that most men have grown so accustomed to their own grassland that their capacity for criticising it and noting its defects has become inhibited, so they tend to overlook weaknesses which would be obvious to a stranger.

QUESTION OF COST.

The cost of direct reseeding and the risk of failure is often—in my opinion, wrongly—held up as an obstacle to the adoption of this method of improvement. If a pasture is to be improved one knows that, whether one reseeds or merely improves the existing line—and/or artificial manures, and on long run, one will have to spend money on mechanical treatment.

The question is, will it be a sound business proposition to invest the further sum of money entailed by reseeding? Time spent in ploughing will seldom be longer than that required to carry out the drastic harrowing necessary if it were to be improved without reseeding.

Furthermore, it is a long job to prepare the seed-bed, sow and consolidate by rolling; nor is there any reason why many more dairy farmers should not carry out these operations in between milking times. A plough may have to be purchased, a roller borrowed, but I contend that the only really substantial extra charge per acre which is incurred is the cost of the seeds mixture.

Does it pay? I am convinced that it does. In the experience of those who have practised this method the whole cost of the improvement is often recouped in the first season. The extra output obtained and the reduced purchases of feeding stuffs make a real saving. The risk of the seeds falling is very small if the job is carried out with intelligence.

It seems to be inconceivable that those who have already adopted this method of improving their grassland, and who are continuing to reseed more and more fields each year, are deliberately pursuing a policy which does not pay them!

There is no reason why an energetic reseeded campaign should affect the drive for more arable land for cereals. If only grass dairy farmers could be made to realise the value of direct reseeding they would be only too eager to exploit the method to the full; not in place of, but as complementary to, the acreage to be scheduled primarily for cereal production and arable cropping generally.

Sympathy.

At a special meeting of the Dungarvan Literary Club Mr. E. Phelan, President, in the chair, a vote of condolence was passed with Mr. Luke Dalton, on the death of his brother.

YOUGHAL NOTES

G.A.A. It is understood that Youghal G.A.A. Club have lodged an objection to Little Island football club being awarded their match in the initial round of the current year's junior football championship.

THE YOUGHAL PLAYERS ON THE MOKILLY S. F. TEAM. (East Cork Divisional Selection)—All gave a good account of themselves. Outstanding were Griffin, O'Mahony (Capt.), O'Neill, Keane and O'Sullivan.

DANCING. Dancing will commence in the beautiful Strand Palace Ballroom for the Whitson holidays.

SALMON FISHING. The salmon fishing continues to be fairly good and some crews continue to record satisfactory catches. Still the season is but little improved on the last few years.

THE ANTIQUITIES OF YOUGHAL. Youghal, in the old days, was a fortified town and the old walls still remain and are an object of interest to tourists and visitors.

Large crowds filled the luxurious Regal Cinema last week-end for the showing of that popular picture "Four Smart Girls Grow Up" starring Deanna Durbin, Nan Grey, Helen Parish, Charles Winninger, Robert Cunnings, William Lundegan, Ernest Cossart and Nellie Walker.

OF INTEREST TO VISITORS. For the benefit of visitors to Youghal we give the following information. There are frequent rail and bus services from Cork also bus service from Dungarvan.

Church services—Catholic (Parish) Church: Masses on Sundays and Holydays are celebrated at 8.30, 10.30 and 12 (noon). Public Masses are also offered up in the Strand Church and in the Presentation Church (South Abbey).

There are three banks in Youghal, all in the Main Street—Bank of Ireland; Provincial Bank and Munster and Leinster Bank. The Post Office is situated in the North Main Street and there is a sub-office in the Strand (near Railway Station).

THE MEN'S RETREAT. The week's retreat for the men of Youghal Parish concluded in the Parish Church on Sunday night last amidst scenes of deep religious solemnity.

Five years later, Jean is released on probation, ragged, demoralised and unkempt. The stigma of his convict life shadows him. When the benevolent Bishop Bienvu gives him food and shelter, he retaliates by stealing the Bishop's silver.

While Jean is bidding the sickly Fantine good-bye, Javert appears to make his arrest. Fantine dies. Jean angrily attacks Javert and escapes. He takes Cosette to Paris and becomes a gardener under an assumed name.

Four years later Javert appears on the scene and recognises Jean, who again flees with Cosette. Rioting breaks out all over Paris. Jean lays plans to flee to England, but learning that Cosette's lover, Marius, militant leader of a group of revolutionaries, is trapped, he goes to him. Javert trails Jean, intent on killing him, but is captured by a group of student rioters. Jean demands the privilege of killing Javert, but instead turns him loose. Marius is wounded and Jean carries him through the sewers to Cosette.

He encounters Javert in the hallway and agrees to give himself up, asking only to say good-bye to Cosette and Marius. When Jean returns he finds Javert gone. It develops he has drowned himself in a final gesture of revulsion over the mercilessness of the law he served. Jean is free for ever.

MEANWHILE, JAVERT HAS BEEN ASSIGNED AS police superintendent in the district and suspects Jean's identity. The arrest of a man in another city as Jean Valjean, however, offers Jean protection at an innocent man's expense, but he chooses voluntarily to appear in court and prove his own identity as Jean Valjean.

YOUGHAL ITS HISTORY AND ATTRACTIONS.

Youghal, because of its facilities for healthful enjoyment and recreation, its natural attractions and its situation in a delightful part of the coast is recognised as one of the leading holiday resorts in Eire.

Youghal is an ancient historic town and its antiquities are numerous and highly interesting giving the place a glamour that is absent in other resorts of repute. The early history of Youghal seems lost. In the Norman invasion it was in possession of the Fitzgeralds and suffered many sieges in the succeeding centuries particularly during the Desmond rebellion and Williamite Wars.

For the bulk of visitors to Youghal the main attraction is the amazingly fine strand—five miles long. There are no rocks or stones to cause discomfort or sudden currents or depths to mar the safety of the bather.

The climate is remarkably equable and conducive to health so genial, indeed, subtropical plants can be grown there. The air is of the same pure and invigorating nature possessing all necessary tonic qualities. Youghal, too, enjoys more than the average amount of sunshine. The water supply and drainage are perfect; roads, streets and footpaths are kept in excellent condition; and in general the public services and holiday facilities are remarkably efficient thanks to the exertions of an enterprising U.D.C.

There are hotels to suit all tastes and purses and the prices charged are, in all cases, reasonable. Then, in summertime, there is the usual round of amusements and facilities for dancing are provided in the beautiful and spacious Strand Palace with its perfect floor while two picture houses—the Regal and Horgan's Picture Palace cater for film fans.

Mr. R. Hurst, who also owns extensive business premises on the Strand, is the owner of the former which is considered one of the leading cinemas in Ireland.

The visitor exploring localities has in Youghal and district a wealth of scenic beauty and numerous antiquities which provide endless opportunities for interesting study and delightful outings. Across the bay is Monastrea with its large hotel owned by Mrs. E. J. O'Donovan.

In close proximity are historic Ardmore, beautiful Clashmore on the banks of the "Irish Rhine" Gaelic speaking Ballymacnoda and away in the distance world famous Mount Mellerey Abbey. Antiquities in the district include Rhincrew Abbey, Templemichael Abbey, Molara Abbey, etc.

Unfortunately there is no important industry in Youghal. When new industries were being established in recent years no move was made in Youghal and more's the pity.

Historic, lovely Youghal with its kindly, good natured people is a town with a future and we wish it well.

France in 1800. Handsome young Jean Valjean steals a loaf of bread and is sentenced to serve five years imprisonment in the galleys. Manacles and the lash soon reduce him to a wretched, degraded animal, hating all mankind, personified by Chief Warden Javert, who believes in serving the law to the letter.

Five years later, Jean is released on probation, ragged, demoralised and unkempt. The stigma of his convict life shadows him. When the benevolent Bishop Bienvu gives him food and shelter, he retaliates by stealing the Bishop's silver. Arrested, he is saved from the galleys by the Bishop and sent on his way with two silver candlesticks.

Endorsed by the Bishop's faith, Jean prospers. In Alsace, as M. Madeleine, he organises a thriving business and is elected mayor and magistrate. He befriends Fantine, an ostracized townswoman, and takes her small daughter Cosette into his home.

Meanwhile, Javert has been assigned as police superintendent in the district and suspects Jean's identity. The arrest of a man in another city as Jean Valjean, however, offers Jean protection at an innocent man's expense, but he chooses voluntarily to appear in court and prove his own identity as Jean Valjean.

LOCAL JUNIORS BEAT GLENMORRE ROVERS (BALLYMURPHY).

On the local pitch before a rather small attendance, the junior football team lined up to decide their first round tie in the Western Division junior football championship. The exhibition of the code was rather tame and never reached championship standard.

Mr. W. Hogan, Lismore, had charge of the whistle. The second round of the West Division County championships (junior hurling) is billed to take place at the newly established Moorehill pitch which is now in perfect condition, as the local committees are not sparing their efforts in making it conform to the highest possible standard of perfection.

The visitor exploring localities has in Youghal and district a wealth of scenic beauty and numerous antiquities which provide endless opportunities for interesting study and delightful outings. Across the bay is Monastrea with its large hotel owned by Mrs. E. J. O'Donovan.

In close proximity are historic Ardmore, beautiful Clashmore on the banks of the "Irish Rhine" Gaelic speaking Ballymacnoda and away in the distance world famous Mount Mellerey Abbey. Antiquities in the district include Rhincrew Abbey, Templemichael Abbey, Molara Abbey, etc.

Unfortunately there is no important industry in Youghal. When new industries were being established in recent years no move was made in Youghal and more's the pity.

Historic, lovely Youghal with its kindly, good natured people is a town with a future and we wish it well.

France in 1800. Handsome young Jean Valjean steals a loaf of bread and is sentenced to serve five years imprisonment in the galleys. Manacles and the lash soon reduce him to a wretched, degraded animal, hating all mankind, personified by Chief Warden Javert, who believes in serving the law to the letter.

Five years later, Jean is released on probation, ragged, demoralised and unkempt. The stigma of his convict life shadows him. When the benevolent Bishop Bienvu gives him food and shelter, he retaliates by stealing the Bishop's silver. Arrested, he is saved from the galleys by the Bishop and sent on his way with two silver candlesticks.

Endorsed by the Bishop's faith, Jean prospers. In Alsace, as M. Madeleine, he organises a thriving business and is elected mayor and magistrate. He befriends Fantine, an ostracized townswoman, and takes her small daughter Cosette into his home.

Meanwhile, Javert has been assigned as police superintendent in the district and suspects Jean's identity. The arrest of a man in another city as Jean Valjean, however, offers Jean protection at an innocent man's expense, but he chooses voluntarily to appear in court and prove his own identity as Jean Valjean.

While Jean is bidding the sickly Fantine good-bye, Javert appears to make his arrest. Fantine dies. Jean angrily attacks Javert and escapes. He takes Cosette to Paris and becomes a gardener under an assumed name.

Four years later Javert appears on the scene and recognises Jean, who again flees with Cosette. Rioting breaks out all over Paris. Jean lays plans to flee to England, but learning that Cosette's lover, Marius, militant leader of a group of revolutionaries, is trapped, he goes to him. Javert trails Jean, intent on killing him, but is captured by a group of student rioters. Jean demands the privilege of killing Javert, but instead turns him loose. Marius is wounded and Jean carries him through the sewers to Cosette.

He encounters Javert in the hallway and agrees to give himself up, asking only to say good-bye to Cosette and Marius. When Jean returns he finds Javert gone. It develops he has drowned himself in a final gesture of revulsion over the mercilessness of the law he served. Jean is free for ever.

County Committee of Agriculture.

Commissioner Moynihan Congratulated.

Mr. Thomas Flynn, Chairman presided at the monthly meeting of the above, held in the Courthouse, Dungarvan, on Saturday, also present Messrs. P. B. Sheridan, P. J. Power and Commissioner S. J. Moynihan, vice-chairman.

Before proceeding with the business proper of the meeting, the chairman said that since their last meeting Mr. Moynihan was married, and it was now his (Chairman's) pleasant duty to propose a vote of congratulation to Mr. Moynihan on his marriage. Since his coming amongst them Mr. Moynihan has done his duty fairly and squarely and always in the best interests of the ratepayers. He had very great pleasure in proposing a vote of congratulation to Mr. Moynihan.

