DUNGARVAN

Late Mr. James Nagle

Mr. James Nagle, who passed to his eternal reward on Thursday night last 20th June (Feast of Corpus Christi) was one of the town's best known and respected residents. A member of the Postal Staff of the Dungarvan Post Office until his retirement on pension some dozen years or so back, the deceased, due to his courteous manner and his efficiency, won the respect and esteem of all with whom he came in contact.

He was the last surviving member of the famous Erin's Hope (Dungarvan) Football team who about the close of the last century was considered the most outstanding football combination in Munster. He was father of Messrs. Patrick Nagle, the well-known plumbing contractor, O'Connell St., James, O'Connell Street, and John, England, to whom we join with their legion of friends in tendering very sincere sympathy in their sorrow.

The very large and representative attendance present at the removal of the remains to the Parish Church, Dungarvan on Friday evening, was evidence of the popularity of the deceased and the members of his family. The coffin was received at the Church gates and blessed by the Rev. Fr. Byrne, C.C. who was assisted by the Ven. Archdeacon Power, P.P. V.F., Rev. Fr. Farrell, C.C. Rev. Fr. J. P. Morrissey, C.F., Rev. Fr. Liddane and Rev. Fr. Qualey.

On Saturday following the celebration of Masses of Requiem, interment was made in the adjoining cemetery in the presence of another large gathering of mourners, sympathisers and friends.

Sheaves of Mass cards and many telegrams and letters of sympathy were received by the bereaved family.

ST. DECLAN'S HOLY WELL

Big improvements have been made during the past few weeks at the above holy well. These include the erection of a pulpit at the oratory door. This work was carried out under the capable supervision of Mr. Jeremiah Fitzgerald, Dungarvan.

Pilgrims arrive daily from all the adjoining parishes. Already pilgrims from Dublin have reserved accommodation in Dungarvan hotels to be present for the Mass at the holy well the end of July. There is now a bus service there from Dungarvan twice a week. Booking at N. Casey's, Square.

WEDDING BELLS

MOONEY-WALSH

The marriage with Nuptial Mass and Papal Blessing was solemnised in St. Mary's Parish Church, Dungarvan, on Thursday morning, 27th June, of Edmund Mooney, Ballinacorney, Old Parish and Miss Hanora Walsh, Mount Odell House, Dungarvan.

The happy ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Fr. Corbett, P.P. Ring, assisted by Rev. D. Byrne, C.C. Dungarvan.

The bride was attended by her sister Miss Kay Walsh, as bridesmaid, and Mr. D. Mooney was bestman. After the ceremony the party repaired to the Green Park Hotel, Youghal, where the wedding breakfast was served, following which the happy couple left on the honeymoon.

UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Renovated and enlarged at considerable expense, the licensed premises up to recently owned by Mr. Con Collins, at Carranglass, Knockanore, will be re-opened on Saturday next, 29th inst. by the new owner, Mr. Patrick O'Shea, who will have the best wishes of his legion of friends throughout the County for the success of his new venture. The premises carry a comprehensive stock of stout, whiskies, grocery and provisions etc. Customers can be assured of good value coupled with efficiency and courtesy.

Appointed Valuer for Arbitration Purposes

Mr. Norman Walsh, the well-known Cappoquin Auctioneer and Valuer, has been appointed as assessor to value the lands at Boreenatraw, Dungarvan which were acquired compulsorily by the Dungarvan Urban Council and will represent the Council at the arbitration proceedings soon to be held.

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR BACON FACTORY

ASSURED

SPECIAL BY TOM TOBIN

A new chapter in the life of West Waterford was written over the weekend when the old Cappoquin Bacon Factory was officially re-opened with the celebration of Mass within its newly improved buildings. It was an occasion of great joy in Cappoquin not alone for the directors and workers but for the people of the town generally when it was announced by the new owner, Mr. C. Murphy of Cork that, within the very near future, it was his hope to see a bigger staff employed at the factory.

The re-opening ceremonies commenced with the celebration of Mass in the factory by Very Rev. Fr. Kenneally, P.P. Cappoquin, which was attended by Mr. and Mrs. C. Murphy and family, Cork, Mr. and Mrs. M. O'Brien, Cork, Mr. P. O'Regan, Cork, and Mrs. K. O'Regan, Cork, all directors of Messrs. Murphy and Co., Cork, the new owners of the factory.

