Only an Industry can save Villierstown now THE STORY OF A DYING VILLAGE

Special by TOM TOBIN

VILLIERSTOWN is a dying village. For its 200 inhabitants, the future offers no hope. Only the children can look forward and for them, the future offers only emigration.

The story of Villierstown, a picturesque little village along the banks of the river Blackwater in West Waterford, is one of a community the nation forgot.

"Progress just passed us by," said Schoolmaster Joe Connery. "We were left at the end of the road, a road that leads only to Dromana House where silence reigns supreme today."

Like many other impoverished areas in Ireland, Villierstown is a village of big families. Except for six months' salmon fishing, there is no industry there. In the past, there was always employment for 15 or 20 men on the extensive estates of the Villiers-Stuarts of Dromana. The village was actually built to house the estate workers.

But times changed and the last of the family that occupied Dromana for 700 years, Mr. James Henry Ion Villiers-Stuart, and his wife, Emily Constance, left for Galway last February. High rates forced them to close the doors of the big house and to-day, it is for sale together with the 2,000 acres of land surrounding it.

With Co. Councillor Charles Curran who has launched a campaign to save Villierstown from extinction, I visited the area and met many of the people whose future was never so insecure.

"THE FORGOTTEN VILLAGE"
Terry Merrin, a young fisherman, was on his way down to the pier when we met him. With his brother Jimmy and the Lewis brother Jack and Joe, he was hoping their nets would yield a fair haul that afternoon.

"The fishing has been poor," he said, "it was only last week that we had our first break of the season and now we have all that is left of this month to make up for the losses of the past five years. It's impossible, of course, but that is the position. When the fishing season closes we have nothing to turn to. We might make something picking blackberries."

"The men of Villierstown never get a job on the roads. Why the Co. Council ignores them, no one knows. There is no work to be got on the land around here. Either we face unemployment until the fishing season comes round again or we emigrate. We get no chance. The Government seems to have forgotten Villierstown exists. Ours is certainly the forgotten village."

Mr. Connery was closing his school doors when I called. His 50 boys and girls were making their way homeward. "Look at them," he said, "all they can look forward to is the emigrant ship. That is all. There is no hope for them here. We are educating them for export."

"A TRAGEDY THAT NEED NOT BE."
Mr. Connery has been Villierstown's schoolmaster for 32 years. He can recall when it was a thriving community. "But that was when Dromana House was prosperous and most of the villagers worked on the estate. Now, there is nothing to keep them employed and few of my past-pupils are around. They are scattered around the world. Every year sees more and more go. Here, you can see the real tragedy of emigration, a tragedy that need not be."

An industry would end the drift. Men like Jack Lewis would have to leave the old home. He is preparing to sail to America with his wife Kathleen and three sons. Jack will tell you that Villierstown offers no hope of survival. "I'm 26 years working on and off, never anything that I could call secure and I'm just as badly off to-day as I was when I started." And on August

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

VILLIERSTOWN FISHERMEN GAZE OUT OVER THE BROAD REACHES OF THE IRISH RHINE.

10th next, yet another family will leave their home on the banks of the Blackwater.

I met fourteen of the sixteen fishermen of Villierstown. I sailed in their craft and I saw their plight. All were unanimous in stating that without an industry soon, Villierstown would be lost. Already it is dying. There is no social life in the village. The football team is gone, their Local Defence Force unit could not carry on. The residents live in apathy.

ONLY THE MEMORIES REMAIN

One of the very few employed in Villierstown is Tommy Morrissey. He works for the Government Forestry Dept. Tommy can remember seeing forty men employed in Dromana. He can recall when his village was a lively spot, when there was a fine sportsfield on which many a great game drew the crowds from all over West Waterford. But there is no hurling or football match to be seen in Villierstown to-day . . . and no playing pitch. Only the memories of their great football team remain.

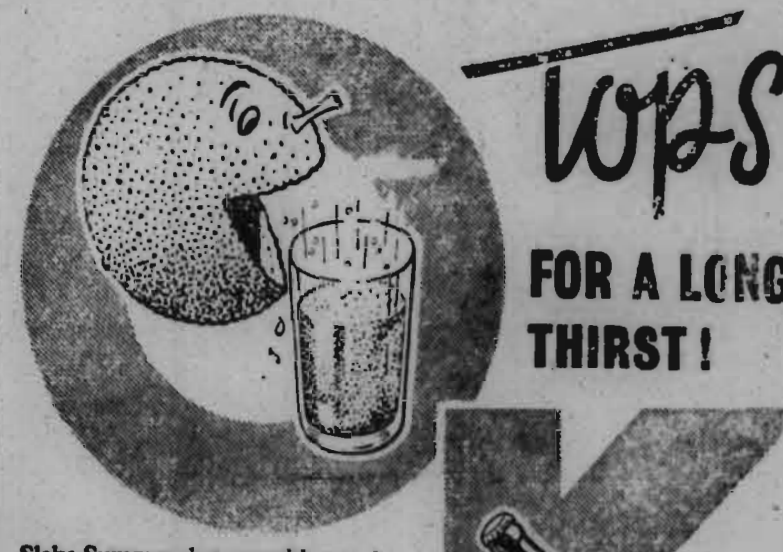

The school-boys play their games. "But," as Tommy said, "tomorrow or so they too will be scattered across the world."

On the pier, Councillor Curran and I heard men like James Bailey say that for six months last year they did not earn a penny and got no financial help whatsoever. "I was with the Land Commission for sometime last year," said Michael Morrissey. "The year before I didn't get a tap of work."

Tommy Merrin is considered lucky. He is getting £3 a week from a farmer when he is not fishing.

"NOT EVEN A HOPE"

Declan Morrissey remarked: "It seems people outside Villierstown think the fishermen of this place are millionaires when they

COLLEAGUES PAY TRIBUTE

New Lord Mayor Congratulated

WATERFORD Board of Public Assistance, at their meeting in Dungarvan, congratulated Mr. D. Fitzpatrick on his election as Mayor of Waterford and paid tribute to the outgoing Mayor, Colr. Tom Gallagher.

The resolution was moved by Mr. N. Walsh who stated the new Mayor was deserving of their congratulations. He was a most popular choice and had the good wishes of everyone. Colr. Gallagher deserved their highest tribute. During his term of office he had brought dignity and honour to the Mayoralty in Waterford and would long be remembered for his excellent service to the citizens.

Mr. C. Curran seconded the proposal stating that he wished to endorse what had already been spoken. When Colr. Gallagher was concerned as Mayor of Waterford, he never left any doubt in the minds of the people as to where he stood nationally. Colr. Gallagher, rightly wished the new Mayor the best of luck.

The Co. Manager joined in the remarks on his own behalf and on behalf of the staff.

Colr. Fitzpatrick—If I can imitate what Colr. Tom Gallagher did during his outstanding term then I will be doing very well.

fact that we have a fishing industry for six months of the year only is bad enough but when it is exploited like this, the situation calls for prompt attention."

