PRELIMINARY NOTICE OF SALE.

DAVITT'S QUAY, DUNGARVAN.

RICHARD DALTON has received instructions from the Owners to sell by PUBLIC AUCTION, at a future date, all that and those the 2 1/2 licensed laws at 11.25 pm on the 14th April last.

Guard Carroll, sworn, stated that on the night in question, accompanied by Guard Slack, he saw a light in the premises, and went in. Guard Slack went to the rear of the premises. Two local men were asked what was the offence, and added that Mrs. Gowan was absent on the occasion, but her husband was in charge. Supt. S. Hughes, B.L., prosecuting, admitted that that was so. Fined £2 and those on the premises 5/- each. The same defendant was charged with a similar offence on Sunday, 7th April, at 1.15 pm. Guard Dempsey, sworn, stated that, accompanied by Guard Carroll, he inspected the premises and saw two men there, one of whom said he came for a drink and the other said he was waiting for his wife. Mr. Gowan said no drink was served. Supt. Hughes—Was there any evidence of drink having been served? Mr. Gowan—No. The bar was closed. The case was dismissed. Mr. M. Ronayne (J. Hodnett and Son) for defendant. The Attorney General charged Mrs. Stata Linehan, Market Sq., Youghal, with a breach of the licensing laws on the 22nd April last, at 11.15 pm. Guard Carroll, sworn, stated he inspected the premises on the date in question and found three local men on the premises. Mr. M. Ronayne (J. Hodnett and Son) for defendant. Supt. Hughes, admitted the offence, and stated that these men were personal friends of the licensee's son, who admitted them, and they were waiting for their wife. There was no conviction against this house in 30 years. Fined £2, and two of the men on the premises fined 10/- each and the third 5/-. The Attorney General charged Richard Power, North Main Street, Youghal, with a breach of the licensing laws on the 7th April, at 12.30 pm. Guard Carroll stated that he inspected the premises on the date in question, where he found a gate opened. The licensee told him to go to the front door. Mr. Macnamara, for defendant, stated in detail what happened on the occasion, i.e., that Mr. Power's son went out the back gate, leaving the gate open, and the men went in. Defendant, sworn, stated he was upstairs at 12.30 pm, and his young son went out the gate, leaving it open. Two men came in, and the guards also came in. The Attorney General charged Jas. Hickey, Summerhill, Youghal, with a breach of the licensing laws on Sunday, 14th April. Guard Dempsey, sworn, stated that he inspected the premises on the date in question. He saw two men leaving the premises and two men on the premises. Garrett Verling, Ennisceorthy, Co. Wexford, summoned seven young Youghal men under the Road Traffic Act for obstruction on the public highway at Foxhall, Youghal, on Sunday, 24th March last.

Mr. Verling, sworn, stated that he was driving home when he met those seven young men on the public highway at Foxhall, Youghal, on Sunday, 24th March last. He got out and asked what was the offence, and they denied it. He called at the Garda Barracks in Dungarvan, and made a statement there, as he did not want them to make a claim against him. Inspector Kenny's evidence having been heard, they were each ordered to pay the sum of £10 and £1 each costs, the nets to be confiscated. The same complainants charged John Connolly, Old Stranacilly, Knockadon, with selling salmon without a licence to Denis Montayne

Youghal Urban Council

Present—Mr. M. P. Lynch, V.C. presiding; Messrs. Sean P. Daly, B.E., and L. Daly. Mr. J. O'Leary, Turf Development Board, was also in attendance.

The Harbour Master reported that a protection chain was stolen from the post at Market Dock.

Mr. Daly, B.E.—Have we any remedy for this. Something should be done. The Guards might be more alert and see that such things do not happen.

Chairman—We are lucky that we have a Harbour Master who sees everything that happens.

It was decided to refer the matter to the Guards.

Mr. L. Daly—Are we included in the Harbours Act, 1845?

Town Clerk—We are excluded as well as Kilrush.

