West Waterford RURAL ELECTRIFICATION SCHEME MAKES PROGRESS Work on the development of the Clonshane area is progressing steadily and about 80 per cent of the householders in the district are now acceptors. The scheme is giving good local employment. THE SCARCITY OF SALMON. The paragraph in this column last week concerning the scarcity of salmon in this area and the fact that the likelihood of a big number of families is threatened as a result has aroused considerable interest. It is suggested that a local Fishermen's Association be formed to look after the interests of the people concerned. It is understood that Mr. C. Curran, M.C.C. has asked the Minister for Defence to bring the matter to the notice of the Minister for Lands and Fisheries (Mr. Childers) in an effort to have the interests of the fishermen protected.

FARMERS OFFERED NEW SERVICE.

BY TOM TOBIN

It was a busy place when called into Moloney's Garage, Springmount, Dungarvan during the week. Lanz tractors and machines occupied a place of prominence within the newly constructed garage that now offers the farmers of Waterford an opportunity well worth availing of.

Michael Moloney, proprietor of this enterprising business, has been appointed sole main distributor for the county for Lanz equipment and he is to be congratulated on the appointment, a fact that stands in tribute to his youthful enterprise. Not only does he sell the but he carries quite a big stock of repairs and offers a first class repair and maintenance service. Man in charge of this end of the business is Paddy Drummy, a mechanic of exceptional ability. He spent some time on a special course with the Lanz experts and having seen him in action on the complicated works of one of their combines, I can assure the farmers of the area that the need have no fear in calling on this garage for attention. It is well qualified to deal with any problem.

ECONOMICAL.

It was particularly interesting in the Lanz tractor which, in appearance, is a tidy looking job while its operation is quite simple to handle and best of all, is really economical to run. I had often heard tractor-men say that the Lanz would be a terrific tractor but for the need to start off on a petrol. That is not the case at all now. The new Lanz is a completely modified tractor and is direct Diesel. And an engine it has, it is a single cylinder with only 8 moving parts as against over 300 in ordinary multi-cylinder Diesels which means that the Lanz can be operated at the cost of 10 4 cylinder tractor. It has six forward gears, Model's range from 13 h.p. to 60 h.p. at prices from £560 to £1,160 complete.

SPECIALLY DESIGNED.

In the case of the Lanz combine, it is widely known that the millers will be quick to recognise the corn that was reaped and thrashed by this combine. That is not surprising in view of the fact that the machine is specially designed for the farmer and the conditions under which he grows his corn. There is quite a lot to be said in support of their advertisement claim—that it will pick up a bag the last profitable 3 per cent that many combines lose. It offers different types of the machine are on the market ranging in price from £395 to £220.

Yes, the farmers of Waterford have a lot to gain through Michael Moloney's enterprise. He has gone into the important business of getting up a first class station at Springmount for the supply and repair of all types of agricultural machinery and has the equipment to do any and every type of repair job. In recent times, he rebuilt the combine and certainly went to considerable expense in making it a modern place it is today.

BEST OF SERVICE.

But don't get the idea that Moloney's Garage will be the motorist. Far from it, they will give the best service with Paddy Drummy in the of mechanical side, there will very few complaints indeed. He was interested to note also that Michael Moloney can supply and make of car can be repaired. He has made a wonderful success of his business and I shall do say his prospects for the future look exceptionally bright.

The Inside Story

BY TOM TOBIN

He deserves to succeed - not alone because of his enterprise but also because of the fact few motorists can overlook - his willingness to oblige whenever humanly possible. Every good luck to him in the future.

THE FESTIVAL THAT FLOPPED STILL RECHOES IN DUNGARVAN.

So the echoes of Fleadh Ceoil are resounding throughout the country again. They make most interesting reading indeed, especially when we have some 'fellow' up in Dublin writing into the newspapers in praise of Dungarvan's effort in staging the National Festival.

