WATERFORD COUNTY COUNCIL

Hereunder is the continuation of the report of the Waterford County Council (held on Monday of last week, Mr. D. Heskin chairman, presiding), which was unavoidably held over to this week's issue.

A.T. & G.W.U. RESOLUTION.
A resolution was read from the Ballymacarbery Branch of the I.T. & G.W.U. condemning the action of the members of the Council who voted against the acceptance of £15,000 offered by the Government for road maintenance on condition that the County Council put up a sum of £5,000.

After the Chairman had said that, on receipt of this resolution, he had asked to put it on the agenda, he went on to say that it was pointed out that meeting of the County Council that they were not voting against any sum put up by the Department. He pointed out also that any sum put up by the Department without the reservation that they (the County Council) should provide a sum of money would be accepted, and they were satisfied to spend any sum of money the Department put up. This County Council for over a long number of years had done this for the roads, and he pointed out over a long period of years they had increased the estimate to provide roads and give work to their employees. He said that for years and they would find that they increased the estimate for road work by year to give work on the roads. "I believe also," continued Mr. Heskin, "that the rates in this county are gone beyond the capacity of the people to pay, and I think it would be an undue burden on the people to put any more rates on them. I think there is a limit, and I think we are gone beyond it."

Continuing, Mr. Heskin said that he had advocated for a long time in the Dail that rates should be reduced to a certain sum. He thought that the time was ripe for the people to put their feet on the ground.

Mr. O'Ryan said that Ballymacarbery workers had no protest when the turf scheme was abandoned there. He thought that there were nearly 80 people employed on the bogs there from April to the beginning of November. "Why didn't they start when the scheme was abandoned?" they killed the goose that laid the golden egg," said Mr. O'Ryan. "They had marching torches, and now they are marching but without torches; they are walking the roads. Back in the late Mr. Bowen's time, during the great war, when in County Tipperary the men were picked from the roads to join the British Army, Mr. Bowen told us to do the work on the roads, because after the war there were no men. We did it and we are getting very little praise for it now. These roads to-day are a monument to Mr. Bowen."

Continuing, Mr. O'Ryan said that the primary purpose of the rates was not to give work to maintain their institutions and hospitals, and then after that to maintain their roads in good condition. The demand from their institutions they could not cut by one penny, and the only thing they could cut was the rates estimate. He held that it was the duty of the government to provide men with work now.

The Chairman said that the same applied in the Lismore area as regards turf workers. He asked the County Surveyor how many men were employed on turf in that area. County Surveyor—Roughly about 50, from April to September.

The Chairman said he advocated at the time, and Mr. Harty did the same, that in order to help these people he should help themselves because of the action of the Government in disemploying them by stopping the turf scheme, that their institutions be asked to give men work on turf. He thought it was unfair for the County Council to be asked to give these people work now. The Chairman then went on to refer to the position of the farmers who had been left with oats on their hands and said: "I am going to give you a bit of advice, and that is to take care that barley is not a flop this year."

Continuing, Mr. Heskin said that the Minister for Agriculture had told them that milk could be produced at 8.5d. a gallon. He had fought with the previous Minister, Mr. Smith, in the Dail, that even the controlled price of milk was not remunerative. "I think," said Mr. Heskin, "that the farmer is a better judge than any professional man or expert, no matter who he is."

Mr. O'Ryan—"The country is well bilistered with 'Nabuccadnezar' Dillon."

Mr. J. Mansfield gave comparative figures in connection with the Waterford County Council's rate collection (first moiety) of this year and last year, and said that last year's collection was 64 per cent, against 38.2 per cent this year. That showed, he said, that the position of the ratepayers had deteriorated. They were confronted with the position that the ratepayers were in as bad a position as the workers themselves. The position was that the ratepayers were not able to pay. They all represented the ratepayers and it was their duty to keep down the rates. Let the Government put up the money without any condition and the Council would accept it.

Mr. Norris said that this Council and every County Council should give up the idea to raise the rates. If the rates were going to be increased there would be a strike by the ratepayers in this county and every county. He thought that since this County Council had come into power it had tried to improve and better the condition of the workers.

