Wart Disease or Black Scab on Potatoes

Wart Disease or Black Scab is one of the most serious of all potato diseases. During the present century, despite stringent regulations against it, Wart Disease has spread considerably in many countries of Europe, and it has also appeared in Asia, Africa and America. Although present in Ireland in 1908, its distribution in this country is still strictly limited, a fact which is of first-rate economic importance, seeing that there are very extensive areas here which are entirely free from the disease. For these reasons, it is important that every grower should adopt all possible precautions to prevent its introduction to his land. If it appears, its presence should at once be reported to the Department in order that the necessary steps may be taken to prevent the disease being spread to clean land.

DESCRIPTION OF DISEASE. The disease mainly attacks the potato tubers, but it also occurs on the lower portions of the stems and leaves. It can readily be detected by the excrescences, or warty growths, which develop from the eyes of the tubers. At first these outgrowths are white, but later they turn dark brown and finally become a putrid mass. They may occur only at one eye of the tuber, or they may develop in several eyes and spread to such an extent that the tuber is practically covered with them. After potatoes have been pitted, the outgrowths may become larger, and they may develop on tubers which are apparently sound at the time of digging.

PREVENTATIVE MEASURES. Every precaution should be taken to prevent the introduction of Wart Disease through the various channels indicated above. Seed potatoes of the highest quality as regards purity and vigour are now produced in clean land districts and there is a sufficient quantity of seed produced in the country to meet all its requirements. Potato growers should obtain a change of seed stock therefore, in their own interests, procure and plant home-grown seed only.

CO-OPERATIVE LIVESTOCK MARTS. Co-operative Livestock Marts sponsored by the NFA are now flourishing in many counties. The fact that they are running so successfully and so profitably may hint at a growing danger around the corner. There are strong suggestions of organising further Co-operative Marts in close proximity to ones that have already been successfully established.

GENERAL. The presence of Wart Disease or Black Scab is a serious menace to potato-growing, and especially to the potato export industry. Growers are, therefore, earnestly invited to co-operate with the Department in suppressing the disease. It is of the utmost importance that suspected outbreaks should be notified promptly and that specimen tubers should be sent to the Department's offices for examination. Such specimens should be packed in a tin box, or similar receptacle, with a label attached addressed to the Secretary, Department of Agriculture, Dublin, and marked Section 21.

SPREAD OF THE DISEASE. The disease is spread from place to place and perpetuated from season to season, by resting "spores" which pass in the soil when the warty growths decay during autumn and winter. Infection is usually conveyed by planting potatoes obtained from a diseased crop, but contaminated soil adhering to sound tubers, even of immune varieties may act as a source of infection. Cabbage plants raised on contaminated land, when sold for planting elsewhere, provide a ready means of spreading the disease through the soil adhering to their roots. The soil adhering to the roots grows on infected land, or soil carried on cart wheels, farm implements, the boots of workers, horses feet, or even by birds, may be the cause of new outbreaks. The contents of ash-trays, the sweepings of potato houses, or potato stores, and manure containing diseased tubers are all fruitful sources of infection and should not even where there is no suspicion of disease be put on land intended for potatoes or which is likely at some time to be planted with potatoes.

NFA NEWS

SALE OF SINGLE SUCKLED CALVES. Satisfaction was experienced both by buyers and sellers alike at the first sale of single suckled calves ever held in this country. The sale which was organised by the NFA took place at Messrs. Gandy's sale yard in Prussia Street on last Wednesday, the 30th October.

These calves of over nine months old averaged 41 cwt. for bullocks and slightly more than 4 cwt. for heifers. This sale can be regarded as being an experiment in a new line of livestock exports and the sale being certain observations can be made. While the buyers tended slightly in favour of black animals on the average it will appear that weight was more important than breed. This might point to a recommendation that farmers going in for this line of livestock will have their cows calving down somewhat earlier and therefore be able to have heavier calves on offer in October.