He goes so far as to state:— "In connection with the 1957 National Music Festival at Dungarvan we have had some criticisms. It has even been referred to in one paper as a 'flop'. One wonders by what standards the critics measure the success or otherwise that they are in total ignorance of the aims and ideals of Comhaltas Ceoltóire Éireann. Evidently they had come to expect some sort of Fair-day for the townpeople of Dungarvan who had been galled by stories of big sales and fat profits. This aspect of the Fleadh Ceoil has never, thank God, entered into the deliberations of the Comhaltas.

The primary object of the Fleadh is to bring our traditional musicians together for a weekend of music in a congenial atmosphere, and in a spirit of friendly rivalry. Dungarvan achieved this on as great a scale as any other town in Ireland. We can therefore afford to ignore the vapourings of a small but noisy group, who never had and I daresay never will have the slightest interest in Irish music, or in fact any form of Irish Culture. He ends up by saying: "To the fleadh committee and to the generous people of Dungarvan, let us say a very sincere 'thank you' for a job well done."

ECONOMICAL.

I was particularly interested in the Lanz tractor which, in appearance, is a tidy looking job while in operation is quite simple to handle and best of all - is really economical to run. I had often heard tractor-men say that the Lanz would be a terrific tractor but for the need to start it off on petrol. That is not the case at all now. The new Lanz is a completely modified tractor and is direct Diesel. And what an engine it has. It is a single cylinder with only 8 moving parts as against over 200 in the ordinary multi-cylinder Diesel which means that the Lanz can be operated at 1/3 the cost of the 4 cylinder tractor. It has six forward gears. Models range from 13 h.p. to 66 h.p. at prices from £100 to £1,150 complete.

SPECIALLY DESIGNED.

In the case of the Lanz combine, it is widely known that it is quick to recognize the form that was respected and threshed by this combine. That is not surprising in view of the fact that the machine was specially designed for the Irish farmer and the conditions under which he grows his corn. There is quite a lot to be said in support of their advertisement claim - that it will pick up and bag the last profitable 5 per cent that many combines lose. Five different types of the machine are on the market ranging in price from £395 to £2,200. Yes, the farmers of Waterford have a lot to gain through Michael Moloney's enterprise. He has gone into the important business of setting up a first class station at Springmount for the supply and repair of all types of agricultural machinery and he has the equipment to handle every type of repair job. In recent times he rebuilt the garage and certainly went to considerable expense in making it the best place it is today.

BEST OF SERVICE.

But don't get the idea that Garage will neglect the motorist. Far from it - he will ever forget the shocking manner in which this brilliant inventor was insulted by those who maintain that to be a good Irish traditional musician one must be a member of The Association of Irish Traditional Musicians. Any man or woman who claims membership of the Irish Federation of Musicians is no good to Ireland. Such is the mentality of those who claim to have it as one of their aims 'to create a closer bond between lovers of traditional music in all its forms.'

LED UP THE GARDEN PATH.

It is quite true that we, the people of Dungarvan had come to expect some sort of a 'fair-day' in the Festival. It is perfectly true that we, the people of Dungarvan, had been galled by stories of big sales and fat profits. This bright General Secretary up in Dublin now comes along and tells us:— "this aspect of the Fleadh Ceoil has never, thank God, entered into deliberations of the Comhaltas. Well now, this is something new."

I will always be happy to do all I can for traditional Irish music, song and dance. I have done quite a bit in my time without fuss or bother and I can assure Mr. General Secretary in Dublin that men like me have a lot more interest in what he is claiming to advocate than he thinks but then from the trend of his arguments, it is obvious that he cannot understand that.

NO BALANCE SHEET.

I might also add that the people of Dungarvan were asked to invest their precious money in this 'big deal'. They did and they had no hesitation about doing so. Thank God for the fact that we appreciate the importance of bringing outsiders into our town and the fact that every effort is made by our people to enter for them and to offer them the full hospitality of its historic shores. But what man who calls himself a man will sit in silence when his offer of friendly co-operation and goodwill is flouted and slashed against the ground in scorn. Make no mistake about it, Mr. General Secretary, that is exactly what happened and well we know it here in Dungarvan. As I have stated the people of the town invested their money. What return did they get? They may not have expected a return from their actual cash investment but they certainly expected it from what their investment would make possible. Why was it that a balance sheet was never published? The people of Dungarvan have every right to see the contents of such a document and I suggest to the General Secretary that it would be money well spent now to see to it that this is published in each of the local papers immediately.

