YOUGHAL URBAN COUNCIL

The regrading of the town which would bring the salary up to a standard commensurate with the importance of the town was the subject of a discussion at this month's meeting of Youghal U.D.C. Mr. E. P. Lynch, Vice-Chairman, presided.

Opening the discussion, Mr. P. J. Lawlor said: "We are very fortunate to have such an efficient Clerk as Mr. Haslam. I have no doubt we will lose him in time by promotion. We should, therefore, ask for reclassification of Youghal and we should try and bring his salary up to a standard commensurate with the importance of the town."

Mr. Lynch—I am fully in agreement with what Mr. Lawlor has said, especially as we have such a capable official as Mr. Haslam, who is as good as any official in Munster. We should try and get him a full salary to which regrading would entitle him.

Mr. Haslam (Town Clerk)—I am very grateful for the tributes from the Manager and from the members of the Council. I will always do my best for the Council while I am here.

It was finally decided to put the matter on the agenda for discussion at the next meeting.

AUDITOR'S REPORT
The report of the Auditor for the years 1955/56 and 1956/57 having been read, Mr. Lawlor said that the position with regard to rate and rent collection is good but the gas undertaking seems to be badly in need of attention. I think we should have meetings of the Gas Committee from time to time, judging from the comments I have heard of the poor supply, he said.

HOUSING SITES
The Town Clerk, Mr. O'Flynn, F.R.I.A.I., Architect, inspected all the sites in Youghal during the week and I expect his report for the next meeting. He is inclined to approve of a site for a few houses at Dunne's Park. He will probably approve of the sites at the Mall.

MANAGER—All these gas undertakings are going the same way and any further increases in price are out of the question. Chairman—I would be just as well if we called a special meeting to discuss the position. I don't think that a town like Youghal can afford to tie away with the Gasworks. We must do something to try and better the works. We wanted to improve the works some years ago but we didn't get the necessary support.

TOURIST DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION
Mr. Lawlor—I would like to see the proposal to form a Youghal Tourist Development Association could be included in the agenda for our next meeting.

The suggestion was agreed to.

'STAY OUT OF TOWN' Or Go to Jail

At the Dunganvarian District Court on Wednesday, Patrick O'Leary, no fixed abode, who stated he was now camped at Tallow, was ordered by District Justice Skinner to stay out of Dunganvarian for a year with a warning that if he returned there within that period, he would be sent to jail.

O'Leary was charged allowing his son, also named William, aged 10 years, and his nephew, James Delaney, aged 11 years, to beg, contrary to Section 14 of the Children's Act, 1908.

Serjt. John Browne, prosecuting, stated that on the 19th September, the two children went into a public house in Dunganvarian to beg. He caught them and they admitted they were begging. He got their names but before he could question them further, they ran away. Witness stated that the defendant was a pest around the area where he had been for sometime.

Defendant was not professionally represented, stated that at the time of the offence there was a carnival in the town. The children were sent to town for milk.

Justice—And I suppose you told them to beg around the town.

Defendant—I never put them up to it, Sir.

The Justice then warned defendant to stay out of the area for twelve months and applied the Probation Act on that condition stating that if he came back within that time, he would be sent to jail.

Defendant agreed to stay out of the area.

Cork Man Charged with Dangerous Driving

Thomas Bailey, Mitchelstown, Co. Cork, appeared at Dunganvarian District Court on Wednesday, charged with dangerous driving following a collision that occurred at Killadangan outside Dunganvarian, on the 25th July last. Fined defendant £2. District Justice Skinner termed his action "most reckless."

Garda Somers gave evidence of visiting the scene of the collision at a bend in the road at Killadangan. He described the position of both cars. He questioned both drivers, each of whom pointed out the point of impact. Witness saw from the position of the cars that the defendant was on his incorrect side. The only side mark on the road which defendant admitted was his car's, was 1 foot from his correct side of the road.

Mr. Roche, Solr., Mitchelstown, for the defendant, asked witness if he had warned both drivers that they would be charged and he said he had.

Mr. Roche—What will you say if defendant swears he was not warned.

Witness—I warned both.

Mr. Roche went on to cross-examine witness on the measurements and positions of both cars suggesting that defendant's car was well in on its own side.

Replying to Supt. Flanagan, witness stated that the point of impact was the extreme right front of both cars, the headlamps and right wings.

Mr. H. Moutry, O'Connell Street, Dunganvarian, driver of the second car involved, stated that he had been driving along the road at the scene of the accident in third gear. It was a dangerous road. He had gone through two bends and was coming up to the third when he saw a car coming against him taking the bend. Witness stated that the oncoming car actually "cut the corner." Witness had pulled in and stopped but he was struck fairly hard. The other car came along on his wrong side, he said. He heard no truck and up to the time he pulled in, he had been driving at about 10 miles per hour because he had always had a "bread" at those corners.

Defendant was caught by Serjt. John Browne who stated in evidence that he found him kicking at doors and kicking up a noise. When approached, defendant resisted arrest violently. Witness sent for help to the Garda. He and defendant had to be dragged there "all the way."

