to the public roads on Monday next it is imperative that great care should be exercised by drivers of vehicles and by pedestrians in order that accidents may be prevented. Naturally the first duty of vehicle owners and drivers is to ensure that their vehicles are in a fit mechanical condition before they are taken on the public roads. Cars and cycles which have been laid up for a number of years may have deteriorated considerably and although they may have been in perfect order when laid up, it is quite probable that they may not be quite so roadworthy now. Tyres have a way of deteriorating when not in use for some time, consequently they should

DUNGARVAN TOWN HALL DANCE LICENCE

Appeal Before Circuit

Amplification Restriction Removed.

Mr. Michael O'Meara, Acting Town
Clerk, Dungarvan U.D.C., appealed against the order made by District
Justice Troy regarding the dance licence in respect of the Town Hall
At the last local District Court, when the application was made, the when the application was made, the District Justice made an order that only two dances be held in the week, from 8.30 to 11.30, and 25 dances in First Time Objection Made. the year from 8.30 to 4 a.m. He also made it a condition of the licence that no amplification be used at the dances.

Mr. D'Arcy (instructed by Messrs.

J. F. Williams & Son) for the plaintiff; Mr. A. R. Farrell (Messrs. Farrell & Morrissey) for the Augustinian Friars and a number of residents in the vicinity of the hall, who objected to the granting of the licence at the District Court; and Mr. MacKenna (instructed by Messrs. E. A. Ryan & Co.) for a number of local dance club Co.) for a number of local dance club

Mr. D'Arcy said that at the District Court the plaintiff applied for three dances a week, namely, from 8.30 to midnight, from 8.30 to 2 a.m., and from 8.30 to 4 a.m. The District Witness—I am not aware of it. dances a week, from 8.30 to 11.30 and an increase in the number of dances 25 dances from 8.30 to 4 a.m. during for the past four or five years?—They the year. The District Justice also made it a condition that cars be parked on the Quay. The District Justice, under the 1936 Act, had the ower to impose the condition governing the parking of cars. The objectors at the District Court objected to the cars being parked outside the hall as they made a lot of noise when they were being started in the small hours

D'Arcy, "object to that condition, be-cause they feel that the Quay is most unsafe. The Quay is unprotected and it is quite conceivable that in the early hours of the morning a car could be backed over the Quay."

Continuing Mr. D'Arcy said that objections were made at the District Court on behalf of the Augustinia Friars, whose house and boardin school were in the neighbourhood, and on behalf of Mr. Moloney, who lived nearby.

Amplifier Main Objection.

"The main objection," said Mr.
D'Arcy, "is not so much to the holdng of the dances but to the amplifier used at the dances. In this hall, the dance bands used amplification, and the neighbouring people and the Friars objected to the amplification on the grounds that it caused a great deal of noise. Originally it was decided not to appeal against the ampli-fication, but the town fathers having considered the matter, as a result of representations made to them, they now feel that an appeal should be made against this condition."

Mr. MacKenna said he was repre-

Michael O'Meara, Acting Town Clerk, said that the hall had been cars had been complied with. At the District Court application had been had been trict Court application had been by Objectors Judge Sealy-I think myself that 11.30 is a very reasonable time. But this noise—this electrical amplification should be put down. In Dublin we suffer dreadfully from that.

Mr. Farrell-How do the cars affect Witness-Well, for the past few years there have not been very many; but I had experience before from 1934 onwards of the cars coming and going the hooting of the horns and the shouting. In the hall the stamping of the feet, the sound of the music and the singing—all were amplified and it so happened that at certain dances this was increased. Garda Superintendent's Evidence.

Mr. J. Glanville, secretary, Dungarvan Literary Club, said the main attraction at any dance was the band. Amplification had been used since 1936 or 1937. His club, which had engaged Delahunty, and who had cancelled the engagement, would not consider running the dance now without him. It would be

Judge Sealy said the people who objected to the hall had his greatest sympathy. He regarded dancing as a good, harmless enjoyment, but | dances which went beyond 11 o'clock were unreasonable. Dancers must have regard for the feelings of people who live in the vicinity of the dance halls. He allowed three dances a week, two from 8.30 to 11.30 and one (ceilidhe) to 1 a.m. He ordered that the cars be parked on the Square and the street leading to the hall be closed except to residents. He reversed the decision of the Distriction trict Justice regarding the amplifi-cation and ordered the restriction to be removed, allowing it for the ensuing year on condition that the Urban Council put a man in charge of it and have it controlled.

Witness—They usually lift the old time waltzes.

Is there any other noise apart from the singing?—Passing by the hall you can hear them dancing and shouting.

To Mr. MacKenna, witness agreed that Delahunty's Band was certainly a good band. He would not agree that it was the best in the South of Ireland.