A WARPED MENTALITY.

I might also add here that the General Secretary's statement on the Fleadh was read at a recent meeting of the Dungarvan Branch. Strange as it may seem there was no public announcement that such a meeting was held and the Press was not invited. I represent the Cork Examiner and Irish Times in Dungarvan but no statement was made by me by the Dungarvan Secretary - yet an account of what took place at this meeting was received in the offices of the Cork Examiner and on my verification was published by them. It seems that the Dungarvan members were afraid that should they release the statement to me, it would never be published - or perhaps it was their wish to ignore the Dungarvan representative. The fact is here again a warped mentality was clearly displayed. Most of us are well aware of the fact that it is the primary object of the Fleadh to bring traditional musicians together and I will be the first to admit that this was the case in Dungarvan. But then, of course, I never said otherwise and if those now trying to suggest I was the villain of the drama then they would do well to look over my original comments.

NO VAPOURINGS.

That therefore, vapes out Mr. General Secretary's argument that the 'vapourings' of a small but noisy group can be ignored. He should know better. The very fact that he has seen fit to issue his reply to my comments on the Festival almost a year later is sufficient proof, if same was needed, that our views were much more than 'vapourings'.

His suggestion that we have no interest in Irish traditional music is typical of the poisonous pen that has been so evident in this case from the start. No one questioned the beauty of Irish music or Irish culture but some of us have guiled enough to question those who, under the guise of Irish music and Irish culture try to over-ride the general publicity to set themselves up as 'important fellows' and all too often to the destruction of the cause.

I will always be happy to do all I can for traditional Irish music, song and dance. I have done quite a bit in my time without fuss or bother and I can assure Mr. General Secretary in Dublin that men like me have a lot more interest in what he is claiming to advocate than he thinks but then from the trend of his arguments, it is obvious that he cannot understand that.

TARRED WITH THE ONE BRUSH.

I am really sorry for those really sincere men in Dungarvan who went out and put their heart and soul into the cause. It was not their fault that it flopped from the festival point of view - but they were branded with the guilty. The trouble was that too many left too much on the shoulders of too few and as almost every newspaper in the country stated, the so-called publicity department fell down on its job in that there was little and certainly not enough advertising. The event should have been advertised in every village, town and city in the country. Steps should have been taken to bring the people into Dungarvan as they did in Ennis, Co. Clare - but no. In Dungarvan it was assumed that traditional musicians and their friends were men and women of money with their own cars and this was the rock our festival perished on.

ALL OVER NOW.

It is all over now. Too many blunders marred Dungarvan's festival and no amount of bluff now will cover up the facts of the matter. Let me say, however, that men like Mr. Liam Comerford, Tommy Boyle, James O'Keefe, Dr. Kevin McCormack, Jack Tobin, Dennis Cullinane, Charlie Doherty and many others were not to blame entirely. They were expected to do too much and they would be money well spent now to see to it that this is published in each of the local papers immediately.

Waterford face strong challenges

The magic of the championship and the advantage of the home venue will entice a big Waterford following to the City Gaelic Grounds for the opening battles in the ever-testing Munster junior competitions on Sunday next. It is said, too, that visiting Limerick are quite formidable in both codes and that victory, which gives entrance to the provincial final, will not be achieved without a full-blooded effort from every man on the field.

In fact, our best man, not being good enough to stop a Limerick victory in the big half game, the powerful-looking Shannonsiders are allowed to field their senior fifteen including the bulk of the team which unluckily failed to Cork in last year's provincial final. Limerick football has been on the upgrade for some time back and following their sweeping victory at the opening ceremony on Sunday in the presence of a representative cortege of relatives and friends and the general public, Rev. Fr. Murphy, C.C. and Rev. Fr. Farrell, C.C., officiated at the obsequies.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the family and relatives of the late Mrs. Bridget Crowley whose death occurred at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. D. Manon on Sunday last. A special word of thanks to the reverend clergy in attendance at the obsequies; to the Rev. Mothers and Communities, Convents of Mercy, Carrick-on-Suir, and Cappoquin, Dr. Whitford A. White, Nurses Buckley-Walsh and Frazer and the last nighters and friends who helped in any way during her last illness. Trusting this will be accepted by all in grateful acknowledgement. As a token of appreciation the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered for the deceased on all.