Mr. Power seconding, endorsed the remarks of the Chairman. Mr. F. B. Sheridan in associating himself with the vote said Mr. Moynihan while amongst them in Co. Waterford had been most impartial in doing his duty. He had great pleasure in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Moynihan a full measure of happiness.

The Secretary joined in the expression of congratulation on behalf of the officials of the Committee and on his own behalf. Commissioner Moynihan returned thanks to the members for their good wishes and kind remarks.

R. D. SOCIETY'S SHOW. A letter from the Department giving permission to the Instructors under the Committee to attend at the Spring Show was read.

TURF SUPPLY. A further letter from the Department urged that an extra year's supply of turf should be cut and saved in the present favourable season, and requesting the Committee to arrange for the Agricultural Instructor to encourage extra turf cutting this year as it is important that a reserve supply should be available in view of the present high price of coal.

MAKING OF SILAGE. No action was taken on the following letter, re the making of silage which was read:—

In connection with the copies of the revised edition of the Department's leaflet on the subject of silage recently sent to you, you are informed that the Minister deems it most desirable that, with a view to the replacement of concentrated feeding stuffs, especially in present circumstances, the practice of silage making should be extended.

Such an extension is particularly desirable in dairying counties where tillage is not extensively practised, but where, on the other hand, heavy yields of high quality grass can be obtained.

Instructors in Agriculture (particularly those employed in the counties above-mentioned) are, therefore, urged to make every endeavour to secure the development of silage making in their respective counties. The co-operation of farmers in this matter can, it is believed, be best obtained through the medium of personal visits rather than by lectures or press articles, though these two publicity measures should not be neglected if it is considered that useful results could be achieved therefrom.

Farmers should in all cases be advised to apply one or two cwt. of Sulphate of Ammonia to grass land intended for the production of a crop for ensiling.

HORSE BREEDING SCHEME. The following letter was read: With reference to the Department's letter of May 11th, 1939, on the subject of the regulations adopted by your Committee under Clause 17 (7) of the above mentioned scheme, it is desirable to remind you, that in connection with the payment of deferred nomination fees the procedure laid down in the communication in question should be strictly followed.

The Secretary then read the communication referred to above which stated: With reference to the regulations adopted by your Committee in connection with Clause 17 (7) of the above-mentioned scheme, whereby portion of the nomination fees due in respect of the services of nominated mares, will not be paid pending investigations of the foaling returns. The necessary investigations should be carried out by you in due course and that your report on the matter should be submitted to the committee before any payment of a deferred nomination fee is made. In the event of any irregularity being brought to light as a result of these investigations, no payment to the stallion owner concerned should be made without the prior approval of the Minister.

The Secretary then read a letter received from the Secretary, Co. Waterford Registered Stallion Owners: At a meeting of the above held at Egan's Hotel, Dungarvan, on Saturday April 6th it was unanimously decided not to accept any nomination tickets for 1940 unless the Waterford Co. Committee of Agriculture are prepared to pay full fees whether mares are in foal or not, as they have not yet paid the 1939 fees in full. After a short discussion the Committee decided to request the Department to amend Scheme 17 (7) of the Horse Breeding Scheme to read "That half payment of nomination fees be deferred until foaling returns be investigated."

Damage by Seals in Rosslare Harbour. Large numbers of seals are reported to be causing much damage to salmon in Rosslare Bay. The seals frequent the sandbanks outside the entrance to Wexford harbour, where they attack the salmon leaving the River Slaney. Several of the seals have been killed by fishermen with rifles.

Spring Show Prospects.

The programme for the Spring Show and Irish Industries Fair which will be held at Ballabrigge on May 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th is now available. The programme for the five days is a full one, and the event promises to maintain the high standard which it has set for itself in previous years. The entries of livestock, though slightly down as compared with last year, are considered excellent. As the following comparative return shows the falling off in the cattle section is mainly in one breed—Aberdeen-Angus. Allowing for the usual fluctuations, all other breeds may be said to have well maintained their average—

Shorthorns—159, last year—180; Aberdeen Angus—55, last year—100; Herefords—49, last year 65; Kerry—47, last year—58; Jerseys—104, last year 87; Sheep—94, last year—97; Pigs—61, last year—68; Riding Ponies—18, last year—27; Children's Ponies—28, last year—29; Poultry and Eggs—464, last year—482; Butter—190, last year—203.

A fine show of livestock is therefore assured. In addition to the usual Jumping Competitions new features have been arranged for the Jumping Enclosure. Included amongst them are gymkhana events for both adults and children, displays by hounds of famous Irish hunts, and on Tuesday afternoon, sheep dog demonstrations themselves are not new to Ballabrigge, but the "Duck Display" (driving & dividing a flock of ducks with one dog), which is included in the demonstration this year, is certainly a novelty.

Musical programmes will be provided by the Army No. 1 Band, the Army No. 3 Band, the Dublin Metropolitan Garda Cellidhe Band, and Miss Fagan's Ladies Orchestra.

WATERFORD COUNTY COUNCIL.

11½d. INCREASE IN RATES ESTIMATE.

Commissioner Calls for Better Land Annuity Payments.

RATES ESTIMATE.

An increase of approximately 11½d. in the pound in the rates estimate for the financial year ending March 31, 1941, was announced at a special meeting of the Waterford Co. Council at the Secretary's Office, Co. Council Buildings, Dungarvan, on Monday, 29th ult.

The general estimate of Rates and Estimate for Separate Charges for the County of Waterford is £48,174d. in the pound, made up as follows: (1) A rate of 42.013d. for roads; (2) a rate of 48.891d. for county services, including a rate of 2½d. under the Agricultural Act, 1931; 2½d. under the Vocational Education Act 1930, and 1½d. in respect of the Co. Libraries Scheme; (3) a rate of 43.373 in respect of Poor Relief; (4) a rate of 16.197d. for Board of Health charges.

It was also determined that a sum of £5,666 2s. 6d. be demanded from the Urban District Council of Dungarvan to meet expenditure by the Co. Council for and on behalf of the Urban District Council for the financial year.

COMMISSIONER'S REMARKS.

Commissioner S. J. Moynihan, who presided, said that the Council had tried to find a way in which some saving might be effected, and in several items some small savings had been effected, to offset the inevitable increase in the rates this year, but this rate represented the irreducible minimum at which the county services could be maintained.

In common with other counties, this county had to meet what might be called a war budget this year. There were increases in the demands from all the subsidiary bodies due to the increased cost of commodities, and taking all the factors into consideration they were fortunate enough that the increase was restricted to less than 1½ in the pound.

A great many counties had not fared as well. Provision had also to be made to meet a completely unexpected demand from the Great Southern Railways Company of a sum of £2,500.

Continuing the Commissioner remarked that he would like to draw attention to the manner in which the Land Annuities were not being collected in the county. Many counties were in the happy position, owing to the better payments, of having rebates of stoppages given to them. In this county some £60,000, a huge sum was stopped in respect of unpaid annuities, and if there were better collections the rebates would also be given for the relief of rates, which would be very welcome in war time. He trusted that the Department of Justice and the Land Commission would adopt more vigorous measures in this connection, and he would appeal to the defaulters to pay up.

There should be very little sympathy for these defaulters as the arrears had to be met by the ratepayers until such time as the defaulters paid their land annuities.

LAMPS AT PASSAGE EAST.

The tender of the E.S.B. for the lighting of four Class II. lamps at Passage East, for the hours, half an hour after sunset to half an hour before sunrise at the inclusive charge of £20 for the year, was accepted.

BOAT QUAY AT NEWTOWN COVE.

INSURANCE CO. MEETING.

Mr. T. Boyle was nominated as delegate to the 1940 meeting of the Irish Public Bodies Mutual Insurance Co., Ltd. IREISH TOURIST ASSOCIATION.

The agreement with the Irish Tourist Association in regard to the payment of the annual local contribution was sealed. LICENSE.

Mr. Ion Villiers-Stuart, Dromana, was granted a license under the Explosives Act.

RETREATS AT YOUGHAL.

Highly successful retreats for the members of the local Confraternities and the parishioners in general were given during the past fortnight. The first week was devoted to the women, conducted by Rev. Fr. O'Shea and Hartigan, C.S.S.R., Limerick, and the second week for the men, conducted by Rev. Fr. Russell and Hartigan, C.S.S.R. Despite the unfavourable weather for the early week the morning Masses were attended by large numbers & crowded congregations filled the spacious church at the evening devotions. In addition to dealing with the usual religious subjects, the outstanding evils of the times were eloquently denounced by the preachers, who emphasized, from the religious point of view, the danger of secret outdoor societies. The good missionaries, assisted by the local clergy were kept busily engaged in the confessional during the fortnight with the gratifying result that the general Communion were really edifying proofs of the manner in which the good Fathers' efforts had fruited. Striking scenes were witnessed at the closing of both Retreats with the renewal of the vows with lighted candles and the imparting of the Papal Blessing. In his final sermon, Fr. Hartigan congratulated all who had taken part in the sacred function on its striking success, including Mr. L. Manley, organist, who presided at the organ.

DUNGARVAN BOXING TOURNAMENT.

There was a very large crowd of enthusiasts in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on last Friday night, 1939-40 and the boxing tournament organised by the Dungarvan Boxing Club and the bill of fare presented was a most entertaining one. It was unfortunate that the programme did not run to schedule in the juvenile section. This was caused by the failure of P. Flavin, Portlaw B.C., to turn out against J. Cronin of the Dungarvan B.C. in the 4 stone contest. Cronin was then opposed by Davis of the Waterford City B.C., who was billed in the 5-st. class, to meet P. Whelan, Dungarvan B.C., so that when young Whelan's contest came on, he was opposed by P. Cummins of the St. Patrick's B.C. Waterford who was billed originally in the 6-stone class. Both these young Dungarvan boys were therefore called on to battle against boys at the very least a stone heavier, and it is a great tribute to their grit and determination that they went the full distance. Apart from this, the tournament was a wonderful success and the committee are to be congratulated on their efforts.

The Welter Weight contest between R. Kelly, Spartan B.C. Kilkenny, and J. Keogh, Dungarvan B.C. was a most interesting one. Kelly was the high light of the night. This was over three 2-minute rounds. Kelly was loudly applauded for his brilliant performance, but to show appreciation of a gallant loser Keogh got a wonderful ovation. The Light Weight contest between A. Keohan, Dungarvan B.C. and J. Keogh, Waterford, was also a contest that thrilled the audience until Keogh hit the canvas towards the end of the second round.

The Middle Weight contest, J. O'Connell, Dungarvan v. S. Moore, Kilmacomas was a disappointing affair as Moore went down and retired in the first minute of the first round. The Heavy Weight contest, M. Lacey, Waterford v. G. Bennett, Cork, gave promise of thrills in the opening minute when Bennett full of fight and aggressiveness went into his man and knocking him clean off his balance sent him to the canvas for a count of five. Lacey was up again and after a 1-minute of cautious sparring got in a pile-drive which sent Bennett to sleep for the full count.

Mr. A. L. Archer, Secretary, Munster Council's A.B. Association in a few brief words thanked the audience for the wonderful support given to the tournament, and said it assured the amateur boxer that he had seen such a record attendance. He expressed his appreciation to the committee responsible for the tournament especially to Mr. Jim Patterson on whose shoulders fell the brunt of the work.

The officials were—Mr. J. J. Hurley, Timekeeper. Sergt. J. Spillane, Waterford, Referee. Mr. A. L. Archer, Secretary, Munster Council, Irish Amateur Boxing Association. Judges—J. O'Gorman, Dunlops B.C., Cork, and D. J. Fitzpatrick, Waterford B.C.

Five-Stone Contest—P. Dunne, Dungarvan B.C. beat P. Crowdy, Kilmacomas B.C. in this contest Dunne who won on points was heavier than his opponent.

Six-Stone Contest—P. Cummins, St. Patrick's B.C. beat P. Whelan, Dungarvan B.C. on points.

Seven-Stone Contest—B. Sheehan, Dungarvan B.C. beat J. O'Leary, Kilmacomas B.C. on points.