Councillor Curran and I watched the fishermen sail down the river towards Cappoquin. We saw their children standing on the pier waving farewell, and returning to the village we met Jim Ronayne, the ferryman. Even the old ferryboat that shipped cattle and horses, men and their bikes, in fact many an odd cargo, across the river to the Cappoquin-Lismore-Youghal side, is now decaying on the Villierstown bank of the river.

ONLY IMMEDIATE AID CAN SAVE VILLAGE NOW

With its passing went the end of an era and Waterford County Council saw no need for its replacement. To-day Jim Ronayne operates a small rowing boat to take people across the river but he will tell you, like all others in his village that life is fading daily all around him.

We returned to the village. After school-hours it is a deserted village. Now Colr. Curran is seeking an industry for Villierstown. There is an opening there for the manufacture of hardboard or grass meal. The area offers plenty of wood and plenty of grass. And labour is readily available. Colr. Curran has called for immediate Government aid. He has the support of Waterford Co Council in his plea. Only immediate aid can save Waterford's dying village now.

ABBEYSIDE PATTERN 1957

The above Committee will hold a door-to-door Collection in Abbeyside District to-night (Friday) and to-morrow (Saturday) in the hope of raising a fund to meet the expenses of staging the annual Pattern.

The support of the public is earnestly requested and every contribution, no matter how small, will be welcome.

The Collection will be held in Dungarvan on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next.

Dungarvan Court COW KILLED AT COLLIGAN

Inspector O'Donovan, deputising for Supt. Flanagan, prosecuted Malachy Cullagh, Abbey Road, Thurles, under Section 51 of the Road Traffic Act.

The case was a sequel to an accident at Knocknamullee Cross, Colligan, at 7 p.m. on June 17, when a lorry driven by the defendant carrying 8 tons of turfs collided with one of a number of cows, the property of Mr. Pierce Brett, Crough, and driven by his 11 year old son, Bernard, as a result of which the cow was killed outright.

Garda Bernas, Cappagh, said he was at the scene at 2 1/2 p.m. He found a shorthorn cow dead on the Dungarvan side of Knocknamullee Cross. A large stone was dislodged from the fence. Witness produced a sketch of the section of roadway. They lorry was 60 yards away from the cow. There was no skid or brake marks on the road. Defendant said he braked as hard as he could. Witness travelled in the lorry with defendant and at an estimated speed of 25 m.p.h. (there was no speedometer) the driver took 50 yards to pull up.

The Justice convicted the defendant (who was not present nor professionally represented) under Section 51 of the Road Traffic Act (for dangerous driving) and fined him £3. For using the lorry with defective brakes he imposed a fine of £1, with 35/- expenses.

NOXIOUS WEEDS

Owners and occupiers of land are again reminded that thistle, booklawn (ragwort) and dock, which rob land of plant food and reduce crop yields, should be destroyed. Cutting or pulling of the weeds should be carried out before they reach the stage when seeds can develop and be blown about to infest neighbouring lands. Failure to destroy such weeds is an offence rendering the person responsible liable to prosecution without warning.

Immediately after the booklawn or ragwort has been pulled or cut it should be collected and burned, as it may cause poisoning of stock.

COUNTY COUNCIL OF WATERFORD SHEEP DIPPING ORDERS, 1937 AND 1948.

COUNTY WATERFORD SHEEP DIPPING REGULATIONS, 1957

The Council of the County of Waterford, being the Local Authority under the Diseases of Animals (Ireland) Acts, 1894 to 1954, for the Administrative County of Waterford acting through and by the Waterford County Manager, do hereby, for the purposes specified in article 22 of the Sheep Dipping Order, 1937 and in pursuance of said Order, make the following regulations, that is to say:

1. All sheep in the Administrative Area of County Waterford required to be dipped under the Sheep Dipping Order, 1947, shall be caused to be dipped by the owner or person in charge thereof at such times and such dipping stations as may be specified in a Notice signed by an Inspector of the Waterford County Council, and served by post or otherwise on the owner or person in charge of the sheep referred to in the Notice. It shall not be a compliance of these regulations to dip sheep at any other times or places save those as prescribed in the notice above referred to.

2. All sheep in the Administrative Area of County Waterford shall be dipped under the supervision of a Dipping Inspector appointed by the County Manager under the Sheep Dipping Order, 1937, twice yearly (with an interval of not less than seven or more than fourteen days) in the period between the 1st day of August and the 31st day of October provided that in any case in which dipping impossible on the date appointed, the dipping shall be carried out on the next day that the weather is suitable for that purpose without any further notice being given by the Inspector.

3. A fee of 2d. per sheep in respect of sheep dipped in the Coreragh and Knockmaldown areas and a fee of 4d. per sheep in respect of sheep dipped in the lowland areas—the expression sheep includes lambs—shall be paid to the Inspector of the County Council by the owner or person in charge at the time of the dipping of the sheep, save in all cases of dippings under Article 4.

(a) Where the County Manager is satisfied that an owner or person in charge of sheep in the area to which these regulations apply has in his possession or under his charge a proper swim tank, he may, subject to the conditions as he thinks fit allow the sheep of such owner to be dipped in such swim tank on such dates within the prescribed dipping period as may be appointed for the purpose by an Inspector of the County Council, and such dipping shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements of these regulations, provided (1) the dip tank is a dip approved by the Minister for Agriculture and supervised by and carried out to the satisfaction of the aforesaid Inspector.

(b) Any exemption given under this Article may at any time be withdrawn by the County Manager.

(c) Applications for such an exemption should be addressed to the Secretary of the County Council and must be made on or before the first day of August.

5. Dip approved by the Minister for Agriculture shall be used in all cases and except where exemption is granted under Article 4 (a) shall be supplied by the County Council will be an approved "Single Dipping" type Sheep Dip.

6. When ever required by an Inspector of the County Council, an owner or person in charge of sheep in the area to which these regulations apply shall comply with all reasonable requirements of an Inspector of the County Council as to the collection and penning and dipping of sheep in his possession or under his charge, or on lands in his occupation and shall afford all reasonable assistance and facilities that may be required for the dipping of all such sheep.

8. No sheep shall be moved into or exposed for sale at any market or saleyard, in the area to which these regulations relate between the 1st day of September and the 31st day of October, 1957, unless they have been dipped in accordance with the Sheep Dipping Orders, 1937 and 1948 after the 31st day of July previous and are accompanied by a certificate of dipping signed by a Supervisor or Inspector acting for the Waterford County Council or a certificate signed by a Supervisor or Inspector appointed for the purpose of Sheep Dipping Orders, 1937 and 1948, by another Local Authority, which certificate shall be produced by a person in charge of the sheep on demand to any member of the Garda Siochana or a Supervisor or Inspector of the Minister for Agriculture or of the Waterford County Council who may record on such certificate of dipping, particulars of the sale of any such sheep at such fair or market or saleyard.