Mr. King, Solr., for the defendant asked if it would surprise the Serjt. to learn that defendant had no recollection of what happened.

Serjt. Browne—I would not. They way he acted, he was like a mental case.

In reply to the Justice, Mr. King stated that his client had never been in trouble before. On the occasion of this offence he had taken a few drinks too many. When told of what happened he apologized to the Serjt. and to the Garda for the trouble he had caused. Defendant was fined £1.

Local Happenings

IN MEMORIAM
RONAYNE (First Anniversary)—In sad and loving memory of Mrs. Elsie Ronayne, Lock-castle, Villierstown, who died on 9th October, 1956. O her soul Sweet Jesus have mercy. Masses offered. A loving mother so good and kind. Loved by those she left behind. Silent thoughts bring many a tear. For a mother we miss and loved so dear. Your voice keeps whispering gently. Loved ones be brave and true. At the end of life there is sunshine. I'll be waiting and watching for you.

CLONMEL ROWING CLUB DANCES AT CLONEA AND CAPPOQUIN
The above Club is sponsoring two major dances to be held over the week-end, one in the Boathouse Hall, Cappoquin, with Jimmy Wiley and his orchestra, dancing 10-3, admission 5/-; the other at C.S.M. Clubroom, Clonlea, where the Club is fortunate to have secured the services of Mick Delahunty for an all-night dance 8-3, admission 6/-. This is the first time for quite a while since Mick has played in Clonlea and this occasion should be a great success. Both dances are kindly looked-forward to by Clonmel Clubs and their friends, etc.

WEDDING BELLS
O'Donovan-Condou—The wedding with Nuptial Mass and Papal Blessing took place at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Ballinacorney, on Oct. 11th, between Mr. Maurice O'Donovan son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Donovan, "Snowlet", St. Christopher's Ave., Mottentown Park, Cork, and Miss Judy Condou, A.L.C.M., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence V. Condou, Abbotside, Dunganvarian.

Late Mrs. Julia Whelan
The lamented passing of Mrs. Julia Whelan, who answered the call of the "Great Beyond" at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. A. Morgan, Foster Avenue, Mount Merrion, Dublin, recently, occasioned widespread regret throughout the Dunganvarian and district. Deceased, who had attained the fine age of four score and seven years.

Interment took place in St. Mary's Park Church on Thursday of a large gathering of friends and sympathisers. Rev. J. Murphy C.C. officiated.

Late Mr. M. Hayes
BALLINACOURTY
It is with profound regret that we record the death of Mr. M. Hayes, Clonlea, Dunganvarian, which occurred on Wednesday of last week. A highly industrious and popular member of the farm's community, the deceased gentleman was father of Mr. Liam Hayes, Abbotside and Miss E. Hayes, Clerical Assistant in the Town Clerk's Office.

The remains were accompanied by a cortege of staid dimensions, were brought to Ballinacorney Church on last Thursday evening and received by Rev. M. Walsh, C.C.

Following the celebration of Requiem Mass on Friday morning, interment took place in the adjoining cemetery in the presence of a large gathering.

Funeral arrangements were carried out by J. Kelly and Sons Undertakers, Dunganvarian.

LARCENY OF CABINET DRAWERS

An elderly pensioner, Patrick Morrissey, Thomas Terrace Dunganvarian, was charged with the larceny of two cabinet drawers, value £2 at Dunganvarian District Court, on Thursday. He pleaded guilty.

Serjt. P. Flanagan, who prosecuted, stated that defendant contacted the disused premises of Mrs. May Falvey, and removed the two drawers to his own home. When questioned, he acknowledged doing so stating that he thought they were of no value to anyone being thrown there as a disused cinema. He made a table with one of them and the second drawer was returned.

Justice—Can you pay £1? Defendant—I can sit, but I have no money now until Friday when I get my Old Age Pension.

The Justice adjourned the case for two months to give him time to pay the £1.

Kilmacthomas, Kilrossanty and Stradbally Notes

Public Sympathy has been evoked in these parts at the announcement in last week's number of this paper of the passing at her residence, Grattan Square, Dungarvan, of particularly well known and generally beloved Mrs. Annie Walsh, widow of Mr. P. A. (Phil) Walsh. By all acquainted with her, the late Mrs. Walsh was identified as a kind, gentle and charitable and courteous citizen of the Old Boro and she enjoyed numerous friends in all walks of life.

Arranged and kept by the Kilmacthomas Guild I.C.A. is the flower-plot in the centre of the T-shaped cross between the New Line Bridge. Recently the Guild had a railing erected about the plot to protect it. This was broken down the other night by some person or persons lacking in civic pride. The Guild is having the damage worked repaired and bearing the expense entailed thereby.

Many Matters of local interest are listed on the agenda of business to be transacted at the meeting of the Ballynaneen Cumann, Fianna Fail taking place to-night (Saturday, 12th inst.) at the local Coast Garage (Mr. Paddy Lannon's premises).