Members of the staff led by Mr. John Laine, Cork, Production Manager, were also present. Macra na Feirme, National Farmers' Association and the Pig Producers were represented by Mr. Paddy Fives and Mr. Denis Messey, Cappoquin. Mr. J. Brady and Mr. T. Crotty, represented the Cappoquin Bowling Club. Mr. P. O'Kelly represented the Dept. of Agriculture.

Immediately after Mass Very Rev. Fr. Kenneally dedicated the factory to the Sacred Heart and called on the workers to regard their employment as a family affair and to work for its advancement as well as their own in a spirit of co-operation and goodwill.

A special blessing from His Holiness, the Pope, on the re-opening of the factory was read by Very Rev. Fr. Kenneally.

A Milestone

Afterwards, the attendance was entertained to breakfast at Conway's Hotel, Cappoquin. Paying tribute to the work of Mr. Murphy, Fr. Kenneally stated that the occasion they were celebrating was a milestone of gratification in the life of Cappoquin. For many it was a most unexpected privilege indeed to attend the sacrifice of the Mass within the old bacon factory walls. It was something that would be recalled for a long time and what struck him was the fine turn out of the men, all of whom received Holy Communion. The new owners of the factory deserved every possible support and every co-operation from their workers, stated Fr. Kenneally, not alone for what they were setting out to achieve but for what they had already achieved. Only too well they knew that the factory had been for many years "a drab, dead old place — a place without expression where the relationship between worker and employer was concerned."

"Now," he added, the clouds of darkness and depression had given way to the sunshine of friendship, co-operation and gladness in the progressive enterprise that was theirs.

Family Spirit

The fine spirit of co-operation, that family spirit, that existed between management and staff could mean great things, not alone for those working there but for the area as a whole. They should never forget that the business was their concern, their individual concern, and should make every hour of the day a step forward — an improvement on their achievement of the previous one. The success of the factory depended on their efforts and while they could be assured of the full co-operation of the management, it was on the personal effort of every man that their future and the future of their industry depended.

Fr. Kenneally paid high tribute to Mr. Murphy stating that he was a man of ambition and enterprise whose ideal in life was to do good for his fellowmen. The "personal gain" was not the big concern of Mr. Murphy and this fact had been established long before now. He had set out in establishing his industries not just to make them successful from the financial point of view but to make his employees happy and comfortable in their work and in their way of life.

Fr. Kenneally stated that in taking over the Cappoquin Bacon Factory, Mr. Murphy had written a chapter that would live on in the annals of Cappoquin as one of the best things that happened there.

Co-Operation

Personally he was satisfied that those working in the Cappoquin factory were a fine body of men and he wished to assure them of every help he could give in making their industry a success. However, it could not be a success without the full backing of each of the three parties. The farmer too could be assured of their full co-operation. If the farmers of West Waterford produced high quality pigs the workers in the Cappoquin Bacon Factory would have an obligation to the farmers, as well as to themselves and to the factory.

to turn out top quality bacon and by turning out such bacon they would be establishing their own reputation and that of their bacon. All of this would lead to a better price for their bacon which would enable the factory to pay the farmer a better price for his pigs. The farmer, the worker and the management were well represented and he wished to impress upon them that he would rely on each to play his part.

behalf of Macra na Feirme, NFA and Pig Producers stated that an expression of thanks on their behalf was not just enough. It was up to the young farmers of Ireland to build up a far better understanding between industry and agriculture to further the interests of the nation as a whole "to make it more prosperous and more enjoyable to live in."

We belong to the basic industry, said Mr. Fives, it is from us that the material to work on if we cannot give the workers in the factory good quality pigs they cannot be expected to put good quality bacon on the market. Therefore, it is our duty to give them the very best we can produce so that they may get the good price that we too will share in. I want to express our thanks to all concerned for making this such a memorable occasion in Cappoquin.

With God's Help

Mr. J. Laine, Production Manager, expressed his thanks to the Management on behalf of the staff for making such an opportunity available to them. He wished to assure them that with the help of God they would fulfil Mr. Murphy's plans for the future development of their factory. He was thankful for the wonderful co-operation he had received from Cappoquin during the past three months during which time production at the factory and the number employed there had doubled. Mr. Laine paid tribute to the Sisters of Mercy in Cappoquin and Miss W. Murray who were responsible for the remarkable transformation of part of the factory into an impressive little chapel.

