CLOYNE'S NEW BISHOP CONSECRATED

The famous carillon of 42 bells swinging high over the town and the harbour in the tower of St. Colman's Cathedral, took part in a joyous welcome when Most Rev. Dr. John J. Sheehy was consecrated Bishop of Cloyne last Sunday.

For the people of the Cathedral town it was a particularly happy occasion as they gathered to greet the young Bishop after the consecrating ceremony which was performed by the Apostolic Nuncio, Most Rev. Dr. Levanne, with the Bishop of Galway, Most Rev. Dr. Browne, and the Bishop of Kerry, Most Rev. Dr. Moylan as co-consecrators.

Most Rev. Dr. Sheehy is the 4th successor to St. Colman, who founded the Diocese in 610 and the fourth Bishop to be consecrated in St. Colman's Cathedral since the Cathedral was opened 80 years ago.

In the intervening period Most Rev. Dr. John McCarthy and Most Rev. Dr. Browne have been consecrated Bishops of Cloyne, and Most Rev. Dr. Wilson, a native of Cobby, Bishop of Blymore, West Africa.

NATIONAL FESTIVAL "FLOPPED" IN DUNGARVAN

Thirty Thousand Short

Special by TOM TOBIN

THEY have taken down the flags and bunting in Dungarvan. The seventh National Festival of Traditional Music is over and the people of the town have resumed their normal routine. But they will never forget the Festival. It proved to be a major disappointment, not in the numbers and standards of the entries but in the small crowds that came to Dungarvan for the three-day event.

Statements that 25,000 people visited the Festival on Sunday caused indignation throughout the town and district. "In fact," stated one trader, "to say that we had 10,000 people on Sunday was certainly rubbing salt into our wounds."

There was nothing like 15,000 in Dungarvan for the three days of the Festival. On Sunday not more than 5,000 attended the official opening at the Gaelic Field.

For weeks in advance, the committee behind the Festival urged the townspeople to make preparations to accommodate and cater for at least 40,000 people. Special committees were set up and full co-operation of the townspeople was given. Large stocks of foodstuffs and drink were laid in by many traders and special catering arrangements were set up. But on the first day of the Festival, the crowd to come into the town fell below that of an ordinary business day. Sunday's crowd could be compared to that to be seen at a county championship final in Dungarvan, while on Monday, though things definitely looked brighter, only a fraction of the numbers expected, turned up.

Not to blame
The weather was not to blame. Clear, sunny weather favoured the occasion and the standard of competitions was exceptionally high. Entries were over the 1,000 mark and came in from all parts of the county.

Interviewed at his home, Mr. Liam Comerford, one of the Joint Secretaries of the Festival Committee stated that the only explanation he could offer was that Dungarvan being very far south may have been a big part of the reason for the big crowd that flocked into Ennis last year. He agreed that the number of people was far below their expectations.

When I asked Mr. Comerford how they arrived at a figure of 40,000, he stated that this was the number that visited Ennis and it had been verified by Bord Failte. The fact was he added, that Dungarvan was not comparable to Ennis. It did not have the strong backing of traditional musicians that Ennis had. West Clare, Limerick, Kerry and Galway were able to provide the great bulk of that 40,000 people who gathered at the Festival in Ennis.

"That was our trouble," said Mr. Comerford, "we did not have the area suitable for such a Festival. The people here did not have sufficient interest in traditional Irish music to come to it. They were leaving it to the outsiders and they did not come. That was not the case in Clare. To illustrate the point, of all our entries, we had two only, from Waterford City."

Traders lose
Throughout the town, traders faced considerable losses through their stocks of perishable goods left on their shelves. Ham sandwiches and other treats from the greater part of the town's local breweries have come to the assistance of the publicans and hotels by accepting back the excess stocks of their products and vegetables were going on all day of Tuesday.

At Messrs. Thomas Power and Co. Ltd., St. Bridget's Well Brewery, I was told that the sales had been most disappointing for the publicans. The Festival had been of some value to firms on the Square and Main Street area of the town but, of little or no value to others. Sale of minerals were nothing above average.