Home Preservation of Eggs The supply of fresh table eggs for home consumption is rarely short in the demand during the winter months. During spring and early summer egg production is in excess of the requirements for home consumption.

Buttered Eggs. One of the easiest methods of preserving eggs for short periods is to smear them with butter. This should be done immediately they are laid. Only good fresh butter should be used, as inferior quality is likely to impart an objectionable flavour to the eggs.

Waterglass Method of Preservation This is probably the most convenient method. Waterglass, which is a solution of silicate of soda, is now sold specially for this purpose in tins of 1 lb. and upwards. A preserving solution consisting of 1 lb. waterglass (about 1 pint) in 1 gallon of water is generally recommended.

On Wednesday last week, a man named Desmond Williams Evans, of no fixed abode, was arrested and brought before a special court in Tramore, charged with the above criminal offence. Evidence of arrest was given by Sgt. Gilpin, Tramore and the defendant remained in custody in the Waterford City District Court on Friday of this week (11th inst.).

Mr. Thomas Coleman, senior, Faha, retired CIE employee, who had a shoulder injured when he accidentally fell off his bicycle whilst cycling near his home some few days since, is now happily almost fully recovered from the effects of his mishap.

Gaelic Garnerings—Cnoc Slion's Con Crowley-captained combination proved too crafty for well-fancied Kill's representation at the city venue last Sunday and the Monastery team and the winners of to-morrow's Kilrossanty v. Dungarvan mix at Frasher Field will figure in the final of this year's senior football championship competition.

At the time of writing, Kilrossanty team is reported fully fit and eager for engagement with honourable Old Boro rivals and this bout bids fair to be a veritable battle royal.

Have all that a meeting of the Committee of the 2nd (Conegragh) Battalion, West Waterford Brigade, Old I.R.A., will be held in Stradbally at Mr. Patk. O'Reilly's on Thursday night of next week (13th inst.). Russia's Artificial Satellite Preserved eggs are not damp the spirit of the stupendous crowd at the Sheep Breeders eight annual dance-hold in the CSM Ballroom, Clonon, last Sunday night. This is a 3 function was certainly a memorably merry affair, with Sean Healy and his band at their very best.

DUNGARVAN BOXING CLUB

Quite recently an inter-provincial tournament was held in Port Laoise between Leinster and Munster. Three Dungarvan boxers, F. North, J. Woods and M. Delany were chosen to represent Munster. Unfortunately M. Delany has gone to England and due to circumstances neither F. North nor J. Woods were able to travel.

To-night (Friday) T. Sheehan, F. North and J. Woods will be engaged in bouts in Cork on an all-star bill including Irish ex-champs, and Irish internationals in H. Perry, J. Sweeney and Fred Teidt, Irish Olympic representative and are engaged in the following bouts, Perry v. A. Murphy, Sweeney v. T. Sheehan and Teidt v. J. Martin. There are many other entertaining bouts down for decision. The same three Dungarvan boxers will be also engaged in a tournament in Limerick next month.

F.C.A. NOTES

DUNGARVAN BATTALION FIELD DAY

On Sunday next the 13th October, Youghal Rifle Range will be at the disposal of this Unit for the purpose of firing annual Range practices. It is hoped that members who have not fired their open range practices to date will be able to come along on Sunday next.

COMMAND INSPECTION

The annual command training inspection of this Unit will be held during the week commencing on the 11th November to the 16th November. This year the Command expect to have every effective member on parade as the inspection will be a Test Mobilisation, in other words, they want to find out how would they respond to a general call out if this was asked for.

WEDDING BELLS

MURPHY-FAHY The wedding took place recently at the Church of St. Thomas More, Swiss Cottage, London, of Nicholas, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, Glenmore, Dungarvan, and Sheila, daughter of the late District Justice and Mrs. J. V. Fahy, formerly of Gorey, Co. Wexford.

The ceremony, with Nuptial Mass, was performed by Rev. R. G. Dangerfield, C.C. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. J. A. Fahy, Galway, wore a frock of white lace and a coronet head-dress of tulle. The bestman was Mr. P. J. Byrne and Miss Carmel Clarke, was bridesmaid. The soloist was Mr. Tom Fletcher.

"Gid" (Coenurosis Cerebralis) in Cattle and Sheep

"Gid" also known as "sturdy," "Staggers," and "Turnsick," is a disease of ruminants—sheep and cattle being most often affected. It is known in every part of the world. Usually losses from it, though apt to continue yearly on premises where the disease exists, are not very high but in rainy years the usual localised form in sheep may assume a widespread character with numerous deaths. Sever losses in cattle have occasionally been reported in this country.

CAUSE "Gid" is due to the presence in the brain or spinal cord of the larval or bladderworm stage of a tapeworm of the dog called Toenia Multiceps. The bladderworm is in the form of a cyst which may vary in size from that of a small pea to a hen's egg or orange.