He thought that when the Department tried to mule the ratepayers it was time to put the foot down. If the Department gave the grants without any condition, they would accept them.

The Chairman here quoted the amount provided for in the rates for roads since 1938/40 to 1947/48, the figure for the former year being £24,000, and for the latter year £29,930. This figure he showed, he said, that Waterford County Council increased the rates for roads to qualify for grants to carry out road works. "Again, as I said before, and would like to point out again," said Mr. Heskin, "we did not refuse the grant from the Department, but we refused to contribute money from the rates; and any money that the Department gives us without any condition, we will take it. I would point out also that this county was providing £250,000 for housing in the county."

Mr. Kyne said that the Chairman had pointed out that it was he (the Chairman) had put this on the agenda. He (Mr. Kyne) had no act or part in it, but now as it was being discussed, he (Mr. Kyne) as a member of the A.T. & G.W.U. and as well a Deputy would reply to what was said. The statement that the Chairman made that he did not refuse the money from the Department was ridiculous. You objected to putting up for every £3 given by the Department £1 by the Council and that was admitted.

Chairman—I say we did not refuse any money from the Department.

Mr. Kyne—You refused to spend for every £3 given by the Department £1 by the Council and there's no going away from that. I pointed out on that day that you will have to spend the money on home assistance for these men and that will come out of the rates.

Continuing, Mr. Kyne said he would suggest that these men knew what was best for themselves. He knew what they wanted, and if they made this protest now they were entitled to make it. Referring to the Chairman's figure about the rate collection, Mr. Kyne said that Wicklow County Council—a Labour Council—had the highest collection in Ireland, and they had accepted the grant. The hand-work turf scheme was stopped there, too, and it would be stopped if there had been no workers to carry it out. He pointed out that the workers wished to be in the position to work rather than be on home assistance they were right. He knew that the workers had accepted the grant, and they were not giving up their work on the bogs. He said that the workers were laid off last week and this week. If the Council did give them money for turf the Council never made anything out of turf.

Mr. Mansfield said that the position of the farmer was not better. He repeated again the comparative rate collection figure. He was not trying to victimise the workers, but he would say it would be victimising the farmers who had crops they could not get rid off. It was time for the Council to halt.

Chairman—I say, and as I have said before, we are placing a large sum of money for housing and that is giving employment.

Mr. Quirk—it is a matter for the Government to give employment and not the Council.

Mr. Harty said that he had got a free grant of £4,000 which was being spent on the road to Youghal. There was no contribution from the rates in Kildare, and they had accepted the grant on the same terms that they gave the £4,000.

Senator Butler said that he remembered saying at the Dungarvan Urban Council that they should stick to the estimate provided. He was satisfied that the County Council was adopting that policy. But sometimes perhaps it was necessary to go away from that. If there was unemployment it might be a good thing if the County Council provided the money. On the question of unemployment, he did not know if it was greater now than, say, four or five years ago. He asked the County Chairman for information on the matter.

County Surveyor—I could not answer that, as they have fewer men working now than in the summer.

Mr. M. McGrath—"It is always the case?"

County Surveyor—Yes.

Mr. Harty referred to his suggestion of the last meeting that they take credit for the £5,000 from next year's rates. It would be only doing the work earlier and giving the men employment at an earlier period.

The Chairman asked if that were done there would be unemployment at an earlier date next year.

Mr. Kyne—"You will have the houses in the county."

Chairman—You have them now.

Mr. Kyne said he would remind them that the workers paid rates.

Chairman—"They say, too, that the rates are going up."

Mr. Kyne—I know where the biggest howl is coming from.

Replying to Mr. O'Ryan, he said that farmers and they have a right to howl. Repeating to Senator Butler that he was a member of the Department, he said that the County Manager said there was £1,000 for additional engineering staff, which was unlikely to be spent. Repeating to the Chairman, the County Surveyor said he doubted if they would get the grant now.

Mr. Kyne—"We can look for it."