Mr. L. Daly—The Act doesn't apply to us at all. I think we should write and ask the Minister what position we would be in or how would we fare if anything happened in our harbour that would require protecting. How would we pay our staff?

Mr. Daly, B.E., seconded, and suggested that the financial position of the board should be made clear to the Minister. Our harbour is deteriorating and it is a matter of time before the board must look after the port.

Harbour Master—I cannot understand why Youghal should be excluded from the scope of the Act.

Mr. Daly, B.E.—Dungarvan was excluded but was taken in again.

Mr. L. Daly—How does our trade compare with small harbours before the war.

Town Clerk—Our trade was as good as any of the small harbours. The discussion ended.

Mr. O'Leary, Turf Development Board, said—Although the war ended 12 months ago it is certain that the shortage of rail transport for the movement of turf will be experienced again in an acute form next winter. Any improvements made in the carrying capacity of the railway will be offset by the necessity for providing wagons to distribute the increased quantities of goods likely to be imported. The Minister for Industry and Commerce stated recently that no additional coal supplies could be expected during the next year. I wish, therefore, to appeal to this council for their assistance in encouraging fuel merchants industrial concerns and domestic consumers to secure as much turf as possible during the summer while wages are fairly plentiful and weather conditions are good.

Mr. L. Daly—Could lorry owners engage in the haulage of turf without a plate?

Mr. O'Leary—Right during the emergency they could draw turf without a plate, but owing to the scarcity of petrol it was considered uneconomical. Turf could be drawn within a radius of 40 miles without a plate.

Mr. Daly—My reason for asking this question was that Army lorries were for sale and if they could ply without a plate they would relieve the situation.

Chairman—According to the Press the country is to be reduced by 10/- a ton. Is that so.

Mr. O'Leary—Yes, in non-turf areas only, and Youghal is considered to be a turf area.

Chairman—The general public here in Youghal are all under the impression that we would be getting cheaper turf and now I find we will not be getting it anything cheaper. I cannot understand this and I am protesting here to-night.

Mr. Daly, B.E.—What did Mr. Aiken say of turf areas and how much of the country is considered a turf area?

Mr. O'Leary—About three-quarters of the country is a turf area and the remainder non-turf. The non-turf areas are supplied by Fuel Importers, Ltd.

Chairman—We all thank Mr. O'Leary for coming here to-night because had he not come we would not be as wise as we are now. We thought turf was going to be cheaper and now we know it is not. We are very thankful to him for giving us this information. We hope he will get us some good turf for the winter.

Mr. L. Daly—I agree with the Chairman. Mr. O'Leary deserves our thanks for giving us timely warning of the position. If those anxious to get in supplies thought there would be a reduction in price they may not be too anxious to get in supplies just now.

Mr. O'Leary thanked the Western Divisional G.A.A. Notes.

(By "AN RUNAIDHE.")

Gaelic Notes.—I received a letter from the above signature last week just too late to include in my "Notes." The writer complains I made no mention of the Slab Cua football team's win over Finnisk Rovers. I must plead guilty of the charge, but my reason was that I did not have any information as to the game. Had I got this I would have been only too happy to give this same the usual short report. Well, "Cork Gael" I have made inquiries and I heard that the Slab Cua boys had a great win in a great game. Cotter, Tyers and Company were too good for the Finnisk Rovers, although these same fell they were caught on an off day. In the next match I hope to see your boys in action.

ARDMORE DISTRICT COURT
Before Mr. D. P. O'Donovan, B.L.D.J.

A big number of persons were summoned for offences against the Lights on Vehicles Act and the usual fines were imposed.

Clashmore Publican Fined.—Supt. P. O'Mahoney, Dungarvan, summoned a Clashmore publican for a breach of the Licensing Law on the 14/4/46. Mr. R. Hodnett, sovr., defended.

The Superintendent said the house had an excellent record. A few of the people found on the premises had the same date and three persons were summoned for being on the premises at 11 p.m.