MODE OF INFECTION The adult tapeworm in the intestine of the dog consists of a head which is attached to the lining membrane of the bowel by hooks and a body composed of transverse segments which grow from the head. These segments form a chain, each segment being complete in itself. When ripe, the end segments drop off from the body of the tapeworm and are expelled in the droppings. Each segment contains a mature ripe ova or eggs and is easily seen being about half an inch long and one-fifth inch wide and of an off-white colour. Those eggs when passed out in the droppings containing the pasture or drinking water. The eggs can live for a certain time outside the body, especially in damp weather. When a sheep or bovine animal eats grass or drinks water contaminated by the eggs, they hatch out in the intestine of the sheep or bovine animal and the young hooked embryos bore their way through the bowel wall. They are then carried by the bloodstream to different parts of the body but only those that reach the brain or spinal cord survive. The embryos that reach the brain or spinal cord undergo development into cysts or bladder-worms and are fully grown in from seven to eight months. The cysts when eaten by a dog develop into adult tapeworms. The carrier of the tapeworm on a farm is usually a sheep-dog which has opportunities for eating the cysts.

PREVENTION As cattle and sheep are infected by consuming herbage or water contaminated by ova of the dog tapeworm, Toenia Multiceps, an essential precaution is the dosing about every three months of all dogs on the farm with a remedy against tapeworms. The dogs should be tied up while being treated and all worms, droppings and soiled litter burned or deeply buried. If this is done regularly and the dogs kept free of tapeworms, infection of sheep and cattle will be prevented.

SYMPTOMS The disease is most prevalent after a wet spring. Young sheep and cattle are most frequently affected. In from one to three weeks after the ova are swallowed with grass or in water, symptoms of the acute stage when the young embryos are travelling through the brain or spinal cord may be seen. Usually however, they are so slight as not to be noticed.

Exceptionally, if the infection is severe, the animal may die with symptoms of brain trouble, such as stumbling, bending of the head and convulsions. In mild cases the animal may lag behind the others, appear dull and move stiffly. These mild cases appear to recover in about ten days time and seem all right for some months. Recovery, however, is only apparent. During the next six months all symptoms are absent, but the cysts continue to grow in the brain or spinal cord and as they grow the pressure they exert gradually causes symptoms of the chronic phase of the disease to appear.

Usually the cysts or bladder-worms are found in the brain. When they are in the spinal cord, gradual paralysis of the limbs, bladder and bowels results and after a time the animal falls, is unable to get up and dies.

When the cysts are in the brain, the first of the secondary symptoms indicates impairment of the usual functions of the brain. The animal is dull, lags behind its comrades, may have a staring expression, eats irregularly or may stand forgetting that it has taken food into its mouth.

As the cysts grow and the pressure on the brain increases, the symptoms of brain disturbance becomes aggravated. The animal may hold its head to one side and turn in a circle. The head may be held against the chest, pressed against a fence or manger, turned back over the shoulder, or held down on the ground. The sight is often affected. There is salivation at grinding of the teeth. There is loss of balance. The animal may stagger or lift its legs too high or turn in smaller and smaller circles until it eventually falls to the ground. It may even walk in a circle of the same size, or one gradually increasing in size until it comes to a standstill, or may move backwards or fall sideways. All those symptoms are

LISMORE NOTES

LISMORE v. SHAMROCKS

In a friendly practice game played at the Gaelic Field on Sunday evening an under-strength Lismore XV went under to Shamrocks on the score of 8-5 to 2-8. The game, which was played under ideal conditions produced little in the way of good hurling. At no time did the Lismore side look anything like the team we have seen in action throughout the year. Indeed they looked very inferior to the Shamrocks. Perhaps, it being only a practice game, the black and amber XV were content to take things easy, we don't know, but we do know that a big improvement will be needed if they are to win through to the Co. final. Lismore follower hope this was just an off day for the team.

SOCER

Lismore Athletic were defeated 2-2 by a strong Cahir Park XI on Sunday last. The Lismore team were short three of their regulars but despite this handicap put up a very good performance against a much more experienced side. Lack of experience was again very evident in the Lismore team which failed to make use of all the opportunities which came their way. However, taking into account the fact that the Lismore XI are only beginning, to date their performance has been of a very high standard.

LISMORE NUN TAKES FINAL VOWS

Sister M. de Porres (formerly Miss Nora Walsh), youngest daughter of Mrs. E. Walsh and the late Mr. M. Walsh, Parks Road, Lismore, took her final vows to the Order of the Incarnate Word on 15th August last. The ceremony which was conducted by the Right Rev. Mr. Roach, was held at the Convent of the Incarnate Word, Villa de Matel, Houston, Texas, at which convent Sr. de Porres has been for the last seven years. Sister de Porres is a sister of the Rev. M. J. Walsh, S.M.A., Superior, St. Augustine's, Manchester, England.