Mr. MacKenna here read a letter from Mr. Delahunty in which he stated that he was cancelling his engagements in Dungarvan because the amplification was not being used in the hall. Mr. MacKenna also referred to Murtagh's Band, who also, it was stated, would not come to Dungarvan.

Supt. O'Mahony—I would like turn-out. At 12.15 pm, the pack moved off to the glen at Bally-harrahan, where a fox was found almost immediately and after a circle round by Mhweelnahorna he refound shouting.

A thrilling game was witnessed in the Sportsfield, Cappoquin, on Sunday last when the above two teams met in the football final of the Western Division. Weather conditions were ideal for the occasion, with the result that huge numbers turned up to witness a really first-class exhibition of football. The playing pitch was in splendid order, for which much credit is due to the local club, who had left nothing undone towards the preparations for a

GENERAL O'DWYER'S LARGE

New York has elected as its Mayor, Brigadier-General Wm O'Dwyer, a Mayo-born man, who arrived in America more than 30 years ago and started work as builder's labourer. Taking up his new duties, Mr. O'Sullivan, in a short time, showed that he was eminently fitted to look after the administrative affairs of the county. All the promise of his early clerical days soon became fulfilled and it soon became apparent that the ratepayers of the county had a shrewd, satisfactory and suitable man in charge of their interests. At meetings of the Council, is advice on rulings and obscure technical points left no doubt that he knew his job; while in the administrative side of the Council, everything went without a hitch or compoint As regards officials under him. Mr. O'Sullivan always treated them with the greatest courtesy and consideration, and, in return, the staff, from the lowest member to the highest, held him in such high respect and esteem that it would be well-nigh impossible to find an office in which such mutual harmony and co-operation existed.

Our footballers, on Sunday last, against Carlow, must have been imbued by the fighting spirit of our hurlers as they exceeded all expectations by running Carlow to two points in the initial round of the Football League. The Newtown newcomer, Paddy Fitzgerald, was the star of the team and he gave a great all-round unselfish display. W. Barron was the pick of the forwards where he got good support from T. Hayes, and the organiser, Mr. Byrne, M.Sc., and other members of the Central Executive were present and were welother members of the Central Exe-cutive were present and were wel-comed by the President, Rev. Fr. Dowley, P.P., on behalf of the Chair-man, officials and members of the Ballyduff Guild. Before presiding at the election of the new officials, Fr. Hayes, in a stirring address, complimented the treasurer and secretaries, on their highly satisfactory reports which showed that the Ballyduff Guild was one of the best and duff Guild was one of the best and most successful of all the guilds in the country. Fr. Hayes made an earnest appeal to all to continue and advance the objects for which the movement was founded and which is bringing new life and hope and mutual happiness in many homes and countrysides. He made a special appeal to the younger generation of boys and girls to join the Guild and elect their own section with representatives on the committee in union with the farmer section and labour section and professional section already working in the branch. It was also decided on the advice of Fr. Hayes that the ladies branch of Muintir-na-Tire have representation by a selected number of their present members on the Council. The Hon. Treasurer's report showed that since the branch was formed in Ballyduff over a thousand pounds was paid off the debt incurred by building the parish hall. This large sum was made up by flag day, sports and amusements, concerts, whist drives and drawing of prizes, which proved a wonderful success last year. A debt of over a thousand pound still remains but the prospects of clearthis debt in the near future are very bright. The election of officers for the coming year, as were also, Mr. W. National Football League Ties.

SOME SURPRISING RESULTS. There were some surprising results in the National Football League ties last Sunday, chief being the defeat of Cork (All-Ireland Champions) by Wexford. Tipperary also created a bit of a surprise by their victory over Kerry, scoring their first football win since 1928. Most local interest was naturally centred in the Waterford-Carlow clash at the latter venue. Carlow dash at the latter venue, where Waterford after making a great bid for honours lost by two optimistic supporters could not see how the Deise footballers could bring off a win; yet contrary to all expectations the home team went within an ace of taking the points.

From the start Carlow took possession of the game and began to pile up a comfortable score. They had two goals and a point at the end of the first ten minutes and not a reply from the home side. Waterford rallied and Barron and Foley had a brace of majors which left Caclow leading at the interval by 2-1 to 2-0.

Carlow opened the second half in determined fashion, and the Waterford defence was sorely tested. Conceding a number of frees, Waterford gave a number of opportunities to Carlow to increase their lead, which they did, adding 3 points. Waterford rallied again and Veale scored two points. The closing stages were fought out in intense excitement, Waterford going all out for the deciding goal. The Carlow side stood the pressure well and held their two points lead to win a thrilling struggle.