Mr. N. R. McNamara, Sovr., Youghal. for the defence, submitted that two of the persons found on the premises were travellers, while the third, an ex-British soldier recently discharged, had stayed in Youghal the previous night.

The Justice said that he should convict in the case of the man stated to have slept in Youghal the night before the alleged offence.

Assault Case.—Margaret Fitzgerald, Ardara, Ardmore, charged Patrick Mulcahy, Curragh, Ardmore, with assault. The case had been before the previous court and defendant had got a custodial sentence of 14 days imprisonment.

Mr. T. K. Keane, Sovr., Youghal. appeared for complainant, who stated in evidence that Mulcahy had since abused and assaulted her.

Supt. O'Mahoney said he had visited Mulcahy and spoken to him about his conduct. He (Mulcahy) adopted a violent attitude and had given a lot of trouble to the Garda's.

The Justice sentenced Mulcahy to 14 days imprisonment.

Mountain Fires.—Garda Daly, Clashmore, summoned Paik Ryan, Toor, for setting fire to mountain grass without permission.

A fine of 15/- was imposed.

Garda Fitzgibbon, Clashmore, summoned Thomas O'Leary (a minor) and his father, Bally O'Leary, Toor, for a similar offence.

The Justice imposed a fine of 7/6.

The Superintendent said these fires were dangerous and were apt to spread by the state plantations in the neighbourhood. People set fire to the mountain to help the growth of grass for cattle. If the regulations were complied with he would always grant the necessary permit in cases where the destruction of grass was not involved.

Mick Delahunty's Band will play at to-night's (Friday) dance in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, under the auspices of the Abbesside Boy Scouts.

Very Rev. James Phelan, P.P., of the Scottish Mission, who is on a brief visit to his parental home, where he arrived on Tuesday evening, is son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phelan, Furlraigh, Kilmacshannas, and the parish he administers is in the Diocese of Edinburgh.

WATERBURY.
That reduction might be all right as a cross-road argument but the matter has to be regarded from the practical viewpoint—the viewpoint of increased production. Increased production is what we want. What is the reason for the production of that id. per pound? We know that the by-products of sugar are used for the production of live stock, milk, butter and so on. Agricultural production has gone down. Taking the creamery revenue, the money in circulation and the fact that milk has gone down to the extent of 8,000,000 or 9,000,000 gallons per year. If production goes down this year at the same rate as it was down last year, the people will be without any butter in a year's time. They will hardly have enough milk for their tea. The Government would be wise to look ahead and encourage production, even if taxation would have to remain as it is. If taxation should remain, you would have, with that increased production, the money in circulation and the community as a whole would benefit. That id. per lb. may seem a small thing to us but we should take into consideration the relief it would bring to the people. It would mean millions in production throughout the country.

RATE RELIEF.
I now come to the question of the relief of rates. Every ratepayer will welcome any relief in rates. But putting the Public Health Bill side by side with the relief given in the Budget, what will the cost be to the ratepayer? The Public Health Bill will place a burden on the ratepayer greater in amount than the relief given in the Budget. It would be much greater. The Government were to operate the Public Health measure nationally and leave the rates as they are. Virtually every piece of legislation which is going through is throwing a burden on the ratepayers year after year. It would take millions by way of grants to place the ratepayer in a position to carry on. We are never told, even by the Minister for Local Government, what the maximum amount is which the ordinary ratepayer will be able to bear. I think that there are many people in this country who are in a position to meet the demands that will be made upon him.