Mr. M. O'Brien, Managing Director said the occasion was a really wonderful spectacle and all of the owed a great debt of gratitude to Fr. Kenneally for celebrating Mass in their factory. Through it they would enjoy many blessings on their work. A lot of work was in front of them but the loyalty of all would see their boat safely home. The spirit that exists among all connected with the Cappoquin Bacon Factory ensured the success of their undertaking.

At this stage, Mr. Murphy introduced his son John, stating that he would be coming to Cappoquin to play his part in the industry.

Mr. Murphy (jun.) said — It is up to you to teach me now. Give me your co-operation and I will give you mine.

Fr. Kenneally said that young Mr. Murphy would be very welcome in Cappoquin where it would be the wish of all that he would be happy and successful.

Mr. P. Cunningham, speaking on behalf of the employees said that they appreciated the efforts being made on their behalf and he wished to assure the management of their full co-operation at all times in the future. Already he said, the improvements achieved at the factory were really tremendous.

Rowing Club's Association

Since Messrs. C. Murphy and Co., Cork, took over the Cappoquin Bacon Factory in February last, production has doubled as has the number of men employed there. To-day, there are 40 men employed, all full time and it is confidently expected that this number will be increased within the very near future when the factory will go into the production of bacon by-products.

For the Nation

Mr. Paddy Fives, speaking on

to the EDITOR

The Editor, Dungarvan Observer Dear Sir,—

In connection with reports appearing in last week's paper, concerning alleged dismissal of a worker employed by Dungarvan U.D.C., I wish to state that my Union is the only one catering for general workers in Dungarvan.

It is a rule of my Union that to retain membership it is necessary that arrears of contributions should be kept below a certain level. While employed my members are paid full Trade Union rates and no hardship is imposed by the payment of the contribution of 1/- per week.

While unemployed or ill this contribution is reduced to 3d. (three pence) per week with full benefits as long as the member keeps in compliance; any special case of hardship can be appealed to the committee and is always dealt with sympathetically.

This makes it clear that loss of employment by any worker due to Non-Union membership is due only to his refusal to pay Union contributions and not his inability to do so.

F. J. BREEN, P.C.
Branch Secretary,
Amalgamated Transport and General Workers Union,
1, Main Street, Dungarvan.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

TROOP MEETING

At the beginning of the meeting on Saturday night we had a practice of a few drill movements to be carried out at Sunday's Procession using hand signs instead of the usual calling of orders. This worked well but of course the fellows late for the meeting were a bit confused at the Procession. At roll call each Scout's test record sheet was checked and it was found that some did not pass a test "for years". That some candidates at their rate of going would not be invested for four years, and that it would take some Scouts seven or eight years to reach First Class Rank, at their rate of progress to date. This check seemed to bring some little result as on Sunday morning with plenty of examiners about there was a fair bit of business done. Most Scouts should be 2nd class investing at time. J. Duggan set out on Monday to do a Journey test and as it is his last first class test he may join his beloved brother Paddy in a first-class investiture soon. During the meeting we had a chat about "binding your equipment and yourself" during camp so that all come back undamaged. At the end of meeting we had a sing song and while the Wolf Patrol were anxious for Calypso especially Harry's "Banana Boat Song" and "Jamaica Farewell" they joined in Irish songs which were popular last camp.

FAREDE

About forty-five Scouts paraded to town on Sunday to the Corpus Christi Procession and to do our usual stunts at the corners. Claran and his patrol arrived just on time. On the way home we marched behind the Brass and Reed Band and heard some music which only a Brass Band can play. It was very easy to keep in step so it seems to be the solution to all our marching problems to get behind a Brass Band.

CAMP

With departure date only about four weeks away, all the talk is about Bunclody. It is four years since we visited this town at the foot of St. Leinster. This year, with about thirty names already on the camp list it looks as if we will make it a good camp. In 1953 we took on a Dublin troop in a hurling match. This year with good hurlers like John, Cos, Kevin and Co. we should be able to take on the Wexford team. We hear that a Troop from Cobh will be camping at Clonsa next week and we wish them good times and fine weather.

SYMPATHY.

We offer sympathy from the Troop to Jim Nagle on the death of his father which took place last week. A guard of honour in charge of ASME. P. Burke and P. Brown, attended at the funeral.—R.I.P.—WH.

LEAF SPOT OR LEAF STRIPE OF OATS

Leaf Spot, or Leaf Stripe as it is sometimes called, is the commonest and most generally harmful disease of oats in Ireland. It is safe to say that there is no crop entirely free from it, and the harm done to the plants in the early stages of their growth is sometimes so great that the vigour and yield are much reduced. Within recent years a simple and economical method of control has become available, namely, by seed treatment, and all oat growers are now recommended to adopt this practice.

