Waterford Beard of Public Assistance.

Senator J. Butler presided at the monthly meeting of the Waterford Board of Assistance at the Court-house, Dungarvan, on Monday. Also present—Messrs. M. Kenneally, M. McGrath, M. O Floinn, Secretary; M. Phelan, Chief Superintendent Assistance Officer, and Mrs. P. Croke, Assistant Secretary.
The Matron, County Hospital, reporting on the complaint regarding a patient, Anastatia Doyle, Butlersa patient, Anastatia Doyle, Butlerstown, stated that this patient was admitted to the hospital on July 7th and that the medical officer discharged her as fit on July 27th. The patient did not go home until July 29th and her daughter brought her home. It was the custom that relatives be responsible to take patients home. If there was a reasonable request for the ambulance to take patients home the ambulance was Lismore competed in various tests at the grounds of the local Christian Brothers' Schools on last Sunday. The competition was for the Farrell Cup and comprised such tests as tent pitching, general knowledge, first aid, signalling, fire-lighting, etc. Some of the troups did not turn up and this was due, as Rev. P. Farrell, C.C., Dungarvan, who organised the rally, pointed out, to the scarcity of scoutmasters and the reluctance on the part of young men to come forward and act as scoutmasters. The absence of the other troops did not, however, lessen the enjoyment of the spectators or real scouts. There is no youth movement in existence to take the place of scouting. But, my friends, there is one serious drawback in the lack of competent scoutmasters.

Throughout the country this is the cry: 'Give us proper scoutmasters and we shall get on with the work.'

A further tribute to Fr. Farrell is given in the following letter from Mr. John K. Hurley, Scoutmaster, Cork, one of the examiners. He writes:
"On behalf of those who travelled with me from Cork on yesterday (Sunday) and on my own behalf, I TRIBUTE TO FR. FARRELL.

Referring to Fr. Farrell, he said that mere words could not express the debt of gratitude which was his due for his great work, not alone that day, but at all times in the interest of Scouting. He was an incentive to the officers and scouts alike to make the organisation second to none as a youth movement in the country. Bro. Bruno again thanked all those who had been so kind to the Waterford visitors.

In your wonderful kindness during the day. I may tell you that it was a most enjoyable day for us, and a real eye-opener, because the standard of Scout work was very high, and I think this was amply borne out by the results. Dungarvan may well be proud of its chaplain, and we from Cork congratulate you on being so energetic and tireless in your efforts for Catholic Scouting. IRISH TOURIST BOARD'S LETTER.

At the meeting of the Dungarvan Urban Council on Friday (Mr. T. McCarthy, chairman, presiding), a letter was read from the Secretary of the Irish Tourist Board regarding the proposal to build hot water baths in the town. The letter stated:

"Potential sites for new baths at Dangarvan were recently inspected by representatives of this board and the site which would appear to be under the control of the council was suitable. The location was subsequently indicated to the Acting County Surveyor with the request that he would discuss with your council the possibility of the site being made available. If this were feasible I am directed to state that he Board would be prepared to continue its examination of the project. Mr. Ormonde undertook to discuss the matter further and, I presume, we shall hear from you when he has a Radio Eireann Orchestra. 1.40—

If they (council) could get the Tourist Board interested he thought it would be a good thing for the town. The Dungarvan baths had a very good name all over the country. As regards the location, Senator Butler said if the building were so erected so as not to obscure the view it would be ideal. He would suggest that the site be further down underneath the Park at the foreshore. He thought that they should be careful of the place they would choose.

The Acting Clerk said that was suggested before unofficially, but the idea was to place it as near as possible to the pool.

Behind "Iron Curtain," Irish Reporter's Revelations After European Tour.

Twenty-one nations are to-day try-ing to solve the problems of shattered Europe. While they wrangle over Treaties, millions of people are striving to live in a dozen war-torn countries under incredible conditions.

Millions more are being driven from their homes as the big powers juggle with boundary lines

The "Irish Press", is publishing series of articles which illustrate these conditions, and tell the story of these people who have been caught up in war and its aftermath. They are written by its staff reporter, Alan Bestie, who has just returned from Europe.

Bestic spent four months on the Continent, and visited half-a-dozen countries. He writes first of the rapid revival of France, which has changed amazingly even in the past four months; of the solid, hard-working Czechs now putting their house in order after Europe's longest occupation; and of the enormous pro-blems facing the defeated countries Ship was entirely carried out by local men, and the cost fully defrayed by voluntary subscriptions from parishioners and their friends.

Hymeneal Chimes.—A very pretty wedding was solemnised at the Nire Church on Wednesday, September 4th., the contracting parties being that are trying to serve four masters. He will describe, also, his month in Poland, behind what has been termed by one politician "the iron curtain of Europe." He will tell how the Valiant Poles are reacting to a communist Government and, what is something that are trying to serve four masters. on Sunday, September 10th, after a rather protracted illness and at an advanced age. An extensive and progressive farmer, the late Mr. O'Donnell had always been a great favourite, and his death, which has now occurred after a long and honoured life, has been deeply regretted throughout. The remains gretted throughout. The remains were removed to St. Mary's Church on Wednesday evening followed by a huge number of mourners and friends. On Thursday morning Solemn Requiem Mass was offered for our for the repose of his soul, and the funeral took place to St. Declan's Cemetery at 3.30, where the interment took place. Rev. Fr. Dunphy, C.C., headed the cortege and officiated at the graveside. The chief mourners were—Mr. Jas. P. O'Donnell, Tourin, Cappoquin, and Mr. Patk. O'Donnell, Youghal (sons); Mrs. J. Cashman, Youghal (daughter); Mr. Jas. Cashman, do.