EMIGRANTS BECOMING A GENERAL NUISANCE

During the past few weeks the town of Lismore has become a mecca for travelling people. On every hand one is accosted by them, looking for the 'eternal copper.' Many people are of the impression that these itinerants should be made move after a day or two in the vicinity here they become the nuisance they are proving to be.

NFA NEWS

In the past few weeks representatives of Farmer Organisations in Britain have had discussion with Dutch and Danish Producers on the Bacon marketing situation.

The main object of the discussion is to reach an agreement on a strictly managed and organised Bacon Market in the United Kingdom. It is worth noting that the respective countries have not taken an active part in these talks but it is believed that when the Farmer Organisations represented have finalised their deliberations that any arrangements which they recommend will receive official approval by the Governments of all three countries concerned.

During the first eight months of this year Bacon imports to the United Kingdom increased by 15% of which Denmark supplied 151,900 tons or an increase by comparison of approximately 4,000 tons over last year.

The NFA Pigs and Bacon Committee are taking keen cognizance of these International discussions. With our bacon exports on the rise it is now more important than ever that an organised system of marketing will result in stabilised prices for the producers and continued expansion of this very important industry.

WHEAT CRISIS The rejection of wheat at the mills last week and the offer of 40/- a barrel for what was described as unmillable wheat was strongly met by the National Farmers' Association meeting the Minister last Tuesday morning.

The Minister for Agriculture met the Ministers later in the afternoon and a statement issued in the Press the following day stated that sprouted wheat would now be accepted as millable. A price of 50/- per barrel was fixed for damaged wheat at 22% moisture content.

INTERNATIONAL REPRESENTATION On the 28th October, the President of the NFA will attend in Rome a meeting of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers.

No prices have been announced for superphosphate during the coming season. It should be remembered that an increase of £1 was given last year on the basis of increased shipping charges but that freight rates last August were 10% below 1952. This fall in shipping rates has taken place over a period of time and last June the NFA proposed a case for a very substantial reduction in price. It is estimated that the price reduction should be in the neighbourhood of 30%.

In the interests of Irish Farmers the NFA now propose to make an issue of the whole fertilizer question and it is hoped that they are keeping in mind the fact that in some areas in this country certain lime quarries have refused to do much business with our branches purchasing

WILLIAM CROTTY

The Story of the Popular Outlaw and Hero

FINAL CHAPTER

The next hairbreadth escape that Crotty had from Norris's treachery was due to the forethought and vigilance of his devoted wife. On this occasion the outlaw, being too much exhausted after some desperate adventure, resolved to pass the night in his wife's brother's house in the village of Curraheen. He confided his intention to Norris, and the traitor at once sent word to Mr. Hearne, Shanakill, who was deputy sheriff of the county and had long been endeavouring to affect Crotty's capture.

William, you're sold! Come off and hide. I have a snug place for you and take your arms but you can't fight now. There are too many of 'em. Come away, quick, quick! Crotty, wide awake, jumped out of bed, followed by his wife, with her brother's help, huddled him, with his arms, clothes and everything that might betray him into the cavity of the rick, telling him to remain quiet whatever might happen. Then having neatly filled up the opening with sods of turf, she returned to the house with her brother and lay down in the bed from which she had roused her husband. Soon she heard the party arrive and surround the house; then Mr. Hearne's voice, demanding admission in the King's name. Mrs. Crotty's brother at once leaped from bed and without dressing hastened to open the door. He looked surprised, but not alarmed, as the sheriff entered with his armed followers and at once told the purpose of his visit.

MR. P. WALL "The Bard of Knocknaree" Dies

It is with much regret that we announce the death which occurred at his residence, Knocknaree, Ballymacnabry, of Mr. Pierce Wall. Aged about 94 years, he was widely known as "The Bard of Knocknaree". He was a talented rhymer of the old school who recorded many events in characteristically humorous verse.

During the Civil War the late Mr. Wall's house was a retreat for prominent members and senior commanders of the Anti-Treaty forces.

On the night of April 6, 1932, the late General Liam Lynch slept there as well as Frank Aiken and Sean Hyde. Four days later Liam Lynch was killed near Newcastle. Wall's house is mentioned in books dealing with the period, including "No Other Law" and "The Irish Republic".

MATCH AT CLASHMORE

Whitegate (Co. Cork) J.I.I. team travelled to Clashmore on Sunday last to play the local XV in a challenge match and a well-contested game ensued. In the opening period the team from the oil refinery area were somewhat superior but in the second half the locals gained command and ran out deserving winners. The game was played in a clean, sporting manner that reflected credit on both teams. Final score: Clashmore 5-2; Whitegate 3-3.

JUVENILES FAIL

In the final of the West Waterford juvenile hurling league on Sunday last, Clashmore were defeated by Ballyduff. Due to a misunderstanding the Clashmore team fielded below strength.

ARMORE G.A.A. RE-ORGANISED

At a public meeting held at Ardmore steps were taken to revive the local G.A.A. Club. For the past couple of years the players from the Ardmore area have been playing with neighbouring clubs. The new development is welcomed on all sides.