Football championship
First round fare was mediocre
Apart from outstanding performances by Abbeyside and the Vintners, the opening round of the junior football championship yielded little of note on Sunday last. The standard of performance was typical of the times and the results were by and large in keeping with pre-concept expectations. True enough the victories of Kilgobinet and Stradbally were not universally anticipated but in the remaining tests it was the tactical combinations which won the right to proceed to round two.

Two points divided the second strings of Dungarvan and Kilsrossney in the opening encounter at the Old Barro venue. The Comeragh men set a tremendous pace in the opening stages and crossed over in command of a 2-2 to 1-0 advantage. In the second period the Blues had the better of the argument but the sound defensive work of veteran Cheasty Laneragan, who had a great hour at full-back, and his colleagues kept Kilsrossney in front to the end. Leading by 3-2 to 0-2 at the interval, Kilgobinet went on to score a further 1-1 and record a triumphant return to the grade at the expense of an Ardmore side that was also making its re-appearance in the competition.

From the opening whistle it was nip and tuck. Kilgobinet played the more determined brand of football and probably just about merited the decision, yet it could just as easily have been the other way. Stradbally's five-points victory over Ballinacorney emphasized the strength of the Coivesiders reserves. This was a fine performance, highlighted by the return of Paddy Connors to the red jersey after his sojourn in Nigeria. Ballinacorney have clearly hit on lean times and their shortcomings undoubtedly tended to make the winners look a better side than they actually are.

Like Stradbally, Geraldines fought bravely, the better side obviously prevailed. Valley Rovers, playing purposeful and constructive football, topped an easy and quick first half with a 2-1 lead. The Derrinbeg men looked a great prospect on the day's play. On top throughout and making light of the most orthodox of Limerick's forays, the impressive Rovers took their scores in delightful fashion. Although the losers were beset by team troubles and experienced considerable difficulty in fielding a fifteen, it took Cappoquin more than half an hour to finally get the measure of goalkeeper Shabbagh. Cappoquin must step up on this showing if they are to proceed further in the championship race.

Displaying the team work and combination which has characterized their many triumphs on the hurling field, Abbeyside's only outclassed the Nire at the City Gaelic Grounds. Two one-sided but interesting, this was none the less a powerful advertisement of the villagers football prowess. St. Patrick's indicated that they are on the upgrade by scoring a richly-merited victory over Lismore. The Kilbrin men played the better football and won on their merits. As expected, Ballyvaughan proved much too good for Ballyvaughan at Lismore. It is said that the winners have their eyes on a repeat of the double they achieved back in 1955. They could do it, too.

Waterford Take On Wexford
Fresh from a morale-boosting victory over Limerick, Waterford hurlers journey to Nowlan Park, Kilkenny, on Sunday next to meet confident Wexford in a tournament encounter which will wind up the Stoney men's preparations for the league decider a week hence. Victory here, which would give us a double over the league finalists within a fortnight, would certainly be a tremendous asset to our championship prospects. The Waterford team has not been announced at the time of going to press. It is unlikely, however, that it will differ greatly from the fifteen which conquered Limerick two weeks ago. Wexford mentors regard the game as a real yardstick on which to judge the progress of the team. Spectators are certainly assured of a genuine close up of both finalists, for the home team, incidentally, is in aid of St. Kieran's College Building Fund.