"There was dissatisfaction in the manner in which the All-Ireland competitions were set off. They were, in most cases, over an hour behind schedule due to late starting. The Secretary, pointed out that this was not due to the committee but to the fact that competitors were late in turning up. However, it was in the release of results to the Press that the greatest hold-up was experienced. There seemed to be no organised system and results were not made available until a late hour and even then they were not confirmed. It was only on Tuesday that it was possible to get the final result of the All-Ireland Ceili Bands Competition which was won by Tuula Hill Band, Co. Clare.

The Press was not present
A Festival dinner was held at the Convent of Mercy to which members of the Press were not invited. Incident are alleged to have taken place there as a result of which Aid. Tom Ryan, T.D. was stated to have left in protest. When interviewed at his home, Aid. Ryan said he would make no comment whatsoever.

Mr. Comerford and Mr. T. Boyle, Joint Secretaries of the Festival Committee would not make a comment and refused to issue a statement.

There was a difference of opinion concerning the guard of honour to receive the Minister for Education, Mr. J. Lynch, T.D. Originally, it was stated that he would be received by a guard of honour of FCA drawn from the local battalion. For the past three weeks preparations had been going on for this but, at the last minute a dispute arose at a meeting of the Festival Committee when it was stated that the Committee would not finance this matter and members of the FCA present left in protest. There was no guard of honour. Again no comment on this matter was forthcoming.

The "Flaw"
It was said to find such a crowd followed such a brilliant effort by the people of Dungarvan. An effort that was nullified by the simple fact that the crowds they were told would come, did not. Throughout the town the "flaw" is being called "the flaw" and people generally were really indignant at the manner in which the whole event was run off. There have been numerous protests not from the townspeople but from competitors and adjudicators and it is likely that their complaints will be echoed at future meetings of Comhaltas Ceoiltoiri Eireann in Dungarvan.

A ceil dance at Clonon on Monday night had to be called off. Despite the fact that one of Ennis's best ceil bands was to provide the music, only four couples turned up.

AWARDS
The Minister went on to say that it was more necessary that they should have such organisations as Comhaltas Ceoiltoiri Eireann to help the youth to withstand these influences.

Irish dancing, he said, was often forced into a jumble with commercial dance halls. He appealed to young people to learn Irish dancing and when they came to adolescence and marriage and womanhood to insist on doing these Irish dances properly.

"It is a great pleasure for me," the Minister said, "once again to meet Most Rev. Dr. Cohanlan. It is well over 30 years ago since I first met him when, in the Cathedral in Cork, I was serving his Mass, morning after morning. I am glad he was able to come here to-day to instill into the minds of the young people that he is, as head of the Church in this diocese, stands foursquare behind the objects that Comhaltas Ceoiltoiri Eireann has set before it."

He asked the young people to remember that they had learned about traditional Irish culture, not only as a school subject but something that strikes at the heart and survival of the nation.

Rev. F. J. McGrath, C.C., Cappagh, outlined the objectives of the governing bodies of the Festival and the work of the teachers in Ireland.

The teachers he said now were even more vital and more necessary. Thirty years ago the youth knew a thing about wire-frames, picture houses or dance-halls. They could become a great antidote against these things and another ugly threat that boms large - television.

New Record in Tweed Exports
The value of tweed exports from Ireland in the first five months of 1957 has reached a new record of £115,000, according to figures published by the Department of Finance.

The value of tweed exports in the first five months of 1956 was £105,000. The increase of 9 per cent is due to a rise in the price of tweed and to a rise in the quantity of tweed exported.

The value of tweed exports in the first five months of 1957 was £115,000, an increase of 9 per cent on the corresponding period of 1956.

'Strikes at very heart of the nation'
-MINISTER

YOUNG people now had to contend with many foreign influences—and it was not only because they were foreign that they were evil—with which those who learned the Irish language 30 years ago had not to contend, said Mr. Lynch, Minister for Education, representing the Taoiseach at the official opening in Dungarvan on Sunday, of the seventh Fleadh Cheoil na hEireann, sponsored by Comhaltas Ceoiltoiri Eireann.

Mr. Lynch said that the G.A.A. were not consistent in their attitude. When they insisted that their members should play only Gaelic games and they put a ban on foreign games, they allowed their members to run foreign dances up and down the country.