A great advantage of the treatment is that it improves the quality of seed oats grown in comparatively unfavourable districts and makes the use of expensive imported seed unnecessary.

APPEARANCE OF THE DISEASE

The disease assumes three principal forms, of which the first is the most destructive, these being—

1. Stripping and death of the lower leaves of the young plants.
2. Spotting of older leaves leading to seed infection.
3. Death of the seedlings before they come above ground.

Striping and death of lower leaves—The disease begins to appear a few days after the plants come above ground and as soon as the first leaf opens an elongated reddish-brown spot or stripe develops on the blade usually beginning near the top and then running down the centre or margin with the result that the leaf is gradually killed from the top backwards. Meanwhile the second leaf has appeared, and it becomes attacked in the same way in its turn and gradually dies. The third leaf and in some cases, the fourth also may become similarly involved, following which the plant may die although it usually survives in a crippled condition. This phase of the attack is most in evidence during May. Once June sets in it gradually ceases but the secondary form of the disease continues.

EXTENT AND NATURE OF DAMAGE

The disease injures two principal forms. Firstly, the number of plants is reduced by an average of about 15 per cent. and, secondly, the vigour of the surviving plants is impaired. If a badly affected crop is examined about the end of May it will be found that many of the plants have lost two, three, or four of their lower leaves, leaving perhaps only one leaf intact. This is so common that it might be taken for a natural development, but a comparison of crops from treated and untreated seed proves that it is not so. When the seed is properly treated and the number of initially infected plants reduced to small proportions, the crop presents a much more luxuriant appearance because the lowest leaves remain in good condition.

REACTION OF VARIETIES

No immune varieties of oats are known, but some are more susceptible than others. Scotland and Sovereign are said in Ireland to be very susceptible, followed by some of the newer varieties such as Marvelous, Victory, Record, Crown, Supreme Silver, Star and Echo, while the older straw varieties, including Potato, Sandy, Tam Finlay are said to be much less susceptible. Observations in Ireland do not entirely bear this out so far as Potato oats are concerned, for many of the early leaves of this variety are completely killed and the plants are so severely checked that they take a long time to recover.

EFFECT OF CONDITIONS ON THE DISEASE

The slower the early stages of growth, as when the spring is cold and unfavourable the more serious is the attack, for a low temperature favours the development of the parasite relatively to the oat. Under these conditions more seedlings die before emergence and those which do come up are so seriously crippled that they never fully recover, or may even be killed outright. At the same time a rapid secondary spread of the disease sets in, with the result that it may become general in the field in April and May.

CONTROL

Leaf-spot is seed-borne, and its infection of the seed and of the field in April and May. It is highly contagious, and dusts which contain a mercury compound as their active ingredient provides a simple and economical means of control. These preparations, although not completely effective, are much more successful than formalin, and on account of their greater convenience and safety are now used on a very large scale to the practical exclusion of all other treatments. It is recommended that all oats should be dressed before being sown, with one of these mercurial compounds. Treatment may be carried out some time before sowing if desired.

PROCESSION

The annual Procession of the Blessed Sacrament was held at Tallow on Sunday. The route was as on former years. Benediction was imparted at the Grotto by Very Rev. Canon W. Flynn, P.P., assisted by Rev. M. Condon, C.C., Tallow, Rev. Fr. Beecher, C.C., Falsley, Scotland, and Rev. Fr. Laurence P. Murphy, U.S.A., after which the Procession again reformed and returned to the Church where Benediction was again imparted. The boys were beautifully decorated for the occasion and some lovely altars were erected along the route of the Procession. Messrs. M. and P. Ronayne acted as chief marshals, Mr. M. Beecher was organist and Mr. Frank Ryan was in the choir.

KNOCKANORE

The annual Procession was held at Knockanore on Sunday evening. The route of the Procession was from the Church of the Sacred Heart to Knockanore Cross and back to the School grounds where from a specially erected altar Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was imparted by Very Rev. Fr. Power, P.P., assisted by Rev. T. Nugent, C.C., after which the Procession returned to the Church.