Eight-Stone Contest—P. Walsh, St. Patrick's B.C., Waterford beat M. Noonan, Dungarvan B.C.

Nine-Stone Contest—P. Daniels, Dungarvan B.C. beat E. Burke, St. Patrick's B.C., Waterford on points.

J. Dwyer, Dungarvan B.C. beat P. White, Waterford B.C.

Feather Weight—P. Redmond, St. Patrick's B.C. beat Val Forde, Dungarvan B.C. on points.

Light Weight—A. Keohan, Dungarvan B.C. beat J. Keogh, Waterford City B.C. on a technical knock-out in the second round.

Welter Weight—R. Kelly, Spartan B.C., Kilkenny beat D. Curtin, Cork B.C., on points.

Middle Weight—John O'Connell, Dungarvan B.C. beat S. Moore, Kilmacomas B.C. on a technical knock-out in the first round.

Light Heavy Weight—M. Dwyer, Dungarvan B.C. beat J. Gallagher, Kilmacomas B.C. who retired in the second round.

Heavy Weight—M. Lacey, Waterford B.C. knocked G. Bennett, Cork B.C. in the first round.

Sad Fate of Young Irish Seaman. Seaman James Kennedy, of the Irish Light's Commission vessel "Irene," lost his life in tragic circumstances at Waterford Quay on Tuesday last week.

When boarding his ship, shortly after 11 p.m., he apparently slipped off the gangplank, fell into the water, and was drowned. The body has not yet been recovered.

The deceased, who was a native of Dun Loaghair, was about 25 years of age, and was unmarried. It appears that with a shipmate, Joseph Byrne, he had been at one of the city picture houses, and was returning to his ship at about 11.15 p.m. when the tragedy happened. It is thought that the surging of the vessel, which is tied up at the Reginald's Tower pontoon, may have caused him to miss his step.

He fell into the water, and his comrade immediately raised the alarm. The cry of "man overboard" brought other members of the crew to the scene, and everything possible was done to locate and rescue the unfortunate sailor. Ropes were thrown into the water and a grappling hook was used, but to no avail; "Irene's" motorboat was launched and a search, hampered by the darkness, was made but Kennedy was not seen again. It is thought that the body was either swept down-river on the ebb tide, or was caught in the mud just below the vessel. Dragging operations were continued for some time.

Progress at Sean Treacy Park, Tipperary.

Much progress has been made on the erection of a very beautiful entrance to the Sean Treacy Memorial Park, Tipperary.

The completed work will be very imposing, having a frontage to the road of about 130 feet and containing four six feet entrances in addition to the main gate. The walls will be neatly paneled and the name of the Park will be set at the top of the new wall in large Gaelic letters of bronze.

It is a gift for which the County of Tipperary may well be thankful to the Sean Treacy Memorial Committee and the Munster Council.

HURLING TOURNAMENT. The new entrance will be completed for the big inter-county hurling tournament which will take place at the new Park on 12th May. The County teams of Cork, Limerick and Waterford have been granted permission from the Munster Council to take part in this tournament.

Unfortunately, the Tipperary Senior County team are engaged in the Monaghan Cup on the same date, but a strong team has been chosen to represent the county in the tournament and are expected to prove well up to the senior county standard.

Several of the selected team have already made appearances for the County. Cork, Waterford and Limerick teams will be at full strength.

The draw for the tournament is as follows: Limerick v. Tipperary. Waterford v. Cork.

In preparation for the tournament banking and internal improvements are being proceeded with, and the accommodation is being extended to hold upwards of ten thousand spectators.

BRITISH GALV. WIRE NETTING.

When you consider that you only purchase Galv. Wire Netting every other year it is up to you to purchase Netting that will give you the best wear. At the moment nearly every Merchant in EIRE is caught short owing to the war. Last year we purchased treble our requirements owing to rumours of war.

We are now in the happy position that we hold large stocks of the finest English Wire Netting, beautifully galvanized and stocked in every size. Last season Netting was so very much cheaper than it is to-day but as long as our present stocks last we will give all our customers the advantage of our early purchases. Let us know your requirements as early as possible if we are to supply you. Large stocks also of Barbed Wire, Interlocked Fencing, Chain Fencing and Fence Wire, both plain and galvanized.

Waterford County Board N.A. & C.A. (I).

Chief Supt. Duffy, Garda Síochana, presided over a meeting held at Park Hotel, Dungarvan, on Friday 19th inst., at which a large number of delegates from all parts of the county were present.

The following matters were under discussion: CROSS-COUNTY HURLING.

It was noted with satisfaction that this branch of sports was revived on both East and West of the county this year and it appears that when the season opens next year there will be keen rivalry for the twelve places to represent the county in the National Junior Cross-Country Race.

Much credit is due to the promoters of the race at Cappoquin on the 25th February, when a first event over a perfect course was staged at very short notice.

GRADING OF ATHLETES. Committee consisting of Chief Supt. Duffy, Rev. Fr. Tobin, C.C. Rev. Fr. Slatery, C.C. Sergt. J. Kelleher, Garda P. Mackey, and the Secretary, was appointed to go into the matter fully with the view of improving the standard of competition at sports meetings throughout the county.

COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIPS. It was decided to ask Lismore to accept the championships this year and the Secretary was asked to communicate with Garda Byrne.

FINANCE. A draw in aid of the Board was arranged and tickets will be on sale shortly. Each delegate and each club is asked to co-operate in making the scheme a success.

Since writing the foregoing we are informed that definite arrangements have been made by Garda Byrne, Lismore, to hold the Co. Championships at that venue on Sunday, June 9th, 1940.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT

While out on the hillside rabbit shooting with a .22 rifle on Sunday evening, Mr. M. O'Brien, Insurance Agent, Mountain Road, Clonmel, sustained rather serious injuries to the hand. At a fence the gun accidentally exploded, the bullet entering the palm of his hand and lodging in the wrist.

Mr. O'Brien was attended at St. Anne's Nursing Home on the Quay by Dr. Darling and Dr. Byrne, who removed some splinters of bone from the wrist. He was later removed to a Cork Hospital to have the bullet extracted.

The accident occurred in the vicinity of the Bagwell, whence Mr. O'Brien, though he must have been suffering great pain, walked home.

Of late the relations of Italy with Great Britain, to judge by the Fascist Press comments would seem to be worsening, but as yet there does not seem to be any indication that Italy will soon throw in her lot with Germany. If she does, however, Europe will be faced with still more tragedy, for Italy's entry would herald a spread of hostilities to that nerve-centre of Southern Europe, the Mediterranean. Great Britain seems to be preparing for any possible emergency by diverting her merchant shipping to the longer Cape of Good Hope route, and Italy is reported to be busily engaged in various movements of troops. Nothing, however, has occurred to cause what might be called serious tension. Italy's entry into the war on Germany's side might cause serious embarrassment not only to the allies but to herself. The nature of the situation which might face Great Britain has already been widely discussed, but it must be remembered that Italy's economic system is more vulnerable than that of Germany, and a blockade of Italy, if such a measure could be successfully accomplished by the Allied navies, would necessarily injure Germany's foreign trade. On the other hand Italy would cause a diversion in the Mediterranean to deal with which the Allies would have to withdraw portions of their forces from other points. All these considerations are apart from the main one which is that millions more of unfortunate people would be involved in the bloody struggle which has already drawn so many millions into its maw.

THANKSGIVING to the Sacred Heart for escape from injury Publication promised. "Dungarvan Observer," SATURDAY, MAY 4th, 1940. Italy's Position. Of late the relations of Italy with Great Britain, to judge by the Fascist Press comments would seem to be worsening, but as yet there does not seem to be any indication that Italy will soon throw in her lot with Germany. If she does, however, Europe will be faced with still more tragedy, for Italy's entry would herald a spread of hostilities to that nerve-centre of Southern Europe, the Mediterranean. Great Britain seems to be preparing for any possible emergency by diverting her merchant shipping to the longer Cape of Good Hope route, and Italy is reported to be busily engaged in various movements of troops. Nothing, however, has occurred to cause what might be called serious tension. Italy's entry into the war on Germany's side might cause serious embarrassment not only to the allies but to herself. The nature of the situation which might face Great Britain has already been widely discussed, but it must be remembered that Italy's economic system is more vulnerable than that of Germany, and a blockade of Italy, if such a measure could be successfully accomplished by the Allied navies, would necessarily injure Germany's foreign trade. On the other hand Italy would cause a diversion in the Mediterranean to deal with which the Allies would have to withdraw portions of their forces from other points. All these considerations are apart from the main one which is that millions more of unfortunate people would be involved in the bloody struggle which has already drawn so many millions into its maw.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES

The next big event of importance in Cappoquin will be the Scratch Races, under the popular auspices of the Cappoquin Rowing Club, on Whit Monday. The races, which are for the Rowing Club Challenge Shield and other valuable trophies, start at 5.30 p.m. (S.T.).

THE GRAND DANCE FOLLOWS.

On Whit Monday night a grand all-night dance will be held in the Boatshouse and another great night is assured to dancing fans in the ever popular centre. This dance promises to be even more successful and enjoyable than past functions and a record attendance is expected.

The members of the Cappoquin J.H. team are now in strict training for their forthcoming championship match with their Lismore neighbours. This match promises to be one of the best of the season.

The announcement that Mr. Paul Twomey, Youghal, had been appointed Manager of the Blackwater Valley Co-Operative Stores, Cappoquin, in succession to Mr. T. Gunning, caused much satisfaction in Cappoquin where, already, he is well and popularly known.

The Blackwater Valley Co-Operative Society have taken over the fine lime-stone quarry known as "The Rock" at Carrigleibine, near Cappoquin. The society intend to start burning lime on a large scale and for that purpose are repairing the disused kilns nearby.

A serious outbreak of fire occurred in Mellery district on Sunday last as a result of which the residence of Mr. Richard Ormond was completely destroyed. It appears that the family were at Mass in Mt. Mellery and when they returned the building and all the furniture in it was completely burned out.

On Sunday night last a number of dancing fans from Cappoquin attended the dance in Dungarvan Town Hall, and had a very pleasant time dancing to the excellent music of the "Twilight Serenaders" Dance Band.

A successful parochial concert was held in Aghlish N.S. on Sunday night last. Mr. Thomas Beston, Aghlish, was a capable M.C., and the attendance included Rev. Fr. Power, C.C. The programme included a play by Ardmore Dramatic Society and vocal and instrumental items by leading artists from Ardmore, Youghal, Villierstown and Ballinacorney.

The usual practice dance was held in the Boatshouse on Sunday night and there was a big attendance of patrons, all of whom had a very enjoyable time dancing to the strains of a first class orchestra. The Rowing Club amusements committee had all arrangements perfect.

We regret to announce the death, following a rather prolonged illness and at a comparatively early age of Mrs. R. Kelly, Woodhouse, Aghlish. A member of a well-known and highly respected family, deceased was a general favourite and her demise has caused general regret.

Three important second round scores of the above, took place last Sunday. In the first score J. J. O'Sullivan had an easy victory over W. McGrath and Mick O'Donnell. From the start to the finish Sullivan seemed a likely winner, and even though McGrath put up a plucky fight the issue was never in the balance.

Before the start of the bowling scores, a decade of the rosary, for the repose of the souls of Anthony D'Arcy and Jack McNeela (who recently died on hunger-strike) was recited by Liam O'Donnell, and answered by a large attendance of competitors and spectators.

Death of Mr. J. Murphy, Shanacune, Dunhill.