Rule 29 of the G.A.A. handbook, he said, laid down that all members of the G.A.A. should be in possession of Irish standards and ideals. That was not being done. They allowed their members to run foreign dances contrary to their own rules.

By organizing this all-Ireland traditional music festival, the members of Comhaltas Ceoiltoiri Eireann have already put into effect the advice of his Holiness with indisputable advantage to our country and to all of us. In the past three years there is evidence for the future, and Ireland by reason of its unlimited wonderful store of tradition, songs and music could lay indisputable claim to an illustrious historical past and to true, genuine nationhood, he said.

It was clear that in this country music and song had exercised an almost boundless influence and had been inseparably associated with its illustrious past.

"The members of the Comhaltas Ceoiltoiri Eireann were, said Prof. Wyley, performing a splendid patriotic task in seeking to maintain intact in their heritage of traditional music and song, especially at a time when the very existence of that highly pleasurable interest was threatened by a modern danger. The danger of radio transmission programmes which His Grace the Archbishop of Tuam recently described as "the canned cacophony of jolly wood."

Mr. P. S. Moinsell, Secretary of the Executive Committee, Comhaltas Ceoiltoiri Eireann said that they had permission to set on foot the main cause of the country's economic difficulties was lack of national spirit.

A father of a home was prepared to fight to the last inch to save his home. If it were threatened but, collectively, they were not prepared to fight for the larger home—the country as a whole. They had professional people turning out of the country because of lost confidence in the future.

He felt that, if they had more faith in the country and if they tried to be just to themselves and not the great mitators on earth, they would achieve more.

They were far too prone to copy the bank and for eigners generally and decay their own cultural background which had the envy of the great masters of music as the real line in the past.

BALLINA RESOLUTION. A resolution from the Ballina Co. Mayo, U.D.C. was before the meeting for adoption asking the Mayo County Council to give details of the travelling expenses paid to members for attending meetings.

Mr. Lynch—I have great pleasure in proposing the adoption of this resolution which just shows the number of times I have been asking for information concerning the costings of the Youghal bridge and as far have not received it from the County Manager. This official should give this information when he is asked for it. I don't see why these men should be permitted to become dictators and I think it is up to the Minister to get the information asked for by the Council.

Mr. Daly—The last Manager gave us some details here before and he gave us details this year also. Mr. Daly continuing said this matter was raised time and again and the Co. Manager in Mayo should give the information asked for by the Mayo U.D.C. and he seconded Mr. Lynch.

Mr. Lynch—I am not blaming the ass. Co. Manager but I am blaming the County Manager who so far has not given us the information we asked for. The discussion ended.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL

Present—Mr. O'Gorman, Chairman presiding Mrs. Hurley Messrs Hickey, Lynch, Linehan, Daly, Lawlor, and Mr. Hayes. COSTINGS — YOUGHAL BRIDGE

Mr. Lynch—Any reply from the Co. Manager in regard to the costings of the Youghal bridge to date. Town Clerk.—No. Mr. Lynch—Half the cost of the bridge is nearly gone out there already.

Mr. Daly—It is discourtesy on the part of the Co. Manager not to have replied. The Town Clerk was requested to again write and ask for the part of the Co. Manager not to have replied. The Town Clerk stated that the Council's debit balance as at the 31st March 1957 was reduced from £10,179 to £7,200.

Manager—Thanks are due to everyone concerned especially the ratepayers. Chairman—This is very satisfactory and credit is due to everyone especially the ratepayers as the Manager has said. Mr. Lawlor—What is the amount of interest payable on overdraft to 31st March, 1957. Town Clerk.—£532.19.9.

Mr. Lawlor—If we continue to reduce our debit balance as we have been doing, we should be able to wipe out the overdraft in a couple of years. Mrs. Hurley—We should be better to pay interest on overdraft and reduce the rates it is a shame to treat the people of Youghal like this.

Chairman—If we confined ourselves to the town rate we would have reduced the rates. Mrs. Hurley—Why should the people with up to £14 a week get the new houses at Scafield Cross. Mr. Lawlor—I don't think we should throw any reflection on the people who earn £14 or £15 a week.