DEPUTY HESKIN'S CRITICISM.
During the debate on the Budget, Mr. Denis Heskin, T.D., said: The Budget has been dealt with extensively by deputies on every side of the House. Any relief it contains will be welcomed by every section of the community. There are certain reliefs given in the Budget which should be viewed as a certain section of the community. I shall first deal with the reduction of the tax on petrol and fuel oil. That relief will benefit to a considerable extent the community at large, transport companies, hackney men, haulage contractors, agricultural mechanics. The reduction in the price of petrol to the private consumer or to the individual who uses his car for pleasure is a relief which has been given at this particular period. Instead, there should have been an increase in the old age pensioner and the other unfortunate but deserving sections of the community. Deputy Anthony has mentioned that petrol is being raised at prices up to 25/- a gallon. I do not disagree, and I think car uses would be quite able to pay any price for petrol provided that they had an opportunity of having their pleasure and enjoyment. It was unfair that relief should be given to such a section of the community, who care well there to have their pleasure, while there is no consideration for the old age pensioners and widows and orphans. The means test is still in operation and these pensioners are not given an opportunity of bettering their position. The cost of living has increased and the value of the 10/- to the individual concerned is much less than it was five or six years ago. If the relief that is being given on petrol to private users had been diverted to that purpose, it would have been a much better day's work.

DAILY DEBATE ON BUDGET

DEPUTY HESKIN'S CRITICISM.
During the debate on the Budget, Mr. Denis Heskin, T.D., said: The Budget has been dealt with extensively by deputies on every side of the House. HOUSING AND LABOUR.
As regards housing, a little provision is being made, but what is the position in rural Ireland? Very little housing is available to keep the workers in the rural areas. That is quite a general complaint of farmers who want to budget for better production in the future. They cannot get labour. A week ago, at the show, farmers from all over the country were looking for some type of machinery which would enable them to cope with the problem, because they cannot get labour. I do not blame the worker. The ordinary agricultural worker is recognised as the mainstay of the country and he is working in the main industry of the country. Still, his wages are abnormally low. He should be placed in a position which is that of the wage-earner in a rural industry. No housing is to be obtained in the rural areas. At a recent meeting of our county council, we found that we could not get timber even to repair the cottages. If that be the position, there would seem to be no hope of getting timber in the near future for new cottages. The questions of housing and decent wages are those which affect the rural worker most and the same applies to the farmer. The farmer cannot budget for production unless he can get suitable and satisfied labour.

WEIGHT CHARGES.
In connection with the reduction of 1d. a pound in the price of sugar, in my opinion that will not bring an immediate relief to the community, having regard to the fact that the average household of 3d. per week. If that id. per pound were put into the price of the raw material, that is, beet, it would bring about relief and create a better atmosphere for the production of sugar in general. It would represent about a 10% increase for sugar beet and would have the effect of increasing the acreage considerably.

Continuing, Mr. Heskin said: I am basing it on 10/- a ton. That would increase the price of sugar to a greater acreage of beet. It would have the effect of creating more employment in the sugar factory and in the haulage of sugar and in the production of agricultural machinery and having that employment in the rural areas. The value of that id. spread over a very large field of activity would be felt in the country in general and would benefit the producer. If it were spent in that practical way, it would create more relief, increase the production of sugar, and so on, as a whole would appreciate it more than the reduction of 1d. per pound in the price of sugar.

WATERBURY.
That reduction might be all right as a cross-road argument but the matter has to be regarded from the practical viewpoint—the viewpoint of increased production. Increased production is what we want. What is the reason for the production of that id. per pound? We know that the by-products of sugar are used for the production of live stock, milk, butter and so on. Agricultural production has gone down. Taking the creamery revenue, the money in circulation and the fact that milk has gone down to the extent of 8,000,000 or 9,000,000 gallons per year. If production goes down this year at the same rate as it was down last year, the people will be without any butter in a year's time. They will hardly have enough milk for their tea. The Government would be wise to look ahead and encourage production, even if taxation would have to remain as it is. If taxation should remain, you would have, with that increased production, the money in circulation and the community as a whole would benefit. That id. per lb. may seem a small thing to us but we should take into consideration the relief it would bring to the people. It would mean millions in production throughout the country.