Proposed Change in Date of Fair.—
At a meeting of traders, farmers and others held on Sunday last under the auspices of the Parish Council, the question of altering the date on which the monthly fair is held was considered. The Chairman said that as a number of persons had suggested that the Parish Council should take the necessary steps to alter the day for holding the fair, the council had convened this meeting in order to hear the views of persons directly concerned. Many of those present were of opinion that a change was desirable as the fair as at present held was determinedly affected by the fact that the Clonmel fair was held immediately before it, and that the alteration of the Mitchelstown fair to the first Thursday, ance of buyers and stock owners at Cappoquin. By their victory over the All-Ire-land Champions, Wexford created a first-class surprise at the University to which representatives from out-side areas will be invited so as to Grounds, Cork. The champions, who were without the services of four of their All-Ireland side, gave a disappointing display, and Wexford were fully deserving of their victory.

After the row in Dublin you visited your mother in Dublin and stayed at the hotel. Did you ever stay there before? Were you afraid that your brother would not allow you in? That's a lie, a complete fabrication. The reason was that there was no room; the house was full. I stayed at the hotel on a couple of occasions. Witness was then questioned about 1940 when her business failed and asked if she had written to her on names and nick-names here, we'll begin this article by continuing the subject.

Names, not only of individuals but of things and places in general, change. This has been the case the world over down through the ages.

PERMISSIVE OCCUPANCY ISSUE. O'SULLIVAN (Dungarvan)—November 8th, 1945, at his residence, South Terrace, Dungarvan, J. H. Patrick O'Connor, Tallow, had an ejectment suit against Cornelius Curley, Tallow, in respect of a yard at Convent Street, Tallow. Mr. Clarke, B.L. (instructed by Mr. Hodnett, Solr.), for plaintiff; Mr. Ellis, B.L. (instructed by Mr. Hegarty, solr.) for defendant.

Patrick O'Connor, plaintiff, said he got the yard and a shed about 12 months ago and went on to describe them. The yard had been used for coal and timber and Mrs. Purcell brought them through the passage way. Ml. Curley used the yard when witness took it over. Judge Sealy—How many times did you see Mrs. Purcell bringing stuff to the yard.

Witness—Several times.

Mr. Clarke-Can you tell when they got possession?

Continuing, witness said, the yard was used for taking out manure; butter buyers from Cork bought butter there. There was no question of rent. Witness often called to see Mrs. Purcell when he was on holidays and also Mary Flynn. When Mrs. Purcell died it made no difference about the yard. Michael Curley said he sold the car in 1939. Witness and his brother, Cornelius, were both partners in the car. Regarding the key of the yard witness said that he always gave it to the defendant when he was finished with it. When witness's brother went to England he gave the key to witness, telling him that he must not give it to anybody. His Lordship said there was no evidence to show that old Mrs. Purhistory of this country abounds with cell had used the yard after she had handed it over to the Curleys. The defendant kept the gate locked. Mrs. Piggott's evidence was very important regarding the key. Supt Hughes—Was it anything like a lifebuoy rope?

Witness—I don't know. It was a dirty rope coiled up.

Supt. Hughes—You said in your statement it looked like a lifebuoy rope and that it had green paint on it.

D.J.—Why didn't you buy the rope?

Burke—I didn't want to have anything to do with it.

D.J.—Why didn't you tell the Guard O'Leary on March 17, he saw a soldier enter the plaintiff's premises at 5.45. Witness told Guard O'Leary to go to the side door and witness went to the front door and knocked. After a slight delay witness was admitted by the plaintiff's wife. Witness asked her if there was anyone on the premises and she said there were two invited guests, John Templeton and Matt Houlihan in the kitchen. Whether storming the bloody Heights of Fredericksburg or driving the foe before them, in that desperate charge at Antietam, or checking the enemy's advance at Fair Oaks and Malvern Hill or capturing the cannon at Hill, or capturing the cannon at Chancollerville, the Irishmen proved themselves the bravest of the brave and Meagher was ever in forefront of his men. In founding the Brigade Meagher had the hope of returning at its head to Ireland, for the relations between the Northern States and England were strained and on the arrest of the Confederate envoys, Mason and Slidwell, when sailing under the British Flag by a Tederal under the British Flag, by a Federal cruiser, he wrote exultantly to his Brigade that war with England was imminent and that the Irish-American soldiers would be the first chosen to land in Ireland. But war did not ensue and his bright hope of return-ing to Ireland at the head of an army of deliverance was quenched. At the end of the war Meagher Revealing some of the Board's projects at a Press conference in Dublin on Wednesday, Mr. P. J. But now we have the best chance in Europe. I am convinced of this, especially in view of what I saw and heard in the United States a few weeks back." But there is one snag in the otherwise bright outlook, said Mr. O'Brien. War, from the tourist point of view, ended too suddenly. When General MacArthur and all the big military chiefs were unable to foresee the complete ending of the war, we can scarcely be blamed for not foreseeing it. The result is that we find ourselves on the threshold of the greatest market we have ever known, but we have not all the first-class accommodation we need. When we did see that the war was about to end, the Board immediately set out improving accommodation for visitors, and whilst the process has been expensive, I am convinced that the policy will be more than justi-Among the schemes under way are the following:—