9. It shall be sufficient compliance with Regulation 2 of these Regulations if sheep are dipped once in the period between the 1st day of August and the 31st day of October, in every year in an approved "Single Dipping" type sheep dip within the meaning of the Sheep Dipping Order, 1948.

10. Any owner or person in charge of sheep in the Administrative County of Waterford who fails to comply with any of these regulations shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894 to 1954.

These regulations shall apply to the entire area of the County of Waterford and shall come into force on the 1st day of August, 1957.

In witness whereof the official seal of the County Council of Waterford has been hereunto set this 18th day of July, 1957.

FITZGERALD'S CO. WATERFORD'S LARGEST CYCLE STORE

For the purpose of improving the breeds of mountain sheep in the County Waterford, the Waterford County Committee of Agriculture are prepared, subject to the approval of the Department of Agriculture, to locate a limited number of high-grade black face rams on the commonage areas of the Comeragh and Knockmaldown Mountains on the following conditions:

(1) The Committee shall grant to each selected applicant a premium of from £5 to £8 on the basis that the value of the premium shall be less by £5 than the cost price of the rams subject to a maximum premium of £8.

(2) In the allocation of rams preference will be given to applicants who apply on behalf of sheep owners who are prepared to mate the rams to selected ewes.

(3) The Committee will endeavour to secure that only rams of a high standard of quality will be supplied, but they cannot undertake responsibility in case any animal should subsequently prove unfruitful or unsatisfactory for breeding purposes.

(4) The rams must be maintained in good and healthy condition and retained in the flock for two breeding seasons.

(5) Each applicant shall be required to lodge with his application a deposit of £5. Of the amount so lodged, one half may be retained by the Committee where, a sufficient supply of rams being available, a selected applicant fails to procure a ram.

(6) In all cases of dispute in matters connected with this Scheme, the decision of the Minister for Agriculture shall be final. Application Forms which must be returned on or before 7th September, 1957, may be had from the undersigned.

Mass Miniature Radiography Campaign

A Chara. I would like your co-operation with regard to the forthcoming visit of the Mass-Miniature Radiography Unit to the County. The Unit will be here from the 29th July, 1957, to the 19th September, 1957.

The object of such a visit is twofold: firstly the protection of the individual and secondly the protection of the public. To achieve the former we hope to X-ray every person over the age of 14 years, in order to find those with an early lesion of Tuberculosis, and so enable them to obtain treatment when the disease is minimal.

It is a well-known fact that people who know they have Tuberculosis and who have been advised as to disposal of their sputum are very much less dangerous as carriers of infection than the diagnosed cases who are unaware of the fact, may be infecting others because of a positive sputum.

As you will know in the fight against Tuberculosis, the Authorities are powerless without the wholehearted help and co-operation of the public. The prognosis of the individual case affected with Tuberculosis has improved immensely during the past few years due mainly to increased number of beds, better surgical facilities and the new drugs available; on the other hand, though we continue to find approximately 60 new cases of Tuberculosis yearly in Co. Waterford it is disheartening to have to relate that a large number of the contacts of these cases refuse to co-operate in the prevention of this infectious disease.

This they do in many ways, such as refusal to have a chest X-ray, or to have their children Tuberculin Tested, or if suitable, given the protection of B.C.G. They refuse to co-operate in spite of the fact that their relatives are given free treatment in Ardkeen Chest Hospital, irrespective of income, and in certain cases cash allowances, food vouchers, clothes, bed and bedding are given free by Local Authorities.

TALLOW LOCAL MACRA NA FEIRME TEAM'S SUCCESS AT CAPPOQUIN

At Cappoquin stockjudging competition on July 27d, Tallow Club won the Cappoquin Challenge Cup for the best all-round team. As seventeen teams competed, Tallow had to face a stiff task and their win was no easy one. T. Malone gained first place in the open stockjudging and Liam O'Brien tied for 2nd prize in the under 21 class.

Annual Outing. The annual outing of the club took place on July 17th when the members travelled to Killarney Races and visited the many renowned beauty spots in the area. Leaving Tallow in a downpour, by the time they had reached Killarney, the weather had much improved.

Liam Lynch Commemoration. The second annual Liam Lynch commemoration will be held at Fermoy on Sunday, Sept. 8th.

Lights Wanted at West End. Residents of West End, Tallow, are wondering when the E.S.B. will extend lighting to that area. There is no doubt this part of the town is badly in need of this amenity.

Sunday Night's Celli. On next Sunday night, 28th July, the Blarney Celli Band will supply the music for the Celli in the Arch Ballroom. This visit is by special request as on their last visit they won the hearts of all by their grand selection of celli music.

F.C.A. Notes. Personal representing Dungarvan Battalion in the forthcoming competition will report to the Aerodrome, Fermoy, on Saturday next, 27th inst.

Lismore Notes. The Lismore Cricket XI (Waterford) in an interesting game played in the Lismore Cricket Ground on Sunday evening. The Lismore side batted first and put up a total of 91 runs.

Youghal C.B.S. Centenary. The members of the Youghal Christian Brothers Centenary Committee are now getting into their stride in regard to their fund-raising drive to be used for the purpose of making an appropriate presentation to the brothers in November next when the Centenary will take place.

Youghal Kilmacthomas, Kilrossanty and Stradbally Notes

Salmon Net Fishing. We are pleased to report that the improvement in the numbers of peale and salmon taken by nets is continuing. On Monday there were record catches in Youghal, some boats taking as many as twenty. This is indeed a blessing even though there is only eight more fishing days for nets in the present season.

Late Mrs. B. Ahern. We regret to announce the death of Mrs. Bridget Ahern which took place last week at her residence Grattan Street, Youghal, after a short period of illness. The deceased was a highly respected member of the community, and of an old and established family.

Tramore Golf Club. The prize presented by the Captain (Mr. Eddie Hill, Kilmacthomas) for the successful competitor in the Ladies' Competition has been won by Miss E. Hoare, a very esteemed figure in local golfing circles.

Well Beloved Teacher's Death. The death of Miss Bridget (Biddy) Tobin, N.T., Kilmacthomas Boys' N.S. which happened unexpectedly in her home at Colmahamee, Dungarvan, last week-end, came as a severe shock to her many friends.

SEA ANGLING COMPETITION AT YOUGHAL. On Sunday evening last the Market Dock was a scene of excitement when ten boat crews left the quayside for the sea.

Youghal Golf. Moll Goggin Cup, player July 14th. Morning—18 holes stroke, confined to handicaps 13 to 20. D. L. Madden, 83 (15) 88, winner; D. L. Madden, Belfast 83 (20) 89, second.

Youghal Man Mentioned in Dispatches. Leading Aircraftman P. J. Kenneally has been notified by special signal from the Governor of Cyprus, Sir John Harding, that he has been mentioned in dispatches for exceptional bravery during the week of the U.C.C. on Mr. John Luke Brennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brennan, of Market Square, Youghal.