RATE RELIEF.
I now come to the question of the relief of rates. Every ratepayer will welcome any relief in rates. But putting the Public Health Bill side by side with the relief given in the Budget, what will the cost be to the ratepayer? The Public Health Bill will place a burden on the ratepayer greater in amount than the relief given in the Budget. It would be much greater. The Government were to operate the Public Health measure nationally and leave the rates as they are. Virtually every piece of legislation which is going through is throwing a burden on the ratepayers year after year. It would take millions by way of grants to place the ratepayer in a position to carry on. We are never told, even by the Minister for Local Government, what the maximum amount is which the ordinary ratepayer will be able to bear. I think that there are many people in this country who are in a position to meet the demands that will be made upon him.

DEPUTY HESKIN'S CRITICISM.
During the debate on the Budget, Mr. Denis Heskin, T.D., said: The Budget has been dealt with extensively by deputies on every side of the House. Any relief it contains will be welcomed by every section of the community. There are certain reliefs given in the Budget which should be viewed as a certain section of the community. I shall first deal with the reduction of the tax on petrol and fuel oil. That relief will benefit to a considerable extent the community at large, transport companies, hackney men, haulage contractors, agricultural mechanics. The reduction in the price of petrol to the private consumer or to the individual who uses his car for pleasure is a relief which has been given at this particular period. Instead, there should have been an increase in the old age pensioner and the other unfortunate but deserving sections of the community. Deputy Anthony has mentioned that petrol is being raised at prices up to 25/- a gallon. I do not disagree, and I think car uses would be quite able to pay any price for petrol provided that they had an opportunity of having their pleasure and enjoyment. It was unfair that relief should be given to such a section of the community, who care well there to have their pleasure, while there is no consideration for the old age pensioners and widows and orphans. The means test is still in operation and these pensioners are not given an opportunity of bettering their position. The cost of living has increased and the value of the 10/- to the individual concerned is much less than it was five or six years ago. If the relief that is being given on petrol to private users had been diverted to that purpose, it would have been a much better day's work.

CAMOGIE.
At Clashmore on Sunday last Cappagh met the local team in the first round of the Waterford County Camogie Championship and a thrilling game ensued. The game aroused considerable interest and there was a good attendance despite unfavourable weather. The locals were firm favourites but it was conceded that the visitors had a useful team which was well trained. Clashmore fielded five short of their regular team and this had an upsetting effect on the whole side. The return of Miss N. Healy, the inter-county star, was, however, very welcome and gave the locals confidence. The ball was thrown in by Very Rev. Fr. W. Flynn, Hon. President of the County Board. Clashmore attacked but Cappagh returned. Following pressure the locals scored a goal and play veered to the other end where the visitors established. Play during the first half was very fast with each side attacking in turn. At centre field Miss N. Healy gave a sparkling display, while Miss Lal Mansfield, who was playing her first game for Clashmore, was the "hero" of the day and scored a "real" find. Both in defence and attack she was unobtainable.

Dance.—The grand all-night Happydrome on May 14th, under the auspices of the Red Cross, was an unqualified success. There was such a huge crowd that a similar function in the future would be a great success. The patrons were well served by the staff, and the floor was polished up for dancing. The music was supplied by Mick O'Connell and his band. Band led nothing to be expected of 150 couples in the greatest test to date. The success of this first-class function was due to the excellent catering by the committee. The catering was excellent, and the highest praise is due to the menu served by all to the menu served.

Football.—At the local Sunday last Cappoquin defeated St. Michael's (Ballyvaughan) by 2-1. The game was played in very unfavourable weather, but the high wind which militated against good play, accurate shooting, difficult to see the ball, and the interval, there wasn't even the teams at this stage. Quarant Ore Devotions.—The Quarant Ore devotions were carried out in St. Mary's Church this week. The devotions commenced after the last Mass on Sunday when in the Blessed Sacrament was borne in procession around the church grounds and back again to the altar where it was exposed till the holy edifice was closed at 9 o'clock the evening. Adoration was continued again all day Monday and concluded after 9 o'clock Mass on Tuesday. A moment was a most edifying spectacle to witness the large crowds approach the altar to receive Holy Communion on both mornings. Great numbers of the faithful visited the church during the day to pay homage before the Blessed Sacrament. Scenes of the greatest reverence and devotion were witnessed throughout which reflected the highest credit on the people of the entire parish.