Replying to the Chairman, a resolution proposed by Mr. M. McGrath, and seconded by Mr. M. McGrath, that the Council approve of the expenditure of a further sum of £4,000 on the road works this year to be financed by utilising £1,000 provided for additional engineering staff in 1948/49 estimates in order to carry out a Department grant of £3,000 was passed.

IT COURED AND TRACKED

COTTAGE SCHEME.
The following report by Mr. D. S. Doyle on rural cottage scheme was read—

Further satisfactory progress has been made with the rural cottage scheme. Since my last report, which has begun on a further ten houses, which brings the total number of houses in progress up to 28 to date. The work of repairs and reconstruction to the portion of the old workhouse buildings at Lismore is nearing completion and the storekeeper for this store is to take up duty there on the 8th inst.

The position so far with regard to the labour contract section of the work is that only four contractors and their sureties have signed their contracts covering 32 houses. The work is being done in certain cases where the contractors have given rise to delay in starting building operations by the contractors concerned. In certain cases the number of cottages agreed upon in the first instance had to be reduced so as to bring the amount of the work within the capacity of some of the sureties offered.

In the short time during which this scheme has been in operation progress is more gratifying and it may be definitely stated that the present dual system, namely, labour contract and direct labour, has proved itself to be the only solution of the problem. The whole expectation of this fact is due after the many abortive attempts to get the houses built by contract during the past ten years since the scheme was first mooted. I give below a summary of the building position to date—

Houses under construction by contract, 3; houses under construction by direct labour, 7; houses under construction by labour contract, 18, Total, 28.

Mr. Doyle added that since that report they had started two more, bringing the total to 30.

Replying to the Chairman, Mr. Doyle said that he required a "big question" to be asked in the whole of 160 cottages going at the one time.

To a further question as regards how many houses they would be able to carry on with in the area where the stores were (Kilmacthomas and Lismore), Mr. Doyle said that would depend on circumstances. He thought it would be a good plan if the Council would say how many houses they would recommend to be built in the first year, having regard to the fact that an organisation was being built up to carry out the scheme. They could not be expected to build as many houses the first year as the second. He thought they were going ahead very well.

Senator Butler said that the number being built was a ridiculous number. At that rate they would not be built for a number of years.

Chairman—Now that the organisation is on foot and going ahead, it is true to say that it will be able to build up to the number of 160 cottages going at the one time.

Mr. Doyle—I have no doubt of it. The first thing, of course, is to have the organisation and to get in the stocks and start building. It is a big job, and the condition of the work-houses in Lismore and Kilmacthomas, that what we took over were wrecks and they had to be reconstructed.

Mr. Harty said that the houses being built in Ring were excellent.

Mr. Kyne said these were the best he had seen. He was interested in the semi-direct labour scheme, which he would call it. "I might as well say that I am satisfied that things are going on well in the county. I believe that the houses as compared with the direct labour scheme in Dungarvan, are being absolutely neglected. I understand that a number are to be built by direct labour, a certain number by semi-direct labour, and a number by contract. I understand that we were to build two trial cottages so as to know what would be the cost. I understand that these were started last June and still are not finished."

Continuing, Mr. Kyne said that he knew that the scaffolding at these cottages had been moved at least 11 times from one cottage to another and that sand and gravel was dumped 200 yards away. He knew that some men had been left to go and men from County Tipperary taken on. He would suggest that that was not a happy state of affairs. He knew that some men had been left because they could not get employment. He suggested that there was something wrong and very definitely wrong. He pointed out that the names of two men, Mr. Faulkner, a mason, and Mr. Londergan from Rathgorman, were the men who were suggested that there was a County Tipperary foreman there.

Mr. Doyle said that Mr. Kyne made a reference to scaffolding, and he would refer to it as a number of planks and barrels. There were only one-storey houses, and there was no scaffolding as a scaffolding for one-storey houses. It was just a number of barrels and planks.

Mr. Kyne—"It is scaffolding."

Mr. Doyle—"It is a few barrels and planks."

Mr. Kyne—"You went to be technical about it. I say that whether it was poles or barrels or planks it was scaffolding. I suggest that there is just a lot of huffing going on."