UNEMPLOYED

Big numbers of road workers are now out of work in this area. The reason given is that no money is available. Surely the ordinary people are now paying the penalty for the reckless extravagance of successive governments.

A further meeting in support of the effort to have the Rural Electrification Scheme introduced to the Clashmore-Aglish area was held in Clashmore on Monday night last. Rev. M. Power, B.A., C.C., presiding. Rev. D. Slattery, C.C., Aglish, was also present. In connection with the forthcoming re-construction it was decided to make a special appeal to all who up to now, have been listed as non-acceptors, to sign acceptance forms on this occasion. The Inside Story

A show to remember

The people of Dungarvan were treated to a preview of an Irish variety show on Sunday night...

"ON THE SPOT"

HER RETURN

I should mention, too, that with the artists on Sunday was Mrs. Mai O'Higgins who was introduced to the audience by Bridie Gallagher...

Looking back on the show as I saw it in Dungarvan last Sunday night, I have only one criticism to make. It was too good a show for a one night performance only...

as a record carrying the voice too, incidentally, will be worth watching. This is an occasion when a song has been written for the singer and the combination seems perfect.

Miss Gallagher certainly scored a big hit in Dungarvan and our many exiles in England may well look forward to her singing. They will want to hear her again and again.

Back with us again was Chris Casey. He staged his bus conductor's act which by the way, will be heard on Radio Eireann this week-end. He is appearing as Guest Artist in the Beginners Please programme...

Well, there you have it. I would like to have the show again but I may have the opportunity of catching one of their London performances. However, they will be back in Dungarvan in 1958.

It is a long time since I last met Dennis Murray. He is the man who gets music out of anything and believe me that is true. I was not prepared for the act he put over last Sunday. It was an act with a difference. Dennis presented more than one conventional method of playing a violin but it was that extraordinary accomplishment of getting music and good music too, out of a bedside lamp that crowned his act. Before that he had played on a saw, something we have often seen in the past and he had played a well known tune on a row of bottles but when it came to the lamp anything seemed possible. Some might have told you some short time ago that acts like this went out with the passing of the music hall but that is not the case today. T.V. has changed all that. Keep an eye on Dennis Murray. His exceptionally good act will take him into the international limelight. There is a big scope to-day for such talent. Val Fitzpatrick I met for the first time. He came on with his guitar and went off leaving a deep impression on his large audience. Val played and sang with real distinction but I am convinced that he can carve a really permanent place for himself at the top if he sticks to that beautiful original style he so wonderfully displayed in his presentation of "My Daddy is Only a Picture". This was something I would have been prepared to travel a long way to hear. The reception the audience gave him showed that I am expressing the view of many.

John Fowler a young Irish hero now living in Dublin, tenor, is another artist well on the road to fame. He too was making his first visit down south and from the success he had there, his return will be welcomed. We did not get enough of his singing. His progress

Throughout County Waterford to-day, almost everyone of its 40,000 people is looking forward to the hanging match that will provide an opportunity they are wished for but never really expected... a game with Kilkenny senior hurlers who beat them by one point in the All-Ireland final a few weeks ago...

Now, they will meet again in Croke Park on Sunday week in the final of the Oireachtas Cup and Waterford people everywhere and Waterford people everywhere are looking forward with keen enthusiasm.

But one of those who helped to make the All-Ireland final one of the greatest in living memory will not be playing for Waterford on this occasion. He will not even be on the sideline. He has to put away his hurley and his togs... indefinitely. He is confined to a quiet ward in Ardkeen Chest Hospital, Waterford, 40 miles from his native Cappoquin. But despite his illness, he is determined to get back on the hurling field and to capture that elusive All-Ireland medal so narrowly missed a few weeks ago.

He is Mickey O'Connor, one of the fastest hurlers in Ireland, who cried off last week. He will miss the excitement of the playing pitch, and the tense atmosphere of Croke Park on the occasion of the replay he had looked forward to so much. But he will be with his team mates in thought "all the way."

And when the road to an All-Ireland title is declared open again, Mickey may well be swinging his way along it. Just now, he is doing what he has always done... he is in there playing to win... but this time as never before.

It will be last Wednesday by the time this is being read. We hope to celebrate the Troop's 27th birthday with a "feed and a bit of a do." Eight members of the 17th Troop are coming to join us and with Mickey's final recording of the Hurling Final and all the guys with the voices to sing we should have a good night. It was in the Spring of 1930 that the Patrol, about that time a number of chaps were missing troop meetings because of Mickey Rooney and Tyrone Power but I don't think it was the films that held up Pat B. (there's only one Pat B left now) last week. It must have been the carnival. There's talk of satellites from Abbeyside circulating around Dungarvan.

A Band intend to set down to business next Thursday night when they will get a piper and drummer from Clonmel who as John says "know their stuff." With plenty of drummers they had, Maurice says, is pipers or nothing.

All P.L.s were asked to remind Scouts to be at the Chapel on Friday night at 7.30 p.m. and at the Den on Sunday for parade at 7.45 a.m.