Mr. Lawlor—These ten houses are the property of the South Cork Board of Health and we have nothing to say to them. The discussion ended. BALLINA RESOLUTION. A resolution from the Ballina Co. Mayo, U.D.C. was before the meeting for adoption asking the Mayo County Council to give details of the travelling expenses paid to members for attending meetings.

Mr. Lynch—I have great pleasure in proposing the adoption of this resolution which just shows the number of times I have been asking for information concerning the costings of the Youghal bridge and as far have not received it from the County Manager. PROTECTION OF CLAY-CASTLE In regard to the above work which is being carried out by the Co. Council from monies put up by that body and by a grant from L.G.D. the Manager C.I.E. who had been written to for a grant to complete the job, wrote stating that the C.I.E. was prepared to make a grant of £640.

Chairman—This is very good news. Mr. Dal—Is the work proceeding. Chairman—We should express our appreciation of the action of C.I.E. This was agreed to. ROAD AT TOWN WALLS END OF SANSFIELD TERRACE Mr. Dal—Would there be any hope of a protective railing being erected opposite the Sansfield Terrace road. I would suggest that we do so at once, because were anything to happen we would be held liable.

Town Clerk.—The Engineer is about to have something done. Mr. Lawlor—I would suggest a protective railing of used railway rails. Mr. Linehan agreed adding that they would stand a long time as they could not be burned as railway sleepers could and would the matter was left in the hands of the Engineer.

GAMING AND LOTTERIES. Messrs Wm. Perks and Son Amusements Caterers, Youghal, wrote informing the Council that he was about to apply to the District Court, under the above Act for permission to run his amusements in Youghal for the Summer season. The matter was noted.

BREACH IN TOWN WALLS. Messrs J. L. Keane and Son Solicitors wrote on behalf of the Rev. Mother and Sisters of the Convent of the Sacred Hearts The College, Youghal, asking to have the breach in the Town Walls made good for the purpose of preventing trespass. The Manager said that to rebuild the wall would cost £300, but to erect a wire paling fence would cost only £30; the Town Walls are your property and you are liable. Mr. Daly—I agree, we should erect the wire paling as a temporary protection. Mr. Lynch—The trespassing was carried out through this gap on our wall which is under our jurisdiction.

Chairman—An example should have been made of the three or four caught when they were before the Court, instead of that the Saur, for the Convent stated the Court that he didn't want the case pressed. There is a complete lack of civic spirit. Mr. Lawlor proposed that the £30 wire fence be erected and Mr. Linehan seconded and the necessary financial resolution asking for a supplementary estimate was passed. Mr. Linehan—We should consider the Nuns of the manner in which these responsible for the trespass were treated in Court.

where always told that this section was one of the best paying sections on the system from June to September as the factories have to get all their raw materials via the railways and I cannot see any Govt putting these findings into operation.

Mr. Daly—I would suggest that that Middleton U.D.C., Youghal U.D.C. the Beet Growers Ass., the N.F.A. and all interests which have an interest in this section should make a strong protest.

Mrs. Hurley—I don't think we need worry a lot about it because I don't think any Government will put that report into operation. Mr. Lynch—If C.I.E. is not doing as well as it should, I think they should blame themselves and their staffs for the manner in which they handle things. It was decided to adopt Mr. Daly's suggestion to get all the bodies interested to enter a strong protest.

PONIES ON THE STRAND It was decided to permit ponies to be used on the strand for the summer from the outer gap onwards. Mr. Lynch—From the gap onwards would be dangerous as the rifle range is being used every Sunday.

Mr. Lawlor—Would it be possible to request the Minister for Defence to suspend firing practice on the range during July and August. Mr. Daly—They have ten months to fire their course. Chairman—I agree range practice should cease during July and August.

Mrs. Hurley—They may leave. Mr. Lawlor—If they did leave we might be able to start development out there. Finally it was decided to request that rifle range firing should be suspended during July and August.

FERRY TIME TABLE Some time was spent discussing the best manner in which to run the ferry and river services during the summer months and it was finally decided that a committee of the Council would meet and decide on a time-table and report back to the Council without delay.