By virtue of the fact that the single suckled calf is intended for a luxury trade the demand must of necessity have its limitations. Making a very rough guess we could say that we could export somewhere in the neighbourhood of 20,000 calves per annum and as there were only 500 on offer at our first sale we can safely say that there is plenty of room for expansion in this trade.

CO-OPERATIVE LIVESTOCK MARTS. Co-operative Livestock Marts sponsored by the NFA are now flourishing in many counties. The fact that they are running so successfully and so profitably may hint at a growing danger around the corner. There are strong suggestions of organising further Co-operative Marts in close proximity to ones that have already been successfully established.

WEST GERMAN TRADE. It is expected that the Trade Talks with West Germany will conclude early this week. While no official announcement has been made rumour has it that they are not progressing so satisfactorily as we would have hoped.

Mr. T. Hickey protested against the proposal to increase and proposed an amendment that the prices be left as they were but as there was no second, the Chairman declared the proposition carried. Mr. Hickey dissenting.

Mr. Hannon suggested that the small gas holder should be repaired. It had a water leak; if agree that owing to lack of mineral resources and raw materials we too are dependent on imports from industrial countries but it does seem reasonable that we should purchase only from those countries which reciprocate trade with us in agricultural produce.

YOUGHAL U.D.C. TOLD OF-

Most Unsatisfactory Position of Gasworks

"FROM this it is apparent that the position of the Gasworks is most unsatisfactory. Any concern with a debit balance of £13,452 could not be called healthy."

This was the comment of the Chairman, Mr. P. J. O'Gorman, when Youghal U.D.C. considered the financial position of the local gasworks. The following excerpt from the report of the Local Government Auditor in the years 1955/56 and 1956/57 was read: "This account opened in the 1st April, 1956, with an average balance of £10,000, and the expenditure for the years 1955/56 and 1956/57 totalled £20,485 and £16,133 respectively against which credits for £17,489 and £17,193 leaving on March 31st, 1957, a debit balance of £13,452. It is observed that the financial position of this undertaking is in a most unsatisfactory state and when it is realised that increases of 10d. per 1000 cft. of gas and £1 per ton of coke which became effective in the year 1956/7 were again offset by increased running costs, the future of this undertaking must give rise to great concern. Further similar increases have, however, been sanctioned as from February, 1957, and these may result in some improvement in the financial position unless again offset by increases in the essential materials required for production such as oil and coal."

The Chairman having made the remarks quoted at the outset, Mr. D. Linehan said: "Do I take it that the amount of coal in stock is included?" Chairman—Coal stocks are taken into consideration.

Mr. E. P. Lynch—We have storage facilities out there and a lot of coal in stock, we should get credit for that. Mr. Hannon, Gas Works Manager—I took stock on 21st March 1957. That is not the procedure of Local Government who are only concerned with receipts and expenditure; they are not concerned with the stock on hands at the end of the year.

Mr. D. Linehan said that during the war the Minister imposed a stand-still order, which meant that prices of gas and coke could not be increased and this cost them £6,400.

Mr. Lynch—I agree with Mr. Daly, and at one time we had a Gas Committee and we were able to keep the gasworks going as a paying proposition, but since the advent of the County Management Act, things have not been going as they should and when we wanted to pay profits back into the works for improvement, we were beaten.

Mr. Hannon—That is so. Chairman—What is our present price of coke, £8 a ton? Town Clerk—For comparable gasworks the prices are—Crommel, £10 10s.; Mallow, £9 10s.; Fermoy, £8 10s.

Mr. T. Hickey protested against the proposal to increase and proposed an amendment that the prices be left as they were but as there was no second, the Chairman declared the proposition carried. Mr. Hickey dissenting.

Mr. Hannon suggested that the small gas holder should be repaired. It had a water leak; if agree that owing to lack of mineral resources and raw materials we too are dependent on imports from industrial countries but it does seem reasonable that we should purchase only from those countries which reciprocate trade with us in agricultural produce.

and the best man should get the contract.