With sincere regret we chronicle the death of Mr. James Murphy, Shanacune, Dunhill, which sad event occurred at his residence on Thursday 18th inst., after a brief illness and fully fortified by the rites of Holy Church, to which he was ever devotedly attached. The news of his death was learned with regret amongst all sections of the community, both in his native district and the surrounding parishes, wherein he was well-known and highly respected for his probity of character and conscientiousness in the discharge of his spiritual and domestic duties and to which he strictly adhered, though some years over the allotted span, up to a few weeks previous to his demise. Deceased took an active interest in all matters appertaining to his natal district and his many friends will henceforth sense a void by the absence of his cheery word and kindly greeting. He survived by his widow, Mrs. Kate Dunphy; Messrs. John, Pierce, Michael and James Dunphy, Shanacune, and Mr. Maurice Dunphy, Worcester Mass., U.S.A.; Mrs. M. Phelan, Kilibarry; Mrs. G. Smyth, do.; and Mrs. P. McGrath, Worcester Mass., U.S.A. (daughters); Mr. M. Phelan, Kilibarry; Mr. G. Smyth, do.; Mr. P. McGrath, Worcester Mass., U.S.A. (sons-in-law); Mrs. M. Dunphy, Shanacune; Mrs. N. Dunphy, do.; and Mrs. M. Dunphy, Worcester Mass., U.S.A. (daughters-in-law); to each of whom genuine sympathy is extended in their sad bereavement.

On Friday evening the remains were removed to the Parish Church, Dunhill. The accompanying cortege was of very large dimensions, fully testifying to the popularity and esteem in which deceased was held by the neighbouring community. On Saturday morning the sacred edifice was filled to capacity during the celebration of Requiem Masses for the happy repose of the soul of deceased and subsequently at the graveside a vast concourse assembled to pay their last tribute to deceased's memory.

Rev. D. Morrissey, P.P., and Rev. D. Slattery, C.C., Dunhill, officiated at the obsequies. A number of Mass cards and floral tributes were laid on the grave and many messages of condolence have been received by the sorrowing relatives.

Three important second round scores of the above, took place last Sunday. In the first score J. J. O'Sullivan had an easy victory over W. McGrath and Mick O'Donnell. From the start to the finish Sullivan seemed a likely winner, and even though McGrath put up a plucky fight the issue was never in the balance. By his performance on Sunday last, Sullivan has enhanced his reputation as a bowler and is held to be a likely contender for the trophy.

There were 74 entries for the Dancing Championship of Deise at Waterford Fels. The winner was Cathal Smyth, Kilkenny, the runner-up being Marie de Balth, Clonmel. Jig and Reel (continued to boys)—1, M. Morrissey, Collins and Toms' School, Waterford; 2, T. PRETTY WEDDING IN EAST CORK
The wedding of Mr. "Willie" O'Neill, youngest son of Mr. William and the late Mrs. O'Neill, Douglas and Miss Annie O'Keefe, only daughter of Mrs. and the late Mr. William O'Keefe, Barnavidane, Inch, Killeagh, was solemnised in the Inch Roman Catholic Church, on Thursday, April 25th, by the Rev. Philip Mortell, C.C. The ceremony, with Nuptial Mass, was attended not only by the wedding guests but by practically all the people of the village, and by many others, for the bride, whose home is close by and whose people have lived here for generations, is extremely popular with everybody. She looked more charming than ever on Thursday morning in a close fitting floral coat of Mediterranean blue, over a lovely floral dress. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Kathleen O'Callaghan, Ballintoss, who wore a chic lido blue costume. The best man was the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Eugene O'Neill, and many of the friends and connections travelled all the way from Douglas, Ballintoss and Whitechurch to be present at the wedding festivities and to wish their kinsman and his bride happiness and prosperity in the new sphere into which they have entered. After the marriage, the guests, over fifty in number, were sumptuously entertained by the bride's mother and the time passed swiftly away with song and dance and until finally the happy couple had to tear themselves away to begin their honeymoon in Dublin and the west of Ireland. Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill were the recipients of numerous and costly gifts appropriate to the occasion and as a token of the respect and esteem in which they are deservedly held. We join with their legion of friends in wishing them years and years of happiness and bliss in the matrimonial state.

KILLEAGH NEXT SUNDAY
For generations back, Glenflower wood, on May Sunday, has been the chosen rendezvous of pleasure seekers in the south. Year after year they flock in ever increasing numbers to stroll along the leafy paths in which the place abounds or bask in the sunshine in some sheltered nook by the lake side. Nature's best landmark is everywhere and the blending of colours in the rapidly changing scenery is most striking. "No place else can charm the eye with such bright and varied tints, every rock that you pass by verdure borders or heath." The poet when penning those lines might have been thinking of this "beauty's home" in East Cork. From enquiries during the week I have learned that excursion parties from various centres have already made arrangements with restaurant keepers locally for accommodation, and it can also be stated with certainty that everything is in readiness to cater for any demands that can possibly be made for the comfort and convenience of tourists and strangers. The local G.A.A. committee have a most attractive programme which is bound to meet with general approval. Clays, the junior hurling champions of the county will be pitted against Brian Dillon's "A" team of repute, who are at the top of their form and have won some very important matches quite recently. As there is a valuable trophy to go to the winning team nothing will be left undone by either of the contesting teams to ensure victory. Besides there is an old rivalry in the way and an old score or two to wipe out so that patrons may be sure of thrills in plenty during the game which will be started punctually at 3.30 P.M. At the conclusion of this match Dungourney, last year's B. Grade champions will take the field against O'Neill-Crowley. This should prove a really exciting contest as both teams have matches to their credit in the present year's "A" grade championship. O'Neill-Crowley having defeated Youghal and Dungourney having vanquished Castlelyons. Both clubs are putting on their best teams and are equally confident of success.

DANCE AT BOHEMIAN HALL
Not the least of Sunday's attractions will be the dance at the Bohemian to which so many of our young people are looking forward. There will be two sessions, one in the early afternoon and the other in the evening. The floor is even better than ever and a first class dance band has been engaged.

LAST SUNDAY AT CASTLEMARTYR
In the new Gaelic Park at Castlemartyr last Sunday two important football matches were brought off. The first for junior championship honours was between St. Nicholas, a Cork City club of considerable skill, being practically a twin to the famous Glen Rovers hurling club and containing many of their best players including Jack Lynch, "Cooper" Moylan and Donovan, all of whom are members of Cork's inter-county team. Their opponents on Sunday were Imokilly, an East Cork selection. At the start it looked as if the city men would have an easy victory but as the game progressed and the county men got into their stride it became quite exciting. At the conclusion of the first half the score was— St. Nicholas, 2-3; Imokilly, 1-1. In the second half St. Nicholas had the better of the game and won on the score 3-6 to 2-1. M. J. O'Mahoney, Youghal, captained the Imokilly team which included several of his club mates. All the Youghal men played with decision and were amongst the very best on the field. O'Mahoney, O'Neill, Keane, Griffin (goal) O'Sullivan and Swaine were very good and should form the nucleus of a first-class football team at Youghal. Many of those who saw these men play on Sunday were of the opinion that if Youghal concentrated on Gaelic Football, a county championship would quickly be secured by them, and not for the first time.

"RANDUN V. AVONDBU.
In the second match, minor football, the city was represented by Seandun and their opponents Avondbu are a North Cork selection. There was really good football in this encounter and the pace was very fast all the way. Seandun were eventually declared the winners on the score, 3-6 to 2-1.

DISEASES OF ANIMALS COMMITTEE.

Commissioner S. J. Moynihan, Chairman, presided at the monthly meeting of the above held in the Courthouse, Dungarvan, on Saturday; other members present were Messrs. Thos. Flynn, P. B. Sheridan, P. J. Power, Nicholas Walsh, J. Cunningham, Jas. Fenlon.

COMMISSIONER'S MARRIAGE
On the proposition of Mr. N. Walsh, seconded by Mr. J. Cunningham, a resolution congratulating the Chairman (Commissioner Moynihan) on his recent marriage was passed, to which the Chairman suitably replied.

WAMBLE FLY ORDERS
The following letter was received from the Department:— Sir,—In connection with the employment by Local Authorities under the Diseases of Animals Acts of temporary Inspectors under the above mentioned Orders, I am directed by the Minister for Agriculture to state that in the event of a temporary Inspector being suspended from duty a substitute should not be appointed in his place pending consideration by the Local Authority and the Minister of any explanation the Inspector may offer.

In the case of the absence through illness of a temporary Inspector a substitute should likewise not be employed unless the absence is likely to exceed a fortnight. In this latter event the Minister would suggest that, in order to avoid delay, a suitable substitute be selected by the Secretary to the County Council as Chief Executive Officer, in consultation with the Chairman of the Council. The substitute so recommended should not however, be allowed to take up duty until the consent of the Minister has been obtained.

No payment should be made to a temporary Inspector in respect of any day during his period of employment on which he absents himself from his work. The daily rate of pay should be calculated on a 6-day per week basis.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant, D. Twomey.

The Secretary said he had written to the Inspectors as follows:— I have been notified by the Minister for Agriculture that no payment should be made to a temporary Inspector in respect of any day during his period of employment on which he absents himself from his work. Accordingly, Inspectors who absented themselves from duty on the 18th March, 1940 (Bank Holiday) cannot be paid for that day.

In the case of absence through illness, the fact should be reported to the Local Authority without delay, together with an intimation as to the probable duration of the illness—Yours faithfully, M. A. Foley, Clerk to the Local Authority under the Diseases of Animals Acts.

Mr. Flynn said that all agriculturalists should in their own interests carry out the Warble Fly Order. Only for the outbreak of the war the British Government would have stopped the export of all cattle affected with the Warble Fly. His (Mr. Flynn's) view is that our own Government is not taking this matter seriously enough. There is no doubt that the export of cattle affected with the fly will be stopped.

Mr. O'Donoghue, V.S., said he recently saw some stall-fed cattle from Wexford arriving in Clonmel and they were badly infested with the warble fly. They did not appear to have been dressed this year or last year.

Mr. Sheridan said the trouble as he saw it is that the Inspectors find it impossible to inspect the whole of their areas in seven days. Mr. O'Donoghue V.S. said he thought the trouble is due to the fact that the dressing is applied too weak.

Mr. Sheridan said it is impossible for the Inspectors to see all the cattle in their areas dressed, and in some cases they must take the farmer's word for it that the cattle were dressed.

Mr. Hynes, V.S.—As regards taking the farmer's word for it, that the cattle were dressed, if the cattle were properly dressed the Inspector would get the warbles dead after one week. As regards the wash, in the Lismore area it is most effective and apart from destroying the warbles, it kills the cattle of all lice, which particularly at this period of the year infest animals and retard their development.

SHEEP DIPPING
The Department wrote approving of the regulations for the compulsory dipping of all sheep in the county under supervision for the dipping period 1940. With regard to the resolution of the Committee passed at the last meeting, viz.: "That the Sheep Dipping period—1st August to 31st October—as prescribed in the Dipping Order, should, for Co. Waterford be altered to commence on the 1st July," the Minister wrote stating that, as at present advised, he sees no adequate reason for modifying the order as desired by the Committee.

SHEEP DIPPING INSPECTORS
All the sheep dipping inspectors for 1939 were re-appointed for 1940 with the exception of the Inspector in Lismore, for which Mr. Jas. Lynch was appointed.

SHEEP SCAB
Six new outbreaks of sheep scab were reported in the following areas: Carrick-on-Suir, Modeligo, Tallow (2), Cappagh and Ardglen.

TENDERS FOR SHEEP DIP
The tender of Mr. J. J. Crotty, Square, Dungarvan, for the supply of dip (Coopers) was accepted.

APPLICATION FOR REMISSION OF COSTS
The Secretary read an application from Mr. Jas. Keane, Ferry Point, Youghal, asking for a remission of costs imposed in connection with a dipping prosecution.

After a short discussion the Chairman said the Committee had no option in the matter as the amount was imposed by the District Justice.

ST. MOLANA ABBEY, Ballinratty, Co. Waterford.

There is an old tumbled down abbey lying there by the sea all alone. Whose memory in dirge or in ditty to honour what bard would discern? Its roofs are bereft of a rafter, its halls are unroofed and green. It stands a forsaken hereafter of all that of old it had been.

It was not with grandeur resplendent no treasure it boasted to prize. Its star never sought the ascendant to gleam in futurity's skies. Oh no, from the sordid a distance where heaven its peace ever wills. Content with a modest existence in scanty sweet of the hills.

Oh merrily the breezes played round it when roses were blooming and gay. Secluded withal but they found it, when roses had faded away. The song of the hills was within it, that song that a poet might sing. The rose soon returned and the linnets stole a note in advance from the spring.