N.A.C.A. General Annual Meeting.—The general annual meeting of the N.A.C.A. will be held in the C.Y.M.S. Hall on Friday next at 8.30. All members are expected to attend, also non-members who wish to join now that the general meeting is taking place. We hope to be able to report of coming athletic and cycling events for Cappoquin in the near future. A full report of meeting will appear in next week's issue.

Cappoquin Master St. Michael's Ballyduff.—Great interest was shown in the meeting of the two teams at Lismore on Sunday last in a minor football championship match (1st round). Weather conditions were unfavourable, but nevertheless a fairly large crowd attended, and despite the fact that the standard of football was not very high, yet the interest of the spectators was maintained from the throw-in to the final whistle. Cappoquin won on the score: 4 points to 1 point.

Concert at Ballinacoola.—A Wonderful Success.—The people of Ballinacoola will long cherish memories of Sunday night's wonderful concert provided by the Ring Dramatic Company. Ballinacoola folk had certainly been expecting something out of the ordinary, for such large crowds began to assemble at the local schoolhouse. When at last the doors were opened the room was quickly filled to capacity and a very large number who failed to gain entrance had to content themselves with such positions as they could follow by standing about outside the open windows, etc. When Mr. Joe Convery, N.T., Villiersstown, made his appearance upon the stage to sing the first item it was obvious good enjoyment was expected. Of course Joe is a born comedian himself and always contributes enormously to the success of any entertainment with which he is associated. He is besides the perfect M.O. and conducted a concert with a grace and smoothness which can scarcely be equalled. On Sunday night his task was somewhat simplified by the presence of so much talent.

A very fine display of dancing was given by Miss Eileen McGrath and Miss Maureen Power. Ring, who executed with rare style and grace a harp and an accordion respectively. The Ring talent is manifested by Mr. James Lenane delivered a humorous recitation which created much laughter and won for him rounds of applause. His sister, Miss Alice Lenane, also captivated the audience by her very sweet rendering of popular songs. Other items included an Irish dance by Mr. Wm. Curran in a faultless manner; songs by Mr. G. Rindler, Miss Mary Flanagan, Mr. Wm. Morrissey, T. Regan (senr.), Mr. T. Regan (junr.), Mr. J. Cronin. Items were also supplied by the incomparable Wm. Quinn (comedian), Eddie Curran, while some very delightful airs were rendered at the piano by Mr. Regan and band. All those items were greatly appreciated judging by the volume of applause evoked. However, the highlight of the night was the performance of the drama "Tactics" by the Ring Players. Parts were as follows.—Lena: Miss "James"; Alice Lenane as "Bridie"; Maurice Curran as "Miko"; Wm. O'Donnell as "Pokie Noonan"; Catty O'Donnell as "Mrs. Webster". Those participating are to be complimented for their very fine performance of this comedy, which drew the huge crowds in the throes of winter throughout.

At the conclusion Rev. Fr. Power, C.C. Ring, thanked Rev. Fr. Gleeson, P.P. Ballinacoola, for having so kindly given the use of the school for the night, and Rev. Fr. Murphy, C.C. Ballinacoola, for helping to make all preparations. He also thanked Mr. Joe Convery for his invaluable help, and the general public for their wonderful support, all of whom helped to make the function the huge success it was.