THE LATE MRS. COLLINS

It is with deep regret we record the death of Mrs. Collins, Miss Frances Halk. Convent St., Tallow, which sad event occurred at her residence on Tuesday, June 28, at the fine old age of 87 years. Deceased was wife of Mr. B. Collins, well-known merchant for many years, and was a member of one of the oldest families in Tallow. She was held in the highest esteem by all and her death leaves another of the old stock now left so few among us. The remains were removed to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Tallow, on Wednesday evening followed by a very large cortege and were received and buried by Very Rev. Canon W. Flynn, P.P., Tallow, assisted by Fr. M. Condon, C.C., and Rev. Fr. Beecher, C.C. The Requiem Masses were celebrated on Thursday morning for the happy repose of her soul and in the afternoon all that was mortal of deceased was reverently laid to rest in the adjoining cemetery in the presence of a very large number of friends and sympathisers. Very Rev. Canon W. Flynn, P.P., assisted by Rev. M. Condon, C.C., officiated at the graveside. Many telegrams and messages of sympathy were received to her bereaved son, daughter and other relatives, who tender our deepest sympathy in their sorrow and loss.

The weather also governs the amount of seed infection, the month before harvest being said to be the critical period and it was observed that seed oats produced in Ireland during the dry season of 1953 showed remarkably little infection in the following Spring.

The Inside Story

Mass in the Bacon Factory

Again I refer to a story appearing elsewhere in this issue. It is a story of new enterprise in the town of Cappoquin and carries a message not alone to industrialists and employees generally but to the employee as well.

When Mr. John Laine, Production Manager of the Cappoquin Bacon Factory, invited me to the re-opening, I accepted believing that this would be just another "official opening."

It was a memorable sight to find portions of the old factory so beautifully decorated, with its high altar looking the peak of perfection. And above all was the Crucifix. For a long while I found it hard to believe I was standing within the bacon factory.

Later, I was told that this was the work of the good Sisters of Mercy in Cappoquin aided by Miss Winnie Murray, Rev. Mother Ita and Sister de Lourdes could not have achieved a ney who is still on the sick list greater perfection.

I met Mr. C. Murphy, who is the man at the helm, Mr. M. O'Brien, Mr. P. O'Regan and young Mr. John Murphy, who will one day take over command of the Cappoquin factory. I was impressed and very much so by the plans these men have prepared for this factory and I have no fear in forecasting a bright future, not alone for the factory but for Cappoquin also.

The spirit of co-operation between employer and employee that exists in Cappoquin is far above the ordinary. The stranger will see that immediately I found more than that. I plenty of courage and conviction found every man employed there with a keen personal interest in the job he is doing.

I found an enthusiasm that is all too rare to-day. The workers of Cappoquin factory have succeeded in making their job a family affair and everyone is interested in its welfare and in its progress. And what an opportunity they have been offered.

They will share in the full success of their industry... and in their efforts to reach that success they will have the full backing of the farmers of West Waterford who were spoken for by Mr. Paddy Fives in words that will not be easily forgotten.

How right Very Rev. J. Kennedy, P.P. of Cappoquin, was when he said that the occasion was a milestone in the life of Cappoquin. It was certainly the beginning of a new industrial revolution... the fruits of which will spread with the passing of each year.

Election Time

To-night will be election night at the Urban Council meeting in Dungarvan when the Chairman for the coming year will be elected. While Deputy Tom Kyne seems likely to retain the chair, there is the possibility of a contest. A lot will depend on the attendance of Mr. Jack Butler.

Should Mr. Butler fail to turn up the outgoing chairman could rely on three votes only possible three. Mr. Donal Mole might be present. The outcome will be another term for the Dall Deputy... that is, of course, should he agree to go forward again.

New Mayor of Waterford

Congratulations to Colr. Denis Fitzpatrick (Ratepayers' Association) Waterford on his election as Mayor of his ancient city. Denis is quite a young man with night's meeting. According to the agenda, a report on the question of dumping on a right-of-way will be before the members. May I take this opportunity to point out that there was never any complaint of dumping on a right-of-way. The complaint concerned the dumping of refuse by Council tenants at Caseyville into the four-acre garden of the Shandon tenants' and let me say in support memorable period. I have no hesitation in stating here that Colr. Gallagher was one of the best City has known in its long history. He did a wonderful job to Waterford and set an example that will be hard for any successor to follow. May he now enjoy his retirement and may his days with his happy family on the hill at Roanmore, a home where I always find a warm welcome, be full of contentment. We will miss him at the City Hall in the mornings. But Tom will not be missing from public life. He will remain a member of public bodies too numerous to mention... and Tom will be quite happy as "one of the boys"

Silence Reigns

It is interesting to see that the National Music Festival Committee have not taken up my challenge to call a meeting to investigate the reasons for the shocking failure of the event that could have been and should have been an outstanding success. Why the silence?

