The demand for our famous Bottling of Guinness appears to be greater than ever, despite the present abnormal conditions. Naturally we are glad of this, but we regret we have been compelled to ration supplies to our customers. We are glad, however, to be able to distribute to each customer at least as much as we supplied last year. May we ask your indulgence and co-operation until such time as plentiful supplies will be available again.

The last ten years have witnessed marked changes in the fashion in wallpapers. The newest vogue is the resurrection of the empire regency period. Thus, when decorating a modern house one should keep to very quiet tones, possibly introducing self colours which will help to make rooms look very much larger. This, of course, is a vital consideration in a modern house where space is sometimes very limited. The new wallpapers stocked by us fit in well for this purpose, especially the light patterns, as these give character and a furnished effect to a room without detracting from the apparent size. The furnished effect to a room without detracting from the apparent size. The tendency to change wallpaper is greater now than ever before, as people take greater interest in the home, perhaps because there is a far greater proportion of house-owners than in previous times. It is often than in previous times. It is often desirable to alter the apparent size of a room. An uncomfortably large or ungainly one looks smarter and cosier when an assertive colour like red, orange or warm yellow is used to make the wall appear to come forward.
