MOST REV. DR. COHALAN CONSECRATED

RELIGIOUS & CIVIC CEREMONIES

Most Rev. Dr. Daniel Cohalan, D.Ph., J.U.D., was on Sunday last consecrated Bishop of Waterford and ismore. The solemn ceremonies, which took place in the Cathedral of the Most Holy Trinity, Waterford, were attended by large numbers of the Waterford and Cork clergy, and a most representative body of laity from the two dioceses, as well as from further affeld.

So pronounced was the desire to be present that members of the congredral doors several hours beforehand. The arrival of the prelates and such distinguished men as the Lord Mayor of Cork (Ald. R. S. Anthony), and the Mayors of Waterford and Clonmel, with members of their respective mel, with members of their respective Corporations aftired in state robes, John, xi ii. 29). In a tribute to the newly consecrated Bishop he said:

Some florty years ago the coll came to the min who is now your Bishop, man strong from a femily which people aptly designate "eclesical." Not only are two of his thers prests, but the consecrating op is his nucle. Our Blessed Lord divinised to the conservating on which and State should pull together. We all agree on ninety-nine things out of a hundled, or perhaps in 99.9 things. Surely we ought let our minds and imaginations dwell on the man strong from a femily which all agree on ninety-nine things out of a hundled, or perhaps in 99.9 things. Canon of the Cathedral Chapter, a man renewing his youth in spiritual contact with the youth of his parish. It has been a long novitiate, but an ideal one, for the man who would teach must be content first to learn, the man who would sanctify others must first snactify himself, the man who would wisely govern must learn the secret of obedience. Of this man it can be said, in all sincerity, that he did not seek; he has been sent.

THE ADDRESSES.

Congratulations to New Bishop.

WEST DIVISION G.A.A. NOTES DEATH OF MRS. C. SHERIDAN, LOCAL By "AN RUNATOHE."

Russell Cup Competition.—Football lovers from all parts will flock to Dungarvan on Sunday to see the replay for the first round of the Russell Cup competition between the Army team McDermotts and the champions, Stradbally. News from both camps tell of improvements in both sides. The Army men say they can add four players to the side that held Stradbally to a draw and the village team will see at least three changes which will see at least three changes which, with the extra chance of putting in plenty of training, they believe will bring them victory on Sunday. If, and I believe it will, the game is anything like that played the first day, we will see one of the finest games of many the second formally and the second formally and the victory of putting in truly poignant. Later, when she asked her son why he had left Maureen on the road, he bad left Maureen on Supt. Deyle added that in a further statement O'Shea said: "I now wish to fell you that White arranged with me to tip me on the shoulder with the night of March 15, I felt a tip on the shoulder just before the shot rang out. I didn't see him or hear him. He told me previously that he would take his shoes off when he was going to shoot."

Chief Supt. M. J. O'Reilly, Water-ford, gave evidence at the resumed hearing on Wednesday. He said that when he examined a shotgun in the house of Supp. Doyle gave evidence that he examined a shotgun in the house of Mrs. Lena Fahy, White's aunt. nephew, spent most of his time with D'Shea. Detective Garda M. Miniter, Waterford, said that 15 yards from the place where the body lay he found the heel pad of a woman's shoe. In the house of Michael Mulcahy, where White then lived, he found a two-callen in containing paraffin oil and gallon jar containing paraffin oil, and a white cloth smelling strongly of paraffin. He noticed on the sittingroom floor, where White kept his gun, a stain the size of the butt of the gun and smelling of paraffin. CAST OF FOOTPRINT.

Detective Sergt, Murphy, Waterford, gave evidence of taking a cast of one of the footprints in Noonan's field, and, on comparison with a shoe belonging to White, forming the opinion that print and cast could have been caused by that shoe. Exhousive searches failed to discover hausive searches failed to discover the empty cartridge case. (The further hearing was adourned until the following day-