Its monks from ages that are hoary their ways unobstructive defined. Oh, simple the annals of story they've left it unswayed behind. By them went the world unheeded, to them went the world unknown. For all that they cared how it speeded, they might have been one of their own.

The days of the abbey are over and no one will shed it a tear. The bees flies away from the clover, the meadow holds drooping and sere. And thus far away from the mainwain, unharoured, unseen and unsought, That ruin stands there by the water with no one to give it a thought.

WEST WATERFORD NEWS

ASHMORE PAROCHIAL CELEBRITY CONCERT.

On Sunday night next one of the greatest concerts ever held in these parts takes place in the N.S. Ashmore. The organising committee have secured the greatest variety of talent possible including leading vocalists and instrumentalists from Dungarvan, Villerstown, Ardmore, Youghal and other centres. One of the principal items on the programme is a three act play by the talented members of the Ardmore dramatic society and other star turns will be songs by Mr. James Keohan, Dungarvan (who is recognised as one of Ireland's leading tenors) and Mr. J. Conroy, N.T., the popular Villerstown vocalist. Accorded music will be supplied by well known players and step-dancing exhibitions will be provided by leading artists. The proceeds will be devoted to the Ashmore Parochial Fund and it is confidently hoped that there will be a big attendance to support this very deserving object. Patrons will be delighted with the feast of drama, songs, music and variety. Doors open at 8.30 p.m. (S.T.) and the programme opens at 9 o'clock. There is unlimited accommodation as Ashmore N.S. is one of the most spacious and comfortable in the county. It has had no rain.

KINSALEBEG-AGLISH HURLING TEAM GIVE GREAT DISPLAY.

On Sunday last the Kinsalebeg-Aglish junior hurling combination travelled to Knockanore to engage Moorehill in the initial round of the current year's championship and a thrilling game ensued between two well-matched combinations. Despite the wet soil, which militated against spectacular hurling the standard of play was excellent and fast striking and robust tackling was the order. Great credit is due to both combinations for their display, which thrilled the spectators and left the issue open until the final whistle.

In the first half Moorehill were superior and turned over with a score of two goals to nil. On the resumption Kinsalebeg-Aglish took up the running and subjected the opposing defence to great pressure. The Moorehill defenders proved sound but eventually had to concede a goal and a point. Play continued to be fast and exciting as the ball travelled from goal to goal. Both sides struggled desperately to supplement their scores but the defence proved sound and no more scores came. Moorehill were winners of a hard fought game on the score 2-0 to 1-1. Moorehill are a well-balanced combination that should go a long way in the championship. Kinsalebeg-Aglish are also a fine team and are somewhat unlucky to be defeated in the first round. Leading players on the side are Barron, Fitzgerald, Boston, Cotter, Meekill and McGrath.

CLASHMORE'S DEFEAT.

The defeat of Clashmore in the initial round of the junior football championship was rather unexpected. Big things were expected from Clashmore this year. The club received no less than eight transfers of leading players from other clubs and considering that there were two distinct teams in the parish last year it was generally believed that with this big selection, a team capable of winning the championship would be fielded. Furthermore in practice matches the Clashmore men showed good form. But all predictions were upset and Clashmore lost. Various reasons have been advanced for the defeat. Certainly a slight change in personnel or placings might have meant victory for the side. In addition the absence of D. Connors and M. Cunningham has a weakening effect. The future of the G.A.A. in Clashmore depends upon the youth and good club organisation.

KNOCKANORE'S CHANCES.

All join in congratulating Knockanore on their recent victories which were fully deserved. They were all the more meritorious in that Ardmore and Clashmore were stiff obstacles to overcome. Knockanore's chances for the future are bright, for they have a well organised team that is animated by the right spirit. With experience and practice they may develop into one of the best teams in Waterford. In the next round of the junior football championship Knockanore are pitted against their old sporting rivals, Ardmore. This match should prove one of the best of the year as both teams are determined to win and the issue is very open.

THE ARDMORE TEAM.

Thanks to perfect organisation and a grand spirit of comradeship, Ardmore possesses one of the most polished junior football combinations in the Division and if they strike form should go a long way in the championship. On the whole a youthful fifteen, they have a sprinkling of more experienced players such as K. Keane, D. O'Grady, M. Ryan and P. Flynn, and all can be relied upon to worthily uphold the honour of the historic village of Saint Declan. McGrath, Mulcahy, Quinn, Hourigan and all the others can hold their own with the best and their numerous supporters expect big things from them this year. To have Ardmore win a County Championship would be most popular in Gaelic circles. Such an achievement may not be far off.

DR. M. McCAGHEY.

Dr. Michael McCaghey, who for the past three months was on temporary duty at Ardmore, is a native of County Cavan and had a brilliant University course. He is a well known footballer and athlete and played football with his native county and also played with Ardmore. In a recent match. Some time ago he also acted in a temporary capacity in Clashmore. Both in Ardmore and Clashmore he was a great favourite and his numerous friends join in wishing him success and happiness in his new sphere. Dr. Noel Curran, a native of Orange, has assumed temporary duty in Ardmore.

GARDAI TRANSFERS.

Sergt. J. O'Leary has been transferred from Clashmore to Kildorrery, Co. Cork. During his time in Clashmore he proved himself a most efficient and courteous

G.A.A. NEWS.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Pike Superior to Dungarvan In All Departments.

PIKE, 3-1; DUNGARVAN, 0-2.

In spite of forecasts to the contrary the Pike junior football team were far superior to a fancied Dungarvan combination at Dungarvan last Sunday and ended an hour's keen play with an 8-point lead.

This year Dungarvan had an exceptionally strong team, further strengthened by a number of regraded and transferred players, the majority of whom are expected to appear on the senior team later in the season. A good crowd attended to witness the clash.

Playing with the wind, the Pike lashed in three goals in the first six minutes, and this lessened the interest of the spectators in the outcome. The swift attacking methods of the Pike gave the Dungarvan players few chances, and the latter were outpaced for the whole hour. All the Pike representatives, most of whom have had no practice since last year's championship, played exceptionally well, and with more practice should be equal to any junior team in the county this year.

Outstanding for the winners were—T. Fitzgerald, P. Daly, L. Fennell, M. Keane, M. Casey and J. Fennell. Dungarvan were best served by J. Moloney, J. Riordan, M. Landers and P. Lannon.

THE GAME.

The Pike winning the toss, and playing with a slight breeze were away from the throw-in and had two wides in quick succession. Fielding close up to the Dungarvan posts L. Fennell next tapped the ball into the back of the net. A minute later P. Daly received a pass about 30 yards from the Dungarvan goal and dodging two opponents he crashed in another goal, although Sean McCarthy who injured one of his hands in an attempt to stop the shot made a gallant effort to save. At this period the Pike men were playing exceptionally well and were putting the last ounce into every kick. Dungarvan were next penalised close in, and P. Daly taking the shot was repelled by J. Fennell who fluted in another goal.

Dungarvan got the ball away from the kick-out and play down to the other end, but although they pressed for a while they were unable to score and had to be content with wides, until the end of the first half when they had a point. T. Carbery, Dungarvan, retired injured and was replaced by V. Morrissey. Near half-time, Paddy Dunford had a point from far out, leaving the half-time score, Pike, 3-1; Dungarvan, 0-1.

SECOND HALF.

The Pike attacked from the throw-in, but J. Moloney and P. Walsh saved their end well, and play ranged up and down. Sean McCarthy, Dungarvan retired and was replaced by P. Cashin. Dungarvan fought hard for a score but the Pike backs were very sound. After quarter of an hour's play T. Dalton, Dungarvan retired injured and was replaced by J. Harrington. Dungarvan had another point. At this period J. Moloney was outstanding for Dungarvan and M. Landers and P. Lannon were also playing a great game.

Dungarvan pressed hard towards the end, but the Pike saved well from several misses in front of the goal. Tom Fitzgerald clearing to mid-field on three occasions. Larry Fennell, who despite a very ugly eye injury received in the first half in a collision with a Dungarvan player was playing a great game for the Pike, was next seen to advantage, when he brought the ball down three-quarters of the playing pitch. The Pike had two wides before the final whistle sounded. There was no further scoring. The final score was Pike, 3-1; Dungarvan, 0-2.

The game was refereed by Mr. Martin Curran, Brickey Rangers' Football Club. The Pike now meet their old rivals Faha in the second round of the current year's junior football championship. The Pike—M. Connors, M. Fennell, T. Fitzgerald, J. Collander, L. Fennell, M. Keane, J. Fennell, T. Cowman, M. Casey, J. Lynch, P. Dunford, Jas. Fennell, P. Lynch, P. Daly, T. Coughlin, M. Keane, M. Coleman, T. Sheridan, J. Moloney, M. Landers, J. Riordan, T. Murphy, M. Coleman, P. Lannon, T. Dalton, T. Curran, P. Walsh, J. Dwyer, T. Carbery.

Stradbally Outplayed In First Round Tie.

No lack of thrills and liveliness at Stradbally, where Faha deservedly a goal down at the interval, staged a clear margin of three points. Last Sunday was an ideal day for a football match. Sol set forth his rays in all his majesty, while a gentle south-western breeze had the effect of making everything peace officer and was a great favourite amongst all classes who now regret his departure and wish him well in his new sphere of duty. A native of Bantry, Co. Cork, Sergt. O'Leary, was recently married to Miss Mary Cunningham, Ballycurrane, Clashmore. Sergt. Kilbride, who has been transferred from Ballyduff, Co. Kerry, assumes duty at Clashmore Station. Sergt. Houlihan, Knockanore, has been transferred to a Co. Kerry Station and is replaced by Sergt. O'Brien. Sergt. Houlihan was most popular in the district and his numerous friends regret his departure and offer him their best wishes for the future.

VOCATIONAL CLASSES.

Successful classes in woodwork are at present being conducted in Ardmore and Clashmore by Mr. T. Murray, Instructor, Waterford County Vocational Educational Committee. At each centre there is a big attendance and the students are taking the greatest interest in their work. Irish courses are concluding at Ardmore, Ardmore, Mountstuart and Monstrea. At Clashmore the classes were conducted by Mr. Michael Foley, P.C., O.G., and Mr. Sean O'Halloran, P.C., O.G., Ex-M.C.C.C., conducted the classes at the other centres. At Clashmore the pupils learned an Irish play and a gasa of An Fainne was established, and a gasa of An Fainne was established. In all centres the pupils are taking the greatest interest in their knowledge of the Irish language.

CLOUBURST.

A veritable cloudburst occurred over Clashmore district on last Saturday afternoon. The downpour, which lasted for about an hour, did much damage to crops and caused severe flooding, fields being inundated and roads covered to a depth of about a foot.

COMFORTABLE FOR BOTH PLAYERS AND SPECTATORS.

Stradbally were at home to Faha in the initial round of this year's junior football championship at Stradbally, Waterford, and considerable local interest was centred in the clash. The gridiron (kindly lent by Mr. Charlie Crowley, Stradbally) was in the green style, and an appreciable large attendance of enthusiasts thoroughly enjoyed every minute of the mix. The antagonists appeared to be evenly matched in points of height and weight, and seemed well-balanced too in the qualities of activity, address and staying-power. The referee was our impartial friend, Mr. Sean Ormonde, N.T., Kilmacthomas, who is an adept at the business and a man fully acquainted with the latest rules and regulations of G.A.A.

The homesteaders, in all their pomp, took possession of the field at 3 p.m. and were not long after their opponents also showed up. A short interval having intervened after their advent on the arena, both teams lined up and the usual preliminaries having been gone through, our worthy referee set the sphere in motion at exactly 3.30 p.m.

Stradbally won the toss and decided to defend the village-side goal with the "fall of ground" in their favour. The wind, of course, proved of no advantage or disadvantage to either side. From the very outset of the battle it was plainly evident that both sides were determined to put forth every effort to win. Dick Fitzgerald and Kevin Whelan, combining nicely, soon had Stradbally attacking, but the Reds were prevented from scoring by the able defence of the Faha full, Frank Troy. Faha followed up and were accomplished some pushing play, when a free swung the leather back to their lines.