Successful Youghal Student. During the week the Degree of Bachelor of Engineering (Civil) was conferred at the U.C.C. on Mr. John Luke Brennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brennan, of Market Square, Youghal.

Belonging by Birth to Ballyduff, Kilmeaden, is the Rev. Peter Harney, Christ Our King, Rectory, Wilmington, Delaware, U.S.A. who has just wound up a happy holiday in the homeland, where he was the guest of his mother (nee Kenny) and 93-year-old grandmother, formerly of Ballyduff, Kilmeaden, at their present residence on the Priests' Road, Tramore. Nephew of well and popularly known Mr. John Kenny, farmer, Ballyhussa, his reverence since 1949, Wilmington is part of a populous diocese, which is rapidly growing in the number of Catholics.

Old Friends and Admirers in these parts of Mr. P. J. Little, solicitor, Dublin, have noted with pleasure the announcement that he has been nominated a member of the Council of State (a body that is principally for the purpose of performing the duties of the President of Ireland, should he, through disease, or indisposition, or other cause, be unable to function). One of Waterford Constituency's T.D.s from 1927 till 1948 (when he retired from the sphere of politics) Mr. Little was Parl. Sec. to Mr. de Valera for a period when the latter was head of the Government. Waterford's former Deputy was subsequently Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, and he recently relinquished the Chairmanship of the Arts' Council.

SHEEP SCAB

THIS disease causes serious losses to Irish farmers. Sheep affected with sheep scab lose flesh rapidly, the yield and quality of the wool are much diminished and large quantities of wool are rendered absolutely worthless. The presence of the disease in this country must tend to injure the reputation of Irish fat and store sheep and to reduce the market value of the healthy lambs.

These evils might be obviated if due attention was paid to the general care and supervision of the sheep and if proper remedial treatment was promptly employed should the disease unfortunately appear.

CAUSE OF THE DISEASE

Sheep scab is a contagious disease, and is due to the presence of a small parasitic mite, which clings to the wool and wounds the skin of the sheep with its pointed mouth in its search for food. This parasite produces intense irritation of the skin, and the sheep, by biting, scratching and rubbing, attempts to relieve the itching and thus injures its fleece and skin.

SYMPTOMS OF DISEASE

One of the first symptoms noticeable in an affected sheep is restlessness and a desire to bite the parts irritated by the mites pricking the skin, or to rub against posts, fences or hurdles, or against other sheep in the flock. The fleece is often matted in patches and dirty. Any part of the skin covered with wool may be affected, even the tail and the mites have been found in the ears of sheep.

The mites soon increase in number, and the constant efforts of the sheep, by biting and rubbing which the parasites cause on the outer surface of the skin, result in the formation of pustules which exude a serous fluid that dries into a crust or scab. Under the edges of these scabs the parasites and their eggs are to be found. As the mites multiply they move to more healthy parts of the skin and thus the area of infection extends.

The injury to the skin caused by the mites is followed by falling of the wool, and the wool thus lost is capable of transmitting the disease to healthy sheep as the mites are often present on it.

Sheep scab is a notifiable disease and when a sheep exhibits the above symptoms, the owner should at once examine it, and if he has a suspicion that scab exists, he should promptly notify the fact to the Garda Síochána in accordance with the requirements of the Diseases of Animals Acts.

TREATMENT

The most reliable and satisfactory method of treatment is by dipping the sheep. Sheep should not be dipped when heated or fatigued. To prevent contamination of the bath with dung and soil, all dirty tufts should be removed from the fleece and the sheep should be kept in a clean previous to dipping. The dipping process must be thoroughly performed if the desired object is to be attained. The animals should be kept immersed in the bath for the full time recommended for the particular dip used, care being taken that the top of the neck and ears are well saturated. Careless dipping, such as using a weak or dirty bath, too short or insufficient immersion, is largely waste of time and money.

PREVENTION

The precautions to be adopted for the purpose of guarding against the introduction of sheep scab may be indicated in a few words:

Observation of newly-purchased sheep, even when the presence of scab is not detected, cannot be relied upon as a guarantee of freedom from the disease, as the symptoms often remain latent for long periods. It is therefore safer to dip all new purchases and sheep returned from fairs, markets or sales before allowing them to mix with the clean flock. This precaution will often save the flockmaster much trouble and loss.

used for dipping is more or less poisonous, great care should be taken not to pour any of it into a pond or stream where animals drink, or from which water is drawn for domestic purposes. Moreover, it is a punishable offence to allow poisonous liquids to flow into a river or lake containing fish.

When the sheep of an infected flock have been dipped it is desirable that they should be removed to a different field from that which was used before the dipping; and all pens, hurdles, gate-posts, stumps or trees and places against which the diseased sheep had been accustomed to rub themselves should be, as far as practicable, thoroughly washed with water and disinfected with lime-wash prepared from freshly burnt lime or with some other disinfectant approved by the local Veterinary Inspector.

To prevent the recurrence of scab in the recovered sheep, it is essential that all tufts of wool which may be found in abundance lying about wherever the diseased sheep have been, should be collected and burnt; otherwise however carefully the curative treatment has been conducted, reinfection may subsequently take place.

ARDMORE PATTERN

The annual Pattern to commemorate the memory of St. Declan, Patron Saint of the area, will be held in historic and picturesque Ardmore on Sunday next and there will be the usual influx of devotees who will perform the 'rounds' and pray at the scene of his labours.

In Ardmore and the surrounding areas the name of St. Declan is held in great veneration and many favours are attributed to his intercession while it is the generally accepted belief that he introduced the True Faith to West Waterford before the advent of St. Patrick.

Such treatment will be found to have a beneficial effect upon the general health of the sheep, as it should be borne in mind that besides the sheep scab parasite, there are other parasites of which sheep are frequently subject and which can also be destroyed by proper dipping.

YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL

No likelihood of Bridge closing Reports Exaggerated

THE Secretary, Waterford County Council wrote acknowledging the Town Clerk's letter re Youghal Bridge, stating that there doesn't appear to be any likelihood of the Bridge being closed at present.

Letters on the subject were read from the Constituency Deputies and from Senator Aherne informing the Council that they would do all in their power to see that the bridge will not be closed.

Mr. Lynch—There is only one thing I have in my mind and that is that the Manager was asked to attend the special bridge meeting and it was his place to be here but he didn't think it worth his while. For the future, said Mr. Lynch, we are not asking him to attend any of our meetings.

Chairman—The bridge is our business and we have to live in Youghal and there's no likelihood of the bridge being closed.

BRIDGE COSTINGS

The Acting County Secretary wrote as follows to the Town Clerk re the Bridge Costing, stating: I refer to your letter of the 4th instant and previous correspondence regarding particulars of all up-to-date estimates on proposed new bridge at Ardalsahag. As the construction of the new bridge and approach roads is a function of the Cork County Council, the information sought cannot be supplied.

Chairman—I think this letter is written in very bad taste.