Those mainly concerned in the matter prefer to go about the town of Dungarvan, the Cities of Cork and Dublin still trying to convince the public and the Press that 15,000 people visited Dungarvan for the Festival and not 5,000. And how they love painting me as the villain.

What narrow mindedness when members of this committee prefer to "refrain from speaking to Tobin." My challenge remains open.

The Fued

Members of the Urban Council will be discussing the Shandon Street v. Caseyville fued at to-night's meeting. According to the agenda, a report on the question of dumping on a right-of-way will be before the members. May I take this opportunity to point out that there was never any complaint of dumping on a right-of-way. The complaint concerned the dumping of refuse by Council tenants at Caseyville into the four-acre garden of the Shandon tenants' and let me say in support of Councillors Johnny McCarthy and Tommy Lee that the position is far more serious than has been presented.

Proof of this statement will be available at to-night's meeting. It may come as a surprise to all concerned.

Now we Know

In this week's issue we publish an interesting letter from Dall Deputy Tom Kyne which refers to a most informative letter he has received from the Irish Federation of Musicians. The correspondence was sent by Deputy Kyne to me with one solitary purpose in mind - To Clear the Air. No comment is needed from this columnist.

Abbeyside Pattern will be Big Attraction

Big preparations are under way for the annual Pattern of Saint Augustine to be held in Abbeyside in August. At a meeting of the Committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Joe Organ, the programme was discussed at length and a number of decisions were reached regarding considerable improvements for the coming event.

Main attraction will be the out-board motor boat race and it is hoped to have a fairly good entry, not alone from within the Dungarvan/Abbeyside area but from areas outside it including Youghal, Cappoquin and Waterford. To add to the thrills of this race, the starting point will be close to the Causeway at a point a short distance below the bridge and boats will cover a series of laps that will keep them in full view of the spectators throughout the entire race.

A very valuable trophy was presented for this race by Messrs. Thomas Power and Co., St. Brigid's Well, Dungarvan, and was won in its first outing last year by Mr. Sean Casey, Main Street. He will be competing for it again this year. Another entry which has aroused keen interest is that of Messrs. E. Bowman and Paddy Kennedy (junior) with their new 'Comet'. Already intending competitors in Dungarvan are keeping an eye on each other and considerable use is being made of stop-watches.

There will be the usual competitions for sailing boats and plans are in hand to make the four-oar boat race another big event of the programme. A lot of work is being put into the organisation of this year's event and provided favourable weather conditions prevail, it would seem that the outstanding success of last year's will be surpassed.

The Pattern will open with a fancy dress parade through Abbeyside and it is hoped to have both Dungarvan Brass and Reed Band and Abbeyside Boy Scouts Pipe Band taking part. It is to be hoped that this laudible local effort will have the full support of West Waterford. Fans - too many Patterns have died out and it is good to see the Abbeyside event still in the news. Should it get the usual good support this year then it is certain to help very considerably in adding to the holiday amenities of the Old Boro. One thing is certain it will not be lacking in a variety of sporting thrills and colourful traditional entertainment.

For the Record

Officials of the U.D.C. or Co. Council would do well to put an end to the dumping that is going on out the New Lane. It is happening at a point right along the roadside to the right going out of town. A number of complaints have been made about it and now is the time to take action. Put an end to it at all costs. The people causing the considerable improvements for the dump have the services of the scavengers.

Another dump that calls for immediate attention is that on the side of the main road outside Cappoquin. Those responsible should be ashamed and the Co. Council may well be branded as the main offenders. They have allowed it and I haven't seen them try to stop it in recent times. What a spectacle to greet any visitor and what about the poor local who has to pass it by line after time, day after day.

There was a vacant chair at the last meeting of the Abbeyside Development Association. The pleasant company of John Egan was missed as it will be when Patten Day comes round again this year. The committee passed a vote of sincere sympathy with the widow and family. Little was said on the occasion, just a simple tribute paid to one of the "old stock" who will not be coming back. His old friends were thinking of the days that are gone, of not so long ago. It was hard to appreciate the bitter fact that Johnson would not be with them any more. He rests in his lonely grave among the whispering trees in Ballinroad. May his last rest be a peaceful one. His struggle is over.