CAPPOQUIN TALLOW BOARD OF FISHERY NOTES

DEATH OF MRS. A. SWEENEY Kilmahane. We record with deep regret the death of Mrs. Alice Sweeney, Kilmahane, which occurred on Friday, 4th inst. She was widow of Mr. John Sweeney who predeceased her by some years. A lady of many estimable qualities her passing caused general sorrow. Many friends accompanied the remains to St. Mary's Church on Saturday evening and the funeral which took place on Sunday after Requiem Masses to St. Declan's Cemetery was of very large proportions. Rev. M. O'Meara, C.C., officiated at the graveside. Those immediately bereaved include Patrick, James, Michael (sons); Margaret and Mary (daughters).

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN LONDON. Much regret was caused in the town by the news of the death of Mrs. Mary O'Driscoll, which occurred in London on Wednesday last at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. M. Glavin. The late Mrs. O'Driscoll was widow of Mr. Patrick O'Driscoll and had lived in Cappoquin up to a few years ago. Sympathy is extended to her sons, daughters and grandchildren in their loss. The interment took place in London on Friday.

NEW QUARTERS FOR PIPERS. The Pipe Band moved into new premises and now occupy the quarters which for years were used as practice rooms for the old hands.

VERY REV. J. HACKETT. Very Rev. J. Hackett has arrived in Ireland from the U.S. to spend a short holiday at his brother's home in Moonvee.

WELCOME VISITOR. A welcome visitor to town this week is Mrs. J. O'Donnell, formerly Miss Margaret Cahill. Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell and their two daughters have been living in Aden for some years and are now spending a holiday in Ireland prior to going to Venezuela.

VISIT OF ROCKIES. There was a lively and exciting encounter at the Sportsfield on Sunday when the famous Cork side, Blackrock, met the local senior hurlers in a challenge game. Cappoquin who lined out players, Michael O'Connor and Billie Conway, put up a fine show against the Corkmen who won by the margin of three points (1-16 to 3-7). A feature of the game was the excellent display in goal by Francis O'Donoghue, who was well-couraged by the full-back line of Lacey, L. Dooney and N. Mason.

JUVENILE HONOURS FOR BALLYDUFF. The final in the Juvenile League was also played on Sunday when two spirited teams representing Clashmore and Ballyduff won the applause of the spectators for a fine display. At the interval Clashmore led by the score 1-0 to 0-2. Ballyduff, with two goals in rapid succession at the opening of the second half looked like securing an easy victory. But the Clashmore boys fought valiantly and netted to reduce the margin. Ballyduff forwards, however, went further ahead with two goals and a point. The last score of the game was a goal by Clashmore to leave the final score: Ballyduff 4-3; Clashmore 3-0.

N.E.A. There was a disappointingly small attendance at the meeting of the National Farmers' Association held on last Friday night.

PLAUDITS FOR PIPERS. The youthful members of St. Declan's Pipe Band who played the teams on to the field on Sunday won rounds of well-deserved applause from the spectators. The excellent rendition of the marching tunes and the smart turn-out of the boys fully merited the reception they received.

A DATE TO REMEMBER. A date to remember is October 27th when O'Connor's staff dance will be held in the Boat-house.

TRAGIC ACCIDENT. Mr. Arthur Cronin, Aglish, Glencairn, received injuries from which he died at Richmond Hospital, Dublin, on Tuesday last October. It appears deceased was on top of a wind of hay when he fell backwards fracturing his spine. He was removed to Dungarvan Hospital on Sunday evening and was sent from there to the Richmond. A very popular member of the community, his death under such tragic circumstances is very deeply regretted. To his bereaved wife and daughter much sympathy is extended.

The remains were removed to Tallow Parish Church and the interment took place in Aglish Cemetery. The popularity of deceased was aptly demonstrated on both occasions by the large attendance.—R.I.P.

TALLOW BOARD OF FISHERY NOTES

LATE MR. J. MEADE. The late Mr. John Meade who died at his residence, Glengour, Tallow, on Sunday Sept. 29th was a member of an old and highly esteemed family. He had reached the fine age of 85 years. Make sure you hear them and dance to their music in the Arch on Sunday.

There was not a dull moment from the opening to the close. At the conclusion, Mr. T. Murray, Chairman, thanked all for their kind attendance, the band for their excellent music and the management of the Arch for kindly putting this lovely ballroom at their disposal for the annual dance.

MISS DELIA LYNCH. West St. Tallow met with an accident when the Volkswagen she was driving was in collision with a stationary bulldozer near Glanhowe, Tallow. The car was heavily damaged, but Miss Lynch luckily escaped injury.

The monthly meeting of the Lisimore Board of Fishery Conservators held at Tallow under the Chairmanship of Mr. R. Grove Annesley, there attended Miss Montgomery, Brigadier Jephson, Captain Cayton, Col. Grehan, Col. Silcock, Messrs. W. O'Neill, J. Healy, J. Kent, Also Inspector Woulfe and Joseph Power, Clerk.