PUBLIC CONVENIENCES Mrs. Hurley protested that the public conveniences were not open on the 1st Sunday in June. She was informed that they would be open from Whit onwards.

SCAVENGING In reply to a member the Manager stated that Sunday morning scavenging will resume immediately. Noted. Mrs. Hurley—Is there any chance that a public lamp will be put at the end of Peckish Bush Lane. Mr. Lawlor—It is in the minutes that any proposal for an additional public lamp will necessitate a notice of motion.

Mrs. Hurley—I will hand in Notice of Motion to have public lamps put at Peckish Bush Lane and at Grant's Quay. PAVIS LANE. Mr. Lynch complained of dumping in Pavis Lane blocking the road to the strand which is being used extensively and something should be done to stop this practice. I think notices threatening prosecution for persons caught dumping should be erected there.

Town Clerk—There are notices there. Mr. Lawlor—Why not put posts down at the entrance and stop cars from going down there dumping rubbish. Mr. Lynch—I do not think we have any legal right to have a barrier put down there it was finally decided to erect notices as suggested.

Kilmacthomas, Kilrossanty and Stradbally Notes

R.I.P.—Sincere and general regret was felt at the news of the death of Mr. James (Jim) Bourke. Shannakill, Kilmacthomas, who was also the District Director of the Dungarvan District after a protracted illness and in his late sixties. An outstanding personality in himself, the deceased came from good old family stock and during his honourable career he endeavored himself to every member of the community who shared his acquaintance, being recognised as a keen agriculturalist and a fine sportsman.

Possessed of a natural gift of gentle, cheery kindness, he commanded the esteem and confidence of many to the end. His demise was in keeping with a life of exemplary attachment to the Mother Church and his loyalty to the Sodality of the Sacred Heart.

The remains were conveyed to St. Anne's Church, Ballyineen, and lay overnight, interment taking place in the adjoining cemetery on Saturday of last week (after Requiem Mass), in the presence of many mourners including his brothers, Peter and Jack and sister, Miss K. Bourke, with whom sincere sympathy is widespread.

Rev. M. J. Russell, C.C. Ballyineen, recited the prayers at the graveside.

SANCTION FOR COTTAGE SCHEME TO BE ISSUED

Deputy Kyne asked the Minister for Local Government if he would state the number of road workers employed by Waterford Co. Council on 30th April, 1956, and (b) 1957.

The Minister replied that the number employed at the 30th April, 1956, and 1957 was 561 and 500 respectively.

The Minister also informed Deputy Kyne that sanction for the cottage scheme for Waterford Co. Council would be issued in a few days.

Deputy Kyne asked the Minister for Health—in view of the large number of applicants on the waiting list for the supply of dentures, he has considered the application of the Waterford Board of Public Assistance for sanction to appoint a temporary dentist from a list already submitted to his Department.

The Minister replied that he had received a proposal from the Board for sanction to the appointment of a whole-time dental surgeon to deal with persons in the lower income group who have applied for dentures. And that he had suggested to the Board that it was a big congregation present and the Church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Sponsors for the children were: Knockanore, Mr. Cronin, N.T., Kilwatermoy, Mrs. M. Ryan, N.T., Glendine, Mrs. S. Casey, N.T. and Miss Nolan, N.T.

Grass Silage is the cheapest and best winter food for cattle. It produces more milk, healthier calves and better beef cattle at lower cost. Make Silage now and save money on feeding stuffs later on.

YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT silage WHEN WINTER COMES

Silage making is simple if you watch the following points:

1. Leaty grass and clover make the best silage: cut in early flowering stage for good quality.
2. Shake out each forkful—loads dumped in the silo cause mouldy patches.
3. Fill the silo to a depth of 3 to 4 feet the day you begin.
4. Let a day or two pass for this filling to heat up to body heat (98°F).
5. Now fill in and trample well day after day until the silo is filled.
6. Fill the silo slowly if you are dealing with rich young grass in wet weather: molasses will help under these conditions. Fill quickly and pack hard if the grass is stemmy or the weather is warm and dry and temperature rises above 98°F.
7. Finish the silo by sealing off and putting on some type of covering to throw off the rain.

If you are making silage for the first time or if you have any problems, be sure to consult your instructor in Agriculture or Parish Agent. Read the Department's brochure on Silage.