St. Finbarr's at Cappoquin
Cappoquin who are scheduled to challenge Mount Sion's league term championship supremacy on June 1st, will commence their customary Irish course of preparation with a trial spin against St. Finbarr's on Sunday afternoon. Arranged for the local Sportsfield, this game and a night scullable pipe-openery it should be black could provide constructive patrons with the hurling exhibition of the year. The Barrs, off-times champions of the Rebel trophy, and universally regarded as just about the most stylish craftsmen for the game, are reported to be travelling down at championship strength. They too, are presently preparing for a vital spin at old rivals Blackrock and, consequently, regard the engagement as a real test of strength. And that it should be, for Cappoquin folk are reported to open hurling at the visitors will inspire the local representatives to a supreme effort. Altogether, it adds up to a gripping struggle.

Ardmore v. Affane
The outcome of the minor game arranged for Aglish on Sunday last, was somewhat clouded. Both Affane and Ardmore are newcomers to the grade and in recent one has but scant information to go on. It is accepted, however, that two pretty evenly matched sides will take the field. A most informative exhibition should result.

Factory had Successful Year

In her Annual Report for the year Dr. Ann Casey the Chairman stated on the 1st May 1958. You will see from the Directors report and the accounts which are circulated with this statement that the result of the year's trading is almost the same as last year.

The surplus remaining after providing for Depreciation of Premises and Plant, Directors Fees, Income Tax and Corporation Profits Tax and taking credit for relief from income tax and corporation profits tax on the profits arising from our export trade amounted to £19,316.

I have referred to the relief from tax on export profits and were it not for this relief the result shown above would be lower. It is because of the importance of the export trade that the sum of £11,000 has been placed to plant replacement reserve. In view of the possible creation of the European Free Trade Area, productivity must be improved and costs reduced by the installation of the most modern machines, and increased productivity per man hour would enable us to hold our position in the Export Market.

It is in this matter of increasing productivity that we look forward to receiving the sincere and honest co-operation of all our employees, who we trust will understand that the only true way to achieve increased pay and a better standard of living is by increased output. When wages are increased and there is no corresponding increase in production, then there is no real increase in wages, but merely an increase in the inflationary pressure pushing the cost of living up higher.

While on the subject of wages it is interesting to note that from the start of this Company up to the end of December 1957, the total amount paid out in wages was £743,004. In round figures all that amount to £28,000 and it is estimated that if we can maintain our present level of production, the total amount paid out in wages will be approximately £30,000.

Turning to the Balance Sheet you will see that our Share Capital has now been consolidated into two classes of Shares instead of the four classes which previously existed. A statement is circulated with the accounts giving details of reliefs from taxation and Estate Duty now attached to these shares.

The total amount put into buildings, plant and machinery since the start of the Company up to the 31st December 1957, amounts to £108,288 and the depreciation provided to date is £52,648.

Since our last meeting Mr. W. O'Shea has been co-opted to the Board, and you will be asked during the meeting to sanction his election as a Director of the Company. It is a matter for satisfaction that some tax reliefs have been given to Companies such as ours which have for many years past been active in the export trade and I am also pleased that reliefs from taxation and Estate Duty have been granted to the Shareholders who had the courage to invest in Irish industry.

Before concluding I should like to refer to the water supply, an adequate supply of water is essential for industrial expansion. Present arrangements are valuable in so far as adequate. May I now thank the Directors, Executive and staff for their work during the year.

SALMON FISHING.

Over last weekend there was a general improvement in the catches of salmon by nets in Youghal and surrounding districts. In the opening days of the present week this did not continue when only a few odd salmon were taken. For some weeks past two lady inspectors from the Department of Fisheries Miss Twomey and Miss Hewson supervised by Dr. A.E.J. West, Chief Scientific Adviser to the Department have been tagging salmon in Ardmore. The numbered tag enclosed in a celluloid case is attached to the fin of the fish by means of wire, and fishermen capturing a tagged fish are requested to submit the tag to the Fishery Office, Youghal together with about 30 scales from the shoulder of the salmon and giving the weight and date of capture. An award of 5/- will be paid by the Department for each tag submitted with the required particulars. So far for the present season three tags have been submitted. One having been killed in Youghal harbour by David Mangano one at Ardsallagh by James O'Keefe and one at Ballinacorney by Joseph O'Keefe. May I now thank the Directors, Executive and staff for their work during the year.