Mr. Doyle said that there were enough planks and barrels to build not alone two houses but four. The position was that when they started the two trial cottages was that they could not get tradesmen, so they got a handyman, a man named Lonsger, who was referred to as a mason.

Mr. Kyne—"On a point of order, I did not refer to him as a mason."

Mr. Doyle—I got a communication from the County Secretary and he was referred to as a mason.

Continuing, Mr. Doyle said that he heard of him as a handyman plasterer, who had been employed on repairing cottages. He was not a success. They had a ganger and he had no control over Lonsger; he wanted to be boss. He (Mr. Doyle) wrote to the clerk of works, Mr. Donovan, about Lonsger and Mr. Donovan replied that instructions regarding cottages had not been carried out and he (Mr. Donovan) recommended that the work be closed down, so that a proper building foreman could be employed. They had advertised for a building foreman and received applications. Mr. Murry, "Paddy the Champion" in the Tipperary Stakes final, and they divided the honours as Mrs. J. Farrell's "Silhouette" ("Paddy the Champion") beat Mr. J. H. Marshall's "Miss Mando" ("Tremando") in the 1st Final, and Mr. M. Dillard's "Dashing Iris" ("Tremando") beat Mr. J. Walker's "Paddy's Daughter" ("Paddy the Champion") in the other final, and the losers here should qualify in the near future. As I said before, Trial Stakes this year will not be as satisfactory as under the old system, but anything is worth trying once, and I will not be surprised to see a return to the old system of six-to-four direct winners going forward to Derby and Oaks. It must have been disappointing for the Kilsheelan Club to get such a small crowd; in fact, I have never seen less people there, but, of course, it was rather unfortunate that the second day (Thursday) clashed with the nearby Tipperary race meeting, and it is going to be another clash between the (second day) Irish Cup meeting and Tremore on November 26. The meetings this year so far have been a great improvement on last year, and it is good to see the hares standing up so well, particularly as the weather, due to so much rain, is against them. I am looking forward to the meeting at Newtown and Kilmacthomas park very soon and hope that their efforts to cater for the grand old sport in that area will be successful.

SENIOR HURLING LEAGUE

AVONMORE QUALIFY FOR COUNTY FINAL.

Avonmore, 6-3; Dungarvan, 2-5. Unnecessary roughness marked the meeting of the above teams at Lismore Gaelic Field on Sunday last in the play-off of the Western Final in which both teams had equal points. The match, which was a hard fought one, was pretty evenly contested, with only a few points separating the contestants until the closing quarter, from which period Avonmore showed superior stamina and three fast goals put the issue beyond doubt. This was a complete reversal of the form of three weeks ago when the teams met at Dungarvan, where Avonmore leading by five points near the end were defeated by two fast goals for Dungarvan. The winners were best served by the Fives brothers (4), Moore, Lonsgeran and McCarthy. For Dungarvan, Jackie Good and Thos. Curran were outstanding. Moylan, Daly and Tolin gave their best to stage off defeat but to no avail, and had to admit defeat at the hands of a younger and better trained fifteen.

J. Howard refereed an difficult game in an impartial manner.

Previous to the senior game Fives had won the final of the Western Division in minor football from Cappouin. This was a game of good clean football in which the combination of the Sarfield's was a deciding factor. This was particularly noticeable in the forwards, where Flynn, Dee, Whelan and O'Connor combined cleverly to build up an early lead, which they maintained to the end. The final score read—Sarfield's, 1-9; Cappouin, 1-1.

Mr. W. Fitzgerald (Finnisk Rovers) refereed.

COMMITTEE OF AGRICULTURE CREDIT BALANCE.
Arising from the auditor's report on the finances of the Committee of Agriculture, Mr. Harty pointed out that there was a credit balance of £3,168. He suggested that the committee be asked to ask the County Council for a reduced rate and take this credit balance or portion of it into account.

The suggestion was referred to the committee in question.

SYMPATHY.
Sympathy was voted to Mr. R. P. Byrne, M.R.C.V.S., Dungarvan, on the death of his brother, and to the relatives of the late Mr. Thos. Dunne, ex-M.C.C., Dumnon, Tallow.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.