Potato Blight and its Prevention

The Potato Blight is caused by a minute thread-like fungus or mould, which invades the leaves of the potato plant and lives on their substance, causing them to decay in spots and finally to wither away. It is only in moist, warm weather that the parasite is able to spread from plant to plant, hence the weather is the direct cause of the disease.

whole crop goes down into a characteristically evil-smelling decay.

THE DISEASE IN THE TUBERS

In the field—in addition to causing infections on the foliage, the spores produced on the leaves are also responsible for spreading disease to the tubers, when washed down by the agency of rain into the soil. Blight in the tubers is recognised by the presence of hard, discoloured, slightly shrunken areas on the surface, underneath which the flesh is flecked with rusty-brown marks, which tend to extend around the margin near the skin and project irregularly, but generally not very deeply, into the interior of the tuber. Diseased tubers usually remain firm but rot very moist conditions a wet rot of a very objectionable nature (caused by other secondary rot-producing organisms) may supervene either in the field or afterwards in storage. Potatoes situated near the surface of the soil are most likely to become blighted, and high moulding is therefore, a considerable protection.

that, when subjected to the same amount of infection after digging, artificially wounded tubers developed nearly three times the amount as potatoes which were not artificially wounded. Reasonably careful handling of the crop is, therefore, desirable, particularly when digging is carried out while blight infection is prevalent.

APPEARANCE OF DISEASE ON FOLIAGE

The spots produced on the leaves by blight are dark brown to nearly black in colour. During moist, warm weather they increase rapidly in size and around the margin of each on the lower surface of the leaf may be seen a faint whitish mould or mildew. The presence of this growth is a good rough indication that blight is present for not all the brown spots which appear on potato leaves are due to this disease. If the weather is dry or cold the mould may not appear but it may be made to develop, if present, by laying the suspected leaf (lower side up) on a piece of moist blotting paper and covering it with an inverted saucer.

Where potatoes are grown solely for seed purposes, it is now recommended that the tops be destroyed by spraying with a solution of sodium chlorate when the tubers have reached the desired size. Various strengths of the solution are in use, i.e., 8, 10 or 12 lb. sodium chlorate per 40 gallons water. The stronger the solution the quicker the kill of the tops. Satisfactory results may also be obtained from a solution of 12 to 15 lb. copper sulphate in 40 gallons water. In addition to obtaining the maximum quantity of seed-size tubers, killing the tops in this manner also prevents the development of potato blight.

PREVENTION BY SPRAYING

The object aimed at in spraying potatoes is to cover the foliage with a protective coating and one sufficiently permanent not to be easily washed away, which while being harmless to the potato plant, will be poisonous to the blight fungus, and so destroy its spores before they can penetrate into the leaves. The dressings which have been found to answer this purpose best are freshly made mixtures of sulphate of copper and washing soda (Burgundy mixtures) or sulphate of copper and quicklime (Bordeaux mixture). After the discovery of Bordeaux mixture, and of its applicability to the prevention of potato blight in France between 1885 and 1890, one of the first places in which the discovery was taken up was Ireland, where the earliest experiments were conducted in 1890, and where at the present day spraying for potato blight is practised probably more widely and successfully than in any other country.

Where it is required to clear the ground quickly of crops of the earlier varieties and where the potatoes are not destined for immediate use, the safest procedure, once blight has appeared on the leaves, is to cut off and remove the tops, or to destroy them as described in the case of potatoes for seed by spraying with a suitable mixture at least two weeks prior to digging.

Spread of Infection

The whitish mildew is made up of a network of microscopic threads of the parasite, which protrude through the breathing-pores of the leaf, each thread branching after it emerges into a diminutive tree-like growth. The spores of the fungus are produced on the branches of the threads—from which they are readily detached—and are then carried about by currents of air. These spores, which are, of course, of microscopic size, are produced in immense numbers when the atmosphere is moist and the weather not too cold, and as each of them (in the presence of rain or dew) is able to produce from six to sixteen or more still smaller bodies, each capable of causing infection, it can be readily understood with what rapidity the disease may spread.