Mr. Lawlor—I agree with Mr. Cole. Finally, on the proposition of Mr. Cole, seconded by Mr. Lawlor, the following resolution was passed—That the Council are strongly of opinion that there are persons seeking housing accommodation who are willing to pay the full economic rent and the Council accordingly request the Minister to sanction the proposal for erection of such houses and to waive the condition mentioned in L.G.D. letter of June 17, 1957.

F.C.A. NOTES

DUNGARVAN BATTALION COMMAND INSPECTION. Next week that is, from 11th to the 18th November, will be the most important week of the year for every Unit in the Southern Command as this will be the week of the annual Command Training Inspection. It is hoped that during the coming week the Battalion Staff will have the pleasure of seeing every member of the Dungarvan Battalion on their weekly parade. This is the only week of the training year that all members are asked to make an all-out effort and be present at their nightly parade. It is numbers on parade that count for this inspection, so it is hoped that all members will turn out and be clean and tidy and a credit to the Unit.

FULL-TIME TRAINING. The final period of full-time training for the current training year will take place at the Aerodrome, Fermoy, from 30th November to 13th December. Those who have not yet availed of the opportunity of reporting for annual training should avail of this period so in the course of the next week it is hoped to complete the list, so that final arrangements may be made re transport, etc.

Mr. Cole—I suggest we write to the Minister and tell him the position. Mr. Daly—We still have 112 people looking for houses and I don't think we need apply to the Minister; what I do say is that all houses should be advertised.

Mr. Hickey—I agree. I saw a house lately where a whole family was living in one room. Mr. Cole—The Minister will be pleased to hear that. Mr. Hannon—That is not the procedure of Local Government who are only concerned with receipts and expenditure; they are not concerned with the stock on hands at the end of the year.

Mr. D. Linehan said that during the war the Minister imposed a stand-still order, which meant that prices of gas and coke could not be increased and this cost them £6,400.

Mr. Lynch—I agree with Mr. Daly, and at one time we had a Gas Committee and we were able to keep the gasworks going as a paying proposition, but since the advent of the County Management Act, things have not been going as they should and when we wanted to pay profits back into the works for improvement, we were beaten.

Mr. Hannon—That is so. Chairman—What is our present price of coke, £8 a ton? Town Clerk—For comparable gasworks the prices are—Crommel, £10 10s.; Mallow, £9 10s.; Fermoy, £8 10s.

Mr. T. Hickey protested against the proposal to increase and proposed an amendment that the prices be left as they were but as there was no second, the Chairman declared the proposition carried. Mr. Hickey dissenting.

The House on the Hill

There is a neat little home on the hill at Newtown, Ballymacarbury on the road to Clonmel but the front door is always locked. Waterford County Council is using it as a store for tools and equipment while there are many in the neighbourhood who would be happy to make it their home.

The Inside Story

Council would let me have the old shack back again at a weekly rent. But they refused and I had to linger on in the hope something would turn up."

The Council paid £700 to Mrs. Mollie Tierney, a widow, when she handed over the key. They were making a new road outside her door and would remove the dangerous bends that made the Newtown hill a nightmare for motorists.

NOVEL WESTERN FINAL ON SUNDAY

Colligan-Lismore clash poses problems

Hurlers Travel to Wexford for Vital League Tie

WEXFORD PARK will house a big Waterford contingent on Sunday next when the county hurlers step out against the resurgent Slaney men in a third round encounter that, barring a major turn-up in form, seems destined to play a vital part in the outcome of Division One of the National League. Waterford, two points down as a result of a defeat by Dublin two weeks ago, must collect the maximum reward if they are to remain in the hunt. The home team, too, require the points to consolidate their leadership of a division in which Dublin and Kilkenny are not yet done with.

Wexford's fighting return has been the outstanding feature of the League to date. With maximum points and merited victories over Kilkenny and Cork chalked up, the Model county men are in a most auspicious position. Indeed, a division of the spoils should be sufficient to ensure group honours, for despite their current form it is unlikely that Dublin, the only other undefeated side, will be capable of mustering a point from their final engagement with the ex-champions.