Mr. Lynch—I wonder if the Cork Co. Council was informed when they sent their annual demand for thousands of pounds to us, that we refused to pay until such time as we received the information we asked for.

Mr. Lynch—I agree with Mr. Lynch, now is the time to put it up to these gents that we're not going to take this matter lying down.

Town Clerk—it happened in another part of the country, where a County Council refused information but the Minister asked that the information be supplied.

Mrs. Hurley—Would it be any use to send a deputation to the Cork County Council.

The Town Clerk is again to write for the information.

LOCAL AUTHORITIES WORKS ACT

The Local Government Dept. wrote stating that no grants will be available from the Local Authorities Works Act this year.

Chairman—They are tightening matters up.

Mr. Lynch—They are robbing the country.

Chairman—This is going to hurt us and I think we should protest against the Department's action.

Mr. Lynch—I propose that we protest against the action of the Department in withholding these grants.

Mr. Lynch—I second the resolution as these grants were a great help to the unemployed.

Mr. Hickey—The people have got the Government they asked for and we cannot expect anything better.

BANK BUILDINGS

The Private Secretary to the Taoiseach wrote stating that steps are being taken to render this building free from trespass.

Mr. Lynch—Is not the old building their property also?

Mrs. Hurley—I do not see responsibility to build up these walls.

Mr. Lynch—Whose responsibility is this old military barracks, we should have a proper ruling from the Minister.

Mr. Lynch—I propose we thank the Taoiseach for his letter and tell him that as no Government Department has any interest in the buildings, we would be prepared to take them over.

Mrs. Hurley—Don't put any more of our people up there in the hills, let them live their natural span.

DUNNE'S PARK CHILDREN'S AMUSEMENTS

The Town Clerk stated that the Town Surveyor reported that the tubular supports of the swings at Dunne's Park are corroded and it would cost £20 to replace these.

Mr. Lynch—The children at the north end of the town were getting a lot of fun out of them.

Mrs. Hurley—The shaker didn't cost us anything, the late Capt. Dunne and myself collected the money for it.

Mr. Hickey—What about seats for the park?

Chairman—The people have called on me about the matter.

Mr. Lynch—The Town Supt. told me he was putting the seats up last week and I under-

The Inside Story

IT WILL BE LIKE OLD TIMES

BY TOM TOBIN

A familiar face

Several years ago, I attended a lecture and film show which told the story of Holy Trinity Abbey, Kilmacrotty, Co. Cavan. Man behind the drive to win public interest in their work was a young priest named Fr. Colwell whose story I recorded at the time. Through out meeting in Dungarvan we became good friends and then with the passing of years we lost touch.

Then came last Tuesday week. The scene was at Mount Mellerey Abbey. I was taking a photograph of the newly-enthroned Lord Abbot of Mount Mellerey, Right Rev. Dom Finbarr Cashman, O.C.S.O., with His Lordship, Most Rev. Dr. D. Cahalan, Bishop of Waterford and Lismore who performed the Abbatial Blessing and His Grace Most Rev. Dr. Finbarr Ryan, O.P., Archbishop of Port of Spain, Trinidad, with a number of other Lord Abbots from Ireland, England and Scotland.

Through the viewfinder of the camera's face among the group appeared familiar, yet I could not place it. My pictures taken and names recorded, I approached the familiar face which at this time, seemed to be trying to place me.

"Somewhere, sometime, My Lord," I said, "we have met before but I can't bring to mind where and when." I gave my name and then we were back to the years that have gone.

NOW LORD ABBOT

The familiar face was that of the Fr. Colwell I had known in the past but I-day he is Right Rev. Pelim C. Colwell, C.R.P., Lord Abbot of Kilmacrotty's most beautiful Holy Trinity Abbey for which he has done so much in so short a space of time.

He had many questions to ask about Dungarvan and the people therein he had known in the past. I told him all I could and after he paid a visit to the O'Leary and called to see a number of people including Miss K. Greaney and Miss H. Boyle. Abbot Colwell enjoyed his short stay immensely.

Dictatorship

What a pity there has to be so much dictatorship among some officials of the G.A.A. at Thurles. Take the case of what happened last Sunday week. A number of Press representatives in coming two cameramen were courteously admitted at the side-line entrance to the pitch. On the inside, however, is another gateway, a very narrow one too, leading on to the sideline proper. When the Pressmen approached it they were ordered back by two officials who refused to allow them through on the grounds that they had to put up "the barrier" so that the teams could come through.

The newspapers representatives appealed to these officials to use a bit of common sense and show some recognition to the official Press Passes (which incidentally, are recognised by G.A.A. officials everywhere, including the road entrance gate at Thurles and are recognised by Government, Police and Public bodies everywhere). Their pleas were ignored. They were ordered to stand aside and when they were not inclined to do so, they were pushed aside and the barrier put up.

All of this happened, remember, within the Thurles grounds. The reporters and photographers were left standing outside the barrier while certain privileged people were allowed through as spectators. When the Pressmen challenged the officials on the sideline gate, they were told to take up the matter through the columns of their papers.

NOT BEATEN
However, they were not beaten. They left the ground through another gate and re-entered through the gate they originally came through. They were again courteously received by the men on the gate and without further ado walked through this "all important barrier." The two "dictating officials" glanced at the Press passes and without a word passed the reporters and cameramen through. This could have been done in the first instance instead of delaying the very men who helped to build up what Thurles which draws the crowds to Thurles and other Gaelic pitches throughout Ireland.

Let there be an end to this type of petty dictatorship on the part of G.A.A. officials. The Press, national and provincial, will not tolerate it and neither will the Central Council of the G.A.A.

IT CAN BE OUR DAY

Members of the Abbeyside Pattern Committee will be making their rounds for the next few nights in the hope of building up a fund that will make it possible to stage a really good pattern this year.

Already plans are well in hand and regular meetings are being held under the chairmanship of Mr. Joe Organ.

Originally it was hoped to stage the event in August but the date has now been fixed for September 8th. As stated in this column previously the big attraction will be the outboard motor-boat racing and I have been asked to issue an invitation to owners in Ring, Villiers-town, Cappoquin, Younghall and Waterford to come along and take part. In so doing they will be establishing one of the premier sports events in Waterford and something that could certainly would make Abbeyside Pattern an event few people in Co. Waterford would wish to miss.

It is the hope of all connected with the Pattern to build up this form of boat racing. Crosshaven, Cork and many other seaside spots enjoy great days of yacht racing. Cappoquin has its rowing. Now Abbeyside and Dungarvan can establish their harbours as an excellent course for outboard motor racing. It is an opportunity that should be availed of to the limit.

Anyone interested should contact me and I will make the necessary arrangements.