Experience has conclusively proved that the loss caused by potato blight can be, to a great extent, prevented by spraying and the operation has come to be regarded as essential to the successful cultivation of the potato crop. The reports received by the Department from a large number of districts show that those who take the trouble to carry out the work properly are abundantly rewarded while those who neglect to spray suffer heavy loss both in the quantity and quality of the crop.

Infection takes place when spores, carried by wind or rain, fall on a moist leaf, and produce delicate threads which push their way into the leaf and there grow at the expense of the substance of the plant. Blight spores subsequently appear at the point of infection, and within about five days a new crop of spores may be produced. The result is that with a continuation of moist, warm weather, the leaves become blackened and shrivelled within a comparatively short time. The stalks are sometimes attacked and the freshly dug potatoes are naturally very susceptible to blight infection, a fact which explains why so much disease is sometimes contracted in lifting the crop but this susceptibility is increased by wounds and even slight abrasions of the skin. It has been shown experimentally

The Inside Story

The Flop that Needn't have been

BY TOM TOBIN

It has been the topic of conversation all the week. As a matter of fact, people are still talking about it everywhere. Even some of our prominent daily and national papers have discussed it in their columns.

Yes, it is a fact that the National Festival of Traditional Music, which was the main attraction of the town, was a flop. It was a flop because the people of the town were led up the garden path.

In reading this summary of the "memorable" event, you will want to be fair to all sides. On my front page to-day, I give the story of what happened as I found it. Now let us analyse the facts.

As a festival of traditional music, the event was an outstanding success. We would long recall it as such but for the over optimistic people who went along and urged the people of the town, and country, for that matter, to cater for at least 40,000 people.

Now we know how wrong they were. The people of Dungarvan rose up to the occasion. They prepared and laid in plenty of everything... but they were caught napping. Too many people went into the affair with the idea of making a killing.

When I questioned members of the committee on the reasons for the flop, I was told that Dungarvan was not the ideal location for a festival of this kind. All very well to be told that now but if they should realise this now, they should have been well aware of it when they told the people of Dungarvan to cater for 40,000 visitors.

A shilling admission to each hall and no passes being issued. I had a prominent Dublin visitor with me when a ticket seller told me that no passes should be issued. If you came out of the hall for dinner you had to pay going back again.

This was overdoing it. Not to mention admission fee into the Gaelic Field at 2/6. These figures were enough to frighten off the locals and I mean the people from all over Waterford.

GET RICH FAST

But it is the visitors to Dungarvan who can do us the greater harm now. Many of them have returned home with impressions that are false yet true. True because they are based on situations created by the few.

I can reveal that because a visitor from Dublin... a man who brought along 12 children, all fine musicians, whose ages range from 5 to 16 years.

NO MILLIONAIRES

Messrs. Keating and Gormanly are both working men - no millionaires. In the hope of meeting some of their expenses they asked for a spot in the celebrity concert but up to the last minute did not know whether there was a chance or not.

The whole thing is but a memory now. Not a pleasant one, unfortunately. Nevertheless, let us hope that the many enjoyable moments that were provided will outweigh the many disappointments.

They Made Headlines

A tribute to the historical, cultural and industrial parade which took place on Sunday is most certainly due. It was really a wonderful sight. In this case I raise my hat to Mr. Denis Cullinan, C.E.O. and his band of organisers.

Had there been a prize offered that day I would have given it to the O'Briens of Abbeyside for their "New House" display. It was certainly the most original. Second place in my opinion would have gone to Dungarvan Coursing Club for their outstanding turn of the very fact that they had this year's winner of the Waterloo Cup, KENTUCKY MINSTREL.

BANDS COMPLAINED

I was approached by members of the visiting bands and representatives of our locals on Sunday. Their complaint was that having requested a pass to the cell, they had been given "the run around". They told me that it was the usual custom to get passes in cases of this kind and personally, I feel that they earned them and this applies in particular to Dungarvan Pipe Band who played for the KILMACTHOMAS.