Tommy Power got possession to open the Stradbally attack, and the visitors again believed with a free-kick for a foul on the centre-back, Paddy Casey and Willie Curran advanced the ball beautifully. Foley brothers, Casey brothers and Dick Whelan were doing nice work for Faha. THE CONTENTING COMBINATIONS RESUMED.

The contenting combinations resumed in the best possible humour. Faha were quick to get the ball, and began an unrelenting onslaught. Stradbally's full (John O'Meara) effected a fine clearance. The ball was returned and Billy Connors sent well into the keeper's hands. In his position—Paddy Wall—was alive to the occasion and dexterously relieved his charge. Both sides had trees and leather ebbed and flowed the same time-limed centre, and football of a very high standard was being witnessed. Billy Connors, Willie Connors, and John Kieley figured in a nice piece of criss-cross play. Kieley drove in a "dinger", which rebounded from the cross-bar for a smart header by John Kieley. The ball was taken to the lovely "dropper" and bang the ball under the cross-lath. For the second time the teams were level and then were 24 minutes to go. John Kieley added a goal, but did some gallant play after the delivery. In fact, it was hard to pass judgment on the set-to at that stage, as the leather was flying from goal to goal alternately with no successful results. Eventually Tommy Power pointed, putting Faha ahead for the first time. Jim Connors (Stradbally) retired injured and was replaced by James McKeon. Intent on striking every nerve the Reds, continued for some minutes managed to take complete possession of the visitors' territory, but whether through excitement, or inefficiency to score, their efforts went very wide. The greatest credit is due to the Faha goalie and backs for the able manner in which they defended their goal. The Reds repeated onslaught of their adversaries at this period. Ultimately Tommy Coleman, John Burke, and Tommy Casey were the mainstay of a free with great speed. The ball reached Nicholas Casey, who sent over a delightful point from a somewhat acute angle on the right-hand side. Stradbally now needed a goal to gain a lead by the minimum margin, and they strove their utmost to notch it. The excitement was at its height, and the spectators followed every successful accomplishment on either side. When Mr. Ormonde breathed the "cease fire" blast, the total tottings of the test were:—Faha, 1-1; Stradbally, 1-1.

The difference in the score can by no means be taken into account as the standard for superiority, as both teams were finely matched. Their play possessed a brilliant future for them on the arena of action, if they continue to perform with such agility, skill and determination as they did on this occasion.

KILMACTHOMAS NOTES

DEATH OF MR. K. POWER.

We regret to record the death which occurred on Thursday last week after a comparatively brief illness, of Mr. Edmond Power, farmer, Kilmurrain, Kill. The deceased, who had but reached the moderately advanced age of 85 years, enjoyed widespread popularity, and much sympathy is felt for his wife and daughter in their sad bereavement and loss. Although of a quiet and retiring disposition, the late Mr. Power possessed many sporting proclivities, and in his heyday was a notably brilliant Gaelic football player and an all-round athlete of much merit. Deceased was a man completely devoid of guile; he had a deep-rooted affection for his native parish, and was indeed as fine a type of Catholic Gael as one could wish to encounter. The Light of Heaven to his gentle soul.

Accompanied by a large and representative cortege, the remains were removed from the residence on Friday evening to the Parish Church, Kill, where they were received by the Rev. M. Power, C.C., do., who recited the prayers of the dead.

The beautiful sacred edifice was filled to its doors at 10 o'clock next morning, when Solemn Office and Requiem High Mass were offered up for the happy repose of the departed soul. Father Michael Power, C.C., was celebrant of the Mass, and the priests assisting in the choir were—Very Rev. T. Galvin, P.P., Newtown; Very Rev. M. F. Hearne, P.P., Ballyduff-Portlaur; Rev. J. Halsey, C.C., Kilmacthomas; Rev. T. Power, C.C., Portlaur, and Rev. L. Vereker, C.C., do. Interment was subsequently made in the family plot in the adjoining cemetery, in the presence of innumerable relatives, friends and sympathisers amid many manifestations of profound grief. A number of lovely floral wreaths were laid on the grave, and many messages of condolence were received. The chief mourners were—Mrs. Bridget Power, Kilmurrain (widow); Mrs. J. Fullam, Carricklyane, Co. Wexford (daughter); Sergeant John Fullam, Garda Síochana Barracks, do. (son-in-law); Mrs. Fadden, Kill (sister-in-law); Messrs. John and Maurice Kieley, Dunabrin; Mrs. J. Hally, do.; Mrs. A. Rockett, Ballygarry, Kilmacthomas; Miss N. Murphy, N.T., Carranbane, Dungarvan, and Miss Mary Hickey (nurse), Portlaur (cousins and relatives).

Widespread sympathy is extended to Mr. William Burke, farmer, Scrahan, Kilmacthomas, on the death of his cousin, the late Mr. David Shanahan, of 433 N.E. Fremont Street, New York City, N.Y., U.S.A. The deceased, who was a native of the Deise, was in his 84th year. Surviving him are Mrs. Mary E. Merrick, Mrs. Nellie Schaefer, Mrs. Josephine Waterhouse, and the Misses Cecilia and Loretta Shanahan (daughters), and Mr. David F. Shanahan (son). Deceased was brother of the late Sr. St. James, Convent of the Holy Name, Drumcondra, Dublin.

PRETTY WEDDING AT KILBOSSANTY. St. Brigid's Parish Church, Killorossanty, was the centre of a pretty wedding on Tuesday morning's sparkling sunshine, when worthy members of two well-known families were united in matrimony, the contracting parties being Miss Ellie Walsh, Rathgormack, Stradbally, and Mr. John O'Mahony, Coolinohane, Kilmacthomas. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Hart, C.C., Carrick-on-Suir (cousin of the bride), assisted by Very Rev. J. Crotty, P.P., Killorossanty, and Rev. W. Meehan, C.C., do. The bride, who looked charmingly, was attended by her niece, Miss Madge O'Halloran, Lauretum House, Clashmore (West Waterford), as bridesmaid, and the best man was Mr. John Crotty, Leamybrien (nephew of the groom). After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, where more than fifty guests were entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Mahony, who were the recipients of a large array of beautiful gifts on the auspicious occasion, left in the afternoon for Dublin on their honeymoon. Both enjoy much popularity and have the best wishes of countless friends for a happy future.

KILMACTHOMAS APRIL FAIR.

Held on Tuesday, above was well supplied in all sections, and the usual buyers were in attendance. Trade in all classes of store cattle was buoyant at advancing values. Aberdeen-Angus and Hereford crosses were in special request for export. Home feeders purchased two-year-old bullocks for dehorning at high rates. The number of fat beasts on offer were in demand principally for the local victualling trade and prices remained firm. Springing cows and heifers changed hands somewhat slowly at moderate figures. The sheep department was composed chiefly of store hoggets, with some fat sheep and young lambs. All classes met a good selling trade and satisfactory sums were secured. Pigs piled a pretty brisk business. Calves, under 1 month, £3 10s. to £4 10s.; 1 to 9 months, £5 to £7 10s.; store cattle, 9 to 12 months, £8 10s. to £9 15s.; 12 to 15 months, £11 15s. to £13; 15 months to 2 years, £14 10s. to £16; 2 to 3 years, £19 to £21; 3 years and over, £20 to £23; fat cattle 3 years and over, £24 to £30 10s.; cows and bulls, £15 to £21; springers (cows and heifers), £20 to £24; pluck cows, (down calves), £17 to £21; store lambs (under 12 months), long wools, 14/- to 21/-; store sheep, 1 to 2 years, long wools, 54/- to 65/-; downs and crossbreds, 50/- to 63/-; 2 years and over, long wools, 70/- to 100/-; young pigs (under 12 weeks), 30/- to 37/6; store pigs (12 wks. to 4 months), 40/- to 47/6; 4 months and over, 48/- to 65/-.

Austrian Charged Under Aliens Act.

Landed on the Waterford coast at night from an unknown boat which he had boarded at Antwerp, and making his way to Dublin in wet and torn clothes was part of the extraordinary venture undertaken by a middle aged Austrian, Ernst Weber Drol, who was charged at Dublin District Court on Wednesday with having, in contravention of the Aliens Act, landed in Ireland without authority. He had reported himself to the Aliens Office in Dublin in February last.

He told the story that he had come to Ireland to see his two sons, who he understood had been in this country for some years. He had been put ashore from a small boat at Waterford having left Germany without permission. It was stated that defendant had been a champion wrestler and had taken part in the International Exhibition in 1907.

The Justice said that it was very difficult to understand how this man's wife had given him £4.0 of her American money to come to Ireland to see his children here. The State had not been put to any expense in connection with the case and he was taking the view that the man must be feeling mental to have embarked on the adventure he had undertaken. He imposed a fine of £3.

EARLY SPRING.

Successful gardeners plan ahead—that is one reason why they are successful. An early Spring does not catch them unprepared. They have settled beforehand the seeds and bulbs that they intend to grow. They have decided the number and kind of garden tools that are required. Some garden experts have predicted an early Spring, so like good campaigners, they have purchased their simple tool needs already, and the assurance of July weather in March would not furrify them a bit. They are prepared. You, too, may need a spade, a rake, a digging fork or a trowel. A spade saves so much work when anything more than a bucketful of earth has to be removed, a rake save so many backaches and so many minutes that can be turned to productive work, a digging fork is indispensable for it saves you literally, from cutting away the roots of your horticultural hopes, a trowel is the inseparable companion of the digging-fork and the necessary small brother of the spade. Why not get one or more of these tools now at Harpur Bros. and be prepared. Harpurs have everything for the garden at all prices.

LISMORE NOTES

VILLIERSTOWN v. LISMORE. At Lismore Gaelic Field, on Sunday last, the local lads safely cleared the first hurdle in the junior football championship by defeating Villierstown by three points to nil.

After ten minutes play, M. Whelan opened the scoring for Lismore with a point. Villierstown fought back and pressed hard for some minutes but still failed to score. A good passing movement in which Lyons, Brien and Ryan figured, resulted in another point for Lismore per Whelan. Just before the half-time whistle, Whelan sent the ball over the bar to increase the lead. The half-time score was Lismore, 0-3; Villierstown, nil.

On the resumption Villierstown swept along the wing, but their forwards drove wide. Rain was now falling and it made matters extremely difficult for the combatants. The visitors strove with might and main to wipe out the lead and snatch a late victory, but all their onslaughts were repulsed by Moore, Regan, Glasse and Vaughan. Lismore made desperate attempts to increase their slender lead, but a greedy ball and the close marking of the Villierstown backs foiled all their efforts.

Bill Moore (Lismore) was the best footballer of the thirty. His accurate kicking and defence tactics thrilled the spectators. Brien and Moore did well at mid-field, while Whelan, Lyons and Ryan were the best of the forwards. Outstanding for Villierstown were the Morrissey brothers, English and Scanlan at centre-field and Lewis and McGrath in the attack.

INTERESTING TOURNAMENT. A nine-a-side junior hurling tournament, under the aegis of St. Carthage's mill hurling and football club, will be played at Lismore on Sunday, May 12th, 1940. Six teams will participate and the winners will receive a valuable set of medals.

The following are the draws:—(A) Lismore v. Ballyduff, referee, J. Mason; (B) Cappoquin v. Faugh-Béalagh, referee, J. Byrne; (C) Moorehill v. Talloe, referee, M. V. O'Donoghue. The winners of A and B will meet in the semi-final, while the winners of C will have a bye into the final. Thirty minutes is the time allowed for each match. The first match will commence sharp at 2 p.m. (S.T.) and all teams competing are kindly requested to be on the playing pitch, as early as possible. By so doing they will greatly facilitate matters for St. Carthage's committee, and all unnecessary delays can thus be avoided.

St. Carthage's, since it was established, 8 years ago, has always been a credit to the Association, and has remained steadfast to its ideals, aims and principles. The members have also given a good account of themselves on the playing field, having captured county honours three during that time. They have sponsored this forthcoming tournament, thereby hoping to augment their finances. Their means of acquiring financial aid are very limited, and as they will have heavy travelling expenses during the year, I make a special appeal to the Gaels of Lismore and the surrounding districts to come in their thousands on May 12th, and support a worthy cause.