Home From U.S.A.—Rev. Fr. Nicholas Walsh, who quite recently returned from the U.S.A. is at present enjoying a well-earned rest at his native home in Farnane, Modeligo. Rev. Fr. Walsh is son of Mr. Edmund and Mrs. Walsh and his first visit since his departure some eight years ago. Educated at Mount Mellary Seminary and St. John's, Waterford, where he was later ordained Fr. Walsh has since then been on the missions at Denver, Colorado, U.S.A., where he has acted as Chaplain to an All Polke Poor Home. He left New York on April 10th and travelled on the "Argentine" U.S.A. liner, arriving at Cobh on April 23rd, after a most enjoyable trip. Before his departure he had the pleasure of meeting Mr. M. Sheehan, Mayor of Cork, who incidentally is a native of Modeligo also. He also met Mr. O'Dwyer, Mayor of New York, his son Paul, and Mr. Timothy O'Brien, Secretary to the Mayor of New York, and a former University Graduate. A big reception was held at the Commodore Hotel, New York, where a most enjoyable farewell party took place prior to his departure. Fr. Walsh leaves Ireland again for the U.S.A. in the second week in September. During Fr. Walsh's stay amongst us we wish him a most enjoyable and restful holiday.

Camogie.—At the Sportsfield, Cappoquin on Thursday, June 2nd, Cappoquin will meet St. Mary's, Dungarvan in the second round of the County Championship. Both teams have been training hard and an interesting game is anticipated, both teams being keen and all out for victory. If Cappoquin retain the Death of Mr. E. Power.—We regret to record the death of Mr. E. Power, farmer, Boolatin, Killorossary, which occurred at his residence on Monday last—just twelve days after the death of his only daughter (the late Miss Mary Anne Power). Mr. Power was a progressive dairy and tillage farmer and carried the great respect and confidence of every section of the public throughout his life. He at all times proved himself to be a devout and zealous member of the Catholic Church, and was a sound Nationalist of the old school and a kind and charitable neighbour. The deceased had always enjoyed good health and only became indisposed a short time previous to his death. During his illness skilled medical aid was brought to bear on his case, but he passed away peacefully fully fortified by the rites of his religion. He had gained the allotted span and is survived by his highly-esteemed wife (nee O'Meara) and two sons (Thomas and Edmund), who are the recipients of numerous messages of condolence. Relatives, friends and sympathisers from parts far and near attended at the removal of the remains on Tuesday evening to St. Bridget's Parish Church, Killorossary, where they were received by Very Rev. M. Hackett, P.P., do., who said the prayers for the dead. Office and High Mass of Requiem were celebrated on Wednesday morning. Rev. M. O'Doherty, C.C., Killorossary, was celebrant at the Mass. In the choir—Very Rev. M. Hackett, P.P., Killorossary (precentor); Very Rev. D. Power, P.P., Clonsilla-Rathgormack; Very Rev. E. English, P.P., Stradbally; Rev. P. F. Walsh, C.C., Stradbally; Rev. James Walsh, C.C., Stradbally; Rev. Jas. Walsh, C.C., Carrickbeg (singing); Very Rev. D. Power, P.P., Clonsilla-Rathgormack (organist).