There is no denying that Waterford have been a hurling agony since the All-Ireland failure. Against Wexford in the Oireachtas competition and in the opening League tie they looked tremendous, but recent defeats at the hands of Kilkenny, Dublin and Clare indicate that there is something amiss with the machine which blazed the trail to Croke Park a few short months ago.

Too much hurling and the prevailing underfoot conditions have posed as the root cause of three defeats on the trot, yet the peculiar point is that the lads have continued to turn in grand hurling. This was particularly true of the Dublin and Clare encounters.

Even at the best of times I harboured a feeling that the team carried a couple of men whose consistency is suspectible. Since the All-Ireland this feeling has become a conviction. Perhaps a rest would help the men concerned to return their form, for mind power, I have had cause to extol their worth to the county in the past.

For Sunday's match, Dickie Roche, who was discarded at the end of the championship campaign, returns to goal. Little fault could be found with the Mount Sion man prior to the final. But the demolition of Tony McBride after only one game—he is not even listed among the reserves, is hardly a practical step towards providing a solution to this troublesome berth.

John Barron, who missed last Sunday's match against Clare, is back at left full-back. Grimes is again placed at left half, where he finished the hour against the Banner county, while Jackie Condon, surely the find of the year, is on the other flank of Martin O'G.

The Dunhill newcomer, who made such an impressive middle-field debut, continues as Seamus Power's partner and Flannely and Tom Cheasty return to the attack.

Wexford have come on a hundred fold since the Oireachtas semi-final in which the Decies men inflicted a humiliating defeat on them. But with confidence restored and the signs of another successful era in the offing, it is most unlikely that the Slaneysiders will provide such feeble opposition on this occasion.

Playing before their own supporters, Willie Rackard, Nick O'Donnell, Jim English, the Morrisseys and Ned Wheeler will be desperately anxious to recover further ground. Championship form, of course, entails Waterford to the vote. Despite recent failures, they could pull it off too. But the home team are worthy of utmost respect.

KILMACOW LIME OWNED MADE, DELIVERED by the NATIVE IRISH!

THE novelty of the pairing and the niche the fixture enjoys in the local Gaelic calendar—in recent years it has tended to almost challenge the senior competition in popular appeal—will bring hurling lovers in their hundreds to Cappoquin on Sunday next for the clash of Colligan Rockies and Lismore in a Western junior hurling final that promises to be as vibrant as any contest in the colourful annals of the tourney

It is, one might say, appropriate enough that the most intriguing pairing conceivable should emerge from a campaign that has been characterised by shocks and surprises since the opening ball was struck last April.

The unexpected eclipse of St. Garvan's and the subsequent failure of their conquerors, Kilrossanty, must inevitably cause one essaying a forecast to approach the assignment with even more than customary trepidation. It is all the more confusing in the circumstances that there is absolutely no concrete medium of comparison.

Be it said, though, that the stalwart men of Colligan, who have never previously attained such hurling fame, and Lismore are finalists on merit alone.

Of the two, the Rockies have unquestionably experienced the more strenuous qualifying passage. But even more significant is the encouraging step up in form that has marked their every appearance to-date. Unimpressive when winning from Bricey Rangers in the opening round, their all round play showed a definite improvement against Abbeyside in round two, while last time out they looked a thoroughly transformed side when mastering Kilrossanty.

But Lismore's game has also displayed an upward trend in recent time. No more than moderate in the preliminary rounds, a trifle fortunate to share a draw with Shamrocks last August, Jim Crowley and his men subsequently came on apace to romp past the Moorehill side at the second attempt and then rout Tallow in a one-sided area final.

Lismore were positively brilliant against Tallow. But the Rockies looked no less devastating when winning from the Comeragh men. In any event the relative values of these performances only tend to illustrate the uncertainty surrounding the final showdown.

Colligan are still hopeful of having Paddy Kirwan back on duty. At the time of writing, however, it is extremely doubtful if the troublesome ankle which caused him to sit out the Kilrossanty encounter, will allow Kirwan to take his customary mid-field berth.