A BIG INSULT

Then we had the big insult to our distinguished guests at the Gaelic Field. His Lordship, the Bishop arrived as did the Minister for Education... and there was no one to meet them. They had to push their way through. It was absolutely shocking. Then they had a platform on the field on which the guests sat during the events. It was the most abominable conception I have seen in a long time. A scaffolding affair with the lower portion covered with bare canvas. I saw His Lordship the Bishop, climbing on to it having to use that rough steel scaffolding as a support. Those concerned should be ashamed. Surely, it was not have been too much to expect to have it decorated with our national colours to have had lino over the rough planks, to have covered the scaffolding. The whole thing made me feel ashamed to be associated with it.

CLEAR THE AIR

I made it clear that I wished to be fair about all this. Consequently I feel I should point out that all members of the committee were not at fault. Some did their work very well, some did the work of two or three but others caused more chaos than anything else. In fairness to all concerned, I suggest that a special meeting of all members connected with the preparations for the Festival be called as soon as possible to which representatives of the Press be invited. I suggest that at this meeting an "inquest" be held into the whole affair. This very necessary now and there should be no reason why my suggestion should be turned down. Dungarvan's reputation has been injured, very much so and there is no good denying the fact. Now is the time to see that it does not happen again.

And what a great pity it was that such an unpleasant turn should have come about. When one looks back he will find that the Festival as such was really a wonderful affair and if properly organised and staged would have meant great things for the Old Box. What wonderful music was heard in the hall that Monday. If only it could have been heard on the streets or for that matter anywhere in the open.

Someone was at fault, I happen to know that the public address system was rigged up on Saturday evening and I know that not a member of the committee bothered to check that evening to see if it had arrived or not.

They Know

When I questioned members of the committee on the reasons for the flop, I was told that Dungarvan was not the ideal location for a festival of this kind. All very well to be told that now but if they should realise this now, they should have been well aware of it when they told the people of Dungarvan to cater for 40,000 visitors.

SWINE FEVER REPORT STILL UNCONFIRMED

As we go to press we learn there is still no confirmation of the report that Swine Fever was located in two local herds. Official information is vague, but we learn that Department officers have sent organs from one animal in each herd for analysis, the report of which is awaited.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to Master Richard Aherne, a pupil of the Vocational School and a popular performer at local concerts on his securing an award at the Fleadh Cheoil in Dungarvan.

WON MEDALS

Through their success over Abbeyside at Dungarvan on Sunday evening, the senior hurling team collected a set of medals.

Favoured by fine weather the annual regatta attracted an immense crowd. An all-time record number of forty three crews representing twelve clubs showed the increasing popularity of the fixture. RECENT DEATHS

Late Mr. M. Flynn

Springmount, Dungarvan. The death which occurred on Wednesday, June 5th, of the above highly esteemed gentleman, removes from this area, one, who before his retirement from business some years ago, was one of the best-known victuallers and cattle dealers in the County.

Brother of the Very Rev. Wm. Canan Flynn, P.P., Tallow, and the late Thomas Flynn, late of Coolagour House, the deceased was well-known and highly respected not only in his native County, but by farmers and cattle traders of all the surrounding counties of Munster and Leinster, where his upright dealings with all in the course of his business earned for him the high opinion of those with whom he came in contact.

There was a large and very representative attendance at the removal of the remains to the Parish Church, Dungarvan, on Thursday evening and following the celebration of Office and High Mass on Friday morning interment was made in the adjoining cemetery, at which there was again a most representative attendance of mourners and friends.

Late Mr. Park, Tobin

BALLINROAD

Mr. Patrick Tobin, Ballinroad, who died recently at the age of 79 years, was a well known and popular figure in his native district. He was on active service in France during the First World War.

Poisoning of Cattle by Water Dropwort

The Department of Agriculture again draws the attention of farmers to the danger of the poisoning of cattle on pasture as a result of eating Water Dropwort. This is a common weed of ditches and river banks, with a parasitic-like root and finely divided leaves resembling those of the carrot. All parts of the weed are highly poisonous to cattle.

In the cleaning of ditches and river beds, Water Dropwort may be dug up with other weeds and roots and thrown on to adjoining pasture where it is liable to be consumed by stock with fatal results. Farmers and others are, therefore, urged to take great care in the disposal of vegetable matter protected in the course of drainage work, making sure that it is destroyed buried or removed to a place to which animals have no access.