"FOR THE WINNER"
I have been asked to mention also in connection with rowing competitions at the Abbeyside Pattern, there will be no more half-hearted racing. An effort is being made this year to see that every race will be a thriller. In rowing, a minimum of three boats will be required to race and there will be only one prize—"for the winner." This will ensure a good race. My hope is to see at least five rowing boats in the race... a 3 there could be more.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

Sign of the times this weekend is former hurling star Johnny Murphy out and about with his blue and white badges on sale. Johnny has put a good deal of work into producing and in buying a few yesterday I was pleased to see that he has finished off each badge with a miniature photo of members of the team. Many of Johnny's badges will be on display at Croke Park on Sunday when Waterford take on Galway in the All-Ireland semi-final—And may we hope that every Dungarvan supporter will not forget that many years ago, Johnny played as fine a game of hurling as any could wish to see. He deserves our support now. Buy one of his badges. He is one of the old school. And good luck Waterford. Play to win every second of that hour.

THE VISITORS SUCCESS

It was quite an occasion at Dungarvan Golf Club last weekend when Captain's Day was celebrated in all its glorious tradition. The weather greatly favoured the occasion making it a most enjoyable one.

It was quite remarkable to see how lady luck favoured the visitors from Mitchelstown. I refer to the Lynch family. Down they came, hoping for success but little thinking it would come as it did.

Last year the prize went to a member of the family. On this occasion it went to another member, Mr. John B. Lynch, son of Mr. James J. Lynch. With them was Mr. William Holton, also of Mitchelstown. He brought off the prize for runner-up... and odd as it may seem, next in line for a prize was Mr. Tony Murray, of the National Bank, in Dungarvan, who made the trip to Ballinacourty in the same car.

May Sunday next see Waterford Senior Hurlers historic victory on Croke Park's hallowed sod.

THE STORY BEHIND THE THAT DOLLAR BILL

Five years ago Jack McGrath paid for his last drink in his native parish of Clashmore, with a dollar bill. He was returning to Scarsdale, New York, for the past 30 years he had worked as a trainer of race horses and an instructor in horsemanship.

The Old I.R.A. veteran ran out of Irish and English money but the dollar bill was accepted and the Yank had his drink.

Back in the U.S. sometime later, he heard that a pub was for sale in his village "back home." He was interested. He instructed his solicitor to look into the matter and on his behalf the pub was purchased.

Jack packed his bags and came home. The first thing to catch his eye on entering the pub was the dollar bill framed with a picture of "the only triple dead heat to win." It was the same dollar bill that paid for that last drink of his the night he left and this was the same pub in which he drank it.

To-day, the dollar bill is still in the frame in the pub that Jack bought, but few of the old-timers would recognise the old pub. The Yank has reconstructed it and made it into one of the most up-to-date in Waterford. And takngn pride of place over all is the dollar bill that came back to stay.

For the benefit of racing fans, the triple dead heat to win took place in the Carter Handicap at Aqueduct racing track, Long Island, New York, on June 10th, 1944, and is believed to be the

Local Happenings

COFFEY (First Anniversary)—In sad and loving memory of our dear mother, Ellen Coffey, nee Scart, Ballinacorney, who died on July 28th, 1956. Sacred Heart of Jesus have mercy on her soul. Masses offered. Always remembered by her loving family. In a near and silent graveyard where the trees their branches wave.

Sleeps a kind and loving mother In her cold and silent grave. She bid no one a last farewell She raised her hand to none Her spirit flew before we knew That she from us had gone. The voice is mute and stilled the heart.

That loved us well and true Ah bitter was the trial to part From one so good as you.

IN MEMORIAM MORRISSEY (11th Anniversary)—In loving memory of our dearest father, Michael Morrissey, late of 55 O'Connell Street, who died on the 28th July, 1946. Sacred Heart of Jesus have mercy on his soul. Mass offered.

A wonderful father only lent One of the best God ever sent A smiling face, a heart of gold The dearest father this world could hold.

—Lovingly remembered by his sons, daughters, sons-in-law, grandson and daughter-in-law, in Dungarvan and the U.S.A.

POWER (First Anniversary)—In loving memory of Jeff Power, 80, Congress Villas, Dungarvan, who died on 24th July, 1956.

Sacred Heart of Jesus have mercy on his soul. Will those who think of him to-day, A silent prayer to Jesus say. Inserted by his loving wife and family.

LENANE—The son, daughter and relatives of the late Mrs. Mary Lenane, Lackamore, Clashmore, wish to thank most sincerely all those who sympathised with them in their recent sad bereavement; all those who sent Mass cards and messages of sympathy and all those who attended the funeral, trusting this will be accepted as an expression of their deep appreciation.

DEATH OF MR. J. LENNON CAPPQUIN
The death of Mr. John Lennon which occurred on Friday morning with such suddenness, has caused deep grief in the town and district. The deceased, who was employed by the Forestry Service, collapsed shortly before he was due to begin work and died within a few minutes. He was a retiring inoffensive man and a most popular figure in the town. In his youth he was a playing member of the G.A.A. and a noted footballer. He was also an oarsman of much merit. In his latter years he retained his keen interest in sport and regularly attended all games. There was a representative and large attendance when the remains were removed to St. Mary's Church and also at the interment in St. Declan's Cemetery. The chief mourners included Mr. M. Rawlins, Mount Mellerey (brother-in-law); Mrs. T. Rawlins, Miss M. Rawlins and Mr. M. Rawlins, jr.

TOURANEENA NOTES

WINS £54-11-0
We extend congratulations to a very popular gentleman, Mr. James Sargent, of Boherwilling, Cappagh, on his recent win of £54-11-0 in a Sunday newspaper competition. An esteemed and valued employee of Cappagh Creamery, this is Mr. Sargent's second success in Crossword Competitions.

VISITED BALLINAMULT
A very highly respected young lady, Miss Lill Finn, daughter of Mrs. Neil and the late Michael Finn, Knocklog, Co. Limerick, paid a brief visit to a number of her family relatives resident in the Ballinamult area during the week. Miss Finn has been resident in Chicago, U.S.A. for the past few years. During her brief stay she was pleased to renew acquaintance with her numerous friends in the area.

BALLINAMULT v. TALLOW
Ballinamult junior hurling team travel to Lismore on Sunday, August 4th where they engage Tallow in their championship game. Well aware of the task which confronts them, the Ballinamult boys will need to be on their toes, as reports to hand state that the men from the banks of the Bride are a very fit side.

LATE MISS ELLEN POWER
Deep and sincere regret has been occasioned throughout the Ballymacarby district during recent weeks at the announcement of the death of Miss Ellen Power, late of Deerpark, which took place at Dungarvan Hospital after an illness of long duration. Of quiet and unassuming disposition, deceased lady enjoyed immense popularity among a very large circle of friends who now deeply and deservedly mourn her passing. One of the old stock of the district, her great depth of sincerity coupled with her many kindly and charitable acts will always make her one of the most popular of her generation. Interment took place at Bannet's Church Cemetery.

Jun. Football Cham'ship Resumes

THE junior football championship, which in common with all other internal competitions has been pushed into the background during the recent spell of inter-county activity, will be resumed over the weekend. On Friday evening at Dungarvan, Old Parish take on St. Garvan's, newcomers to the competition and at the same venue on Sunday, Tomin and Valley Rovers are billed to try conclusions.