WESTERN DIVISION CAMOGIE NOTES

LAST SUNDAY'S MATCHES. At Clashmore. Due to rumours that this match would not take place a very small crowd was present to see camogie at its best in the spirited clash between Clashmore and Cappagh at Clashmore. As I said last week, Cappagh were the dark horses of the competition and they nearly dethroned the favourites for county honours. Indeed, had their forwards been livelier and more accurate they would have sprung a major surprise. As it was, it was only that extra spur which Clashmore can always produce that gave them the edge. The first half was evenly contested, the scores being level. Clashmore seemed unable to settle down due to the first-time "quick" striking methods of their opponents and some there who prophesied a Cappagh victory. However, on the resumption, Clashmore went all out and hurled splendidly, crashed through for a great goal. Cappagh then seemed to lose heart and although they struggled gamely to the end, Clashmore made the issue safe with two more goals to leave the score: Clashmore, 3; Cappagh, 2. I am looking forward to these two teams meeting in the League which is commencing at once and I believe the arrangements have been made. Cappagh will reverse the verdict. At Tallow.—This match, also quite a fair crowd was present when Jim Cunningham set the game moving between Camphire and Lismore. The match was played in a sporting manner and the final whistle left Camphire worthy winners on the score: 5-0. NEXT SUNDAY. On next Sunday we have only one championship match, the eagerly awaited match between Knocknagade and Ballyduff at Lismore, where the whistle will be in the capable hands of J. Cunningham. There have also been the county final on May 19th and western finalists in 1945 and are supremely confident that they will win the county crown this year. Ballyduff, on their own, have determined that this year is their year and have got a very useful side together. The referee on the following evening to the demands upon his time and presence by the "George Edward" and Mr. O'Brien's "Skyscraper" will be Mr. Fr. Jim was chaplain. The gathering assembled in the lodge rooms on Sherbourne Street. The auditorium was full and the gallery was overflowing. The suggestion was voiced that all present pass in review before Alfie and touch the hand of Fr. Jim. "No, no, no, let us but touch the hem of his garment; we want that chain of gold to go back to Dublin again. He's not no further. There was a roar of laughter which drowned his further remarks. "What the devil did I say now that was wrong? Have I put me off in it again? That Fr. Jim, I told him a quarter of an hour later when the laughter had died away, "was an outstanding example of Irish wit and humour and I am sure that you can find the writer of the year on the Metropolitan Church went up in flames. The Minister, a famous non-conformist preacher, had taken for his text, "The God of Fire Let Him be God." A few hours after the conclusion of the service, and due to neglect and faulty drainage, the edifice was in ruins. Special precautions had to be taken to ensure that this configuration would not recur across the street and endow the R.C. Cathedral, St. Michael's. I was engaged viewing the destruction when I got a tap on the shoulder and a voice came to me quoting the text mentioned. Here was Fr. Jim doing as I was and trying to puzzle out the significance of it. "Is a great lesson to 'em all; 'tis how they should be leaving fire alone." He glanced upwards at the lofty spire of St. Michael's with its cross of electric bulbs, rubbed his chin. "It still stands," he said, "and it always will." He was away South on Church Street and I was left wondering at it all. The winter passed, spring faded into summer. Came an electric storm. A bolt hit the cupola of Our Lady of Lourdes, Fr. Jim's church, short-circuited electric installations, and soon the fire brigade were on the job of saving the building. One of the "smoke eaters" lost his life; two others were seriously injured, but the church was saved. Fr. Jim was not slow to draw a conclusion and a conclusion, between both incidents. "This how," he told me later, "we should be leaving fire and electricity alone; we're going too far and too fast together." These incidents, simple in themselves, serve to show us the character of the man who has passed. Simple and dignified with a dignified bearing, the Mecca of his active thoughts, he witnessed the gathering of the clans and all the more so if the lads from Killo-

MEMORIES CONSEQUENT ON THE PASSING OF A GREAT GAIEL. By J. S. Meehan.

A great spirit has gone to his rest and his reward. A kindly sagartha has passed from our ken. Monsignor J. Dollard, D.D., P.P., of Our Lady of Lourdes Church in the metropolis of Toronto, Ontario, Canada, is no longer with us. The people of that sweet borderland may remember him but will not see him again, nor will his presence greet that vast gathering of Gaels which assemble every year in Croke Park to witness the All-Ireland hurling. The news of his death was flashed to his homeland somehow instinctively felt that Croke Park will never be the same, nor will that here in Ireland we know more about "The Rose of Mooncoin" than Fr. Dollard's "The Gaels of Mooncoin." There is a note of sadness in this note, however, which is not without its lighter side when I recall asking him if it were possible for his book to be reprinted and again come to reach me to approach him on the matter. He shook his head, "No," he replied and there was a touch of sadness in his voice. "No, definitely not, but is not that Ireland? Is not that our country? When they have their own books, they are very proud of them. I have it here in my mind as these lines are scratched across the page.