Another Kilrossanty-Brickey Clash

GAELIC WATERFORD INTRIGUED

THE colourful character of past encounters and the open mind in which everyday followers of the game view the likely outcome are so singularly unique that the Fraher Field will almost certainly house a record round one attendance when Kilrossanty and Brickey Rangers clash in the senior football championship on Saturday evening.

Over the years, Kilrossanty-Brickey rivalry has enjoyed a status all of its in popular appeal, but never was there meeting so great a talking point as this year.

Morning, noon and night for weeks back, it has been the centrepiece of conversation everywhere the big ball game is played, but even men who are well qualified to deliver judgment are very circumspect when it comes to essaying an outright vote one way or the other.

The trepidation with which everyday followers of the game survey the contest is illustrated by the fact that arguments which ordinarily would merit a summary dismissal are accepted as signs of real football lore.

Many thought when inter-county commitments caused the postponement that interest in the game would diminish somewhat, but, if the eternal deliberations of everyday students of form is an indication, the probable outcome is now an even more intriguing subject than before the postponement.

Wonderful Interest

The astonishing feat of the county footballers in stopping mighty Kerry has given the game in the county and outside it for that matter, a welcome uplift and is undoubtedly partly responsible for the wonderful interest in Saturday's encounter.

That Kilrossanty will include no fewer than six of the fifteen which achieved everlasting renown at the expense of the Kingdom of Brickey failed to gain representation on the history-making side is a tremendous feather in Comeragh caps, but it would be sheer folly to regard it as a factor in their favour.

Indeed, failure to find favour with the 'Big Five' may well be the incentive to rouse every member of the black and amber to a superlative effort when they renew hostilities with the men of Comeragh.

As I see it—and I confess I would like to feel on a more solid footing in endeavouring to sift the pros and cons—the winners of the green and gold appear to hold what noticeable advantage there is likely to be in this and that sector. But that conviction, if such it be, loses much of its significance when one remembers that Rangers distastefully set odds against them to an even greater extent on the occasion of their last championship clash two years ago.

Kilrossanty, 'tis true, are the form side. They have gone through a strenuous competitive programme without defeat since they made an unexpected championship exit last August, and public opinion, naturally, inclines towards yet another victory for Jimmy Power and his men. Yet, even the most astute lines of argument are circumspect about ruling out the prospects of Brickey's repeating their grand 1955 victory effort.

Le RUAIRI O RIAM

SEAN ORMONDE (Kilrossanty)

That Kilrossanty play an attractive brand of football is above dispute. They have brought teamwork to a pitch equalled by few present-day combinations and the spirit and general quality of their football is possibly on par with that of the great sides which wore the green and gold between 1949 and '53. And they are grimly determined to keep the Phelan Cup exit at the hands of the Comeragh men—2-7 to 0-2—last January.

Undaunted

Brickey's let it be said, are undaunted by the imposing credentials of the Kilrossanty men. They too, are in determined mood. They have prepared earnestly and will face the old 'enemy' fit to last the hardest hour and with no little confidence in their ability to win through to the next round.

The Rangers' championship endeavours have not always enjoyed the best of good fortune, but successive reverses, though often tinged with more than their share of ill-luck have failed to shatter their eagerness to put their appellation of the championship roll of honour.

Their determination to stop the Comeragh men is backed by the decision to bring back from employment in England, Dr. Tom Barry, the man whose return from a post graduate course in the U.S., coincided with their great championship bid of 1955.

Despite his long lay off from the game, Barry is one of the big Brickey hops. Back in service, too, will be Pat Foley, who has been domiciled across the water this past twelve months.

Buckleys Absence

But the overall picture is not quite so encouraging. For one

Cappoquin Cruise to Facile Victory

Cappoquin 4-7; Clashmore 0-2

A third-minute goal shot from a third of the field by dual inter-county man Mick O'Connor, set the pattern for a facile Cappoquin victory over a disappointing Clashmore fifteen in the second round of the Junior football championship at the Gaelic Field, Aglish, on Sunday evening.

Despite the absence of several regulars, Cappoquin ran out the most convincing winners imaginable. But, from the general character of their play, it is obvious that they still have problems to resolve before they can commence to think in terms of a county championship.

East Waterford take on Dungarvan and Abbeyside

A dual championship bill, comprising a big ball test between Dungarvan and East Waterford and a hurling clash in which the divisional men are opposed by Abbeyside, should attract a bumper gathering to the Fraher Field on Sunday afternoon.