Of the four, Old Parish undoubtedly look the better championship proposition. The Shocks routed Dungarvan in the first round and their form in the league tourney has been highly impressive. Form indicates a comfortable Old Parish victory, but St. Garvan's with several capable footballers in their ranks, are not without hope of success. Indeed, Mick Doherty's charges are quietly confident of improving on their fine league display against the same opposition.

Tomin, back in the junior grade after a brief sojourn in senior ranks, will be hard put to make a winning return at the expense of Valley Rovers on Sunday afternoon. The Rovers are invariably a tough nut to crack and Dick Dooney and company will considerably enhance their prospects of going all the way by avoiding defeat at this stage. This game has been brought forward to 2.30 to facilitate those wishing to listen in to the commentary on the All-Ireland semi-final.

CORAS IOMPAIR EIREANN

WATERFORD WANT KILKENNY

TRENCHANT opposition to the proposed alterations in the grouping of the National Hurling League, as mooted by the Central Council, was voiced by Cathaoirleach Pat Fanning and several members at a meeting of the Waterford County Board, C.L.C.G., in the CYMS Rooms, Dungarvan, on Monday night.

The Chairman urged the Board to strongly oppose the proposed transfer of Kilkenny to Group 2. The Kilkenny game, he declared, was their main source of revenue and often the percentage from an away game with the Osory County exceeded the home "gate" from other matches.

In addition, Mr. Fanning continued, he could not envisage any great reward from a fixture with Clare—the proposed replacement—which would entail a lot of extra travelling bi-annually. With the Board looking to the revenue from the hurling competition to recoup losses on the football league, the changes would be disastrous financially.

Mr. T. Lannon said the Board should threaten to withdraw from the league if the changes were implemented. The Chairman told Mr. O'Sullivan that he understood that Kilkenny would also oppose any change.

The members agreed, although loath to forgo the fixture also, that it would be a better proposition to lose Cork, who sponsored the proposed changes than Kilkenny.

Finally, Central Council representative, Charlie Ware was directed that "the grouping must stand; otherwise we must seriously consider our most attitude to the league."

The Chairman read a letter from Mr. D. Dooney, seeking a further contribution towards the George McGrath accident fund.

Mr. Dooney speaking in support of the application, recalled the history of the case. He went on to disclose that a further setback had again incapacitated George McGrath for the past six months. Mr. Dooney suggested that an inter-county match would meet the case.

The Chairman, who gave the application a very sympathetic hearing, suggested referring the matter to the Finance Committee for consideration. This would put it on a proper footing. This course was agreed to.

The Board agreed to allot £25 the sum it is proposed each County in the Province should contribute towards the presentation to Mr. Wm. Hough, Munster County Treasurer, to mark his twenty five years on the Council.

The Chairman read a copy of a letter sent to the Wexford Co. Board by the Waterford Branch of the Knights of Malta arising out of an incident in the dressing room in which members of the Wexford team and an officer of the Knights of Malta were involved on the occasion of the recent match between Waterford and the Model County.

The Secretary read messages of congratulations on the county's great performances in the Munster Championships from D. Kelly (Limerick); Rocky Power (formerly of Dungarvan); M. Power and the Boys, Jack Phelan, New York, Waterford Men's Social Club, B. McGrath (Kill), Secretary, Bruff Sportsfield Committee.

Concurring with the sentiments expressed in the above, the Chairman paid glowing tributes to the minor footballers, the senior footballers and senior hurlers.

The minor footballers, he said were a trifle unlucky to lose to Cork; the senior footballers found the same opposition too good in the final, but he believed, any team which could deal of merit; while the senior hurlers deserved the congratulations of all on bringing back the Munster Championship, after an absence of nine years. Arising out of above, Mr. J. Ware said he thought some of the reports in the daily papers on the football final were disgraceful.

The Chairman said he took exception to the naming of individual players. He had read two daily papers and he agreed they both tended to play up isolated incidents, but the Board had no jurisdiction over the press.

Details of a proposed football competition, open to senior and junior clubs, for a perpetual challenge Cup and set of medals were embodied in a letter from the ploughing Association. The matter was referred to the of-

NINE YEARS OF BARREN ENDEAVOUR WILL BE BRIDGED ON SUNDAY NEXT WHEN THE COUNTY SENIOR HURLERS RETURN TO CROKE PARK FOR WHAT WILL BE THE INITIAL CHAMPIONSHIP APPEARANCE OF A DECISE FIFTEEN AT HEADQUARTERS SINCE JIM WARE AND HIS COLLEAGUES STOPPED THE PRIDE OF DUBLIN IN THE ALL-IRELAND FINAL OF 1948. GALWAY, WHO WERE OUR OPPONENTS AT THE SAME STAGE IN '38 AND ALSO TEN YEARS LATER, AGAIN COMPRISE THE LAST BUT ONE OBSTACLE TO OUR BID FOR THE COVETED MC CARTHY CUP, AND THE RUGGED MEN OF THE WEST CAN BE DEPENDED ON TO TURN IN A TYPICALLY DETERMINED CHALLENGE. THE FORM BOOK, HOWEVER, INDICATES A WATERFORD VICTORY.

The last but one obstacle on Sunday

It is, I suppose, only natural that a triumphant Munster campaign should cause Waterford folk to approach the penultimate bout in rather complacent mood. Our stock is riding the crest of the wave and our hurling still continues to show an upward trend. Be it remembered, though, that over-confidence, as distinct from plain, honest belief in our ability, could have disastrous consequences.

The men who wear the white and blue, however, are sensible enough to regard this latest challenge from the West as a definite threat to a Croke Park appearance on September Sunday.

Galway's hurling activities have taken a back seat to their more illustrious big ball deeds of late, but the standards of their hurling remains high—witness their holding of a powerful Munster selection to level scores last February—and in the championship the maroon-jerseyed men are never a side to be lightly regarded.

Another Surprise? The gallant Connacht standard bearers are reputed to be quietly confident of creating yet another upset in this year of shock results. Greatly overhauled and backed by a course of preparation that was pursued with an zeal that should recompense to a considerable extent for their lack of serious match play together, this Galway side could be the strongest to come out of the Western province for several years.

Waterford, however, must start strong favourites to win a return ticket to the National Stadium a month hence. The Decies county men have accomplished all that has been required of them to date in a thoroughly competent manner, and as I see it, their tremendous speed of action and powers of endurance will pose for the Corrib-siders problems they have scarcely encountered hitherto.

In the opening round the white and blue jerseyed brigade gave Limerick, then reputed to be the fastest moving hurling outfit, a thorough going-over at the very game that won the Shanonsiders the Munster crown two short years before. And not even all the accumulated craft and experience of a hundred battles could keep champions Cork in the hunt when they faced the flying Waterford men in the Southern decider.

