1848—1948

In the year 1848, exactly 100 years ago, the late George Hadden founded the firm of W. & G. Hadden in Wexford. From the commencement he established a wide reputation for good value and a fair deal, and as a result of this sound practice the firm grew and developed.

Following the death of Mr. George Hadden about 1858, his widow, Mrs. F. J. Hadden, continued the business until 1875, when her sons, W. H. Hadden and George Hadden, assumed control. In 1906 a new branch was acquired in Dungarvan, Co. Waterford, and three and a half years later the business in Carlow was purchased.

To celebrate the firm's century a large number of special lines will be offered for a period of nine days. The reduced prices will be for cash, and the value offered will be worthy of the occasion which it is desired to celebrate.

Below appears a list of some of these bargains which are now on display in our windows, but many others are to be found in the Departments. You are invited to join us in celebrating a notable occasion.
