> A deputation from the Urban Council is to interview the Minister for Local Government regarding the Abbeyside houses, provided an ap-pointment with the Minister can be

The principal point the deputation will discuss with the Minister is the possibility of increasing the grants towards the scheme, so that the towards the scheme, so that the houses could be let at a cheaper rent.

The deputation will consist of Mr.

T. A. Kyne, T.D.; Senator Butler, the Manager and the Town Clerk.

At the outset of the discussion the Chairman (Mr. T. McCarthy), after if they had plans of a 1-storey house like the Loughmore scheme, in which not much timber would be required, it would be cheaper. He also favoured the immediate development of the sites.

Mr. Kyne asked were there any comparative figures from other coun-

The Clerk said there was a scheme in Youghal of about £1,400 a house.

Mr. Kyne asked if he had any idea of the cost of the scheme in Clonmel.

There was also a scheme, he undernow get the loan at 24 per cent for 30 years.

Mr. Kyne said that if they could build even 26 houses he felt sure that they could get 20 people in the town to pay that rent. He felt that they could get £10,000 to recondition nouses in the town. He felt that the people would be satisfied to have the houses reconditioned. To spend £10,000 on reconditioning houses would meet the bill for a while. He felt that the Council meet the bill for a while. He gets that the rates go up, but they could be reconditioned and certainly all the King Street houses and Sarsfield Street houses. If that were done they would be fairly good houses.

What the houses would be such a figure and the rates would be such. That was the position. The mistake about knocking down houses should tast be made again. A lot of people in town wanted houses. They must get them and that was why the Council must build them. There were people living in apartments or flats paying a liperson who was living under adverse gest that the rates go up, but they could the Minister for Local Govearment that they were not content with the grants that have been paid in the past. Why should not each Hybran Council make an effort to approach the Minister and ask him to give bigger grants from the Transition Fund? He thought they should make that effort before they decide

ONE-STOREY HOUSE SCHEME

Mr. Vea'e again suggested that they go on with the development work and in the meantime the Acting Borough Surveyor could make out an estimate for a single storey house.

Mr. Kyne—I believe you can.

The Manager thought that they would not get the big grant. He did not know what was being given for better-off houses. There was one thing about the reconditioning of the houses and that was they would have to build a certain number first because they must have houses to transfer the tenants into while their houses were being reconditioned.

The Chairman said he would agree with Senator Butler's suggestion.

Senator Butler said he would not intenfere with the present scheme at all. If they interfered with it he could assure them that it would be two years before they could go ahead with a scheme for the town.

Mr. Veale said that while the developing work was going ahead the Borough Surveyor could give an esti-mate of what a two-storey house

Mr. Kyne said that there was a number of landlords receiving no rent

Mr. Kyne said that there was a the meeting a short time previously) said he entirely agreed with the suggestion about the deputation. In the old days they found it very beneficial. He thought Deputy Kyne and Senator Butler should interview the Minister. He would not agree with changing the plans. It was his view that in order to rehouse the people they must build a cheaper house. He held the view that houses must be built; number of landlords receiving no rent at all for their houses. In cases like it must be faced sometime, but the that these houses could be acquired Minister must vary the Order and that these houses could be acquired cheaply.

The Manager said they had a report about houses like that in Portlaw at a County Council meeting. Whether such houses would qualify for a grant they did not know yet.

Mr. Kyne said it would be impracticable putting working people into houses which would cost 18s, a week rent.

Chairman—They could not afford it.

Mr. Kyne—7s. 6d. would be the most they could pay.

Minister must vary the Order and let ordinary working people into them. If they started a portion of the scheme of, say, 20 houses they could get 20 people for them and he didn't think the Council would be at any loss. The Manager was anxious to go ahead but he saw the difficulty. The Department must come to their assistance and vary the Order. They were building houses in Clonmel and before they used always flad out how they were doing things in other towns. He would like to know what they were costing in other places.

RENT TOO HIGH FOR WORKERS.

Mr. Kyne said that Mr. McGrati's tender (£1,559) was, he understood, nearly £400 lower than the others, and the economic rent would be in the neighbourhood of 18c. a week. That would mean levyling on the rates to reduce the rent. He doubted very much if the ordinary workman could not be in the neighbourhood of 18c. a week. The question of costs as regards electricity was then explained and it was pointed out that the only cost which it contained for the consumer was the wiring of the premises and a rent based on the floor space of the holding, which was paid every two ments, lossibler with a moderate charge per unit of electricity contained. Though there is not much action in the sketch itself, good natural action by the actors should enable one who has no knowledge of Irish to follow the plot, and I look forward to a good performance by Buion Dramaiochta Mha Dheilge on the 17th.