Big concern of the Lismore mentors is posed by the emigration of centre-forward Kip Tobin. I have a hunch that they will find it mighty difficult to resist the temptation to again switch skipper Jim Crowley, who earned such distinction when drafted into the full-forward post for the group final. Veteran Johnny Vaughan would then appear the obvious choice to man the fringe of the 'square.'

The battle for mid-field looks certain to provide full-blooded exchanges. It was the half-way superiority of Tom Burns and Eddie Brett that laid the foundation of the Rockies victory last time out. But in the Lincos constans, Tom and Bob,

THEY BOUGHT A HOUSE WITH THEIR WINNINGS

A young couple in Wales have just won enough money to buy a house, and so they say it is conclusive proof of the Legend of the 300 year old Wishing Cork Tree. Another couple had a piece of Lucky Cork sent them by a relative and got an empty house two days afterwards. A lady in Doncaster sent for a piece and won £3000 on a penny points pool. A wife gave her doubting husband a piece of Lucky Cork for his Birthday and two weeks after he won £1500. A mother sent each of her sons a piece and one of them won £4003 in a sweep-stake. If you would like further particulars, send stamped addressed envelope to Wishing Cork Tree, Combe-in-Teignhead, Devon. (911)

Lismore last Sunday week. Final score was 5-4 to 4-1. They are in the county final now and fellows who think training can be done on Woodbine puffs will probably become GSR Engine Drivers. Pooff! Minors should be able to run a fair distance without losing wind and finding themselves gasping and panting, whether their "pants" be long or short.

With all the Halloween "Merchants" at home, Burkie will probably go back into business again. The weather is improving now and you may use Olive Oil again but just the same Burkie don't buy any more Carmels, as they bring back happy moments (also unhappy ones) to you. Last week one of our ex-Scouts and a member of the Victorious Melvin Team of 1953 (Jeff, of course) left for England and we wish him the best of luck.

On Sunday evening we had a visitor, Joe Key from Clonmel and a very successful practice was held. Hank says he's the "key" to all our band troubles. Some of the lads said he was out to kill two "birds" with one stone but as far as I know he only killed one. We hope to have him down again next Thursday.

Four of our boys, Ollie Cully, Brownie and Blondie were on the Abbeyside minor team which beat Cappoquin in

Third Consecutive Defeat

Clare --- 3-9 Waterford --- 2-11

ALTHOUGH turning in a grandstand second half effort, Waterford hurlers crashed to their third defeat on the trot at the hands of a Clare side that battled with traditional Dalcaisan fury in the semi-final of the London Fields tournament at the Sportsfield, Waterford, on Sunday last.

Waterford, trailing by 3-6 to 1-3 at the interval—the result of a lack-lustre opening—turned over to camp in the winners' territory right through the final half an hour. Point by point the visitors' big lead was whittled down despite the stoutest of stout resistance by a Clare defence that never stood on ceremony, until Phil Grimes landed the equalised from a forty yards free almost on the call of time.

But the Banner county men were not yet done with. Back they stormed and when a Waterford defender committed a needless infringement, mid-fielder Kirby made no mistake with the winning point from the resulting free.

On the run of play the winners were a trifle fortunate. Yet one could not but admire the manner in which they battled back to snatch the equaliser after surrendering what at the half-way stage had appeared a winning advantage.

Once again the homesters enjoyed an extraordinary amount of right back luck. The first goal was a most unfortunate affair, Tony McBride being completely deceived by a rather harmless drive, while Hayes in the visitors goal fairly covered himself with glory when Waterford turned on the pressure after the change over.

One might say that this was a game of two phases. In the opening period the visitors set the pace and raced into a commanding lead. On the turnover it was the Decies men who called the tune.

he cut lanes through the opposition and sent out a stream of precision passes that strewn the baffled Dalcaisians.

Donal Whelan, although still troubled by a hand injury, was no less successful. The Village man took his scores in typical style. Tom Cheasty was the pick of the remaining forwards.