Power and Fury Waterford marched through Munster with flying colours. The power and fury of their hurling shattered Limerick and Cork in turn and very deservedly won for the old county its third provincial championship. Even the game's keenest observers have acclaimed the Deise men worthy representatives of the home of hurling.

But in the rugged, hard-hitting Galwayside, Waterford will have to contend with something they have not encountered to date. The ranks of the Western county may not be adorned with the hurling artists that powered Cork and Limerick, but these Galway men are formidable battlers and in the white heat of a championship test they will utilise every legitimate means at their disposal to supplant our men.

The Galway defence, even without Billy O'Neill, who is currently listed as a forward, is comprised of seasoned campaigners who will give our forward a grueling hour. Aidan Croke return to favour as guardian of the citadel and Fr. Hackett, P.P. and Rev. Fr. Murphy, C.C.

There was a large attendance at the Requiem Mass for the happy repose of his soul, on Wednesday morning and at the subsequent interment in the adjoining cemetery. The chief mourners were: Mrs. John Walsh, Cookroe; Mrs. Faly, U.S.A.; Ellen Foley, U.S.A. (sister); M. Foley, U.S.A. (brother); Wm. and Patsy Foley; Richard, Patrick and Declan Walsh (nephews); Mrs. T. Bester, Katherina, Mary and Bridget Walsh (nieces); John Walsh, Cookroe (brother-in-law); Mrs. Crotter (brother-in-law); Mrs. T. Foley (sister-in-law); M. and Mrs. Foley, Lisgriffin; Thomas and Patrick Foley, Mrs. McGrath, Mrs. Morrissey, Mrs. Shalloe; and Mrs. Downey (relatives).

Mid-field Thunderbolts The Westerners hope may stand or fall with the new mid-field formation of Joe Salmon, who outburled the best Munster could put against him in the Railway Cup ties, and T. Kelly. Certain it is that the thunderbolts will break in this vital area of operations, for our own Seamus Power and Phil Grimes, who broke the back of the Cork challenges a fortnight ago, con-stute one of the finest partnerships in the game to-day. Galway mentors have again overhauled their attacking forces. Billy Duffy, who starred on the forty in the inter-provincial test, is now placed on the fringe of the square, with former full-back Billy O'Neill taking over on the mark and another ex-defender, Martin Murphy, to operate on the left wing.

Waterford mentors have followed the expected lines. The defence remains intact, and mid-field and forward formations are the same as finished the hour at Thurles.

Johny O'Connor, still nursing a hand injury that forced him to retire in the provincial final, was not considered. In his absence, Seamus Power continues on the half-way line and Donald Whelan, who performed so creditably when pitted against the great Brohan last time out, again figures in the left corner.

This is a Waterford team of exceptional accomplishment, and irrespective of how well the very capable Western representatives perform, it is but reasonable to envisage them forging a definite superiority over the hour. Galway, good hurlers that they are, will surely turn in a spirited performance, but Waterford, on recent form and past achievements, must remain a confident choice to march on to the day of reckoning which as if you did not know is September 1st.

Tipp. Minors Again

Tipperary minors, fresh from consolidating their apparently perpetual hold on the Munster crown, and powered by winners of more than everyday talent in Doyle, Craddock, Murphy and Ryan, should carry off the first leg of a southern double in the preceding under eighteen semi-final.

Cork shatter our football hopes DISAPPOINTING EXIT AT THURLES

WATERFORD'S hopes of supplementing the already won Munster hurling crown with a big ball championship were unceremoniously shattered by provincial kings Cork in a final that never measured up to popular expectations at Thurles Sportsfield on Sunday last. The game, of which so much had been expected, petered out after a promising opening, primarily because of the shortcomings of a Waterford side, the manner of whose exit from the championship provided a sad anti-climax to the overnight fame they had enjoyed as a result of victory over Kerry in the opening round last month.

The Deise men were never in the hunt with a chance after the opening ten minutes. Thereafter Cork's supremacy was clear-cut in all departments of the arena and their ultimate advance to the inter-provincial stage a mere formality.

Waterford's fall from grace was thoroughly disappointing. But truth to tell, they just had not the football—certainly they never paraded any comparable talents—to live with a Cork fifteen that was not at all flattered by their winning margin.

The losers' troubles commenced at mid-field where Ryan and Moore were rampant from the first ball, and in short time the epidemic, for such it was, had assailed all sectors of a side that was hard to reconcile with the flashing team which had so deservedly humbled the might of Kerry in the preceding engagement.

Cork laid the basis of their second successive championship triumph in overhead supremacy. The giant-like Leasiders simply pulled them out of the clouds, whereas Waterford, almost without exception, displayed but an elementary knowledge, and certainly no real appreciation, of the most effective weapon in the big ball game.

Paradoxically, the odd occasion when a Waterford man deemed it worthwhile to take "wings" a colleague, more often than not two or three of them, accompanied him on his air-hurrying mission and the inevitable confusion that followed the leather time and again rolled clear to a patiently-waiting Corkman.

I have no doubt, however, our men would have turned in a much better performance had they concentrated all their talents on the immediate task—to better Cork by honest, manly endeavour—the essence of which a few at least appeared under considerable misapprehension.

The conduct of more than one of the winners was also far from what it might have been, and a Cork man claimed the dubious distinction of drawing

All Set for Annual Hosting

Dungarvan Agricultural Show will be held in the Gaelic Field on Thursday next, August 1st. Now established over 50 years, the Show ranks in the front row of Provincial shows through the high standard of organisation it has maintained down the years. Entries in all sections are excellent. Hares, always an outstanding feature of this Show, are numerically strong and all classes are well filled. A new pony class has been introduced this year—for ponies 12.2 hands or under on leading rein if necessary—the winner of which will be awarded a silver Cup.

In addition, to the valuable Cups and trophies awarded in previous years, a new Perpetual Challenge Cup (presented by the Galtee Cattle Breeding Station) will be awarded for the champion A.I. heifer, Shorthorn or Friesian type, exhibited at the Show.

Entries in the Horticultural and Home Industries Section have been particularly heavy this year and there will be keen competition for the Agricultural Limerstone Perpetual Challenge Cup for the most outstanding exhibit in the crafts section. A new feature at this year's Show will be the model market stall staged by Dungarvan branch of Country Markets Ltd. The Co. Committee of Agriculture Educational Exhibit has many new features of interest and the display of Trade Stands and agricultural machinery will be more extensive than ever.

During the year, the Committee have carried out improvements on the jumping course and several new jumps have been introduced which should provide plenty of thrills for both spectators and riders alike. There will be five jumping competitions including two for children, for £100 in prizemoney and two silver Cups.

A colourful feature of the Show will be the Parade of the Dungarvan Harriers by the Joint Masters, Mr. T. Kiely and Mr. L. Morrissey. As previously, catering at the Show will be in the hands of a Ladies Committee composed of members of Maara na Feirme and the Irish Coun-