Easy for Old Boro

Dungarvan turned in a right workmanlike display when they readily disposed of De La Salle in the opening round of the senior hurling championship on Sunday at Waterford.

Kilrossanty v. Brickey Rangers

In connection with above match, A BUS will leave Kilrossanty at 6.30 via Fews and Leamybrien. A second BUS will leave Leamybrien at 7 pm.

Minors Disappoint

Cork 3-4; Waterford 1-4

Waterford minors footballers completely failed to measure up to expectations and made a disappointing exit from the Munster championship on Sunday evening at Dungarvan.

LATE MR. JOSEPH BURKE

Keating Street, Dungarvan

It is with regret we record the death after a rather prolonged illness of Mr. Joseph Burke, an old native of the town, he was a well-known painter and decorator and his quiet, inoffensive disposition made for him hosts of friends. In his young days he was an outstanding exponent of that fine old Irish game of handball at which he had few equals.

There was a large attendance present at the obsequies which took place in St. Mary's Church Cemetery.

Mass cards were received from his beloved wife, Josephine and sons; Joseph (son) wife and grandchildren, Ennis; Christy (son) England; his brother Wm. wife K. Ronnie and Vincent; Bridgie, Pats and Mick Burke; Jimmy, Maggie and family; John and Maureen; Willie; Kathleen; Kathleen and Gusti Burke; Ranganna a 2 agus a 3, Scoll na mBrathar; Sev Bowman and family; Drummy family, 16 Keating St.; Kitty O'Neill and family, do.; Thomas, 11 Mitchell St.; John F. Capoquin Cruise to Facile Victory

On the other hand, Cappoquin would all probability, have produced a more determined effort had the occasion so demanded. As it was they had scarcely to bestir themselves to overcome their opponents. Despite their indifferent shooting at times, Cappoquin forwards farmed what honours were won in a lack-lustre encounter. Their approach was first class, particularly the spade-work of wingers Mick and Jer Mason, but there must be a considerable step-up in finishing if they are to realise any great totals against top-class opposition.

The winners always held sway at mid-field, a circumstance that is reflected in the fact that their defence had scarcely a worthwhile raid to contend with during the opening half hour. Clashmore improved considerably in the final period but by that time the Cornerstone men were patiently resting on their oars.

Picked Itself

It is a Kilrossanty advantage that the team has as good as picked itself for a long time now. Brickey's, on the other hand, have not had a competitive outing since their Phelan Cup exit at the hands of the Comeragh men—2-7 to 0-2—last January.

The losers had a great full-back in Richie Dew, easily the best defender on view, Ned Ormonde was often prominent in saving his line too, while Martin Baker who matched the winners best in style and ball play, Billy Connell—his introduction just after half-time yielded an immediate point—Tom McGrath, Hallahan and Leahy battled valiantly to save the day.

Mick O'Connor shot a Cappoquin goal and Mick and Jer Mason followed with points before a mix up in the defence allowed the right full-forward through for a simple major. W. Conway and M. Mason added further points and Paddy Fraher punched a simple goal near the break. The losers failed to raise a flag in this half.

Cappoquin also goalied on re-suming. Billy Connell routed the losers spirits with a point but the winners came back for three further minors in reply to a second Clashmore point.

On the other hand, Cappoquin would all probability, have produced a more determined effort had the occasion so demanded. As it was they had scarcely to bestir themselves to overcome their opponents. Despite their indifferent shooting at times, Cappoquin forwards farmed what honours were won in a lack-lustre encounter. Their approach was first class, particularly the spade-work of wingers Mick and Jer Mason, but there must be a considerable step-up in finishing if they are to realise any great totals against top-class opposition.

A third-minute goal shot from a third of the field by dual inter-county man Mick O'Connor, set the pattern for a facile Cappoquin victory over a disappointing Clashmore fifteen in the second round of the Junior football championship at the Gaelic Field, Aglish, on Sunday evening.

Despite the absence of several regulars, Cappoquin ran out the most convincing winners imaginable. But, from the general character of their play, it is obvious that they still have problems to resolve before they can commence to think in terms of a county championship.

The winners always held sway at mid-field, a circumstance that is reflected in the fact that their defence had scarcely a worthwhile raid to contend with during the opening half hour. Clashmore improved considerably in the final period but by that time the Cornerstone men were patiently resting on their oars.