Inspector Woulfe reported that since last Board meeting the net season came to a close. The fishing during the month of July showed considerable improvement on the previous months and the catches of grise were the best for some years past. The actual returns are not yet to hand due to the fact that a very considerable amount of fish from the area are being purchased by outside dealers. A complete list of catches for the present season will be submitted to the next Board meeting. The Inspector performed the usual duty of protection and supervision and was pleased to report that except for a few isolated cases there was very little sign of poaching throughout the district. A consignment of salmon alleged to be unlawfully captured was intercepted and seized at the Dublin Markets on August 20th and on the same afternoon the Inspector with Asst. Inspector Fanning found the consignor of those salmon in possession of a lot of unlawfully captured salmon. A prosecution in each case is pending and is of major importance requiring the services of Counsel.

This was noted and the services were agreed to. Arising out of a notice of motion in the name of Mr. Healy (Tallow member) that a conservator be co-opted to fill the seat on the Board formerly held by Mr. L. Daly, of South Main Street, Youghal, now disqualified through non-attendance, it was unanimously decided on the proposition of Mr. Healy, seconded by the Chairman to co-opt Mr. Brendan Quin, of South Main Street, Youghal, who is keenly interested in the salmon fishing industry.

The Clerk presented for the Board's observations a questionnaire from the Department of Fisheries in regard to penalties imposed on Patk. Flynn, of Free-mount at Kanturk District Court on April 12th last. In this matter the Inspector informed the meeting that he had a great deal of trouble in investigating this case and suggested that there be no mitigation of penalties.

The Board unanimously decided to recommend that the law take its course.

Letters were read from seven Trout Angling Clubs in the district expressing grave concern at the great damage done to fish life by dace, roach and rudd which are now more numerous than ever, and they requested that the Board bring pressure to bear on the Department of Fisheries for the removal of coarse fish from the Blackwater and its tributaries. In this connection Inspector Woulfe stated that the Inland Fisheries Trust recently operated their electrical device in the Awbeg river which was very successful and from reports to hand dace spawn in the month of November.

It was decided to send copies of the Clubs letters to the Department requesting that operations be carried out in the river Allow and other rivers around Banteer and that it should start early in the season.

It was also decided to convey sincere thanks to the Inland Fisheries Trust incorporated for the good work carried out recently on the Awbeg.

The Board having been summoned to consider an application from its Waterkeepers for a wage increase of 15/- per week as from October 1st in view of the high cost of living and cost of maintenance of bicycles etc. After a prolonged discussion it was agreed on the proposition of Col. Silcock seconded by Mr. O'Neill to increase the present rate of £5-15-0 to £6-2-9 subject to the sanction of the Minister for Fisheries.

The Clerk presented a copy of field and went on to Kilmore where pass turned and headed for Parkdotts and from there to Mr. L. McCarthy's where he was lost.

Another was found close by and went on to Mr. A. O'Keefe's Roseville, and to Kilmore where he, too, was lost. Hounds, however, got on the scent again and hunted to Lane's, Kilmore, when it was decided to call it a day. There was a large following which included Mr. F. Prendergast, huntsman; Joe Prendergast, P. Ronan, M. Daly, A. S. Hoskins, D. O'Brien, A. S. Hoskins, D. Breen, P. Henley, etc.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board presided over by the Chairman, Mr. Annesley, Inspector Woulfe reported that while starting the work of putting in a new gutter at the Mallow Hatchery it was found that practically all the centre rafters were rotten and needed immediate replacement. For this purpose it was necessary to purchase 26 rafters 12x6x2 with a number of purlin. The work was efficiently carried out by the caretaker who is now making new trays for the coming season. It was also necessary to purchase material for the making of a new door for the Banteer Trap Hut. All the timber now being replaced has been in use for 50 years and gave good service. The salmon trap at Rosalee is in operation since Sept. 13th and to date 31 female and 38 male salmon have been captured. This number compares favourably with the returns of past years in view of the fact that the river has been in flood and the trap can only function during the rise and fall of a flood.

Captain Clayton submitted a detailed report of his inspection of the Hatchery with the view to the control of dead leaves stating that the conditions were not serious enough to warrant any elaborate arrangement of gear or to incur any great expense. He suggested the arrangement of a rising and falling board to collect the leaves which could be removed by a long handled rake. He added a note of appreciation of the very excellent repair work being done by the staff. The Committee conveyed sincere thanks to Captain Clayton for his assistance in this and other matters concerning the hatchery.

After discussion on the trojan work done by the caretaker it was agreed to allocate him a gratuity of £10 in appreciation of his services. It was also decided that in view of the great expense incurred in renewals and improvements at the Mallow Hatchery, that an application be made for a grant for same, as the hatchery is maintained by private subscription.

It was also agreed to place an order with the Inland Fisheries Trust for 70,000 eyed brown trout ova to be hatched out for the various trout angling clubs in the district.
