Dear Sir or Madam,—
Owing to the fuel crisis we much regret that as from the 31st March, it will not be possible for us to supply you with more than half your present weekly quota of Extra Stout and/or Porter, and meanwhile no arrears can be drawn. Furthermore, trailest supplies of fuel become available we shall not be able to continue supplying you with even this reduced quota for more than a very short time.
When the fuel position improves we shall have pleasure in restoring your quota as far as possible.
We are sorry to have to send you such bad news, but we feel sure you will realise that these fresh but we feel sure you will realise that these fresh restrictions are caused by circumstances over which

We are, yours truly

Our customers are requested to note that, until further notice, supplies of Stout will be limited to 35 per cent of their average weekly purchases during the 12 months ended 30th September, 1946. Owing to stocks held at present, the rationing may not commence for another week, and customers, should now send in their orders before we commence to ration supplies.
