DICK THE LIAR'S VOICE HEARD AT LAST.

week contained a very interesting article reproduced below relating to greyhound racing. It stresses the need for a clean up and as readers of my articles in this paper must admit, my voice is no longer lost in the wilderness. Time after time I have warned the officials responsible what would happen if they did not start that cleaning up. Probably a lot of people thought I was another scare-THE "Coursing Calendar" of last people thought I was another scare-I am talking from years experience in every branch of the sport. And although I quite agree with the writer of the article in the "Calendar," I must say it took a long time to make them realise the true position. There is no use blaming owners, trainers and others. The track officials are the chief culprits, and if they are not carrying out their jobs or have not the moral as the greatest potential evil of sport. There is nothing immoral about backing a dog or a horse, but it is a short-cut to trouble when races are rigged for a gamble on one competitor. It is an owner's legitimate business to "beat the book" within the rules. That does not excuse a racing official going out of his way to make a certainty of it. Won by a distance does not add to the attractiveness of greyhound racing. But what is happening on a number of our tracks does not stop there. It is now clear that the wrong dog is being accepted as a kind of undesirable guest. Everyone dislikes him but nobody shows him out. Greyhound racing in Ireland may last an-local may be a concelled. Waterford may be able guest. Everyone dislikes him but nobody shows him out. Greyhound racing in Ireland may last an-local may be a concelled. There has to be a clean-up—not just a dab of whitewash here and a dab of whitewash there—but a thorough wash and scrub on the grand old scale that got behind the ears. Probably the first thing then is to decide how best to get rid of the kind of dirt which has to be washed away.

The first step lies with the Irish Coursing Club. It is for it to go into nem, ruthlessly. The work of the Cub in this direction will have to be an all-out drive for cleaner sport.
Such a drive must not be confined. Such a drive must not be confined to substitutions; every aspect of the sport requires an overhauling from top to bottom. It will mean trouble and may require a good deat of moral courage, but the situation has to be met and then fully.

It may be thought that we are scaremongering, but a very superficial examination of the facts discipled an idea. There cial examination of the facts discountenances such an idea. There are dogs with two, three and four cards getting races under different names. There are professional traffickers in false papers. There is some reason to believe that if these abuses are not being entertained by the officials on certain tracks, the perpetrators are not being pursued. In bringing this state of affairs to the notice of the greyhound public we would request their co-operation with the Irish Coursing Club in restoring the prestige of greyhound racing and making its name truly worthy of the sporting ideal. It may turn out to be quite a job of work, but it can be done before the new season opens if all concerned get their backs into it.

Waterford were on the offensive from the start. Hyland in the Laoighis net made two clearances. Curran pointed in the first minute for Waterford. Vin Baston sent a Waterford 70 wide and Hyland saved a rasper from T. Curran at the extheir jobs of nave not the moral courage to do so get rid of them. They are as I have said on numerous occasions driving every honest man out of the greyhound business and only catering for the professional chancers. and a further free to Waterford was saved by Hyland. P. Kelly found the next to open the score for Laoights in the 25th minute of the game and W. Galvin had the Decies' fourth point in the next minute. The closing stages of the first half saw the All-Ireland champions attacking, but great goal-minding by Hyland prevented scores. Half-time score: Waterford, 3-4; Laoighis, 1-0.

Up to a few years ago we had reason to be somewhat proud of our tracks. Nowhere else in the world did the private owner enjoy so many privileges, and for all that did not abuse them unduly. The standard of racing in Ireland compared favourably with that of other countries. Even the track-owned or track-controlled kennels, which are so much a part of the English system, had few, if any, advantages over us. There is not much reason to With the breeze in their favour Laoighis went into the attack on re the refound. Win Baston sent the whole way to the goal from about forty yards out to make the scores 4-4 to 1-0 after the second half was ten minutes in progress. A free to Laoighis taken by H. Grey was finished to the net by P. Kelly. The Laoighis goalie was applicated for tem, had few, if any, advantages over us. There is not much reason to Laoighis goalie was applauded for three great saves before Feeney pointed. Waterford new seemed to were not allowed to a would be well advised to follow their lead. How often do we see meetings screen. Also the very convenient shelter for dogs. In fact, it would be very hard to find fault with anything connected with the meeting thing connected with the meeting. And the judge, Mr. B. Power, and slipper, Mr. A. Murphy, did their share in making it a splendid meeting. The outstanding dog was the winner of the All-Aged "Principality." This fellow gave a great display, and from his first course I marked him as the winner. The runner-up Dainty Aegis, ran very well, but could not match the winner's pace. In the final I could not see anything outstanding in the Trial Stakes and I think the winners will have to improve to qualify for the season opens if all concerned get their backs into it.

Coursing at Cappoquin and Kilmacow.

The South Kilkenny meeting at Kilmacow on Thursday of last week was a great success and the committee are to be congratulated on the season opens if all concerned get their backs into it.

Stakes and I think the winners will have to earn another ticket. The coursing at Cappoquin was up to the usual standard, and the winner of the Dog Trial Stake, "Wise Rector," should be heard of again. The opposition to "Illegal Fisher" in the Open was not first-class and he looked a readymade winner.

(Remainder of County Council meeting unavoidably held over to next made winner.

CO. WATERFORD MURDER CHARGE

Since the discovery of the body of James Dunne, a 64-years-old farmer of Dunmoon, Tallow, who was found shot near his home on Saturday, there has been intensive police activity in the area. Chief Supt. M. A. J. O'Reilly, Waterford; Inspector Croke, Waterford; Sergt. J. Doyle, Tallow, are engaged on investiga-

Thomas Dunne, Templemichael, Youghal, brother of the deceased, gave evidence of identification.

Dr. J. O'Mahony, Tallow, said that he was called to the scene of the shooting at 6.30 on Saturday. He saw the body of James Dunne lying on the roadside on its back with a gunshot wound through the front of the chest. Death had taken place about 11 hours before. On Sunday, with Dr. McGrath State Pathologist James Power, aged 70, of The Close, Tallow, was charged at a special court on Sunday with the mirder of Mr. Dunne and remanded to Lismore Court on Thursday.

G.A.A. REVIEW

Football.—The big ball code is at a low ebb in the county at present.

True, the Waterford team won the Myndrian Waterford team won the O Riain, D.J. Munster Junior Football Champion-ship this year. The senior team, however, put up a poor show. At present interest centres almost entirely on hurling, with the result that football is neglected. In the past we produced some fine teams and there is no reason why we cannot do so again. Despite the low standard there is a record number of teams in the county; too many we think. If only one football team was permitted in each parish competition would be keener and the standard higher. "Freak" teams were only a hindrance to the game.

Betting on Gaelic Games.—From reports to hand there was considerable betting on both Western semi-finals on Sunday. This despicable conduct cannot be too strongly condemned. Appropriate action should be taken immediately to deal with such a serious breach of the rules. Fortunately betting on matches is not general in the county, but this not general in the county, but this makes breaches of the rule all the more regrettable.

The game was played in a sporting manner despite the trying conditions, and a tribute is due to the referee, Mr. M. Fives for the capable manner in which he handled the game.

Once again encroachments on the pitch by spectators occurred. Time and again the few stewards available pushed back the crowd to the line only to have them swarm on to the pitch once more. It has now been proved conclusively that the sideline in Dungarvan pitch will have to be riplished or else no furthed games can be played there. It is a matter which will have to receive immediate attention from the Board.