R.I.P. The death of Mr. Patrick Morgan, Roundhill, Lismore, took place at his residence on Monday, April 29th, 1940. Deceased, aged 70, was a kindly neighbour, and ranked high in the estimation of his many friends. He had been ill for the past 12 months, and fortified by the Rites of the church he was called by his eternal reward. His passing is deeply felt by his sorrowing wife and relatives.

The remains were removed to St. Carthage's Cathedral on Tuesday evening, and on Wednesday afternoon the funeral proceeded to the Parish Cemetery, where he was interred in the presence of a host of friends and relatives.

Rev. Father Murphy, C.C., Lismore, officiated at the graveside.

ITEMS OF INTEREST. A number of young boys and girls from the Convent School, Lismore, received their first Holy Communion on last Sunday morning.

On Sunday next, May 5th, at 12 noon, the Devotion of the Forty Hours will commence in the Parish Church, Lismore. The faithful are exhorted to come and adore the Most Blessed Sacrament.

The dead civilians are Mr. Frederick W. Gill (52), retired wood merchant, and his Australian-born wife, Mrs. Dorothy Gill. There seems little doubt that the raider was attacked and disabled by British fighter aircraft while on a mine-laying expedition, and it is believed the pilot was trying to come down on the sea near the shore. Instead, after circling overhead for about half an hour he crashed some 200 yards from the sea at the junction of two roads, near the High Street. Clanton's principal shopping thoroughfare. A few moments later there was a terrific explosion, causing houses to collapse like packs of cards, shattering hundreds of windows, and scattering thousands of tiles. Simultaneously the Heinkel's petrol tank burst into flames and became a raging inferno.

German Plane Crashes. Two civilians—a man and his wife—and the crew of four Germans, were killed; and 156 persons injured, 34 of them seriously, when a Nazi Heinkel bomber, thought to be laden with mines, crashed into a street in Clanton-on-Sea just before midnight last Tuesday night, and exploded to great death and destruction over a wide area.

For many hours it was believed that a third civilian was killed. The number of injured was also in doubt until the Ministry of Home Security on Wednesday night issued the following announcement:—

"It has been established that the number dead is six, including four Germans. The injured number 156, 34 cases being serious."

KNOCKANORE NOTES

MOOREHILL, 2-1; AGLISH-KINSALE, BEG, 1-1. One of the finest matches ever seen on the local pitch took place on Sunday last when Moorehill defeated Aglish-Kinsale in the first round of the junior hurling championship of the West. Great interest was displayed in the encounter and as splendid weather conditions prevailed previous to it, the crowd who witnessed it was large and representative. When the teams "stripped for the fray" general opinion favoured the chances of Kinsale-Beg-Aglish. They had the advantage of weight, size and experience, and on the whole, they looked the winners. However, the game was not long in progress when it was evident that Moorehill would take some beating. There was no finching, little loose play and no player gave the ball without fighting for it. Play varied from end to end of the pitch with little advantage to either side.

Moorehill favoured with the wind attacked first. They held the ball in the Aglish-Kinsalebeg area and brought out the best of Barron brothers and Beston. Barron made some fine clearances while Beston drew attention with his sure picking and striking. Neville sent Moorehill attacking but a few opportunities being lost, the ball was cleared. A free to Kinsalebeg-Aglish about forty yards out was taken by Eddie Beston who landed a well-judged shot on the square. "Sonny" Murray relieved the situation but Aglish-Kinsalebeg retailed with another attack. What looked to be a goal, was ended in grand style by "Schoolboy" Pender, who began to show coolness which was hardly expected. T. Gray (Moorehill) took up the running and drove to Baldwin. Baldwin doubled on the shot and sent to J. O'Donnell who, amidst tremendous cheering registered the first score of the day. The sight of a green flag brought double confidence to the Moorehill camp and they kept up the pressure. In a violent effort to increase the score, one of their forwards was wounded. He resumed again and play was concentrated at centre-field for a while. There were fast exchanges in which Beston, Murray (sen.) and Neville figured and T. Geary led another attack which resulted in a spectacular goal. Moorehill continued pressing but the Aglish-Kinsalebeg-Aglish made a number of dangerous attacks. At the interval the teams stood—Moorehill, 2-1; Kinsalebeg-Aglish, nil.

Although Moorehill were leaders by a good margin many feared that they would perish with the turn of the tide. Kinsalebeg-Aglish had the wind but heavy rain had set in and more or less destroyed its advantage. Despite the fact that the ground was heavy, play remained brisk and lively and there were moments when the hurling reached a high standard. Both teams were matched as hurlers but Moorehill possessed greater staying power. A goal by Kinsalebeg-Aglish forward gained possession and scored a point from a difficult angle. Kinsalebeg-Aglish had yet another hope and strove to make the best of it. They forced a seventh which was handled once more by E. Beston. As the ball landed, their forwards swarmed in to send it home but "Schoolboy" Pender turned to the field and Neville (Moorehill) snatched the ball and drove a steady shot towards the Kinsalebeg-Aglish sticks. Fierce excitement reigned as the Kinsalebeg-Aglish goal-keeper caught the ball, but fell in the effort to clear it. A goal seemed inevitable, as a mass of Moorehill stalwarts rushed in. A back, however, met a chance shot and drove the ball. In the closing stages Kinsalebeg-Aglish made a grand rally and forced two successive seventies. They were rewarded by a goal but it was too late to make up lost ground. Moorehill were deserving winners on the score, 2-0 to 1-1.

From such a small area as Moorehill 'cheer' selection was one to be proud of. In fact every man of the thirty played a good hard game of clean hurling. The local club had their pitch in excellent condition while Mr. M. Neville was a capable and impartial referee.

KNOCKANORE v. ARDMORE, BUT WHERE? In the second round of the junior football championship Knockanore are to meet Ardmore. The news that such old time rivals should clash again met with general approval, but not so much the news that they are to meet in Ardmore. It is hardly fair to expect that Knockanore would travel such a distance to play another team on their own pitch, while it could have been avoided. It is too true that the task of the Western Board to comply with the entire wishes of individual clubs is a hard one, and it is useless to find fault, when a small alteration would have saved much inconvenience. Ardmore deserve a match as well as any of the County clubs but a match between any of their neighbouring teams would have suited their team on it, and the decision can hardly be accepted.

While the fragments of the warplane's cargo of bombs and mines lying in all directions started a number of fires. Between 25 and 30 houses were completely wrecked, and more than fifty rendered uninhabitable. Backs and front-sheds came tumbling down. Great cracks appeared in the walls. Roofs were opened to the sky; and piles of debris littered the streets.

German Plane Crashes. Two civilians—a man and his wife—and the crew of four Germans, were killed; and 156 persons injured, 34 of them seriously, when a Nazi Heinkel bomber, thought to be laden with mines, crashed into a street in Clanton-on-Sea just before midnight last Tuesday night, and exploded to great death and destruction over a wide area.

THE DAIL.

In the Dail on Wednesday, Mr. P. J. Little (Minister for Posts and Telegraphs) moved a vote of £47,150 for wireless broadcasting. The total of the estimate, Mr. Little said, was £70,650, an increase of £1,347 on last year. Programme costs for 1939-40 were £22,600. The revenue shown an increase of £123,000, showing a surplus of, approximately, £23,750. Over the entire period since the service was established there had, however, been a considerable net deficit on the service. Additional time up to a maximum of one hour a day was made available last October for the broadcast of sponsored programmes, confined to the advertisement of Irish enterprises. Two companies availed themselves of the opportunity at the outset. Strong and unexpected opposition to the scheme, organised mainly by the Irish newspapers, who were apprehensive of possible adverse effects on their revenue from advertising, manifested itself, and, in consequence, he considered it advisable to give instructions, that, pending further examination of the whole sponsored programme position by the Government, no further commitments should be entered into. Contracts which had already been made could not, of course be disturbed, and they would accordingly operate for at least their normal period. Whether it would be possible to extend them would depend upon the Government's attitude upon the sponsored programme question generally.

The broadcasting revenue for the current year was originally estimated at £121,500, made up of £90,500 from licence fees and £31,000 from advertisements and other items. That estimate assumed that the Hospitals Trust sponsored programme would continue. It, and one of the other advertisers, ceased on 31st ult., and as a result broadcasting revenue for the current year would amount to approximately £10,000. Licence holders had increased by 15,600 last year, bringing the total to 169,697. Every effort was being made to provide entertaining and cultural programmes of high standard and variety consistent with the resources available. The Irish language was being used to an increasing extent in the programmes and the extended use of Irish music was being encouraged. There was a scarcity of Irish music, orchestrated and arranged, and he hoped that Irish composers would extend their efforts to meet the demands of the broadcasting service.

Professions and Receptions at Ferrybank Convent.

The beautiful Chapel of the Convent of the Sacred Heart of Mary was the scene of impressive ceremony on Saturday last, when His Lordship Most Rev. Dr. Collier, Bishop of Ossory, officiated at the profession and reception of a number of young ladies into the Order.

Armagh), Sister Finbar (Miss Mary O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill, Castlegorey, Co. Kerry).

Economic Management of Poultry.

In view of the prevailing high prices of feeding stuffs poultry keepers should make every effort to conserve supplies and to utilize to the best advantage the food available. As well as the actual wastage caused through careless feeding methods there is, on many farms, considerable indirect wastage in the retention of birds that do not lay eggs in sufficient quantity to pay for the food they consume. The maintenance of stock of poor productive quality, or of old and unhealthy birds, is responsible for decreased profits. The practice of hatching should be discontinued as late pullets do not usually lay in winter when returns from eggs are most profitable.

The more general use of large range methods of poultry keeping would result not only in appreciable saving in feedings, but would also have a beneficial effect on the health of the birds.

Information regarding the best methods of management is given in Special Leaflet No. 6 "Hints on Poultry Management," copies of which can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Agriculture.

NOTICE—Any Person found trespassing on the lands of Lognagushaue and removing turf will be prosecuted after this date by the personal representative of John Drohan, deceased.

THE KITCHEN GARDEN.

All gardeners will be very busy now. In March the soil remained sticky and cold, and the few night frosts did not improve matters. This has caused seed sowing to be sadly in arrears, but vegetable growers need not be discouraged. The sun has much more power now and its warmth stays longer in the earth before nightfall, which means that seeds will all the more quickly spring into growth. Here are some hints about planting for those who have not yet been able to get this work done owing to unfavourable conditions.

As it is important to grow increased supplies of such vegetables as possess the greatest food value, we should be wise to cut down the space for summer crops, such as broad beans, scarlet runners, peas, and summer cauliflowers so as to make room for more carrots, Brussels sprouts, or leeks.

Of these crops it is especially wise to increase considerably our onion plots. There are two points to remember about onions—they must be a firm seed bed and they will not do in an un drained or swampy place.

Almost any soil suits the onion, but it cannot do with rank or strong manure. Loading the ground with that sort of manure merely means that the bulbs will be stiff-necked and probably will never ripen, or if they appear to be sound they will rapidly decay. A good manure to give your onion plot is a mixture of salt and soot sprinkled over the ground just after you have given the last raking; this prevents both rot and canker.

TREATMENT FOR CARROT FLY. It will also be desirable to put in an extra breadth of main crop carrots. Wood ashes are a particularly valuable manure for these. If you are bothered with this pest, the carrot fly, moisten sand with paraffin oil and lay a thin line along each side of the rows. This prevents the fly from reaching the plants and laying its eggs thereon. If your soil is shallow and loose, sow shorter varieties, or stump-rooted kinds; if heavy, long kinds are better.

Beets, too, are a valuable crop. Sow the round kinds for shallow soil, for the long varieties want a deep and well-worked soil. No fresh manure should be used for this crop, but if it needs a stimulant a little old (really old) poultry manure can be sprinkled in the row.

Parsnips are sometimes attacked by the carrot fly also. A solution made of soap and hair and a pint of paraffin mixed in about ten gallons of boiling water can be sprayed on when cool. It is not advisable to leave them on the ground until wanted as this means a waste of ground which should be planted up. Parsnips will keep quite well if stored in dry sand.

Turnips, while useful as a summer vegetable do not keep very well; but swedes do, so a patch of garden swedes should certainly be put in.