The new mid-field partnership of Power and Dunphy had a most encouraging baptism. In fact, the quick striking of the Dunhill newcomer, was one of the features of the match.

Hayes, of course, was Clare's saviour, but Purcell, Guinane, Dilger, McNamara, Smith, Kirby Jordan and Ryan all played their parts in carving out an unexpected victory.

Catholic Scout Notes

TROOP MEETING

On Saturday night the meeting started at 8.30 p.m. The SM couldn't make it sooner so Paddy and Goolie were too shy to stick out their chests and bowl 'Scouts, Fall-in' to put the meeting in progress. However it better late than never, and when the Scout Prayer was recited the usual quiz time followed. P. O'B told about the 'three Scout fold' and a few other tongue-games got mixed up too, and then roll was called. At this time Burkie arrived breathless and as usual toggled out to the beret in Uniform. For a game the SM and Burkie picked two teams and before long a 'golf' game was started. Scouts in each team were equipped with a straw (no lemonade) and when the whistle blew each Scout in turn blew a ping pong ball towards a goal at the end of the field. This proceeded until each Scout in each team had finished. Then the result was given and it was 11 firsts to 9 firsts in favour of the SM's team. At Patrol time First Aid was on the menu and a test followed. Two members of the Melvin Team, J. Duggan and K. Mahony treated an injured patient who had his hand caught in a machine in a factory. (The tannery had him nackeded). The treatment was carried out excellently. Then two more of the Scouts were called (no names) and were caught on the wrong foot when they were asked to treat Jimmy O'Dea (not the Mulligan man) who had pulled a pot of boiling water from the fire and scalded himself. The meeting ended with the C.B.S.I. Prayer and the Leaders held their meeting.

BUNCLONEY CAMP 1957—contd

Wednesday: This morning Revellie didn't go until 8.45 a.m. All five Patrols were quickly out of bed and before long had breakfast spunk off their skins. The seniors and 'Others' didn't make the break until Fall-in was blown. Immediately after breakfast the SM left for home on business so the A. SM's were in charge of affairs during the day. After inspection some of the chaps went to the wood but most of the Troop were lazing around doing nothing in particular. A spot of cricket was in progress before dinner but when it began to drizzle just at 1 p.m. the Batman (Bames) found the wicket too slippery. Dinner (Mutton and Peas) was served soon after two o'clock by the Wolfhounds and I heard the two bright boys Nicky Shan and Mikeo Regan remark that the wicket was a very satisfactory impression on their insides. Most chaps took their usual rest after dinner and then some went to town and some to the woods. Later a small number went for a swim. At the places of Glendalough, famous of the Waters, Vale of Clara, Glenmalur (7 miles from sunny Aughrim, 1955).

The Tigers P.L. with a cheery grin. Thoughtfully fondled his hairy chin. And then as if touched by a red hot wire. He yelled, 'Oh! boys! Am I on fire. He also had a piece of poetry named 'After Aughrim' by Emily Lawless. A very successful band practice was held later on in the night and it was decided to have a chanter practice every day in camp. We aim to have at least three new tunes each year. Flag-down saw Jerry Bullfin, Blondie and Cully hurrying back from the wood. Just as we finished the tea the SM arrived back bringing ASM Brownie with him. The report we got from Brownie on the state of affairs in the Village was "Just Dead"—just like the Deserted Village. When "Lights-out" was blown things weren't just dead in the camp-site. A good many wars were waged before the exhausted warriors of the Wolves, Panthers and Eagles retired to their tents—except the P.L.s who gave the seniors a great fight. All lamps were extinguished and then the little angels of the 4th folded their wings and slept.

Thursday, 25th July: Revellie once more was at 8 o'clock and once again the Seniors and "Others" failed to rise to the occasion until flag-break. Breakfast followed and when inspection was over the Troop was divided into two sections, each was taken by a leader and various outdoor tests were practised. Burkie took the firefighters. Brownie the Signallers and Pete and Lippy laid a trail for the Trackers to follow (T.B.C.).