As to green vegetables, I recommend allowing considerably more ground to Brussels sprouts and curly kale, as both these stand up against a hard winter, which too often ruins autumn cauliflowers. All ground on which such green food is to be grown should be dressed with lime.

Have you put in plenty of early and late varieties of savoy? If not, I recommend you to sow at once as they contain immense stores of mineral salts and vitamins. And do not forget to sow extra parsley. This is always a good stimulant, and if chopped finely makes all vegetables yield more of their food values. Try it added to cabbage, parsnips, and, in fact, any greens.

American Appointment.

From an American Newspaper we take the following:—Mr. John Hearne, 25, San Francisco Attorney, who recently was admitted by the State Bar, received word by telegram on Saturday from Washington that he had been appointed as a Junior Attorney in the Department of Justice at Washington. He was asked to report for work as soon as possible. The telegram was signed by Norman Littell, Assistant Attorney General at Washington. He leaves here on Sunday for Washington to take up his new position. Last year Hearne received his early education at Northrup Burlingame High School, University of San Francisco and Stanford University Law School. He had achieved his education and the opportunity to go to this fine position in Washington through his own efforts and without pull or favour and presents a fine example of what can be accomplished "through sheer ability and hard work."

Increasing Grassland Yield.

The Minister for Agriculture desires to impress on farmers the necessity in present circumstances of increasing the yield from grassland. Whether the grass is to be grazed or converted into hay or silage the yield will be considerably increased by applying at this season 1 cwt. of Sulphate of Ammonia per statute acre.

Ample supplies of this manure are available in the country and farmers are strongly advised to use the above quantity at least on the portion of their old grass land intended for hay or silage.

Waterford 200 Years Ago.

The owners and the occupiers of the soil. I have to present a picture of more varied outline, more complicated in its light and shadows, more difficult to comprehend and interpret. Materially I have reason to believe the condition of the mass of the tenant farmers corresponds with that of the country around, which, though not cultivated or improved to anything like a high point, wears on the whole a look of prosperity. In this, as in other parts of Ireland, the land twenty-five years ago was engaged to a great extent by cottiers, whose intense competition caused rents to be extravagantly high, and also considerably diminished the proper area of legitimate and remunerative husbandry. This class has now, for the most part, disappeared, and though the change was necessarily accompanied by an immense amount of suffering and cruel wrong, the benefit which has resulted from it cannot be questioned.—The land in this country is now held in farms varying from one hundred to ten or even five acres in size, twenty and thirty acres being common; and, from every inquiry I have made, the occupiers as a rule, are reasonably thriving. This is, as I have said, but little tillage, the great staple being dairy produce; and at the average prices of the last ten years, this mode of farming has been extremely profitable. In fact, though the homesteads and farm offices are seldom well built, and though the farmers are disinclined to exhibit the outward signs of wealth, it is impossible not to see that they are at present comfortable; and I have been informed, on the very best authority, that many of them have large sums in the banks, and what I was very glad to hear, that the small holders were doing as well as the large. As for the rate of rent, I do not think it high, though I have heard some complaints of rack rents, these instances, I am convinced, are exceptional, and rents are generally paid without difficulty. From a comparison, moreover, of different periods, I am satisfied that the burden of rent on the tenant has been steadily diminishing; and, though rents have been gradually rising, I do not think, as a general rule, they are as high as might have been expected. In the days of Arthur Young, the rent in this county was from 15/6 to 30/; the Irish acre, from 9/ to 30/; the English; when the Devon Commission held its enquiry it had risen from 30/ to £3; that is, taking the above proportion, from about 18/ to 36/; it is now, probably, from 36/ to £3 5s. or in other words, at the same scale, from 4/ 3s. 7d. to 40/; the English acre. In the days of Arthur Young the price of farm produce were not much more than a third of what they are at this time; the average amount of produce raised was not probably more than two-thirds; and at the period of the Devon Commission the rate of prices and the sum of the produce were, perhaps, 20 per cent. less than they are at present. It follows that the real pressure of rent is considerably less in 1869 than it was in 1879 or in 1844; and though the ground is not so fertile as it used to be, I have no doubt as to the general conclusion.

"Do not hesitate, then, to assert that the occupiers of the soil are, in a material respect, far better off, by no means an unprosperous class. Yet the resources of the country are not half developed; its wealth is not its natural fertility, and not much to the industry of man; and its agriculture is backward, and, in most cases, what may be called its agricultural plant and fixed capital is of an inferior description. Nor are the farmers, as a body, contented; they are, many of them, dissatisfied in a vague way; they put forward several distinguished grievances; they are not as yet a distinct class in England is, conservative in feeling. With some not inconsiderable exceptions, and those chiefly of modern date, all that has been done here for the improvement of the land, the draining, enclosing, and building of farmsteads, has been the work of the occupiers, not of the owners; and though the occupiers, during their tenancies, have, of course, received the accruing benefit, they complain that, as a general rule, they have obtained no allowance or compensation. They say, moreover, that, in some instances, their rents have been actually enhanced in consequence of what they have done; and that they are discouraged from improving by a general apprehension of such a result; and, though I have not been able to find out any well-substantiated cases of such injustice, I have little doubt that some might be discovered. Furthermore, leaseholders are exceedingly few; the tenancies are all at will, determinable at a six months' notice at quit; and, though I can affirm with confidence that no general system of oppression exists, and that evictions from land are rare, it is evident that under these conditions of tenure, the tenants are at the mercy of the landlords; and it is quite certain that some members of this class, united by kindly associations and feelings with that in complete subjection to it, another circumstance connected with the system of tenure requires particular attention. On many tenants the majority of estates, an outgoing tenant is accustomed to sell the good-will of his interest; very large prices are paid in this way for holdings usually only at will, and though legally a purchaser acquires no new right, it is impossible to satisfy him that by his outlay he has become virtually a part proprietor. In most instances, this tenant-right is purchased by the landlords with retention of the good-will of the interest; and large prices are paid in this way for holdings usually only at will, and though legally a purchaser acquires no new right, it is impossible to satisfy him that by his outlay he has become virtually a part proprietor. In most instances, this tenant-right is purchased by the landlords with retention of the good-will of the interest; and large prices are paid in this way for holdings usually only at will, and though legally a purchaser acquires no new right, it is impossible to satisfy him that by his outlay he has become virtually a part proprietor.

"These facts just account, I think for a great deal of the dissatisfaction that may be observed among the farming classes, and for much of the backwardness of the country. When moral divisions, broad and deep, keep the owners and occupiers of the soil apart,—when large tracts are deprived of the presence of those whose duty it is to make the relations of landlord and tenant gracious,—when the delicate but all powerful chord of sympathy is wanting to knit a community together,—when it is in the power of a dominant class to appropriate the fruits of the industry of others, and to enforce a law of "sic non voluit," when examples of this wrong may be cited, when those with whom more than any other class the prosperity of a district rests are legally in a state of mere dependence, and hold the land by a precarious tenure,—and when it is possible to confiscate rights gained morally by purchase, it is easy to see that the elements of content and of the general welfare are extremely deficient, and it is necessary, to effect this result, that oppression or wrong should be generally exercised; the mere existence of this state of society, the apprehensions it inevitably casts among those who may suffer from it, the certain check it imposes on industry, are quite sufficient to retard progress and to create a sentiment of angry irritation. It should be observed, moreover, that this very feeling is not unlikely to co-exist with a certain amount of material prosperity; indeed, the sense of inferiority and subjection engendered by this condition of things would more deeply a class that has fallen in some degree in the social scale than one sunk in mere abject wretchedness.

Small Turkeys Will be Wanted.

"Turning now to the relations between the owners and the occupiers of the soil. I have to present a picture of more varied outline, more complicated in its light and shadows, more difficult to comprehend and interpret. Materially I have reason to believe the condition of the mass of the tenant farmers corresponds with that of the country around, which, though not cultivated or improved to anything like a high point, wears on the whole a look of prosperity. "Do not worry too much about the size of the breeders. In the 20 days the price of class for birds of 10lb. to 14lb., and these weights can be secured without difficulty from breeding stock of moderate size.

TESTING THE MATINGS. In order to make certain that the matings are satisfactory, as much time as can be lost through the birds failing to produce fertile eggs. I have found that this risk is minimized when young sire's are used. In addition, the 30lb. to 40lb. stage is apt to damage the back females when mating, and such accidents can be avoided by using smaller males.

Eggs can be incubated in the ordinary incubator under hens and in both cases the hatching is simple enough. Hens should be allowed off the nest once daily for about ten minutes, corn and water being available for them. Select good-broodies that can hatch out the month of incubation and still have enough flesh to brood the chicks successfully afterwards.

If the chicks are hatched in an incubator, I suggest turning them three times daily up to the date of chipping, and allowing no times for cooling during the first fortnight. After this cooling for 10 to 15 minutes on the day is advised.

Moisture is essential all through the incubation period. During the last week extra moisture is recommended, and this can be supplied either by sprinkling the eggs with warm water or by placing a flannel saturated with hot water over the eggs and leaving it on for ten minutes. This should be done after the tray has been replaced.

When it comes to brooding the incubator hatched turkeys I favour rearing my birds in small units in an adaptable hovey. A hundred-chick size hovey of this type will accommodate 50 turkeys chicks all through the brooding period.

Turkeys can be reared intensively from day-old to maturity, provided that the right amount of floor space is allowed and the rations are blended properly. In the event of the land being unsuitable, or infested with blackheads, the intensive methods should be followed. Provide each turkey chick with 1 1/4 sq. ft. of floor for the first month, 3 sq. ft. for the second, 4 sq. ft. for the third, and for the rest of the period 6 square feet.

With the shortage of ordinary poultry stock it might prove economical to use some of the largest hen breeds for turkey rearing. This method has been tried with success. Where, however, the house is provided with glass fronts sun parlours should be attached to enable the birds to obtain the maximum amount of sunlight. As a rule, the 10lb. and 14lb. ratios fed to the general poultry trade are suitable for the needs of the turkey, but this year it will be a case of taking the bird's choice. It should be possible to obtain some proportion of wheat, which can be used as a cereal and also in the form of meal.

In the event of one being able to secure the following ingredients, use them in these proportions: Weatings 6 parts, bran 4 parts, maize meal 4, Soyabean Ground 2 parts, 2 lucerne meal 1, white fishmeal 1, dried skim milk 1, cod-liver oil 1 pint, 100lb. mash. This mash can be used as a dry for the first ten weeks, with broil wheat morning and evening.

FOAL LOSSES REDUCED.

Germes of Navel-ill or J-ant-ill in foals are widely distributed in nature, but they become concentrated in horse yards, baling boxes, and small paddocks which are continually, and foals born in such places are therefore exposed to far more risk than when dropped in the open field.

Every case of the disease, which occurs on a farm adds to the already existing infection until a time may arrive when it becomes impossible to carry on breeding operations without great risk of loss.

It is worth while, therefore, to make every attempt to prevent the germs from finding their way into the system of foals born outside. This object is best attained by using a navel cord with triple iodine, which has been put to a strong tincture of iodine—as soon as the foal is born.

The navel cord and the surrounding skin of the belly should then be painted with the iodine, and when this has dried on the navel may be sealed by a dab of tar. Needless to say, the hands of the attendant should be perfectly clean and should have been well rinsed in a reliable disinfectant solution.

Further precautions are necessary when foaling boxes are used. These should be thoroughly cleaned out, the floor sealed with a 5 per cent. solution of weak iodine in boiling water, and then disinfected with a deep bed of clean dry litter should always be provided for the foal to drop on.

If the mare's quarters are soiled, it is advisable to wash them clean with a 5 per cent. solution of Lysol before she is put into the prepared foaling box; in fact, she should be well groomed and feed from all round dirt before her foal is born.

When the disease is prevalent, the additional precaution may be taken of giving the mare two injections of polyvalent serum, one about the 10th and the other on the 3rd day before the expected date of foaling.

There is also some evidence to show that foals are less liable to Navel-ill or J-ant-ill if the mare's diet during her gestation period contains an iodised mineral mixture, or if she is given small quantities of iodine potassium with her food or drinking water. This may be used, yet at the same time, against one of the most fatal diseases of young foals.
